1-Way Traffic Approved For 2 More City Streets

City Council Sets Pattern For Dodge-Governor Couplet

By DOUG HIRSCH
City Editor

The Iowa City council Tuesday night authorized the establishment of another one-way street couplet — this time Dodge and Governor streets, from their intersection in the northeast part of the city to Bowery Street on the south.

The first set, Market and Jefferson streets, went into operation Aug. 31. Under the new system, traffic will move south on Dodge Street and north on Governor Street.

The council had been besieged with protests from property owners along the two streets, especially those along Governor Street.

Mayor William J. Hubbard said Tuesday night, "I believe that by establishing the Dodge and Governor one-way couplet, there will be only minor inconveniences for a few people. If making Governor and Dodge streets into a one-way couplet does not work, the only thing we have incurred is the cost of a few signs.

"We will, however, go to great lengths to give sufficient time before the change-over so that nobody will experience any real hardship. We will enact this program as carefully and as thoughtfully as we can, but I believe that everyone will recognize the fact that something must be done."

Plan Railroad Overpass

Hubbard said improvements at the intersections along the couplet would be made and an overpass would be built in the future over the Rock Island railroad tracks on Governor Street.

The council also passed a resolution banning parking on certain arterial streets. The city had already erected the no-parking signs before the meeting.

Parking was banned from:
— Governor Street from Burlington to North Dodge Street, with the exception of the east side of Governor Street from Bowery Street to Burlington.

— Bowery Street, from Dodge Street to North Governor Street.

— Dodge Street, from Bowery Street to Kirkwood Avenue.

— Kirkwood Avenue, from Summit Street east to Lower Muscatine Road.

— Court Street, from Muscatine Avenue east to the city limits.

— Muscatine Avenue, from Court Street east to the city limits. Parking will still be allowed on Muscatine Avenue from Iowa Avenue to Court Street.

— North Dubuque Street, from Park Road north to the city limits.

Connector Streets Included

The council also banned parking on three other arterial streets which connect to the existing Market-Jefferson Street one-way couplet.

Parking was banned from:
— Clapp Street, from Jefferson Street to Rochester Avenue.

— Market Street, from Rochester Avenue to Gilbert Street and from Clinton Street to Madison Street.

— Jefferson Street, from Madison Street to Clinton Street and from Evans Street to Clapp Street, except that parking will be allowed on the north side of Jefferson Street from Gilbert Street to Evans Street.

"The major problem inherent in establishing arterial streets is parking," said Hubbard. "Most of the streets in Iowa City are 25 to 31 feet wide. The standard highway width for arterial streets is 31 feet. This means that if we are to establish our narrow streets as arterial streets, parking must be given up."

Street Hearing Set

In other action, the council set 7:30 p.m. Oct. 18 as a public hearing on the vacation of Van Buren Street between Market and Bloomington streets. Last week the Planning and Zoning Commission turned down Mercy Hospital's request that the street portion be vacated. The hospital wanted the space for expansion purposes.

The council also adopted an ordinance to rezone the property of Norwood C. (Bud) Louis II, north of the Elks Golf Course. The area will be used to construct a high-rise apartment development. Several citizens in the area earlier had objected to the rezoning.

The council also amended the Minimum Housing Ordinance to permit lower standards for some buildings, and adopted amendments to the city electrical and building codes.

Surveyor 2 Moon Shot On Near-Perfect Course

PASADENA, Calif. — Surveyor 2 raced through the heavens Tuesday on a path that should cause it to hit the man on the moon, gently, right between the eyes.

The camera-carrying spacecraft, on a mission to scout a landing site for astronauts, blasted off beautifully from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 7:32 a.m. CDT — the last possible second for a launch. It soared into a near-perfect course.

Scientists at Pasadena's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, controlling the flight, expressed hope that its 63-hour flight will be as spectacularly successful as that of Surveyor 1.

The first Surveyor, overcoming longshot odds against a first flight success, made history's first controlled soft landing on the moon and then radioed earthward 11-237 closeup photographs of lunar terrain.

Odds Even Longer

The odds against Surveyor 2 are even longer. It is programmed for a trickier descent, at a 23-degree slant, instead of vertically. And terrain in the target area is rougher.

Surveyor 2's landing site is Sinus Medii on Central Bay, a plain in almost the exact center of the moon as seen from earth — speckled with craters and ringed by what appear to be jagged hills. There is a chance it could land on a slope or a boulder and topple.

If it brakes to a safe landing, Surveyor's camera eye is set to revolve around the landscape and show experts on earth just how rough and stable the surface is.

The site is one of nine potential landing spots being considered for Apollo astronauts before the end of this decade. Surveyor 1 touched down last June 800 miles west and slightly south in the Sea of Storms. Others in the seven-shot Surveyor series will check other areas.

The launch came within a whisker of being postponed. A valve controlling liquid oxygen prevented pressurization of a tank aboard the Atlas-Centaur booster.

Blockhouse Blacks Out

The launch could only take place during a 36-minute period. But the trouble was fixed and with only seven-tenths of a minute to spare, the towering rocket rumbled aloft. A minute later, amplifying the suspense, the blockhouse lost power. But the delay lasted only a moment and did not affect the flight.

GOP Says War To Be Escalated Following Election

WASHINGTON — House Republican leaders accused President Johnson's administration Tuesday of "deception and lack of credibility" and said plans for a major escalation of the Viet Nam war are being withheld until after the Nov. 8 election.

Democrats countered with expressions of shock and disappointment and said the GOP is making a cheap effort to put the Viet Nam war into the political arena.

Republicans fired the opening salvo Monday night with a lengthy white paper tracing the history of the Viet Nam conflict, saying that under President Johnson "the United States has become a full-fledged combatant in a conflict that is becoming bigger than the Korean War."

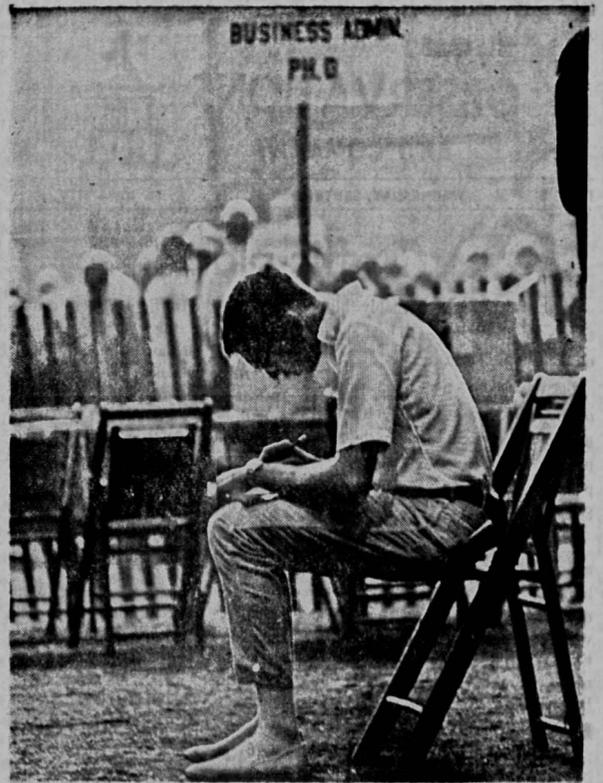

Amplifying the statement at a news conference Tuesday, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House GOP conference, said the document "clearly sets forth the deception practiced by the Democratic spokesmen during the 1964 campaign."

"The same approach is being followed in this 1966 election period by withholding information concerning the costs of the war and the planned escalation of the war within the next year," Laird said.

He predicted that after the Nov. 8 election the President will request an additional $13.5 billion appropriation and "will unveil major plans to escalate the ground war further, particularly in the delta area of South Viet Nam."

Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee said he was "shocked and disappointed" at the GOP paper. "I had thought that the war was more or less nonpartisan in nature," the Texas Democrat said.

Acting Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana noted that the Republican statement offers no solutions and said that the GOP white paper was "a fine piece of campaign political strategy."

REGISTRATION seemed like an endless maze for some new students yesterday, although this student found that the schedule of courses was a handy aid to have along. Students whose ID cards end with the numbers 75-99 will be the final group to register. —Photo by Marlin Levison

$3 Billion In Aid Passed By House

WASHINGTON — The House passed a $3,047,065,800 foreign aid appropriation bill Tuesday after tightening a ban against helping nations that assist Cuba or North Viet Nam.

The action sent the bill to the Senate after the success of a last-minute attempt by Republicans cutting its total an extra $45,696,200. The vote on this was 187 to 82.

The Appropriations Committee already had sliced the funds $293,200,000 below what President Johnson had requested. The House sustained the committee's action.

The roll call vote on passage was 234 to 141.

The money is for use during the fiscal year ending next June 30 and is intended to provide economic and military help for friendly non-Communist nations. Most of it is for various forms of economic aid, only $825 million being earmarked for direct military assistance.

There was no opposition to changes in the bill to impose an outright ban on aid to nations that provide economic help or send strategic materials to Cuba or North Viet Nam. The bill originally allowed the President to make exceptions in the national interest and would have required him to report such exceptions to Congress.

Elimination of the presidential discretionary authority made the bill conform to a recently enacted bill authorizing continuance of the aid program but not financing it. No nations trading with Cuba or North Viet Nam have received any assistance in recent years under the foreign aid program.

The GOP drive to further reduce the bill was spearheaded by Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the Appropriations Committee.

Bow told the House he was trying to go along with the President in his request that Congress exercise restraint on appropriations.

The cut he proposed in economic programs boosted to $246,896,200 the total reductions in those programs, or approximately 10 per cent of what Johnson requested.

U.N. Session Begins; Asian New President

UNITED NATIONS — The U.N. General Assembly opened its 21st session Tuesday on a note of harmony by electing an Asian diplomat as president. But its attention was centered almost immediately on the war in Viet Nam, thus presaging days of trouble ahead.

Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan, veteran in the halls of the United Nations, was elected as president to rule until the next assembly session.

Pazhwak, 47, played a leading role in helping break the big power deadlock over U.N. peace-keeping debts that paralyzed the 19th session. He has been the permanent U.N. representative for Afghanistan for more than eight years.

Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani of Italy, the president of the last assembly session, summoned all U.N. members to help in the search for a peaceful solution in Viet Nam.

Pazhwak, in his acceptance speech, did not refer to Viet Nam by name, but he called attention of the delegates, including foreign ministers from many countries, to clouds caused by war that would hang over "any gathering of nations concerned with the peace and security of the world."

Final Day Today For Registration Of Record Crowd

Registration concludes today at the Field House for approximately 18,000 students who are expected to enroll for the fall semester.

All students in the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Engineering and the Graduate College will register in the Field House at the following times according to the last two digits of their student numbers:

WEDNESDAY

8 a.m. — 75-77; 8:30 — 78-80; 9 — 81-83; 9:30 — 84-87; 10 — 88-90; 10:30 — 91-93; 11 — 94-96; and 11:30 — 97-99.

Students in the Colleges of Medicine, Dentistry, Law and Pharmacy will report to their deans' offices for registration. Students in the College of Nursing will begin their registration at Westlawn with their faculty adviser but will register at the Field House according to the table above.

Pentagon Sets Initial Easing For Inductees

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon announced Tuesday an initial easing of military induction standards effective Oct. 1.

The action will cover half the 40,000 men Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara plans to reach for duty this fiscal year under his special training program.

Studies are under way to determine further revisions in acceptance standards to qualify the additional 20,000 early next year, the Pentagon said.

McNamara announced in August the services would provide special training to make fit for duty 100,000 men a year previously rejected for mental or physical reasons. He tied the effort to the administration's anti-poverty program.

The 100,000-a-year rate is scheduled to be reached in fiscal 1968.

The revision described Tuesday amounted to a third lowering of minimum induction levels in the past year, a spokesman said.

It affects 20,000 men who otherwise would have been classified 1Y due to marginal scores on armed forces intelligence and aptitude tests.

The change affects only men being drafted beginning in October. Eventually, however, volunteers who have been unable to meet acceptance levels will be brought into the program.

As for the precise change, the Pentagon said individuals who score 10 to 15 on the armed forces qualifications test — a 40-minute examination consisting of 100 questions — no longer will be required to pass what is known as the general technical area. This is an aptitude test weighted with items involving verbal and arithmetic reasoning.

News in Brief

CHICAGO — Republican leader Charles H. Percy, whose daughter Valerie was savagely bludgeoned and stabbed to death early Sunday, received a letter threatening him with "a one-way ride," it was learned Tuesday.

Sen. Russell Arrington of Chicago, Republican leader in the Illinois Senate, said Tuesday in Chicago that Percy sent him a copy of the letter which was postmarked from Chicago in May.

Arrington said the letter was addressed to Percy but also mentioned Arrington, former Vice President Richard Nixon and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the U.S. Senate minority leader.

The Illinois senator said the letter was signed, "The Boys from Out of Town" and told Percy, "we hope we won't have to take you on a one-way ride."

SAIGON — Carrier-based Navy bombers attacked a North Vietnamese torpedo boat Tuesday 20 miles northeast of the port of Haiphong, split the vessel in two and left it sinking. The U.S. command said Wednesday. Rampaging floods added to the misery of war in South Viet Nam.

In raids over the North, U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs clashed twice in dogfights with Communist MIG17s but neither side scored, a military spokesman said. It was the fourth time in five days that MIGs rose to challenge American raiders.

Hanoi said, without U.S. confirmation, that two American planes were shot down during the day.

NEW YORK — The stock market Tuesday went through another session of sluggish decline as it continued to consolidate its big gains of last week.

Volume was 4.57 billion shares compared with 4.93 billion Monday. For the second straight session it was the smallest turnover since Sept. 6 when 4.36 billion shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 4.84 to 806.1.

ELDENA, Ill. — Five schoolboys and the driver taking the youths home were killed Tuesday in the collision of a freight train and an open pickup truck.

Police said an Illinois Central Railroad train struck the truck broadside at a crossing about 75 feet from the elementary school in Eldena, about 100 miles west of Chicago.

'The Bluffer's Guides' help make successful conversational phonies

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A British publisher is bringing out a series of paperbacks called "The Bluffer's Guides," designed to help readers become successful conversational phonies on a variety of subjects.

Publisher Peter Wolfe says: "I commissioned these on the assumption that most people do not want to learn a subject; that they just want others to think they have and that they know all about the subject."

The first two volumes, which will retail at the equivalent of 50 cents each, give detailed suggestions on how to bluff through literary and musical conversations.

Written by Martin Seymour-Smith, "Bluff Your Way Through Literature" says of critics:

Critics Important
"It must be understood that they are much more important than writers or poets. You must always be on the side of critics. The creative work, praiseworthy as it sometimes is, exists for the purpose of the critics."

"He the critic is there to help the creative writer to achieve balance preferably by stopping him writing, and any kind of sarcasm or irony about critics will be frowned upon by highbrows."

On American novelists the guide says: "About Hemingway you may have your private reservations, especially about his later work — but it is unsafe, for some reason, to be too particular about these."

On William Faulkner: "You can be critical about Faulkner — but must accept the fact of his 'greatness' even though the acceptance of this abstraction involves not understanding his novels."

On Norman Mailer's "An American Dream":

"You need to say that you have read it, of course. By all means criticize it if you wish, or, better talk about his baroque quest. But never say that it is unimportant or not worth reading — or that you'd rather reread a play by Shakespeare."

On discussing Jack Kerouac: "If you want to score you might say that he is not really Buddhist, but an unorthodox Franciscan Christian. Add, 'Isn't he?' No one will contradict you."

Avoid Content
"Try to avoid embarrassing people by talking about the actual content of his books. Stick to ideas about his ideas — which are useful in that they are very difficult to define."

Another hint: "James Baldwin is at this time, possibly, becoming regarded as a bit of a bore. You should be ready to talk about him, and should vaguely affirm his extreme position — but don't bring up his name yourself."

On the important subject of opinions, the guide advises: "Have plenty of these, but be sure they are not consistent. There is no need to relate them to facts, provided you are not extravagant. Be as abstract as you can."

Favorite Terms
Useful terms for reinforcing opinions: "Exciting, existential, new, way-out, fabulous, pragmatic, sick, obscene, evil, deliberately bad and therefore great, formless, vile, dull and therefore profound."
"Don't attempt to be precise in advancing your opinion or ideas. This is boring."
On pop music and jazz, the guide says: "Pop music is not a literary subject but it comes up in the course of high-brow conversation much more than say, Wordsworth or any other writer who died before 1910."

"If you are under 25, it is advisable to have a mystique about the Beatles, whether you have or not. Say that musically they are doing something very different from all the others, but that no one realizes this. Don't be pinned down if asked what they are doing musically. Just smile faintly as if you couldn't begin to explain."

Works For Music

In "Bluff Your Way in Music," author Peter Gammond says: "The way to get on in life, as all good bluffers know, is to have a minimum of knowledge and make it go a long way by the use of long words and profound pauses."

"Like cold showers and hot baths, Bach's music is an almost satisfactory substitute for sex. Fortunately there is only one remark that is necessary in connection with Bach in normal conversation and that is, 'Ah Bach.' We realize that this is very unhelpful in a way, but if you stick to that one remark, with varying inflections, it would seem the safest course to take and covers all emergencies."

Parking fee, tickets hit

To the Editor:

For the past four months I have been reading various articles in the newspapers pertaining to certain problems the University is encountering along with the increasing enrollment. One is the parking problem. When it was announced there was to be a $40.00 fee for a restricted parking sticker I was a little upset. My husband is in medical school and I work in Cedar Rapids. To us, $40.00 is a lot of money, but in order for my husband to get to and from the hospital he has to drive at least a few days a week, depending on whether there are others out here going to the hospital at the same time. Once he gets there he needs a place to park, so when he registered last week, he bought a sticker for $40.00. Fine. He was told his money would be refunded if he was unable to find a parking place. It seems as if the parking around the hospital has been changed, so a total of 90 cars can be accommodated in the restricted area. These 90 spaces are for pharmacy students, dental students, anyone visiting the Field House or with classes in the medical labs, plus 350 more medical students.

There is a partial solution that someone has offered. The bus. Speaking only about medical students, they can take the bus to the hospital in the morning, but since they don't have regular 8 to 5 hours, and the bus doesn't run in the evening, how do they get home? I will have to pick my husband up, whether it is 8 at night or 3 in the morning. For me this is fine, but what about others who have children. It isn't always convenient to leave. But what other solution is there?

After steaming about this for three days, I was all set to enjoy myself at the football game Saturday, for which we had paid $28.00. When we got to the game we found that we had no seats. It seems as if the Athletic Department hadn't had time to number the seats yet. They've only had since last November — but then we didn't have to pay a fee for it, so maybe that explains why it wasn't done. After all, we are only students.

My husband and I have paid a total of $68 so far this year, and for what? As I see it — NOTHING.

I hope the situation improves, but no doubt that will cost too.

Traffic plan

Most of our readers probably think they've heard all there is to hear about our traffic problems.

But there is one more, and it's one of the worst, even though it doesn't involve any cars. It's the hourly jam-up at the north entrance (or exit, depending on your point of view) to Schaeffer Hall.

On the east side of the building is a large and classy looking door that has always gotten very little use, mainly because it doesn't go anywhere. This year, the University is trying a plan to encourage people to use the east door when leaving the building, to relieve some of the exit pressure on the north door.

Any students unfamiliar with just how bad the traffic jam there can be will probably think it's a pretty bad idea, since for most it's a rather indirect route to take. The east door isn't accessible from the ground floor, and from the second or third floors one would have to walk back to the center of the building from either of the end stairwells.

But we think that those who know will agree that in the case of Schaeffer Hall a bit of a detour will still be the quickest way out of the place, and if enough students are willing to cooperate, it will facilitate the traffic flow for those who continue to exit at the north door.

We think the idea is worth a try, and we ask that all students using the building give the idea a chance.

Death of a solution

The Senate by a vote of 52-41 dealt the final death blow Monday to the 1966 Civil Rights Bill with its controversial and key section on 'open housing.' The failure of this addition to the raft of legislation designed to protect our Negro citizens comes at a time when all indicators point to its urgent need.

We have come to the end of our most racially 'hot summer' thus recorded. And if this summer of simmering racial turmoil proved one thing it is that the racial discontent that is plaguing this nation is indeed a national and not a sectional problem. Most of the rioting that seared the American scene this summer occurred not in the 'deep South' but in large urban centers of the North like Chicago, Cleveland, Dayton, Baltimore, Omaha and Des Moines.

One of the key factors in almost all of these outbreaks of racial frustration in the North that initiated in racial ghettos was housing — frightfully poor housing.

The 1966 Civil Rights Bill would have to some extent — it would have effected only about 40% of the nation's housing — rectified this source of racial discontent. But now the Senate has killed this hope and if the Johnson Administration hopes for enactment of 'fair housing' it must wait and start over from scratch again in the next congressional session.

It is hard to say where the blame lies for the defeat of the bill. Was political expediency due to the nearness of elections? The white backlash to the new cry of 'black power'? Or the 'unconstitutionality' of Title IV on housing as Senator Dirksen continually cited?

But regardless where the blame may fall it is certain that nation will again next summer — if not sooner — be the loser. More racial troubles will again erupt while Congress again hassles over the enacting a measure this is long overdue and tragically needed.

Little woman's little mysteries stump her husband

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little mysteries is what a modern wife does after fixing her hubby's breakfast in the morning.

If you ask her, she will flutter her pretty eyelashes and reply, "Start cleaning the house, of course."

The other day while waiting to catch a bus to go to work I fell into idle conversation with a young diaper deliveryman.

"This job has wrecked me for marriage," he volunteered, "I'll never get married."

"That so? Why?"

"Because I've learned too much about women — I mean too much about what they really are."

"What are they really?" I asked.

"They're hypocrites. Believe me, I know. I see them when they are off guard, and 99 out of 100 are hypocrites."

"How's that?"

"Well, you see that apartment house over there?" he said, pointing at a nearby building. "There are 120 families living in it. All the wives are sending their husbands off to earn them a living. But if the husbands came back half an hour later, what do you think they'd find their wives doing?"

"Why, probably cleaning up the house," I volunteered.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. You make me laugh."

"Well, what would they be doing?"

"Everything but cleaning up the house." "Such as?"

"Well, most of them have probably jumped right back in bed for another snooze. They think they've done their main work for the day when they give their husband a bawling out and a piece of burnt toast and push him out the front door."

"Well, how about the ones that don't jump back in bed?"

"They're even worse," said the young man.

"What do they do?"

"They dye their hair, and figure out what they can take back and exchange at the department store, and call up their bookies to make bets and —"

"Make bets?"

"Yeah, most of them are too lazy to go to the track."

"Do they do anything else?"

"Mister, you wouldn't believe the half of what they do. They put on a robe and gather at a neighbor's for a coffee klatch. And it ain't always just for coffee. They swill gin fizzes and laugh at what fools they've got for husbands."

The young man left to make a delivery, and reaching in my pocket I found I had left my money in another suit.

Back I went and rang the bell to my apartment. My wife Frances came to the door with the phone in her hand but she said it wasn't the bookie she was calling but somebody else. There was a delicious smell coming from the stove, but she said it wasn't for her, it was some liver she was warming for the cat.

"Are you crazy or something, Rover?" she asked. "Go on to work."

"Why?"

"Why?" she asked. "Why, so I can start cleaning the house, silly."

Well, I just don't know. Whom can a husband believe — the neighborhood diaperman or his wife?

Drug prices avoid inflation

NEW YORK — Prescription drugs are one of the few items that have gone down in price while almost all others have been hit by inflation, The Insider's Newsletter reported today.

According to Bureau of Labor statistics, prescription drug prices are still responding to the after-effects of the Kefauver hearings. Figures show that their prices on the cost of living index is down 0.4 percent from the first quarter of this year and other statistics indicate that their cost has been edging down since 1960.

The Newsletter reports that the major price decline has occurred among antibiotics and tetracyclines — prime targets of the Kefauver probe.

Drug industry economists attribute the lower prices to competition stemming from (1) government interest in encouraging the manufacture of cut-rate generic drugs and (2) court orders to holders of exclusive patents on certain drugs to make the process available to other firms.

However, while prescription drug prices were going down, the cost of over-the-counter preparations went up 1.1 percent.

A member of the Proprietary Association explains that whereas some sections of the ethical drug industry are just beginning to feel the pressures of competition, the proprietary business has been competitive for a long time and responsive to today's inflation.

LBJ Signs Parcel Post Rate Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Tuesday signed a bill that will permit mailing of increasingly bigger and heavier packages by parcel post over the next five years and raise rates an average of 10 cents a package next Jan. 15.

And with many members of Congress present for the ceremony in the Cabinet Room, Johnson also:

- Talked about government finances, expressed a hope "to make income meet our outgo" and tossed out a hint of a possible tax increase in the year ahead.
- Proclaimed National Zip Code Week starting Oct. 10 to appeal to 200 million Americans to help the government speed up handling of the growing volume of mail.

Weight Limits Raised
The bill Johnson signed will raise the limit in weight of packages shipped between first class post offices from the present 20 pounds to 25 pounds next July 1, to 30 pounds on July 1, 1968 and to 40 pounds in 1969.

The present size limit — total length - and - girth measurement — of 72 inches will be increased to 78 inches in 1970 and to 84 inches in 1971.

At smaller post offices, there will be no change in the present limit of 70 pounds and 100 inches. The bill proposes establishment of an advisory commission to study the impact of the parcel post changes on the express companies and to recommend possible further changes in size and weight limits.

May End Deficits
Johnson got into his talk about federal finances by saying the parcel post bill "may help us in our goal of trying to make income meet our outgo." The new rate that goes into effect next year is expected to boost Post Office revenues by $76 million and help bring the service almost out of the red.

U. S. Forces May Step Up Tank Usage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnamese Communists, masters of the ambush, may be confronted soon with more and more American tanks.

Pentagon sources reported Tuesday the number of U.S. tanks in the war theater has grown to 450 and may go higher pending performance studies.

However, they foresee no classic armored operations involving formations of tanks advancing through jungled areas that abound in the country.

In Open Regions
But Viet Nam has some open regions — the central highlands, for example — where the armored machines can be used, and are being used, to protect convoys defend base perimeters and help in offensive operations.

"I suspect you will see more enthusiasm for tanks as the war goes along," said a ranking general who asked not to be identified.

In the United States, the Army has two armored divisions, the 1st and 2nd, stationed in Texas, but these are being retained as part of the nation's strategic reserve. Armor would be relied upon heavily in the event of a European war.

This officer said, however, some battalions might be drawn from the armored divisions for Southeast Asia as the war progresses.

Army Has 300
The Army has about 300 of the 30-ton M48 tanks in the 2nd and 3rd Corps areas, the midsection of Viet Nam. Marines in the extreme north of the country have about 150. Along with these are about 600 armored personnel carriers which join tanks in convoys through enemy-infested areas.

EROS Launchings Planned To Gather Resources Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new program aimed at gathering facts about the earth's natural resources from earth-orbiting satellites was announced Tuesday night by the Interior Department.

Secretary Stewart L. Udall, in announcing project EROS — Earth Resources Observation Satellites — said there is urgent need to apply space technology towards the solution of "many pressing natural resources problems being compounded by population and industrial growth."

Udall's announcement said it is planned to fly the first satellite in 1969 and the cost of launching this vehicle is not expected to exceed $20 million, "far less than the cost of photographing the earth by conventional aerial means."

He said the project is based on a series of feasibility experiments carried out by the U.S. Geological Survey with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, universities and other institutions over the past two years.

Holiday War Cry Sounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's more than three months 'til Christmas, and what did Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien say Tuesday?
"Shop early, mail early and use ZIP codes."

Thus sounded the first gun of the Post Office Department's annual battle against the avalanche of Christmas mail.

O'Brien acknowledged indirectly that it may be hard for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Citizen to get in the mood for Christmas shopping right now, with no snow and no jingle bells around.

"It definitely is not too early to start putting your mailing list in order," he said. "By organizing your Christmas mailing early you help yourself to a happier and more relaxed season."

The department also announced mailing dates to assure on-time delivery of Christmas mail.

Overseas surface mail should be sent no later than Nov. 10, and overseas airmail by Dec. 10. Gift parcels for distant states should be sent by Dec. 5 and those for nearby areas by Dec. 14.

Trainees Get 5 Fellowships In Education

Five University graduate students in the College of Education will receive fellowships for the 1966-67 academic year under a new program supported through a research training grant from the U.S. Office of Education, Bureau of Research.

The recipients are: Leo A. Garst, G. Bettendorf; George Ross, G. Cedar Rapids; James Andrews, G. Iowa City; Robert Stansbury, G. Waterloo; and Paul Stansky, G. Bremond, Tex.

Iowa is one of 20 colleges and universities across the country selected to participate in the educational research trainee program during its first year, and one of the few designated to train administrators of educational research and information systems.

Willard Lane, professor of education, is director of the program at the University. Each fellowship will carry a $2,400 stipend and an additional $500 for each dependent, in addition to paying for tuition and fees. The basic stipend will be increased to $2,600 for the second year, and $2,800 for the third year.

The program is designed to prepare these students to establish and administer research and information systems in local school districts, state educational agencies, regional units, and colleges and universities.

Specific areas of study will include statistics, accounting, data processing, research design, and educational administration.

Participating students will work toward a specialist or doctoral degree, depending upon the length of time spent in the program.

Murray To See UI Students This Afternoon

William Murray, Republican candidate for governor, will be at the University today for talks with University staff and students.

Murray will arrive at Iowa City about noon for a luncheon at the Elks Club and then he will talk with Phil Connell, assistant to the president, at 2 p.m. He will discuss with Connell the needs of the University.

At 4 p.m. Murray will meet a group of students on the steps of Old Capitol. All students are invited to come and discuss with Murray the needs of the University and what they expect from their education here. Murray will leave Iowa City between 5 and 5:30 p.m.

The Orioles, who reduced their magic number to three, stretched their lead to 9½ games over Detroit, which was rained out of its game against California. Baltimore has 11 games to play, Detroit 12.

Nagel Praises Sophomores For Role In Iowa Victory

The giant stride into intercollegiate competition was taken last Saturday by 14 Iowa sophomore football players — and their efforts earned the praise of Coach Ray Nagel and his assistants.

In the victory over Arizona in the season's opener, five rookies played on the first two units as regulars and the others saw considerable action on the No. 2 combinations.

The offensive eleven had Ed Podolak as starting quarterback and Barry Crees as No. 1 wingback. Podolak had a total offense yardage of 136 in 20 plays, scored two touchdowns on one-yard sneaks and completed 4 of 10 forward passes for 94 yards and a touchdown. He ran the team with poise.

The scoring pass was a perfect 37-yard strike to wingback Barry Crees, a 162-pound scooter who took the ball in full stride and carried a defender with him into the end zone.

Crees also had 28 yards in three carries and blocked with surprising efficiency for a man of his size.

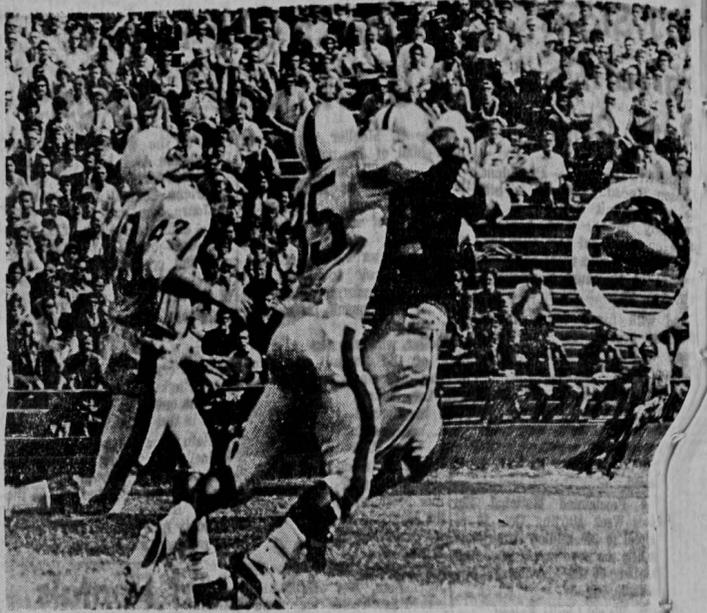

On the defensive team, the ends were Andrew Jackson and Scott Miller, who played steady ball. A bright spot was the performance of left tackle John Evenden, a 258-pounder who moved up from the lower ranks when regular John Diehl broke a shoulder. Evenden made three solo tackles and four assists and recovered an Arizona fumble.

John Hayes played as No. 2 offensive left end and Greg McManus helped out at offensive center. The second defensive team had seven sophomores: Tom Haugo, left tackle; Craig Miller, right guard; Duane Grant, right tackle; Sterling Laaveg, right end; Bob Gibbs, left halfback; Steve Wilson, right halfback; and Al Bream, safety.

"This game was a great lift to our younger players — it took off some of the nervous edge and gave them confidence. They can be a great help to the team in future games," said Coach Nagel.

CREES

IT'S CALLED INTERFERENCE — Arizona's Jim White (35) neck-tied Iowa's Barry Crees in the end zone as Crees reached for a pass from sophomore quarterback Ed Podolak. Interference was called on the play and Iowa scored its first touchdown moments later. Crees, also a sophomore, later caught a touchdown pass from Podolak, while Podolak scored twice on quarterback sneaks. The two highlighted the play of a fine group of Iowa sophomores in the game.

Beavers Are Not That Bad Says Oregon State's Egger

A shocked and somewhat downcast John Eggers, sports information director for Oregon State University, Tuesday still was able to talk about his team, as he made the press-radio-TV rounds ahead of the game with the University of Iowa here Saturday.

Eggers, who knows Iowa from the sad experiences of five straight Oregon State defeats by the Hawkeyes, including one in the Rose Bowl, said that the Beavers still are trying to win — and "maybe we can get fortunate and break this string of losses."

So John speaks, hopefully but certainly not confidently:

"It's difficult to brag too much about a team that was whipped, 41-0, but I still think we have a mighty fine football team. It's a cinch that the Beavers will be a much more sound club as a result of last week's setback. Coach Dee Andros feels that we still can have a good season and one opening defeat doesn't make or break the season."

"Before the season began it was our belief that we had more depth and balance than a year ago. Our coaches still believe this is true. They have great respect for Iowa's team. Rich Brooks, who scouted the Iowa-Arizona game, came away convinced that Iowa now is a much better club than the one we lost to in Portland last year, 27-7.

"It was no freak situation that fullback Pete Pifer broke an all-school rushing record with 1,095 yards last year. He is still a great back. We have virtually our entire backfield from 1965 and in quarterback Paul Brothers and wingback Bobby Grim we have two of the finest college backs in the country.

"Our passing attack didn't go well at Michigan. We do have faith that split end Harry Gunner will be an excellent target for the passes of Brothers the rest of the way."

Indians Top Twins, 4-1
CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Tiant allowed Minnesota a run on a wild pitch, then came back with a two-run, bases-loaded single, helping the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 victory over the Twins Tuesday night.

Tiant, who started after Sonny Siebert came up with a sore shoulder, drove in Bill Davis and Max Alvis after two were out in the fourth inning.

Writer Picks Iowa To Beat Oregon State

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Now that he's had his shakedown cruise, the O' Swami tries to call the seams after a leaky start of football forecasting (4 right, 5 wrong):

Notre Dame 17, Purdue 14 — The Irish unveil a pair of sophomore passers, Terry Hanratty and Coley O'Brien. If they are consistent enough to complement great running potential led by Nick Eddy, Purdue may fall. However, it is a big "if". A national TV audience will see one of the country's best quarterbacks in action — the Bolle-makers Bob Griese.

Northwestern 20, Indiana 13 — The start of the Big 10 campaign with both teams trying to overcome humiliating openers. The Wildcats wilted 43-7 at Florida, while Pesky Miami of Ohio tripped the Hoosiers 20-10.

Illinois 19, Missouri 18 — The Illini were hurt by the running of a pair of quarterbacks who led Southern Methodist to a 26-7 triumph. They face the same thing against Missouri's Gary Konrath. He passed and ran the Tigers over Minnesota 24-0.

Michigan State 24, Penn State 14 — The Spartans' new quarterback, Jimmy Raye, still has to prove he can throw. Until he does, the load must be carried by runners Clint Jones and Bob Apisa as it was in a 28-10 decision over North Carolina State.

Ohio State 17, TCU 14 — The Buckeyes will make their debut and coach Woody Hayes still considers games with outsiders as mere warmups for conference foes. As the result, anything can happen. The Horned Frogs held powerful Nebraska scoreless in the last half in bowling 14-10.

Michigan 21, California 13 — The speed of Carl Ward, the hammering of Dave Fisher and the passing of Dick Vidmer to Jack Clancy should provide the edge. The combination clicked for a 41-0 smashing of Oregon State. Vidmer must shoot over Wayne Stewart, a 6 foot 7 inch soph, who stole three aeriels in California's ambush of Washington State.

Iowa 18, Oregon State 11 — Rookie quarterback Ed Podolak made the Hawkeyes click for a 31-20 romp over Arizona to break an eight-game losing streak. The momentum should continue against the bashed Beavers, who yielded more than 500 yards to Michigan. Iowa's only victory in 1965 was over the Beavers, 27-7.

Southern California 20, Wisconsin 10 — One of the Badgers' main weapons, as it was in subduing Iowa State 20-10, may be field goal kicker Tom Schinke. It's not enough this time against a Trojan team that jarred Texas 10-6.

Stanford 19, Minnesota 16 — The Gophers could surprise if the breaks come right for quarterback Curtis Wilson. They didn't in a 24-0 blanking by Missouri. Wilson faces a sophomore quarterback whiz, Gene Washington, who fired two TD tosses and ran for a third to lead the Indians over San Jose State 25-21.

Cardenas' Double Trips Cubs In 13 Innings, 6-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Cardenas' double and Gordy Coleman's pinch single drove in three runs in the 13th inning as the Cincinnati Reds snapped a six-game losing streak by beating the Chicago Cubs 6-3 Tuesday.

Cardenas' double drove in Vada Pinon, who had singled and stole second. After an intentional walk, Coleman batted for Tony Perez and singled two more runs home.

MAN'S GREATEST INVENTION?

At one time the wheel was considered man's greatest invention. Today it is taken for granted. The same is true of many of the comforts and conveniences provided by gas and electricity . . . to the point that few people realize how much they rely upon these services each month.

"Round the clock . . . you make use of gas or electricity to keep you warm in winter . . . cool in summer . . . provide entertainment . . . cook food . . . supply hot water automatically . . . and eliminate the drudgery of tiresome household chores.

The typical family today uses more than half again as much electricity as it did ten years ago . . . and more gas, too. As a result, gas and electric bills are higher.

Because of this increased use, in part, the unit costs of gas and electricity have remained remarkably low. Most people agree — they are two of today's best bargains.

Spotlight On Sports No Football For WSUI ...

By RON BLISS
Asst. Sports Editor

Those who were unable to attend last Saturday's Iowa-Arizona game, but who were on campus, may have gotten a surprise if they tried to tune the game in on WSUI, the University owned and operated radio station.

Instead of football, you may have tuned in Beethoven's 8th symphony or Wagner's Concerto in E flat. At any rate, for the first time in 47 years, WSUI was not carrying the Iowa football game — nor will it carry future games this season, thanks to a recommendation by the Radio Committee, a special group appointed by the Extension of University Services to make a study of that radio station's activities.

Ruling Is Ironic

The Committee ruled in mid-August that broadcasting football games by the station was merely a duplication of broadcasts by different stations around the state, and therefore unnecessary.

Instead, the Committee said, the station should be offering students and people of Iowa City something of cultural value that they can't get anywhere else.

Ironically enough, broadcasting of football gave people something they couldn't get anywhere else when it broadcast its first game in 1919. When WSUI started broadcasting Iowa football that year, it became the first station in the country to broadcast live, play-by-play sports.

The station wasn't licensed at the time, but at any rate is formally recognized as the first radio station west of the Mississippi River.

Don Hein, who is sports director for the station is undoubtedly disturbed by the ruling, but not for the reasons most people would think. Hein's pay is not affected, nor is his status as sports director of the station.

Student Is Loner

"The big loss is to the kids who look to WSUI for an opportunity to gain experience in play-by-play broadcasting," says Hein.

"Where are these kids going to get a better opportunity to break into broadcasting than to be able to do play-by-play broadcasting of Big 10 football?"

Last fall, Hein had three assistants who gained experience while helping with broadcasts of Iowa football games. This year he expected as many as five.

"Just about everything is duplication in radio these days," says Hein, "but there is no other area in broadcasting where these kids can get such good experience. Where are they going to go?"

Why Not Football

Hein's argument seems well founded, and the Radio Committee's decision a bit biased. I don't think it's wrong to have classical music on WSUI. Some people enjoy it. But some people also enjoy listening to football, and with student tickets costing $10 a piece this year, fewer students will be attending the games and more will want to listen to it on radio.

Sure, if they want to listen to the game on radio, they can tune into any other radio station in Iowa and pick up the broadcast, but how well? Besides, a University as big as Iowa should be allowed to carry broadcasts of at least the home games, especially since we are a Big 10 school.

Probably the biggest reason why the broadcasts should be continued though, goes back to the complaint lodged by Hein — that it robs the students of the opportunity to gain broadcasting experience. In a sense, the student's opportunity to broadcast on WSUI is parallel to the opportunity the Daily Iowan offers for News-Editorial journalism majors to gain experience writing. No matter how much you teach the student in the classroom, the saying that "experience is the best teacher" still stands up.

It all leads up to the one point — that it will be a crime against education if such broadcasts are not continued. There are certainly other times that WSUI can give the students and the people of Iowa City its cultural programs and there isn't a better way to get the same audience started listening to the station.

If the committee's recommendation hasn't already been reconsidered, we feel it should be, for the sake of those involved.

Patterson Scores Knockout Over England's Henry Cooper

LONDON (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, floored British champion Henry Cooper twice before knocking him out in 2:20 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night.

Patterson won the first two rounds and then dropped Cooper for the first time in the third round for a count of three. In the fourth, a left and right to the head floored the Briton for a count of nine. Cooper staggered to his feet and Patterson went right after him. He smashed a left and right to the head and the 32-year-old Briton went down for the full count.

Clay Victims

The two veterans were making their first starts since being stopped in title bouts by champion Cassius Clay. Patterson was humiliated by Clay in losing on a 12-round technical knockout at Las Vegas, Nev., last Nov. 22. Cooper was stopped on cuts in the sixth round in London last May 21.

Patterson, two-time holder of the world crown, said he would retire if he lost to Cooper. But it was Patterson all the way before a crowd of about 10,000 in the Wembley Indoor Stadium.

Patterson weighed 193 pounds to Cooper's 191 1/2. It was the seventh time the cut-prone Cooper had been stopped in a 47-fight career. His record is 33-13-1. Patterson, 31, has a 44-5 record, including 23 knockouts. He has been stopped four times.

MSU Gains Top Spot In AP Football Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan State's football team lost some of its star players through graduation, but right now the Spartans are at the head of the class. They hold a slim lead over UCLA in The Associated Press' weekly college Top Ten poll.

The Spartans collected 12 first-place votes and 338 points in the first poll of the regular season announced Tuesday. UCLA drew 13 votes for the top position, but had 328 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. Alabama is third followed by Nebraska, Southern California, Arkansas, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan and Baylor. A total of 41 regional selectors participated in the balloting based on games through last Saturday.

Picked to win its third straight national championship in the AP's pre-season poll, Alabama opens its season Saturday night against Louisiana Tech. Michigan State and UCLA began impressively last weekend, the Spartans whipping North Carolina State 28-10 and the Bruins trouncing Pittsburgh 57-14. Michigan State lost five players from the defense that was the best in the country last season, yielding an average of only 45.6 yards per game.

The Spartans topped the poll virtually throughout the entire 1965 campaign, but fell to second after being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl. Notre Dame and Alabama are the only teams in the Top Ten which have yet to open their seasons. The Irish start Saturday against Purdue.

The Top Ten with won-lost records, through games Saturday, Sept. 17 and total points:

1. Mich. State (1-0)	338
2. UCLA (1-0)	328
3. Alabama (0-0)	260
4. Nebraska (1-0)	203
5. Southern Calif. (1-0)	193
6. Arkansas (1-0)	140
7. Purdue (1-0)	132
8. Notre Dame (0-0)	120
9. Michigan (1-0)	106
10. Baylor (1-0)	94

The Falcons placed three players on waivers Tuesday, put another on the waiver injury list, and placed one on reserve — leaving room to add Larry Morris to the player list.

Morris, a linebacker who distinguished himself at Georgia Tech, finally returned home to play for Atlanta after a long hassle with former employer George Halas of the Chicago Bears.

The Falcons had until Tuesday to cut the player list to 42, and by placing Nick Rassas, a defensive back, on the waiver injury list, the Atlanta squad actually got down to 41. This leaves a place for Morris.

Tackle Guy Reese was placed on the reserve list. Those placed on waivers are end Hugh McInnis, flanker Red Mack and offensive tackle Rich Koeper.

Dallas' Meredith Gets Nod As NFL's Back Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Meredith, Dallas Cowboys' quarterback, has turned the hometown boos to oohs.

Because Meredith called what Coach Tom Landry said was "as near a perfect game as I ever saw," he has been named Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League by The Associated Press.

Meredith probably has taken as much abuse as any passer in pro football history in his painfully slow development. Finally, with a bearded-up running game to help, he appears ready to become a superstar.

The former Southern Methodist ace took the New York Giants apart in Dallas Sunday afternoon, 52-7. Although he played less than three quarters, Meredith completed 14 of 24 passes for 358 yards and five touchdowns.

"Don was in command all the time," said Landry. "He moved the team with great confidence, made only one bad pass and played the best game of his career."

Even John Unitas, spectacular record-breaking passer in Minnesota had to take second place to the Meredith fireworks. But Unitas will be back again and again. The Baltimore star broke Y. A. Tittle's career touchdown record of 212 and wound up with 214 after four TD passes in the Colts' 38-23 victory over the Vikings.

Houk Gets Confidence Vote From New Yankee President

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Burke made his official debut as president of the New York Yankees Tuesday and said the club would not be sold or moved out of Yankee Stadium.

Burke, who will keep his eye on the Yankees for the Columbia Broadcasting System, also gave Manager Ralph Houk a vote of confidence and said the club was considering three or four men for the general manager's job.

But he said that "as a new kid on the block" he couldn't yet announce any concrete plans to return the last-place Yankees to the head of the class in the American League.

Burke became top man in the Yankee organization Monday when Dan Topping resigned and sold his remaining 10 per cent holdings in the club to CBS, giving the communications giant sole control of the team.

Burke, who had been a vice president at CBS while serving on the Yankee board of directors, made no official statement Tuesday as he met reporters for the first time but answered all questions on the rumors that have been circling the club since its decline this season.

He said pointedly that CBS "is not going to sell the club," that "Ralph Houk is our guy" and that he had not spoken to Lee MacPhail about taking the job as general manager.

As for Yankee Stadium, which some feel is the main reason for the club's declining attendance, Burke said in answer to a question that he did not think the ball park was obsolete.

"You just don't leave anything that's unique," he said.

Crewe Will Speak At Science Meet

Dr. Albert V. Crewe, director of the Argonne National Laboratory, will be one of two outstanding scientists speaking at evening sessions of the Science Writers Seminar Monday through Wednesday.

Dr. Crewe will speak to the 30 journalists enrolled in the seminar, plus scientists and other special guests, including several University department heads and deans, Monday night at a meeting at the Athletic Club. The speaker for Tuesday night is Dr. Edwin T. Mertz, a biochemist from Purdue University.

Crime Is Topic

Although Dr. Crewe is a specialist and innovator in the field of particle acceleration, and went to Argonne to work on a huge particle accelerator, his topic for the evening will be "Crime as a Scientific Problem."

Dr. Crewe favors creating a new kind of scientific laboratory which would deal exclusively with applying science and technology to the problem of crime prevention and crime detection. "Arguing that the problem of criminal activity should not be left just in the hands of the legal and psychiatric professions, Dr. Crewe believes that ways must be found to apply science and technology to criminal problems. "I have in mind a laboratory about ten times the size of the FBI laboratory," says Dr. Crewe, "one which would have available to it equipment of the highest performance."

He believes this program and laboratory, using the best and fastest computers available, could be especially successful in the area of crime prevention, an area which he says has too long been considered second in importance to crime detection.

Is Also Professor

Dr. Crewe is also professor in the department of physics at the Fermi Institute, University of Chicago. In 1956 he was named technical director of the Synchrotron at The University of Chicago. He has been director of the Argonne National Laboratory since 1961.

In addition to the 11 scientists previously announced as being part of the seminar is Dr. Sidney Fox, an exobiologist from the University of Miami. Exobiology deals with the biology of outer space.

3 Demo Leaders Slated For Visit To 1st District

Three top Democratic leaders will visit the First District during October to campaign for Rep. John R. Schmidhauser (D-Iowa).

Sen. Edward Muskee (D-Maine) will visit the First District on Oct. 1 for a series of appearances with Schmidhauser. Schmidhauser has worked with Muskee in the areas of water and air pollution abatement, flood control and harbor facilities for the upper Mississippi River. They also worked together to gain authorization to construct a bridge over the Mississippi River at Muscatine.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes will attend a dinner honoring Schmidhauser on Oct. 5 at Wapello.

A third appearance will be made by Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.) on Oct. 17 in the First District. Schmidhauser has worked with McGovern to expand U.S. world markets for agricultural products and to bring full parity of income to the nation's agricultural producers.

ASK REINFORCEMENTS—

CALCUTTA, India — West Bengal state has asked for police reinforcements from nearby states and put 600 leftists under preventive arrest in preparation for a 48-hour general strike called by Communists and allies for Thursday and Friday to dramatize food shortages and protest rising prices. The strike is opposed by many workers. More than 50 were killed during rioting in similar strikes earlier.

Justice Robert Larson wrote a dissent in which Chief Justice Theodore Garfield and Justice Francis Becker joined. Larson said it was a well established rule in most jurisdictions that a common purpose among two or more persons to commit a crime need not be shown by positive evidence but might be inferred from circumstances and the defendant's conduct before, at the time and after the crime is committed.

Iowa City Man's Conviction Is Overturned By State Court

DES MOINES — An Iowa City man's conviction of larceny in the nighttime was overturned Tuesday by the Iowa Supreme Court, which said it apparently was a case of guilt by association.

The 6-3 opinion by Justice W. C. Stuart said the state failed to prove that Aubrey W. Daves participated in a $100 theft from a cash drawer at the Iowa City bus station committed by his roommate.

"It appears the jury convicted the defendant because of his close association with one obviously guilty of larceny rather than on proof of his participation in or encouragement of the crime charged," the opinion said.

Police testified they saw Daves' roommate pry open the cash drawer late the night of March 8, 1965, while Daves and a companion roamed about the depot.

The three were arrested the next day, and marked money which had been in the drawer was found on Daves' roommate. None of the money was found on the other two.

The Supreme Court said it

Nursing Sites Mark Time On Extended Care

DES MOINES — Indications are most Iowa nursing homes have adopted a wait-and-see attitude on participating in the "extended care facilities" phase of medicare, which goes into effect Jan. 1.

The delay, described in some quarters as "a temporary boycott," is attributed to nursing home administrators, dissatisfaction with the federal government's proposed reimbursement formula for medicare patients.

The administrators contend the reimbursement formula — 2 per cent over costs — is "unrealistically low" and fails to take into consideration such factors as plant maintenance, expansion and adequate return on invested capital.

Ralph Quackenbush, executive secretary of the Iowa Nursing Home Association, said most nursing home owners believe they should receive 7 to 8 per cent return on their invested capital.

The proposed government formula of a 2 per cent margin of profit, he said, very likely would result in patients under 65 being charged more than medicare patients "to balance the books."

The Iowa Nursing Home Association has 231 members, which represent more than half of 16,000 beds in licensed nursing homes in Iowa.

Viet Cong Sign Says 'Fight To Last Man'

LANDING ZONE Bluebird, South Viet Nam — A Communist sign just outside Gia Binh, a heavily fortified village near the demilitarized zone, says "We will fight to the last man."

U.S. Marines of the 1st Battalion, 26th Regiment, 5th Division, are giving the Red garrison a chance to prove it. They are finding the resistance unusually tenacious, but so far have counted 139 enemy dead.

Fortifications Overrun

A Marine company and a platoon of four M48 tanks moved in Tuesday to try to overrun the fortifications, including concrete pillboxes, that for three days had resisted the attacks of two other companies. Two of the tanks were armed with flame throwers.

The tanks quickly came under fire from a Communist 57mm recoilless rifle. None was knocked out, but a shell hit the turret of one and wounded a crewman. The tanks blasted out the gun emplacement and moved slowly ahead.

Jets Support Marines

All day long, U.S. jets screamed over the village in support of the Marines. Their bombs rocked the earth and blasted up huge spouts of dirt and smoke.

But the Marine company, which moved up against little serious opposition, came under enemy rifle fire late in the day.

The issue was unresolved at nightfall.

One of the companies in previous action against Gia Binh was pinned down by fire from recoilless rifles, heavy machine guns and automatic weapons. It took what the military terms moderate casualties.

Company Hit Hard

Another company nearby also received serious punishment.

The battalion commander, Lt. Col. Anthony A. Monty, 37, of Jamestown, R.I., said: "They apparently have something there they don't want us to get."

"They're fighting hard," he said. His command post is less than 2,000 yards from the front. It has been under nightly grenade attacks.

Monty said the enemy, identified by their green uniforms and pith helmets as North Vietnamese regulars, apparently has a tunnel complex. It enables them to run underground while under American bombardment.

The village lies only about 300 yards from the southern edge of the demilitarized zone. This is a six-mile-wide strip on the border supposed to be free of armed activity under the 1954 Geneva accord and still barred to allied ground forces despite Communist violations.

Soviets Brand Revolution In Red China As 'Tragedy'

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union directed a withering attack at Red China's cultural revolution Tuesday, branding it a "tragedy for the Chinese people" and accusing Peking of warring on all Communists in the world who rejects its line.

The Soviet government paper Izvestia suggested pointedly that some day "healthy forces" of the Chinese Communist party would lead the country back to a more rational path.

New Stage In Quarrel

The broadside, couched in the harshest of terms, signalled a new stage of the long Soviet-Chinese quarrel. Moscow, after a long period of restraint in the face of taunts and insults from Peking, once again is retorting in kind.

Izvestia denounced the current "great proletarian cultural revolution" — or purge — in China as inflicting unprecedented discredit on the ideas of Marx and Lenin, the founders of modern communism.

Izvestia said the 11th plenary session of the Chinese Communist party Central Committee in August, which launched the violent Red Guards movement of teen-agers against all things considered either "bourgeois" or "revisionist" demonstrated that Peking planned "an open political struggle" not only against the Soviet Union, but also against all Communist countries which rejected Peking thinking.

China's Communist leaders constantly accuse the Soviet Union of "revisionism," or departure from the revolutionary line of world communism. The Chinese policy, said Izvestia, helps the enemies of communism and arouses "decisive protest" among the world's Communist parties.

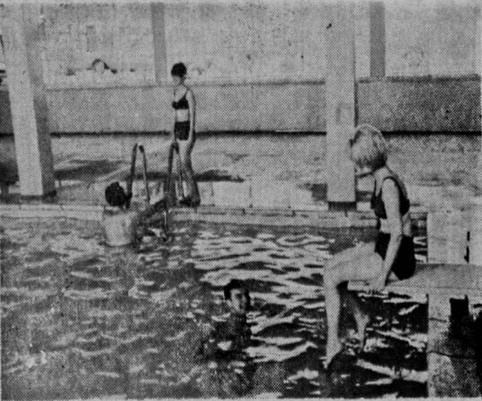

The Izvestia attack came against a background of continued Red Guards violence in China against persons and things once respected. Arrivals from China reported in Hong Kong that Red Guards had ransacked the Shanghai home of Mrs. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of modern China, who has been a staunch supporter of the Communist regime, and one of its vice presidents.

Mrs. Sun, the former Soong Ching-ling, is a sister of Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the president of Nationalist China. Mrs. Sun's prestige had meant much to the Peking regime, but Red Guards accused her of leading a life of luxury and demanded confiscation of all her property.

The "Twentieth Century" series will present documentary and human interest films in the Illinois Room at 7 on Tuesday evenings. The first show will be "Mein Kampf," a documentary on the rise and fall of Nazi Germany, on Sept. 27. Admission is free.

—International Center Opens In 1952—

Experiment Becomes Permanent

By DIANE HYPES Staff Writer

What started as an experiment 3 years ago has developed into an active and growing International Center which is located at 219 N. Clinton in a spacious house that has more of an atmosphere of a lovely home than that of a University organization. Directed by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Maner, the Center is an important part of the University's growth in both social and academic education.

In an interview, Mrs. Maner, hostess of the International Center, explained the history and the structural organization of the Center.

Established in 1952

The Center was first established in 1952, Mrs. Maner said, and has developed from the experimental phase into a working and growing organization. The Center was first located where News and Information Service is now, but continued growth the next four years required the Center to move in 1956 to what was formerly Professor Shambaugh's house.

Mrs. Maner said that she and her husband have been in charge of the Center since it first opened in 1952. Maner is also advisor to foreign students.

Center Is Composition

The structure of the Center Mrs. Maner explained, is a composition of many things all of which work together as a unit to promote understanding on other ities are only for the members of the association.

Mrs. Maner was very explicit in explaining that the Center was not just intended as a club for foreign students. This, she remarked, was an important part, but the Center is also a place where all are welcome who are interested in promoting a better understanding of world cultures.

Within the confines of the Center, several organizations are in operation, one of which is the International Center Association, a student organization, Mrs. Maner said. This operates as any other club might.

Membership in the association usually is about 100 and it organizes itself along interest groups, parties, discussions and recreation. Some of these activities are only for the members of the association.

Membership in the association usually is about 100 and it organizes itself along interest groups, parties, discussions and recreation. Some of these activities are only for the members of the association. Mrs. Maner said, the Center becomes a "very busy" place. In September orientation activities for the new foreign students is the beginning of an active year. This helps to introduce the foreign students to American campus life. Many students, Mrs. Maner said, have no experience with organizations such as the Center and most of them have never had any association with U. S. college campuses.

One of the social activities, which was one of the first projects of the Center in its first year, is the International group dinner parties usually given about once a month during the school year. This is a dinner party given by a group representing a different country each month, and in which food from that country is prepared and served to a group of not more than 45.

Festival Is Highlight

Perhaps the most important highlight of the year, is the International Festival to be presented in December of this year. This, explained Mrs. Maner, brings all of the national groups together to participate in a show depicting each country's culture, which is tied together with a script and musical arrangement. Mrs. Maner said this was an extremely important part of the activities because it brought all of the groups together in a working and cooperative type of atmosphere.

The University Club also arranges several outings for the Center which includes a lunch and tour of the Amana Colonies. Arrangements are also made for the students to enjoy a Sunday dinner in an American home.

Represent 50 Countries

The foreign students represent 50 countries, the biggest part of them being men and graduate students, Mrs. Maner said. Most of the students, she said, return to their country when they graduate and their areas of study usually indicate a specific need of their country.

Mrs. Maner said the Center has what she called "two functions," first to provide a home-like situation, a place where the students can come and go in a family type atmosphere and a social function where understanding can be attained on both foreign and American levels.

Concluding, Mrs. Maner said, during the years she has acted as hostess for the Center, she has been able to see a relationship between the realities of the world situation and the attitudes and actions reflected by the students.

New Dental Building Discussed By Officials

Two officials in the Education and Facilities Branch of the Division of Dental Health, U.S. Public Health Service, were here Sept. 13-14 to discuss proposed a new dental building.

The men were Dr. Harry W. Bruce, chief of the branch, and Stanley Dube, staff architect. The visit is preliminary to any granting of federal approval and funds for the project, which is still in preliminary planning stages.

Drop out of school now and that's what they'll call you all your working life

Nobody looks down on a man with a good education. People respect him. They treat him right because they know he's got what it takes. You know it. Everybody knows it. A good education always shows. And so does a small education. Which will you have?

Remember: respect is only one of the things a good education gets you. It can also get you a good job. A good salary. And a real chance to enjoy mbr of the good things in life. So if you're in school now . . . stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. It can really make a difference.

If you're out of school, don't give up. You can still get plenty of valuable training outside the classroom. And it's well worth the effort.

White Principal Reinstated In Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — The White principal of Harlem's brand-new Intermediate School 201 was reinstated Tuesday, after the integrated faculty had struck because he had been replaced by a Negro aide.

Ninety-five per cent of the 55 white, Negro and Puerto Rican teachers boycotted classrooms, and, in the face of the revolt, the Board of Education reversed itself and restored Principal Stanley Lissner to his post.

"He will be fully supported by the board and the superintendent," the announcement said.

Claim Racial Pressure

The faculty claimed Lissner had been eased out by School Supt. Bernard Donovan and the board because of racial pressure by Negro parents for a Negro principal.

However, Donovan maintained that he and the school board has assured Lissner he could remain as principal, but that the educator subsequently made a "voluntary request for reassignment."

The $5 million, air-conditioned school at Madison Avenue and 127th Street opened for the first time with most of its 500 Negro and Puerto Rican pupils present. An intermediate school covers grades five through eight.

There were only 15 teachers on hand, however — three of them regular faculty members, and the others brought in from outside.

"Educationally it was not the best situation," reported district supervisor Murray Hart, "but it was tenable. Obviously, if you have 15 teachers when you need 55, you can't do as adequate a job as you could with a full complement."

Services In Operation

Hart said all services, including the cafeteria, were in operation at IS 201.

The United Parents Association, claiming to speak for 400-000 parents of New York school children, said failure to reinstate Lissner "could set the stage for fear, intimidation and racism in every school and totally disrupt and inhibit the education of the city's children."

IS 201 had been scheduled to open Sept. 12 with the start of the new school year. Replacing a dilapidated nearby building, it was regarded as a showcase among New York schools.

Its student body is composed almost entirely of Negro and Puerto Rican children and some of their parents demanded that white pupils be bused in from other areas to advance integration.

When the school board refused, the parents then demanded appointment of a Negro principal at IS 201 and a say in the curriculum of the school and the makeup of the faculty.

Loren Kottner, director of the Union, has announced that a new area, to be called The Gold Carpet, will be modeled on facilities which some airlines provide for passengers who have flown more than 100,000 miles.

Other innovations are a restaurant, snackbar, box office, and expansion of the Terrace Lounge.

Gold Carpet Room

The Gold Carpet will be located in the room now used for the television lounge and the former YWCA offices, Kottner said, and will include lockers, snack

Krapf To Play Music Faculty Compositions

Organ music spanning four centuries will be presented by Gerhard Krapf, associate professor of music, in a recital at 8:15 p.m. Sept. 28 in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. The program will be open to the public. No tickets will be required.

Compositions by Krapf and a fellow faculty member will highlight the program. Krapf will play his own set of variations on the 17th-century hymn "Praise Ye the Lord, the Almighty."

A chorale prelude by Walter T. Atcherson, assistant professor of music, will also be presented. This prelude is based on the Lenten hymn "O Sacred Head Now Wounded," which, according to Krapf, was adapted for church music during the 17th century from a secular tune.

Hailed as a "master organist" with "a fine sensitivity to both form and feeling" by Midwest music critics, Krapf has given recitals in Germany, Austria, and Hungary, as well as in the United States.

He is a graduate of Offenburg Gymnasium and the Karlsruhe Hochschule for Music, both in Germany, and holds a master of music degree from the University of Redlands, California. Before joining the music faculty in 1961, he taught at Northwest Missouri State College, Maryville, and at the University of Wyoming, Laramie.

Engle Exhibits Foreign Posters

Sixty-five posters, collected by Writer's Workshop director Paul Engle, will be exhibited until Oct. 17 in the Upper Gallery of the Art Building.

Engle collected the posters in Europe last spring and autumn and in the Far East three years ago. Countries represented in the poster exhibit include France, Germany, Poland, India and Japan; cities include Warsaw, Krakow, Berlin, Tokyo, Calcutta, and New Delhi.

The posters are not all "travel" posters, but include announcements of plays, operas, films and art and historical exhibitions. Some of the most interesting, according to Engle, announce the coming of a circus in Poland.
