Regents To Ask Legislature To Provide $55.5 Million

News in Brief

A DELICATE PIROUETTE in space, followed by a gentle "kick," has put the Lunar Orbiter spacecraft on a path only slightly less than perfect toward the moon said the Jet Propulsion Laboratory Friday. All it needs to reach an ideal position for entering lunar orbit, experts said Friday, is perhaps one more little nudge. Orbiter is designed to make low altitude photos of terrain where astronauts may land as it girdles the moon in an eggshaped path.

GOV. GEORGE WALLACE, reportedly seeking another major showdown with the federal government over school integration, said Friday he may ask for a state law "to protect the integrity of the school system." He called members of the legislature in for closed-door conferences.

THREE LONDON policemen were shot dead Friday in a massacre without parallel in more than 50 years of British crime. They were gunned down within sight of children playing in the streets of a quiet residential district of West London. Scotland Yard at once threw every available detective and uniformed policeman in West London into a giant manhunt.

Murder Suspect Wounds 4 In Gun Factory Cafeteria

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Screams of terror blotted out lunch-time chatter Friday as a man who had been sought for a murder burst into a factory cafeteria and began firing wildly with a revolver.

"This guy just let 'em go one after the other," said a witness. "He didn't stop."

Joseph Davis, 51, wounded three women and a man before he was himself fatally wounded by police. Only one of the wounded persons was reported in serious condition.

$1.7 Million Gifts Given To University

The University of Iowa has announced formal acceptance of $1,760,254 in gifts and grants from mid-June through July.

The total included $1,479,342 from federal sources and $281,385.54 from other sources. By purpose, the breakdown was $1,217,410.95 for research; $61 in training grants; $138,519 for scholarships and aid; and $404,734.59 for miscellaneous purposes.

Grants and gifts of $10,000 or more included 12 from the U.S. Public Health Service totaling $48,219. Three of these totaled $614,675. Projects include study of patient care involving a unit dose system, $274,601; diagnostic and prognostic techniques in cleft palate, $207,087; and a study of growth patterns and body composition of pigs, $132,987.

Three grants from the U.S. Office of Education totaled $264,547. Programs being supported include a therapy research program for the school-aged child who studies, $58,199; preparation of professional personnel in education of handicapped children, $156,950; and an NDEA institute for advanced study in economics, $49,398.

Four grants of over $10,000, totaling $211,396, were received from the National Science Foundation. They were for a study in the control of plant growth, $42,700; an institutional grant for scientific activities, $98,500; and graduate fellowships, totaling $59,000 and $11,196.

Rights Bill Slated For Debate Sept. 6

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders maneuvered the House passed civil rights bill around the Senate Judiciary Committee Friday and ticketed it for floor debate starting Sept. 6, the day after Labor Day.

Southern opponents, noting they had been overruled on previous attempts to block the committee bypassing strategy, made no effort to interfere this time.

Reduce Requests By $12.2 Million

DES MOINES (AP) — The 1967 legislature will be asked to provide $55.5 million for buildings — mostly at the state's universities and college — in the next biennium.

That is nearly $12.2 million less than the institutions requested, but is more than two and one-half times the $21.1 million appropriated for the two-year period ending next June 30.

The schools two years ago requested $51 million, and the Board of Regents cut this to $39 million before sending it to the legislature.

Requests this time totaled $67.5 million before the board started whittling.

Budget Cut

The University of Iowa asked for $32.5 million, and the board cut this to $25.2 million. Eliminated from the Iowa proposal were a Chemistry-Botany Building addition; a law center; a speech, dramatic art and television building; a zoology building and an out-patient wing at the psychopathic hospital.

Iowa State University requested a total of $24 million. The board reduced this to $20.4 million.

Eliminated were $1 million for remodeling and renovation of existing buildings, $750,000 for new intramural sports fields and buildings, $125,000 for land purchases and sidewalk construction and $300,000 for greenhouses. Cuts on various items included $850,000 chopped from a $4 million request for a new building for the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The State College of Iowa requested was carved from $10.5 million to $8.2 million by eliminating $650,000 requested for a new turbine for its generating plant, and by reducing other items.

Proposals Unchanged

Iowa School for the Deaf asked $385,000 and the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School requested $350,000. These proposals were $350,000. These proposals were not changed.

An attempt by some board members to approve the requests as set out by the schools failed.

Then most of the morning and part of the afternoon was spent in making reductions before the proposal finally was approved unanimously. It now goes to the governor, who may make another cut before submitting it to the legislature.

Take Up Rifles

Davis' shooting rampage took place in the company's clubhouse, a large cafeteria-recreation building for employees.

As word of the firing in the clubhouse reached the plant, where many of the employees are skilled marksmen, a few took up rifles and boxes of cartridges.

They slipped over toward the clubhouse to offer back-up assistance to police in case it was needed.

The civilians didn't get involved in the shooting, however.

Services Set For 2
Killed Near Hills

Funeral services will be held next week for two Johnson County residents who died Friday in a two-car collision about one mile north of Hills on Highway 218.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Frank Klein, 63, rural Tiffin, and Raymond Carmichael, 21, Riverdale. Highway Patrol officials said Carmichael had been driving north about 11 p.m. when his car swerved over the dividing line and struck a car driven by Mrs. Klein.

Funeral mass for Mrs. Klein will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday at St. Wenceslaus Church and burial will be at St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Requiem high mass for Mrs. Klein will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Wenceslaus Church.

Funeral services for Carmichael will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the George L. Gay-Oathout Chapel and burial will be in Memory Gardens.

Mitchell, who will speak on "The Revolution in Understanding," began his career with the New York Times in 1935 and worked in fields of journalism, broadcasting, advertising, film production and education prior to assuming the Britannica presidency in 1962.

A member of the faculty of the Columbia University Seminar on Public Communications, he is a director of the Foreign Policy Association-World Affairs Center, a former director of the American Textbook Publishers Institute, and a member of the Board of Associates of the National College of Education.

Kappa Tau Alpha, honorary journalism society, annually sponsors an address at the AEJ convention which is later published by the society in its journal.

The convention, for which Clark R. Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent for Cowles Publications, will be the banquet speaker, will be held Aug. 28 to Sept. 1 at the University.

Southern opponents, noting they had been overruled on previous attempts to block the committee bypassing strategy, made no effort to interfere this time.

$2.4 Million Appropriated For Art School

DES MOINES (AP) — A $2.4 million budget for expansion of art facilities at the University of Iowa was approved by the Board of Regents Friday, increasing by $899,000 budgets for the same facilities approved last November.

The State College of Iowa received a $2.5 million budget for expansion of art facilities at the University of Iowa was approved by the Board of Regents Friday, increasing by $899,000 budgets for the same facilities approved last November.

Plans are to build an art gallery, expected to cost $1,445,000, and an art building addition expected to cost $1,009,400. Bids for the first phase of its construction are expected to be taken next month.

Elwin T. Jolliffe, vice president for business and finance at the University, said the increase was necessary because the proposed buildings had been enlarged slightly, there have been building cost increases, and part of last year's estimate was based on inadequate information.

Federal Financing

The art gallery will be financed with a Federal grant of $346,553 and the balance from private gifts. The structure will be erected on the west bank of the Iowa River, north of the Art Building.

The Art Building addition, which includes some remodeling, will be paid for with a $600,000 state appropriation and $409,000 from two Federal grants.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., announced the action with no enthusiasm, predicting "a chaotic situation" when the measure reaches the House floor — which he said was not likely to be earlier than Thursday.

"My prediction is it will have an awful time in the House," Staggers said, adding he was not saying how he would vote.

Back-To-Work Bill For Mechanics OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — A back-to-work bill was approved Friday by the House Commerce Committee, giving Congress a chance to legislate an end to the airline strike next week if no voluntary settlement is reached.

The committee divided 17 to 13 on the measure by which 35,400 striking mechanics could be ordered back to their jobs on five airlines for as long as 180 days.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., announced the action with no enthusiasm, predicting "a chaotic situation" when the measure reaches the House floor — which he said was not likely to be earlier than Thursday.

Parking ban

NO MATTER WHAT THE IOWA CITY COUNCIL decides to do about traffic flow and parking, a Pandora's Box of troubles opens up to haunt the city fathers.

Recently, the council voted to ban parking on a number of streets to increase the flow of traffic. Parking is prohibited on both sides of Kirkwood Avenue from Clinton to Summit Streets, on East Benton Street from Riverside Drive to Dodge Street, on Linn Street from Highway 6 to East Benton Street, on Church Street from Dubuque to Clinton Streets, on Riverside Drive from Park Road south, and on the west side of Dubuque Street from Kirkwood Avenue to Court Street.

The city has emphasized traffic movement over parking, although parking appears to be the main problem for the city and the University. The streets where parking is to be removed are arterial streets and the parking ban will allow smoother traffic flow.

The problem of displaced parking spaces has not yet been taken care of, but the city is working on that. The city owns several lots immediately north of the civic center that it hopes to convert to parking area. If done this fall, some parking places would be created to handle a majority of those lost in the parking ban. The trouble is, the city needs the lots anyway, parking ban or not.

Some small business owners who will lose their only parking facilities are also going to be hurt. For them, on-street parking was their basis for business.

So the traffic will flow better, but there may be no parking at the destination. About half the traffic running around up town every day is in search of a parking place. Perhaps if more parking area was available, there might not be as much of a congestion of traffic clogging the streets in search of a parking place. — Nic Goeres

Showdown

A SHOWDOWN IS COMING in a small Mississippi town, and its outcome may well indicate what degree of success that state as a whole will have in civil rights.

Holly Springs is a town governed and controlled by whites, although it is three-fourths Negro. Civil rights workers, however, succeeded this summer in registering enough Negro voters to equal the number of white voters. Local elections take place next year.

In addition, local Negroes presented a petition to local governing officials, asking for increased Negro employment in the government, compliance with federal regulations to make federal funds available for education programs, Negro policemen and Negroes on the Selective Service Board.

The petition was ignored. The Negroes then boycotted the merchants in Holly Springs. Some of the stores are owned by the mayor, others are owned by influential whites.

The boycott has been effective; white merchants are losing business, and their tempers. Civil rights leaders claim that officials are now arresting boycott leaders on any possible charge in an effort to disrupt the boycott, and now it is merely a matter of who can hold out longest — the merchants, or the Negroes with their picket signs.

A Negro victory could well set an example for other Mississippi towns in the same situation, and put them well on the way to their long deserved rights. But the boycott's leaders are worried now; they are low on funds, and have made appeals to the University's Friends of SNCC, with whom they have had long-standing cooperation in the past.

We hope that people here will recognize the importance of this effort, not only to the people of Holly Springs, but of all Mississippi as well. — David Pollen

TWO YOUNG RESIDENTS from Stadium Park, Doug Newman, 11, and Gregory Swift, 8, report to Campus Security Lt. Roland E. Campbell that a car is parked illegally near the residence area. Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Newman of 402 Stadium Park, and Gregory is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swift of 403 Stadium Park.

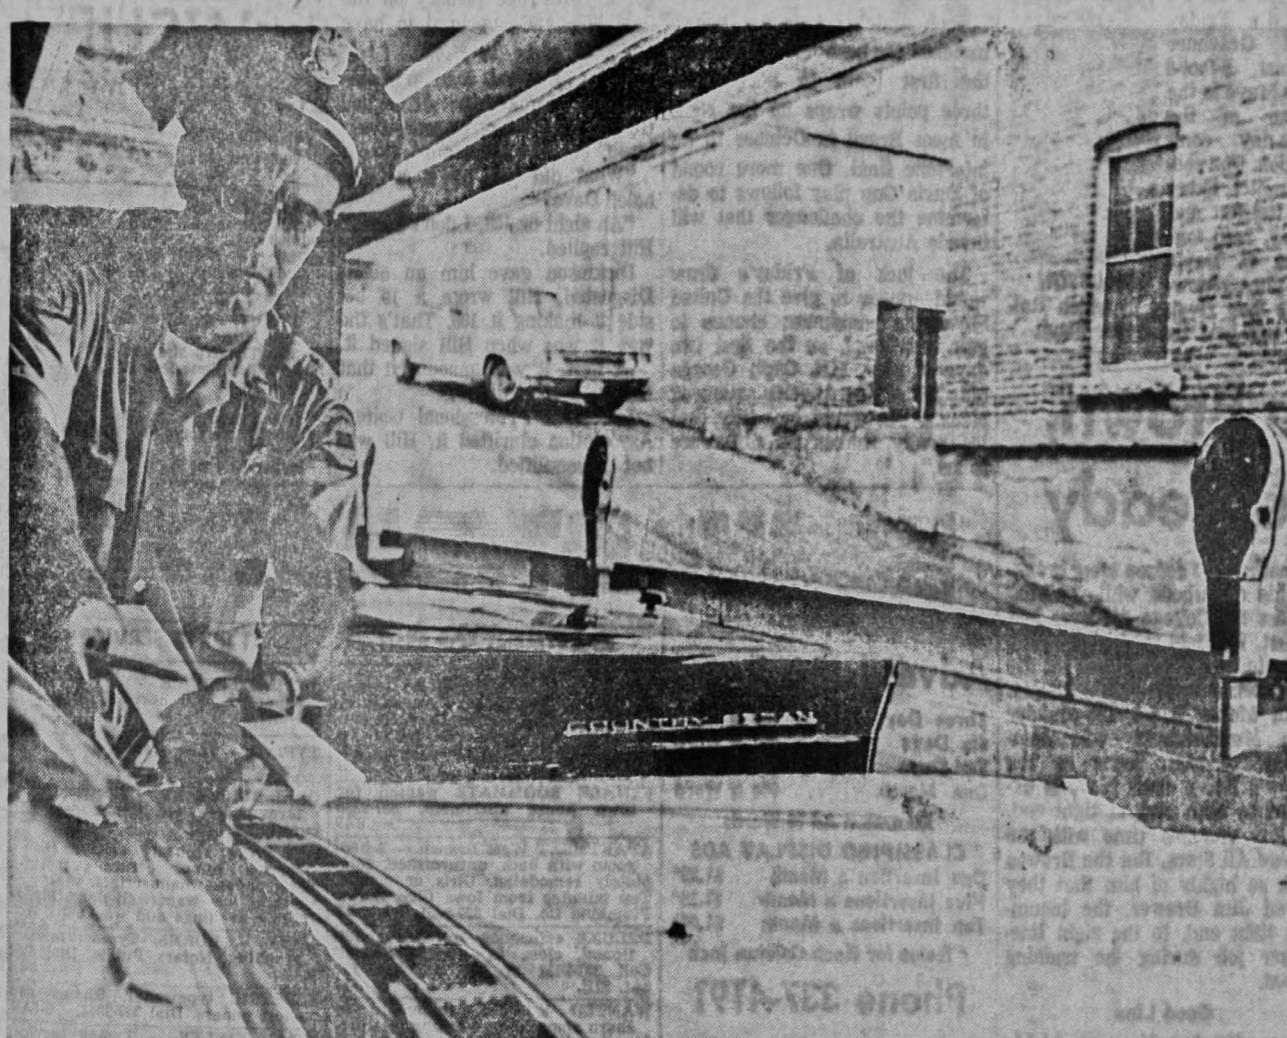

CAMPBELL ANSWERS a visitor's question over the telephone. This is a duty that makes the job of a Campus Security officer a service.

A PARKING METER is repaired by Campbell. The officers keep them in good order, and empty them regularly, besides enforcing them.

Campus Security Officer Enjoys Helping People

CAMPBELL GIVES A TICKET to a motorist who has left his car in the Parking Ramp longer than his meter allows. Although it is not all that the Campus Security Department does, giving tickets is a major part of the officers' duties.

Space Available

"Parking space is always available in some lots," he said. But people just aren't willing to walk a few blocks to their destinations."

Campbell said he wished persons would realize that Campus Security officers were there to assist them.

"If I had to describe my job — or the job of any campus policeman — in the word, I would have to use the word 'service.'

The Campus Security officer is constantly reminded of his responsibility to aid persons in need and to always be courteous, according to Campbell.

"Persons often come to us with problems entirely unrelated to police work. We listen to these persons and try to tell them where they can get help."

Officers Trusted

Campbell said that when persons came to Security officers with their problems, it was a sign that Security officers were trusted.

Campbell, who said he thoroughly enjoyed his work, told how he got into security work.

"Ten years ago, I was a full-time farmer," he said. "Because of an injury, I was forced to seek other employment. I applied for a job with the Campus Security Department because I had always been interested in meeting and helping persons."

Manages Farm

Campbell still manages a one-acre farm six miles west of Iowa City, near Oxford. He now considers security work his occupation and farming his hobby.

His sons Dale, 18, and Stanley, 15, do most of the farming now. Campbell and his wife, Charlotte, also have a daughter, Cheryl, 20.

Campus Security Chief John Hanna said Campbell's job was extremely difficult and required a "very versatile man."

Campbell's performance in this job has been excellent," Hanna said. "I am glad he is with us and wish every police department could have such a valuable man."

Omnibus Housing Passes In Senate, Moves To House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An omnibus housing bill setting up a special government mortgage insurance program for riot-torn areas was passed by the Senate Friday and sent to the House.

The Senate vote on the measure, second in a series of four wide-ranging housing bills, was 61 to 3. The negative votes were cast by Sens. Norris Cotton, (R-N.H.), Mildred L. Simpson, (R-Wyo.), and John J. Williams, (R-Del.).

Despite administration objections, the Senate adopted an amendment providing for $900 million of new authority for college dormitory loans over the next three years.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, (R-N.Y.), who contended that no loan funds are now available, raising the possibility that students may be turned away from colleges and universities in the fall of 1967 for lack of housing.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, (D-Maine), floor manager for the bill, insisted funds are available for the $30 million in loans planned for the current fiscal year and will be supplied.

USING THE TWO-WAY RADIO in his patrol car, Campbell tells the main office that he will look into a problem with a parking meter. All the Campus Security cars are equipped with such devices.

Chilean Teacher Named To Faculty

Julio Duran-Cerda, 31-year-old Chilean teacher and literary scholar, will join the faculty of the University in September. He is now at the University of Arizona as a visiting professor.

Duran-Cerda will be a professor of Romance languages at Iowa. He taught at the University of Chile for four years prior to going to Arizona in 1964. His teaching fields include Chilean, Spanish American, and Latin American literature, Spanish and philosophy.

The appointment and one resignation from the University faculty were reported to the State Board of Regents Friday.

The resignation was that of Demeter G. Fertis, associate professor of civil engineering, effective Aug. 31, to accept a position at the University of Akron.

New Regulation Set For Grad Students

To encourage candidates for doctoral and master's degrees to progress steadily toward completion of requirements after they have passed comprehensive examinations, the University has established new regulations to replace the former "projected registration" status.

For doctoral candidates, the new provision means that a student must pay regular fees as long as he is registered in the courses, seminars, research, and dissertation that are required for continuous registration by paying a minimum fee of $25 per semester, which grants library privileges.

A student who does not maintain continuous registration will be required to apply for re-admission to candidacy and be approved by his adviser, the departmental executive, and the dean of the Graduate College. He will also be required to pay back fees for the semesters in which he failed to register.

For master's degree candidates, a student who is not in residence during the final semester in which the degree is to be awarded may meet the continuous registration requirement by registering for zero semester hours in work on a thesis, research, or independent study, provided he has completed the total required semester hours of credit. In the 1966-67 academic year the fee for this minimum registration (0-2 hours) will be $54 for residents and $75 for non-residents, less the optional student activity fee of $12, if requested at the time of registration.

The projected registration category formerly offered for graduate students for work off the campus, usually for thesis and research rather than for course credit, has been dropped. The fee for such registration has been $17 per semester hour of credit.

Dr. Paul Tells Prep Coaches Every Team Needs A Doctor

SPIRIT LAKE (Ia.) — Every high school and college team should have a physician, Dr. William D. Paul of University Hospitals in Iowa City, said here Friday.

Speaking before more than 400 Iowa high school coaches and officials at a clinic, the team physician for the University of Iowa said "a physician should be present at every practice and PAUL every game in every sport."

"A doctor learns the physical as well as psychological makeup of the athletes by being with them and watching them at practice."

Can Spot Illness

Paul said the doctor can also help the rest of the squad "by spotting infectious illnesses before they spread."

He said frequent water breaks will do much to prevent heat exhaustion at football drills, and might even prevent deaths.

Robinson Gets No. 34 As Orioles Split Pair

WASHINGTON (Ia.) — The Washington Senators got home runs from Ken Harrelson, Fred Valentine and Jim King Friday night to beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 in the second game of a doubleheader. Baltimore won the first game 2-1.

Frank Robinson provided the difference in the first game with a two-run homer in the third inning off Pete Richert. It was his 34th of the season, and gave Mo Drabowsky a victory in his first start of the season.

John Miller pitched one-hit ball through four innings in the second game and had a 1-0 lead on Andy Etchebarren's bloop single that followed a triple by Brooks Robinson.

But then the roof fell in as Harrelson led off the fifth with a home run to tie it, followed by consecutive home runs the next inning by Valentine and King. Valentine's came with a man on.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (Ia.) — Harmon Killebrew's third home run in as many games, a two-run blast in the first inning, keyed Minnesota's 6-2 victory over Kansas City Friday night.

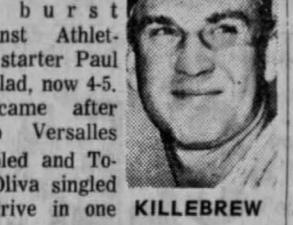

Killebrew's 25th home caped a three-run Twins' first inning burst against Athletes' starter Peter Lindblad, now 4-5.

It came after Zoilo Versalles doubled and Tony Oliva singled to drive in the one.

Minnesota tacked on two more runs in the second on pitcher Jim Perry's double and Rich Rollins' single for a 5-1 lead after Dick Green had smashed a home run in the top of the second for the Twins' run.
