Tight Pants Is Issue In Plywood Factory Strike

GARDINER, Ore. (AP) — A woman's refusal to give up tight pants kept more than 300 men out of work again Wednesday.

"I feel terrible about it, but I must say all the men are behind me," said Miss Pat Morris, a 5-foot-6 138-pound brunette.

The men went on strike at a plywood mill, insisting that Miss Morris, 35, should have been given a written notice if the employer thought her too distracting when she turned up for work Monday night.

"Nonsense," said E. A. Meyers, manager of the International Paper Co. plant. "The matter of attire is outside the contract. As a matter of fact, she had been warned several times about the way she dressed."

"Well," said Miss Morris, "there were five or six other women on the graveyard shift who wore pants just as tight as mine. I asked why they were singling me out."

"They said something about being too stacked and said it was disturbing the young men. So I said I would get some other clothes after the next pay day. They let me work two hours, then sent me home."

Harley Gray, president of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union Local 2195, said it was because the incident touched a sore point.

A year ago four men were suspended in a dispute that led to the insertion of a new clause in the union's contract with the company. It calls for a written warning before suspension of a worker.

The union met Tuesday night, and Gray said the men decided to stay on strike until the suspension is lifted. The shutdown was a blow to the economy of this coastal area, for the region's other big plywood plant recently closed.

Contented Political Future Is Displayed By President

No Comment Given On Kennedy Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Wednesday that he thought the "people generally approve of what we are trying to do" and he expected no unusual, abnormal turnover in the November congressional elections.

While Johnson displayed a rather contented political outlook at a news conference, he did say he had no explanation of a poll reporting that fellow Democrats prefer Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York to him right now.

He also took some jabs at former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who ventured a guess Tuesday that Kennedy might be on the ticket with Johnson in 1968.

He followed up the session with reporters by going to the Shoreham Hotel to help launch a "Dollars for Democrats" program and tell some of the party workers that if they do their part in telling the voters about the administration record "we will have a resounding Democratic victory in the congressional campaign this year."

For news conference No. 70, the President wore a subdued green suit with a microphone concealed under the jacket so his voice would be picked up more distinctly by live radio.

It was the first time this had been done in his office, where he sometimes wanders around a bit while talking and even looks out the window.

The question-and-answer session started off with a request for Johnson's estimate of Nixon's political perspicacity in the light of the Republican former vice president's saying there might be a Johnson-Kennedy ticket in 1968 as a matter of added insurance for the President.

"I think the people of the country have a pretty good estimate of that," Johnson said. "I would just leave it at that."

The conference spun back to Nixon toward the end when Johnson was asked in the light of Nixon's remarks for an assessment of Humphrey's role as vice president and whether he would like to have him on the ticket again in 1968.

Kerner OK's Guard Call Up

King Vows To Direct Marchers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner decided Wednesday to send National Guardsmen to Cicero to preserve order during a civil rights march that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he personally will lead Sunday.

Cicero is an all-white western suburb of Chicago. When King marched on Chicago's Southwest Side Aug. 5 he was hit by a rock. A knife thrown at him struck a youth.

15 Years Later

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told the Associated Press he would lead the procession into Cicero where 15 years ago racial violence necessitated calling in the National Guard.

He made his announcement in Chicago a few hours after Gov. Kerner, a former Guard general, said he probably would issue an executive order Friday to move troops into Cicero Saturday or Sunday night.

2,000 Recommended

The number has not yet been determined, but the use of 2,000 soldiers was recommended by the sheriff of Cook County, Richard B. Ogilvie.

Kerner took action on a plea from Cicero that military force was needed to avoid "danger and destruction to human life and property" in the industrial-residential suburb at Chicago's western edge.

While the decision was being made in Springfield, demonstrators supporting Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s demands for open housing prepared for a twilight march in the West Elsdon neighborhood, a district on Chicago's Southwest Side.

King expressed appreciation for the governor's concern, but he added: "It is tragic that we can march into Southern bastions of segregation, such as Mississippi, without armed military protection but cannot march peacefully into a northern suburb such as Cicero without an armed escort of Guardsmen."

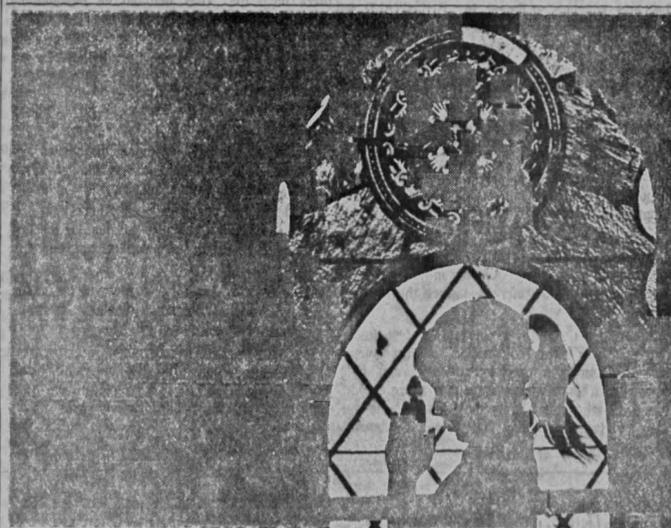

Confer For 1 1/2 Hours

Kerner conferred for almost 1 1/2 hours with Cicero officials, Sheriff Ogilvie and Guard commanders.

A spokesman asked Kerner if it was extraordinary to call out the troops before any violence occurred.

"No," he replied, "I think it's good sense."

Cicero, a community of 70,000 population, experienced three days of racial violence in 1951.

HUAC Approves Penalties For Anti-War 'Overt Acts'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities ignored opposition by the Johnson Administration and quickly approved Wednesday a bill to set stiff criminal penalties on "overt acts" of anti-war groups.

Mollenhoff To Speak At AEJ Convention

"The Need for an Activist Press" will be the subject of a speech by Clark R. Mollenhoff, prize-winning Washington correspondent for Cowles Publications, at the banquet closing the convention of the Association for Education in Journalism here on Wednesday evening.

The banquet will be in the main lounge of the Union. About 300 delegates have registered with School of Journalism, host for the convention, which starts Sunday.

Mollenhoff won the Pulitzer Prize in 1958 for his reporting on rackets in organized labor. In 1955 he won both the Raymond Clapper Memorial Award and the Heywood Brown Memorial Award for a series of articles about the firing of Wolf Ladejnsky by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

He has won the Sigma Delta Chi Award twice, as well as the John Peter Zenger Award, given by the University of Arizona, and the William Allen White Foundation citation.

Since 1950 Mollenhoff has been on the Cowles Washington staff, representing the Des Moines Register and Tribune, the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, and Look magazine.

Mollenhoff is a native of Brunswick, Iowa, and graduated from Webster High School and Webster City Junior College. He earned his law degree at Drake University while he was full-time police and court reporter for the Des Moines Register. He is a navy veteran.

The 7 to 0 vote came after less than an hour of discussion.

Spokesmen for the Justice, Commerce and Treasury departments had testified against the bill after the committee spent four tumultuous days last week investigating the activities of the anti-war groups.

Bill Limited

Chairman Edwin E. Willis (D-La.) told reporters that changes made by a subcommittee that held the hearings limit the bill to "overt acts" such as soliciting, collecting or sending blood and medical supplies to the Viet Cong, or attempting to block troop trains.

Maximum penalties provided are a fine of $20,000 and 20 years in prison.

The measure's chief sponsor, Rep. Joe R. Pool (D-Tex.) announced he was calling off a planned trip to Viet Nam, declaring: "I'm going to stay here with this bill."

A report that House leaders were seeking to keep the bill from the House floor was apparently squashed when Speaker John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), while saying he had not read the measure, strongly attacked the activities of the anti-war groups.

"People Aroused"

"There is deep resentment at people purporting to be Americans raising money to help the enemy," he told reporters. "The American people are tremendously aroused at this."

McCormack said "such actions go far beyond the right of dissent" and constituted "overt rights to aid the enemy."

Noonan Named To Hospital Post

David J. Noonan has been named assistant administrator of Mercy Hospital, Sister Mary Johnetta, administrator, announced Wednesday.

Formerly administrative assistant, Noonan has served in various capacities since joining the hospital staff in 1962.

Also announced was the appointment of H. Joe Featherston as personnel director and Stephen F. Foti as assistant personnel director.

Sister Mary Johnetta said the administrative reorganization emphasized the increasing importance of laymen as community representatives in the administration of Catholic hospitals.

Noonan was born in Casper, Wyo., and attended school there. He is a graduate of St. Ambrose College, Davenport, and has done graduate work at Iowa, Minnesota and St. Louis Universities.

Featherston joined the hospital staff in 1965 and earlier was an employment interviewer for the State Employment Service. He has attended Iowa City schools and the University.

Foti is a recent graduate of Arkansas A and M College.

Jaycees Ask City Council To Stop Urban Renewal

The board of directors of the Iowa City Jaycees has passed a resolution suggesting that the Iowa City council stop urban renewal planning.

The board gave five bases for its position:

1. The urban renewal program under consideration is not in the expressed best interests of the businessmen and residents affected.

2. The urban renewal program could cause an undue tax burden upon the taxpaying citizens of Iowa City.

3. Proponents for the urban renewal program envision the success of urban renewal in light of failure in other communities.

4. Independent businessmen are unable to remodel and improve their business establishments due to the uncertainties of the future, caused by the consideration of the urban renewal program.

5. Such a program, financed in most part by funds from the Federal Government, is not in keeping with the free enterprise system.

Mayor William C. Hubbard said Wednesday, "The Jaycees have never asked to have the progress and direction of urban renewal planning presented to them, nor have they asked the council to discuss urban renewal planning with them."

"I don't expect the citizens to accept every plan we present, but I do expect them to wait and see what a plan is before they reject it."

New Mayflower Hall

SEB FARO, MANAGER of Mayflower Hall, watches construction on the new eight-story coed dormitory being built on North Dubuque St.

Mayflower Hall—

'Luxury' Dorm Will Open

Iowa City will have its first privately owned luxury dormitory, Mayflower Hall, nearly completely when University students return next month.

The coed dormitory, being built by University Housing Construction Ltd., Omaha, is located on North Dubuque Street across from City Park. Although most units will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 15, general construction will be completed by Oct. 15. Its final cost will be about $3 million.

Construction on the building was begun in March when the Mayflower Inn, a restaurant, was torn down to make way for the new dorm. Since then about 200 men have been working six-day shifts to complete the structure.

Offers New Idea

The new dorm will offer a "new idea" in student housing, says Seb Faro, director of Mayflower Hall. Each unit has facilities for studying, sleeping and dining. These and other recreational facilities provide a "complete life" for the student, he says.

The building contains 16 married student units and 275 suites, each housing four students. A wall divides the men and women living areas in the dorm.

Each suite has an adjoining private bath and kitchenette. Two students live on either side of and share these facilities. For every two students there is also a bedroom with two chairs and light, study room with bookshelves and desks and a large closet area. The rooms and all the halls are carpeted. Students may regulate heating-air conditioning units in each bedroom.

Building Soundproof

The entire building is soundproof and a central music system plays music in the halls in the afternoon. Each floor also has its own laundry facilities.

Both men and women have separate lounges. However, there is a large coed lounge adjoined by an indoor swimming pool. In this area there are also Sauna health rooms and a large area for physical conditioning.

Each floor in the men's section has a room that will either be used for playing pool or studying.

The building also contains a large commissary on the first floor. Here students can either eat in a cafeteria or buy food in a delicatessen for use in their kitchen upstairs.

Has 10 Stories

The building is eight stories above ground and two stories of parking below ground. The first parking level rents for $50 a semester and the second level for $40 a semester. The company has also cut a hill away behind the dorm for parking spaces which rent for $25 a semester.

Faro is hiring men and women as residence floor advisers. The system for supervision is somewhat similar to that of University dormitories. The advisers will be in charge of keeping the students on their floors orderly. There will also be periodic checks on the rooms to look for proper maintenance and health problems. These advisers will be hired with the approval of University authorities.

Faro says any students who have discipline problems will be reported to the Dean of Students.

Fee is $350

A student can live in the dorm for $350 a semester. The fee can either be paid in full or in two payments of $180 each. The student must accompany his application with a $100 deposit to reserve a place on the Mayflower Hall residence list. This is refunded when a contract is fulfilled.

Callan Is Named Periodicals Editor

Timothy Callan, a 1964 graduate of the University's School of Journalism, has been named periodicals editor at the University. He will be in charge of Staff Magazine, a publication for faculty and staff members, and The Iowa Dad, a newsletter for members of the Dads Association.

Callan, a native of Cedar Rapids, was formerly assistant editor at University News Service. He has been news editor of The Daily Iowan and was editor of The Daily Iowan Magazine.

As periodicals editor in the Office of Public Information, Callan succeeds Ernest F. Larkin, who will teach journalism at Wisconsin State University at Eau Claire this fall.

Poor plan

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara has announced that about 40,000 men currently disqualified from the draft will be accepted anyway as a link between the War on Poverty and the nation's defense.

McNamara said the men were rejected for education and health reasons often rooted in poverty and that if they were given special training in military posts they could return to civilian life with useful skills and aptitudes. In fact, next fiscal year the number of those to be accepted would be increased to 100,000.

Under the plan, former draft rejects will be inducted the same as everyone else and will be evaluated through standard procedures.

The ex-rejects will receive the regular military training along with other troops.

But how effective will such a program be as a "link" between poverty elimination and national defense? The national defense effort will probably be bolstered, but it does not appear that the plan will help the War on Poverty, that much.

To begin with, how many of these so-called educationally-deprived draftees will qualify for job training in the service? The military sets standards for acceptance into its schools, and the better the school, the tougher the standards. If a person was formerly intellectually ineligible for the draft it is doubtful that he will be eligible for a job requiring extensive training.

Secondly, the skills taught in the military are designed for military purposes, and not that many civilian jobs are open for the special skills taught in the service. No eight-week cram course in ordinance or cooking is going to qualify a person for similar jobs in the outside world, especially cooking. True, there are ex-servicemen who get employment because of their military schooling and experience, but it is a small minority that does so, usually because they were intelligent enough to be accepted in a better school or because they were able to stay in the service long enough to learn several jobs and go to several schools. But this is hard to do for a draftee who spends only two years in the military.

If anything, the plan has merit only in that those who do become eligible for the draft will find a life somewhat better than the one they faced outside the military. After facing the perils of unemployment, poor housing, eating and medical treatment many will be happy with the steady job, three squares a day, pay and medical benefits.

Not that many "culturally deprived" persons will be able to learn skills of any significance to civilian employers, but the military will give poorer people a better life for a couple years, or more if they see a better life in the military than on the outside.

Blame Colonel Zilch, not the Pentagon

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — There is much talk about the credibility gap in regards to the Viet Nam war. Dispatches from Saigon indicate the Pentagon is trying, as usual, to manage the news. This is understandable and even defensible on military grounds. But what is dangerous is that the planting of stories in Saigon by the Defense Department is causing a credibility gap in the Pentagon itself.

This is how it works.

A top secret directive from the Pentagon to Saigon briefing officers instructs them to announce that Air Force raids on North Viet Nam have knocked out 90 per cent of all enemy fuel capacity and there is no chance of the North Vietnamese supplying their troops in the South.

The story is dutifully filed by the correspondents in Saigon to their newspapers back home. The Washington Post prints the story the next morning and it is read by everyone including Colonel Zilch, who works in the Pentagon on planning and organization.

Colonel Zilch, unaware the Pentagon has planted the story to keep up South Viet Nam morale, calls a meeting of his staff and informs them that on the basis of the latest reports there is no need to send any more American troops or supplies to Viet Nam.

A staff member points out that his reports indicate only 50 per cent of the oil depots were knocked out and, rather than the infiltration being decreased, it has increased since the bombing.

Zilch replies that the reports are a few days old, and then cites the Washington Post story out of Saigon as a much later and more up-to-date report, particularly since it was released by officials in Saigon who should know. Besides, Zilch points out, the New York Times confirmed the story.

BUCHWALD

The staff agrees that some action should be taken and a paper is prepared recommending the calling-off of troop shipments and cutting down the size of the draft.

This report goes to a General who assumes the staff report is based on latest intelligence estimates of the situation and informs the Joint Chiefs of Staff who advise the Administration that the war is going well and 90 per cent of all the oil in North Viet Nam has been destroyed.

A high Administration official in the White House tells the President, "I was suspicious of the story when I read it in the newspapers, but now that it's been confirmed by the Pentagon, it must be true." The high Administration official then holds a back-ground-not-for-attribution press conference in which he informs newspapermen that we are winning the war in Viet Nam, and no more American troops will be needed.

The newspapermen write the story quoting "high government officials" and when the story appears in the Saigon Post the staff officers out there have fits. They demand an explanation from the Pentagon. The Pentagon, realizing what probably happened, tells the briefing officers in Saigon to inform the press that a new estimate of the situation shows we only knocked out 20 per cent of the oil dumps and that the infiltration rate from the North has increased as a result of the bombing.

The briefing is held in Saigon, the stories are filed, and the next morning over his breakfast Colonel Zilch reads the news.

He is horrified at the switch in figures and has his staff draw up a paper recommending the immediate shipment of additional troops and the doubling of supplies.

This time the General who receives the paper fails to forward it to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. "If Zilch was wrong yesterday," he tells his aide, "he's probably wrong today, too."

"Are you going to ask him to resign?" the aide asks. "No, but cancel his subscription to the Washington Post."

Marines, Communists Clash In North Section Of S. Viet

SAIGON — U.S. Marines clashed with Communist forces Wednesday in South Viet Nam's Northern sectors, where the enemy had generally avoided combat since more than 800 of Han-oi's regulars were cut down in Operation Hastings last month.

The Marines and supporting aircraft were reported to have killed 211 Communists in two engagements 90 miles apart. Spokesmen said U.S. casualties in both cases were light.

In one, Marines overran a Communist training camp 20 miles southwest of Da Nang. In the other, Leatherneck units hammered a North Vietnamese force from entrenchments it had set up in the Cam Lo River valley, five miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

There was speculation that the enemy, following past patterns, may yet launch a 1966 monsoon offensive to take advantage of storm cloud cover and the mud that can sometimes bog allied armor. The rainy season, which started in June, generally runs through October.

Briefing officers told of other developments: U.S. Marines and Australian troops hunting the Viet Cong's 5th Division in coastal Phuoc Tuy Province southeast of Saigon found documents, diaries and hot rice in a hurriedly evacuated jungle encampment Tuesday. The U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, another element in the widespread, two-week-old operation, moved in by helicopters.

B52 bombers from Guam returned to Phuoc Tuy for the third straight day of saturation bombing on suspected Viet Cong positions in advance of the allied sweep.

Bad weather over North Viet Nam Tuesday limited raids by U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots to coastal targets. They flew 86 multi-plane missions. One of these, Navy A4 Skyhawks sank a torpedo boat, one of four they found hiding among islands in the Gulf of Tonkin. A spokesman said they possibly had sunk a second and badly damaged a third.

Suspension Policy Brought Under Fire

DES MOINES — Members of a legislative committee ripped into Iowa Safety Commissioner Gene Needles Wednesday, because his department does not formally publish some rules on driver license suspensions.

In recent years, the department has suspended the license of any driver found guilty of speeding more than 20 miles an hour above the legal limit.

On Aug. 1 this was changed to provide a 30-day suspension for 20 to 30 miles mph above the limit, 60 days for 30 to 40 mph over the limit and 90 days or more for 40 mph above the limit.

Copy Of Rules

Sen. George O'Malley (D-Des Moines) chairman of the Legislative Interim Committee, asked Needles where a copy of the rules was available. O'Malley, an attorney, said he found a Safety Department hearing officer who did not know the rules himself.

Needles said the rules were sent to law enforcement officers but were not published in the book of Iowa Departmental Rules, because it was departmental policy rather than a rule and publication was not required.

"Your interpretation couldn't be correct," O'Malley shot back.

A committee member Rep. Conrad Ossian (R-Red Oak) called this "a dickens of a note. You could change this tomorrow, and I wouldn't know anything about it," he said.

Available To Public

The book of departmental rules is available to the public, and presumably lawyers refer to it if their clients are accused of violating one of the regulations. Once cleared by the attorney general and a legislative committee, these rules have the effect of law.

Another committee member, Sen. Joseph Coleman (D-Clare) had questions about the requirement that a driver furnish proof of financial responsibility — insurance or a bond — to get his license back once it is suspended.

Police Figure Back In Favor In Red China

TOKYO — Red China's rulers lifted slightly Wednesday the curtain covering their backstage power contest and disclosed a change that seemed to be heading the nation toward the most rigid military-police state rule.

The shadowy Kang Sheng, long a secret-police figure who once was the object of admiration by Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, has been elevated to the ruling Politburo, a position he lost 10 years ago after falling into disfavor.

Kang's new eminence, along with the obvious commanding position of Defense Minister Lin Biao, seemed added evidence that the current nationwide purge was aimed at a total regimentation of Red China which would attempt to shut out completely all things foreign, including all Soviet influence.

The restoration of Kang to the 20-member Politburo headed by party chairman Mao Tse-tung was disclosed in a routine report of the official New China News Agency.

The agency, monitored in Tokyo, broadcast a report listing Kang as a Politburo member for the first time since the 12-day session of the party Central Committee early this month where the decision probably was approved.

Dependents Of Servicemen Irked By Tangling Red Tape

NEW YORK — Dependent families of some American servicemen missing or captured in Viet Nam complain that they find themselves struggling for survival in a sea of red tape.

The lost husband and father, some wives say, is often treated by Federal, state and municipal authorities as a sort of "nonperson," officially neither alive nor dead.

As a result, members of his family may encounter tax and property snarls and lengthy delays in obtaining access to the man's accumulating pay, and need to hire lawyers to protect their interests.

The complaints were brought to light by a civilian group formed recently to defend the rights of U.S. prisoners of war, and in Associated Press interviews with a number of the wives.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman described the problems of the dependents as "normal things that must be put up with when a man is missing or captured" and conceded that "anyone with someone missing in action or captured will hit snags."

However, the spokesman said, each of the armed forces has a casualty assistance office whose function is to help dependents work out solutions.

Approximately 400 American fighting men are missing in Viet Nam. The Society for the Defense of American Prisoners says more than 100 of their wives or parents have written complaining of the treatment they receive from government officials.

Patrick McCahn, an Atlantic City, N.J., lawyer who founded the society, suggests that the armed forces should send trained personnel on regular visits to dependents with advice on how to deal with their problems.

VFW Proposes To Exempt Only ROTC Students

NEW YORK — The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) proposed Wednesday that only college students who are enrolled in military training activities be exempted from the draft.

The veterans' organization earlier had turned down a proposed resolution to select by lottery all eligible persons for military service, including college students.

The adopted resolution recommends draft exemption only for those college students who are participating satisfactorily in a reserve officer training program or "other Federal programs" leading to a commission "with the firm and inescapable commitment of such persons to be called and to serve in the military service."

The VFW delegates opposed admission of Red China into the United Nations. The veterans declared that if Red China were admitted, the United States should withdraw from the international body.

The delegates also unanimously supported a resolution commending the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

22 Programs Set For Mountaineers

Countries around the world will figure in 22 programs scheduled for the Iowa Mountaineers Color Film-Lectures for the coming year.

Offering four more programs than the 1965-66 series, the 1966-67 film-lectures will be presented in Macbride Auditorium, with the first program to be given Oct. 2 and the last on Apr. 16.

Season tickets for the series are available now by writing to Film-Lectures, P.O. Box 163, Iowa City, Iowa. "Passports" (season tickets) for any seven programs are $5.50, and for any 14 programs, $10. Season tickets for children may be purchased for $2.50 for any seven films.

All of the 1966-67 Mountaineers Film-Lectures will be given on Sundays at 2:30 p.m. Countries behind the Iron Curtain will be featured in two programs — "The New Russia," Jan. 22, and "China," Mar. 12 — with glimpses into a third Communist-dominated area, East Germany, in another program, "Germany Today," Jan. 29.

Arm-chair travelers will be able to see scenic areas of the United States in half a dozen films. John Ebert, who has led the Iowa Mountaineers on 30 expeditions to 18 countries, will narrate a film which he has made on several trips in the West and in Canada — "Journey Through the Great West," — Dec. 11. Ebert, who will appear in the series for the eighth time, drew the largest crowd attending a program in the 1965-66 series. He also rated first in last year's audience poll ranking film-lectures.

"Back Roads, USA" will be the topic of a program Jan. 15: "Alaskan Album," Feb. 19; "Along Pacific Shores," Feb. 26; "San Francisco and the Bay Area," Mar. 26; and "Here's Hawaii," Apr. 16.

Nine lecturers on the 1966-67 program are new to the Mountaineers series, while one, Nicol Smith, will give his ninth program here Oct. 16. Presenting Vatican City and historic sites in Rome, Italy, Smith's film is titled "Eternal Rome."

Women On Agenda Alfred Bailey, who will present "Alaska Album," Feb. 19, will be returning to the campus for his eighth program.

Two programs will be given by women. Islands of the Dutch West Indies and Surinam will be featured in a film-lecture to be given by Lisa Chickering and Jeanne Poterfield Feb. 12. Bathie Stuart, a native of New Zealand, will show her film on China, made during the summer of 1965, Mar. 12.

The 1966-67 series will open Oct. 2 with a program by Ralph Franklin titled "Gift of the Nile." His film presents the Pyramids of Egypt, ancient temples, and areas which were the settings for many events described in the Bible.

U.S. Teams Meet Trouble In National Tennis Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Defending champions Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle moved effortlessly into the third round of the U.S. National Doubles Tennis Tournament Wednesday at Longwood Cricket Club.

But life was not quite so easy for the top U.S. team of Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio. They dropped their first set of the tournament, and then struggled to defeat Jerry Cromwell of Long Beach, Calif., and Jim Osborne of Salt Lake City, Utah, 6-9, 6-4, 6-0, 13-11.

Australians Emerson and Stolle won their second round match against Charles Darley of Rochester, N.Y., and Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 6-2, 6-0, 7-5.

A flurry of extra matches was completed to make up for two days lost because of rain.

Late in the day the young Californian team of Stan Smith and Bob Lutz took a close match from Lew Gerrard of New Zealand and Ishmael El Shafel of Egypt, 9-7, 6-4, 2-6, 14-12. This put Smith and Lutz, seeded No. 1, into the third round.

Smith and Lutz, 20 and 19, respectively, are the national indoor champions.

Mexico's Marcelo Lara and Joaquin Loyo-mayo eliminated the American team of Cliff Richey of Farmer's Branch, Tex., and Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Richey is ranked third nationally in singles, but he and Buchholz, playing together for the first time, were not seeded in the doubles competition.

The third seeded team of Tony Roche and John Newcombe battled Mexico's Rafe Osuna and Ronald Barnes to a 6-all tie in the fourth set before darkness postponed a finish to tomorrow morning. Roche and Newcombe were leading at that point, 4-6, 6-4, 13-11.

But Manuel Santana of Spain, who has just been seeded No. 1 in the national singles at Forest Hills next month, and Luis Garcia of Mexico were pushed to 17-all in the second set before going on to win 6-3, 19-17, 6-3 over Mike Sprengelemer, Dubuque, Iowa, and Jose Villarete, the Philippines.

The U.S. team will be made up of Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.; Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio; Cliff Richey of Dallas; Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and three others to be named later.

Australia will have Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, Tony Roche, Don Newcombe and four others.

This is the schedule:
Sept. 10-11 — Cleveland.
Sept. 12-13 — Toledo, Ohio.
Sept. 14-15, Chicago and Washington, D.C.
Sept. 16-17 — Midland, Tex., and Edinburgh, Tex.

"The plan is to use the best men available from the eight-man squads of both countries," Malaga, an assistant to U.S. Lawn Tennis Association President Martin L. Tresselt, said.

"The format will be exactly like that of the Davis Cup — best three of five matches — but we will figure the final score on the basis of all 30 matches. Players in Chicago one day will fly to Washington the next. It's the same in Texas."

Bob Malaga of Cleveland announced plans for the unprecedented road show at the draw Wednesday for the National Championships Sept. 1-11 at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Harry Suter of Crawfordville placed second, L.W. Bittle of Iowa Falls third, E.F. Logemann of Ledyard fourth and George Gast of Osage fifth.

The U.S. team will be made up of Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.; Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio; Cliff Richey of Dallas; Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and three others to be named later.

Australia will have Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, Tony Roche, Don Newcombe and four others.

This is the schedule:
Sept. 10-11 — Cleveland.
Sept. 12-13 — Toledo, Ohio.
Sept. 14-15, Chicago and Washington, D.C.
Sept. 16-17 — Midland, Tex., and Edinburgh, Tex.

"The plan is to use the best men available from the eight-man squads of both countries," Malaga, an assistant to U.S. Lawn Tennis Association President Martin L. Tresselt, said.

Sports Briefs

AMERICAN SWIMMERS, led by U.S. champion Mark Spitz, Olympian Marilyn Ramenofsky, the schoolboy Paul Katz, swept all seven gold medals Wednesday in the opening of competition in the second Pan American Maccabiah Games at Sao Paulo, Brazil. Spitz, 16-year-old sensation from Santa Clara, Calif., and Katz, 16, of New York, each won two events. They are the only male swimmers on the U.S. team. Miss Ramenofsky of Phoenix, Ariz., beat out teammate Cathy Cole of North Miami Beach, Fla., in the 100-meter freestyle in 1:04 to 1:04.5.

ROOSEVELT BROWN, veteran offensive tackle for the New York Giants, has been placed on the club's injured reserve list and will miss the entire National Football League season, it was announced Wednesday. The 34-year-old Brown, a 13-year NFL veteran, has been trouble by phlebitis in his right leg. The Giants said he would serve as a part-time coach.

THE NEW YORK GIANTS obtained Jim Garcia, a defensive end and tackle, from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed high draft choice in a National Football League trade Wednesday. Garcia, 24, played for Cleveland in 1965, his first season in the NFL. The Browns' top draft choice in 1965, he is a 6-foot-5, 260 pounder from Purdue.

MINNESOTA PITCHER Dave Boswell was discharged from Doctors' Hospital Wednesday after spending the night as a precautionary measure. Boswell was struck on the side of the head by a ball hit by Andy Kosko as he pitched batting practice before Tuesday night's doubleheader. Boswell wavered momentarily and was caught by coach Jim Lemon when he started to fall. X-rays taken by Dr. George Resta, the Senators' physician, were negative.

THE PROFESSIONAL GOLF tour moves today to Whitemarsh Valley Country Club where Jack Nicklaus tries for a third straight victory in the Philadelphia Golf Classic. A field of 144, including Nicklaus, U.S. open champion Billy Casper and PGA titlist Al Geiberger, start the 72-hole competition for some $100,000 in prize money. Arnold Palmer, who won three years ago, also is on hand for a shot at the top prize of approximately $25,000.

IT TOOK 4 1/2 MONTHS and 126 ball games, but the first 1966 New York Yankee player finally has been ejected by an umpire. Rookie Roy White became the first Yankee player to be given the heave-ho this season after he argued with umpire Bill Valentine over a called third strike in Tuesday night's game against California. White lost the argument and the Yanks lost the game, 1-0.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP
Reds 9, Giants 4
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vada Pinson hit a grand-slam homer to back up steady pitching by Joe Nuxhall, as Cincinnati beat Jaylord Perry and San Francisco 9-4 Wednesday, snapping a four-game Giants' winning string.

Angels 2, Yanks 1
CHICAGO (AP) — Randy Hundley's perfect bunt with the bases loaded capped a two-run ninth inning rally and gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday.

Cubs 6, Mets 5
NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Kirkpatrick's two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning gave California a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday night. Kirkpatrick's homer, his ninth, was only the sixth hit off losing pitcher Fred Talbot. Fred Newman set the Yankees down on just four hits in the eight innings he worked. He was lifted for a pinch hitter after Kirkpatrick's blast.

Checker King Named At Iowa State Fair
DES MOINES (AP) — Eddie Robinson, Des Moines shoe shine stand operator, was named checker champion of the Iowa State Fair Wednesday.

Few Players Are Selected In Legion Baseball Draft
CHICAGO (AP) — Only eight teen aged stars, selected by only six of the 20 major league clubs, were picked in big league baseball's second annual draft of American Legion players Wednesday.

U.S. Teams Meet Trouble In National Tennis Tourney
The Kansas City Athletics, first to pick, selected Dick Varney, 17, a husky catcher from the Cyril P. Morrisette Post of North Quincy, Mass.

The A's and the Atlanta Braves were the only clubs to draft more than one Legion player, each selecting two. The New York Mets Houston Astros, California Angels and New York Yankees each picked one and the other 14 major league clubs all passed.

The Legion pickings were even slimmer than last year when 11 players were drafted and compared with the 945 players taken by the majors in last June's free agent draft.

The draft, in order of selection: Kansas City Athletics — Richard Varney, 17, catcher, North Quincy, Mass.

New York Mets — Robert Moore, 17, first baseman-catcher, Klamath Falls, Ore., played with Klamath Falls Post.

Houston Astros — Gerald Johnson, 17, left-handed pitcher, Newburg, Ore., played with Tigaro Post, Newburg, Ore.

California Angels — Louis Melini, 17, pitcher-third baseman, Beverly Hills, Calif. Played with Beverly Hills Post.

New York Yankees — Gregory Croft, 17, right-handed pitcher, Glenview, Ill., played with Glenview Post.

Atlanta Braves — Guy Mc-

Softball Game Goes 24 Innings

ROLFE (AP) — Fans attending the Rolfe Invitational softball tournament can't complain they didn't get their money's worth.

The championship game Tuesday night between Sandy's Distributing of Fort Dodge and Ayrshire lasted 24 innings and didn't end until 1:20 a.m. Wednesday with a 1-0 victory by Sandy's.

State softball officials said the 4 hour and 5-minute game was the longest in Iowa history.

Duke McCullough, 28, Fort Dodge, pitched all the way and had a no-hitter going for 15 innings. He wound up allowing five hits, walking two and striking out 57 batters. McCullough also drove in the game's only run with a double.

Harold Johnson of Boone led the game. He also pitched the full distance, giving up eight hits, walking two and striking out 42.

Fans Cheer Piersall's Antics

NEW YORK (AP) — Say, Jim, what's happened to you? You seem to be so subdued lately? "You can't do much, sitting in that corner," answered Jim Piersall, pointing to a corner of the California Angel dugout.

"One night somebody was thrown out of a game for throwing his cap. I was up next, and when I ran down to first, I looked at the umpire and pretended to throw my cap on the ground. It shook him up a little. But you have to be playing to do things."

It wasn't too long, though before Piersall was proving he didn't have to be in the lineup to entertain fans with his zany antics as he did so often in the past.

Such as the time he ran around the bases backward after hitting his 100th career home run and the time he came to bat wearing a Beanie wig.

It was Tuesday night, before the California-New York game, and Piersall, who has played in only 57 games this season, had just finished taking batting practice with the other reserves.

Piersall, 36, dashed out to left field, slid along the grass into Bob Lee, wrestled with Lee, who weighs 230 pounds, for a minute, then jumped up and hopped onto the side of the batting cage which was being rolled to its spot under the stands.

Minutes later, Piersall caught a fly ball, wheeled around and fired the ball against the left field wall, whipping it through the members of the ground crew, who were returning to the infield.

Later, as the Yankees came to bat in the fourth inning, Piersall was warming up Dean Chance when Joe Pepitone, the first batter, came to the plate. Piersall finished with the warm ups, kicked dirt at Pepitone and ran like a little boy who had just played a trick on somebody, back to the dugout.

In the sixth inning Piersall again warmed up Chance. Returning to the dugout as the fans cheered, he tipped his hat.

His final act for the evening came before the next inning. He crouched down to receive Chance's first warm-up toss and piled dirt all over home plate.

Umpire Bill Valentine, a willing straight man, pulled out his whisk broom and held it out for Piersall to take. Piersall accepted it, brushed the dirt back off the plate and flipped the broom back to the umpire.

"It's a shame," Piersall was saying before the game, "that baseball players more or less can't be themselves."

Piersall, obviously, still is himself.
