University Experts Study Keokuk Fire

KEOKUK (AP) — Experts from the Universities of Iowa and Illinois were called in Monday to help pinpoint the source of gas which exploded, wrecking the National Guard Armory here and claiming 11 lives.

A team of burn specialists from Brooks General Hospital, San Antonio, Tex., were to be sent to Keokuk to assist in treating other blast victims who remain hospitalized.

Iowa Adj. Gen. Junior F. Miller said he understood some of the victims might be taken to the hospital at Brooks Air Force Base.

THIRTY-FIVE persons remained in hospitals Monday, 17 of them in critical condition. Doctors said the death toll may rise.

The blast occurred as 60 to 70 members of the Swing Ezy Club were holding a Thanksgiving Eve square dance in the armory. The dancers were enveloped in a huge ball of fire.

State Fire Marshal Wilbur Johnson said he expected to be in Keokuk at least for the remainder of this week in a continued search for the source of the gas which accumulated in the armory.

Workers of the Keokuk Gas Service Co. uncovered a fracture in the gas line serving the armory, about eight feet outside the building, Johnson said.

HE SAID there is serious doubt whether the rupture was there before the explosion.

Authorities said offers of help for the victims continue to come in. They have come from as far away as Germany and Saskatchewan, Canada.

3 From University Participate In Washington Protest March

Two University students and Donald L. Barnett, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, were among an estimated 25,000 people who marched in Washington Sunday to protest the war in Viet Nam.

"The number of people participating exceeded all expectations," Barnett said in an interview here Monday. "When you consider the adverse conditions such as the date and the lack of publicity, the turnout was tremendous."

THE TWO students were Gary L. Smith, A4, Farley; and Bruce D. Whitaker, A4, Allison. James Stature of Iowa City also took part in the march.

The Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE) had originally organized the march. But about two weeks ago others had been invited to participate and 140 groups supported the march Barnett said.

SANE had authorized only signs supporting peace in Viet Nam through negotiation, Barnett said, but many demonstrators carried other placards advocating immediate withdrawal from the war.

THE MARCH was followed by a rally at the Washington Monument attended by 40-50,000 people, at which leaders of the peace movement spoke, according to Barnett.

While the demonstrators were marching, their leaders met with White House aides in a 90-minute discussion of United States policy in Viet Nam.

"Some people had objected to the date of the march," Barnett said, "because Congress had adjourned and the President was not in Washington. However, the large turnout reflects the strong feeling throughout the country on this issue."

Barnett also charged that bus drivers in the East had refused to carry demonstrators to the march.

Barnett said he had not intended to go to Washington, but he had been called at 1:30 p.m. on Friday and was asked to go as a substitute. He drove in to Washington with three members of the Cornell College faculty.

Recent Trips To Be Topic Of Newsman

William Worthy, newsman and world traveler, will speak about his recent trips to Communist countries at 8 p.m. Saturday in MacBride Auditorium.

Worthy has just returned to the United States from North and South Viet Nam and Cambodia.

WILLIAM WORTHY
Noted Newsman

This trip, unauthorized by the State Department, as were his earlier trips to China and Cuba, has caused a great deal of disagreement between the State Department and the journalist.

Early in 1964 the Circuit Court of Appeals of New Orleans ruled that the State Department could not punish Worthy for his travel to Communist nations. The State Department, however, has not renewed his passport. Worthy currently travels on a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines affidavit of identity and nationality.

Worthy's articles have appeared in Time, Esquire, and The Christian Science Monitor. His 1957 trip to China resulted in a television documentary.

Worthy's Iowa City appearance is sponsored by the Concensus on International Affairs, (CIA) a faculty discussion group, and the School of Journalism.

Also, the CIA is sponsoring six showings daily of the film "China," Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Iowa Theatre. Tickets for the film are available from Mrs. Edwin Norbeck, 510 Brown Street. The tickets also include a reserve seat at the Worthy lecture.

"AND WHAT DO YOU want for Christmas this year, sonny?" Santa Claus asks Willie Seering, bell captain at the Hotel Jefferson. Santa has a waiting knee for all kids with Christmas dreams of a shiny fire truck or a lightning fast sled. Santa will be available Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays until Christmas in the Hotel Jefferson lobby.

Santa Claus Is In Iowa City, But He's Missing 1 Reindeer

By SUE RICKEL
Staff Writer

The three-year old toddler, balancing on Santa Claus' red knee, earnestly asked him if it was true that Comet, the reindeer, had to stay at home this year.

"Yes, that's true," replied the slightly miffed Santa.

"I thought so," the girl went on with a solemn nod. "They told me he had to stay at home to clean the sink."

A professional Santa Claus has to learn to go along with almost anything a child may ask, according to the Santa currently presiding in the lobby of the Hotel Jefferson. Children may have been told any number of things and it's up to Santa not to cast doubt on any illusions they might have.

IOWA CITY'S Santa, in his first year in this position, says he is 26 years old. His eyes are not wrinkled or bleary from old age or North Pole weather and the elastic which stretches his platinum blond nylon beard over his face is not hard to spot.

One glance at the rapt, mesmerized faces of the children who line up to talk to Santa, however, indicates that for them, this is authentic, the real thing.

"In a way, children are the true believers in Christmas," Santa said. "The magic, the spirit of giving, are real to them. I took this job because I enjoy children so much. A child's idea of Christmas is a delicate, unique one, which comes only during a short period of life."

SANTA HAS A low, gentle voice and even the shy children tend to respond to him after a few moments. One small boy, with an incredibly wistful look on his face, inched slowly between the fortress of Santa's knees until his small face was nearly touching the white smoke of beard.

"Well, what do you want for Christmas?" Santa asked.

A hurt look spread over the child's face. "Didn't you get my letter?" he asked reproachfully.

SANTA REPORTS that one child wrote him a letter asking him to please take his shoes off when he came so he wouldn't get mother's carpet dirty.

"When I first got on the job, I tried to think of original things to ask the kids," Santa said. "Something different than what's your name and have you been good and what do you want for Christmas. But I finally figured, what's the difference? Kids don't compare notes." And it's obvious that to most of the kids Santa is the greatest guy in the world, no matter what he says, Santa added.

One little girl asked me where my reindeer were, Santa said. I told her they were parked on the roof of the building. You've just got to be able to think of answers for everything, he said.

Most of the children he talks to, who are six or seven and younger, want dolls or trains or games, conventional Christmas requests. Iowa City's Santa recalls one three-year-old girl who wouldn't settle for anything but a tube of lipstick.

SANTA WHO prefers to remain anonymous, got his job by answering an ad in the newspaper. He was told he was chosen from six applicants, but he has no idea what considerations went into his selection.

Santa said he was interested in the job because he always had an idea he would like to be Santa. "That, and the fact that I love to talk to kids made me receptive," he said.

The downtown Santa Claus tradition started some years ago sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Santa's location has changed many times.

From now until the 22nd of December he will be sitting near the Christmas tree in the hotel lobby, sack of candy and all, proof positive to Iowa City's children that Santa Claus does exist.

U.N. OK's Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly approved without a dissenting vote Monday the convening of a world disarmament conference to which Red China would be invited. It would be held not later than 1967.

Secretary-General U Thant immediately hailed the vote as a milestone on the road toward universality of the world organization — the inclusion of Red China and other outside the United Nations.

Hanoi Escalation To Be Countered

SAIGON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Monday night at the end of a 36-hour visit to South Viet Nam his most vivid impression is that "We have stopped losing the war."

However, he declared the Communists have intensified their fighting and thus must be countered. He forecasts a long struggle.

He said at an airport news conference that the United States will continue to send troops needed for waging the war, but he declined to say how many.

Heavy fighting in recent weeks by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars indicated, he said, "a clear decision by Hanoi to escalate infiltration and raise the level of the conflict."

THESE ACTS MUST be countered, he said and added, "the South Vietnamese government will further increase its military strength."

His remarks heightened speculation that the United States will boost the number of its military personnel in South Viet Nam from the present 165,700 to 300,000 and that air attacks will be intensified on the Viet Cong's jungle supply routes running from North Viet Nam through Laos.

The secretary spoke of forming another airmobile division, but he said it would not necessarily be destined for Viet Nam.

The 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division landed with 16,000 men in South Viet Nam earlier this year. McNamara said he was pleased with its operation. The division was trained especially to fight guerrillas in rough terrain. Its troops are transported into battle by helicopters.

A BUILDUP of allied forces in Viet Nam since July has denied the Viet Cong a victory they had hoped to achieve this past summer, McNamara asserted.

He conferred Sunday and again Monday with U.S. and South Vietnamese military officials on the increased ferocity of Communist attacks during the past week. He made a quick tour of some key battle areas Monday.

During McNamara's visit, Viet Cong guerrillas struck within five miles of downtown Saigon. Military informants said they attacked a series of government outposts with mortars and small arms fire and mined bridges. Lt. Col. Tran Van Manh, a district chief, was reported slain.

Ground action elsewhere hit a lull, but U.S. warplanes hammered targets in North and South Viet Nam and U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers shelled Viet Cong installations east of Saigon and along the central coast.

U.S. AND SOUTH Vietnamese troops hunted unsuccessfully for four Viet Cong battalions which attacked government troops holding an abandoned French rubber plantation 45 miles northwest of Saigon Saturday in what was de-

V.C. Release U.S. Soldiers After 2 Years

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Two U.S. soldiers captured by the Viet Cong two years ago have been freed and have reached Phnom Penh on their way home, Cambodian informants said Monday.

They added that the Americans, identified as Spec. 5 Claude E. McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., will be presented at a news conference today by Cambodia's information minister.

THE SOLDIERS were reported to be in the care of Cambodian officials.

There are no U.S. government officials in Phnom Penh, Cambodia broke relationships with the United States May 3 and the Australian Embassy has been handling U.S. diplomatic interests.

The report of the soldiers' arrival coincided with the arrival of a U.S. Senate fact-finding mission headed by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

Prof. Alston May Lose Job

There was no confirmation Monday regarding a rumor that a professor may be leaving Iowa City.

William O. Aydelotte, chairman of the history department, and Vice Chairman Alan Spitzer both declined to comment on a rumor that Patrick Alston, assistant professor of history, may not have his contract renewed.

Rumors that Alston may be losing his job have been widely circulated, but so far there has been no official confirmation or denial. Alston could not be reached for comment Monday.

The assistant professor is a specialist in Slavic studies and Russian history, but is more widely known as a lecturer in the large History of Western Civilization classes.

500 Volunteer Their Blood

More than 500 volunteers have signed up to donate a pint of blood for the University-wide blood drive Thursday, according to Jim McCoy, A2, Des Moines, co-chairman of the blood drive.

Volunteers may still sign up today and Wednesday at a booth in the Union Gold Feather Room lobby from 1 to 5 p.m.

McCoy said a tally taken for a report to the Red Cross last Wednesday showed that 514 persons had volunteered. Approximately 80 recruiters canvassed housing units for volunteers.

The recruiters were from the Student Senate freshman intern program, Sigma Nu fraternity pledge class, and Alpha Phi Omega, sponsor of the blood drive.

"The sponsors of the drive were encouraged by this number of students but expect a sizeable number to register before Thursday," said McCoy.

The Red Cross flag flying on the Old Capitol is in connection with the blood drive, McCoy said. The flag was lent by the Iowa City chapter of the Red Cross.

A Red Cross blood mobile will be at the University today and Wednesday for the ROTC blood drive. On Thursday, the blood mobile will provide facilities for volunteers on the third floor of the Union.

400 Cadets Pledge Blood To Red Cross

More than 400 Army and Air Force cadets will donate blood to the American Red Cross today and Wednesday.

Capt. Stanley R. Johnson, assistant professor of military science, said Monday that the blood drive was a community public service project. Most of the blood will be distributed in this area by the Red Cross, but a small amount may be made available to the Department of Defense, he said.

Equipment and arrangements for medical personnel will be handled by a field unit from the Red Cross Peoria Blood Center. Cadets will give blood from 9:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. today and from 9:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. Wednesday in 120A Field House, the indoor rifle range.

Cadet Col. Dean Dort, A4, Davenport, was in charge of pledging cadet donors for the Army, and members of the Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight pledged donors for the Air Force.

DR. ROBERT HUBBELL, assistant dean of men, talks with co-ordinators for Thursday's campus blood drive. Around the table from left are: James McCoy, A2, Des Moines; Richard Echter-nacht, B3, Fort Dodge; Elizabeth Edson, A3, Storm Lake; Bill Parisi, A4, Chicago Heights, Ill.; and Ed Kolyszko, a graduate assistant in German.

THE FACE OF RAMSES II, Egyptian king who ruled more than 3,000 years ago, is being moved to higher ground because of the huge man-made lake which is forming behind the Aswan dam. The face slab weighs 30 tons.

Rolling in the aisles —

Princess meets the gay, young set

By ART BUCHWALD

When orders went out that Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden wanted to meet only gay, young and amusing people in Washington, the job was turned over to Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach.

The guest list for Mr. and Mrs. Katzenbach's late night party was whittled down to 60 people. Everyone excelled in some specialty and was either known for his sparkle, his gaiety or his wit.

Before the dance the guests held rehearsals to simulate every sort of situation that might come up.

"Suppose she says to you 'Where are you from?' I asked David Brinkley, one of the invited guests.

"I'll tell her I'm from North Carolina," he replied.

Everyone started chuckling.

"Do you think she'll get it?" I asked.

"Why not? They say she's a swinging Princess."

"What will you say to her?" I asked columnist Russ Baker.

"I'll ask her if she's enjoying her trip to the United States."

"You wouldn't have the nerve," I challenged him.

Katzenbach said we could say anything we wanted to."

"Have you thought of any funnies for the Princess?" I asked Jack Valenti of the White House staff.

"I'm going to tell her the President was sorry he couldn't be at the party."

I doubled up with laughter, but then we had to leave for the dance.

As each person arrived they said something clever to Lydia Katzenbach, the hostess, or the Attorney General. The best remark I heard was "Where can I put my coat?" Another person topped it though with "Where can I put my wife's coat?" It must have gone that way for an hour while we waited for Princess Margaret to arrive.

Finally the Princess arrived with Lord Snowden and the party really got going. One person said to Her Royal Highness "How was Hollywood?" and you could instantly see she was amused.

At 12:05 a.m. it was discovered that there were two people at the party that weren't gay and amusing. How they slipped by the FBI nobody will ever know.

When Lord Snowden heard them he roared with laughter, not realizing of course that they were serious. And so the evening went on without any let up in the clever repartee and fast give and take that has become so much part of young, gay Washington.

Even as the Princess left, someone, we'll never know who, said to her, "You must come back and visit us again." The Princess' eyes crinkled in a smile and you could tell she really had fun. It isn't every day that a royal age gets to meet so many interesting people at one time.

Yo ho ho

MERRY CHRISTMAS. Too early? Not for a month yet? Hardly . . . the season has begun.

This holiday, once a one-day affair, has evolved to the point that now it is a prolonged celebration in which men bask in self content. Merchants celebrate their profits, and economists celebrate the boom that occurs annually at this time.

The weather comes in too, just on cue, to attempt to make the happy celebrants aware that they are on earth, where snow, winds and ice occur.

In all, it would seem that the Christmas illusion is developing on schedule. And yet, there is a specter in that dream in 1965. Man's true being cannot be overlooked this year.

It is not the thought of thousands of suffering Vietnamese or even of our own servicemen fighting there that should call for reflection. Rather it is the fact that there is war because many people in the world are unhappy and a few persons are taking advantage of this unhappiness.

These thoughts must not occur to us for only a fleeting moment on Christmas morning in the warmth of our material happiness. These thoughts should occur to us now, and throughout this season of "joy" as we struggle to put them into proper perspective.

Merry Christmas.

Sign of the times

UPON DRIVING FROM DES MOINES to Iowa City on the interstate highway Sunday we noticed that practically every other car had a University of Iowa registration sticker or Johnson County license plates.

Although much of the traffic using the interstate is bound for or leaving the Iowa City-Cedar Rapids area, the people in charge of signs along the way do not seem to realize it.

All the way from Des Moines to Iowa City there are signs telling how far it is to Davenport, but not word about the Iowa City exits until they are only a few miles away.

The same is true for autos coming the other way. Davenport drivers are always well informed of their location in relationship to Des Moines, but Iowa City road signs only appear a few miles before the first exit.

It is obvious the people who designed the interstate realize how many people travel through Iowa City; they made four exits for this small town in eastern Iowa — as many as the state capital of Des Moines has.

It's too bad the sign people don't get together with the traffic engineering people to figure out the best way to serve Iowa's motoring public.

Columnist says Burns got 'raw deal'

By BOB CASTERLINE (Reprinted from the Evanston Review)

Nearly everyone gets embarrassed when a college football coach is fired.

The story makes sports section headlines for a day or so, and is revived briefly when a successor is hired. We want to forget about it as soon as possible, because it makes us uncomfortable — like when the poor relatives come to a family dinner.

WE GO TO GREAT lengths to camouflage our discomfort with a blanket of rationalizations. "He had to know it was coming," we say. "At least it didn't happen in the middle of the holidays," adds a wife, who somehow thinks this makes a difference.

"They've offered him another spot on the faculty," we say, as if the primary concern is a source of income for the dismissed individual.

But most coaches are just exactly that — coaches. If they wanted to be faculty assistants in the physical education department, they would have moved to jobs like that long before.

What really hurts isn't the loss of a salary — nearly any coach can find another job. It's the loss of personal dignity that does the damage.

YOU CAN IMAGINE how you would feel if you were tossed out of your job because a lot of people booed you in public or a bunch of rabbit-brained college kids hung you in effigy?

Even worse, the decision to dismiss you is made by a board of men who don't know a blocking sled from a locker room, but will issue a public statement of your firing without giving you so much as a phone call first or a chance to defend yourself.

Ethical crisis

To the Editor:

There will be an informal meeting held to discuss Prof. Forrell's article, "The University's Ethical Crisis," which appeared in The Christian Scholar (Summer, 1965). This discussion will take place from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Friday in 14 Schaeffer Hall.

We will be primarily concerned with getting clear on what might be meant by such statements as "Nobody in the university has the truth which can make man free" and "Ultimate truth with a capital T is not within human reach but is God's gift obtained by grace alone". All who are concerned with alleged ethical crisis in the university are invited to attend. Those who would like copies of Section III and IV of Prof. Forrell's article may obtain them by contacting the undersigned.

'Dean, what does your sensitive antenna say about reaction to our latest press agent stories?'

Reader demands variety

To the Editor:

What would it be like to have a rock 'n' roll program on non-commercial radio? WSUI and its champions turn white at the thought (judging by the DJ letters column), and yet the BBC calmly presents "The Big Beat," (available on the American AM dial) a sane, dignified and entertaining program, completely different from the hysterical approach used on an American commercial radio.

It can be done with taste, though I doubt whether anyone on the WSUI staff has the background or inclination to work on the idea.

To plead as Eisner, Mullins and others have done for a broader spectrum of pop music on WSUI is, of course to criticize indirectly the station's policy concerning music.

This criticism can be further developed. What is the quality of WSUI broadcasting? Is it enough to fill the hours with "serious music" and scraps of respectable pop music (usually jazz or show tunes)? Are we to be satisfied with a daily schedule so rigid and monotonous that to hear the Requiem mass for Pres. Kennedy on Nov. 22 comes as an exciting surprise?

FOR THOSE WHO LISTEN regularly to the station my three complaints might be of interest: 1) a rigid schedule which sacrifices innovation and variety to regularity; 2) lack of variety in the kinds of music played; 3) absence of controlling themes or ideas in programming musical segments.

If this sounds like carping, then let me simply demand, "Let's have more variety!" Better yet, I can give a concrete example to highlight the alleged deficiencies. Here is a breakdown of about two weeks of programming from a fairly recent issue of the WFMT program guide. WFMT, affiliated with the University of Chicago is one of the best of the non-commercial university broadcasters. In addition to a richer, heavier schedule of classical selections than on (WFMT broadcasts from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m. there were these varied, daily or weekly programs based on a theme or idea: "Medieval Carols," "Russian Folk Songs," "The Family Singers," "Neapolitan Songs," "Bethan Music," "Music of India," "Songs of the Renaissance," "Balinese Music."

Single programs, including non-musical were: fiction and poetry readings by W. Somerset Maugham, Herman Wouk, T. S. Eliot, Tate, e.e. Cummings, Edgar Lee Masters, Edith Sitwell and Stephen Spender; lecture by Norman Mailer, Jacques Barzun and Baldwin; Severn Darden at the Second the musicals, "New Faces of 1952" and "Faces of 1956"; "The Threepenny Opera"; "ings based on Archa and Mehitabel; a Thurbur Carnival." Finally there were programs harder to describe which I overlook here.

CONTRASTING such fascinating and tedious broadcasting-fare (my enumeration course, gives no real idea of the daily schedule to the stodgier offerings of WSUI, perhaps can see how Mr. Rieke's defense (Nov. 23) station's supposed policy might appear to with the dull thud of a returning boomer "WSUI must attempt to offer its listeners best of all kinds of programming."

I admonish those at WSUI who would defend their station that, no matter how a case they can make for themselves (I am sure that they are already aware of achievements of WFMT), this does not matter. What matters is not tried and proven for but innovation, imagination, novelty, and a touch of daring.

Foreign Gifts Will Be Sold By YWCA

"World of Gifts," a Christmas international bazaar featuring imported gift items from 14 countries, will be held Thursday through Saturday in the Union Pentacrest Room. The bazaar is sponsored by the University YWCA.

According to Joan Cook, A4, Corning, a member, the YWCA has purchased about $3,500 in merchandise for the bazaar.

A variety of jewelry, lamps, and items made of pottery, brass, blown glass, wood and ebony are among the articles for sale, Miss Cook said.

Articles are from Sweden, India, Africa, Mexico, the Philippine Islands and nine European countries.

A portion of the bazaar profits will go to "Save American Youth," a non-profit organization formed last year at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, which sends Christmas gifts to poverty stricken children in the Appalachian area, Miss Cook said.

School supplies, books, fruit, candy, toys, and a dinner for entire families are among the gifts sent to the Appalachian children.

The remaining profit will be used by the YWCA for local service projects throughout the year.

The bazaar will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday, 1 to 5 p.m. Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

Early Buying, Mailing Urged

Shop early, mail early, and use ZIP codes if you want to get your cards and packages delivered by Christmas, the Post Office said Monday.

"Last year this was responsible for getting 99 per cent of the mail delivered before Christmas Eve," Acting Iowa City Postmaster Robert W. Shea said.

To make sure that Christmas mail gets to its destination before Christmas Eve this year, Shea suggested:

1. Up-date last year's address list and include ZIP Codes. The phone book is usually a good source for local addresses. Page 24 of the phone book lists local ZIP Codes.
2. PREPARE A GIFT list as soon as possible. Shop early to take advantage of full stocks. Be sure to have on hand enough shipping materials, boxes, tape and wrapping paper.
3. Use first class postage and put return addresses on greeting cards. This assures that they will be forwarded if the recipient has moved, and that undeliverable cards will be returned.

Shea emphasized, and mail often don't wait until the last minute to deposit gifts and greetings.

THE POST OFFICE workers will start going into overtime work in about two weeks, Shea said.

"Last year's mail handling was the most efficient in history," Shea said. "With the same or better public cooperation this year, we can handle the greater volume with even greater efficiency."

Rites Held For Aviator On Monday

Funeral services for James T. Scroggs, 35, Hawarden, who was killed when his light plane crashed and burned Friday in a field six miles west of Hills, were held Monday afternoon in Sioux City.

Washington county medical examiner ruled Scroggs death was due to suffocation. Scroggs was alone in the plane.

Johnson County Sheriff's office said Scroggs was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Scroggs of Cedar Rapids, over Thanksgiving At 11 p.m. Thursday, Scroggs took off from a Cedar Rapids airport headed for Springfield, Ill.

The accident occurred at 12:10 a.m. Friday on the Roy Pewitt farm near Hills. Authorities said the plane struck the ground, caught fire and then crashed 100 feet farther on.

Scroggs, a 1953 graduate of the University of Iowa, is survived by his wife, Joan, and two children, Susan, 11 and Charles, 10.

Mezzo-Soprano Will Sing Varied Program Wednesday

Shirley Verrett, mezzo-soprano, will present a program varying from folk songs to Brahms at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 8 in the Union Main Lounge.

Miss Verrett, is known for her interpretation of the title role of "Carmen."

When she first sang the role in New York in October of last year the New York Herald Tribune reported "Shirley Verrett's Carmen — the finest in a generation." She has sung the role in Switzerland, Italy, the Soviet Union, England and Canada.

She has recorded a group of Spanish songs, works by Stravinsky and a performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, with the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

Since winning a competition on Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts," in 1956, Miss Verrett has won nearly every major award given to promising young singers in this country.

Tickets are free to students and are available to the University staff for $2. They will be on sale at the Union East Lobby Desk Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon; Dec. 7 and 8 from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Dec. 8 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Nobody Gets Hurt In Truck Collision

Two truck drivers were uninjured but their vehicles suffered moderate damage as a result of a collision on Interstate 80, three blocks west of the Dubuque Street interchange about 3 p.m. Monday.

Whoever polished off that glass of beer was a real beer drinker. Someone who uses the swallow approach. Not a sipper. Sipping, you see, is for wine. It's the best way to appreciate the delicate taste of a fine vintage. But not beer.

Especially not Budweiser. Budweiser is a hearty drink brewed with lots of character, and the best way to enjoy it is to drink it. (Not chug-a-lug, either... just good healthy beer-drinker's swallows.)

Try this. Take a clean glass... say a twelve or fourteen-ounce size. Rinse it out with cold water. Open a can or bottle of the King of Beers and pour it right down the middle so that you get a good head of foam.

Now... take a big drink. No sips.

Good? You bet. This is how beer should taste. Budweiser gives you a taste, smoothness and drinkability you'll find in no other beer at any price. Our exclusive Beechwood Ageing with natural carbonation has a lot to do with it. This is the slow, finicky way to brew beer. Expensive, too... but the results are worth it.

So please, after we go to all this trouble, pour your Budweiser with a flourish. Drink it with a flourish.

And maybe a pretzel.

Content Analysis Manual To Be Published In 1966

A University professor and two University alumni have collaborated on "An Introduction to Content Analysis," a new textbook to be published by Dodd, Mead, and Co. in January.

The book is a revised and expanded version of a manual published by the School of Journalism in 1963.

The manual was part of the graduate seminar work of Richard W. Budd, director of the Mass Communications Bureau at the University, and Robert K. Thorp, now on the faculty of the University of Kentucky. Budd and Thorp received their Ph.D.'s in mass communications from Iowa in 1964 and 1963.

R. Lewis Donohew, who received his Ph.D. in mass communications from Iowa in 1965 and is now on the faculty of the University of Kentucky, helped in writing the new book.

Included in the book will be an annotated bibliography of content analysis studies, content and computer analysis techniques, and the applications of content analysis.

Weekend Tickets For Play Sold Out

Tickets for the weekend performances of "Pot of Gold" are sold out.

A fairly good assortment of tickets for other nights are still available at the Union east information desk. Students may obtain tickets by presenting their I.D. cards. General admission is $1.

The Roman comedy, translated and directed by Peter D. Arnett, associate professor of speech and classics, opens Thursday at the University Theatre. The play will be given through Dec. 11, with no performance Sunday.

EEG Course To Start

Applications are now being accepted for a one year training program in electroencephalographic technology scheduled to begin at the University in January.

The program will be one of the first formal EEG training courses in the nation, according to John R. Knott, professor and head of the division of electroencephalography (EEG) in the Department of Psychiatry.

Electroencephalography is the scientific field devoted to the recording and study of the electrical activity of the brain. It takes its name from the Greek word "enkephalos," meaning brain.

EEG utilizes highly sophisticated electronic techniques which are important in the evaluation and treatment of patients with brain diseases like tumors, epilepsy and stroke. As a research tool, EEG is used to study problems relating to the brain and behavior.

Until now, training program for EEG technologists have been largely of an apprenticeship nature.

"There is a tremendous need for EEG technologists," said Knott. "There has been one training program operating for several years at the Massachusetts General Hospital and a small group at the Mayo Clinic."

Knott said that an EEG technologist did the recording, carried out the examinations and acted as a clinical assistant. "It requires individual initiative," he said.

Knott, who will direct the training program, said that eight students would be selected for the first class. Each will receive a stipend of $200 a month while in training. Both men and women are eligible for the program.

To be accepted for the program, students must have graduated in the upper one third of their high school class and must have completed one or preferably two years of college. Preference will be given students with a good science background.

Courses will include classroom instruction in such areas as anatomy and neuroanatomy, physiology and neurophysiology, electronics and instrumentation, psychiatry for related professions, and laboratory practice sessions.

Students interested in applying for the course should write to Dr. Knott.

Iowa-Drake Sold Out

DES MOINES (AP) — The Drake-Iowa basketball game in Veterans Auditorium Dec. 11 is sold out, Paul Morrison, Drake ticket manager, said Monday.

He said good seats remain for other Drake home games this coming season.

The Bulldogs open their season Wednesday against William Jewell in Veterans Auditorium and play South Dakota State here Saturday.

McGuire To Coach Knickerbockers

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick McGuire, a longtime National Basketball Association backcourt star and former coach of the Detroit Pistons, was named coach of the New York Knickerbockers, replacing Harry Gallatin, Monday night.

Gallatin, who played with McGuire on Knickerbocker teams during the 1950s, replaced Eddie Donovan as the Knicks coach last Jan. 3 when Donovan was named general manager.

McGuire, who coached the Pistons for four seasons, takes over immediately.

The dismissal came 11 months to the day after Gallatin was fired as coach of St. Louis.

Late Moses Pass Lets U. Stars Wins

By RON BLISS
Staff Writer

A 56 yard scoring pass from Mickey Moses to Curt Vande Walle late in the third quarter boosted the University all-stars to a 14-13 victory over the College all-stars in the first annual All-Iowa Senior Bowl game Saturday.

The game, played in a brisk and chilly wind in Cedar Rapids' Kingston Stadium, proved to be a surprisingly even match between the University team, comprised of seniors from Iowa and Iowa State, and the College team, which was made up of senior stars from 11 small colleges around the state.

The University team appeared to have things well in hand early in the game, as they drove 65 yards and 11 plays to score the first time they had the ball. That score came on a two yard plunge by Iowa fullback Jim Killbreath, who carried six times for 24 yards during the drive. Iowa State's Steve Balkovec converted, and the score stood at 7-0 with 7:06 remaining in the first quarter.

THE UNIVERSITY squad again appeared headed for a touchdown later in the quarter after Iowa State's Jim Wipert picked off a pass on the College 38-yard line.

Eight more plays carried to the College 4-yard line, but then the College squad's defense stiffened. The University team tried a field goal, but failed. The College team took over on their own 20-yard line and from there marched 80 yards in 11 plays to knot the score at 7-7 with 7:33 remaining in the half.

TOM RIPMASTER, a 200-pound fullback from Drake, notched the score on a one-yard plunge. During the drive he broke through the University defense several times for substantial gains, picking up 48 of the 80 yards.

The College team then held the momentum throughout the rest of the first half and mid-way into the second half.

Their second score came after Roger Nash of Morningside picked off a Moses pass and carried it back to the University 38-yard line.

It took five plays to score, with Ripmaster once again getting the TD from one yard out.

DON JACOBUSEE from Central College set up the score on a 36-yard run to the two-yard line.

The extra point try by Doug Korver of SCL, however, was blocked by Iowa's Karl Ryan and Iowa State's Sam Ramenofsky to leave the score at 13-7 with 9:27 remaining in the third quarter.

That was the high point of the College threat though, as the University team, led by the passing of Mickey Moses and the running of Orville Townsend and Jim Killbreath, controlled the game the rest of the way.

Moses' 56-yard strike to Vande Walle came just six plays after the College team had scored their final touchdown. Steve Balkovec's second conversion of the day then gave the University team its final margin of victory.

MOSES, a sub quarterback at Iowa the last three seasons connected on six of eight passes in the first half.

He hit on only one of six passes in the second half but that one was for a touchdown. In all, he connected on seven of 14 passes in the game for 128 yards.

Orville Townsend, who confessed that he never played in a game while at Iowa, was the team's leading rusher, piling up 117 yards in 22 carries.

Jim Killbreath, another Hawkeye who saw very little action in his three years, also did a good job as he picked up 54 yards in 19 carries and scored his team's first touchdown.

THE GAME'S most valuable player, by vote of the press and radio personnel at the game, was Jacobusee of Central College.

Jacobusee made 116 yards running on 13 attempts, as well hitting on four out of five punts for another 28 yards.

His teammate, Ripmaster Drake, drew the writers' nod the top player on the College team for his play. He gained yards in 20 carries and scored both of his team's touchdowns (Jacobusee was not eligible to receive two awards.)

Dave Long, Iowa's all-Big Ten end, received the top player award for the University team after turning in an outstanding defensive game.

The game, sponsored by West Side Civic Club of Cedar Rapids, was the first of its kind in the nation. It drew 5,219 fans despite the bitter cold.

Boyer Draws Fine For Brawl In Bar

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Clete Boyer, New York Yankees third baseman, was fined $175 and given a suspended sentence of 30 days Monday for slugging a man in a bar room fight last spring.

Boyer, who was not in court, pleaded no contest through his attorney to a charge of assault with a battery and was sentenced by Municipal Judge Arnold Greiner.

Boyer and Yankee outfielder Roger Maris were charged at Jerome Modzelewski, 25, a model from Chicago, accused them of hitting him in a tavern brawl. Maris was found innocent at his trial.

2 Clubs Reportedly Sign Long —

Pros Draft 6 Hawkeyes

NEW YORK (AP) — National and American Football league clubs selected 14 Iowa college players in their drafts last weekend. Two Iowa Hawkeyes signed with NFL teams and a third reportedly signed with a club in each league.

The Minneapolis Tribune said in a story Sunday night that end Dave Long of Cedar Rapids had signed contracts with Houston in the AFL and with St. Louis in the NFL.

The newspaper said that Long signed a post-dated contract and received a post-dated check from Houston last Wednesday.

Long received St. Louis' offer Sunday after the Cardinals drafted him in the third round, even though he had admitted that he signed with Houston, which drafted him in the sixth round.

However, St. Louis signed him on the belief that the Houston contract was not legal, the Tribune said.

St. Louis also drafted quarterback Gary Snook, who set numerous Hawkeye and Big Ten passing records a year ago, in the fourth round.

Iowa guard John Niland signed with the Dallas Cowboys, who picked him as a first round draft choice Saturday. He also was a 13th round choice of Oakland of the AFL.

Defensive tackle Bill Briggs signed with the New York Giants, who selected him in the fifth round.

The complete list of Iowans and former Iowans drafted:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
First round — Guard John Niland of Iowa (signed) by Dallas.

Third round — Defensive back Alvin Randolph by Washington; defensive end Dave Long (signed) by St. Louis.

Fourth round — Quarterback Gary Snook of Iowa by St. Louis.

Fifth round — Fullback Randy Schultz of SCI by Cleveland; defensive tackle Bill Briggs (signed) by New York.

11th round — Offensive end Cliff Wilder of Iowa by New York.

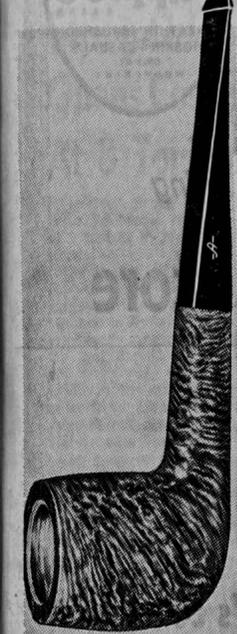

12th round — Tackle Lyall Loeback of Simpson by San Francisco.

16th round — Center Dick Kasper by Kansas City.

Grabowski Still Negotiating

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston's last-place Patriots forged into a prominent spot in the race for new pro football talent Monday by signing four draft choices, including their top two picks — tackles Karl Singer of Purdue and Jim Boudreaux of Louisiana Tech.

At the same time, one of premier selections — fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois — ridiculed the idea he had placed a half-million-dollar price tag on his services, but was in high-powered negotiations with teams from both the National and American Football Leagues.

The Patriots, whose 2-8-2 record is the worst in the AFL and who are in the Eastern Division cellar, landed their first- and second-round choices in Singer and Boudreaux. Both also were picked by Cleveland in the NFL draft, Boudreaux on the 13th round and Singer on the 19th.

So far, 13 signings have been announced by the nine AFL clubs who drafted 161 eligibles Saturday. Included among the 13 are four first-round selections — Singer, Michigan tackle Bill Yearby by New York, Minnesota end Aaron Brown by Kansas City and Kentucky halfback Rodger Bird by Oakland.

"He stayed too far away from Clay. You've got to get in at him and attack the body. I think I could beat him."

Chualvo is here for a 10-round fight against Joe Bygraves, former British Empire champion, at London's Royal Albert Hall Dec. 7.

Chualvo lost a decision to Ernie Terrell Nov. 1 for the World Boxing Association version of the heavyweight title.

Nobis, Grabowski and Purdue tackle Jerry Shay were the only three stars picked on the first round by both leagues. Shay signed with Minnesota of the NFL after being drafted by Denver of the AFL. Grabowski was named by the Green Bay Packers of the NFL and the Miami Dolphins, who start play next year as the AFL's ninth team.

The Illinois back, who is negotiating with the help of an attorney, put down reports he was asking $500,000 to sign.

"It's utterly ridiculous and I don't know how such things get started," said the man who broke Red Grange's records at Illinois.

Mich. State Holds Top In Grid Poll

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alabama, Missouri and Tennessee made gains Monday in The Associated Press' semifinal weekly college football poll, still dominated by Michigan State.

The changes were the result of the final big schedule of games which saw Notre Dame take the biggest tumble — a fall from sixth to ninth after a scoreless tie with Miami Fla.

Alabama, 30-3 winner over Auburn, moved from fifth to fourth, supplanting UCLA. Tennessee, smashing Vanderbilt 21-3, advanced from ninth to seventh. Missouri, idle, climbed a notch to sixth.

Chualvo Claims He Can Beat Clay

LONDON (AP) — George Chualvo, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, arrived by plane in Britain Monday and said he knew the way to beat Cassius Clay.

"Floyd Patterson went about it the wrong way," the husky 28-year-old Canadian said.

"He stayed too far away from Clay. You've got to get in at him and attack the body. I think I could beat him."

Foundation Picks Zellweger

Dr. Hans U. Zellweger, professor of pediatrics, has been appointed to the Medical Advisory Board of the National Foundation for Neuromuscular Diseases.

He has also been named to the Medical Advisory Committee of the foundation's new Genetic Alert Program.

ZELLWEGER, a native of Switzerland, was educated in Switzerland, Italy and Germany. He was chief resident and associate professor of pediatrics at K i n d e r s p i t a l, Zurich; professor of pediatrics at the American University, Beirut and he worked with the late Dr. Albert S c h w e i t z e r at the Hospital of Lambarene, Gabon Africa. Zellweger joined the ZELLWEGER faculty at the University in 1957.

months to six years. Early detection of these latent conditions will make it possible to start medical treatment.

DURING the first year of the Genetic Alert Program more than 12,000 youngsters will be screened through four field centers at university medical centers in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Palo Alto, Calif. Blood samples will be processed at a central laboratory established by the foundation at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York.

The results of this testing, along with genetic and hereditary data from the parents of each child tested, will be assembled in an electronic computer at the central laboratory.

LIVE IT UP, LEANDER...

... you're only young once!

Come to think of it, that's the whole problem! If you were young more than once in a lifetime, that time of life when you will no longer be young wouldn't be a problem now, would it?

We can't help you find eternal youth. We can help you find the best way to make the most of the "young-only-once" time of your life... with life insurance.

Life insurance is one investment you can make today that's guaranteed to take the strife out of life years from now. That might be worth more, from the very beginning, than you put into it. That could be worth as much, at any time, as you planned to put into it in a lifetime. And the sooner you start, the less it costs.

You're only young once, Leander. Make the most of it. Then you may live it up... with our blessings.

TWIRLING IS NOT only fun but a way of life for Bobbie Jean Foulkes, A3, Altoona. Miss Foulkes has been the twirler for the Hawkeye Marching Band for three years.

Twirler Has Friends, Medals

By OSMO VATANEN
Staff Writer

Dates usually come easily to 21-year-old coeds with laughing brown eyes, a good-looking figure and a quick mind, but the theory is discounted by Bobbie Jean Foulkes, baton twirler of the Hawkeye Marching Band. "They are scared of me," she said.

"They think I am athletic," Bobbie Jean explained with a twinkle. (She is pinned now, however).

Bobbie Jean, 21, has been twirling with the Hawkeye band since she came to the University as a freshman three years ago.

She now has nine years of twirling, and enough trophies and medals to fill a couple of rooms in her home in Des Moines.

SHE WAS CHRISTENED Bobbie Jean, "because my parents really wanted a boy badly," Jean explained in the interview. Twirling, however, has become a female sport during the last ten years. Bobbie's brother does not twirl, although her sister does so a little.

"How in the world did I get here?" Bobbie Jean exclaimed to herself when she found herself the center of attraction in a huge football stadium for the first time.

"I am still terribly nervous," she said, although she rarely drops her batons any more. "It is a lot of fun, it is challenging to achieve your goals, relax and get Bobbie Jean said. Bobbie Jean said she developed many close friendships through twirling.

Bobbie Jean was Iowa State Champion years in a row and she has won national several times. She was national champion baton twirling, although there is no such title.

SINCE SHE STARTED TWIRLING won 147 trophies or first prizes and 120 although she has been out of competition three years. Jerry Carson, Okla., and Wild, Rockford, Ill., both fulltime twirlers, have been her principal teachers.

She is now so skilled that she can baton up to the press box in the University Football stadium and still catch it with her hands.

The high toss is the fans' favorite. "They just love it."

Bobbie Jean wants to continue twirling for the next few years. She has one to complete her B.A. in education. want to go out and work, but I also teach twirling and judge contests," Bobbie said.

Health Group Elects Prof

Clyde M. Berry, professor of agricultural medicine in the College of Medicine, was elected vice-president of the American Public Health Association at its annual meeting in Chicago.

Dr. Franklin Top, professor and head of preventive medicine and environmental health, is an elective councilor in the organization.

Dr. John W. Eckstein, professor of internal medicine, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Central Society of Clinical Research. Dr. George B. Theil, assistant professor of internal medicine, was elected to membership in the society. Dr. Eckstein has recently completed a term as chairman of the midwestern section of the American Federation for Clinical Research.

Scientific Papers To Be Presented Here By Authors

Four scientific papers will be presented tonight at a meeting of the Iowa Section of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. The meeting will begin at 7:30 in Room 301 of the Medical Laboratories.

Authors and co-authors of papers are Thomas F. Burks, graduate student in pharmacology from Silsbee, Tex., and Dr. John P. Long of the Department of Pharmacology; Dr. Robert Barker of the Department of Biochemistry; Drs. Phillip Schmid, John W. Eckstein, and Francois M. ## Fireside comfort in a snowbank

Your Hush Puppies® casuals are different. Unique tanning methods combine fluorocarbon resins into the soft Breathin' Brushed Pigskin® to resist water, stains and soil. And that means softness... even after soaking. But that's only half the story!

• Lightweight comfort • Clean with brisk brushing • Steel shank for extra support • Micro-cellular non-marking crepe soles

Comfort's come a long long way!

Can you imagine yourself living in the "good old days"? The family crowded around the old pot-bellied stove on a cold winter night? Washdays without washers and dryers? Hours in the kitchen every day preparing meals? Certainly wouldn't be comfortable compared with today's standards.

The past 10 years alone have brought us countless new comforts via gas and electric appliances. Because of this you gas and electric bills are higher than in the past... even though the unit cost of these services has remained surprisingly low in comparison with other living costs.

Considering the advantages of the good "new" days... don't you agree? It's worth it!

yours for better living
