Complaints About Intersection Are Told

By JIM KIPP
Staff Writer

Five of six spokesmen for the four businesses on the corners of the South Riverside Drive and West Benton Street intersection say the intersection is congested and needs to be improved.

The sixth spokesman said he wished the traffic carried by the two streets would double in volume because it would generate more business.

The intersection was included in the Interim Traffic Plan accepted last month by the Iowa City council.

Listed In Phase 2

The intersection was listed in Phase Two of the plan, under the heading of "most urgent physical changes." However, the phase is the most costly of the three phase program, and could be one of the last phases to be implemented.

The corner businesses are three service stations and one loan office.

Descriptive comments received in a survey last week concerning the intersection ranged from "pretty bad" to "nothing serious."

All agreed that the peak traffic hours were from 7 to 9 a.m., noon, and from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

"It's impossible to make a left turn to go west on West Benton St. from South Riverside Drive at noon or around 5 p.m.," Mrs. James Blood, 407 N. Dubuque St., said. Mrs. Blood is a secretary at Globe Loan Co., 710 S. Riverside Dr., on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Right Turn Ignored

Another complaint Mrs. Blood had was that no one paid any attention to the right turn arrow on northbound South Riverside Drive.

"Everyone wants to go straight," she said.

The problem with the green arrow is one not easily solved. During a timed sequence, a green arrow allows right turns to eastbound West Benton Street, and left turns to southbound South Riverside Drive.

The problem is with South Riverside Drive. There are two lanes northbound, and left turns are allowed to westbound West Benton Street.

For example, a northbound driver, approaching the intersection, notices traffic attempting left turns to westbound West Benton Street. Wanting to travel straight, he proceeds in the outside lane. The traffic signal changes from green to amber to red, and he is the first to reach the red light. The green right turn arrow sequence flashes, but no one can turn right because he wants to go straight. Thus the purpose of the green arrow is defeated.

Drivers Cheating

Another secretary at the loan office, who declined to be identified, complained about an L-shaped driveway and parking area. It extends from the front of the office on South Riverside Drive to a side exit on West Benton Street.

The secretary said motorists were cheating the light by turning left in at the front drive and exiting at the side drive on West Benton Street.

It is not only illegal, but dangerous to the customers and employees who use the parking area, she said.

The worst offenders, she added, were college students.

"I was almost hit by two young fellows who used our driveway last week while I was backing out my car," she said. "They tooted the car's horn and wouldn't move until I got out of the way."

Called 'Dangerous'

Larry's Phillips 66 Service sits on the southeast corner at 804 South Riverside Dr.

Attendant David Holcomb, Rural Route 2, said the intersection was "dangerous."

Both Holcomb and another attendant, Vernon E. Rogers, 630 E. Jefferson St., said the green turning arrow was the main problem at the intersection.

Asked if the peak traffic hours hurt business, Holcomb replied, "Definitely. Every day people say they would stop more often, but they can't get in or out."

"It depends on the direction the motorist is driving," he said. He added that during certain hours it was hard to make a left turn in to the station.

Likes Traffic

The comment of "nothing serious" was Clarence L. Poggenpohl's, owner and operator of the Big Ten Sinclair Service, 731 S. Riverside Dr., on the northwest corner.

"I like the heavy traffic," he said. "It brings in a lot of business. We are always open, and the only time traffic isn't heavy is from 2 to 4 a.m."

Poggenpohl's only traffic complaint concerned a driveway and a nearby restaurant on South Riverside Drive.

"When the restaurant is open, cars will use a connecting driveway to the restaurant that extends behind my station and out to West Benton Street," he said. "The drivers are usually going too fast and kick up a lot of gravel and dust."

He said the driveway was usually barred when the restaurant was closed to keep motorists from using the driveway as a short cut to West Benton Street from South Riverside Drive.

Solutions Suggested

What about possible solutions to the congested intersection? Michael A. Powells Jr., of Barton-Aschman Associates, Chicago, in the Interim Traffic Plan recommended four improvements for the intersection:

Widen the north and south approaches on South Riverside Drive, provide channelization islands on South Riverside Drive, widen the east and west approaches on West Benton Street, and paint channelization on West Benton Street.

Three of the persons interviewed said they thought painting arrows on the pavement and putting up signs would call attention to the green turning arrows and thus improve the intersection.

However, one person commented that painted arrows or signs wouldn't help the situation so long as the intersection remained its present width.

Two persons from two service stations said the widening of the intersection and the subsequent loss of property wouldn't hurt their businesses. One person said that the improvements gained would be well worth the loss of a little frontage. However, the loan office would lose its front driveway and a portion of its much-needed parking area.

All agreed that the only solution would be to follow Powells' recommendations.

Reports Say Pilots Not To Be Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has received word through diplomatic channels that there are no immediate Communist plans to try captured American airmen as war criminals.

But the White House said Monday that "We aren't exactly sure what this means."

"We are watching it very closely and beyond that I cannot go," said Bill D. Moyers, the President's press secretary.

Moyers told newsmen that the information from North Viet Nam had reached Johnson while he was on a speaking tour of the Midwest last Saturday.

Cable Received

The press secretary did not go into details, but said the intelligence conveyed to Johnson through diplomatic sources "is consistent" with what the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) was told Sunday.

CBS received a four-word cable Sunday from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh saying: "No trial in view."

Ho's message was in reply to a CBS inquiry of last Thursday, asking whether he had decided to place the captured Americans on trial.

Moyers declined to identify the diplomatic sources through which Johnson received his information.

At the State Department, press officer Robert J. McCloskey said: "Naturally we welcome any indication that American prisoners will not be tried on false charges that they are guilty of war crimes."

Followed Warnings

The no-trial-soon report which followed a series of public warnings in this country against subjecting American prisoners to trial on charges of being war criminals, received further support from Czechoslovakia.

The official Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported Ho had given a new hint of leniency toward the American captives in a talk to international journalists in Hanoi.

The agency quoted the Communist leader as saying North Viet Nam had behaved in a humane manner and would continue to do so in connection with the American airmen.

CTK quoted Ho as saying the main criminals were not the American pilots but the persons who sent them there — Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"These are the ones who should be brought to trial," the agency quoted Ho as saying.

U.S. Marines Hunt Division

SAIGON (AP) — With support from B52 bombers and naval guns, U.S. Marines hunted along North Viet Nam's border Monday for trails of a North Vietnamese army division believed shattered and on the run for sanctuaries back north, and in Laos to the west.

A force of about 450 Communist regulars, which mauled a Marine company with searing fire out of thick jungle cover Sunday, vanished into the countryside. The Marines sent back 71 wounded men — nearly half the company — and an unreported number of dead from the sharpest fight yet in Operation Hasting's 11 days of action.

While the action along the border dwindled, the Viet Cong, prodded by their leadership last week to fight harder, struck within earshot of Saigon, picking off a U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighter 20 miles outside the capital and opening up machine gun and mortar attacks on a string of nine lightly-manned government outposts in a crescent 16 to 25 miles to the south of it. Government spokesmen reported no casualties among the defend-

Graduation Announcements

Graduation announcements will not be available until Thursday at the Alumni Association House. The delay is due to production difficulties.

EDWIN O. REISCHAUER RESIGNED Monday as U.S. ambassador to Japan, and President Johnson named U. Alexis Johnson to the Tokyo post. Johnson is due to arrive at his post in six to eight weeks to relieve Reischauer, who is returning to academic life at Harvard this fall.

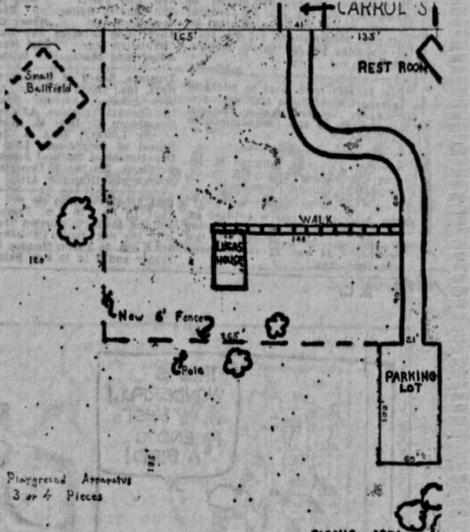

WEST BRANCH OFFICIALS and businessmen will go to Washington today to argue for modification of plans for the Herbert Hoover historic site and seek more funds to reimburse 30 homeowners and four businesses that would be displaced by the proposed park area for which $1.6 million has been appropriated.

PRICES ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE were beaten down Monday in the worst loss since the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Prices slumped steadily after a mixed start and the decline accelerated as the session wore on. The prices reached their lowest point in the final 45 minutes of trading. The Dow Jones average skidded 16.32 to 852.83.

PRIME MINISTER HAROLD WILSON won Monday the first of two battles with opponents who challenged his leadership because of his austerity policies. Labor party lawmakers reluctantly accepted Monday Wilson's explanation for slashing the country's spending. Today Wilson hopes to put down a Conservation Party petition expressing no confidence in the government.

TWENTY-SEVEN BELGIAN CHILDREN and six adults were killed Monday when their bus plunged off a high autobahn bridge in Germany. Ten other children who survived the accident are listed in critical condition and hospital authorities said several may not live. The victims were all between 10 and 17 years of age.

THE HOUSE COMMERCE COMMITTEE approved unanimously Monday an expanded version of Senate-passed auto safety legislation. The bill covers new and used vehicles and requires federal standards for 1968 model cars, buses and trucks. The 26 to 0 vote climaxed 15 closed committee sessions held over a six-week period.

Air Strike Mediators Stalemated; Congress Enters Negotiations

House Begins Debate Over Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House defeated delaying moves by Republicans and Southern Democrats and plunged into debate Monday on a wide-ranging civil rights bill containing open housing, jury selection and anti-terrorism provisions.

A 200 to 180 roll-call vote before packed galleries enabled backers of the Administration-sponsored measure to bring it directly to the floor, bypassing the House Rules Committee which has scheduled no hearings on the measure since receiving it June 30.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, (D-Mass.), then brushed aside a second delaying move, in the form of a point of order by Rep. John Bell Williams, (D-Miss.). It charged that the Judiciary Committee had failed to comply with the technicalities of House rules in compiling a report on the bill.

Voting on the rights measure, and especially on key provisions, is not expected until late this week or next week.

Some 20 Republicans ignored a plea by GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and voted in favor of the resolution bringing the bill to the floor. They joined with 180 Democrats to defeat a coalition of 75 Democrats and 105 Republicans.

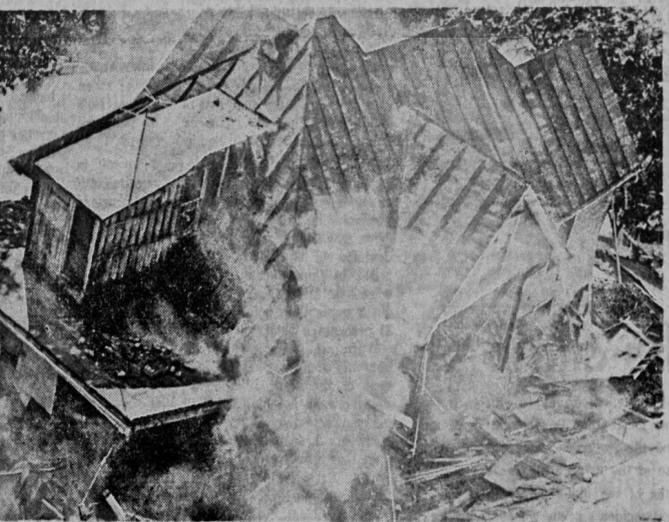

Grand Jury Studies Riot In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury was called Monday to examine reasons and remedies for racial violence that flared across Cleveland's Negro slums for five nights last week before police and National Guardsmen enforced uneasy peace.

The special session of the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury was set for this morning and the prosecutor began immediately to summon witnesses.

Saturday and Sunday nights were quiet, but Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetler, Ohio National Guard commander, said after an hour-long morning conference with Mayor Ralph S. Locher:

"There will be no reduction in the guard today. We will have to assess the situation as time goes along, on a day-to-day basis. It's on the downhill grade."

Grand Jury Hears Speck Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The state took its evidence against Richard Speck, 24, to a grand jury Monday in the slayings of eight student nurses. But the panel's decision was not expected before Tuesday.

"I have presented the case to the grand jury and I cannot say what the grand jury is going to do," State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward told a news conference.

Ward said he expected a jury decision to come Tuesday, "through some court."

Ward had said he would seek murder indictments against Speck in each of the eight deaths.

Speck, an itinerant seaman and ex-convict, is held on a charge of murdering one of the victims, Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind.

Miss Davy is thought to be the first of the nurses killed July 14 in their townhouse dormitory.

Speck was formally arrested in the emergency room of Cook County Hospital July 17 after the doctor treating him for self-inflicted cuts recognized him.

Ward told the news conference that two physicians had examined the sole survivor of the massacre, Corazon Amurao, 23, a Philippine exchange nurse, and found her to be suffering from extreme exhaustion.

While the grand jury was in session, Philippine authorities continued their fight to interview Miss Amurao, who has been kept in virtual seclusion.

City Asks For Plum Grove Use

Iowa City's request to use a portion of Plum Grove Acres for park purposes will be considered by the State Conservation Commission Aug. 2 and 3 at Storm Lake, according to Ed L. Bailey, director of parks and recreation.

Bailey presented a proposal for the joint city-state use of the state owned land to conservation officials in Des Moines last Friday.

Access to the 3.28 acre site is gained from Carroll Street off Kirkwood Avenue in the south central portion of the city.

Bailey told the commission that the city would like to fence off the south and west open areas to create a neighborhood playground.

Bailey Recommends

He also recommended that lock gates be installed at the west entrance off Diana Court at the present Carroll Street entrance.

The park should be locked at night, Bailey said. At present, the park area is completely open and access can be easily gained to the home of former Governor Lucas.

Bailey said the city would be willing to provide the necessary fencing for the park. In addition, he said, the city would mow and maintain the entire park area.

"The proposed use would be primarily as a neighborhood playground with a minimum of equipment and no planned programmed use," Bailey's formal statement to the commission read.

Area Could Have

"The picnic area could have two or three picnic tables, trash cans, and perhaps two mounted picnic grills. This would be of value not only to local users, but also to bus loads of visitors to the historic site. Rest rooms are already on the site."

The Park Security Police would check the home and park area each night, Bailey said.

He told the commission that present park usage provided more land than was necessary to adequately set off the former governor's home.

"It seems a shame that this large area is denied better use from the taxpayers," he said. "This is a good opportunity for two governmental agencies to display cooperation in development of a public area for a neighborhood park and playground."

Bailey concluded to the commission that if it were not receptive to the joint use proposal, then it would be "entirely up to the commission to further develop this area on its own for public use. It represents an investment of the taxpayers dollars, and they should derive some direct benefits and use of such a fine area."

The last war

THE WAR TO END ALL WARS. That's what President Johnson thinks the war in Viet Nam will be, if the United States wins.

It seems, however that we have heard this said about other wars, and we see little evidence that Johnson's prediction will be the one to come true.

Johnson called the war a test of whether aggression and guerrilla warfare will engulf Africa and Latin America as well as Southeast Asia. A victory in Viet Nam, the President thinks, will discourage other communist revolutions forever, and there would no longer be any need for the United States to push the communists out.

Does Johnson mean that the people of Africa will merely resolve themselves to racist governments? We hardly think this is likely. Africans, as well as South Americans, will never learn to accept this sort of life, and the easiest and most natural thing for them to turn to is communism.

Communist revolutions for the most part will turn out to be disillusioning to their leaders, as Johnson points out is the case in Cuba. But even then, failure of the United States to cooperate with communist countries results only in alienation of the country, lessening the chances of it ever turning pro-United States.

The countries that Johnson cites that have rejected communism have done so not because of the United States' efforts, but in spite of them. They rejected communism because they could see that they wouldn't like it; they didn't wear the blindfold toward communism that the United States would have preferred they had worn.

It's strange that Johnson doesn't seem to realize that the countries he feels we must spend our greatest efforts on to fend off communism are the ones with the most anti-communist governments — governments that will deny their people anything to keep the country free of communists.

But before we accuse Johnson of being naive, we must remember that a congressional election year is coming up, and that the President has an obligation to the party which he must not neglect; Americans will be relieved to hear that the Vietnamese war will be the last one we will fight, and many will be encouraged to vote democratic. They will forget (or so Johnson hopes) that they have heard this claim before.

So rather than accuse Johnson of being naive, we will regard his "last war" statement as another Johnsonian political tactic, and will accuse him instead of playing politics with the lives of our soldiers.

Tickets, anyone?

THIS THURSDAY NIGHT, the Union Board and Central Party Committee will jointly present the Four Freshmen in concert. This concert is something unique here; it represents the first time students have sponsored big-name entertainment during the summer session, and the future of this summer concert idea depends largely on the success of this first try.

So far, ticket sales haven't been going very well. A deficit will have to draw from the funds of both groups, so a loss at this concert would mean a loss of entertainment in the future.

A bit of support from students now will make future entertainment prospects here brighter. Besides, you might get a good time out of it for your money.

Lust, revenge in McQueen role

By NICK MEYER
For The Iowan

Time has shown us the indestructibility of the revenge story. From "Hamlet" through "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," revenge has proven itself a most sure-fire material for plays, and novels and films. Having shared with the hero the original outrageous act, the reader or viewer thirsts with him for vengeance, whether it be on a partner named Dangers, an uncle named Claudio, or even on three no good cowboys.

Revenge is not the main theme of Harold Robbins' lengthy bestseller, "The Carpetbaggers." That book, which is very loosely hung on the life of off-beat billionaire, Howard Hughes, is in reality 800 pages of every sexual encounter its author could dream up, stopping short only of sodomy. (The rest, however, is all there: incest, adultery, sadism, masochism, homosexuality, lesbianism, pre-marital, marital, etc. — all are to be found in abundance.)

Joseph E. Levine has made this — this whatever it is — into a film already. In it, as in the book, we meet Nevada Smith as an old man, (Alan Ladd in his last role), friend to Jonas

Cord, Sr., and male governess to his son, Jonas Cord, Jr. — the Hughes-like personage who binds all the sex together. The book is built on many flashbacks (not included in the film version), and one of these, "The Story of Nevada Smith," a novella in itself, is most definitely about revenge. This is the story Joseph E. Levine has decided would make another film. And it sort of does.

Pursuit Described

Of course, if Nevada Smith is an old man in 1920, taking care of young Jonas Cord, Jr., he was a young man during the latter half of the 19th century, and living in the west, the story of his life is going to be a Western. The first part of it, resting as it does, on the old revenge motif, is not uninteresting. His real name is Max Sand, and his white father and Indian mother are brutally murdered one fine day by three men whom Max vows to track down and kill. Even the Robbins novella was too long to film in its entirety, and screenwriter Hayes (who also adapted "The Carpetbaggers"), was forced to excise some of the more colorful episodes in Max Sand's history, including the one in which he works as a bouncer in a New Orleans whore house, (more sex, see?). There is plenty left to film, however. Almost two and a half hours, as it traces Max's relentless pursuit of the three bestial men to its triple climax. It begins with his parents' murder, and it follows him all over the west as he learns to shoot from a gun salesman (young Jonas Cord Sr., by coincidence, well played by Brian Keith), learns to read from an improbable Indian dance hall girl in Abilene (improbably played by Janet Margolin — of "David and Lisa" fame), goes to prison in the swamps of Louisiana just to be with one of his victims, played by Arthur Kennedy, and then escapes to join the gun service of another victim, Karl Malden, having slain the other two. He meets a kind Mexican girl (Suzanne Pleshette), and an understanding priest, (Raf Vallone, wasted), but neither is able to sway him from his self-appointed mission. Sand himself, by the way, is played in a wooden fashion by Steve McQueen.

Perhaps McQueen is the cause of the film's failure. He belongs to that school of "don't-show-it-feel-it" acting, which forbids him to communicate any emotion, but allows him to sleepwalk through his vengeance with his mouth hanging open half the time. Although the viewer may be inclined to give him the benefit of the doubt for the first hour or so (idly supposing that beneath his bland exterior, seething passions and boiling hatreds are at work), after that time, the woodenness is just too boring to make any difference, submerged emotions or not.

Scriptwriting Poor

The fault also lies with scriptwriter Hayes for not giving Smith more explicit opportunities and lines to display his feelings. Hamlet, after all, is a fascinating character; among other things he vacillates wildly between blood-thirsty lust and exasperating indecision. Not so Max Sand/Smith. No such subtlety plagues him. As portrayed by Mr. McQueen, he goes through his vengeance like an automaton.

Henry Hathaway has directed the whole thing in a seemingly perfunctory manner. The camera is always conservatively placed, and the Owen Valley scenery is lovely to look at, but you've seen everything here before in terms of characterizations and confrontations, and you've seen it done far better. Alfred Newman's music is as perfunctory and automatic as the direction, and just as unobtrusive as ever.

In short, while the idea of a revenge story is being set up, we may be interested in the proceedings, but when that revenge is carried out in such a lackadaisical, pedantic manner, and all the punches are (literally) telegraphed, I, for one, lose patience.

Motorbike deaths climb

More people are being killed on motorcycles, motorbikes or motor scooters than ever before — the majority in dry, clear, good driving weather.

According to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians, deaths rose from 700 in 1961 to more than 1,100 in 1964 — a 60 percent increase.

An article on motorcycle and motor scooter fatalities in Metropolitan Life's latest Statistical Bulletin showed:

In a substantial majority of the fatal motor-driven cycle accidents, the operators were committing traffic violations.

Reckless driving, according to studies made by the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles and the National Safety Council, is a major cause of the accidents.

Nine tenths of the motorcycle, motorbike or motor scooter accidents occur when driving conditions are termed "good."

About one tenth of those killed in these accidents are female.

The number of registered motor-driven cycles rose from 596,000 in 1961 to 985,000 in 1964 to nearly 1,288,000 in 1965.

Most North Viets prefer bombing

By ART BUCHWALD

LONDON — There has been a lot of emphasis on polls of late, particularly where the Viet Nam war is concerned. After bombing the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong, President Johnson announced that 75 per cent of the American people approved of what he had done.

Unbeknownst to most people a recent poll was taken in Hanoi by the North Vietnamese political pollster, Lu Ah Ris, and someone slipped it to me while I was in London. The results of the poll were very interesting.

Mr. Ah Ris revealed that 75 per cent of all the North Vietnamese said they did not like being bombed by American planes, 13 per cent said they didn't mind being bombed, and 12 per cent said they didn't know.

Sixty per cent of people asked said they would rather be bombed than strafed, 23 per cent said they would rather be strafed than bombed, and 17 per cent said they had no preference.

A large segment of those questioned said that, while they didn't agree with President Ho's domestic policies, they felt he was doing a good job in foreign affairs. At least 96 per cent replied yes when asked if they were happy with President Ho's handling of the war. The other 4 per cent turned up as refugees in South Viet Nam.

President Ho still has a good following in North Viet Nam. In answer to the question, "If elections were held tomorrow in Viet Nam, would you vote for Ho Chi Minh, Gen. Ky, President John, Gov. Romney, or Bobby Kennedy?" President Ho got 63 per cent of the vote.

But in the follow-up question, "If elections were held in 1972 . . ." Bobby Kennedy came out 2 percentage points over President Ho and 34 percentage points over Hubert Humphrey.

When asked if they thought President Johnson was doing a good job in Viet Nam, 98 per cent of the North Vietnamese felt he wasn't doing enough bombing of South Viet Nam. Two per cent said they "didn't know."

Seventy-three per cent of those questioned said they would have thought twice about supporting President Johnson if they knew he was going to bomb North Vietnamese cities. Twenty-three per cent of those interviewed said they saw no reason to go to the conference table now that all their oil supplies were burned up, and 7 per cent said Barry Goldwater's approach toward North Viet Nam was much more honest and straightforward.

When asked what they thought of the escalation of the bombing, only 6 per cent of the North Vietnamese thought it was a "good thing."

- (a) Good thing — 6 per cent.
 - (b) Bad thing — 32 per cent.
 - (c) Not sure, but probably bad — 59 per cent.
 - (d) Too early to tell — 3 per cent.
- The final question of the poll was what the average North Vietnamese felt was the most pressing problem facing Hanoi at this time.
- (a) Urban renewal — 2 per cent.
 - (b) Air and water pollution — 5 per cent.
 - (c) The move of large masses to the suburbs — 6 per cent.
 - (d) The draft — 3 per cent.
 - (e) The Seventh Fleet — 84 per cent.

New parachute aids in rescue

New York, July 25 — A new type of parachute, one that keeps fliers aloft long enough to be rescued, is being developed for possible use in Vietnam. The Insider's Newsletter reported today.

Bailing out of a falling plane, a pilot either opens a conventional parachute or a large balloon strapped to his back. Then a bottle of compressed propane fills the balloon, gradually halting the chutist's descent and gently lifting him to a height of about 5,000 feet — out of range of conventional ground fire.

The device, which is being manufactured by Raven Industries of Sioux Falls, S.D., has already been successfully tested, with cargo planes swooping down to snag the drifting balloons and reels the pilots aboard.

PETER G. SNOW Plans Argentine Trip

Snow To Go To Argentina For Research

Peter G. Snow, professor of political science, plans to follow up his book "Argentine Radicalism" with a year's research in Argentina this fall.

Snow said his book, published by the University Press last November, was principally a history of the most important political party in Argentina, the Radical Civic Union.

He said the party voided the aspirations of the middle class and offered the only alternative to oligarchy or the Peronistic type of dictatorship.

"Argentine politics have been mirrored in this party for the last 75 years," he said.

Snow plans to go to Argentina in September to do research in an attempt to explain why military coups occur in a country like Argentina.

Three weeks ago a military coup overthrew the leadership of the Radical Civic Union in a bloodless revolution.

Snow said these military takeovers had been occurring in Argentina at an ever-accelerating pace in recent years. This trend seems inconceivable in Argentina, which is atypical of Latin American countries, he said.

The high Argentine literacy rate, economic status and other characteristics of a stable system would seem to make such coups unlikely there, said Snow.

He has applied for a visa from the Argentine consulate, and, foreseeing no difficulty from the present Argentine regime, will leave with his wife and son in September.

Snow will stay in Buenos Aires, where his family will stay while he travels through Argentina in search of material for another book concerning the military coups.

He hopes to visit about 15 of the 23 Argentine provinces, reaching all but the southernmost part of the country.

Gen. Stilwell Feared Lost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Brig Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, son of World War II's "Vinegar Joe," the famed Burma Road general, was feared down at sea Monday in a plane missing since one of its two engines failed Sunday.

The aircraft carrier Yorktown, three destroyers, Coast Guard cutters, merchant ships and 20 planes pressed a massive search 700 miles out into the Pacific for Stilwell, commander of the Army's Green Berets.

Stilwell, 54, left San Francisco Saturday night for Honolulu as co-pilot on a DC3 being ferried to Thailand's air force.

He got permission to fly as far as Honolulu so that he could increase his instrument rating as a flier.

At 3:45 a.m. Sunday, 825 miles out over the Pacific, pilot Hal Grimes, 45, radioed that one engine had been shut off and he was turning back. The plane has not been heard from or sighted since.

Searchers looked for a 10-man inflatable life raft carried by the missing plane, a type of aircraft which has a good record for ditchings in the water.

The Coast Guard said Monday there had been no sightings and no trace of any wreckage. The missing plane's fuel supply would have been exhausted.

Grant Of $17,516 Encourages Regional Theatre Conferences

By GAIL LONGANECKER Staff Writer

Details of a federal grant of $17,516 will be discussed at a meeting of the executive board of the Iowa Community Theater Association Friday night in Waterloo.

The session, which will be held during the association's eighth annual convention at the Waterloo Playhouse Friday and Saturday, will consider the organization of one-day regional community theatre conferences at various locations in Iowa.

Although no definite plans have been made, John Ross Winnie, associate professor of television-radio-film and director of the program, said Monday he expected a minimum of four conferences to be planned.

All communities within the area of a regional conference will select representatives to attend. Winnie said he hoped interested persons in communities without theaters would also attend.

Each conference will be set up like a workshop-seminar to review current practices and developments in the community theatre and to provide information and instruction in community theatre development, operation, management, fund drives, play selection, costuming, design, lighting, sound, acting and directing.

Winnie estimated that the first conference would be held in October.

Program Is Needed

"If the community theatres in this state are to become important cultural and educational institutions within the community, a program must be developed that will enable the community theatre personnel to receive training, upgrading and a continuing program of theater education," Winnie said.

Winnie explained that many people in Iowa believed that there weren't enough cultural facilities in their communities and they desired an outlet for cultural and educational activities.

He added that community theaters could be the solution to this problem.

"We have three of the best community theaters in the country located in Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Council Bluffs, and there is some sort of theatre activity in 44 communities in the state. This is a surprisingly large number of theaters for a rural population," Winnie said.

University Gives One-Fourth
The University will provide 25 per cent of the total fund allocation for the community theatre conferences. Under the terms of the Higher Education Act grant, the conferences will be staffed by theatre consultants drawn from universities, colleges and Iowa community theaters, according to Winnie.

An advisory group, under Winnie's direction, will comprise Robert Ray, dean of the extension division; Arnold Gillette, professor of dramatic art; L. K. Boutin, Des Moines, president of the Iowa Community Theater Association; and Don Tescher, director of the Cedar Rapids Community Theatre.

Recreation Group Will Study Plans For Pool, Parks

The Iowa City Park and Recreation Commission will study plans for a Southeast Park swimming pool and go over master plans for three city parks at a meeting at 7:30 tonight in the Civic Center conference room.

Dee W. Norton, associate professor of psychology and commission chairman, said the commission would study plans for Southeast, Hickory Hills and City Parks.

"We also hope to study construction plans for the proposed tennis courts for City Park," Norton said.

Representatives from Ralph H. Burke, Inc., a Chicago engineering-architectural firm, will also attend the meeting. The firm has submitted preliminary plans for the three parks.

Previous plans were called unsatisfactory by the commission at a July 14 meeting. The proposed locations of some of the recreational facilities in City Park were called infeasible because of frequent flooding of the proposed areas. The location of the Southeast Park pool was also described as being too far from the park entrance.

Kissinger To Lecture Here Aug. 4

"Foreign Policy in a Nuclear Age" will be the topic of Henry A. Kissinger, author and a professor of government at Harvard University, in a lecture at 8 p.m. Aug. 4 in the Union Main Ballroom.

Originally scheduled earlier in the summer, Kissinger's talk will be a feature of the 1966 Summer Lecture Series and the 28th annual Fine Arts Festival. Tickets will not be required for the KISSINGER lecture, which will be open to the public.

Kissinger's book "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy" was the outgrowth of his work as study director of a group of experts organized by the Council on Foreign Relations. The book received a citation by the Overseas Press Club and the Woodrow Wilson Prize for the best book in the fields of government, politics and international affairs for 1958.

His book "The Necessity for Choice" was a nationwide best seller in 1961. His most recent book is "The Troubled Partnership: A Reappraisal of the Atlantic Alliance." He also wrote "A World Restored: The Politics of Observation in a Revolutionary Age."

Music Prof To Be Official Delegate

Staff Writer

Miss Mona Schallau, 17, and Steve Houghton, 17, have well represented Iowa City this summer by winning first place honors in several tennis tournaments. Miss Schallau won the state girls' high school championship May 14.

She followed this win with a doubles championship on July 1. Miss Schallau and her partner, Miss Nancy Osborne of Fort Sill, Okla., won the girls' 18-and-under doubles in the Missouri Valley Junior tennis tournament at Kansas City, Mo.

Three weeks later she won the singles and doubles title in the St. Louis Invitational tennis tournament. She again teamed up with Miss Osborne for the doubles crown.

Houghton won the Iowa Jaycees Junior tennis tournament at Des Moines July 9. By winning, he avenged his only loss this spring when Waterloo's Tom Gray defeated him for the state high school championship.

On July 17 Houghton won his second tournament when he took the Iowa District Closed Tournament at Ames.

Both Miss Schallau and Houghton are preparing for the United States Lawn Tennis Association's (USLTA) national tournament the first week in August.

Miss Schallau will compete in Philadelphia, Pa., and Houghton will play in Kalamazoo, Mich. for the USLTA crown.

Miss Schallau and Houghton have been playing tennis since they were seven.

Miss Schallau attributed her success to Iowa's tennis coach, Don Klotz.

Houghton said he also was helped by Coach Klotz and John Winnie, associate professor of television-radio-film.

When asked about their future plans in tennis, Miss Schallau and Houghton said they were only concentrating on their approaching senior year. However, they both hoped to play tennis in college.

Snook Told To Report For Army Induction

Gary Snook, former Hawkeye and Iowa City High School quarterback, may have to wait at least two years to see if he can play professional football.

The Iowa Selective Service headquarters in Des Moines said Friday that Snook has been ordered to report there Tuesday, Aug. 2, for induction into the Army for two years.

Snook is training with the NFL St. Louis Cardinals at Lake Forest, Ill., College.

SNOOK

At the end of the 1965 football season, Snook signed a bonus contract with the Cardinals. It was reported that he signed a three-year, no-cut contract that totaled over $200,000.

It is not known how the interruption for military service will affect the terms of his contract, except that the Cardinals must pay whatever specific bonus was stipulated.

Two weeks ago Snook was bothered by a knee infection that put him on crutches and forced him to quit workouts temporarily.

When Snook attended Iowa, he broke nearly every Hawkeye passing record. In 1964 he ranked third in the nation in passing.

Williams, Stengel Inducted To Baseball Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Ted Williams gently chided the baseball writers and Casey Stengel thanked everybody from Kankakee, Ill., to Shea Stadium Monday as they were formally inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame.

A record crowd of over 6,000 turned out at Cooper Park to listen to the morning ceremonies preceding the Hall of Fame exhibition game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Minnesota Twins. The Cards won 7-5.

Williams, 47, and a few pounds heavier than when he hit .406 in 1941, charmed the listeners, including the writers with whom he had often feuded.

"I find it difficult to say what is really in my heart," he said. "But I know it's the greatest thrill of my life."

"I received 280 odd votes (actually 282 of a maximum of 302) from the writers. I know I didn't have 280 close friends among the writers. I know they voted for me because they felt in their hearts, and some in their hearts, that I rated it and I want to say to them thank you."

Stengel wowed them as usual. "I want to thank the special committee for deciding that I was distinguished," said Stengel, "and the writers for mentioning my name. I've been in baseball from 1910 to 1966 and I never realized this place was so great."

Stengel, who had to retire as manager of the New York Mets last Aug. 30 after breaking his left hip, will be 76 Saturday and still is active as a vice president of the Mets.

"I want to thank Kankakee (where he broke in back in 1910) in the old Northern Association, and I am thankful I had baseball knuckles and couldn't become a dentist."

Stengel closed his talk with a boost for the Mets, his last love, whose home is Shea Stadium.

"I appreciate all those songs, poems and banners and especially the attendance," he said.

"Keep going to see the Mets."

SANDY KOUFAX IS SUFFERING the worst pain of his career in his arthritic elbow, his physician says, but bolstered by pain-reducing medication, Koufax keeps pitching. The pain has become so intense that his medicine has been increased from two to three pills a day and he recently had his first elbow injection of the season, Dr. Robert Kerlan said Monday.

WEST GERMANY GRABBED A 2-0 lead and defeated Russia 2-1 in a bruising semifinal of the World Soccer Cup Tournament Monday night at Liverpool, England. The Germans will meet the winner of tonight's semifinal between England and Portugal. The final will be held Saturday in London's Wembley Stadium.

UNITED STATES SKI CHAMPION BILLY KIDD recovering from ankle surgery, will not start in the world Alpine championships next month unless he returns to top form within the next nine days, his coach said Monday. Kidd, who was operated on in Denver, Colo., last April, turned in the worst performance of his international racing career in the men's giant slalom race at Farellones, Chile, Sunday. He finished 41st in a field of 96.

A FOURTH PLAYER, FLANKER BACK Pat Studstill, walked out of the Detroit Lions football training camp Monday in a salary dispute. Three other unsigned players, who have refused to take part in practice sessions, are defensive end Darris McCord, offensive guard John Gordy and offensive tackle Ted Karras. Each is drawing a $100 a day fine for missing workouts.

DIRECTORS OF THE Greater Dallas Open will be asked to change the name of the 1967 golf tournament to the Tony Lema Open. Charlie Edwards, tournament chairman of this year's tournament, said Monday he would make the recommendation at the Tuesday night board meeting.

Aviation Inspectors Probe Crash Which Killed Lema

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — The riddle of a golf course plane crash which killed internationally famous golfer Tony Lema, his wife and two other persons, was probed Monday by federal aviation inspectors.

Lema, 32, the 1964 Open champion who was known throughout the golf world as Champagne Tony, died in the flaming wreckage of a small twin-engine chartered plane that crashed Sunday evening at the edge of a lagoon near the seventh hole of the Lansing Sportsman's golf course.

A also killed were Lema's wife, Betty, 30, a former airline stewardess; the pilot, Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., and the co-pilot

Dr. George Bard, 41, of Kankakee, Ill.

The Lemas chartered the two-engine Beechcraft Bonanza after the 48th annual Professional Golfers Association tournament at Akron, Ohio, in which Lema tied for 34th place, and were en route to Crete, Ill., where Tony had planned to play in Monday's $12,000, one-day Lincolnshire Open.

Mrs. Mullen's husband, Dr. Wylie Mullen, who was waiting at the airport, said the plane made a swing around the field, but one or both engines cut out as it glided low over the nearby golf course, then restarted briefly.

A witness, Bud Dorton, said that as the engines died it was apparent the pilot would attempt a landing on the course. The pilot swerved to avoid a group of people standing in the plane's path. The plane tore up turf and bounded into the edge of the lagoon just beyond the seventh green, and burst into flames.

The bodies of the Lemas were being sent to San Leandro, Calif., their home town.

Indians 6, Senators 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fred Whitfield hammered two home runs Monday night, leading the Cleveland Indians to a 6-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Whitfield and Joe Azcue hit consecutive pitches from Mike McCormick that broke a 3-3 tie. Whitfield then hit his second leading off the ninth inning.

The Senators had tied it in the fifth inning on Bob Saveryne's homer, following a single by McCormick.

Cepeda Improves In Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Orlando Cepeda has turned out to be a giant among Cardinals, leading St. Louis in average and homers while moving into contention for the National League batting championship.

Cepeda hit at a .452 pace last week. He collected 14 hits in 31 tries, gained 16 points and advanced from sixth to fourth place among the NL hitters. Cepeda is only six points behind runner-up Willie Stargell. Matty Alou of Pittsburgh leads with a .347 mark followed by teammates Stargell at .337, and Roberto Clemente, the defending champion, .332.

Giants 2, Pirates 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal pitched San Francisco to two percentage points of the National League lead Monday with a six-hit 2-1 victory over the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the 16th victory for Marichal, who scored the winning run himself.

Pro Golfers Reopen Feud With PGA

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An old score has been reopened in the ranks of professional golf — the tour boys' running feud with the club pros — and there may be new wounds before the issue is settled.

The golf tourists, who play for some $4 million yearly and divide part of the rich television proceeds, want to run their own show without any dictation from the Professional Golfers Association. The PGA wants to hang on to what it's got.

"We had some spirited discussions here during the PGA Championship and the matter has eased considerably," said Max Elbin of Washington's Burning Tree course and president of the PGA. "Our next meeting with the players' committee is set for Aug. 8 at the Thunderbird in Madison, N.J."

The touring pros have asked that a new section at large be activated for tournament players.

A witness, Bud Dorton, said that as the engines died it was apparent the pilot would attempt a landing on the course. The pilot swerved to avoid a group of people standing in the plane's path. The plane tore up turf and bounded into the edge of the lagoon just beyond the seventh green, and burst into flames.

The bodies of the Lemas were being sent to San Leandro, Calif., their home town.
