Iowa SDS Chapter To Send Members To National Meet

By SHEILA LUNIN
Staff Writer

Delegates from the University chapter of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) will be sent to an SDS National Council meeting about a program on the draft November 13, SDS members decided at a meeting in the Union Wednesday evening.

A national referendum for all members on the draft program was tabled until a meeting next week.

A majority vote of the members, directs the national policy of SDS on all major issues.

THE REFERENDUM sent to all members in the SDS Bulletin states:

"We must find tools which make the war relevant and central to the people of the United States. We feel that the anti-draft program provides such a tool."

To do this, the referendum states, draft age men should be urged to sign the request for classification as conscientious objectors. Debates should be arranged between SDS members and military officers. Organizations, such as The Women Strike for Peace, may be used to appeal to the families of these men, it says.

"SPECIAL ATTENTION should be paid to fraternities which are sometimes more vulnerable to the class-rank criterion of drafting; to religious foundations, and to faculty," the statement said.

"The issue of the draft itself reveals the undemocratic nature of our society, i.e., young men are not allowed to make the basic individual moral decision of whether to kill — or die — in a war not of their own making," the referendum said.

"The National Administrative Committee is mandated to refer any program that threatens the organization. I don't feel that a simple yes or no on a referendum satisfies that mandate," said D. Gorton, member of the national administrative committee.

The Bulletin also pointed out that some parts of the referendum might be considered violations of laws on obstruction of the draft.

"IF LEGAL ACTION is taken against us by the Government it should be because it can no longer tolerate the dissatisfaction which we articulate and popularize," Webb said.

The SDS also voted to co-sponsor with the Iowa Socialist League the November 13 speech by Pieter R. Clark.

Clark was deferred from the draft after passing out SDS leaflets at his induction and soliciting signatures on petitions against the war in Viet Nam.

U.S., Viet Troops Join In Operation In Chu Lai Area

ROK Division Takes Position In Qui Nhen

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines and Vietnamese Government troops joined Wednesday, nearly 2,000 strong, to clear Viet Cong from the area of Chu Lai, whose air strip was the target of a guerrilla suicide raid a week ago.

The operation, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, was dubbed Black Ferret. Briefing officers said the Marines drew sporadic sniper fire and suffered light casualties, but captured six Viet Cong and seized an enemy battle flag in the opening phase.

About 30 miles down the South China Sea coast, a big Communist detachment pulled back into the mountains under strafing and bombing by U.S. jets after an unsuccessful attempt to overrun a Government outpost near the port of Quang Ngai.

U.S. SOURCES estimated from 500 to 600 Viet Cong hit the outpost before dawn. The garrison held, with casualties described as moderate. There was no report on Viet Cong losses.

Routine Marine operations around Da Nang, a major air base 52 miles north of Chu Lai, led to the death of two guerrillas and capture of three.

In midnight attacks last Wednesday, guerrilla infiltrators destroyed two bombers at Chu Lai and 19 helicopters at the Marble Mountain air strip, east of the main Da Nang base. Thirty-seven Viet Cong were killed during these operations.

ON A FIRING range at Da Nang, picked men of the 3rd Marine Division began training with longer range rifles for sniper duty to induce Viet Cong marksmen to keep their distance.

A total of 92 are being armed with Model 70/30-caliber Winchester, each fitted with a telescopic sight. The Winchester carries effectively for 700 to 1,000 yards, against 500 yards by the Leatherneck rifleman's basic weapon, the 7.62mm M14.

In the Mekong delta, a Viet Cong sampan fell prey to a government river assault group. A spokesman said the group ridged the sampan with machine gun fire, killed three guerrillas and captured several hundred rounds of ammunition.

SOUTH KOREA'S Tiger Division, with 12,000 troops now in South Viet Nam, took over from a U.S. Marine unit the defense of a large area around Qui Nhen, a supply base on the South China Sea 260 miles northeast of Saigon.

Newsman Killed On Job In Viet Nam

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — Dickey Chappelle, a daring American pilot, parachutist and war correspondent — photographer, died Thursday after being wounded by a Viet Cong land mine while reporting a large-scale U.S. Marine operation near the Chu Lai air base.

Miss Chappelle, 47, wrote about and photographed a long series of war actions around the globe in fatigues and boots.

She parachuted several times into the thick of the fighting here to get her story. In 1956, she was jailed in Communist Hungary when she plunged too deeply into the freedom fighters' revolt.

Korea, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Algeria, Lebanon, Kashmir, Viet Nam — Dickey Chappelle turned up in all the post-World War II trouble spots. Four U.S. Marines were wounded by the mine that killed her.

Miss Chappelle was on a news and picture assignment for the National Observer and for WOR-RKO General Radio.

Student Senate, Democratic Party Hit At Soundoff

By RON FROELICH
Staff Writer

Criticism of the Democratic party as a political machine and of the Student Senate as not representative of the student body led several discussions on Wednesday's Soapbox Soundoff in the lobby of the Union Gold Feather Room.

Jim Walters, A1, Iowa City, said he felt "people are getting fed-up with the Democratic party."

He said the Democratic party had evolved into a political machine that took its orders directly from the White House and then filtered party policy down to the lower levels.

Walters added because of this "King Johnson" dominated system the people would elect 100 Republicans to fill congressional seats now held by Democrats.

Walters supported his statement by reference to the recent election of Republican John V. Lindsay as mayor of New York City.

THE 1966 ELECTIONS, Walters said, would find the present Democratic machine going down the drain and President Johnson not as secure as he is now.

Several students objected to Walters' use of Lindsay as an indication of Republican support and Democratic downfall. They said that, in their opinion, Lindsay was not a Republican.

Walters countered the objection saying since Lindsay was a registered Republican he was a Republican. The mere fact that Lindsay was supported by groups outside the party didn't mean that he wasn't Republican, he said.

"That's like saying Johnson isn't a Democrat," Walters concluded.

Steve Tichner, A4, Davenport, a member of Student Senate, asked the students attending the Soundoff how they felt about giving up Mercy Day to provide a more even distribution of final exams.

MERCY DAY, Tichner explained, is a "free day" granted by the University to students before they take final exams. Tichner said a plan was now before the Senate whereby the day would be abolished and the seven day exam period spread over eight days.

He asked the crowd to express their opinion on the issue. The majority said they wanted to retain Mercy Day.

Marc Firstenberg, A1, New York City, quoted Shakespeare when he referred to the Student Senate as: "a lot of sound and fury signifying nothing."

The recent resolution passed by the Senate pertaining to a larger seating capacity for the Fine Arts auditorium received no consideration from University administration, Firstenberg said.

Firstenberg said the Student Senate did not represent the student body because it failed to solicit students' opinions.

Tichner said: "In my opinion there has been a definite sense of apathy by the Student Senate in obtaining student opinion. However, this does not absolve the student body of blame. It, too, suffers from apathy."

IF THE STUDENTS feel the Student Senate is no good then it should be abolished, Tichner said. However, certain groups do take an active interest in the Senate, he said.

As an example, he referred to many of the female senators representing the various dormitories. He felt that these students were among the better informed on campus.

Tichner, commenting on the resolution passed by the Student Senate Tuesday calling for beer in the Union, said he was completely against it.

He gave two reasons. First, because he felt that the Senate was being used by persons who would like to see liquor served in the "fancy new hotel" housed in the Union. Second, because the Union is a collective unit and all the facilities should be available to the group as a whole, he said.

LBJ Congratulates Lindsay, Pledges His Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Republican mayor-elect John V. Lindsay, first of his party to capture that title in 24 years, got congratulations and a promise of cooperation Wednesday from President Johnson.

Both Democrats and Republicans claimed comfort in the outcome of Tuesday's off-year elections, which saw Democratic campaigners capture the other two top prizes, the governorships of New Jersey and Virginia.

Lindsay, the lanky, 43-year-old congressman from Manhattan's "Silk Stocking" District, hit the New York sidewalks again, this time to thank the voters who zoomed him to victory over Democrat Abraham D. Beame.

JOHNSON told Lindsay he will work to make sure that federal and city officials join forces "to make New York a good place to live."

Lindsay's triumph, by a 136-144-vote margin in a heavily Democratic city, vaulted him to the vanguard of the GOP, even though his campaign stance shunned the party banner. Some Republicans talked of a potential presidential future for the handsome young New Yorker.

Democrats scoffed at Republican claims that the Lindsay victory would bolster the GOP, trounced across the nation in Johnson's Democratic landslide a year ago.

IN THE TWO big victories for Democrats, New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes rolled up a record, 318,000-vote re-election margin, and Lt. Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. was chosen Virginia's 21st consecutive Democratic governor.

Lindsay, who refused in 1964 to endorse Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, withstood the Johnson tide to win his fourth term in the House. Goldwater was silent Wednesday on the New York City outcome.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said the Lindsay triumph could not be rated a victory for the Republican party.

39 Refugees Feared Drowned In Wreck Off Mexican Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirty-nine refugees were feared to have drowned trying to escape Cuba when their fishing boat cracked up on reefs off the Mexican coast, Wednesday.

The Mexican navy said six survivors were rescued.

Meanwhile, the Cuban Government announced it had halted departures of refugees in small boats from Camarioca, the port from which more than 3,000 have sailed to Florida. The reasons given were bad weather and the imminent agreement on an airlift for refugees.

THE MEXICAN navy said it was searching for some sign of the 39 lost refugees off the northeast tip of the Yucatan Peninsula.

The Navy said the boat left Cuba Oct. 25, apparently in an attempt to seek political asylum, and sank Tuesday.

The Cuban Interior Ministry said the halting of departures went into effect at noon Wednesday.

Java Threat Said Easing In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — An improvement in the critical situation in central Java was reported Wednesday and thousands of rebel forces there were said to be surrendering.

Radio Jakarta said the army chief, Maj. Gen. Suharte, reported on central Java at a morning Cabinet meeting attended by President Sukarno. The radio added that 100,000 university students declared they will help crush the rebel forces mostly Communist or pro-Communist.

Several thousand of the students paraded through Jakarta's streets demanding dissolution of the Indonesian Communist party, blamed for masterminding the coup attempt against Sukarno Oct. 1.

The armed forces newspaper Angkatan Bersendjata said about 3,000 Communists surrendered to military authorities in Klaten, in central Java 17 miles east of Jogjakarta.

Human Torch Wrote Of Faith Before His Death

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "The most important thing in the world is that our faith becomes living experience and deed of life," Norman R. Morrison wrote Tuesday, hours before he turned himself into a human torch.

The 31-year-old Quaker wrote the words for a Sunday adult church class. He died in flames outside the Pentagon in Washington. He was an objector to the Viet Nam war.

His widow said he gave his "life to express his concern over the great loss of life and human suffering caused by the war in Viet Nam." Wednesday she released through other members of the Stony Run Friends Meeting notes written by Morrison for a message to next Sunday's adult church class.

Morrison was executive secretary of the Quaker group, a paid, full-time post. At one time he studied to be a Presbyterian minister.

A third winner, Richard DeCoster, A4, Canton, Mo., was not present when the picture was taken. Each student received $340. Miss Baugh has a 3.49 grade point, Margulies, a 3.52, and DeCoster a 3.69. Margulies and DeCoster both received Old Gold Scholarships last year. Project Aid is under the auspices of Student Senate.

Keep Mercy Day!

STUDENT SENATE VOTED TO KEEP Mercy Day — a day of no classes which comes before Final Week each semester — but some senators are still trying to do away with it.

A report from Gary Goldstein at Tuesday's Senate meeting favored a proposal to have final examinations during the day before Final Week which is now free for last minute studying.

Goldstein's proposal would give students a break on the law of averages. By having more periods for administering exams, the chances of one student having three exams in one day would be reduced.

Goldstein's proposal would not change the rules — only the averages. At present if a student has more than three exams in one day of Final Week, he may have one changed. This same rule would apply under a no Mercy Day plan.

Goldstein was a bit miffed at the Senate for refusing to adopt his no Mercy Day plan.

"If the Student Senate wants to represent the student body, here is an opportunity for you (by adopting the Goldstein plan)," Goldstein told the Senate after his plan was turned down. "It (the opportunity) is not to sit here and do nothing and keep this same proposal that we've had for so many years. . . . Here is an opportunity to benefit the students."

We don't believe that Goldstein knows what would "benefit the students." After the Senate killed the proposal temporarily (another resolution has been introduced for the next meeting), we interviewed Goldstein with a tape recorder.

Here are some excerpts from that interview:

IOWAN: How does this proposal "benefit the students?"

GOLDSTEIN: I think it's benefitting the students because it's eliminating the possibility of having three and it's reducing the possibility of having two finals in one day. It's reducing conflicts.

IOWAN: What you're proposing here is not a change in rules, only a change in ratios (chances of having three finals in a day)?

GOLDSTEIN: There still is a possibility of having three tests, but the possibility is reduced.

IOWAN: How much research have you done among students to determine the preference of students (in choosing between Mercy Day and a reduced possibility of three tests in a day)?

GOLDSTEIN: I didn't actually run a study of the student body. But from past experience, articles in the DI and so forth around campus and letters into the Senate, there seemed to be this idea that people were complaining.

IOWAN: Why do you think students want to have less than three exams rather than Mercy Day?

GOLDSTEIN: Because it's tough studying.

IOWAN: You think it's tough.

GOLDSTEIN: Well, I know. I've had it, and I've talked to people who've had three finals in one day. I've had three finals in a row, and believe me with only 10 minutes between finals, it was a strain.

IOWAN: Do you think the Student Senate should know what the student is thinking before the Student Senate attempts to represent the student body?

GOLDSTEIN: (After a long pause) All right, I'll say this — (pause) Let me not say any more on this, I have to go to the theater.

IOWAN: Okay.

At this point Goldstein left Old Capitol where the Senate meeting was being held.

The Senate was wise to ignore such an ill-conceived notion as the one Goldstein presented. Before the advocates of eliminating Mercy Day bring up the issue again, a positive effort should be made by them to determine student opinion on this matter.

Most members of the Senate realize they should act in the student interest only when that interest has been determined.

Those who do not know this should learn — soon.

Pakistan case in Kashmir is presented

Sir, In 1947 Prime Minister Nehru declared in a cable to the Prime Minister of Pakistan, "I should like to make it clear that the question of aiding Kashmir in this emergency is not designated in any way to influence the state accede to India."

Mr. Nehru also said, "Our view, which we have repeatedly made public, is that the question of accession in any disputed territory or state must be decided in accordance with the wishes of the people and we adhere to this view."

This was the stand India took for supporting unpopular maharaja of Kashmir and suppressing peoples' revolt against his efforts to accede to India. When she accepted the maharaja's request of accession, she did so temporarily and was subjected to the plebiscite as Mr. Nehru said in 1947. "We have declared that the fate of Kashmir is ultimately to be decided by the people. That pledge we have given not only to the people of Kashmir but to the world. We will not and cannot back out of it."

WHILE FIGHTING between Indian armies and Kashmir people went on in Kashmir, India took the case to the U.N. Security Council in January, 1948, charging Pakistan of helping revolutionaries. The Council adopted resolutions on Jan. 17, 1948 and again on Jan. 5, 1949 asking both countries for cease-fire and referring the question of accession to the people of Kashmir.

The U.N. resolution of Jan. 5, 1949 contained this paragraph: "THE QUESTION OF THE ACCESSION OF THE STATE OF JAMMU AND KASHMIR TO INDIA OF PAKISTAN WILL BE DECIDED THROUGH THE DEMOCRATIC METHOD OF FREE AND IMPARTIAL PLEBISCITE."

Pakistan as well as India promptly agreed and Mr. Nehru declared, "WE ARE PREPARED TO HAVE A PLEBISCITE, WITH EVERY PROTECTION FOR FAIR VOTING, AND TO ABIDE BY THE DECISION OF THE PEOPLE OF KASHMIR."

Two years later, an anti-Pakistan member of Mr. Nehru's cabinet, Mr. Menon observed, "We adhere strictly to the pledge of plebiscite in Kashmir." Mr. Menon emphasized further by saying, "we do not regard Kashmir as a commodity to be trafficked in."

Due to Pakistan's belief in settlement through peaceful means and trust in Indian leaders' words, India could maintain her military occupation of two-thirds of the state of Jammu and Kashmir, and now she, very shamelessly, declare it as integral part of India.

The reader can easily observe the irrelevance of India's argument and analogy with United States' civil war of 1860s. Unlike Kashmir, the Southern states have never been disputed as regards to their status in the Federation. Their admittance to the Federation was rightful and constitutional.

KASHMIR IS NOT a problem of just a few people of a small piece of land. There are more than five million people living in an area of about 90,000 square miles (which is combined area of States of Illinois and Indiana).

All Pakistan is seeking for is what India and Pakistan agreed upon in 1947-49; and, all Pakistan demands is fulfillment of pledge by India's most honored leader ex-Prime Minister Pundit Jawaharlal Nehru to the people of Kashmir and to the world, in the words, ". . . THE FATE OF KASHMIR IS ULTIMATELY TO BE DECIDED BY THE PEOPLE."

I hope that Indian leadership will learn lessons from colonial powers, especially from France who could not make any progress by keeping Algeria as her colony. France is doing better now when she does not have to maintain forces in Algeria.

Colonialism is worst of the evils invented by man and tyranny is bound to fail, sooner or later. Let us eradicate it as soon as possible by giving the people their choice!

Morrison's death

Dear Sir: Norman R. Morrison 11/3/1965
Buddhists burning even on the front page it was hard to see that living bonfire as a man — more like brass. Somehow white man's dust is a greater pile. Christians have burned and been burned before Imperial Rome, Ecclesiastical Rome, but now at home he did it himself. All of us should shut just listen for awhile.

Protest suppression danger to democracy

Dear Sir,

George Bernard Shaw once wrote that truth is the first casualty in any war. In the Viet Nam conflict we have seen truth dying, not so much from demonstrably untrue facts, in so far as facts are allowed to reach us at all, as from the suppression of facts, the irrelevant discrediting of opposing viewpoints by appeal to prejudice, and the increasing emphasis in most of the press and radio of only one side of the issue, the Government's.

Yet I believe the short-term facade of 'unity' so manipulated is outweighed by the long-term danger to the whole democratic process.

As I see it, the aim of protest movements against the Viet Nam war is not in the first place to change the Government's views, nor even to change the public's views.

The Government cannot allow itself to be seen retreating under pressure from what is, however vociferous and literate, numerically

Death protest does no good for cause

To the Editor:

Reading of the self-immolation Tuesday of pacifist Norman R. Morrison, I find his act very difficult to reconcile with my beliefs about protest.

He sacrificed his life because he felt concern about the human sufferings in Viet Nam and because he protested U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

That is all very fine — a man is entitled to his own convictions and the right to voice them — but I question the effectiveness of his self-destruction.

If Morrison had such views on Viet Nam, why did he not stand up and let himself be counted? Instead, as I inferred from The Des Moines Register, Morrison discussed his beliefs only within a small segment of society. Surely, if this man felt about Viet Nam as he did, would not it have been better to speak to a greater portion of the U.S. society instead of destroying himself and many of his unspoken convictions as well?

I am not criticizing Norman Morrison for his beliefs — although they are contrary to my own — but I am criticizing the type of protest that destroys the man as a thinking and speaking individual, accomplishing nothing more than giving the impression of courageousness for a cause.

This is not aiding anyone involved in Viet Nam; this is a suicide perpetrated by a man unable to face the world he lived in because his convictions were not held and acted upon by the majority.

I submit again that Norman Morrison's death has not solved any problem or brought any attention to a problem which hitherto had not been recognized, but has only served to deprive his family of a husband and father and to deprive similarly persuaded persons his support as a like believer and a potential spokesman.

Well, turnabout is fair play, Ronnie babes

By ART BUCHWALD

There have been so many show business people going into politics lately that many politicians are considering going into show business.

I spoke to one such politician the other day who said, "I think it's the duty of every citizen, no matter what his profession, to become an actor."

"But what do you know about show business?" I asked him.

"What does Ronald Reagan know about politics?" he replied.

"That doesn't answer the question."

"Look, I can introduce 'Death Valley Days' or the 'General Electric Theater' as well as Reagan can, if not better. If he is going to take the bread out of my mouth, I'm going to take it out of his."

"BUT THE REASON Ronald Reagan is going into politics is not to take the bread out of your mouth. He's personable and people like him and he's always played a good guy. That's all you need to run for office these days. But show business requires talent."

He started to do a little tap dance on his rug. "Who do I remind you of?"

"Sen. Dirksen?" I asked.

"No, you fool, Sen. George Murphy. I've been watching him on the Late Show. That really isn't much to it. It's just a question of image. Now watch this."

He picked up a guitar and played several bars.

"Now who do I remind you of?"

"Strom Thurmond."

"How did you guess?"

"Sir, I don't want to be a spoilsport, but it's much easier for a person in show business to become a politician than it is for a politician to become a show business personality. People pay good money to see someone in the entertainment world, while they get their politicians for free. They expect to be disappointed when they hear a politician, but if you fail in show business the public gets angry."

MY FRIEND went over to his couch. He started breathing heavily. "Coach," he said with tears in his eyes, "whenever the chips are down and the team is discouraged, tell them — tell them to win one for the Gipper."

"What are you doing now?"

"Ronald Reagan in 'Knute Rockne.' That's the deathbed scene. Now don't tell me he did it any better."

"No, I can't say he did."

He went over to his desk, took out a crepe pie from a drawer, and threw it in my face.

"Who am I now?"

"Pierre Salinger?"

"Steve Allen, you dope. I saw him do it on a TV show."

"You have the makings of a show business personality at that," I said, wiping the crepe off my suit.

"The trouble with you guys is that you just think because a guy has been a politician all his life he doesn't know anything. We care about things, too."

"I'm doubting you," I said. "But I want to ask you a question. Suppose you don't make it in show business. Suppose there is nowhere for you to go. What will you do then?"

"I'll probably run for governor of California."

2nd Urban Policy Conference Will Convene Here Tonight

The Second Urban Policy Conference will be held at the University today through Saturday. The conference is sponsored by the Institute of Public Affairs and the League of Iowa Municipalities.

Willard L. Boyd, vice-president for academic affairs and dean of the faculties, will speak on "Urban Extension — The University's Role in Urban Development" at the opening session. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Union Yale Room.

A paper will be presented by John E. Bebout, director of the Urban Studies Center, Rutgers University, N.J. Discussing the paper will be Cornelium Bodine Jr., city manager of Sioux City; Robert F. Ray, dean of the division of extension and University services, and Park Rinard, executive director of the League of Iowa Municipalities.

REGISTRATION will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. Friday in the Union Ballroom. At 10 a.m. Pres. Howard R. Bowen will speak on "The National Commission on Technology, Automation, and Economic Progress."

Harvey R. Brazer, professor of economics and research associate at the Institute of Public Administration, University of Michigan, will speak on "Fiscal Implications of Urban Development" at 11 a.m.

Rights Committee Will Try To Raise Negro Enrollment

A large-scale, state-wide effort to recruit more Negroes for the University is underway by the University Human Rights Committee.

Committee chairman James C. Spalding, associate professor of religion, said Wednesday, "the need for more Negro students is not limited to Iowa alone."

"There is a terrifyingly low percentage of Negroes enrolled in the Big 10 midwestern schools," Spalding said, "and we should be finding them and recruiting them."

DONALD E. CARR, assistant professor of education, said the University would discover problems in recruiting Negro students.

Screening and identifying the Negro students available would be one problem, he said. Another problem would be discovering whether these students are scholastically prepared for college.

"Once these first two problems are licked," Carr said, "then we have the additional problem of finding financial aid to keep these students in school."

Former committee chairman Richard Lloyd-Jones, professor of English, said "The difficulty of finding these students is further complicated because there has been no real systematic method of selecting Negroes from Iowa public schools."

Spalding said the student faculty committee is involved mainly in public affairs, and coordination with the Iowa City Human Relations Commission. The committee investigates all cases of discrimination in housing.

ACTION FROM the committee so far, Spalding said, has resulted in 11 dwellings being removed from the approved housing list, and two added.

The committee is also concerned with discrimination in student organizations, the elimination of the discriminatory clause in fraternities, student exchanges, and investigation and judgment of personal conduct. Making sure the University operates as an equal opportunity employer is another function of the committee.

A case recently investigated by the committee was one involving a foreign student who was harassed and intimidated because of his race.

Following discussion of the incident, the committee decided the matter should be investigated, perhaps by the student members of the committee.

"This is an area in the life of the University," Spalding said, "which is the hardest to get at — the problem of discrimination."

Exam Service Aids Students, Faculty

The purpose of the University Examinations Service is to save time and labor for both students and faculty in writing and taking exams.

In an interview Wednesday, Charles R. Statler, director of the services, explained its main functions.

"We provide clerical and technical testing assistance to any instructor of any course in the University. Some instructors will have us make up a test, while others will have us print and assemble the test booklets as well," he said.

Statler explained that services to faculty members were free and that no interdepartmental requisitions were needed.

The service scores all the machine tests. Raw scores, percentile rank and a list of the students that took the test, with their grades, are printed for the instructor. Many statistical functions are also performed.

"By checking the frequency of the alternatives (for each question) selected, we can determine the difficulty of each item. We can find the amount of discrimination of the test between high and low students," Statler said.

The Exam Service helps professors in the writing of tests, offering suggestions for true-false, multiple-choice or the many combinations of these two types of tests.

The service also handles entrance exams, core exemption exams, College of Law exams, and serves as local agent for American College Testing (ACT).

Another responsibility of the Exam Service is drawing up the final exam schedule.

"The Student Senate wants no more than two exams a day for any student," Statler said, "but this isn't feasible."

"However we are proposing to reduce the number of conflicts by having an eight-day examination period," he said. "Unfortunately this would mean that there would be no mercy day this semester. It will be up to the Student Senate to decide."

Special procedures insure the secrecy of exams. All are stored in the security room when the service is in charge of them. Statler and his administrative assistant, Jack B. White, have the only keys to the security room.

After assembly of the test booklets, the tests are packaged and sealed to make sure they are seen by nobody until the examination is held.

The service takes up seven rooms in University Hall, and employs a total of 15 persons.

Chief Bebee To Examine Cause Of Fire

Iowa City Fire Chief Dean E. Bebee said Wednesday that he might be able to enter the basement of George's Gourmet Restaurant, 114 S. Dubuque St., today to search for the cause of Monday night's fire.

According to Bebee the heavily sagging first floor of the restaurant could collapse anytime unless the heavy equipment there is removed. When this is done, he said, he can safely investigate the basement. He expects the equipment to be moved today.

"There's no doubt in my mind," he said "that the fire started in a clothes storage area behind the restrooms. The divided basement made it difficult to reach the fire and we never really reached the source."

George Dasovich, owner of the restaurant, spent Wednesday trying to determine what equipment was salvageable. He said he could not make future plans until he knew what the damage was.

Dasovich owned both the restaurant and the two apartments above it. Roy J. Koza, 340 Hutchinson Ave., owns the two buildings to the north, including the Coffee Mill and Harper's Young Fashions. The Sherwin-Williams Paint Store, south of the restaurant, was owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which has its quarters above it. All three of the neighboring buildings suffered smoke and water damage.

APLINGTON MAN KILLED — ALLISON (AP) — Walter Wieland, 45, of Aplington was killed Wednesday evening in a tractor accident on a farm where he had been working northwest of Allison. Authorities said a tractor Wieland was driving was pulling a truck and it tipped over backward on him.

Federal Agency Disclosed As Tenant Of Georgia Klan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government was disclosed by a Georgia police chief Wednesday to have been paying rent to the Ku Klux Klan.

Chief Howard W. Smith told House investigators that the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) broke its lease and took off on a tailwind of embarrassment after learning that its landlord in Jonesboro, Ga., sometimes wore a hood.

Smith, chief of the Clayton County police at Jonesboro, testified at a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He said it all happened this way:

The Klan klavern in Jonesboro is chartered under the name of the Clayton Civic Club, Inc. It owns a brick building that housed a grocery, a barber shop, the law office of Wesley Bailey II and an office of the FAA.

An FAA spokesman told newsmen the one-room office was leased for FAA by the General Services Administration effective last June 1.

On Aug. 15, he said, the FBI notified the agencies of the Klan's connection with the building and the following day, the spokesman said, FAA served a 30-day notice of cancellation of the lease. The office actually was vacated, he said, on Aug. 27 — well ahead of the Sept. 15 cancellation date.

The office, for which a $75 monthly rent was paid, was used by a three-man team of electronic maintenance technicians. Their job is to service and repair aviation navigation aids.

The FAA spokesman supplied these details after Smith testified. Testimony before the committee indicated the Klan went to great lengths to hide its real identity.

Rep. Charles L. Welter (D-

(Ga.) observed that a man had vehemently denied on an Atlanta television show that the civic club was a Klan front and demanded an apology from the committee.

Koufax Named Best Pitcher

BOSTON (AP) — Left-hander Sandy Koufax, the backbone of the Los Angeles Dodgers' drive for the National League pennant and the World Series championship, was a unanimous choice Wednesday as winner of the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher for 1965.

Koufax thus became the first repeat winner in the 10 years since the award was established by Commissioner Ford Frick. Koufax also repeated as the only man to win the award unanimously.

The 29-year-old Koufax was a unanimous winner in 1963, the year he was named the National League's most valuable player.

Although handicapped by an arthritic pitching arm, Koufax compiled the best earned run average in the major leagues, 2.04; the most wins, 26; the most innings pitched, 336, and the most strikeouts, 382.

His strikeout mark shattered Bob Feller's single season record of 347 strikeouts.

The voting by a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America was done prior to the World Series and was based on regular season performances only.

However, the Brooklyn, N.Y., native shut out the American League champion Minnesota Twins twice in the World Series with one of the victories coming in the seventh and decisive game.

The Koufax victory kept the award in Los Angeles for the fourth consecutive year. Dean Chance of the AL's California Angels was the 1964 winner, edging Koufax after the latter was injured. Dodger Don Drysdale was the 1962 winner.

ON WAIVERS — SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wilbert Jeff Frazier, third draft choice of the San Francisco Warriors, was placed on waivers Wednesday by the National Basketball Association team.

Intramural Action

By RON BLISS
Staff Writer

Steindler House of Hillcrest fought off a determined upset bid by Bordwell and moved into the semi-finals of the Hillcrest league touch football playoffs Wednesday night, with a 40-37 victory in a game played at Finkbine Fields.

The game was a see-saw battle, as Bordwell repeatedly came from behind to throw a scare into pre-playoff favorite Steindler.

Bordwell jumped off to a surprising 18-12 halftime lead and still held a 31-27 lead with only about four minutes left in the game. However, the Bordwell defense couldn't hold the Steindler offense, which had rolled up 107 points against three earlier opponents, and allowed two touchdowns in the final three minutes of the game to let Steindler sew up the game.

BORDWELL MANAGED a final touchdown with 35 seconds remaining to close the gap to 40-37, but attempts to get possession of the ball in the final 25 seconds of the game were futile.

The difference in the game came in the extra point department, as Bordwell could manage only one successful conversion out of six attempts. Steindler, led by the kicking of Jim Middleton, converted on four of six attempts.

IN QUADRANGLE league action, pre-playoff favorite Briggs suffered its first defeat of the season and was eliminated from the playoffs by Beardsly 35-7.

Other quarterfinal action in that league saw Merrill slip past Lucas 12-12, Kirkwood whip Hempstead 12-7, and Larrabee nose Chambers, 6-0.

The final three games of the Hillcrest quarterfinals will be held this afternoon on Finkbine Fields starting at 4:15.

Gibbs' Touchdown First In Three Years

By STEU BETTERTON
Staff Writer

It was a long time between touchdowns for Iowa's Dick Gibbs — three years.

Last Saturday the junior defensive back from Chariton picked off an Indiana pass and returned it 85 yards for a score.

To find another touchdown Gibbs had to turn his memory back to 1962 and his senior year in high school. It was the next to the last game of the year.

Gibbs had to think a few seconds before he could remember that TD, but he laughed as he realized it was another intercepted pass which gave him a score.

"I don't even know how far it was," he recalled, "but it must have been around 50 yards because I do remember catching it right in front of the other team's bench."

BETWEEN SCORES Gibbs has worked hard to prove that he can play Big 10 football.

He showed up in Iowa City in the fall of 1963 without a scholarship. A few small colleges had offered him scholarships, but he wanted to play in the Big 10 or not at all.

As a freshman he was a flanker and he was invited to return as a sophomore — with a scholarship. Coaches considered him a good prospect to make the team. Last year he was converted to a defensive back. During the year he saw limited action in four games, and played about half of one game, but he did not letter.

This year he returned as a top contender for a defensive spot and early in practice seemed to have landed the number one left half position. However, when the first game was played Gibbs sat on the bench for 60 minutes.

A severely bruised larynx had sidelined him from some practice, but Gibbs thinks the real reason he didn't play was because the coaches just weren't satisfied with his performance.

By the time the second game rolled around the coaches were satisfied, and Gibbs has played full time since then.

WHILE IT HAS taken him three seasons to become firmly entrenched on the football team, Gibbs found a spot on the Iowa track team as soon as he was eligible.

His event is the broadjump, and as a sophomore he recorded a leap of 23-3 and finished the season with a fifth place in the Big 10 meet.

He is hopeful of improving his mark and his conference standing this spring.

He is also hopeful of getting hands on the football again. Gibbs speaks for defensive backs everywhere when he says, "So it's great to carry the ball."

Grabowski Leads Big 10 Rushers

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Grabowski, Illinois' record-breaking fullback, appeared headed Wednesday for his second successive Big Ten football rushing title.

Iowa players lead in punt turns and kickoff returns.

The knifing 210-pound Grabowski, a senior has amassed a four-game conference total of yards on 108 carries in continuing as the leading ball-carrier according to official league statistics.

Grabowski, who already owns the three-year record by a Big Ten rusher in over-all season play of 2,275 yards, has a 64-yard bulge over runner Clinton Jones of Michigan State.

Purdue quarterback Bob Griener remains the Big Ten's best passer with 71 completions on 1,085 passes for 793 yards and a percentage. Next is quarterback Steve Juday of top-ranked Michigan State with 48-for-83, 583 yards for 615 yards and a .518 mark.

Other departmental leaders — Scoring — Fullback Bob Apisa and halfback Jones of Michigan State, each with 44 points.

Pass Receiving — End G. Hadrick of Purdue, 25 catches for 274 yards. Best receiver yardage is 337 by end G. Washington of Michigan State, 21 catches.

Punt Returns — Tony Williams of Iowa, 9 for 11.9 average.

Interceptions — Rick V. Michigan, 9 for 9 yards.

Punting — Ron Rector, Northwestern, 11 for 39.2 average; Larry McDowell, Iowa, 35 for 39.2 average.

Kickoff Returns — Al F. Iowa, 10 for 10.0 average.

Apisa Moved To No. 1 Unit

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two quarterbacks alternated in playing the role of the Iowa passer as Michigan State worked on pass defense Wednesday.

Freshman signal-caller Bill Feraco and Eric Marshall, a junior who had been sidelined by a shoulder separation earlier in the season, did the throwing expected from Gary Snook when MSU meets the Hawkeyes Saturday.

For the first time this season, sophomore fullback Bob Apisa was a fixture in the No. 1 offensive backfield. Apisa, leading Spartan scorer with his 56 points and nine touchdowns, started a game for the first time last week against Northwestern.

Apisa has carried 95 times for 535 yards and Cotton has 20 carries for 54 yards.

Hawks Plagued By Injuries

Secrecy still prevails, but it is believed that the Iowa Hawkeyes are facing a serious injury problem.

With "mighty" Michigan State coming to town on Saturday it is possible that instead of running onto the field the locals will come out on crutches.

Coaches won't name names, or give totals, but they aren't denying a real problem. If it is true that the rich get richer then maybe the weak can get weaker.

Even at full strength sentiment wouldn't rate Iowa as a real test for the Spartans. Already it is being said that Michigan State has only to meet Notre Dame for the "national title," and then demolish some poor West Coast team in the Rose Bowl.

The fact that Iowa and Indiana are still on the schedule just means that the Lions from MSU will have some good Christian meat to nibble on while waiting for a real test.

One Chicago writer went so far as to say that if Michigan State should somehow lose to the Big Ten's two bottom teams saliva tests should be ordered.

A real die-hard fan can cry this week that David beat Goliath and hope for the best. The only problem is that David and Goliath was a touching story from the Bible, and a football stadium is no biblical setting.

An eternal pessimist would say that the Davids from Iowa are going to get stomped on by the Goliath's from Michigan State, because that's the way the story should have gone in the first place.

NEW STADIUM — SAN DIEGO (AP) — A landslide vote Tuesday will enable the city to go ahead with plans to construct a $27 million multi-purpose stadium.

The 50,000-seat stadium is scheduled to be completed in August 1967 in Mission Valley.

City Youth Corps Gets Federal Grant For New Program

Federal approval of a $40,300 grant for Iowa City's winter Neighborhood Youth Corps, a job program under the Economic Opportunity Act, was received Wednesday from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The program is designed to provide "work experience for 16- to 21-year-olds so that their ability to be employed may be increased or their education may be resumed or continued," according to the terms of the act. John Adamson, city administrative assistant and local project director of the corps, said Wednesday that recruiting for 35 enrollees would begin today from records at the Iowa State Employment Service. The corps may start work by the end of next week, he said.

TOTAL COST for the corps project will be $44,850, of which Iowa City will provide $4,550. Besides working 32 hours a week at $1.25 an hour, the corps members will receive three hours of counseling a week. Adamson said two University students had been hired as job coordinators and counselors. They are Charles Pelton, LA, Clinton, and Mike New, G, Nevada. Both were crew supervisors this summer on youth corps project that cleaned up some of the spring flood wreckage in towns along the Mississippi River.

THE CORPS will comprise one library employee, two custodial trainees at the Recreation Center, 18 workers in the Park Department clearing trees, and 14 workers at Veterans Hospital.

Requirements for corps operations, Adamson said, include income of about $2 a day for each participant.

"We have the feeling we have an obligation to hire only those who really need the money," Adamson said.

Iowa City had a summer youth corps project that provided jobs for 30 to 40 youths from May through August.

Gen. De Gaulle's Future Plan To Be Revealed In TV Speech

PARIS (AP) — With secrecy befitting a military headquarters, Charles de Gaulle is preparing to tell Frenchmen Thursday night whether he wants them to elect him to a seven-year presidential term that would end when he is 82.

The president's message, to be broadcast at 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EST), will be recorded a few hours earlier. To guard against any leaks, the television technicians will be kept inside the Elysee Palace until the speech goes on the air.

MOST FRENCHMEN think De Gaulle will be a candidate in the Dec. 5 election. Two separate newspaper polls have indicated that 75 to 85 per cent of the population expects him to run in the nation's first popular election of a president.

In 1962, De Gaulle proposed that henceforth presidents of France be elected by a direct popular vote. He believed that a president should get his mandate directly from the people.

Even those who are convinced De Gaulle wants to stay in power have nagging doubts, however. Nothing will be certain until De Gaulle himself has spoken.

De Gaulle will be speaking shortly before his 75th birthday — Nov. 20 — and some feel his age may be a factor in his decision.

DE GAULLE reminded members of the Cabinet, at the weekly meeting Wednesday, that he would be speaking Thursday — nothing more.

If De Gaulle should step aside, Premier Georges Pompidou is considered the most probable replacement on the Gaullist ticket.

DR. JAMES G. BACKES, chairman of the speech department at Idaho State University, is serving as an intern in academic administration in Pres. Bowen's office. During his year of internship, Backes will observe the central administration of the University. — Photo by Marlin Levison

Academic Intern Likes Work Here, Has 'Cooperation'

by JING-HAI WU
Staff Writer

The success or failure of an internship in academic administration depends largely on the cooperation of the host educational institution, in the opinion of such an intern under the guidance of Pres. Howard R. Bowen.

"Here at Iowa I get full cooperation from the president, the deans of colleges, and other University officers," said the intern, James G. Backes, chairman of the Department of Speech and acting head of the Humanities Department at Idaho State University.

Backes is spending this academic year in Bowen's office to observe, mainly, how the president works.

"I HAVE NO specific work to do," he said, "so I just look around and watch how the president reaches and makes a decision, what his relationship with the faculty, students, and the Board of Regents is, and how the central administration of the University handles various problems."

The 33-year-old department head is sponsored by a grant from the Ellis L. Phillips Foundation called Internships in Academic Administration.

The program provides a period of time at a university in which the intern will have an opportunity to work with college officers, discuss with teachers, observe the operation of an institution and learn what academic administration involves.

Backes chose one of his friends as an example in explaining how cooperation from the host institution was important. He recalled that his friend served his internship at one of the Ivy League universities. The friend wasted his time, Backes said, because he could not get cooperation from that university.

BACKES' MAIN INTEREST is in observing how the central administration operates. He attends meetings, participates in discussions, talks with deans of colleges and other administrative officers and faculty members.

Experts To Discuss Alliance For Progress

U.S. policy in Latin America will be the focal point of discussions at the Iowa Commonwealth Conference on "The Alliance for Progress: Its Implications for the Americas" on campus Nov. 11 and 12.

Main speakers at the conference will be Gonzalo J. Facio, Costa Rican diplomatic ambassador to the United States; Raymond F. Mikesell, associate director of the Institute of International Studies and Overseas Administration at the University of Oregon, and Neil McManus, U.S. Foreign Service officer assigned to the Operations Center in the Office of the Secretary of State. McManus will take the place of Jack Hood Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, who was scheduled to participate but will be in Latin America at the time of the conference.

ALL OF THE CONFERENCE sessions, which will be open to the public, will be held in the Union. A registration fee of $1 will be waived for students.

Ambassador Facio will speak at the opening session Nov. 11 at 2 p.m. on "The Alliance for Progress: Why and What?" Mikesell will talk at 3:15 p.m. the same day on economic goals and problems of the Alliance, and McManus at 8 p.m. on U.S. policy in Latin America.

Faculty speakers in a panel at 9 a.m. Nov. 12 on "Social Goals and Problems of the Alliance" will include Samuel M. Fahr, professor of law; John R. Winnie, associate professor of radio-television-film; Peter G. Snow, assistant professor of political science, and David H. Andrews, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology.

VERNON VAN DYKE, professor of political science and director of the Center for International Studies here, will chair the discussion and summarize the conference.

Ambassador Facio was born in San Jose, Costa Rica, and earned a bachelor of sciences and letters degree from Liceo de Costa Rica in 1935 and bachelor and master of law degrees in 1940 and 1941 from the University of Costa Rica Law School.

He earned the master of comparative jurisprudence degree at New York University and was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree from that University in 1963.

During the civil war that took place in Costa Rica in March and April of 1958, he was a major in the National Liberation Army.

In his country he has been minister of justice, minister of foreign affairs, minister of economy and finance and president of the National Legislative Assembly.

Diplomatic missions he has served on include delegations to United Nations and the council of the Organization of American States. Ambassador Facio has also been editor of two newspapers and a magazine.

MIKESSELL EARNED his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Ohio State University and has taught at the University of Washington and the University of Virginia.

During World War II, he was an economist for the Office of Price Administration and the Treasury Department. In 1944 he participated in the Bretton Woods International Monetary and Financial Conference.

During the Eisenhower administration, he was a consultant to the Council of Economic Advisers. Since 1957 he has been professor and director of a study on U.S. foreign investment experience in postwar world, financed by a Ford Foundation grant.

IN ADDITION to being a consultant for the Department of State, Mikesell has served as consultant to the Commerce Committee of the Alliance for Progress since 1962.

MCMANUS SERVED as field representative for the Atomic Energy Commission from 1948-49 and joined the Department of State in 1949.

During the panel meeting Nov. 12, Fahr will discuss "Agrarian Reform in Peru." Winnie will describe his experiences as a consultant in the establishment of an educational television system in Columbia. Snow will talk on "Political Institutions," and Andrews will discuss "Cultural Changes in Emerging Nations."

Grad Students Will Get Tips On Writing News For Science

Six journalism graduate students and Clarence Andrews, assistant professor of English and journalism, left this morning to attend the press seminar "Medical Science in the News" sponsored by the Chicago Press Club.

The two-day seminar will deal with the problems of writing science news for newspaper readers. ATTENDING are Tom Fensch, Mansfield, Ohio; Steve Elliott, Salisbury, N.C.; Robert Buzony, Huron, S.D.; Leland Walker, Okaloosa; Harry Neyens, Ft. Madison; and Ted Holland, Winnipeg, Canada.

The seminar features speakers and panel discussions on such topics as "Pitfalls in Reporting Medical News," "Medical Journalism — A Challenge to Conscience," "How to Spot Medical Hoaxery," "The Birth Control Story," and "How Many Murders are We Missing?"

Shirley Linde, from the American Writers Association, is chairman for today's session, and Dr. Joel Shaw, a member of the Chicago Medical Society, for Friday's session.

PANEL MODERATORS include Dr. Theodore R. Van Del-

Iowa Groups Marching Band, Highlanders Plan Support, Gifts For GIs

DUBUQUE (AP) — Operation We Care, Inc., organized to give moral support and gifts to U.S. servicemen in South Viet Nam, Wednesday won endorsement of the Iowa Jaycees and Knights of Columbus.

Formation of the organization was announced Saturday, and plans are being made to make it a national effort.

John Walsh of Dubuque, chairman of the program, said the Jaycees and K of C promised to establish branch offices of Operation We Care in towns where they had units.

The Jaycees have 200 chapters and the K of C 111 councils in Iowa. Their two memberships total about 41,000.

Walsh said that since the organization was formed citizens have donated about $375 in cash and hundreds of gifts to be sent to military men in South Viet Nam.

Operation We Care has as its goal 140,000 gifts of such things as cigarettes, razor blades, gum, candy, transistor radios and non-perishable food.

The University Marching Band and the Scottish Highlanders will both appear in pre-game and half-time ceremonies at the Iowa-Michigan State Dad's Day football game Saturday.

The 120-member, all-male Hawkeye Marching Band will preview the three-month Symphony Band Concert tour of Russia and Eastern Europe with its show "To Russia With Love." The Symphony Band will leave in mid-February on the tour, sponsored by the U.S. Department of State.

The Highlanders' performance will honor William L. Adamson, director of the Highlanders, who has been hospitalized since Oct. 4.

SATURDAY'S game will be regionally televised by the National Broadcasting Company on 60 stations in 14 states.

The band will lead off with the formation of a jetliner as it plays "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines." Bobbie Jean Foulkes, A3, Altoona, twirler for the band, will be featured in the number "Here's Love" as the band forms a heart.

A precision drill routine to themes from "Romeo and Juliet," "March Slav" and "Prince Igor" will be performed. Concluding the program will be the formation of "DADS" and a short ceremony introducing the football dads.

FREDERICK EBBS, director of the band, directs the Marching Band.

Special formations by the Highlanders during their half-time show will include a diamond, an "X" and spinning pinwheels. A sword dance to "Argyll Broadsword" will be a highlight of their show.

John Stewart, A2, Billings, Mont., is directing the Highlanders while Adamson is in hospital.

Theaters Get New Heads

By SHARON ROSEBERRY
Staff Writer

A former teacher, a former newspaperman, and a man who has been in the theater business for 32 years are the new managers of three of Iowa City's downtown movie theaters.

Robert E. Williams, 400 Bjayville Lane, the former teacher, has become the manager of Varsity Theater. Williams is a graduate of William Penn College and previous manager of theaters in Burlington and Ottumwa.

The new manager of the Iowa Theater is Paul Trippler, who formerly ran a theater and a newspaper in a small South Dakota town. In a recent interview he and W. R. (Wally) Stolfus, 816 Caroline Ave., the Englert Theater's new manager, discussed the theater business and the changes in it through the years. Stolfus started in the business in 1933, just four years after the first "talkies" came out.

Stolfus and Trippler agreed that the tastes of movie-goers had changed over the years.

"People want to see more mature pictures now," Trippler said.

IN THE 1930s and 1940s many romance movies and series movies, like the Andy Hardy series with Mickey Rooney were popular, Trippler said. Many movies that appealed to the whole family were made in that period and were very popular.

Now few series pictures are made and few family movies are big successes at the box office, the two managers said. The types of movies in which Elizabeth Taylor starred are a good illustration of the trend in movie popularity, Trippler explained. In 1942 Miss Taylor played in her first picture, "Lassie Come Home," which was one of the biggest hits of the year.

SHE STARRED in romances like "The Last Time I Saw Paris" with Van Johnson in the 1950s, Trippler said, and then in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," a movie based on the Tennessee Williams play. This sequence illustrates the move toward more sophistication in films, Trippler said.

Stolfus, who has managed theaters in six other Iowa towns, said movie-goers in Iowa City were quite different from those in most towns.

BECAUSE THIS is a university town "the more learned people" are here, he said, and this influences the popularity of movies at Iowa City box offices. For example, he said, "Zorba the Greek" would fill your house here." But this movie would probably not be a hit in some other Iowa towns.

"The whole town is more cultured," Stolfus said.

College students make up a large proportion of the movie audience in Iowa City, both managers agreed, but they said that the under-25 age group made up the largest percentage of the movie-going public in every town in the country. The popularity of television among the older people was the main cause of this trend, they said.

Glick, Faculty Go To Conference

Frank Z. Glick, director of the School of Social Work, and several members of the School faculty are attending the Iowa Welfare Association annual meeting in Des Moines this week.

Glick will report on future plans for the School of Social Work to the Iowa Council of the National Association of Social Workers.

He will also introduce the featured speaker of the conference at the annual dinner today. The speaker is Whitney Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League.

1st American Teen Dies In Viet War

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — A Fort Wayne youth who dropped out of school and enlisted in the Army a few days after his 17th birthday is apparently the first American soldier of his age killed in combat in Viet Nam.

Military authorities report a check of all the services shows Pfc. Terry T. Wright the only 17-year-old killed in the Viet Nam conflict.

The Pentagon is reportedly taking a new look at whether 17-year-old servicemen should be used in Viet Nam. Current policy permits most youths of this age in uniform to be assigned duty in Viet Nam or elsewhere overseas.

Wright's mother, Mrs. Genevieve Hays, said he left Central Junior High School to work in a drive-in restaurant and later at a discount department store.

He enlisted shortly after his birthday last Dec. 23, she added. Wright arrived in Viet Nam about a month before he was killed on Oct. 10. He died of gunshot wounds while on a search and destroy mission against the Communist Viet Cong.

Choppers Pose Problem For C.R. Administration

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Helicopters pose a problem for Cedar Rapids officials.

Police Chief George J. Matias said he has received complaints that helicopters have been landing in a residential area in the northwest part of town, but can find no city ordinance against it.

Matias said he and the city's airport manager are studying the situation and may propose an ordinance to the City Council.

Smallpox Breakout — LAGOS, Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Forty-six persons have died from small-pox after an outbreak in eastern Nigeria, and 300 others are suffering from it, the member of Parliament for the area announced Wednesday.

The occasion was a hearing by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) on a proposed standard for peanut butter.

Among other things, the standard would require the product to contain 90 per cent peanuts.

Sidney Weissenstein, an FDA inspector who likes his peanut butter all peanuts with a dash of salt, testified that he visited a Procter & Gamble plant in Lexington, Ky., in 1958, and got a surprise.

HE SAID he found that the product named Jif was being made with "as little as 75 per cent peanuts." He said there was "as much as 20 per cent crisco base," plus hydrogenated cottonseed oil, corn syrup, honey, salt, dextrose, and artificial flavor.

He said "crisco base" was the company's term for partially hydrogenated cottonseed oil and soybean oil.

He wrote a critical report. Procter & Gamble changed the label on Jif from peanut butter to peanut spread. But in 1961 it raised the content to more than 90 per cent peanuts and restored

U.N. Council Cancels Talks On Kashmir

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The U.N. Security Council canceled a meeting on the Pakistan conflict today for the third day in a row because Big Four could not agree on resolution on the subject.

The cancellation of the noon meeting was announced shortly after a private meeting of Soviet, French, and U.S. delegates and the council president, Ambassador Fernando Q. Sanz, was conferring with other members.

Diplomatic sources said Big Four were still in disagreement over a Soviet proposal for a three-month time limit on the stationing of U.N. observers in India and Pakistan to the Sept. 22 cease-fire and subsequent withdrawal.

O'Brien Sworn In As Chief Mailman

HYE, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, political professional from the big city, was sworn in as Postmaster General today in this hamlet of 135. A beaming President Johnson looked on and waxed a bit sentimental.

It was here — at Hye's combination post office and general store — that Johnson mailed his first letter, to his grandmother, when he was four.

Facing a sparse rain-spattered crowd that stood alongside a main highway that is the main street of Hye, Johnson said, "This little community represents to me the earliest recollections of the America I knew when I was a little boy."

That's why he chose the porch of the 19th century building for the swearing in of city-bred O'Brien, who had served both him and President John F. Kennedy as special assistant in charge of congressional liaison.

After the affair, the President escorted O'Brien inside, introduced him to neighbors — Hye is less than five miles from the LBJ Ranch — and munched crackers and cheese served from the butcher counter.

Johnson and his newest cabinet member then inspected Hye's fourth-class post office facilities — a counter and a few lock boxes in a dimly-lit rear corner of the store.

Margaret's First Visit To Be Wow

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret will take a spectacular collection of clothes and hats with her today on her first visit to the United States, a source close to the royal family said Wednesday. "She's trying to keep them a big secret," said the informant. "It's a bit like a bride with her wedding dress. She doesn't want anyone to know all about it until the wedding."

Asked how many dresses and suits Queen Elizabeth's younger sister is taking, the source said: "I'm not sure, but it's a lot. She's had Norman Hartnell and others busy for weeks. She's also taking some special hats. One or two of them should be real eye-openers in America."

Norman Hartnell is one of the royal dressmakers. The princess' clothes-toting tour of the United States could have a broader and more subtle meaning, for Britain's clothesmakers and designers are mounting an all-out assault on the American market.

Kappa Epsilon Founder To Be Honored Here Friday

A plaque honoring the memory of Zada Mary Cooper, who was associated with the College of Pharmacy for 45 years, will be presented Friday at a luncheon meeting of the annual Pharmacy Seminar.

The plaque will be presented by the Grand Council of Kappa Epsilon, national professional fraternity for women in pharmacy, which was founded by Miss Cooper in 1921.

ZADA MARY COOPER
Kappa Epsilon Founder

Representatives of the fraternity who will present the plaque to the College of Pharmacy at Friday's ceremonies will be Diane E. Erickson, St. Paul, Minn., vice-president of the alumnae program; and Mrs. Laurene Rick, treasurer, and Mrs. Blossom Jacobsen, past president, both of Minneapolis, Minn.

MISS COOPER, who died in 1961, called together women who were students of pharmacy at the University of Minnesota, the University of Nebraska and the U of I to found Kappa Epsilon. She was chosen an honorary member and faculty advisor. Later, she originated and edited "The Bond," official magazine of the organization.

The fraternity has grown from three chapters in 1921 to 34 student chapters and 3400 alumnae in the United States today.

Miss Cooper was the first woman to become president of Rho Chi, national honorary pharmacy fraternity, of which she was an honorary member. A pharmacy graduate of the U of I, she organized and developed the first pharmacy departmental library and founded the "College of Pharmacy News," which is still published.

LAST JUNE, one of the housing units of Currier Hall was named in honor of Miss Cooper. A graduate of Quasqueton High School, she lived in Villisca after retiring from the U of I.

Missing Iowan Found In California

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP) — A body found in a car in a deep pool of the Truckee River was identified Wednesday as that of a Rockwell City, Iowa, woman missing since Aug. 24.

She was 54-year-old Mrs. Lois Stephan. Her small foreign made car was registered to her husband, Robert, a golf course employee. Mrs. Stephan disappeared while driving alone from Rockwell City to Susanville, Calif., to attend the funeral of her twin brother.

A wide search failed to turn up any trace of her. The car was found Tuesday after a tip from two fishermen.

The Nevada County sheriff's and coroner's offices are investigating to determine whether foul play was involved in Mrs. Stephan's death.

"I think she just went into the river and drowned," said Lt. O. P. Ledford of the California Highway Patrol.

He said an autopsy Tuesday night indicated drowning was the cause of death. There were no broken bones or abrasions indicated.

Soil Surveys Prove Helpful In Planning, Scientist Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One of the nation's top soil scientists told the American Society of Agronomy Wednesday that the modern soil survey is taking the guesswork out of community planning.

Soil surveys, said Dr. Charles E. Kellogg, deputy administrator for soil survey for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, are becoming a useful tool in more ways than just for farmer use.

He said such surveys play an important role in community planning for residential and recreational areas, industrial uses, forestry, intensive farming, and accompanying transport and community services. Soil properties that affect agricultural uses are the same ones that affect their use for recreation, he said.

American people have nearly 100,000 kinds of soil, each with a unique combination of characteristics and potentials for use, Dr. Kellogg said. He added that people have no need to use soils for farming, commercial forestry, housing, recreation or other purposes unless the soils are suited for it, or can be made so economically.

Thieves Enter House, Take $50, Television

Thieves took $50 in cash and a portable television in a break-in at the Edward Kelley residence, 306 Monroe St. University Heights between, 7 and 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The Johnson County sheriff's office said entry was gained by breaking the glass in the back door with a brick. The house was ransacked, police said.
