

New DI Staff Gets Approval Of SPI Board

Nine appointments to the editorial staff on The Daily Iowan for next year was announced Tuesday afternoon by the Board of Trustees of Student Publications, Inc. (SPI). The nine had been proposed by Nic Goeres, A3, Dyersville, editor-elect of the Iowan.

The new staff will assume its duties with the May 17 issue. Gayle Hallenbeck, A3, Council Bluffs, will be managing editor. She has served the past two semesters as assistant city editor, was editor of the 1965 Spring Edition, and 1966 University Edition, was editor of the 1965-66 Panhellenic Handbook and was editor HALLENBECK of her high school newspaper.

DOUGLAS HIRSCH, A3, Iowa City, was appointed city editor. Hirsch is now writing news and sports for the Waterloo Daily Courier, as well as being a reporter and copy-reader for the Iowan. He served as a reporter on the Courier and was sports editor of his high school newspaper.

James Martz, G, Alma, Mich., was appointed sports editor. He was sports editor of Almanac, a weekly newspaper at Alma College, was sports copy writer for the Alma College yearbook, and was editor-in-chief of the Alma chapter of Delta Sigma Phi, national social fraternity.

From Florida came returns showing Gov. Haydon Burns, Democrat, with a narrow lead for re-nomination over Scott Kelly, Running third was Miami Mayor Robert King High.

The count in 1,244 of 2,361 precincts showed: Burns 184,682; Kelly 183,491; High 150,858.

In Ohio, Republican Gov. James Rhodes rolled toward easy re-nomination. But two Democrats were in a close contest for their party's nomination. They were State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. of Toledo and State Rep. Harry McIlwain of Cincinnati.

Negroes helped pile up a massive total of votes in Alabama, but whites turned out in large numbers too.

Mrs. Wallace Wins Primary In Alabama

May Avoid Runoff For Nomination

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mrs. George C. Wallace, whose governor-husband tapped her to succeed him when the law kept him from running, won Tuesday's Democratic primary in Alabama - perhaps so soundly that she avoids a runoff.

Despite a massive outpouring of Negro votes aimed at stopping a Wallace victory, the blonde 39-year-old mother of four children led the 10-man-gubernatorial field almost from the start of the vote count.

As the returns poured in from around the state, her lead mounted. In county after county - even where Wallace was weakest four years ago - she led.

With 744 of the state's 3,654 boxes counted, the count stood: Mrs. Wallace 91,319; Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers 21,984; former Congressman Carl Elliott 11,097; State Sen. Bob Gilchrist 9,796; businessman Charles Woods 7,721; former Gov. John Patterson 7,232.

If the final count gave Mrs. Wallace more than the others combined, she would not have to enter the May 31 runoff.

Alabama Negroes voted in record numbers, bulwarked by heavy registration under the effect of the 1965 voting rights law.

Even with Mrs. Wallace reported a heavy favorite, they had hoped in advance to force her into a runoff.

Student Senators Are Divided On Draft Policy Resolutions

By DON DEVINE
Staff Writer
The Student Senate was unable to take a stand Tuesday either for or against sending grade transcripts and class rankings to Selective Service boards by the University. It voted down resolutions favoring each course of action.

Originally, the Senate was scheduled to vote on a resolution which was given a first reading two weeks ago, endorsing the Faculty Council's recent resolution asking the University not to make grade information available to Selective Service except at the request of each student.

A lively discussion ensued before the vote was called, as several senators objected to this policy and argued that cooperation with Selective Service might be the best policy and that more students would want their grades forwarded. Those favoring the resolution countered that grades were private property and that the University should not become part of the draft system.

THE PROPOSAL was made to add an amendment to the Senate's resolution, suggesting that students sign cards at fall registration asking that grade information be forwarded if they wanted their draft boards to have the information. This amendment was added to the original resolution by a 12-11 vote with one abstention.

However, on the subsequent vote on the resolution with the amendment added, the measure was defeated 12 1/2 to 11 1/2. The houses of Burge Hall each have 1/2 vote.

A resolution was then made that the Senate favor sending grade transcripts and class rankings to Selective Service as a matter of policy, honoring any student's request that this information not be sent. Rules requiring a two-week tabling of newly submitted resolutions were suspended for an immediate vote. This resolution was defeated 13-11.

In other action, the Senate gave first reading to two other resolutions, one endorsing the University's participation in the Iowa College Council, an organization composed of the three state schools and Drake University, and another asking the Parking Committee to maintain the same number of restricted parking spots available to students next school year.

Student body president Tom Hanson, A3, Jefferson, filled two married student senator vacancies. He appointed Larry Farrell, A3, Iowa City, and Frank Mussell, A3, Iowa City.

Appointed to new terms on the Traffic Court were: Dick Jennings, A3, Iowa City; Joseph McCabe, L2, Taylorville, Ill.; Tom Lyon, L1, Coralville; Lyle Krewson, A4, Van Horn and Fredrick C. Nelson, L2, Iowa City. Two more appointments will be made later.

Peter Frantz, A2, Deerfield, Ill., was elected president pro tem of the Senate.

Philip G. Hubbard, Dean of Academic Affairs, appeared at the meeting to offer a plan to set aside specific times when students might take their problems and opinions to him without a special appointment.

Hubbard said he would report regularly to Pres. Howard R. Bowen and contact groups directly responsible to take action on student complaints. A resolution endorsing the plan was passed unanimously by the Senate.

Earlier, Hanson proposed that freshman cars be banned completely and that freshmen be required to live in dormitories or Greek houses. He also suggested that the University acquire land south of the campus and lease it to high rise apartment builders. Such an arrangement would be attractive to builders, he said, and would help solve the parking problem by making housing available close to campus.

Engle Expected To Drop Writers' Workshop Post

By PETER STURTEVANT
Staff Writer
Paul Engle has decided to step down as director of the Writers' Workshop, probably in the fall of 1967, Eugene Garber, assistant professor of English and acting head of the Workshop, said Tuesday.

Engle will remain at the University, Garber said, but he wants to devote more time to writing and teaching. The nationally famous poet has mentioned privately that he has not had enough time to write, according to Dewey B. Stuit, dean of the Liberal Arts College.

John C. Gerber, chairman of the English Department, said Tuesday that several prominent persons were being considered as Engle's successor in the administrative post.

Garber is handling the administration of the Workshop in the absence of Engle, who is on leave and in Europe now. Engle will return this fall.

Garber also stated that he expected enrollment in the Workshop to drop by nearly 100 students in the next three years.

HE SAID the decrease would occur because the current setup did not allow enough individual attention to the writers. The present enrollment is about 250. By 1969, the enrollment will be about 175, he said.

Garber said he felt that the Workshop was being more selective than any other department in the Graduate College. "We accept only one out of four applicants," he said. "Closeness and coherence are important, and it is the feeling of the staff that 175 is the maximum size we can handle effectively," Garber said.

"The atmosphere and tone of the Workshop and the community are important in the writing program and we seek to develop these," he stressed. "We are attempting to bring together creative and academic interests."

THE QUESTION of how much academic training the Master of Fine Arts (MFA) candidate should have is a controversial one, Garber said.

"The temperament of the student should determine this," he maintained. "Some students don't have the right kind of mind for academics, and for this reason we don't lay out a strict program. We have been criticized for this."

"Why deny a student many course hours in writing simply for the sake of academics?" Garber asked. "If a student is going to teach, then he can and should take more than writing courses."

"There is nothing afoot which will change the nature of the MFA program," Garber said. He indicated the English Department, which administers funds to the Workshop, was satisfied with the writing program at the University.

THROUGH Engle's efforts, the Workshop intends to expand its international program. There are about 25 foreign students in the program. Garber mentioned the possibility, perhaps for the coming year, of bringing in a Latin American novelist, and developing a program in that area.

All applicants for admission to the workshop must submit manuscripts as a prerequisite for acceptance. Garber said he was delighted with the quality of students applying.

"We're turning away people who write better than I do," he said candidly. "We wish we could accept all applicants who qualify, but we don't have the room."

Garber said there were "bright days ahead for the Workshop." "WE ARE getting more prestigious people on the staff, and I am very enthusiastic," he said. "We are constantly making the Workshop stronger, and it is becoming more elite each year."

The Workshop will be housed in the new classroom building on Iowa Avenue, near the television center this fall, according to Stuit.

Stuit also indicated that there would be more money for the workshop in the coming year. "Paul Engle has been very successful at soliciting private funds for the Workshop, and we have given him a completely free hand in running the program there, Stuit stressed.

TICKETS FOR SEATS IN the Pep Club cheering section are still available, according to Mike Thomas, A3, Midland, Tex., president of the Pep Club. Applications for tickets should be mailed to: Hawkeye Pep Club, 311 Ronald St., Iowa City. Each ticket costs $2 and each student is limited to two tickets. A self-addressed stamped envelope and the student's name, I.D. number, telephone number and Iowa City address should be included in the application. Tickets can be obtained only as long as the supply holds out, which will probably be the end of the week, Thomas said Tuesday.

GOP To Gain Lost Ground, Says Former Congressman

The Republican party will recapture lost ground in the fall election, James Bromwell, former Second District congressman, told members of the Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) at a question and answer period Tuesday night.

Bromwell said that he based his prediction on the degree of Republican party activity throughout the state. He cited the increased attendance at fundraising dinners and party caucuses.

Turning to other political questions, Bromwell told YAF members that the voters of Iowa would probably support either Richard Nixon or George Romney if one were the party's nominee for president in 1968.

"Nixon probably has lost some of his 1960 drawing power in Iowa," Bromwell said, "but should be active for the presidential nomination in 1968. I think he would still gain the support of most Iowans he previously had."

Bromwell also contended that, as of now, Romney had not had sufficient exposure in Iowa for a positive prediction to be made regarding his drawing power.

"However," Bromwell added, "two years is a long time, especially in the political arena."

The question of a split in the party resulting from dissent by auxiliary groups within the party was not a cause for worry, Bromwell told the group.

"A major political party should be big enough, both in numbers and policy, to accommodate dissent. If you don't dissent within a party, where do you dissent?" Bromwell asked.

SNCC Members Discuss Rights Movement Direction

An open discussion on the civil rights movement and where it is headed centered on a Mississippi SNCC field worker, Sid Walker, at a Friends of SNCC meeting Tuesday night in Macbride Auditorium.

"We in SNCC are different from other groups like CORE and NAACP," Walker said. "We do all the dirty work; the NAACP always works with a coat and tie."

Walker said he thought that working for civil rights through the courts and through legislation was not the answer; opportunity for the Negro would come only through working with the people themselves.

He also said that the Negro could no longer wait passively for opportunity. "When the Negroes in Mississippi get too hungry they aren't going to ask for food; they're going to take it and no one's going to be able to stop them," he said.

was an established tactic, in practice it had been impossible to avoid violence.

"A man can only take so much," Walker said. "We can't tell a girl she can go out and get Negroes to register in Mississippi and say that we don't need to protect her from anything."

The discussion, which started out as a panel, soon spread to an open discussion as less militant people engaged in the movement questioned Walker's purposes and tactics. Whereas Walker stressed the need for economic gains, other maintained that political, social, and economic gains were most important. A number of those participating in the discussion were native Southerners. Several were from LeMoyne College in Memphis, Tenn.

A film, "Ivanhoe Donaldson," followed the discussion. The film dealt with a young SNCC field secretary in his work through Virginia, Mississippi, and Alabama. The discussion on the civil rights movement resumed after the film.

Iowa Abortion Law Criticized

Samuel M. Fahr, professor of law, urged Tuesday night that those who favor changes in the Iowa abortion law write "sensible" letters about changing the law.

"The issue needs sensible debate," he said. Fahr suggested that letters be sent to the Iowa City Press-Citizen and to himself, as chairman of a state law revision study committee. "I'd like to be able to show letters supporting changes in the law to the committee," he said.

LATER, WHEN proposed changes go to the state legislature, he urged that letters be written to state legislators. Rep. Minnette Doderer (D-Johnson Co.) was present for Fahr's talk on "Legal Aspects of Abortion."

Also present were more than 40 members of the Unitarian Men's Club and the Unitarian Social Concerns Council.

Fahr said the present Iowa abortion law was about 100 years old and "quite typical" of the abortion laws of other states. The law, as he described it, allows abortion when necessary to save the life of the mother. Fahr said that no mention was made of the fetus or child.

IN A STUDY of Iowa court cases under the law, he said, those who were defendants in the cases had been not physicians at all, or were either "decayed" physicians - men who had poor practices for some reason and sought to buttress their income - or those who were quite old.

Another thing revealed by the study, Fahr said, was that when the court case involved a physician, there was no conviction when another physician, either at the trial or at the time of abortion, gave a statement on the need for the abortion.

reasonable doubt that the physician did not act in good faith and that he knew the abortion was not necessary to save the woman's life.

From his lawyer's position, Fahr said that if he were a doctor and wanted to perform abortions he would want a committee of perhaps five members including a hospital administrator, psychiatrists and other doctors. He would have the committee hold a hearing and keep records of approvals given to abortions.

FAHR SAID a revised abortion law should protect reputable physicians. The physician who performs an abortion faces the danger of a court appearance that could be more serious than a possible conviction because of the harm it may do to his reputation, Fahr said.

City Council Approves Funds For Street Asphalt Repairs

The Iowa City council Tuesday night approved $200,000 for resurfacing city streets this summer.

City Manager Carsten D. Leikvold said many of the streets "are getting real bad," and told the council that last year $80,000 was spent on similar street repairs.

THE COST OF the asphalt resurfacing program will come out of the city road-use money, Leikvold said.

The council also authorized advertising for bids on a sanitary sewer to be extended northeast of Iowa City in the vicinity of the Howard Johnson Motel.

An American College Testing (ACT) building is to be constructed near the motel. Attorney Robert W. Jansen, speaking for ACT, said the cost of the building would be about $2 million and about 100 persons would work in the building. Parking spaces for 300 cars would be provided he said.

TWO LETTERS of objection to the proposed inspection fees for rooming houses and multiple dwellings were read to the council.

The letters were from Ruth W. Nelson, president of Alpha Chi Omega and Mrs. Carl Meyer, president of Delta Zeta Corporation Board.

Miss Nelson said the sorority should not pay the inspection fee because it did not rent on a similar basis as did other rooming houses. She said, however, that the sorority could be inspected anytime.

MRS. MEYER objected to the fees because she said sororities and fraternities were nonprofit organizations and paid higher taxes than other houses on properties of similar size.

A letter was read from the Citizens Advisory Committee endorsing the fees.

THE PROPOSED FEES call for a $6 charge for inspection of dwellings and $1 for each room. The council also reappointed former Chairman Allan D. Vestal and appointed George Nagle Jr. to the Planning and Zoning Commission for five year terms.

Student Injured In Auto Accident

A blind condition student was in serious condition with head injuries at University Hospital Tuesday night after he was struck by a car about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Loren O. Schmitt, 20, A2, Iowa City, was walking across Washington Street near the Civic Center where he was struck by a car driven by Kristen K. Weaver, 18, A1, Iowa City, according to Iowa City police.

Authorities said Schmitt apparently lost his sense of direction and walked out of the crosswalk and into the oncoming traffic. No charges were filed by police.

Pitch a penny

PITCHING PENNIES for RILEEH requires little exercise and little expenditure. It's not nearly so strenuous as pitching horseshoes nor so expensive as a night at the pub. And it's more worthwhile than either.

RILEEH stands for Rust-Iowa-LeMoyne for Expanding Educational Horizons, and in its simplest sense it is a cooperation between peoples. The University of Iowa, working through RILEEH, has made contact with Rust College in Holy Springs, Miss., and LeMoyne College in Memphis, Tenn. The purpose of the contact has been to help Rust and LeMoyne help themselves improve their academic standards. The nature of the contact has been personal.

RILEEH's work has not been to bestow the favors of a superior institution upon one less blessed. It has not come in the form of cold bureaucratic hand-outs and paper work. RILEEH's program has been, and will continue to be, one in which we at Iowa meet them in Holy Springs and Memphis as people. Though no one would attempt to deny that Iowa has superior academic facilities, this should not be construed to mean that we are imposing them upon the less favored. That these facilities are open to students and faculty from Rust and LeMoyne via several exchange programs is true. But there is more to the work of RILEEH than this.

We sometimes tend to think that it is they who will gain everything. But wherever people meet as people, as equals, each will gain much from the other — an awareness, a perception, an understanding.

This is RILEEH Week. Its purposes are to raise the money and manpower needed to continue the RILEEH program of awareness, perception and understanding. The RILEEH committee is collecting funds in the dormitories and on campus. Friday night the Rust College choir will perform in the Union. Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity will have penny containers around campus and town today and Thursday for donations to RILEEH. (If more townspeople than University people contribute, the collection will go to the Sheltered Workshop.)

It isn't hard and it isn't expensive. Pitch a penny for RILEEH. Dallas Miller

Limitless war

THE LIMITS OF the "limited war" in Viet Nam are going to be stretched again. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara plans to raise the U.S. troop commitment from the present 255,000 to 400,000 men.

Only 10 years ago we thought the fight was worth only a few thousand non-shooting American advisers. The enemy then was only a ragged bunch of Viet Cong comprised of South Vietnamese peasants.

But we were losing, and our role changed to shooting and the number of troops increased in leaps. Soon the Administration said the tide was turning. Then a few hundred North Vietnamese regulars came down for the game. Then American planes began bombing the North and the South.

Pretty soon the North Vietnamese regulars will begin feeling the strain as their troops supply becomes more dwarfed by increased American military might. Then the North will need more help.

Ultimately the plug will be pulled from the supply of troops in Red China. Is it worth it? Nic Goeres

No taxes?

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE John Connor has told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that there is no need at present for a tax increase to combat inflation.

We'll wager there won't be any need in the near future — at least until after the November elections. It's true that prices are rising at an alarming rate and all, but this is definitely no time for the Democrats to raise taxes. Instead they'll probably fall back on fine speeches about how prosperity must not be eaten up by the monster of inflation.

Meanwhile Secretary of Defense — or should it be Offense — McNamara promises more troops for Viet Nam, perhaps 400,000 by December. And at the same time Congressional committees are appropriating more money for the budget than Johnson had even requested.

All these expenses plus growing inflationary pressures and still no tax increases? Lyndon Johnson and his Administration have an impossible job ahead of them. It couldn't have happened to a nicer politician. Jon Van

Call for examination of conscience by SDS

POLICY STATEMENT OF STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

Submitted by Harry McCormack

Our government has decided that it needs more soldiers for this "small" war in Viet Nam. Congress has authorized the sending of an additional 400,000 men. It has decided it can no longer defer all students, and has begun to draft them off the campus.

But our very influential businessmen have personal needs, too, just like our generals. Our businessmen need that steady stream of young administrators and managers and technicians and scientists that the multiversity has promised to keep on supplying.

So, between the old men who run industry and the old men who run the military, there's a friendly tug of war. We male students are the prize.

BUT BUSINESS and the military have decided to be fair to each other about sharing us. Some of us are not so bright, or perhaps have been lazy scholars. Businessmen don't need guys like that! They can go be soldiers. The bookish among us can stay home and enjoy the full-employment boom that the war has created.

To divide us "fairly" the government has decided to hold an examination May 14, May 21, and June 3. All of us are invited to take part in this Beat-the-Draft Exam.

AND THE MILLIONS OF US WHO TAKE THE EXAM WILL DO SO FOR ONE, AND ONLY ONE REASON . . . TO STAY OUT OF THE VIET NAM WAR.

Those who pass will have their 2-5 deferment intact, at least for a while. Those who fail can start coloring themselves "khaki."

We Want To Ask Some Questions of Our Own.

● What about all the guys our age who don't even get this chance? Those whose parents didn't have enough money to send them to college? Those whose background didn't even teach them that they should want to go?

Do we smell a little old-fashioned "class privilege" here? We know of a pre-law hotshot from Yale who said, "Students are the brains of the country's machine. The machine needs its brains. Let the jocks and the dumbheads be the heroes." BLUNT? Even a little sickening? But that's exactly the message of this Selective Service Exam: If you're white, middle-class and a Dean's-list kind of guy, relax. If you're not, fall in.

● For another thing, a lot of guys who will take this test think the Viet Nam war is a right kind of war, necessary and just and patriotic. We in SDS think it's a wrong kind of war, not necessary, not just, and not American. But what about you who think Johnson tells the truth? When your brothers are over there dying, trying to do what you think needs to be done, why are you back here at home trying to pass a test in order to stay out of it???

● Thirdly — in these tests they're going to ask us to parade our knowledge of math, sciences, and language, our skills at reading and remembering. And on the basis of our answers to questions about poems and physics and geometry, we will not or will be "eligible" for the draft, will not or will be inducted, will not or will be sent to Viet Nam, maybe to kill and maybe to die.

SO WHAT DOES GEOMETRY HAVE TO DO WITH THE VIET NAM WAR!

If the Government intends to train us to be killers if we fail its test, why doesn't it ask us instead what we think this war is all about? Why doesn't it ask us what we'd think we'd be killing and dying for? Why doesn't it ask us what we think the other side wants, and where they came from, and why they've been fighting against the French and the Japanese, and then the British, and Chinese together, and then the French again, and now us, Americans for more than 35 years???

WHEN YOU KILL a man, YOU kill a man. We feel you'd better know why when you're doing it.

SO WHY DOESN'T THE GOVERNMENT LOOK FOR PEOPLE WHO WANT TO BE SOLDIERS IN THIS WAR? And if nobody wants to fight it, and if they can't persuade us, then why don't they quit trying to force us to fight?

THESE ARE THE REAL QUESTIONS, the ones that all of us have to think about. Because if we don't . . . nobody will.

So, we're going to pass out our own tests. Whenever the Selective Service System sets up its examination centers, we'll branch out and be there with OUR OWN exams. Ours will ask you questions about the war — fair, objective, and meaningful questions — and about how YOU see your relation to the war, and what kind of government ours has become. And you will "grade" your own test — and decide whether you know enough about the Vietnamese to some day take the responsibility for their death.

Passing our Viet Nam test won't give you deferment from the Army. Failing it won't put you in a jungle fox hole. But maybe thinking through some of our questions will make you a little shaker, a little greener . . . and a little PROUDER of your own conscience.

Vaaroom editorial revisited

To The Editor:

High ranking officers of Caesar's Public Safety Committee are already warning our younger citizens about the dangers of riding the equestrian — and well they might. It's probably safer to march through the deserts of Egypt than to ride the equestrian in Rome — especially if you are not experienced.

But apart from the safety — or lack of it — involved with the equestrian, we have another complaint to raise. They make too much excrementum.

Life is hard enough for the haggard and weary citizen to take. There are records to keep, reports to Caesar's Tribute Commission, audiences before the Senate, orgies to attend, and service in the Legions to face. It gets on one's nerves, increasing his preoccupation with the culinary delights (and then the thought of alvus adstricta is another worry).

But as if the citizen were not already near the end of his hemlock as he walks along a via in Rome, what should come tearing around the corner, but some olive head on a four legged excrementum spreader, spreading as much sterces as possible. It's enough to land a person on his clunes.

A Sicilian oracle recently conducted a survey in the city, with a pair of blood hounds used by the slave market to track down runaways, to find out which sterces cumulus is the most noxious. An equestrian outranked all other excrementum producers. It registered CX decemills while the next most noxious odors, attributed to an elephant and a camel, registered only CV.

The "threshold of pain" at which even a short exposure to odor can damage olfaction is CXX decemills.

If a litter and its bearers made as much odor it would be given a citation for faulty equipment. The equestrian should be treated in the same way.

Bomb shortage makes prices boom

There seems to be a shortage of bombs and other equipment from World War II which are needed for our present engagement in Viet Nam. Secretary McNamara revealed the other day that the Defense Department had to buy back a number of 750-pound bombs from the Germans. The bombs were sold to the Germans for $1.70 each and bought back by the U.S. for $21 each.

The Pentagon isn't talking about it but a world-wide search is going on for American war surplus and just the other day a colonel showed up on the island Mona Loren in the South Pacific, which had been an army base in World War II.

HE WAS GREETED by the chief of the Mona Loren, who was wearing a Seebee skivvy shirt, a pair of Marine dungarees, army boots and an Air Force hat with goggles.

"Welcome to Mona Loren, Great White Bird," the chief said. "We have not seen your kind since the savages of the Rising Sun threatened to engulf us with their yellow peril."

"Yes, well all that's forgotten now, chief. How's the old island doing?"

"The Quonset huts are holding up well, but the tents are starting to leak. Have you come to give us more surplus?"

"No chief, on the contrary we thought we might move some of this junk out of here for you, so you would have more room."

"To do what?"

"Put in urban renewal. That sort of stuff. Let me ask you chief, you still got those bombs around that we left behind?"

"Oh, yes. Many bombs are still on island."

"That's fine, I'm happy to tell you that we've been worried about you safety for the past 19 years and we've decided to remove them so no one will get hurt."

"Very good, Smiling Eagle. How much are you paying for them?"

"Well, we hadn't intended to pay for them, but I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll give you a box of chewing gum for each one we take away."

"Wait a minute, most Honorable Brass. The Germans were here a few weeks ago and offered us $3 a bomb, F.O.B."

"Well, we'll give you $3.50 a bomb just to show there are no hard feelings."

"YOU ARE INDEED generous, Great White Spit Polish. But the French came a few days later and offered us $5.50 a bomb, plus green stamps."

"This is ridiculous," the colonel said. "After all, they were our bombs in the first place."

"Yes, oh Star Spangled friend, but the day your army left our happy island to go stateside I asked the commanding officer as he sat on board the boat what I should do with all the army equipment and I'd hate to repeat what he told me to do with it."

"All right, we'll give you $7 a bomb and that's as high as we can go."

"Alas, Dear Uniformed Liberator. The British were here just two days ago and offered us $10 a bomb, plus a gross of 'Beatie' records."

"Who else has been to see you?" the colonel said angrily.

"The Egyptians, the Israelis, the Cubans, the Malaysians, the Pakistanis, the Indians, the Greeks, the Turks and the Rhodesians. The last bid on the bombs was $43.50. Tell me something. What the hell is going on out there in the world?"

"Never mind. Okay, we'll pay you $50 a bomb. And that's final."

"You have yourself a deal, Proud Brother."

"One thing more, chief. How much do you want for the skivvy shirt?"

ISL letter called illogical

To The Editor:

The last Iowa Socialist League Newsletter (No. 23) is one of the most illogical pieces of propaganda that that ambiguous organization has yet produced.

In the letter, it is suggested that capitalism is to blame for the alienation of modern man. Granted, modern man is many times alienated, but not just modern man living in capitalistic nations. What the ISL is really condemning is the Industrial Revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries, for it is this great movement which has produced the impersonal, mass society of today. People of socialistic and communistic countries are just as alienated as those of capitalistic countries.

Socialism certainly doesn't reduce the impersonal quality of jobs or the seeming futility of working with the capital of another. What makes the difference whether one works with the capital of another man or with the capital of a government? Both are situations in which the worker lacks a feeling of owning the means of production, except that the socialistic worker can't even claim the fruits of his own labor.

Perhaps the ISL wants to claim itself as a reactionary group and condemn the Industrial Revolution. Personally, we enjoy the conveniences of a modern world.

Thanks, pal

To The Editor:

Please thank Mr. Burritt for his criticism (May 3) of my criticism (April 26). I plan to use his letter as an example of:

1. The false use of "while" as a concessional conjunction.
2. False time: "in the future I plan."
3. Redundancy: "in the future I plan."
4. Improper use of single quotes.
5. Lack of parallelism.
6. Absent preposition: "use his review for wrapping fish."
7. Facilely enthusiastic exclamation point.

Thank you, Mr. Burritt.

Library Displaying Posters Showing Political Germany

Reproduction of more than 60 posters depicting Germany's political beliefs from 1900-1960 are on display in the lobby of the University Library.

MOST of the posters are printed in two, three or four colors and many are illustrated with pictures or drawings.

Francis Paluka, head of Special Collections, said the current exhibits would be on display until May 15.

The earliest poster in the display, dated about 1900, pictures a ship of the German Navy, which was founded in 1898 by Kaiser Wilhelm II.

A POSTER from 1914 represents the struggle for the emancipation of German women. It features a drawing by Karl Maria Stadler of a German woman waving a flag calling for an end to discrimination because of sex.

A 1915 poster asks for contributions of money and clothing for Germany's fighting men. Pictured is a soldier without protection of a steel helmet.

Another poster which was scattered over Germany in 1917 features a drawing of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, who enjoyed great popularity after the victory over the Russians at Tannenberg in 1914.

Nazis and Communists are named as enemies of democracy in a 1930 poster.

A poster displayed during the week of Sept. 19-26, 1931, pictures the wealth of German-made products and suggest they are superior to products made in other Western countries.

THE POSTER with the widest distribution of any on display is on that pictures Adolf Hitler in his Nazi party uniform. This poster was displayed in Germany from 1938-1945 and often replaced religious pictures or crucifixes in Germany's school and offices.

A reproduction of the 1945 proclamation of Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force, is also included in the exhibit. This proclamation was posted in public areas when the allied troops overran Germany. The proclamation states that the allies "come as conquerors but not as oppressors."

Campus Currents

by Linda Nolan

"Oh, Lord, help me to study!" the college student laments as the summer months roll around and the weather beckons one to do other things.

Of course, a college "education" consists of many things, I tell myself. And I've always wanted to learn to ride a horse properly. That's what I kept saying all the way out to Sugarbottom Stables and all the way back one day.

I found my horse and, after much deliberation, approached him, determined to show him who was boss. It wasn't long until I found out his routine. I didn't have any ordinary animal or one that took orders very well.

We made a couple of runs around the practice corral and then I was ready for the open hills. Here's where the difference of opinion came in. The horse promptly galloped over to the water trough and began to drink.

Feeling humane I permitted it, but ten minutes later I knew something was wrong. I yanked and pulled the reins, got off and got back on (a problem in itself), and still nothing.

But as my hour began to near its end, the horse sped out of the corral at a gallop. We flew across what looked, from my point of view, like the saddle horn while the reins flapped in the wind. After a whirlwind ride he trotted into the stables as if he had had it planned all along.

Breathless, but relieved, I slid off that thing, dropped the reins and started off wondering just who was master out there. Somehow I didn't think it was me.

Now, there are sports that can be played with both feet on the ground. . . .

With both feet on the ground, for example, you start off for the library and your best friend meets you with two tennis rackets. And a lover of tennis will play anytime—rain snow, dawn, dusk, concrete, or quicksand. Chaucer never had anything on a good afternoon on the courts. So he waits while you improve your serve, and with a few more weeks of practice you will be an expert — at tennis, that is.

State Meeting Of Educators This Weekend

The state meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary organization for women in education, will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Union and will feature Elsie Lundgren, international parliamentarian of the organization, as speaker.

Miss Lundgren will talk on "Sand and Salt" at a banquet at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Union Main Lounge. The Old Gold Singers will also perform at the banquet.

"CREATIVE Advancement in Education" is the theme of the meeting. About 450 members of Delta Kappa Gamma are expected to attend.

Alpha Upsilon, the Iowa City-Johnson County chapter of the organization, is one of the five host chapters of the meeting.

Mrs. Harold R. Percy, 619 E. Market St., is president of the local chapter.

Miss Lundgren, a native of Twin Falls, Idaho, retired in 1964 after 42 years of teaching English in elementary, junior high and senior high schools. She was an elementary school principal for three years.

SHE HAS BEEN named in "Who's Who of America Women" and has received a Ford Foundation Fellowship and a special citation in McCall magazine's Teacher-of-the-Year Award.

Besides her present position as international parliamentarian of Delta Kappa Gamma, Miss Lundgren was international second vice president from 1958 through 1960, has served on committees and held chapter and state offices in the education organization.

The morning session of the Saturday meeting will begin with an invocation by George Forrell, director of the School of Religion. Howard R. Jones, dean of the College of Education, and Buford W. Garner, superintendent of Iowa City Community Schools will welcome the Delta Kappa Gamma members.

The Sunday meeting will be devoted to an inspiration service.

Live Shows Now In A.M. On KWAD

KWAD, the student radio station that broadcasts to the men's and women's dorms, is now presenting live entertainment 20 hours a day, Monday through Friday.

The station broadcasts from 6 a.m. until 2 a.m. during the week. In the past, the live shows began at noon and lasted until 2 a.m. The live programming still runs from 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The additional six hours of live programs will be devoted to popular music and requests.

The change in programming came as the result of a listener survey carried out by KWAD. It showed that the majority of dorm residents who were questioned favored live morning shows.

The survey was designed to find out the signal strength of the station in the dorms and the music preferences of the residents. Complete results of the survey, which will include the signal strength, will be made available next week, according to Tom Sheridan, A4, Bettendorf, the station's general manager.

Another new program on KWAD is "Here's Hollywood." The program is recorded in Hollywood and features the latest releases from the Capitol Record Company.

It can be heard on KWAD at 11 p.m. on Tuesdays, 5:30 p.m. on Thursdays, and noon on Sundays.

Or golf. Finkbine Golf Course is a beautiful place to learn to golf and get a suntan at the same time. Everyone knows you can't carry a book and golf at the same time, so forget the books and have fun. It takes a steady hand, a good set of clubs, and a patient teacher.

People who pass by are very eager to give you advice, for it seems everyone on the course is an expert. So you listen and then, as they amble off shaking their heads, you know that you didn't do it quite right.

If all these invigorating sports fail to entice you, you can always lie on the beach and develop a beautiful tan. Weekends find crowds flocking to pools and lakes for skiing, swimming, boating, and tanning.

But you can tell the college student from the person who is there strictly for fun, for he has under the beach towel, suntan lotion, and insect repellent, a stack of books to serve as his conscience-reminder. He spreads them out in front of him, adjusts his sun-glasses, administers lotion, and begins to read. . . . but is somehow diverted. It's either a dip in the water, a ride in a boat, a walk, or maybe he'll sneak a nap. Whatever the event, it seems that he never quite gets to the books or at least not very far. And he will no doubt end up with the start to a good tan through a bright red burn.

This is no really big problem though. You can find the right suntan or sunburn lotion, skin ointment, insect repellent, and sunglasses in the summer displays at May's Drug Store in the Wardway Shopping Center at the intersection of Highway 1 W and 218 S.

Or if you are the type that contracts poison ivy or poison oak at least once a summer, then May's prescription department is the place to go for the right medication to relieve the irritation.

So don't pass up a chance to shop out at May's Drug Store in the Wardway Shopping Center for all your summer needs.

Miler Larry Wieczorek Could Break Records

Larry Wieczorek belongs to a relatively new breed of glamor boys in track — the distance men.

The Iowa sophomore runs a very good mile and he may very well run himself right into the Iowa record book.

Anyone who is not a distance man thinks these leather-lunged individuals are just a little bit nuts, but the day has arrived when the mile causes as much excitement as the 100-yard dash, and Wieczorek is building up some of this enthusiasm among Iowa track buffs.

The Maywood, Ill., athlete, who holds the Illinois high school record 4:14.6, is no four-minute miler yet. But his times are starting downward.

A determined competitor, Larry surprised several favorites by winning the Big 10 indoor mile championship in 4:09.7, moving to the title in the last stride to edge out Craig Boydston of Northwestern, 4:10.1.

IN HIS FIRST outdoor race, Wieczorek was timed in 4:10.3 in the Arizona meet. He will have successive meets on the home track now, against Drake and the Chicago Track Club May 7 and against Northwestern and Minnesota May 14.

With continued improvement, the Hawkeye distance ace could erase two distance marks that have stood since 1956. In that year All-American Ted Wheeler reeled off a 4:07.5 indoor mile and a 4:04.7 outside mile to establish Iowa records.

Vets Kerr, Bianchi Will Coach Bulls

CHICAGO (AP) — John (Red) Kerr, a veteran of 12 National Basketball Association seasons, signed a three-year contract Tuesday as head coach of the Chicago Bulls.

Al Bianchi, another long-time NBA star and Kerr's roommate for 10 pro seasons, received a three-year contract as assistant coach of the new NBA club.

Kerr, 34, former University of Illinois player, and Bianchi, 33, were among 18 players selected by the Bulls from the nine established NBA teams in the opening draft at New York last week-end.

Dick Klein, Bull general manager, announced at a news conference that Kerr and Bianchi would be bench coaches.

Hawks Beat Northern Illinois
With Fly Ball In Last Of 9th

By RON BLISS
Assistant Sports Editor

A ninth-inning sacrifice fly ball by Iowa co-captain Mickey Moses scored Larry Rathje with the winning run Tuesday as Iowa edged Northern Illinois University 3-2 in a non-conference game on the Iowa field.

Moses' run-producing fly ball came after Rathje walked, stole second and advanced to third on a passed ball.

EARLIER Iowa had jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning with the aid of a hit, a walk, a hit batsman and an error. After Russ Sumka had struck out to lead off the inning, right-fielder Marc Michel was hit by a pitch and stole second base before Larry Myatt walked to put runners on first and second with one out. Catcher Bob Schneider then hit a ground ball to shortstop that appeared to be the beginning of a double play that would have ended the inning, but the shortstop's throw to second got by the second baseman, allowing Michel to come all the way around from second to score the first run. Shortstop Lee Endsley then drilled a single to left field two plays later to score Myatt with the second Iowa run.

NORTHERN Illinois tied it two innings later when it scored two runs on three hits and an error in the seventh.

The Huskies' Willie Hanson led off the inning with a swinging bunt down the third base line and advanced to second when John Prina's throw to first base went wild. Hanson then advanced to third on a fly ball and scored Northern's first run when Pat Kramer tripled to deep right-center field. Kramer scored the final Huskie run on a passed ball.

Frank Renner who survived three shaky innings of relief pitching, during which Northern got four of its five hits and both of its runs, got the win for Iowa and is 3-1, while Northern Illinois reliever John Boney took the loss, although he pitched four innings of hitless ball. He is now 2-2.

The victory was Iowa's 13th of the season and equals the number of victories the team had all of last season. The Hawks have lost nine. The loss left Northern Illinois with a 5-4 record.

Injuries Slow Football Practices;
But Nagel Says Squad Improving

Improvement in some areas but setbacks because of injuries in others mark the University spring football situation as reported by Coach Ray Nagel Tuesday.

John Diehl, a fine defensive tackle who was doing well after a shift from offense, now is lost for the remainder of spring drill with a broken shoulder. However, he should be OK for next fall, Nagel said.

The other major loss is that of Tom Brown, who had been working well as an offensive power tackle. He sustained a knee injury in scrimmage Saturday and will not be available until next September.

ADDED TO THE loss of these men are the slowing down of linebacker Terry Huff with an aggravation of an old shoulder injury; loss of Gary Larsen, split end, with a light case of mononucleosis; loss of fullback Corry Patterson with a jammed elbow; loss of tackle Ken White because of a knee operation; and the fact that the 1964 regular tackle, Bob Ziolkowski, who broke an ankle last September, is still not permitted to drill by his doctor.

Nagel said he had not made any additional position shifts. He wants to give the players who have been shifted a full chance to learn their new jobs. Then the coaches will be in a better position to evaluate them.

Silas McKinnie and Patterson are fullbacks whose work has pleased the coaches and Tony Williams, a converted defensive halfback, is the leader at the tailback spot. McKinnie has been impressive with his fitness and quick starting and Patterson looks efficient as a blocker.

FARLEY LEWIS, another tailback, has also been given some work at quarterback, a position familiar to him from high school days. The other leading tailback, Jerry O'Donnell has missed some drills because of a shoulder ailment but should return by mid-week.

The wingbacks are Larry McDowell and Dick Thiele and a rookie, Barry Cress, now is coming around well. The improving defensive secondary has Bill McCutchen at safety and Dick Gibbs and Guy Bilek at halfbacks. Dave Moreland has been working at linebacker, along with Dan Hilsabeck. Moreland was a defensive back last fall.

Top ends continue to be Rich O'Hara, who can play both ways; and Terry Mulligan, defense. Al Bream, a rookie, is getting better as a split end. Nagel said that Roger Lamont, a reserve last year, is a good-quick-tackle, and one of the strong men of the offensive line.

now broken down for work in various specialties must be pulled together and worked into solid units," Coach Nagel declared.

He said that nearly all of the offense has now been installed and it is up to the players to digest and perfect the attack. The coach is pleased with the continuing development of Ed Podolak, a freshman quarterback, who has looked good on the favored pass-run option and the rollout.

PAPERBACKS IN REVIEW

A publisher's survey of what's new in the way of unrequited reading

In a world where the predominant philosophy is "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em," it's refreshing to find a maverick legislator who believes "if you can't join 'em, lick 'em!" Last summer, when Congress refused to hold Vietnam hearings, Wisconsin's Representative Robert W. Kastenmeier held them on his home ground.

VIETNAM HEARINGS: Voices from the Grass Roots

($1.95 Doubleday paperback) is a transcript of testimony given at Mr. Kastenmeier's hearings. "It is," writes the reviewer in Harper's magazine, "an extraordinary cross section of witnesses, committees, and individuals who took great trouble and thought to organize and express their opinions."

Here is what professors, army officers, scientists, physicians, ADA members, Young Republicans, American Legionnaires, and people from every segment of American life say about the war. Every shade of opinion is represented, giving full justice to both sides of the question. There's a good deal of food for thought in this unique hearing which The New York Times calls a "new political phenomenon."

Student freedom and student rebellion at the University of California at Berkeley were issues that brought one of the world's most famous centers of learning to the edge of collapse. Of lasting interest and value, THE BERKELEY STUDENT REVOLT: Facts and Interpretations ($1.95, an Anchor Original) was edited by two professors, then at Berkeley, Seymour Martin Lipset and Sheldon S. Wolin. It is particularly interesting because the editors themselves reflect so vividly the split in opinion of the faculty as well as the students.

"Mr. Lipset takes a dim view of the uprising," writes A. H. Raskin in the N. Y. Times Book Review. "He sees it as a portent that all universities may be forced to capitulate to the coercive tactics of radical minorities... Mr. Wolin seems to feel that such a development would be far from disaster... Fascinating."

The N. Y. Herald Tribune, in discussing what they call "The Varsity Snag," says, "The editors... seem to have chosen to collaborate precisely because they took opposite roles in the controversy and see its meaning differently. Their selections are indeed scrupulously balanced... it amounts to a genuine documentary that merits close attention... The merit of The Berkeley Student Revolt, however, is that it is not bound by the perspective of either of its editors. Its selections provide the terms for subsequent debate about the broadest questions that grew out of the free speech crisis."

The two books reviewed above are published by the sponsors of this column, Doubleday Anchor Books, 277 Park Avenue, New York City and Doubleday & Company, Inc., Garden City, New York. You'll find them at one of the best equipped booksellers in the country — your own college store.

World Premiere Here Tonight

The world premiere of a piano concerto played by its composer and the presentation of a violin solo played by Charles Tregler, head of the University String Department, will highlight the University Symphony Orchestra concert at 8 tonight in the Union Main Lounge.

Tickets for the concert are still available without charge at the Union Information Desk. The concert is being held in connection with the week-long Symposium for Contemporary Music.

The program's second major work will be Jean Sibelius' "Concerto for Piano (1906)," written by Charles Wuorinen and dedicated to James Dixon, conductor of the University and the Tri-City Symphony Orchestras.

Wuorinen is a young American composer and co-director of the Group for Contemporary Music at Columbia University. He is co-director of that group with University alumnus, Harvey Solberger.

A 1949 revision of Arnold Schoenberg's "Five Pieces for Orchestra," originally written in 1909, will end the concert.

The concert will be broadcast live by the University radio station WSUI and KSUI-FM.

A concert of the works of Milton Babbitt, a professor of music at Princeton University and coordinator of the Columbia-Princeton Electronic Music Center, will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday in North Recital Hall.

The Iowa String Quartet will also play one of Babbitt's works at its concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Macbride Auditorium.

Army ROTC cadets are to form up in summer uniforms at 10:15 a.m. Thursday in the area west of the baseball diamond for the Governor's Day ceremony.
