Sticker Sales Lag For Student Parking Lots

By DOUG HIRSCH
City Editor

Parking director John Dooley said Thursday that the University sale of reserved parking lot stickers to students was lagging.

He said the University had about 1,091 reserved spaces available for students and that 1,200 reserved stickers had been purchased for the spaces.

"However, we feel that we can issue a 50 per cent oversell in the lots," he said. "There is quite a bit of fluid motion in the lots."

Campus Security Department officials have registered 5,600 cars this fall. By January of last fall's semester only 5,300 had been registered. Under a new policy, motorcycles have to be registered at the University and registration stickers for 250 motorcycles have been purchased. Cost of registering cars and motorcycles is $3 a year.

Apprehension Cited

Sales of reserved stickers were lagging, he said, because students were "apprehensive" about not finding parking spaces and did not wish to pay the $40 fee for reserving a space.

"But the $40 fee is much more reasonable for students than banning cars," said Dooley. "Most schools have raised parking prices and banned certain cars."

The University did slap a "partial" ban upon freshmen last spring. Freshmen are not eligible to purchase the reserved sticker and cannot park in any University-owned parking lot or facility, including storage, lots, the parking ramp and metered spaces from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Certain exceptions are allowed in the cases of handicapped or disabled freshmen, students with jobs "in furtherance of their educations," students who commute to the University and freshmen over 21 years of age living in the Iowa City "metropolitan complex" and outside the campus.

The city has criticized the University for not weeding out all unnecessary cars from the student body and not allowing any such cars to be brought to Iowa City. The city considers the University's action of merely not allowing freshmen on the lots during the day as pushing the problem into Iowa City's lap.

Foresees Total Ban

Dooley said he foresees the day when the University would finally ban all unnecessary cars.

"If we could weed out cars people really don't need, then we'd have enough space to meet the needs of the people who need the spaces," said Dooley.

The city also recently complicated the University parking situation. The city council banned parking on a number of arterial streets running into the one-way street couplets of Market and Jefferson streets and Dodge and Governor streets.

"The University is in a peculiar situation because it wanted the traffic to flow on these streets, but wished that the city hadn't taken parking off so rapidly," he said. "But we hope this will help students realize what a nuisance it is to have cars down here if they really don't need them."

Dooley said he was optimistic about the city bus line being able to help the traffic situation.

Buses Subsidized

The University recently gave the bus company $23,000 in return for allowing a University student or staff member to pay only 10 cents for a bus ride by showing an ID card. Everyone else who rides the bus must pay 25 cents. The city will also subsidize the bus company, but the amount has not yet been determined.

Dooley said the new bus route to Hawkeye Apartments was working well and several busses that came from the apartments were filled up. The University will guide the bus company in developing other new routes in "concentrated student areas," he said.

Dooley reminded bus riders that a person could get the benefit of the reduced fare only if he showed a regular staff ID or current student registration. Staff members can get temporary IDs at the Security Department headquarters. Only people who are paid by the University can get the staff IDs.

"We're hoping this bus system will expand and grow as we go along," said Dooley. "We hope to have something as an alternative if we have a certain segment of the student cars. If the bus system keeps going and students find no parking, then they will ride the bus."

Lots Being Resurfaced

The University is also resurfacing certain reserved lots on the campus. The lots behind University Hospitals and south of the Library are receiving asphalt and concrete matting, and dust coatings. Dooley said other lots will also be resurfaced.

"We can't expect these people who pay $40 to park in mudholes," he said.

There have been some complaints about the University waiting for school to start before clearing and resurfacing the two lots.

Dooley said that the resurfacing contractors were busy and could not do the University job until now. Also, Dooley became parking director July 1, spent one month studying his job and the parking situation and then had to requisition the money from the Business Office before contractors could be hired. He promised that work next summer would be done before fall semester classes begin.

U.S. Land Mines Kill 7 GIs On Viet Nam Battlefield

Successful Strikes Reported By Air Force Planes, Navy

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen accidentally detonated four land mines in their own minefield Thursday and killed seven U.S. soldiers and wounded 14, the U.S. Military Command said Friday.

A spokesman said one mine was set off accidentally by a soldier of the 1st Infantry Division working in a mine field near Phuoc Vinh, 38 miles north of Saigon.

The explosion killed the soldier and wounded several others. A rescue party moving into the mine field to evacuate the casualties accidentally set off three more mines and killed six more soldiers, the spokesman said.

Fuel Depots Struck

In combat action U.S. pilots struck at both ends of North Viet Nam on Thursday with raids on fuel depots northeast of Haiphong and on six storage areas just north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command announced Friday.

A spokesman said Air Force pilots triggered eight secondary explosions and eight fires in the bombing of the buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam.

The oil depot, 35 miles northeast of Haiphong, was hit by carrier-launched A4 Skyhawks and pilots reported saturating the site with rockets. They said they silenced an anti-aircraft gun position, damaged seven buildings and left the fuel dump burning.

U.S. Navy guns and field artillery also jointly silenced enemy mortars that opened up twice Thursday against the American Marines who ran North Vietnamese regulars out of Gia Dinh. All quiet was the report at nightfall from that frontier bastion.

Patrol Boat Attacked

The shipping channel war, in which Communist mines have damaged several allied vessels between Saigon and the South China Sea, erupted again with an attack by a Viet Cong recoilless rifle team on a U.S. minesweeper patrolling the Long Tao River.

Shells damaged the pilot house of the 54-foot craft and a spokesman said the seven-man crew suffered heavy casualties. Two U.S. helicopter gunships and several river patrol boats were called in to blast the Viet Cong position, 17 miles southeast of Saigon.

In the air offensive against North Viet Nam, American pilots claimed one of their most successful days Wednesday with the destruction of two Communist MIG fighters and damaging of three others in eight dogfight incidents to 121 missions against ground targets.

The U.S. Command, however, disclosed North Vietnamese ground gunners felled two planes, boosting such losses north of the border to 370. One was a Navy F4B Phantom from the carrier Coral Sea, which carried two men, and the other a single-seat Air Force F105 Thunderchief. All three crewmen are missing.

Pilots reported they destroyed or damaged 91 railway cars, a dozen trucks and 43 cargo barges in the drive to impede movement of Communist war supplies. They said they also shot up 26 anti-aircraft sites.

Surveyor Smashes To Lunar Surface, Mission A Failure

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 2 smashed into the moon at 6,000 miles an hour Thursday night — a violent end caused by a small rocket motor that refused to fire on command.

The impact, at 10:18 p.m. (CDT), was in the central part of the moon, southeast of the big crater Copernicus, scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

The time of the crash and the area of impact were calculated on the basis of flight path data prior to the loss of radio contact earlier Thursday, scientists explained.

The three-legged spacecraft had been designed to land gently on the moon and photograph terrain where astronauts may land.

Thus the longshot odds against success in the tricky Surveyor shots — odds defied last June by the perfect performance of Surveyor 1 — prevailed in this second try.

Scientists gave up all hope Thursday morning of checking the tumbling that made a controlled landing impossible. Then they tried to salvage what they could be testing in space wreck of Surveyor's instruments. The tests wrecked its power system and stilled its voice.

Surveyor 2's last beep came 30 seconds after scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory fired the 2,200-pound voyager's main retrorocket, the one that was to brake it for landing.

Signals stopped abruptly, rather than gradually dying, indicating that the force of the mighty blast caused a sudden power failure.

Goldberg Asks Hanoi For Mutual Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States proposed to Hanoi that both sides agree to a phased supervised military withdrawal from South Viet Nam as a prelude to ending the war.

In a major policy speech Thursday to the U.N. General Assembly, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg also offered to end the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, provided there are assurances from North Viet Nam of an appropriate military de-escalation.

He urged that these two questions be put to Ho Chi Minh's Communist regime in the north:

"Would it, in the interest of peace, and in response to a prior cessation by the United States of the bombing of North Viet Nam, take corresponding and timely steps to reduce or bring to an end its own military activities against South Viet Nam?"

"Would North Viet Nam be willing to agree to a time schedule for supervised phased withdrawal from South Viet Nam of all external forces — those of North Viet Nam as well as those from the United States and other countries aiding South Viet Nam?"

In the U.S. view, they constitute concrete proposals that Hanoi could answer either publicly or privately.

Soviet reaction to the speech was reserved. It won praise from many delegates, while some others said it contained nothing new.

In making the proposals, Goldberg raised the main points of the peace plan put forward by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant: A cessation of U.S. bombing, a military slowdown by both sides, and recognition of the Communist Viet Cong in any peace negotiations. On other issues Goldberg had this to say:

• The United States remains firm in its opposition to seating Communist China in the United Nations.

• The United States wants Thant to stay on for an extended term.

• As an inducement to winning Soviet agreement on an outer space treaty, the United States is willing to consider letting the Soviet Union use tracking facilities in the United States for Soviet satellites.

With food up 1.3 per cent, used cars up 1.5 per cent and medical care up five-tenths of one per cent, the Labor Department's consumer price index climbed from 113.3 to 113.8.

This means it takes $11.38 for typical family purchases that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period including food, clothing, housing, transportation and recreation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The upward swing of prices continued during August at the fastest rate in 10 years, boosting living costs another four-tenths of one per cent, the government said Thursday.

The August rise was most noticeable at the supermarket, the doctor's office and the used car lot.

With food up 1.3 per cent, used cars up 1.5 per cent and medical care up five-tenths of one per cent, the Labor Department's consumer price index climbed from 113.3 to 113.8.

This means it takes $11.38 for typical family purchases that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period including food, clothing, housing, transportation and recreation.

Prices Continue Fast Rise

Per Cent Increase

This was up 2.5 per cent in the first eight months of 1966 and 3.5 per cent higher than a year ago, about triple the rate of increase that government economists consider noninflationary. August prices, especially for food and used cars, usually drop.

Food price hikes for the month include 18 per cent for eggs, 5 per cent for bread, seven-tenths of one per cent for fruits and vegetables, and three-tenths for meat.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said, "The price of salami remained unchanged and the price of pretzels actually dropped seven-tenths."

Ross announced that the bureau will monitor newly announced price hikes for 1967 autos to see if new safety features represent a real increase in value.

Purchasing Power Slips

The wages of nearly 14 million factory production workers did not keep up in purchasing power, slipping another seven-tenths of one per cent in August to a total of 1.6 per cent so far this year. Part of the loss was due to increased Social Security taxes.

Cost of living wage raises will go to about 175,000 workers, mostly in the aerospace industry, whose labor contracts are tied to the consumer price index. About 150,000 aerospace workers will get 3 cents more per hour.

Bowen Probes Goals Education Should Pursue

The University must ask itself some "hard questions" about the direction education should take, Pres. Howard R. Bowen told an Induction Ceremony audience yesterday in front of Old Capitol.

Bowen questioned the outcome of the great expansion of higher education in recent years, asking "Will we be more sane? Will we become better citizens? Will our moral and ethical sensibilities be heightened? Will we be more concerned about our neighbors? Will we make progress toward world peace?"

"If our new higher education is devoted mainly to better jobs, more production, bigger armaments and faster travel, it will not amount to much," Bowen said. "Our education of the future must embrace philosophy, literature, art, history, government, and pure science as well as technology and the practical skills."

Must Have Understanding

"It must lead toward human understanding and aesthetic appreciation and knowledge of the world of pure science. It must lead to a confrontation with moral issues and to a better grasp of societal affairs."

Bowen said that the present expansion of educational opportunities is making us a nation of college-educated people, and that this expansion would have more long range consequences than "the Viet Nam War, or the flights into space, or the civil disorders, or the harnessing of nuclear energy."

"No society has ever before even aspired to mass higher education, let alone had a chance of attaining it. We are clearly entering new and uncharted territory."

Although universal higher education would lead to more efficiency and greater production economically, Bowen said, such an education, without being founded on and tempered by liberal learning, will make the new era "barren and disappointing."

Education For All

"If we act on the principle that education is intended to free the human mind and spirit, and is designed to give us perspective on both the world of nature and the world of man, then the new universal education may lead us to a great civilization in which for the first time every man — not merely the privileged few — will have the possibility of being an active participant."

Bowen's address marked the opening of the University's 120th year. George W. Forell, acting director of the School of Religion, gave the invocation before the more than 1,000 students gathered for the ceremony.

Powell Accepts Curtailed Power Under New Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's wings were clipped Thursday by the House Education and Labor Committee, but he emerged talking like a winner and apparently flying as high as ever.

"I consider this a very progressive step forward," Powell said of new rules adopted by the committee that give a majority of the members a veto over many of the chairman's functions.

What had been billed as a revolt against Powell ended as a near love feast, with Powell praising the leaders of the rebellion, accepting their proposal and steering it to passage by a 27-1 vote.

Only Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) the committee's ranking Republican, voted against the new rules. Powell, Rep. Philip Burton (D-Calif.) and Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Calif.) abstained.

Ayres called the changes meaningless since they expire at the end of this session of Congress and the committee's work is largely done. However, Powell indicated he would accept similar rules when the next Congress convenes in January.

In three key areas, Powell's authority would be cut down by the rules changes. He now must get the approval of the majority for any changes in committee personnel and for his expenditure of any committee funds.

No Indictments In Hanging Case Of Teenage Girl

OTTUMWA (AP) — Recommendations of a Wapello County grand jury in the hanging death of a 16-year-old girl in the county jail "definitely" will be carried out, Sheriff Russell E. Watters said Thursday.

The grand jury said it found no indictable offenses by public officials in the case of Patricia Malone.

But it recommended steps by county welfare and law enforcement officers and the courts to improve handling of juvenile matters.

Miss Malone was jailed Aug. 12 at the request of her stepfather while arrangements were being made to name a guardian for her. She hanged herself in her cell seven days later.

A grand jury investigation of the case was requested by Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scalsie and Gov. Harold Hughes. Scalsie said it was clear "that some Iowa laws were overlooked" in dealing with Miss Malone.

Iowa law prohibits holding a juvenile in jail without a court order.

Parking fever

PARKING DIRECTOR John Dooley has got problems. Dooley assumed his position in July and is now facing the brunt of criticism and complaints about the new parking fees, crackdown in parking regulations, and is beset with a myriad of problems, few of which he has created and many of which he has yet to learn of.

The new parking director was the victim of his newness and of University bureaucracy Thursday when the parking lot south of the University Library was closed for resurfacing, temporarily closing over 100 parking spaces on the first day of classes. The idea is sound that a hard surface will be much more convenient than the old dust-filled lot, however, starting work on the first day of classes is the most inopportune time to launch such a project. All summer the lot was only half full most of the time and it would have been much easier then to find some other place to park. Now there is very little space elsewhere for parking.

Dooley is not entirely responsible for this new inconvenience. To get a project like this underway in two months while having to get the necessary funds and approval through the University and getting a contractor scheduled for the work is no small task, especially when the director is new.

Dooley has been hit with hundreds of complaints in the past few days, and in all likelihood his troubles have just begun.

Fairness and the draft

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's announcement in August that the services would provide special training to make fit for duty 100,000 men a year previously rejected for mental or physical reasons is perhaps symptomatic of an ever-growing problem in this country.

In an announcement Tuesday, McNamara reiterated his plans to reach for duty this fiscal year 40,000 of these rejectees and incorporate their services into the administration's anti-poverty program. What he failed to do is give any assurance that these men would not be used as combatants in Viet Nam.

Explanations as to why the standards are dropping lower and lower vary. We, as university students, and thus acutely aware of the draft situation in this country, perhaps like to accept the one that says something about the quality of men needed to fire a gun, drive a truck or feed a hungry army. We are university students, and we're the country's future, we say, and thus we must be preserved.

What we don't say, though, is perhaps the same thing that men in this country have been failing to say for a couple hundred years: We don't want to go. We don't want our lives disrupted. We don't want to sacrifice. We're selfish, and most of us know this. If asked, these are the only honest answers we can give. And they're good answers.

Our objection? It's unfair to set induction standards based on high mental ability or low. Wars kill the good man along with the bad, and they never make exceptions.

It is only men who make exceptions. Men like us who will eventually fill the Congress and write the laws. The group that must be preserved — self-preserved if necessary.

Perhaps in this century, when men are filled with the awe-inspiring knowledge of their own worth, their own ability, it is time to stop scooping up and sending off the thousands of persons who, through no fault of their own, can score only 10 to 15 right answers out of a 100 question aptitude test. Perhaps it's time to include some, if not all, of those who magically and through no right of their own, score in the 90's.

Perhaps it's time this country learned the true definition of the word fairness.

Ron Froehlich

Too late

The grand jury investigating the death of Patricia Ann Malone, who hung herself in an Ottumwa jail while being held without any charge, has decided that no indictable offense had been committed by any public official, even though two state laws had been violated.

Miss Malone's death was one of three suicides in Iowa jails this summer. A minor, she was being held at the request of her step-father until a place for her to live was found. It is both illegal to hold a minor without a court order, and to hold anyone for an extended period without some charge being filed.

The grand jury did, however, make some recommendations to prevent this sort of thing from happening again, but the recommendations, besides being too late, ought to be unnecessary.

If existing laws and procedures had been followed as intended, the grand jury's recommendations would be duplicating them. New procedures may ease some consciences for the present, but the question of enforcement remains the same.

'Tenth Victim:' tomorrow's sport

By NICHOLAS MEYER

The time is the 21st century. War has been abolished, and man's violent instincts have found a new outlet: legalized killing. This is the premise which supports a curious Orwellian satire on our contemporary world, "The Tenth Victim."

Ursula Andress opens the film by ingeniously dispatching her 9th victim (all properly licensed, of course), by a gun with either barrel concealed in the tips of her brassiere. Her quarry dead, her kill is applauded by the aficionados of the sport, and Ming Tea offers her a considerable deal of money to kill her tenth victim in conjunction with a televised commercial for their product.

The victim (picked impartially by computer) is Marcello Mastroianni in Rome. To Rome then — from New York — for the majority of this very funny, witty and elegant film by Elio Petri. The film numbers among its virtues a clever combining of science fiction and social comment, not unlike certain passages and sections of Gulliver's travels as well as bits of Huxley, Orwell and H.G. Wells. A hunter kills his victim according to law, but receives a parking ticket for having his automobile on the wrong side of the street when he does so.

The film's director is obviously very influenced by his colleague, Federico Fellini, particularly with regard to sets and costumes. He delights in exploring the grotesque possibilities of both where telling his story is concerned. The costumes — supposedly the fashions of the future — will obviously influence (or have already) the fashions of the present.

One of the nicest things the film offers (which gives it a whole other level of comedy) is the performance of Mastroianni as Andress's misanthropic, haggard victim — himself a champion killer — but just too tired what with his current annulment and pursuing mistress (Elsa Martinelli) to really put up a worth while defense.

Mastroianni's portrayal (although, like the rest of the film, marred by terrible dubbing) is a much more familiar character than the fantastically emancipated woman played by Miss Andress. He is the typical put-upon-man of today, a resident of Utopia plagued by the same problems of women and finance.

Still another feature of the film is Ursula Andress. She may not be an actress (and dubbed it's even harder to tell), but her body may be said to speak quite eloquently for itself. She is without a doubt a most beautiful female, particularly bearing strong resemblance — notice the eyes — to a cat. This felinity adds to her allure and makes it the more arousing, and coupled with her graceful, and straightforward shape Miss Andress may be said to fill her part, if not to overflow it.

The film has some awkward transitions, but I suspect this is due more to a ragged print and the effects of dubbing than a directing or editing fault of Signor Petri.

Taken all in all, "The 10th Victim" is an entertaining, well done satire, which makes a telling point or two about present day society under the agreeable and inventive device of science fiction fantasy.

Food increase harms rivers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — American commitments to feed "the burgeoning population of the world" will mean more and more chemical pesticides and fertilizers, says a consulting engineer on water problems. They also will result in more and more acreages being farmed, Lawrence K. Cecil of Tucson, Ariz., told a national meeting of technical experts on water. "Both are bad news for the rivers," he said.

He said tiny residues of such organic compounds in river waters are rapidly becoming a major headache for researchers and water purification plant operators.

Viet Nam elections: U.S. vote of confidence

By EDSON EGGER
 For Young Americans For Freedom

In the past it has been said that the United States has no business in Southeast Asia, that this country is going too far by interfering in the Vietnamese conflict, and that the people of this area resent the presence of American servicemen in the area. Many people have swallowed this assertion, but recent occurrences have suggested otherwise.

One of these events is the Vietnamese election. With over 80 per cent of the qualified voters utilizing its suffrage rights, the Viet Cong have received an obvious slap in the face. It is evident that any citizen in South Viet Nam who sympathized with the Viet Cong would hardly take the time and effort to vote for any of the 530 so called "fascist" candidates running for the 108 available positions. This is especially true when considering the sharp increase in terror tactics by the Viet Cong prior to the election. The election, in short, has given a vote of confidence to the presence of American servicemen and the American policy in South Viet Nam.

Another event which has made American presence in the area seem more necessary is the rise of the Red Guard in Red China. This new government organization of rabid Chinese youth is symbolic of the extremely irrational atmosphere which is presently ruling over the 800 million citizens of that country. When a government initiates action which will undoubtedly cause rebellion among its citizens, it is not acting rationally. And further emphasizing Red China's lack of reason and sophisticated action is its accusations against Russia. China has made increasing claims that the Russians are subverting Red Chinese citizens and has allowed the Red Guard to stone the Russian Embassy. No sensible nation will try to completely destroy its advantageous relationships with other nations.

In fact, such an irrational nation has not existed since the German Nazi regime. Many people thought this country's irrational actions were also out of the sphere of U.S. interest. Although China can hardly be considered presently as a dangerous atomic power, she is potentially dangerous. History has taught that it is not wise to allow powers like Nazi Germany and Red China go unchecked. The United States is the only power heeding this historical lesson. With American power in the area, China is forced to think twice before unleashing an attack against one of her neighbors.

So now the American leftists are somewhat at a loss for words, mumbling about the Vietnamese election being a fraud and babbling about how America incited the Red Guard in China. But these cynical rationalizations are pretty weak among the optimism which has developed in South Viet Nam.

Be the first on your block to buy an apartment for $205,000.

But hurry! This offer is limited and they're going fast.

In New York City, where status is as important to some people as eating, the newest symbol of elegance — and wealth — comes in a 25-story package called 980 Fifth Ave. — "Nine-Eighty" to its friends. The building is opposite Central Park, hard by the Metropolitan Museum of Art near 79th Street.

It is a cooperative apartment building in which 44 apartments range in cost from $80,800 to $418,000. They are believed to be the most expensive apartments per average room cost in the world.

In a cooperative setup, apartments are purchased outright by tenants who become their own landlord and elect a board of governors to run the building for them.

For the time being, Nine-Eighty is little more than a forest of steel girders sticking out of a hill of brick. But, according to Leona Roberts, agent for the building, when it's finished, Nine-Eighty will be heaven's gift to the rich.

Every one of the apartments has bathroom fixtures plated with 18-karat gold.

Bathroom floors, tubs and sinks are marble.

Each apartment has two air conditioning systems, one that permits heating of some rooms and cooling of others simultaneously, and a second that circulates fresh air after it has been filtered to remove such low-class things as humidity, dust and pollen.

In most cases, there are two apartments to one floor except in the case where there are two floors to one apartment. That one sells for $418,000.

But that apartment — 15 rooms, 14 baths and an assortment of dressing rooms — already has been sold to Stephen R. Currier, a member of the Mellon family which owns an assortment of banks and substantial stock in the Gulf Oil Corp.

The apartments, Miss Roberts says, are bargains. But the purchase price is only the beginning.

Every year, the tenants must pay one-tenth of the purchase price toward what is called maintenance. This includes care of the building and salaries for its staff. For Currier, for example, annual maintenance will be $41,800.

"The people who buy at Nine-Eighty don't mind the cost," Miss Roberts said. "When you consider the elegance, the price — if you'll pardon the expression — is cheap."

"The apartments are spacious to the point of being confusing for a visitor. We give each new tenant a course in crumb dropping so he can mark his path as he walks through the apartment."

"That's not probable, however, because at this stage in the building, tenants are permitted to practically design their own apartments if they object to something in the original plans. They can relocate walls, switch closets and alter windows — if they're willing to pay the price."

"They are," Miss Roberts said. Changing the plan for a small wall costs about $100.

The plush pads are going fast. The building is 55 per cent sold in just three months. It will be ready for occupancy in February.

In the meantime, Miss Roberts said, the tenants are living in "slum districts."

"Anything other than Nine-Eighty is a slum district."

Deadline Is Nov. 1 Applications Due Nov.

Competition for Fulbright-Hays grants to study abroad will close Nov. 1. About 15,000 grants have been awarded during the program's 20 years of operation.

Application forms and information about this year's competition are available from Wallace Maner, Fulbright program adviser, at 111 University Hall.

A full award provides a person with tuition, maintenance, transportation, health and accident insurance and an allowance. There are 54 countries participating in the full grant program. Those who wish to apply for a grant must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning of the grant and, in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country.

According to the Institute of International Education, selections will be made on the basis of academic and professional record and the feasibility of the applicant's proposed study plan and personal qualifications.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Applicants in social work must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree. Applicants in the field of medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

A limited number of travel grants is available to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships granted to American students by universities, private donors and foreign governments. Travel grants are available to eight countries.

Six University students are presently studying abroad under full grants. They and the countries in which they are studying are: Jack G. Morrison, G. Iowa City, University of Freiburg, Germany; Meredith A. Medler, G. Madison, Wis., University of Marburg, Germany; B. O. W. Miller, A. Des Moines, University of Tubingen, Germany; Robert T. White, G. Cincinnati, Ohio, University of Tubingen, Germany; Mrs. Carol Heimburg Yeh, G. Iowa City, University of Madrid, Spain; and Robert Castro, G. Iowa City, Cambridge University, England.

There are also grants available to a number of countries in the American Republics Area in such fields as history, social science, law and humanities. All applicants for these grants must be proficient in the spoken language of the country for which they apply.

Funeral Saturday For Oxford Victim

Funeral services will be held Saturday for a 29-year-old Oxford man who was killed Thursday in a car-train accident at the southwest edge of Tiffin.

Dead is Daniel Casper Yenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yenter of Rural Route 2, Oxford. Yenter was driving to work in Iowa City when a Rock Island freight train plowed into his car at about 7:35 a.m. at a crossing near Tiffin. Authorities said he apparently did not try to stop for the train.

The automobile was flung 113 feet into a ditch on the north side of the track; Yenter was thrown from the car.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the First Federated Church in Oxford; the Rev. Mr. Lester Guldnor will officiate. Burial will be in the Oxford Cemetery. Friends may call at the Oxford chapel of the Gay-Oathout Funeral Home.

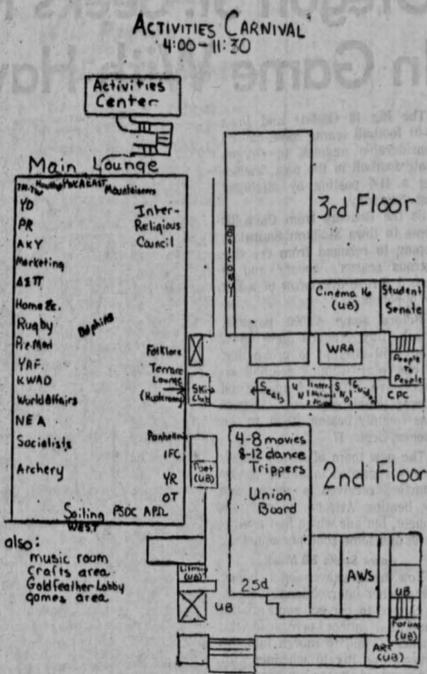

Survivors are his parents; three brothers, Eugene of Coon Rapids, Minn., and John and Allan of Iowa City; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Holscher of Iowa City.

Army Needs In Viet Nam Hit New High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's replacement needs in Viet Nam have reached a new high, defense sources said Thursday. More than 20,000 fresh troops were shipped overseas this month to relieve combat veterans.

Officials said the monthly replacement totals will grow in the months ahead as the Army strives to maintain a much-desired 12-month tour of duty for its Viet Nam troops.

The big influx of replacements reflects the military buildup that began in the summer of 1965 when the number of Army men soared by 67,000 between June and September — from 51,000 to 118,000. There are now about 190,000 Army troops in Viet Nam.

THIS MAP SHOWS the location of student organizations which will have booths and activities at the Activities Carnival from 4 to 11:30 p.m. tonight in the Union.

Pentagon Adds 280 Planes To Viet War Purchase List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Thursday it has become prudent to buy 280 more warplanes than originally slated for the fiscal year beginning in July. The cost will be $700 million.

McNamara said additional purchases of fighter and attack aircraft are necessary "to insure that new deliveries of aircraft will exceed potential losses" in Viet Nam.

The United States is already turning out an estimated 800 to 1,000 tactical aircraft a year, he told a news conference.

McNamara said his announcement had no connection with a declaration by U.N. Ambassador Arthur S. Goldberg that the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam would halt if the Communists moved toward a de-escalation of the war.

"Because of the long lead times involved in aircraft production, I have come to the conclusion that it is wise now to place on order aircraft that may be required to support operations beyond June 30, 1967," McNamara said.

This is a date McNamara chose months ago for financial planning purposes in laying out schedules for production of material.

McNamara did not announce what types of planes would be added to the purchase order. That announcement will not come until the manufacturers themselves are told.

He did say, however, most of the planes would be for the Navy.

McNamara said the Pentagon has adequate funds at the present time to order the additional planes but he said it was highly probable that a supplemental money request would be sent to Congress in January.

DISASTER AID OK'D — WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee approved Thursday a bill to establish a board program of federal aid to states, communities and individuals that have suffered in disasters.

Varied Events To Highlight Union Carnival

An Activities Carnival featuring University organizations, a dance and movies will be held from 4 to 11:30 p.m. tonight in the Union.

All students are welcome and representatives from 40 campus organizations will be on hand to answer students' questions about their organizations.

The carnival, being presented as part of the freshman orientation program, will be spread from the basement to the third floor of the Union.

The Dolphins will present trampoline shows at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Union Main Lounge. At the same time the Womens' Recreational Association will sponsor activities in the Indiana Room and the Seals and Herky's Schussboomers will show sports films on the third floor.

The movie "King Kong" will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Illinois Room. At 8 p.m. a Hootenanny will be held in the Terrace Lounge and from 8 to midnight the Trippers will play for dancing in the Ballroom.

Other activities are short films from 4 to 8 p.m. in the Union Board film area, a miniature Central Party Committee nightclub and an exhibition about Soapbox Soundoff in the Gold Feather Lobby.

The Student Association for the United Nations will also sponsor continuous showings of the film "The International Court of Justice" from 4 to midnight in the Ohio State Room.

8 Professors Join Faculties Of Language Departments

Eight new faculty members of the rank of assistant professor and above have joined the Departments of English, German, and Romance Languages.

New professors are Julio Duran-Cerda, Romance Languages; and Angelo P. Bertocci, Eliseo Vivas, and Thomas Whitaker, English. New associate professor is Alfonso Utriaga, Romance Languages. The three new assistant professors are Mrs. Carol de Saint Victor and Robert E. Kelly, English, and John D. Simons, German.

Duran-Cerda received his doctorate in Spanish-American Literature from the University of Chile in 1944, where he was also on the faculty of the philosophy and education departments. From 1964 to 1966 he taught at the University of Arizona. He has published numerous articles and books in Spanish.

Educated in East Bertocci earned degrees at Boston University, Harvard University, the University of Grenoble, and Columbia University. He has been a faculty member at Bates College, where he headed the Department of Romance and Classical Languages for 10 years. For 18 years he was professor of comparative literature at Boston University.

Vivas, who will be a visiting professor, is also professor of philosophy at Northwestern University. He received his A.B. in 1928 and his Ph.D. in 1933 from the University of Wisconsin.

Whitaker is a graduate of Oberlin College and earned his M.A. and Ph.D. from Yale University. He was formerly a professor at Goddard College.

Utriaga received his B.A. in philosophy in 1949 and his B.A. in law in 1955 from the University of Madrid. In 1956 he received his M.A. in comparative law from Columbia University, and his Ph.D. from Louisiana State University in 1963. He was assistant professor in Spanish and Spanish-American Theatre at the University of Windsor, Canada, 1963-66.

Experience At Rutgers Mrs. de Saint Victor came to the University from Rutgers University where she was an assistant instructor. She received her B.A. in comparative literature in 1956 and her Ph.D. Degree in English this year from Indiana University.

A CONTROVERSIAL ITEM concerning a non-Iowa, non-Big 10 college football power in the Midwest appears in the Sept. 24 edition of the Football News. In his column "From the Barber Shop," Gar Yarbrow writes:

"A very reliable Midwestern sportswriter recently said privately that the reason that . . . does so well in football each season is that head coach . . . has an agreement with the administration that six players each year can play on the team without attending classes."

This is a very serious statement. We aren't selling subscriptions, but if you are interested in which school is mentioned, check the Football News.

IOWA'S BASEBALL TEAM began fall practice Thursday under the direction of new head coach Dick Schultz. Schultz, who has been a member of the Iowa coaching staff since 1960, succeeds the retired Otto Vogel.

Coach Schultz said earlier this week he expected practice to run until Oct. 15 or even a week later — weather permitting. Schultz said that an early starting date for next spring's trip to Arizona would necessitate making decisions about several positions this fall.

THE HAWKEYES aren't the only undefeated football team in Iowa City. The city's three high schools are 5-0 in competition so far this fall. City High is 1-0 following its 33-12 victory over Burlington last Friday. University High is 2-0 after wins over Harmony, 45-25, and Solon, 25-0. And Regina High is 2-0 after wins over Waterloo Columbus, 21-20, and Prairie, 34-0.

Lamont, Moreland Are Named Captains

ROGER LAMONT
To Captain Offense

DAVE MORELAND
To Captain Defense

Roger Lamont, offensive tackle, and Dave Moreland, defensive tackle, were named co-captains Thursday night by coach Ray Nagel for Saturday's game here against Oregon State.

Lamont is a 6-1, 216 pound senior from Chicago. Moreland is a 6-1, 195 pound senior from Audubon.

Moreland is the second senior linebacker from Audubon to be named a co-captain for the Hawkeyes this fall. Audubon's Dan Hilsabeck was last week's defensive captain.

Thursday the Hawkeyes held a one-hour, rather than the usual two-hour, practice session. The freshman football team officially began its practice. They were utilized with the varsity practice, running Oregon State plays against the Iowa defense.

Due to a misunderstanding, the freshmen practiced on Monday and Tuesday. (They did not practice Wednesday.) A Big 10 rule states that freshmen football practice cannot start until classes have started. University classes started Thursday.

Assistant coach Ted Lawrence, who is the head freshman coach, said Thursday, "It was a misunderstanding on my part."

Iowa athletic director Forest Evashevski said that apparently Lawrence had thought practice could start on the first day of registration, which was Monday.

Evashevski said the Big 10 commissioner's office had been contacted and that Iowa had admitted the misunderstanding.

The Hawkeyes have volunteered to forfeit two days of freshman practice in the latter part of the season.

Minnesota's Mele To Pilot Boston?

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Reports are being heard again that Minnesota Twins manager Sam Mele will manage the Boston Red Sox next season.

Calvin Griffith, Twins president, said Thursday he has heard the rumor but added the Red Sox had not contacted him for permission to talk to Mele.

Mele is under a two-year contract extending through 1967, reportedly at $47,500 a year.

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta jolted Pittsburgh's pennant hopes Thursday night, whipping the Pirates 14-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Pat Jarvis and a slugging outburst highlighted by Hank Aaron's 40th homer.

Oregon St. Seeks Rebound In Game With Hawkeyes

The Big 10 (18-6-1) and Iowa (5-0) football teams have caused considerable anguish to Oregon State football in the past, including a 41-0 pasting by Michigan last Saturday.

So the Beavers from Corvallis come to Iowa Stadium Saturday, hoping to rebound from the disastrous season's opener and to record a rare overthrow of a Big 10 opponent.

Before some 45,000 persons, Coach Ray Nagel's new Iowa team will attempt to prove that it can play winning football on successive Saturdays against an inter-sectional opponent. Arizona was soundly beaten, 31-20, in the opener Sept. 17.

The new team of Coach Nagel, lightly regarded in almost every quarter, received a strong lift by beating Arizona, a new opponent, but one which had aspirations and some solid personnel.

Iowa Seeks 2-0 Mark

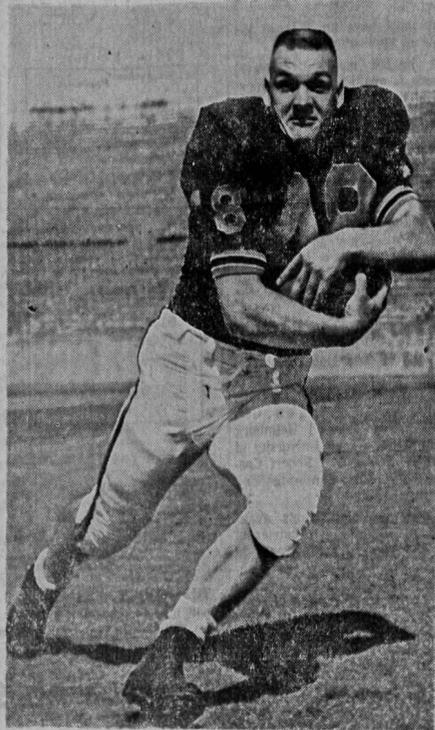

Now the Hawkeyes see a chance for another inter-sectional victory, a chance to correct some of the somewhat minor errors of the opener — and to march into the seven-game Big 10 schedule with a 2-0 record. Wisconsin here Oct. 1 is the first conference opponent.

The Iowa offense functioned with unusual smoothness for the first game, Coach Nagel said. Against Arizona, the Hawks made 294 yards, 167 rushing and 127 on 7 of 14 passes. The coach was pleased with the play of both quarterbacks, Ed Podolak and Chuck Roland, working the option plays: Podolak averaged 4.2 rushing and hit for 94 yards passing, scoring twice on 1-yard sneaks; and Roland scored on a 7-yard run in addition to completing three of four passes.

Coach Nagel also has praised the play of the defensive line, which held Arizona to 70 yards in 28 attempts. Although the secondary defenders permitted 26 completions in 46 attempts, many of them were flat passes for short yardage which did little damage.

Pifer Leads Beavers

One of the nation's best fullbacks leads the Oregon State ground attack. Pete Pifer was fifth in the nation in 1965 with 1,095 rushing yards, averaging 4.7 yards on 234 carries. He was on every all-coast team in 1965 and ranked second to Mike Garrett of USC in yardage.

PETE PIFER, 5-10, 220 pound senior fullback, will probably lead Oregon State's ground attack against the Hawkeyes here Saturday. Pifer was second in the AAUW conference last year in rushing and was fifth in the nation. He carried the ball 234 times last fall, gaining 1,095 yards and losing only 14.

A slick passer, Paul Brothers, who played in the Rose Bowl as a sophomore, throws best to a 6-6 basketball player split end Harry Gunner, who played football for the first time last spring.

Senior halfback Bob Grim also is a fine receiver and the best kick-off return man in Oregon State history. A hard-running sophomore, Jerry Belcher, completes the backfield.

Chamberlain Fined $1,500 For Missing 10 Practices

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Will Chamberlain, the star center of the Philadelphia 76ers, was fined $1,500 Thursday night for missing 10 days of training, the club announced.

Chamberlain arrived in Philadelphia Thursday afternoon for a meeting with club officials, then came to Allentown for a National Basketball League exhibition game with the New York Knickerbockers.

The team announced that Chamberlain had been fined $150 a day for each of the 10 days. Chamberlain failed to report when the 76ers opened training in Margate, N.J.

General Manager Jack Ramsay, in announcing the fine, said an apparent misunderstanding led to Chamberlain's disappearance.

He quoted Chamberlain as saying he visited the team's owner, Irv Kosloff, in Philadelphia several weeks ago, and thought he left him with the impression that when he settled his affairs in California, he would be able to report for training.

Chamberlain, who lives in San Francisco during the off-season, was reportedly worried about a fire at his home there that did about $200,000 damage.

Orioles Clinch First Pennant With 6-1 Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles clinched their first American League pennant Thursday, backing Jim Palmer's five-hit pitching with a 12-hit assault led by Frank Robinson for a 6-1 romp over the Kansas City Athletics.

The victory, combined with California's 5-3 victory over Detroit, set off a champagne celebration in the Baltimore clubhouse.

Robinson, closing in on his first triple crown in his greatest season after being traded by Cincinnati, was 3-for-4, belting two doubles and a single and driving in two runs. He has driven in 13 runs in the last four games, all victories.

Palmer, a tall 20-year-old right-hander in his sophomore season, struck out eight and posted his 15th victory. He is Baltimore's top winner.

The Orioles, who moved into first place on June 14 and never have left it, clinched the crown with nine games remaining. The pennant is the first for a Baltimore franchise since the old Orioles won National League flags in 1894, 1895, and 1896.

The present Orioles have existed since 1954 when the St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore.

Baltimore's pennant had seemed a foregone conclusion since the All-Star game, but it didn't come easily. Manager Hank Bauer became a medical expert as the club was plagued by a succession of injuries during the last half of the season. Eleven players were out for various periods — seven of them pitchers.

Cretzmeyer Expects Harriers To Be Among Top Teams

By JOEL FABRIKANT Staff Writer

"Look for us to be right there among the top teams."

With these words, cross-country coach Francis Cretzmeyer enthusiastically welcomed 1966 as the year the Hawkeyes could capture their first Big 10 championship in five years.

"Key injuries cost us a higher finish last year," Cretzmeyer added. "Ace runner Larry Wiczorek and team-mate Pete McDonald were sidelined most of the season. It turned out that Wiczorek, the CRETZMEYER Big 10 indoor one mile champion, could not compete actively until the conference championships last November when he finished 31st. Happily, both boys will be returning this year."

Iowa's top two finishers in that race, Ted Brubacher (14th) and Ron Griffith (15th) will also be back. New faces on this year's squad include sophomores Steve Szabo, Rollie Kitt, Curt LaBond, Carl Frazier and Jerry Stevens and transfer student John Wilkinson.

Thus it appears as if the 1966 Hawkeye harriers are a healthy bunch and ready to go. To be sure his boys were in top shape, Cretzmeyer had them do prescribed exercises over the summer and, since practice began Thursday, each runner has been putting in 8 to 10 miles a day.

In addition to the bright overall health picture, Iowa's hopes are buoyed by the fact that last year's Big 10 champion, Northwestern, lost its best pair of runners in two-time conference individual champion Lee Assenheimer and Craig Boydston through graduation.

But Cretzmeyer is no dreamer. "Minnesota, Michigan State and Wisconsin are all going to be rough on us."

The Hawkeye runners will debut Oct. 1 in a dual meet with Illinois on the four-mile South Finkbine course.

Hawkeye Band Will Present 'Vidiots Delight'

Everyone will feel right at home as the Hawkeye Marching Band presents "Vidiots Delight," an evening of television viewing, between halves of the Iowa-Oregon State football game Saturday.

"There's No Business Like Show Business" the band will proclaim as it marches downfield. The first show on the "television schedule" will be "Batman," as the band plays the "Batman Theme" and forms a giant bat, the symbol of the Caped Crusaders.

"The Lawrence Welk Show" will appear next as the band plays "Hello Dolly" in the style Welk has made famous.

The "weather report" will follow as the band forms the outline of the map of the United States and plays "Heat Wave," "Rain," "Blue Skies," and "Baby, It's Cold Outside" to describe the weather throughout the country.

To end the "television evening" the band will perform a drill routine to the musical themes from several well-known commercials.

The show will feature Bobbi Jean Foulkes, Altoona senior, as baton twirler, and Francis Pedrum, Ankeny freshman, as drum major. The band is under the direction of Frederick C. Ebbs.

YOUNKERS "Satisfaction Always"

THESE LITTLE CAPEZIOS ARE FIT TO BE TIED!

Lime Burns Gird Players

PRATT, Kan. (AP) — Lime mistakenly used to stripe a football field burned 36 members of two junior college football teams last weekend.

Coaches said Thursday 11 members of the two teams may not be recovered enough to play in games this weekend.

Pratt Junior College had 21 players burned by the lime, which had been soaked by rain shortly before the game, and Dodge City Junior College reported 15 players burned.

Six burned players at Pratt and five at Dodge City are on the doubtful list as participants in next week's games.

"One kid has a big burn over most of his back, but mostly the burns are around the knees, waist and hips."

Pratt coach Ray Fulton said the error occurred when workers stripping the field used up all of the noncaustic chalking material at the school.

A heavy rain which ended about 15 minutes before game time started a harmful chemical action in the lime which caused the burns, Fulton said.

Someone mistakenly purchased lime to finish the job, Fulton said.

N. Dakota State Leads AP Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — North Dakota State, Southern Illinois and North Dakota University are back at their 1965 routine of pushing each other around for the right to lead The Associated Press' weekly poll among small college football teams.

The North Dakota Bison, now coached by Ron Erhardt, defeated the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee branch, and St. Thomas in their first two games this season and garnered two first place votes and 106 points from the 16 experts who make up the AP panel.

Southern Illinois of Carbondale, also with a new coach in the person of Ellis Rainsberger, fought its way past Wichita 7-7 in its lone start this season and also drew two first place votes but only 70 points. North Dakota, winner of two, was awarded only one first place vote and 68 points.

Other teams in the Top 10, in order, are: Weber State, Montana State, Sul Ross, San Diego State, Southwest Texas, Akron and Florida A & M. None has been defeated.

Committee OK's Bill Sanctioning NFL-AFL Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved a bill Thursday to give legal sanction to the proposed merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

The measure would permit the two professional leagues to proceed with their plans to combine into one league without fear the merger would subject them to antitrust prosecution.

The bill also would extend to high school football games the same protection against competitive televising of pro games that colleges now have under legislation enacted several years ago.

GENERAL MOTORS SURPRISED THE AUTO INDUSTRY
General Motors surprised the auto industry Thursday by announcing price increases smaller than those posted this week by Ford and Chrysler.

GM'S NEW STICKER PRICES
GM's new sticker prices, those which a customer would find on a car at his dealer's showroom, averaged $56 more than for 1966 models.

FORD MOTOR CO. INCREASES AVERAGED $113
Chrysler reported a $92 average raise in price.

WITHIN HOURS AFTER GM
became the last of the Big Three to list price increases, U.S. Labor Department Commissioner Arthur M. Ross announced the Bureau of Standards would check the price increases closely to see if added safety equipment represented a real increase in car values.

indicated it was ready to come out fighting at 1967 model time to regain some of the prestige it lost in the sales race with its 1966 cars.

IN AUGUST GM SALES WERE OFF
19,000 cars while Ford's were up 9,000 and Chrysler's were up 12,000 units.

AT FIRST GLANCE, GENERAL MOTORS'
new price list appeared to put it in a favorable position as the industry made last-minute preparations to put its 1967 models on display late this month and in October.

SOME GM PRICES WERE MORE than $70 below those of competing Ford offerings. GM's price edge over competing Chrysler models was even greater in some cases.

Police Capture 13 Chieftains Of Underworld

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirteen underworld chieftains from various parts of the nation were seized by police Thursday at a "little Apalachin" meeting in a Queens restaurant. Included were some of the biggest names in the Cosa Nostra.

One of the 13 was Michael Miranda, a Cosa Nostra underboss from New York, who attended the 1957 gangland conference of 60 hoodlums and their friends at Apalachin, N.Y. That gathering was broken up by state police.

The Thursday's raid was on a private basement dining room of La Steela's restaurant on Queens Boulevard, across the East River from Manhattan.
