U.S. Steel Compromise Gets White House OK

Others To Adopt $2.75 Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2.75-a-ton structural steel price increase made by U.S. Steel Corp. was accepted swiftly Wednesday by the White House as a compromise settlement of the steel price struggle.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. then canceled the $5-a-ton boost that precipitated the conflict last Friday. Inland Steel of Chicago said it would revise its $5 increase "to be competitive" with U.S. Steel, the industry's leader.

The whole peacemaking process took only an hour or so. In even less time, President Johnson's chief economist, Gardner Ackley, had appraised the U.S. Steel increase and declared it consistent with the government's anti-inflation wage price guidelines.

This virtually assured that all firms producing the structural framings involved would reprice them. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Inland account for 85 per cent of the output.

THE DEVELOPMENTS led to some speculation about earlier behind-the-scenes bargaining. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers told newsmen that U.S. Steel had neither asked for nor obtained the administration's consent before it acted.

It was learned, however, that U.S. Steel officials were in Washington recently to sound out the administration's attitude. And Moyers conceded that unnamed "administration officials" — presumably outside the White House — had been in contact with steel producers.

In any case, U.S. Steel — the company that initiated the prolonged and bitter steel price crisis of 1962 with its $6-a-ton general increase — emerged from the new clash wearing the laurels of peacemaker.

And Johnson, although he had denounced Bethlehem's $5 price boost as unwarranted and inflationary at a time when Americans were dying in Viet Nam, had left the door open for compromise. In contrast, the late President John F. Kennedy mobilized the whole economic force of the government upon the steel industry to compel a complete backdown in 1962.

U.S. STEEL linked this increase to a simultaneous price reduction of $9 a ton for cold rolled sheet steel produced at its Pittsburg, Calif., plant.

Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, said that the net increase in company revenues from the two moves would be "inconsequential."

Men's Group Backs Vogel In Controversy

The Downtown Business and Professional Men's Association (DBPMA) Wednesday released a reply to criticism of the group's president, Frank E. Vogel by former mayor Richard W. Burger.

The reply was in the form of a letter, dated Dec. 29, from Erickson to Burger.

Erickson explained that where as Vogel was not an Iowa City resident, as Burger had complained, he did own property here. He also said the DBPMA's membership was more than 100 downtown tenants and property owners, explaining another of Burger's questions.

Erickson accused the Burger government of not being able to answer the DBPMA's questions about urban renewal. He criticized it for not opening business relocation areas and for relying on antiquated state condemnation laws for a modern urban renewal program.

He said the program would affect a great many people, and that the DBPMA did not feel adequate research had been done on the program before the city had started urban renewal procedures.

In addition to asking for an identification of Vogel and DBPMA, Burger, at a recent council meeting, had complained that the DBPMA's criticisms of the urban renewal program had been given to the news media before they had reached him.

Bose Lecturer Calls India Key To Democracy In Asia

By SHEILA LUNIN Staff Writer

Kashmir will remain a part of India because nations cannot change facts of history such as the last 18 years of Indian control in Kashmir, Hal Bruno, chief of the Newsweek Chicago bureau told more than 100 people attending a Bose lecture Wednesday night.

Speaking on the subject "India: Democracy's Hope in Asia" Bruno said the danger to democracy in India was failure to raise living standards, not communism.

"Communism has won victories in India only where the economic policy of the central government has failed or where communalism has become dominant," Bruno said.

COMMUNALISM is the second great danger to Indian democracy, Bruno said. Religious linguistic, and regional communalism may destroy the country by dividing it, he said.

Bruno was a Rhodes Scholar in India in 1960 and a correspondent there during the Chinese invasion in 1962.

He criticized what he called the "Kipling myth" which he said is the idea that there is a great gap between East and West.

"The only things in India that I found to be mysterious were the things I did not understand because of my own ignorance," he said.

INDIA IS the key to democracy in the world because it is the country that set the pattern for African and Asian countries' independence after World War II, he said.

America must continue its economic aid to India on a long-range basis of 50 or 100 years to assure democracy in Asia, he said.

"It is in Asia that the line is drawn between communism and democracy, and India guards one flank of Asia. The other flank of China and communism in Asia is Viet Nam," Bruno said.

If India is to remain democratic, the people in the villages must feel that democracy is helping them to improve their way of life, he said.

AMERICAN economic aid has, for the most part, been wisely used in India, Bruno said, and much of it has reached the villagers. This is why India is still democratic, he said.

Joe Kennedy Not Serious, Doctor Says

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the late president, suffered a fleeting heart block Wednesday just after he got out of the pool at his ocean-side winter home.

The 77-year-old former ambassador to Great Britain was given final rites of the Roman Catholic Church, but his doctor said nothing was seriously wrong.

"His heart stopped beating for a moment or two, and there was a brief loss of consciousness," the doctor said. "But there are no after effects. He'll resume his activities."

Tank Car Naptha Leak Found Here

A leaking valve in a railroad tank car loaded with 8,000 gallons of naptha, a highly inflammable liquid often used as a dry cleaner, was discovered shortly after 8 p.m. Wednesday by a switchman for the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City railroad.

The tank car, which had been left on a siding near Lafayette Street and Maiden Lane, was later moved south of town.

The Iowa City police and fire departments sealed off the area near the siding after the leak was discovered. A brisk wind helped clear the area of any dangerous fumes, one fire official said, and the naptha that had leaked on the ground evaporated within a few minutes.

Police and firemen left the scene about 10 p.m.

An official from the Omaha Explosives Bureau, who was staying in Iowa City, inspected the car to determine if the valve could be repaired or if the car should be drained.

The car was en route from the Union Texas Petroleum Company in Winnie, Tex., to Cedar Rapids.

Non-Student Voices Views On U.S. Viet Nam Policy

By TOM FENSCH Staff Writer

The weekly soiree that is Soapbox Soundoff meandered Wednesday afternoon, but touched most frequently on the Viet Nam situation.

And the Soundoff, supposedly a student activity, was led by a non-student from Berkeley, Calif., Mike O'Hanlon.

Bob Katz, A3, Iowa City, began the Soundoff by discussing the new parking meters fronting the Union.

"Let's attack, not the parking meters, but the guys who give tickets," he said. "It's ridiculous. Let's start ignoring these people and maybe the problem will disappear."

O'HANLON then turned the discussion to Viet Nam.

"Nobody has been able to tell me why we are in Viet Nam," he said. "The United States sent troops over and set up a puppet government. It was overthrown. We set up another. It was overthrown. And another. And it was overthrown. Now we bomb villages, and Vietnamese because we are their friends."

At that point Katz tossed O'Hanlon a lapel button that read: "Kill for Peace. Kill for freedom. Kill Vietnamese"

MIKE O'HANLON Soapbox Speaker

O'Hanlon wore it for a few moments and tossed it back to Katz.

O'HANLON continued: "The issue at stake is that the National Liberation Front (NLF) says 'We want to bring our form of government to Viet Nam.' The NLF must be treated as a separate force. If the United States accepts this — then the idea that the war in Viet Nam is controlled from Hanoi is crumpled."

O'Hanlon then challenged anyone that favored the United States' stand on Viet Nam to debate the question. There were no takers until almost the end of the session.

"Is there someone who likes killing? Anyone who supports President Johnson?" Katz asked.

"IN A RECENT poll 70 per cent of the American public stated they would regrettably accept the bombing of Hanoi. All this indicates is that President Johnson has done a good job of convincing the American people," said Walt Prentice, A1, Waterloo.

Speaking about the Des Moines high school arm-band incident, Jim Walters, A1, Iowa City, said, "The high school faculty was very quiet. The administration agreed that it was alright to mourn the war dead, but it was not right to protest the war. This fiasco exploded on them."

CLARK MUNGER, L2, Sioux City, returned to the Viet Nam discussion: "It's a matter of 'put up or shut up'. We have to draw the line somewhere, whether it's in Viet Nam or Australia."

O'Hanlon spent the last 15 minutes discussing the history of the Viet Nam conflict.

U.S. Grand Jury Issues Indictment Charging Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, the quiet country boy who became one of the U.S. Senate's most intimate associates, was charged by a federal grand jury Wednesday with financial crimes spanning three years.

The nine-count, 30-page indictment, if successfully prosecuted, could mean 48 years in prison for Baker, 37, who came to Washington as a 14-year-old page in knickers and rose to the position of secretary to the Senate's Democrats.

The crimes charged to him — tax evasion, theft, conspiracy, fraud — stretch into October 1965. That's fully two years after Baker resigned his influential position under fire, accused of using his influence in a defense plant vending-machine deal.

NOW A WASHINGTON attorney, he was understood to be heading for his plush resort motel in Ocean City, Md., when Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach announced the indictment after 15 months of grand jury investigation.

Reached at his motel, Baker said:

"All I've got to say is that I would suggest you call Edward Bennett Williams or Boris Kostelanetz. They're my spokesmen and I just don't want to go beyond that."

WILLIAMS, a Washington attorney, was unavailable. Kostelanetz, telephoned at his New York City law firm, said: "No comment."

His U.S. District Court arraignment was routinely set for Jan. 20. That date could be subject to continuance if Baker's attorney so requests.

Baker was majority secretary when President Johnson, then a Texas senator, was its majority leader. Johnson, who has re-

Proposed Housing Ordinance To Be Read At City Council

A proposed ordinance amendment which would increase the value of fraternity and sorority houses offered for sale, will be read at the next Iowa City council meeting.

The amendment, given a public hearing at Tuesday's council meeting, would increase the maximum number of persons able to live in a lodging house from 20 to 30 persons. It would also increase the parking requirement for lodging houses from one parking space for every 600 to one space for every 500 square feet of floor space.

The ordinance originated when the Delta Gamma sorority, which is building a new house on the 900 block of Burlington Street, was having difficulty selling their house. Since that time the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity has purchased the house. They will move in next July.

Philip Leff, attorney first for the Delta Gammas and now for the Alpha Tau Omegas, said at Tuesday's council meeting, "The ordinance is of interest to all fraternities and sororities on campus because all are faced with the same problem. They are rapidly growing out of their existing physical plants and are faced with the problem of selling them. About the only possible use for them is to make them rooming houses."

Leff mentioned a letter from Pres. Howard R. Bowen, who urged that the amendment be approved to deal with the "serious and desperate housing shortage for single students."

BOBBY BAKER LISTENS to a reporter read a list of indictments to him on his arrival at his Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md. He told the reporter he had not heard about the indictments and made no comment on them.

Block Method Begins For Student Teachers

By RON FROELICH
Staff Writer

Increased enrollment, rising transportation costs and a need to compete more effectively with other colleges and universities has led to a new University practice teaching program on the secondary level.

With the revamping, the education major will spend one semester of his senior year in a three-part "block" program geared to fulfill his practice teaching and method teaching course requirements, Howard Jones, dean of the College of Education, said Tuesday.

The plan goes into effect next semester.

FOR THE FIRST 27 days of the semester, the student will receive classroom instruction in educational methods. Then he will be assigned to a school and spend 32 days teaching. A final 18 days of methods instruction will complete the semester.

The plan differs from the present program in several ways.

The education major now fulfills his practice teaching requirement by teaching a half day during one semester of his senior year. He teaches in either the morning or afternoon and attends classes for the rest of the day.

THE "BLOCK" PLAN will free the student from classes during the practice teaching period and allow him to teach a full day.

Several benefits are expected to be realized from this new plan, the dean said.

First, and most important, Jones said, the full-time practice teaching program will help alleviate the problem of finding enough positions to place education students for practice teaching.

Jones said the number of students majoring in education had increased markedly in the past few years but the number of practice teaching positions available had not kept pace. It is hoped that the "block" program will utilize a larger number of students in the space now available, he said.

Currently, the College of Education places students in the University, Iowa City, Cedar Rapids and the Linmar school systems. Buses are used to transport students to the outlying areas.

Because practice teachers now teach only a half day, Jones said, buses must travel four times per day to Cedar Rapids to deliver and pick-up students.

Under the new program, the buses would run only twice a day to Cedar Rapids, which should reduce transportation costs. Last year the College of Education paid more than $7,700 to transport students to Cedar Rapids, Jones said.

The "block" program is not expected to solve the entire problem of increased enrollment and lack of placement positions. However, the dean said, the plan will allow the University to compete more effectively with area colleges and universities now operating under a similar plan.

Jones said some school systems were reluctant to use student instructors who cannot remain the entire day. Because the students must leave and return to the University for classes, they miss teachers' meetings, conferences and other school-related activities.

AFTER THE NEW plan is initiated in February, he said the college of Education will be better able to expand into other areas for positions to place practice teachers.

The new program will also cause some problems. The education student might be involved in a course sequence that requires him to attend classes both semesters of his senior year. Jones cited areas of mathematics and foreign languages as examples.

Jones said this might require a cooperative effort with other departments in scheduling night and Saturday classes in these areas.

REMEMBER? REMEMBER? REMEMBER?

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

You can do still better than that. By obtaining a copy of THE WORLD IN 1965 — and, if you didn't get one already, of THE WORLD IN 1964—you can provide him with an educational tool that will set him apart.

No dry-as-dust yearbook, THE WORLD IN 1965 contains all the facts but recounts in dramatic, telling detail the big events, the interesting events, the significant events, of the year. The quality of the hundreds of news photos, in color and black and white, rivals that of the text.

This big, 288-page, handsome book, costing only $3, has been prepared by the world's foremost news gathering agency, The Associated Press, which cooperates with this newspaper in supplying you with the news of the nation and the world.

Matte Will Pass More Says Baltimore Coach

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts promises to take the shackles off interim quarterback Tom Matte and open up in the Playoff Bowl football game against the Dallas Cowboys here Sunday.

"With both Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo out, we felt we couldn't take any chances in our last two games against Los Angeles and Green Bay," the 35-year-old coach said Wednesday during a tune-up for the Orange Bowl game between the divisional runners-up of the National Football League.

"We know Dallas has a strong offensive team, with Don Meredith at quarterback and good receivers in Bobby Hayes and Buddy Dial, so we feel we are going to have to loosen up a bit."

INJURY TO the two Baltimore quarterbacks has forced Shula to call on Matte, a 205-pound halfback from Ohio State with limited signal-calling and passing experience.

"Matte is a terrific guy and has come along great," the stocky Shula said. "He's the type of fellow who will give you everything he's got and always come through for you."

"Two years ago when Lenny Moore was hurt, we inserted Matte and Tom was our best pass catcher and runner. When Moore returned, Matte went back to the bench. Now we've had to call on him again."

MATTE threw only seven passes when the Colts beat the Los Angeles Rams 20-17 to tie Green Bay for the Western Conference crown and tossed 12 in the exciting playoff game, won by Green Bay in overtime 13-10.

In these games, the Colts benched pass-catching aces, Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr, at ends and used the more rugged Alex Hawkins and Butch Wilson for blocking purposes.

In practice sessions for the Dallas game, Berry and Orr have been put back on the flanks and have become targets for Matte, operating from the pocket.

It wouldn't be surprising to see Matte throw 20 or 30 passes in an effort to offset the Cowboys' good aerial attack.

"I'm getting my timing back," Matte said. "I am throwing much better and learning to spot my targets over the big, incoming linemen. This is a big challenge for me — and I love it."

Peeples Has Rebounding, Scoring Lead

George Peeples is leading the Hawks in both scoring and rebounding after nine games, but by narrow margins.

Peeples has scored a 173 points for a 19.2 average to Chris Pervall's 170 points and 18.8 average. He has 113 rebounds to Gerry Jones' 103.

Jones is the third high scorer with a 16.1 average. Gary Olson and Denny Pauling follow with 9.2 and 5.8 averages.

Olson has the best field goal percentage at .574 but has taken fewer shots than any one else. Peeples follows with a .485 mark and Pervall is next at .450.

Olson also has the best free throw shooting percentage at .784. Jones is next at .744.

As a team Iowa has outscored its opponents 636 to 556 and has shot at a .459 average to .395. Iowa has averaged 82.5 points a game to opponents' 66.6.

Clay Wants To Fight In Ring — Not in Army

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay shrugged off the prospect that he may be re-examined for military service and said Wednesday he is thinking of only one kind of fighting — inside the ring.

He said he wants to take on the leading contenders — Ernie Terrell, Doug Jones and Brian London — 1-2-3 and three months apart.

"I'll fight again in two or three months," the 220-pound, superbly conditioned titleholder said before going through a brisk workout at the Fifth Street Gymnasium.

"Terrell deserves the first shot, I think. Then I want Jones and London. I want to keep busy."

A report from Louisville, Ky., was that Clay, known to the Black Muslim sect as Muhammad Ali, probably would be summoned by the draft board for another examination in view of government reclassification of men who had been rejected.

Clay twice has been flunked by Army aptitude tests.

"I just wasn't good at all them triangles and things," the champion said of his showing on the mental examination.

Col. James Stephenson, director of Selective Service in Kentucky, said in Louisville that Cassius likely would be called again since the armed services have lowered their mental requirements.

Clay declined to talk about his draft status.

"I got nothing to say — it's a touchy subject," he said. "I talk too much anyway."

Reichow Accepts Position As Vikings' Chief Scout

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jerry Reichow has decided to join the Minnesota Vikings on a full-time basis as director of player personnel.

The Vikings announced Wednesday that Reichow, former Iowa star, had accepted the position after working during the 1965 National Football League season on a temporary basis in the club's scouting department.

Reichow, 31, played nine years in the NFL, the last four with the Vikings as a pass receiver. He was cut from the team last August, but remained in the scouting capacity, covering the Midwest.

In effect, Reichow replaces Joe Thomas, former Viking chief scout who resigned last fall to become director of player personnel with the new Miami franchise in the American Football League.

Reichow, a native of Decorah, was an All-Big Ten quarterback for Iowa in the mid-1950s. He signed with Detroit in 1956 and was traded to Philadelphia in 1960.

Over The Sports Desk Texas Western As Colorful As A Kaleidoscope Factory

By STEU BETTERTON Staff Writer

Iowa's basketball team is licking its wounds this week and preparing for the start of the Big Ten campaign on Saturday afternoon.

Getting ready for the weeks ahead is a full time job, but probably in the back of their minds the Hawks still have some room for a bitter memory of El Paso, Tex.

The Texas Western victory, which knocked Iowa out of the ranks of the unbeaten, may do the Hawks a lot of good, but it did not make them happy or proud.

However, there is a very good rationale for the Iowa loss in Texas.

Ralph Miller has said all along that his ballplayers are normal in every respect, and any success the Hawks might have will be attributed to a 100 per cent effort on the part of each man.

On the other hand, Texas Western is by no means a normal team. At least not according to the basketball brochure put out by the school.

Take Don Haskins, the Texas Western coach. You never heard of him. Well he's been busier than a ho-ho- at Christmas building up a thump-thump empire stronger than a bank vault in four years at the helm of the Miners. That's what it says.

Iowa's inability to score against Texas Western is not unusual, at least to the Miners. One of Haskins' trade marks is a defense tighter than skin on a boil, and his teams have always finished in the top five in national team defense.

The Miners glue type defense often leaves opponents as short on points as a toothbrush around a hen house. Honest!

With this kind of coaching the Miners are also blessed with some rare talent. Here is what the Texas Western players can do, according to the basketball brochure.

First there is Nevil (The Shadow) Shed. He scored 17 points against Iowa to lead the Texans, but was only one of six players who hit in double figures.

Besides scoring ability, Shed has good speed and rebounding ability. He can leap off of one foot and pick a coconut from the tree. One wonders if he can leap over tall buildings in a single bound.

Following Shed in the scoring department against Iowa was Orsten (The Artist) Artis. He had 16 points.

He is such a good shooter, that night in and night out he can make a basketball net sing like Al Hirt belting out a few bars of "Sugar Lips."

And when he has his radar zeroed the Texan from Indiana can shoot an opponent out of a game faster than a cat can lick its paw.

Then there is Bobby Joe Hill, who stands only 5-9. Believe it or not he has blinding speed, good hands, and is wilder than bee tree residents after a session with a woodman's axe.

And how about Hill's defensive ability on a team which prides itself on keeping the other team from scoring? Early last season he was to defense what Russians are to world peace. But near the end of the year he came on tougher than leather spaghetti.

Willie Cager plays basketball for Texas Western too, and with a name like that you would think that nothing more could be said. Don't believe it. Cager is as loose as a basket of leaves in a wind storm, and has more confidence in himself than the guy who works crossword puzzles with a ball point.

Then there is David (Daddy D) Latin, a 6-7, 240 pound sophomore who can not be forgotten. First of all, he is meaner than a sack of red ants. And if that wasn't enough, for his size he is quicker than a frightened greyhound, has more moves than a can of worms, and is tougher than paint on a pump handle.

Now tell me, how could a normal team like Iowa be expected to beat a team with all the talents of Texas Western. The Miners basketball brochure was handily placed all over El Paso, and when the Hawks saw what they were up against it was all over.

Of course it is the Big Ten race that counts now, and this Saturday Iowa opens against Wisconsin. Just watch them "podner," they will come on like . . .

Palmer Set For LA Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arnold Palmer tuned up Wednesday for the $70,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, shooting an individual 4-under-par 67 in the pro-amateur prelude.

Palmer shot 33-34-67 and it appeared that he was hitting the ball some 30 yards longer than he usually did last year.

Palmer has been taking it easy the last month or more, but the weather was ideal and he managed to get in a little practice at his home in Latrobe, Pa. Palmer is bent on a comeback to the glory he once knew.

The tournament, which winds up its 72-hole run Sunday, has a challenging field, including Bill Casper Jr., Tony Lema and the repeat winner of last year, club pro Paul Harney.

But no one dismisses such a man as Palmer, although in the past 18 months he has won but once — the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas last spring.

Palmer hardly went hungry as a competitive golfer last year. He earned $56,712, ninth on the official PGA list.

Soapbox Soundoff Praised—

Berkeley Visitor Starts Tour

The Union's Soapbox Soundoff, a forum for public debate is "not ideal but is as fine or finer a forum than any other I've seen, including Berkeley."

The speaker is one who should know — a California non-student visiting the University to begin a three month speaking tour of the Midwest.

Mike O'Hanon, is 23, short, stocky and a member of the University of California at Berkeley's Viet Nam Day Committee.

His "self-sponsored" tour is his first. It will cost scarcely $100 he said Wednesday, and he hopes to get the money through a fund-raising drive.

HE WILL VISIT and debate the Viet Nam issue in Champaign, Ill.; in Ohio; at the University of Syracuse and the Union Theological Seminary in New York City; at Penn State; the University of Pennsylvania; and the University of Kentucky, and the University of Tennessee before returning to California.

"I'm living with friends wherever I go," he said, "for I've no source of income."

O'Hanon will stay two weeks in Iowa. Next week he will debate Donald Johnson, immediate past national commander of the American Legion. The time has not yet been set.

O'HANLON HOPES to reach an audience of perhaps 20,000 during his trip. He is a deliberate speaker who aims his views at his audience and not his opposition debater.

O'Hanon has lived in southern California for the last nine months. "I worked in the south before, but moved to California for the congenial atmosphere," he said. He eventually wants to attend the University of California.

"I was pleasantly surprised at the amount of radical sentiment here, but at the same time I can't see that it's taken any direction so far," he said. Radical thought is here — but there's a problem of where it can be directed."

West Coast Show Brings Current Art

Iowa art lovers will have an opportunity to view paintings representing the advanced edge of development in American art when the next major show of the current season opens Sunday in the Main Gallery of the Art Building.

Titled "From the West," the exhibition was assembled by the Art Bank of the San Francisco Art Institute and includes 52 paintings by members of the Institute's Artist Association, known as one of the strongest and most active organizations of contemporary artists in the country.

CHOSEN BY A JURY consisting of San Francisco artists Erle Loran, Louis Siegfried and Lundy Siegfried, "From the West" ranges from cubism and abstract expressionism to pop art and from thick, richly worked oils to delicate pastels.

"If the exhibition can be considered representative of professional artists in the San Francisco area, it would appear that abstract expressionism is still the prevailing style," according to Professor Frank Seiberling, director of the University School of Art.

"From the West" contains many canvases which have no recognizable subject matter and in which the element of spontaneity plays an active role in the artist's creativity," Dr. Seiberling explained. "Hence the designation Action Painting has often been applied to such works."

"POP ART is represented in the show by 'The Nickel Machine' by Wayne Thiebaud, one of the leading artists working in this style on the West coast. Op art does not appear to have reached the stage of circulating exhibitions from the West."

Media represented in the paintings, many of which are extremely large, include oil, acrylic, gouache, enamel and watercolor. Roland Petersen is the only artist with more than one work in the exhibition. Among nationally known artists represented are Carl Morris, whose one-man show is currently touring the United States under Ford Foundation auspices; Robert McChesney, some of whose works are owned by the Whitney Museum; and David Simpson, one of the Museum of Modern Art's 15 "Americans — 1963."

"From the West" will occupy both floors of the Main Gallery from Jan. 9 to Feb. 6. Gallery hours will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

State Chairman Ray Predicts Republican Comeback In Iowa

By JOYCE OLSON Staff Writer

Although Iowa Republicans felt stunned and defeated right after the 1964 elections, they have shown a "we'll be back" attitude in recent months, according to Robert D. Ray, Iowa's Republican state chairman.

Republicans have decided not "to lie and play dead while waiting for the tide to turn," but to actively reverse the 1964 trend through strong leadership and constructive programs, Ray told more than 50 Young Republicans Wednesday night in the Union Lucas-Dodge Room.

"The first six months following the 1964 election were trying, but we thought Iowa Republicans needed and wanted activity," Ray said.

CITING the development of three state-wide projects, Ray explained Education for Action, a project in which trained people moderate small neighborhood discussions of why one should be a Republican and the importance of politics.

Iowa Republicans also sensed a feeling among the people that Republicans supported the status quo, Ray said. The project, called Ideas for a Better Iowa, was developed to aid understanding of individual and government problems and take progressive action, he said.

Under this project, businessmen, professors and other citizens have been drafted to work in areas related to their fields to develop answers to these problems, Ray explained.

"This is an approach the people need and want," he said.

BUCK NIGHT, a project of door-to-door campaigning for party contributions has enabled greater participation for old and new party members, Ray said.

With progressive and constructive action, Republicans can again be a majority party, the state chairman said.

"It is not easy to be a minority party. When one opposes majority action, he is labeled a negative thinker," Ray said.

RAY CALLED New York mayor John Lindsay the kind of candidate that Republicans need. Ray said he had no fear about finding attractive Republican candidates in Iowa.

When asked to speculate on future state political issues, Ray cited the tax program, right-to-work law, civil service merit system for state employees, and government re-organization.

Music Group To Present Old Melodies

An evening of music by one of history's most prolific composers will be presented Saturday by the University's Collegium Musicum, an organization devoted to the performance of old or unusual music.

The program, "Telemann And His Friends," will feature five compositions by the 18th century musician, as well as works by Handel and Couperin. To be presented at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium, the concert will be open to the public.

The 22 members of the Collegium, both singers and instrumentalists, will present Telemann's "Concerto in F Minor," "Sonata in F Major" and "Concerto in B-flat Major." Harpsichord soloist Edwin Penhorwood, G. Toledo, Ohio, will play the composer's "Fantasia 5" and "Fantasia 12" and Collegium members will round out the program with Couperin's motet "O Domine Quia Refugium" and Handel's "Sonata in G Minor, Op. 2, No. 7," edited by Professor Robert Donington, co-director of the Collegium.

The Collegium, consisting entirely of students, has met weekly since September to explore and to perform informally all kinds of music. The Telemann program was selected by Donington and co-director Eugene Helm, professor of music, after auditions early this fall in which interests and abilities of the performers were determined.

Student To Give Bach Organ Mass

The complete organ Mass from Bach's "Clavierbung" will be presented Friday by Thomas Stapleton, G. Rogersville, Tenn.

Stapleton will present the Bach work at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. No tickets will be required. The program is being presented by Stapleton in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Master of Fine Arts Degree in Music.

The "Clavierbung" is generally acknowledged as showing Bach at his best as keyboard composer.

Worker Falls 18 Feet; Listed In Fair Condition

A construction worker fell 18 feet from a scaffolding at the Speech and Hearing Center on Woolf Avenue Wednesday morning and suffered a broken sternum (breast bone) and multiple cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred about 11:30 a.m.

The man, Eugene L. Sullivan, 1143 Maple St., was listed in fair condition at Mercy Hospital. Sullivan, 41, is a superintendent for the Viggo Jensen Construction Company.

Medic Alert Project To Offer 'Dog Tags' With Health Data

The Iowa City Association of Life Underwriters will again this year help sponsor a countrywide project to aid persons allergic to special medication or with certain diseases.

Called Medic Alert, the project is designed to obtain for those who need them tags which list medication to which persons are allergic and indicate if the tag's bearer has diseases such as epilepsy or emphysema.

If medication is needed, doctors can consult the tag to determine which medication can be given. If further information is needed, the Medic Alert Foundation International in Turlock, Calif., can be phoned collect. The tag lists the foundation's telephone number.

The local association president is Richard T. Keough, 216 McLean St. Reynold W. Larson, 1603 Glendale Rd., is the local Medic Alert chairman.

This is the second year the association is sponsoring the project.

Application blanks for name tags can be obtained from displays which the association will set up in April in Iowa City hospitals, doctors' offices and drug stores. Information films on the project will again be shown to local organizations, Keough said Wednesday.

The applications are sent to the Medic Alert Foundation in Turlock which returns the tag to the person. The tags can be worn as a bracelet.

The project was established by Dr. Marion Collins of Turlock in 1956 after his teenage daughter nearly died after taking medication to which she was allergic.

DRIVE FOR VIET KIDS — CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois businessmen and religious leaders began a drive Wednesday to raise money for food, clothing and medicine for children suffering from the war in South Viet Nam.

The drive was organized by members of Gov. Otto Kerner's recent Illinois trade mission to the Far East in response to his appeal for Illinois residents to aid the Vietnamese children.

Cellist Rose To Play Here

Cellist Leonard Rose, praised by music critics across the country for his sensitive and technically brilliant performances, will present a concert here Wednesday.

Rose's performance, the third in the concert series, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Union Lounge.

LEONARD ROSE
Concert Cellist

Samuel Sanders will accompany him at the piano.

Hailed as "one of the country's and the world's best cellists" by the San Francisco Examiner, Rose has appeared as soloist with orchestras in Europe as well as in the United States. Prior to his solo debut in 1943 with the New York Philharmonic, he was first cellist for the National Broadcasting Co. Symphony and Cleveland Symphony Orchestras.

IN ADDITION TO presenting recitals, Rose records with the Columbia Record Co. and is an editor of numerous musical compositions.

Rose will play six selections by composers representative of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries. The concert will open with the adagio from "Organ Toccata in C Major" by Johann Sebastian Bach, the earliest composition of the sextet.

Luigi Boccherini's "Adagio and Allegro in A Major" will follow. An Italian of the 1700's, Boccherini was a noted cellist as well as a composer.

The progression in sonata compositions within the last hundred years will be illustrated by two works — Johannes Brahms' "Sonata in F Major, Op. 99," and Bohuslav Martinu's "Sonata No. 2." Brahms died in Vienna in 1897 when Martinu was only seven years old. Martinu, a prolific composer of works ranging from operas to chamber music now lives in the United States.

ROSE WILL then play "Elegie" by Gabriel Faure, a French composer noted for his experimentation in chamber music during the early 1900's. Frederic Chopin's "Introduction and Polonaise Brillante, Op. 3," will close the program. The "Introduction" is one of the few works the prolific piano composer wrote for a string instrument. Tickets for the concert will be available at the Union East Lobby Desk to students and staff beginning today, and will go on sale for $2 to the public Monday. The desk is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Atom Plant Site Still Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national Academy of Sciences spokesman said Wednesday an academy committee has "reached no final decision" on semi-finalists in the scramble for location of a proposed $348 million atom-smasher.

He did so in commenting on speculation by informed sources Tuesday that the fierce competition among 85 communities in 43 states has been narrowed sharply. These sources said Illinois, Wisconsin, California, Colorado and Michigan at least appear to be still in the running. But apparently all 43 states, including Iowa's proposed sites at Sunbury and North Liberty, are still in competition.

But the spokesman, in confirming that the academy committee plans to inspect a site near Ann Arbor, Mich., this weekend — one of only a few among the 85 the committee has personally inspected — said the committee "has not laid definite plans" to visit any additional sites beyond Ann Arbor.
