Draft Board Can't Demand Grades—

Bowen Sets Policy On Transcripts

The University will furnish grade transcripts, grade point averages and class rankings only upon the request of the individual student involved, Pres. Howard R. Bowen announced Thursday.

The statement defined University policy on the question debated in recent weeks by faculty and student groups about supplying academic information on individual students to the Selective Service.

The question arose when the Selective Service informed local draft boards that it might consider class rank as well as performance on the Selective Service Qualifying Test in determining whether to grant or to continue student deferments.

THE NEW University policy follows the recommendations made by the Faculty Council and Student Senate. The council passed a resolution March 22 requesting that such information be made available only on each student's request; the senate passed a similar resolution May 10.

Bowen's statement enlarged these recommendations to include student-approved requests for any organization, not only the Selective Service. Students must make written requests before grade information be given.

The type of academic information involved is designed for University use and has traditionally been treated on a confidential basis, Bowen noted.

"Such information is susceptible to misinterpretation when utilized for purposes for which it was not designed," he said.

Bowen said that the Council and individual faculty members had expressed concern over the validity of class rankings as a partial measure of Selective Service eligibility.

ON THE OTHER hand, he said, the Student Senate believes that students might be discriminated against if the University did not comply with specific requests from individual students that such information be forwarded to their local Selective Service Boards.

"Notwithstanding the fallibility of class rankings, the University will honor student requests for specific information to the extent that it is available," Bowen said.

In the past, the University has made grade point information available when requested by prospective employers or other educational institutions without student permission.

No such material will be provided now unless the student has filed a request that the information be given, Bowen said.

The president said that faculty members had raised "legitimate and proper" expressions of concern over the validity of class rankings which did not take into account academic differences between and within fields of study, and that entrance and retention requirements may vary from one field to another and from one place to another.

"MOREOVER, THE faculty is disturbed over the increasing emphasis on grades and the resulting detrimental effects on students' education when grades come to be viewed, for any reason, as a primary educational objective," he said.

To relieve the problems, a statement will be enclosed in all transcripts interpreting the academic information, he said.

The University will continue to release as a matter of routine information that a student is or has been registered and that a student has or has not received a degree.

Such basic enrollment information will be made available without request of the student involved, Bowen said, because the roster of students and the list of degrees awarded are matters of public information.

SINCE SEPTEMBER, 1964, the University has been providing the State Director of Selective Service with an enrollment report on all male students. This report indicates full- or part-time enrollment and any changes in that status.

Other Iowa colleges and universities furnish a similar report. The information is then forwarded to local draft boards.

In case of requests for academic information by law enforcement agencies, the request will be referred to a designated University official and will be granted upon his approval.

W. A. Cox, director of admissions, said the University would make available a form for students to indicate their requests to have class rank information forwarded to their draft boards.

The forms would be available in B1 University Hall beginning Tuesday morning.

Spring Semester Finals Schedule

Final exams begin May 31. This is the exam schedule recently announced by the University Examination Service.

The table shows days and times of the 32 exam periods. Day and time entries designate tests according to the first regular weekly meeting time of single-sectioned courses. Following the table are courses and corresponding exam periods for multiple-sectioned courses.

Exam periods will run for two hours, allowing at least 30 minutes between exams. In conflicts of exam scheduling, courses having lower departmental numbers, or lower course numbers when the conflict is within a department, take precedence.

No exams will be given Friday, June 3. According to Charles Statler, director of Examinations Service, the University calendar committee allowed an extra day for exams this semester and, because the Selective Service classification exams are to be given June 3, this day was kept free of tests.

Officials Trace Escape Car Of Bandit, Rapist

Johnson County Sheriff's officers found an abandoned car near the Cedar Rapids airport Thursday afternoon that they said was probably driven by an armed man who raped and robbed a Swisher area farm wife several hours before.

The 1966 blue Dodge Charger with Illinois license plates was found one and a half miles south of the turnoff to the Cedar Rapids airport. The car was rented from an agency at the O'Hare Field airport in Chicago. Johnson County Sheriff Maynard Schneider said the car's engine block was cracked.

The man escaped from the farmhouse just as the woman's daughter and several schoolmates returned home at noon after school was dismissed for the summer.

The girls found the woman bound and gagged when they entered the house. Schneider said that the description of the car the girls gave him matched the one found abandoned.

The woman, her husband and the girls were taken to Iowa City to view a suspect at the county jail but Schneider said that he was not the one sought by police.

The housewife said that the man stopped at the farmhouse asking for directions to the "Thompson" farm. When she went inside to check the telephone book, the woman said, he followed her into the house and forced her into the bedroom at gunpoint.

She said that the man also took $5, all the money she had in the house.

Police said that they would not release a composite sketch of the attacker because it would put him on the alert.

Grassroots Support Is Goal Of Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 36 million Average Joe Americans would be encouraged to contribute up to $100 to their favorite political candidates under a sweeping election law revision proposed Thursday by President Johnson.

Johnson told Congress the time has come to replace cynicism with "public confidence in the elective process" by modernizing laws he said are "more loophole than law."

The President sent Congress a proposed bill which he said is designed to achieve four broad purposes.

First time
It would for the first time, make effective past efforts to achieve complete public disclosure of campaign funds. The bill and all committees supporting them for federal office to report, clearly and promptly, the sources of all their funds and how these funds are spent.

"It would also require disclosure by members of Congress of gifts and income."

"It would revise existing law and for the first time make effective the ceilings on the size of contributions."

"This proposal seeks a goal not even contemplated by earlier laws — the active encouragement of widespread public participation in the financing of political campaigns through tax deductions."

Johnson wants a separate line on every income tax form for contributions up to $100 to any candidate or organization in any federal, state or local election campaign or primary.

"This deduction would be allowed in addition to the standard deduction and would not be limited to those who itemize their deductions," the President's message said.

Johnson also proposed that:
• All candidates and all committees supporting federal candidates be required to report every contribution and every expense item above $100. Candidates for president and vice president would be included for the first time under this reporting provision.
• Members of the Senate and House be required to report income from all outside sources other than investments. This would include money received for speeches and for consultant or legal fees.
• A $5,000 limit be placed on the total financing that any candidate may receive from any one source. "The present $5,000 limit could not long be evaded," Johnson said, "by putting the maximum amount into different pockets in the same suit."
• Existing ceilings on total public office be repealed. The limits are $25,000 for senatorial candidates and $5,000 for House nominees. Johnson said "artificial limits breed artificial disclosures" and these limits are decidedly artificial.
• Corporations with federal contracts be forbidden to contribute to candidates for state and local office, as well as for federal office.

Johnson proposed that what he termed a major defect in present law be corrected by bringing primary campaigns and convention nomination contests under the federal disclosure law.

"In many cases primary contests are decisive," he said, yet they have been "entirely outside the law."

New Nation Begins Day With Debate

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — The National Assembly of Guyana, an independent nation since midnight, held its historic first session Thursday, and the opening debate fore-shadowed a stormy political future for the former British colony.

Marxist opposition leader, Cheddi Jagan, in a fiery speech, denounced the new constitution which he said "entrenches minority rule."

Jagan was booed and hissed as he walked through thousands of Negroes who jammed around the assembly building. In contrast, there was wild cheering for Burnham, a Negro. The booring recalled the racial enmity between the two major groups, which caused major riots from 1962 through 1964.

News In Brief

INVESTIGATING AUTHORITIES ruled as accidental the May shooting of an Illinois man at the Hawk Ballroom in Coralville. William Phillips, 56, Mt. Prospect, Ill., was wounded in the cheek while scuffling with an unidentified patron. The bullet was discharged from a gun belonging to Bernard Luchman, 1820 N. Dubuque St., when he attempted to help by hitting Phillips' opponent on the head with the gun.

THE HOUSE VOTED Thursday to raise the minimum wage from $1.25 an hour to $1.60 by Feb. 1, 1969, and to extend coverage to 7.2 million more workers. The bill, which would give farm workers minimum-wage protection for the first time, has not been acted on by the Senate.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON will apparently have substantial Senate backing for any negotiations which might lead to a gradual reduction in the United States ground forces in Europe, an Associated Press survey showed Thursday. The issue will be affected by the efforts to revise the NATO setup, because of France's forthcoming withdrawal of NATO forces.

THE CAMPAIGN in Santo Domingo for Wednesday's presidential election shows signs that strong political cleavage still exists despite reunification efforts since the 1965 revolt. Candidate Juan Bosch, acknowledged favorite in the constitutionalist downtown district, is virtually a prisoner in his suburban home because of fears for his life. His opponent, Dr. Joaquin Balaguer, and anti-constitutionalist leaders avoid the downtown district.

WEST GERMAN SOCIALISTS and East German Communists announced in Berlin Thursday they would engage in unprecedented debates in July. Although the subject matter was not specified, interest was aroused on both sides of the border with hope that the debates may be a step toward reunification.

Police Fire Tear Gas To Halt Buddhist Protest Against Ky

SAIGON (AP) — Riot police fired tear gas Friday to break up a demonstration by 30 to 40 Buddhist monks protesting the military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The latest in the weeks-long series of outbreaks erupted in front of the old National Assembly building across from the Caravelle Hotel.

Quick action prevented one of the monks from possibly burning himself to death and heavily armed troops kept demonstrators away from the U.S. Embassy.

Some of the monks gathered around one of their number who squatted on the ground in a position that led to fears he would attempt self-immolation — a form of protest by fire that was one of the tactics that led to the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963. Police broke up the group before anything happened.

A strong contingent of troops remained around the U.S. Embassy keeping all traffic and pedestrians about one block away.

Ky planned to fly to Da Nang, where forces loyal to him crushed Buddhist rebels earlier this week, and take personal charge of ending the northern rebellion against his government.

This rebellion had an anti-American character and rioters Thursday burned and sacked the U.S. Information Service building in Hue.

Vietnamese troops rushed in to protect American holdings in that Buddhist-dominated bastion of revolt.

Compassion

WHEN TWO DENTAL STUDENTS rescued a drowning man and tried to save another Sunday, they had a lot going for them. Both apparently were good swimmers, and both had a lot of courage, but most important, they displayed what is becoming too rare a quality in human beings — an active compassion toward a fellow human.

No one would have expected a person who couldn't swim to attempt such a rescue. Nor would it be fair to expect a poor or average swimmer to risk his own life attempting a rescue beyond his ability. But too often people with the courage and ability to be of some aid without any personal risk often neglect what we believe to be a basic human responsibility.

Personal courage in emergencies is not the issue here; we consider that a part of a person's nature and include it along with ability. What is at issue is a person's attitude toward an emergency. Too often a passerby remains just that. He is unable to regard himself as anything other than a spectator, as though he were in a movie theater. Our culture has, perhaps, left us too accustomed to our role as spectator only.

Far more emergencies could be prevented from developing into tragedies if, as the two students Sunday did, more people would regard an emergency as something that can really happen, and is not limited to what we read or hear about. We find it disconcerting that so many people have only the passive compassion for someone in distress that they have for the hero on the movie screen.

Passive compassion is okay for movies, but it won't save lives. We greatly admire the two students who realized this Sunday.

Bullheads running

THE BULLHEADS ARE RUNNING THICK near Newton Road. Their tracks are made in the foot-worn paths even when those mud runs are rain slicked. They ignore the bridge that would carry them over Riverside Drive traffic. They exemplify the time-honored proposition that college students are thoughtful and reflective and intelligent.

Movie of 30's is 'film faldorah'

By DON PASQUELLA
 For The Iowan

There were many films made in the 1930's that still stand up well today, that can still be enjoyed by a modern audience. But there are others that are so far removed in style and context from what we are used to that they simply don't make it. This week's Cinema 16 presentation "Gold Diggers of 1933" falls into the latter category.

"Gold Diggers of 1933" has to be seen to be believed. It is so bad that it is beyond criticism. But in this day of Hollywood Triple-A Slickerons it is almost refreshing to see something like this for a change.

Can you imagine Ginger Rogers singing "We're in the Money" in pig latin, or a chorus line of policemen on roller skates, or a hundred girls in swirling gowns playing neon violins, or a contingent of bloody World War I veterans being transported across the giant Warner Brothers sound stage on a conveyor belt?

CAN YOU IMAGINE Dick Powell singing in a baggy white tuxedo? Can you imagine an old, fat Boston blue blood named Peabody marrying a show girl named Trixie? All of this and more awaits the viewer of "Gold Diggers of 1933."

The film is not a total loss, however. If you have never seen a real Busy Berkeley musical production you may miss an infamous episode in American film faldorah. It makes the June Taylor dancers look like a bunch of Brownie scouts.

These musical numbers, with casts of thousands tromping around to rickety-tick tunes, are loosely, very loosely connected with the archetypal fantasy story of a bunch of showgirls being saved from a well-deserved oblivion by a struggling young tunesmith who magically produces the money needed to put on a huge, razzle-dazzle bombast of bilge. The struggling young tunesmith (Dick Powell) is really an heir to a Boston fortune who is in love with one of the hoofers (Ruby Keeler).

NATURALLY, THE young heir's older brother is a bit bugged by the prospect of having a show girl sister-in-law on Beacon Hill so he hot-foots it down to the Big City to buy her off. He takes along the family lawyer, Peabody, as a back-up.

Before it's all over everybody is married to one of the girls in the cast. The young lovers get what they deserve — each other; the older brother gets one of the girl's room-mates and Peabody gets the other. And the show goes on into the final bombardment of an unprintable substance.

WARS AGAINST segregation in new fraternity

I am disturbed by the recent announcement in The Daily Iowan that University fraternity adviser M. L. Huit has encouraged the incorporation of an Iowa chapter of the national social fraternity Kappa Sigma. Unless there has been a radical change in leadership in the last three years, Kappa Sigma still stands as a national symbol of fraternity opposition to racial integration. Although the openly-stated clause against Negro or Oriental membership was dropped a decade ago, the Kappa Sigma national officers suspended the Swarthmore chapter for pledging a Negro as recently as 1962.

At a time when the University of Iowa is actively recruiting Negro students and seeking Federal funds for cementing a closer relationship with two Southern Negro Colleges, it seems absurdly inconsistent to allow a national group with a century-old history of racial and religious bigotry to establish itself on our campus. Unless the national officers of Kappa Sigma can legally guarantee the complete freedom of the local chapter to select whomever it pleases for membership, the University should not permit Mr. Higgins and his group of ten to organize a colony on campus this Fall.

Reader disputes draft editorial

I read your editorial "Why Draft at All?" and I must agree with you that the thought has quite a bit of validity . . . as a thought. Certainly the pilots and navigators, for example, whose jobs require expert skill and precision must be paid if they are to continue in the service of our country.

However, for the foot soldier of the Army, which all the drafted young men become, I think your proposal of raising military pay scales falls down . . . in practice. If we think back in history, every time some country tried to buy its defense, that country soon disintegrated. I don't think the United States can buy the patriotism necessary for a soldier to fight for his country. If that soldier is fighting for the dollar, I doubt he'll be very effective or efficient . . . except on payday; when the money in the pocket runs low, his patriotism also runs low. We'll have an even tougher time winning the Viet Nam war by operating on a 40-hour week.

Fellini movie 'hallucinatory'

By GARY ELLIS SMITH
 Staff Writer

This is a review of a movie all about reality. The people in it are all pretty unreal, but each contains a morsel of realism that has been magnified until it is no longer recognizable, a kind of heightened reality.

The movie is called "Juliet of the Spirits" and is the product of Federico Fellini, an Italian director. It is now playing at the Iowa Theater. Fellini has produced several pictures in which he tries to show the terror of reality. Two of them were "La Dolce Vita" and "8½."

"Perhaps when you take LSD, you experience something like that movie," one might say to himself as he leaves the theatre, "a dream in rioting color that totters on the rim between threatening nightmares and hushed soulful peace."

The movie is about a married woman who sees her world becoming one of illusion, because she suspects her husband is untrue. The spirits that plague Juliet are her future, her family, and several past experiences she uses to explain her life.

Juliet is played by Giulietta Masina, Fellini's wife. She has a face of plain beauty and does not distort it with make-up. She is a quiet woman who yearns to become a prostitute so she can win back her husband.

Luckily, she lives right next door to another prostitute who is able to teach her how to use feminine wiles to seduce men. Juliet's family also tries to get her to spruce up and escape the dullness of her life. So Juliet is torn between the desire to live in peace by herself and the desire to take the advice of the spirits and become a prostitute for her husband.

Fellini has said that he does not like to use color in movies because it can too easily get out of hand. He has said that just as he gets the right color for the mood he wishes, the light changes a bit and it is altogether the wrong color. This is the first full-length feature he has made in color.

Like Fellini's other movies, this one is a reel of confusion. This time, less emphasis is put on sound. The confusion is created with color. Juliet's house is calm and quiet white with cool green trim. But the neighbor's house is built like a peacock that keeps strutting and showing his colors.

In Suzy's house there is no escape from the mauve silks and magenta brocades that dull the mind and give ever so slight a headache. Suzy's world is magenta and yellow. Juliet's is white with green trim.

The music has been carefully composed and coordinated to match the moods of the movie. Juliet's music is quiet and light. Suzy's is flashy and harsh.

As usual, the theme of Fellini's picture is buried under a heap of refuse, which the audience must slowly pick through to find something that will tie together the hallucinatory realities. Moralistic school principals, Mongolian barbarians and modern witches float in and out of the plot.

The movie is good because under each of the piles of refuse there is a human being with a quality reminding you of someone you know. But he has been magnified to point out his estrangement to life.

The movie is good because Juliet is a strong enough person to sort through her realities and find she has been using them as illusions to hide the truth. She discovers she has enough life and love to live quietly by herself without illusion.

This is the first movie Fellini has made in which the heroine of the picture is able to make peace with her reality and live happily ever after.

Review grieving

Don Pasquella's review of "Casablanca" in your May 19 issue grieves the middle-aged moviegoer. Anyone who would confuse Conrad Veidt with Paul Henreid would probably mistake a ruthless U-boat commander for a leader of the Czech underground or enlist Baron von Richtofen in the "Dawn Patrol." It might help Mr. Pasquella to remember that Conrad Veidt never put more than one cigarette in his mouth at a time.

Parsons conflict is reviewed

By SANDOR M. POLSTER
 Staff Columnist

FAIRFIELD — On the door of the Parsons College student newspaper office last week was a sign that read: "Happiness is a FREE Port." Next to it was posted the sign: "We are not happy!"

Port is the nickname for the 5,000 circulation weekly paper, The Portfolio. The paper's chief distinction is that in two months it has had three different editors.

Parsons is an amazing school. The newspaper office is located in the basement of the James M. Camp Student Center. But the first thing one notices when entering the building is the absence of a date on the cornerstone.

"They forgot it," said one student. Another corrected him: "You mean, they forgot when they started construction."

Public Relations Minded

But in spite of this oversight, Parsons College is always on guard and public relations minded. Even the president, Millard G. Roberts, is defensive when talking of Parsons. In a letter to the students, Dr. Roberts stated: "Surely, we have found that those who visit the College come away with quite different ideas from those who hear about it through fifth-hand rumors and remarks."

Karlyn Wiedeman was fired from her job as editor of The Portfolio on May 18, two days after she reprinted an article that appeared in the Des Moines Register.

Miss Wiedeman had been editor since March 10, when Robert Montgomery quit. He quit, according to students working on The Portfolio, "before the administration had a chance to fire him."

Montgomery's reason for quitting centered around the visit to Parsons of Wisconsin Governor Warren Knowles. Before the governor arrived, the administration set up a "model" campus. Montgomery wanted to print an editorial in the March 10 issue, but the administration would not allow it. The editorial said in part:

"Seldom so impressive"

The Parsons "campus had seldom looked so impressive as it did March 9 when the Knowles party toured the College. Had it not been for the students who, at the last minute, picked up papers and other trash from the campus grounds, we are sure the governor would have seen the 'real' Parsons College. . . . Moving furniture into the fraternity-sorority houses to impress visitors was definitely not upholding the dignity of the College. The housing units, classrooms, and student union have rarely looked as nice as they did. It is unfortunate that they do not look that way 'til the time."

The editorial finally appeared a week later, but in a watered-down version. For two months the paper printed as usual. But, as time went on, members of the administration became disappointed in Miss Wiedeman as editor, and the paper as a voice of Parsons.

According to Vice President Milford E. Hughes, the newspaper became too negative. Also, he said that Miss Wiedeman exercised "unbalanced news judgment."

Public Relations Director Robert Rasmussen said that in addition to Hughes' charges, there was also "a conflict of personalities."

So, when, on May 16, The Portfolio printed something like the Register's article, it was only natural that Miss Wiedeman would be called into Hughes' office.

At 2:30, Wednesday, May 18, Rasmussen took Miss Wiedeman to see Hughes. There, Hughes accused her of "general incompetency," "negativism" and "unbalanced news judgment." Hughes said that the Register article had nothing to do with his action. Rather, "We had been dissatisfied with her for some time."

Miss Wiedeman, however, believes there was a different reason: "They wanted me to write positive editorials and praise the school. I tried to be constructive in every editorial." She added that "the administration cares more about its public image than its students."

In an editorial two days before she was fired, Miss Wiedeman wrote: "In most colleges and universities, the faculty and various student groups take issue with administrative actions, and demand an audience. Here, unfortunately, the faculty and students are overshadowed by the administration, and are too afraid to speak out. . . . The Portfolio, then, is the only continuous campus source of criticism, the single check on administrative actions."

From Beards To Brooks Brothers—

New Look In Civil Rights

By JON VAN
Staff Writer

The beards are gone, the clothes are clean, the agitation is absent. The RILEEH project at the University represents the growing respectability of the civil rights movement.

In the summer of 1964 seven Iowa students went to Mississippi to join the civil rights movement. Some were beaten, others were shot at, a few were arrested. An emergency student bail fund was established in Iowa City to aid University students in the South.

After the "long, hot summer" was over, the bail fund continued, but with new purposes. One of the Iowa students who had been working for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) in Mississippi suggested that Iowa City "adopt" Holly Springs, Miss., as a sister community.

THE BAIL fund became the Mississippi Support Project. Money, food and labor were given by Iowa City townspeople and members of the University community to Holly Springs Negroes. Students spent vacation periods working in the Southern community's library and special schools.

As time went by, the MSP project became more oriented to giving aid to Rust College in Holly Springs than to other work in that community.

A few months ago the Mississippi Support Project became Rust, Iowa, LeMoyne Expanding Educational Horizons — RILEEH.

"We've gone from agitation to action," said John Huntley, professor of English and a founder of the program when it was a bail fund, "because action had to follow. It was impossible for the faculty not to follow where the students had led."

"RILEEH IS a more long range program than SNCC offers, but the effects will be great and permanent," according to Huntley. "When other groups have won the Negro his right to vote, projects like RILEEH will help him to know how to use it."

Some SNCC workers look on RILEEH with distrust. Huntley said, but for the most part there is cooperation. MSP is the past and now RILEEH have served political purposes only as an "enabling" body. Iowa students who wish to work in the Mississippi civil rights movement may be put in contact with the proper people through RILEEH connections.

"The pressure for political and social change enables us to concentrate on educational changes. So although SNCC is suspicious, it is working with RILEEH in this way. One group is crying 'Freedom Now' and the educators are working for freedom forever," Huntley said.

RILEEH has made civil rights activity so respectable that Uncle Sam is even willing to contribute to the cause.

PHILIP G. Hubbard, dean of faculties, said the University expects some federal funds to be approved for RILEEH projects in June.

About 100 faculty members and 100 students have volunteered their time and talents for RILEEH projects set for this summer and in the fall.

"We should stress," Hubbard said, "that the student workers in RILEEH are what the University considers the type we'd like to produce. They have good grades, are well adjusted and active, and they are taking full advantage of the University.

THOUGH THEIR PERCH is rather precarious, Tom Lucas, B3, Muscatine and Ralph Strohm, B4, Muscatine, seem to have solved the problem of finding a quiet place to study and soak up the sun's rays. They are perched on a ledge outside their apartment, which overlooks Clinton Street. —Photo by Dave Luck

Finals Will Soon Be Over, But School Goes On 'n On

Registration for the summer session will be Tuesday, June 14, in the Field House. All students are to enter through the doors at the southeast corner.

Students in the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Engineering, Nursing and in the Graduate College will enter the registration area according to the last two digits of their student numbers.

Dentistry and pharmacy students will begin their registration in their deans' offices and may enter the Field House anytime from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students in medicine and law will complete their registration in their deans' offices.

Tot Dies From Injuries After Donkey's Attack

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Clamped in a donkey's jaws and carried 200 yards after wandering into a pasture, Troy Edwards, 2, died Thursday of his injuries. The beast dropped the boy when his mother, Mrs. Morgan Edwards of nearby Douglas, yelled at the animal.

A Holland spokesman attributed death to extensive internal injuries.

Iowa Receives Music Grant

By PEGGY NORDEEN
Staff Writer

The fourth Rockefeller Center for Contemporary Music in the nation will be sponsored by the School of Music next fall.

Richard Hervig, professor of music and director of the new center, said Tuesday that the Rockefeller Foundation project was established to support the composition and performance of new music.

THE CENTER will be supported during the first three years by the Rockefeller Foundation.

The Center is staffed by seven composers and highly skilled performers, who were chosen by audition this semester, Hervig said. They will give eight scheduled performances on campus and will tour nearby Midwest cities and universities.

Two of the talented seven-member group have studied at the University. William Hibbard, musical director, violinist and former recipient of the Sutherland Dows fellowship, will be a member of the group. Hibbard will complete his Ph.D. degree at the University this summer.

Former University student, Janet Steele, soprano, who has done graduate work at Yale University, will return to the University to participate in the center project.

DORIS ALLEN, violinist, and Joseph Dechario, pianist, are two members who have both recently studied in England.

Dechario, a graduate of the University of Illinois, also has given concerts in England.

Miss Allen has been in England for the past two years on a Fulbright Scholarship.

The flutist and percussionist are graduates of the University of Illinois. Pat Purswell is the flutist and has performed as a flutist in the contemporary Chamber Players at the University of Chicago during the past year. The group percussionist will be William Parsons.

William Konney, cellist and graduate of Oberlin College is another member of the group who has performed with the Chicago Contemporary Chamber Players.

THE PERFORMING members of the group will be able to talk to local composers about their composing problems. They also will open some rehearsals to resident composers and music students who are interested in seeing the actual problems involved in the composition and performances of new pieces, according to Hervig.

The group will give performances of 20th Century masters, lesser known 20th century composers and performances by local composers decided by audition, Hervig explained.

Other musicians will be added to the group for concerts when works require more than seven performers.

James A. Dixon, associate professor of music and Director of University Orchestras, will be the group's advisor.

Harnagle and Thompson were unselected on the basis of academic and extra-curricular record, Memorperformance in ROTC, ROTC qualification tests and motivation toward a career as an Army officer.

The awards will be given to outstanding ROTC students who will be junior cadets next fall, provide for tuition, textbooks, fees and an allowance of $50 per month for two years.

Strict Curfew Will Be Kept At MacBride

A tough enforcement policy of hours at Lake MacBride State Park has gone into effect. Charles F. Hagen, park conservation officer, said.

The reason for the "get tough" policy was a rash of vandalism, thefts and rowdy parties, Hagen said. Summonses were issued to 49 persons in the park between the hours of 10:30 p.m. and 4 a.m. over the weekend.

"We have begged people to leave the park, to no avail," he said. "There is no reason why we should have to barricade the park and push people from the park."

Being in the park after hours is punishable by a $100 fine or 30 days in jail.

Oakland Signs Rams' Gabriel

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The Oakland Raiders of the American Football League said Thursday night they had signed Roman Gabriel, a quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams of the rival National Football League, to a 1967 contract.

The announcement further escalated the war between the two leagues, coming just days after reports that AFL teams were trying to raid NFL clubs in retaliation for the signing of Pete Gogolak by the NFL's New York Giants.

General Manager Scotty Stirling of the Raiders said Gabriel signed a three-year contract with an additional one-year option Monday in Oakland, agreeing to play for the AFL team starting in 1967. Other terms were not announced.

If the Raiders get Gabriel, he will be the first NFL star to be lured away by the younger league in the current battle.

The Raiders' announcement followed by hours the Rams' announcement that Gabriel had signed with them for 1966.

Cleveland Rally Tops Detroit, 8-4

DETROIT (AP)—Chuck Hinton's two-run single highlighted a five-run ninth inning that gave Cleveland an 8-4 victory over Detroit Thursday night.

Hinton's hit followed two walks and a fielder's choice that had loaded the bases with none out. Then, with the bases still loaded, relief pitcher Hank Aguirre uncorked a wild throw on Fred Whitfield's dribbler, permitting three more runs to score.

The Tigers, who scored only one run in the sixth after loading the bases with no one out, finally knocked Cleveland starter Sonny Siebert out in the eighth when Jim Northrup hit a two-run homer that tied it 3-3.

Siebert lashed a double to left in the third inning to set up the Indians' first run. Pedro Gonzalez, who had been hit by a pitch, reached third on the hit and scored on Chuck Hinton's sacrifice fly.

Pott Hits Eight-Under-Par 64 To Lead Oklahoma Golf By 4

OAKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Johnny Pott, a tour veteran from Gulf Hills, Miss., seized the Quail Creek golf and Country Club course with a record-tying eight-under-par 64 for a four-stroke lead Thursday in the $57,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament.

In second place with 68 were amateur Craig Metz, Bruce Devlin and Tom Weiskopf.

Pott's morning round led a bevy of golfers who broke par of the 7,130-yard course. He tied a course record set in the 1963 tournament by Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth, Tex. Edwards finished Thursday with a 74.

CARDING were Tony Lema, Texas Open winner Harold Henning, Johnny Allen and Lou Graham. At 70 were George Archer, Ray Floyd, Bert Yancey, Tommy Jacobs, Claude King, Terry Dill, Dean Refram and Butch Baird.

Two of the pre-tourney favorites — Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — ran into trouble. Nicklaus four-putted the first green from 20 feet then came charging back to carry to a one-under total to the 18th green. But Nicklaus' caddy cost him a two-stroke penalty at 18 and he finished with a 73. Player shot a 76.

THE PENALTY on Nicklaus came after his ball went into a bunker. The caddy picked up a rake and smoothed a footprint some 40 feet from the ball. U.S. Golf Association rules forbid any smoothing of the sand while the golfer's ball is in the trap.

Pott, who was 19th among the money winners on the PGA tour this year, used only 26 putts, with 11 in a superb five-under-par front nine. He hit 16 greens and was in the rough only twice. Pott hasn't won a tournament since taking the American Golf Classic in 1963, but he earned $50,896 last year.

Mantle's Bat Comes Alive As Yankees Charge Back

By JACK HANDB Associated Press Sports Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle likely never will catch Babe Ruth but he can pass Lou Gehrig on the all-time home run list before the 1966 season is over.

Mantle hit two homers in the same game for the first time since Aug. 12, 1964 Wednesday night when the New York Yankees bombed Los Angeles 11-6.

The two homers for a career total of 477, boosted Mickey into the No. 8 position on the all-time list, just behind Eddie Mathews of Atlanta, who has 479. Gehrig is next in line with 493. Of course, Willie Mays of San Francisco, already has set a National League record with 515 and is going after Ted Williams, Jimmie Foxx and Ruth although the Babe's total of 714 is way out there in outer space.

RALPH HOUK who has seen the Yanks bounce back with a 12-4 record since he resumed command as manager, is pleasantly surprised at the fine comeback of his $100,000 star, who was supposed to be a part time performer.

"If you had been Bill Rigney manager of the Angels would you have pitched to Mickey?" a reporter asked Houk.
 "If I was Rigney, I'd have walked him," said Houk.

Marichal Goes 14 Innings For 9th Straight Win, 1-0

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pinch hitter Bob Barton delivered a 14th-inning sacrifice fly that gave unbeaten Juan Marichal his ninth victory of the season as San Francisco edged Philadelphia 1-0 Thursday.

It was the fourth shutout of the season for Marichal, who went all the way and gave up only six hits. The right-hander now has allowed just one run in the last 42 innings and has an earned run average of 0.59.

Jim Davenport started the Giants' winning rally with a one-out triple. The drive to right center got past Johnny Callison, who was trying for a backhand, shoestring catch.

Hal Lanier walked and Jesus Alou, batting for Marichal, also drew a walk, loading the bases. Barton, batting for Don Landrum, flied out to Tony Gonzalez.

Wilson, who has won five of his last six decisions, allowed only one runner to reach third until the ninth. He struck out nine and walked only one. Jimmie Hall's homer in the ninth, followed by singles by Bob Allison, Bernie Allen and pinch hitter Don Mincher gave the Twins their runs.

Rico Petrelli gave Wilson all the cushion he needed when he led off the first with his eighth homer. The Red Sox shelled Minnesota ace Mudcat Grant with a four-run second and Wilson was in command the rest of the way.

St. Louis Rally Beats Cubs, 3-2

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Tim McCarver's bases-loaded single climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth inning that gave St. Louis a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night.

Dick Ellsworth had held the Cards to six hits and had a 2-0 lead provided by Byron Browne's two-run homer in the fifth when Julian Javier opened the ninth with a single.

After Mike Shannon beat out an infield hit, Ron Santo's throwing error on Curt Flood's bouncer allowed Javier to score and Shannon to go to third. Orlando Cepeda followed with another single, scoring Shannon with the tying run.

Ferguson Jenkins relieved Ellsworth and gave an intentional walk to Phil Gagliano, loading the bases, and McCarver followed with his winning single.

Pirates Outlast Houston, Win 3-2

HOUSTON (AP)—Manny Mota's home run in the third inning and Pete Mikkelsen's tight relief pitching carried Pittsburgh to a 3-2 victory over Houston Thursday night.

The Pirates struck for single runs in each of the first three innings against Astros' starter Dick Farrell. Houston got one back in the third and then knocked out Steve Blass in the eighth but the rally was cut short by Mikkelsen.

"Mickey is swinging the bat both ways better than I have seen him in two or three years," said Houk. "He has no pain and he is running good. The thing that gives me such a good feeling is that he does not buckle with pain in the knee or flinch from a shoulder pain when he takes a good swing left-handed."

"It is amazing the way he can throw for a fellow that just had an operation on his shoulder before spring training. He doesn't have any rifle out there but they can't take advantage of him any more and go from first to third on an ordinary single."

"Did you notice the way he nailed Bob Rodgers? I think it kind of shook him up."

RODGERS, catcher for the Angels, singled to center in the sixth but was out trying to stretch it on a throw from Mantle to Clete Boyer.

Although Mantle is hitting only .273, he picked up 26 points with a perfect three for three and plus two walks against the Angels. With a man on second, a first base open, he was intended to walk in the eighth as the crowd boomed.

"If you had been Bill Rigney manager of the Angels would you have pitched to Mickey?" a reporter asked Houk.
 "If I was Rigney, I'd have walked him," said Houk.

Boston's Wilson Stops Twins, 7-2

BOSTON (AP)—Earl Wilson blanked the Minnesota Twins for eight innings and survived a ninth-inning uprising Thursday as the Boston Red Sox won 7-2 for their seventh victory in the last eight games.

Wilson, who has won five of his last six decisions, allowed only one runner to reach third until the ninth. He struck out nine and walked only one. Jimmie Hall's homer in the ninth, followed by singles by Bob Allison, Bernie Allen and pinch hitter Don Mincher gave the Twins their runs.

Scalise Urges New Council To Get Tough

DES MOINES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scalise urged his new Consumer Advisory Council Thursday to take a no-holds-barred look at "all the facets of consumer affairs throughout the state."

About 50 persons attending the first meeting of the group heard Scalise urge the committee to find out what the problems are and recommend solutions.

He said the committee's recom- mendations will be used in draft- ing bills to be introduced in the 1967 legislature for consumer pro- tection.

SCALISE URGED committee members to follow through by working for passage of the bills. "There isn't anybody who lobbies for the general public at large. That's what I want you to do," he said.

Committee members will be paid nothing and must pay their own expenses. Scalise said his staff will provide what help it can, since the committee can hire no staff of its own.

STATE AUDITOR Lorne Wor- thington is chairman of the group. Members divided into sub-com- mittees to study 10 general areas, but Scalise said they should not hesitate to go outside these fields.

The areas outlined by Scalise for study are automobiles; medi- cal and dental service; credit, finances and lending; home im- provement; insurance; land de- velopment; agriculture; packag- ing; sales promotions and pub- lications, and securities.

Subcommittee chairmen were not named immediately, and re- ports are not expected to be re- leased until early December.

Holy Finals Week!

Batman, Robin To Hit Here

By NANCY DeDAKIS
Staff Batgirl

Holy Newsprint! None other than the Caped Crusader and Boy Wonder are coming to Iowa City Wednesday!

Batman's and Robin's pend- ing arrival, according to local officials, has caused a mass exodus on the part of the city's nasty, horrid, unsavory and un- pleasant characters, all of whom are unwilling to match wits with the Dynamic Duo.

Just a few of the dastardly villains of our city who have been missing from their loath- some, local lairs are Nasty Nic, alias the Red Devil, who de- vises all his cruelly clever schemes at a well-known local pub; Dopey Doug, alias the Sniper, whose specialty is cut- ting the last few pages out of other people's detective novels; and Pat Frankie, alias the Slug- ger, who is reported to be the ger, who is reported to be the parking meters. ORIGINALY, it was planned to bring Batman and Robin into town amid a flurry of parades, ceremonies, and the postpone- ment of finals week. However, these plans were not carried through at the request of the Dynamic Duo, who shun such displays of public adoration. They will, instead, slip gently into Iowa City un-noticed in the atomic powered Batmobile, which they will park on the steps of Old Capitol.

The Key to the city, which His Honor The Mayor had in- tended to present to them, will have a lock made to fit it and will be used on the front door of Stately Wayne Manor, which is being moved here stone by stone to a location, probably in a local parking lot, which is being kept secret.

WEDNESDAY, the second day of final week, was chosen by the Dynamic Duo as prime time to hit Iowa City. They have heard about the chaos that runs rampant and will try to sooth frazzled students' nerves.

Despite Batman's and Robin's desire for anonymity, they will make daily appearances in The Daily Iowan. Only in this news- paper will you be able to follow their harrowing, exciting and fantastic adventures. These are adventures with the Joker, Cat Woman, Penguin and other foul creatures, never before told and appearing here for the first and only times.

DON'T MISS a single, soli- tary day of them. You'll be dreadfully sorry and hate your- self if you do.

FILM COMEDIES

Peeping Tom Creeps About Every Spring

In spring a young man's fancy turns to . . . windowpeeking? "Yes," said John J. Ruppert, Iowa City Police Chief, Thursday.

Ruppert said that warm weather always seemed to bring an in- crease in the number of window peekers. The increase may be explained several different ways. The first, according to Ruppert, is that people leave their windows and shades open to let the warm spring breezes in. Also, the warm weather makes it more comfort- able for the windowpecker. The leaves on bushes and trees pro- vide a better hiding place for the peeping Tom.

Tuesday night the girls at Alpha Delta Pi sorority house re- ported to police that there was a man in a tree looking in the windows. He escaped before po- lice arrived.

SEVERAL housemothers for sororities reported Thursday that their girls would know just what to do if they saw a window peeker. Most of them would do as the police recommend and call the police department immediately, without arousing the suspicion of the peeker.

Ruppert said it was very im- portant to give the address and the exact location of the peeker and to try to get a description of the man.

A WINDOWPEEKER at some sorority houses may be in for more than he expected, accord- ing to comments from several housemothers. Comments ranged from, "I think the girls could handle him," to "There's always a club of some kind lying around."

Got A New Excuse?

Excuses, excuses, excuses. What this campus needs is new excuses.

This, at least, is the opinion of Ernest F. Andrews, assistant professor of journalism, who occasionally at examination time posts a list of old excuses for students who think their grades should be raised.

Andrews is head of the public relations sequence in the School of Journalism and head of the journalism honors program. In young middle-age, he admits he is not young enough to know everything, wherefore he invites his students to come up with excuses he hasn't heard.

Excuses

Here is the list of excuses he has already heard and will not honor:

1. There must be a mistake somewhere.
2. I have received no warnings and have relied on someone to tell me to do better.
3. I was not well at the time of the examination.
4. I know many members of my class whose work was not so good as mine but who received better grades. I was recognized among my classmates as a good student. Just ask any of them.

5. I was not well the night before the examination, or the night before that, when I would ordinarily be studying. I was not able to study at all.

6. This grade has ruined my chance to graduate.

7. This grade is too low to count in a required major course.

8. This grade has ruined my chance for a scholarship.

9. This grade made me mother very unhappy.

10. This grade made my father very unhappy.

11. This grade made me very unhappy.

12. This is the only course in which I've received a poor grade.

13. I think grades are wicked and I care nothing for grades. However, since I have to be the victim of this pernicious system, I am seeking a higher grade.

14. I live far away from the building and cannot get to class.

15. I have trouble finding a parking place and cannot attend class regularly.

16. I had to get married last weekend.

17. My house blew up.

18. Several students copied from my examination paper but received higher grades than I did. I should have a higher grade, too.

19. I studied this subject from a broad and philosophical point of view. I was unable, therefore, to answer questions demanding specific or precise knowledge.

20. I spent my days reviewing all the wrong things.

21. I broke my glasses.

22. The instructions said the answers had to be typed and triple-spaced. I do not own a typewriter. Anyhow, it doesn't have triple spaces.

23. I interpreted your questions differently from anybody else and I should be graded in my interpretation of them.

24. The examination did not cover everything in the whole course and I knew all the answers to all the questions that were not asked.

25. I have a job, so I cannot be expected to know as much as others know.

26. I got mixed up about the examination schedule and couldn't do much in the time left after I arrived; besides, I thought the exam was another day.

27. I commute weekends to New York to edit a Chinese newspaper.

28. I don't want to go to Viet Nam.

29. The coach needs me.

30. All I really need is a grade good enough to withdraw.

Two Student Awards Presented By Bowen

The Hamilton Watch Award and the Mullan Award were presented to two University students this week by Pres. Howard R. Bowen.

Robert W. Van Sant, EA, Cedar Falls, received the Hamilton Watch Award for high scholarship and outstanding activities. Richard E. Davis Jr., A4, Fort Dodge, was given the Mullan Award in recognition of leadership and loyalty to the University.

A mechanical engineering major with a 3.6 GPA, Van Sant was selected by the University scholarship and awards committee. He will graduate with "distinction" in June and has received a National Aeronautics and Space Administration fellowship for graduate study in thermodynamics and heat transfer.

Davis is outgoing president of Union Board and was appointed by Pres. Bowen to the Committee on Student Life. The $75 Mullan Award he received is given annually in honor of Don G. Mullan, a 1908 University law school graduate. Davis will work toward a master's degree in college administration, while serving as a graduate assistant at the union in the fall.

Mason City Fire Due To Cigarette In A Bird's Nest

MASON CITY — Firemen know who started a blaze which damaged a Mason City dwelling Thursday, but it's doubtful the culprit ever will be brought into court.

Flames damaged a corner of a second-floor apartment occupied by James Lockrem and Lowell Lande, two Mason City Junior College students from Thompson.

Authorities said the fire was started when a bird picked up a burning cigarette and carried it to a nest on the house.

Truck Collides With Train; 1 Killed In Southwest Iowa

IMOGENE — Workmen expect to have the Norfolk and Western main line here cleared by early Saturday of wreckage strewn about in a train-truck collision Thursday morning.

The truck driver died in the crash in this southwestern Iowa town, and six train crewmen were injured, only one of them seriously enough to require hospitalization.

Vehicle traffic was expected to resume by Friday on Iowa 184, which also was blocked by wreckage of a derailed diesel unit, a passenger car and five boxcars.

Killed when his loaded sand truck was hit by the northbound train was Orval E. Strong, 45, Malvern.
