

-If Federal Urban Renewal Gets Underway-

Students Will Get Relocation Expenses

University students displaced by urban renewal would be in line for moving expenses and possibly relocation adjustment payments, Barry D. Lundberg, Iowa City director of Planning and Urban Renewal, said Monday.

Federal Urban Renewal for Iowa City is pending city council approval. Action on the renewal program may come in early January 1967. If approved, it is expected that students living in the renewal area would be displaced as property is purchased.

Lundberg elaborated on a list of policies approved Friday by the council to be used as guidelines on the proposal program.

The statement of council policy is to assure all eligible persons "maximum assistance allowable," Lundberg said.

Special Relocation Agency

"We are planning a special relocation agency for students that would give the names of (displaced) students to the University so that students can get University housing on the same basis as students already living on campus," he continued.

"We will be working with these students on other levels, showing them rooms and apartments and houses for families.

"We plan to work as a clearing house for displaced students. We will have a full-time relocation staff working on a case-by-case basis, making sure the students fill out all the forms and know all the possibilities open," Lundberg said.

The University has plans to have a certain housing surplus, he said, and it will be able to accommodate the students who want to move into on-campus housing.

City Policy

The policy of the city council on urban renewal reads: "families and individuals required to relocate in carrying out a project will not be displaced until they have been offered decent, safe, and sanitary housing facilities meeting their needs and fulfilling the city's minimum standards housing ordinance."

Current urban renewal legislation provides that the local public agency, in this case, the city council, "shall pay the total actual moving expenses incurred up to $200." Also, eligible families and individuals may receive a relocation adjustment payment. The eligibility and total amount of money to be received as an adjustment is based on the size of income and the size of the home needed.

Where necessary, the city will provide subsidy rental payments to eligible families and individuals. These payments would make up the difference between gross rent which includes rental charge for shelter, heating, electricity and water and 25 per cent of the household's income.

Not All Students

Lundberg emphasized that all the students living in the urban renewal area would not be displaced by a renewal plan. Some buildings will not be involved, he said.

"For example," he said, "the business block east of the Pentacrest is one in which student and pedestrian-oriented businesses fall within a rehabilitation area.

Only two buildings on that block need to be acquired for planning purposes and only one because it is substandard."

The owners of the other buildings on the block would then have the option of selling to the city or rehabilitating their buildings to meet standards of the Department of Planning and Urban Renewal.

Lundberg pointed out that if the owner of a building wished to rehabilitate his building, relocation of the tenants would be required only if the owner's rehabilitation program made it necessary.

Thus, some students living in the urban renewal area may not have to relocate at all.

FOR STUDENTS, the lazy, hazy days of summer are quickly being replaced by screaming profs, sticky slide-rules, and 7:30 labs. But for this Iowa City woman, the rat-race of University life is far, far away, as she relaxes on the banks of the Iowa River with only the sparkling sun and her fishing pole to keep her company.

Strike Breakers Pull Out, Uneasy Peace Quiets Harlan

HARLAN (AP) — Newly hired workers pulled out, and an uneasy truce prevailed in this little western Iowa town Monday after a strikers' riot which injured several persons and did several thousand dollars damage to a meat packing plant.

Law enforcement officers, denied National Guard help by Gov. Harold Hughes, said they would try to handle any future disturbance themselves at the Western Iowa Pork Co. plant.

Shelby County Atty. Jerry Larson said he will file charges against some of the 70 or so members of Local 1,225 of the United Packinghouse Food and Allied Workers Union (UPWA) allegedly involved in the melee Sunday night and early Monday.

Ask Investigation

State Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scalise said he also asked Larson to investigate possible violation of an Iowa law against importing strike breakers.

"Apparently we are not going to get any help," said Sheriff Orrell Gearhart after the governor refused his request for National Guard troops.

Some 50 workers who had re-opened hog killing operations at the plant, including about 30 flown in from California, left the plant Monday afternoon in State Highway Patrol cars.

The sheriff said the imported workers told him they wanted to return home.

Edward Hannan, general manager of the plant, conferred with law enforcement officials and then indicated he will try to reopen the plant again Wednesday.

Union officials warned violence might break out again if more imported workers are brought in.

Gov. Hughes said he had no plans to call out the National Guard "at this moment." He added state investigators advised him activating Guard units was not necessary.

"If we can get the two parties to sit down and talk, it will be a step in the right direction," said the governor.

Differ On Contract

The union contends packing plant officials have refused to conduct contract talks, although the UPWA was named bargaining agent for the 150 employees in a four-union election last April.

Company officials said the National Labor Relations Board has not ruled on a protest to the election by another union, and therefore there has been nobody with whom to bargain.

The NLRB regional office in Minneapolis decided Monday there was no basis for the protest, but no ruling has been issued on a complaint by UPWA that Western Iowa Pork has failed to bargain in good faith.

Sheriff Gearhart said he had been expecting trouble at the plant and had alerted some 35 law enforcement officers in a 90-mile radius of Harlan to come to his aid if needed.

The rioting broke out shortly before midnight Sunday night when a bus carrying the newly hired workers entered the plant grounds.

Stock Market At Lowest Point In Three Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took another jolting loss Monday and the closely watched Dow Jones industrial average fell below its previous 1966 bottom, closing at its lowest level since late 1963.

Multi-point losses were taken by many of the high-flying stocks which were most glamorous early this year when the Dow industrials were climbing toward their record close of 995.15.

Monday the Dow industrials fell 16.26 to 757.96, their lowest close since Dec. 24, 1963, when they read 756.87. The drop was the greatest since July 25 when the average fell 16.32.

Of 1,405 issues traded, 1,003 declined and 198 advanced. Lows for the year totaled 245. The two highs were Columbia Pictures and Sterling Drug preferred.

Volume was 6.5 million shares compared with 6.19 million Friday.

Hawkeye Given Excellent Rating

The 1966 Hawkeye, the University yearbook, has received the All-American Honor Rating by the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP), Keith Sanders, instructor in journalism and adviser to the Hawkeye, announced Monday.

Sanders said the award is given annually to colleges and universities whose yearbooks are rated excellent by the ACP. This marks the third consecutive year that the Hawkeye has received the award.

Each year the Hawkeye staff submits a copy of its yearbook to the ACP, which grades and criticizes the book. A rating is then given the book, and awards are given, Sanders said.

The ACP judge who rated the Hawkeye said, "... the Hawkeye is lively and gives a well-rounded, interesting story of the University year."

Doreen Hyde, 1966 Hawkeye editor, said of the award, "I am very happy and pleased that ACP praised the academic section of the book. I am sure this year's staff will do as well."

Givers Campaign Opens; Workers Seek $125,000

Solicitations in the annual Community Givers campaign will begin today.

Hundreds of volunteer workers will be asking for a total of $125,000 in Iowa City, Coralville and University Heights.

The drive officially began Monday night with a "kick-off" dinner for campaign leaders and officials in the three communities.

General campaign chairman is George R. Dane, Route 3, Fred Doderer, 2008 Dunlap Ct. is assistant chairman.

Contributions to the combined fund raising organization will be solicited at the place of a person's employment. Solicitations will continue through Oct. 21.

The goal is almost 13 per cent above the amount raised last year. The 1967 operating budgets of 18 agencies will be supported from the funds pledged to the campaign. Goodwill Industries of Southeast Iowa which is operating a sheltered workshop in Iowa City is a new Givers agency.

"Community Givers is the major charity drive for our area," Dane said. "Eighteen agencies in one is more efficient and more convenient than many separate drives."

The divisions through which the drive will be conducted are: the University, University Medical Center, professional, small business, large business, public employes, home business and residential.

Contributors may donate in cash or by pledges which can be paid in installments throughout 1967. The payroll deduction system is encouraged by Givers officials.

Loren Hickerson, Director of Community Relations for the University was the main speaker at Monday night's dinner which was sponsored by the Iowa State Bank & Trust Co., First National Bank and the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co.

Campaign solicitors will meet at 10 a.m. today at the Englert Theatre to receive instructions and to pick up materials.

Treatment Plant Will Fluoridate Water Next Year

The University's Water Treatment Plant should be equipped to fluoridate the University's water supply by early next year, according to Neil Fisher, Sanitary Engineer consultant to the Physical Plant.

The Stanley Engineering Company of Muscatine has already drawn up plans for the installment of the equipment.

The Hawkeye Apartments were added to the University's water system last Friday, Fisher said. This means more children will be using water on the University line, he said.

According to a study made by officials at the Water Treatment Plant, the decrease in decayed, missing, and filled teeth (D.M.F. rate) for children using fluoridated water from birth to eight years is 30 to 60 per cent and the D.M.F. rate for children nine to fourteen years is 20 to 30 per cent.

Fisher said the ability of the teeth to fight new cavities, after a person drank fluoridated water in the childhood years is carried on for life. He said these were the reasons that fluoridation is planned for the University.

Iowa City has had fluoridated water since 1951. It was one of the first 10 cities in Iowa to fluoridate their water.

Senate Constitution Change Could Boost Judicial Power

A new Student Senate Constitution that may include the creation of a more powerful Student Judiciary Committee is one of several projects the Senate plans to consider this year, Student Body President Tom Hanson, A4, Jefferson, said Monday.

The Senate will consider establishing a judiciary committee that will have more power to deal with student judicial problems, thus allowing student representatives to deal with some of the problems now handled by administrative officials, he said.

Other projects to be considered are the establishment of the student Better Business Bureau and a Student Activity Board. The activity board would be established to improve regulation of student activities.

The student Better Business Bureau would help students who have gripes against individual landlords and downtown businesses, Hanson said.

"This might include studies by the Senate of available approved housing on campus," Hanson said. "We would examine the available housing and make it known to students through places we consider most desirable to live in."

Also on the agenda this year is the appointing of the University committee composed of student representatives from 11 University committees such as the parking and housing committees.

"This would be a powerful committee," Hanson said, "because it would help to establish policies for the University."

A meeting with the Board of Regents to discuss plans for Harrison Hall, a new dormitory, is also planned.

The Senate will also discuss the housing and parking problem. Hanson said a ban on freshman-owned cars could result from the discussion.

In November, representatives will be appointed as members of the Legislative Approach Program. This program plans to send representatives from all over the state to the Iowa legislature to lobby for approval of the Board of Regents' budget.

Other activities will include the traditional Project Aid to raise money for scholarships and a model United Nations session.

Police Seize Marijuana—Narcotics Probe Continues

An Iowa City narcotics investigation that began over the weekend with the arrest of a University student is continuing this week.

Some radio and television stations in the area reported Monday that the investigation had been dropped, but Iowa City Detective Sgt. Donald Strand said late Monday that the investigation definitely would continue.

The investigation began when Dennis Ankrum, A2, Webster City, was arrested Friday night on charges of possessing narcotics. According to police, Ankrum's off campus apartment at 918 E. Jefferson St., was searched after a report was received saying that narcotics might be present.

About two-thirds of a marijuana cigarette was found in one of Ankrum's rooms. Ankrum, 19, is now free on $500 bond, and is awaiting trial Wednesday in Iowa City Police Court.

Strand, who is working on the case, said investigations have been blocked by the recent Supreme Court decision which upholds the freedom of the individual to decline answering police questions. Ankrum's refusal to answer questions has prevented uncovering further information.

Several other persons were questioned in connection with the case, and the dormitory room of one coed was searched when she was named as a source. Debris taken from the inside of her purse was examined to see if it was marijuana, but it proved to be only dirt.

According to Strand, unless Ankrum discloses the source of the marijuana, the investigation will eventually come to a stop. He said also, that there was "probably a good deal" of the drug on campus — "more than I've ever seen as a police officer." But, he added, "I don't know where it is."

News in Brief

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos announced Monday night the Manila summit conference on peace in Viet Nam will be delayed, and set Oct. 28-29 as a tentative date. The conference originally was scheduled for about Oct. 18. Presidential aides said problems of setting up communications for all delegations and news correspondents forced the delay.

AMES (AP) — An Iowa State University chemistry student was given three-months suspended jail term and fined $500 Monday for making a bomb-like device that blew up on Clyde Williams Field three hours before Saturday's Nebraska-Iowa State football game. John Gale Stotz Jr., 20, Davenport, told authorities he didn't mean to hurt anybody, adding: "I did it for a prank . . . to create a disturbance. I thought there wasn't enough excitement or interest in the games. . ."

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Clashes between proud militant northern Nigerians and the ambitious Ibo tribesmen of the east have left about 1,000 dead — many butchered with swords — since last Wednesday, various reports from the north indicated Monday. From all accounts, most of the dead appeared to be Ibos.

WSUI's coverage

WSUI radio is a student's station. The long sessions of good classical music and jazz, the coverage of local news and the broadcasting of Hawkeye football games have all been handled well by students. We have enjoyed the station's offerings until now.

The reason for our change in attitude is not due to the addition of some senseless program, but to the deletion of a very important one — play-by-play coverage of Hawkeye games.

Hawkeye coverage was dropped because of a suggestion of the Radio Broadcasting Committee, an ad hoc committee composed of students and faculty. The committee last met in March. Their reason for deletion was simple: football games were covered by other stations, therefore WSUI was duplicating others. Simple, but hardly justifiable.

WSUI's coverage was important to us because we could not find another station that was more tailored to our interests. It was clean, concise and contained information interesting to students that other stations with professional broadcasters would delete or not know about.

We would also like to point out that WSUI is, like The Daily Iowan, a laboratory built on the idea that experience is what makes the newsman. Play-by-play broadcasting is one of the best experiences that any sportscaster can have. It is a shame that this training is being substituted by playing a taped opera.

A more practical reason for students keeping WSUI's coverage is due to our bad reception of stations outside Iowa City. The students in the dorms will always be able to rely on receiving WSUI.

But WSUI is not entirely to blame for the deletion. Robert Moore, the station's program director, said Monday that he has received "very little response" from students on this matter. We suggest that students take a stand and make their opinion heard.

Any gripes?

Did you have to sign what seemed like a pretty usurious housing contract last month just to get a place to sleep? Does some of your course material hurt? Do some of your instructors hurt? Would you like to get a decent seat at a football game?

Last year about a dozen people, the Committee on Student Life, spent a bit more than a dozen hours reorganizing some campus pigeon holes called University committees. As a result, this year students will sit on some of these policy-making committees and vote on some of them.

There are committee openings on University teaching, Cultural Affairs, Human Rights, Recreation, Committee on Student Life, Campus Planning and Building, Housing, Library, Scholarship and Loan, Security and Parking and Athletic Board of Control.

If you want some say about what goes on at your University, if you've got a gripe or some ideas you'd like to express, pick up an application at the Student Senate office in the Union Activities Center and return the completed form by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

These committees, to a great extent, decide how and where you live, study, work, and play. If you would like to influence their decisions, we suggest you get down to the Student Senate office.

Bandwagon rolls for 3rd time

By BRUCE MORROW
Staff Writer

It is a little difficult for traditionally Republican Iowans to fathom the idea of a Democratic governor running for a third term. That, however, is what Harold E. Hughes is doing.

Furthermore, with election day fast approaching, the Governor doesn't look at all like a Democrat campaigning in a Republican state in what many refer to as "a GOP year."

The Governor looks like a winner. The Hughes Bandwagon, replete with nearly every major state Democratic office seeker, stumped through northern and western Iowa last week. After a brief respite, the entourage will continue on its way, attempting to squeeze a few more Democratic votes from customarily Republican farmlands.

Although the Governor won his second term by an unprecedented majority and despite the fact that he is generally considered one of the best vote getters in Hawkeye State history, he dislikes much of the campaign grind. He frankly admits not liking the usual candidate trips down Main Street, shaking every hand that comes his way.

"It's hard work for me," he candidly stated last week. "I'm not by nature an outgoing man."

Consequently, while other members of the tour are trekking the streets and byways of Iowa towns searching for hands to clasp, you might find the Governor waiting for the eager crowds to find him.

Usually, they will. When a recent motorcade was formed in Council Bluffs, Hughes made it abundantly clear that he did not want to ride through the chilly, wet air in an open car. He asked another Democratic office-seeker, Congressman John R. Hansen of the 7th District, to relay the message to the motorcade managers. Hansen smiled.

"You tell 'em, Governor," replied the Congressman. "I can't spare the votes."

Votes, notwithstanding, Hughes rode in a closed car.

Though perhaps the most politically secure Democrat on the tour, Hughes is championing his third term cause as if his life depended upon it. The Governor recognizes the importance of his election in keeping Iowa in the Democratic column for the next two years. Hughes turned down the opportunity for national office in declining to run against incumbent Sen. Jack Miller, a Sioux City Republican.

Many observers gave the Governor a good chance of beating Miller. But going to the U.S. Senate meant possibly turning over the Iowa Statehouse to the G.O.P.

So the Governor, and the bandwagon he heads, rolls on.

Union Board plans solidity

By CHERYL ARVIDSON
For The Iowan

After two days of Union Board interviews, the committee chairmen are now selecting their committee members for the academic year. The new Union Board members will be notified this week.

On the Union Board movie screen this week will be three excellent motion pictures. Tonight, the 20th Century Series will present "Strange Victory," at 7 p.m. in the Illinois Room, with free admission. Cinema 16 will feature the Italian film "I Vitelloni," at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Illinois Room. The Weekend Movie for Saturday and Sunday is "The Americanization of Emily," starring James Garner and Julie Andrews. Showing times will be 4, 7 and 9 p.m., also in the Illinois Room. Tickets for both the Cinema 16 and Weekend Movies may be obtained at the receptionist's desk in the Activities Center.

The motto "plan ahead" should govern all students interested in the Crafts and Outings plans. Oct. 28 is the date of the Union Board Hayride, which will be held in West Liberty. On Oct. 30, an all-day trip to the MacGregor area is planned. The Outings area is going to publish a newsletter to notify the students who are interested in the work of what is coming up. Anyone wishing to receive this newsletter is asked to leave his name at the receptionist's desk in the Activities Center.

The Ski Trip Committee has a tentative outline of this year's trip to Aspen, Colo. The trip will be held during Easter recess, March 24-April 2. The cost is about $140, which includes round-trip train fare, complete lodging for seven nights in an Aspen lodge, two meals daily, two tickets for chair lifts, T-bars, and rope tows, and four days of ski lessons.

From the fine arts angle, the first poetry reading of the year is scheduled for Oct. 12. Watch for additional information.

A new addition to the Music room is the See-Burd, a glorified jukebox that enables a student to dial classical music by pressing the buttons of the machine. Consequently, free classical music will be available all day. A new art exhibit, "Who Was Rembrandt?," will be displayed starting Oct. 15. The Rembrandt exhibit and "The Photographer and the City," now being shown, will be displayed until Oct. 31.

Soapbox Soundoff will be held every Wednesday, from noon to 2 p.m., in the Gold Feather Lobby.

Christ portrayed as rebel, peace-creep

By NICHOLAS MEYER
For The Iowan

One may be tempted to wonder why Signor Pasolini, an active member of the Italian Communist Party, should concern himself with the making of a film about the life of Christ. One may be further tempted to wonder why this infidel's life of Christ is so much better than those made by our "Christian" film industry. I think Signor Pasolini thinks Christ was something of a Communist, shocking though the thought may be. And since he has a point of view, he has a distinct advantage over those directors who have tackled the subject without one.

The emphasis of the film is on Christ "the son of man" first, and a super-man, second. When he has nails driven through his palms he screams like a person, not some unfathomable, unfamiliar god.

Christ, for a change, has a personality. He is a "peace-creep," complete with beard, making his society just as nervous with his presence as some "peace-creeps" make ours. He is a rebel among the rabble, and there is nothing particularly glorious about his grubby soap-box sound-off, but it does possess a kind of furious beauty. And this beauty is considerably more exciting and moving than a series of pretty pictures bound to each other by tradition, but not imagination or conviction.

See "The Gospel According to St. Matthew." Its imperfections are huge, but you can be a heathen and still get quite a bit out of it.

Christ (played by an engineering student at the University of Madrid), looks like a combination of El Greco and a Viet Nam protester. He is grubby, smelly-looking, beatnik-y, and instead of pompous serenity, possesses the feverish eyes of a fanatic. He is no milk-soap savior. He does not dilute his pronouncements with a pacifying gesture intended to soften his meaning for incredulous, rationalizing 20th century audiences, but when he smiles — there is no one in the entire theater who doesn't smile back.

The play of the whole thing seems to combine the elements of a homemade movie and a medieval passion play, in which all the villagers (as they did in this film) take part.

Needless to say, the film is not in color, but in stark, relentless black and white. The screenplay — with few exceptions — is taken word for word from the King James translation of the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

The miracles are performed neatly and cleanly, but without throbbing organ music or stereophonic Hallelujah choruses. In fact, Christ is interred in a dirty white sheet with flies settling on his corpse, and when he rises it is to the African Missa Luba music and not anything of Handel's.

There is Sincerity
The screenplay has long moments of static; the inexperience of the actors and the pacing of director Pasolini hold things up more than once, but the overall sincerity makes the film a spellbinding.

U.S. bridges bridge gap in Viet Nam

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — Congressman Thomas M. Rees of California raised this question in a recent newsletter that has been bothering many people — How many bridges does North Viet Nam really have? He says that despite continuous bombing of North Vietnamese bridges, the Ho government seems to be building them much faster than we can destroy them. In a recent two-week period, a military spokesman announced that he had destroyed 133 bridges, which is a very impressive figure.

But what has Congressman Rees worried is that during the same period the U.S. military announced that infiltration into South Viet Nam had increased. It seems the more targets we knock out in North Viet Nam the more troops are sent into South Viet Nam.

Rees raises these questions: Are the North Vietnamese winning the race for spans? Is the United States suffering from a bridge gap?

To find the answer to these questions I interviewed the undersecretary of defense in charge of destroying bridges.

"You must remember," he said, "when we started bombing North Viet Nam we expected Hanoi to cave in immediately. Therefore, there was no effort made to ration the country's military targets over any period of time. The bombers went in there and destroyed everything without thought to the future."

"Much to everyone's surprise, the bombing did not have the effect we wanted. Instead of giving in, North Vietnamese resistance stiffened, and suddenly the United States found itself with a shortage of bombing targets."

"To paraphrase Churchill," I said, "never had so much been done by so few, so fast."

"Something like that," the undersecretary said. "Well, we were caught flat-footed, so we asked the Administration to declare a temporary bombing cessation of North Viet Nam. They could announce the reason we were doing it was to give the North Vietnamese a chance to seek peace negotiations, but in fact the pause would give the North Vietnamese a chance to repair their bridges so we would have some targets to bomb again."

"It was clever strategy," I admitted. "Unfortunately our bombing was so good that as soon as we were permitted to fly over North Viet Nam again we destroyed all the bridges that had been repaired. This left us in a helluva predicament, so we decided to go after their oil storage tanks and railroad yards."

"But once again we knocked them out in a few raids, and the realization started to dawn on us that the larger the raids the less results we had to show for it. In the beginning the destruction of an oil storage tank farm was a big event, but as time went on we found ourselves happy to announce that 150 B-52s had knocked out two jeeps and eight water buffalos."

"I remember that," I said. "So we decided the only solution to the problem was to drop our own bridges on North Viet Nam and then destroy them with our own planes. The first wave of bombers would let go with the bridges and the second wave would come on a half-hour later and bomb them."

"And it's working?" I asked. "I should hope to tell you it's working. We've got the Communists completely confused because they can't account for the bridges we've destroyed. And it's also played havoc with North Vietnamese morale. The soldiers there are very embittered. They want to know why, if North Viet Nam has that many bridges, they have to swim across so many dirty rivers all the time."

Oct. 12 Goal For Opening Of One-Way Street Couplet

City crews worked Monday to improve the Dodge-Governor intersection and nearly wrapped up work on the traffic sign installations in hopes that the city could open a new one-way street couplet by Oct. 12.

The couplet, which has its north starting point the Dodge-Governor intersection and is bounded on the south by Bowery Street, was established by the Iowa City council at its meeting Sept. 20.

Parking along the streets has been prohibited in certain areas to prepare for the couplet. The traffic change was made on the basis of a study by a traffic expert last spring.

Banquet Honors Sorority Scholars

Members of the 15 social sororities who earned top grades during the 1965-1966 academic year were honored Monday at the 28th annual Panhellenic Scholarship Dinner.

Especially honored were Johanna Biebesheimer, A4, Mason City; Maureen Kirby, A2, Strawberry Point; Marcia Kron, A2, Iowa City; and Candace Wiebner, A4, Davenport. These four coeds had straight A grades for two semesters.

Federal Board Starts Inquiry Into Air Crash

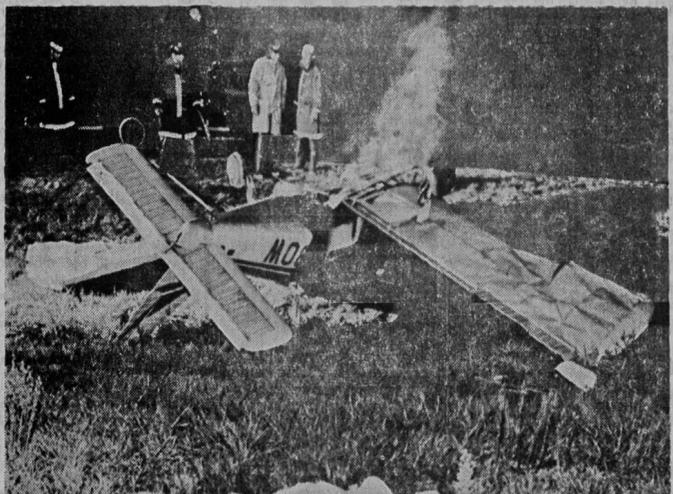

The Civil Aeronautics Board is investigating the accident in which two persons were killed when their light plane struck a high voltage power line about 2 a.m. Sunday near Interstate 80 at the Highway 1 interchange at the northeast edge of Iowa City.

Killed were Martin F. White, 24, Chicago, and his fiancée, Dorothy M. Gwinn, 20, Cicero, Ill. The Piper Cherokee 180, owned in part by White through a club arrangement in Chicago, struck the 33,000 volt power line and plummeted to the ground, killing both the pilot and Miss Gwinn instantly.

White was flying his fiancée to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. White of Perry.

Miss Gwinn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gwinn of near Humeston.

An Iowa Highway Patrolman said the plane was flying west over the interstate at a very low altitude when it struck the power line.

Mercy's Expansion Up To City

Expanded facilities at Mercy Hospital, involving several million dollars' worth of new construction, hinge upon a decision of the Iowa City Council — whether to vacate a portion of Van Buren Street.

Hospital officials recently asked the Iowa City Planning and Zoning Commission for permission to vacate Van Buren Street between Market and Bloomington Streets to make space available for the construction of a proposed new wing for the hospital.

However, the Commission refused to grant the request because members were not sure how the street closure would effect the new one-way couplet system of Market and Jefferson streets.

The commissioners felt that about two years of study would be needed to determine the effect the closing of Van Buren Street would have on traffic flow.

The issue will be decided at a public hearing on the hospital request at the Oct. 18 meeting of the city council.

The decision, according to David J. Noonan, Mercy Hospital administrative assistant, is the last hope this year for the hospital to take bids and begin construction of its proposed new addition.

The new wing of the hospital, if permission for its construction is granted by the city council, will contain 150 beds and will cost from $5-6 million, Noonan said.

He said that uncertainty about urban renewal may be a major factor in the council's decision, but hoped that the importance of additional hospital facilities would override any indecision which might arise from urban renewal.

Peace Party Chooses Day As Candidate

A petition opposing the war in Viet Nam and supporting Charles H. Day as the Peace Independent candidate for the U.S. Senate is being circulated among University professors.

Petitions have been sent to 1,220 faculty members by Mrs. Betty Mandell, associate professor of social work. According to Mrs. Mandell, the Iowa City support of Day will depend upon the number of signatures obtained from the professors and the number of people who turn out at a meeting to be held at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Unitarian Church, 10 S. Gilbert St. Day will appear at the meeting.

The petition specifically states: "We, the undersigned professors of the University of Iowa, are opposed to the war in Viet Nam, and we wholeheartedly support Charles H. Day, the Peace Independent candidate for the U.S. Senate."

Day, 36, is teaching science at Urbandale High School and is a consulting chemist for a Des Moines engineering firm. He is also chairman and founder of Iowans for Peace in Viet Nam, a member of Friends Committees on National Legislation and a member of the Society of Friends.

The Peace Independents feel that the war issue and related problems are overriding matters of the times which may result in futile efforts in dealing with domestic problems.

Soundoff To Be Subject For Soapboxers

Soapbox Soundoff participants will have an opportunity to discuss and criticize their own forum between 12 and 2 p.m. Wednesday as the topic will be — Soapbox Soundoff itself.

Janis Watje, A2, Denison, Soundoff committee member, said the weekly discussion was becoming too much of a club with the same persons doing all the talking.

"Soapbox Soundoff is not just for the radicals on campus," she said. "We need more people to get up and talk."

The committee hopes Wednesday to get suggestions on how Soundoff might be improved and also to add several students to the committee.

Anyone interested in Soundoff should contact Miss Watje or Ardes Belsler, A3, Iowa City, Committee chairman.

Mayo Gets Tiger Post; Indians Name Adcock

The line-up of major league baseball managers for 1967 was set one day after the close of the 1966 campaign Monday when Mayo Smith was named to lead the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland filled its managerial vacancy with the appointment of Joe Adcock.

The developments climaxed a hectic few weeks during which the situation was brought into sharper focus with the hiring of three other managers, plus the retention of seven more.

Nagel Experiments With Line As Hawks Look To Purdue

By JIM MARTZ
Sports Editor

As Iowa began preparations Monday for Saturday's football battle at Purdue, coach Ray Nagel tried four players at new positions in an attempt to strengthen the offensive line and defensive safety position.

No. 2 fullback Cornelius Patterson, a 200 pound junior, was tried at offensive power guard. Defensive guard Craig Miller, a 210 pound sophomore, was tried at offensive quick guard.

NAGEL

Tom Haugo, a 215 pound defensive tackle, was tried at offensive tackle, and Paul Baker, a 182 pound halfback, was tried at defensive safety.

Offensive end Al Bream and offensive guard Phil Major, both of whom were injured in Saturday's game with Wisconsin, dressed for Monday's practice. Bream had suffered a shoulder injury and Major a knee injury.

Wilson Returns
 Steve Wilson, a sophomore defensive halfback who missed Saturday's game because of a jammed finger, returned to practice Monday.

Nagel said that Greg McManus, the No. 2 offensive center, would be out for the season. McManus injured his knee in the Wisconsin game and was operated on Saturday night.

Following Saturday's 7-0 loss here to Wisconsin, coach Ray Nagel said, "There were some wet eyes in the dressing room, but the Iowa team spirit wasn't dampened one bit."

Nagel complimented Iowa's defensive unit and said he hoped the offense would soon begin to show similar improvement.

"Our defense improved quite a bit over last week's game against Oregon State," Nagel said. "Dan Hilsabeck played a fine game at linebacker and the most improved of all was John Hendricks at defensive guard."

Victory For Defense
 Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn said, "Our offense scored our touchdown, but this was a victory by our defense. It was a good team effort. I can't single anybody out."

Bruhn said he was impressed with Iowa's performance. "They are playing fine football," he said. "Their running backs impressed me, especially Silas McKinnie. They came right at you, always hustling."

Iowa sophomore tackle John Evenden said: "Wisconsin hit much harder than Arizona or Oregon State. I sure can tell the difference between conference and non-conference games."

Fullback McKinnie said: "I don't think they stopped our running or passing game. We just didn't get that one big play we needed to set us on the way."

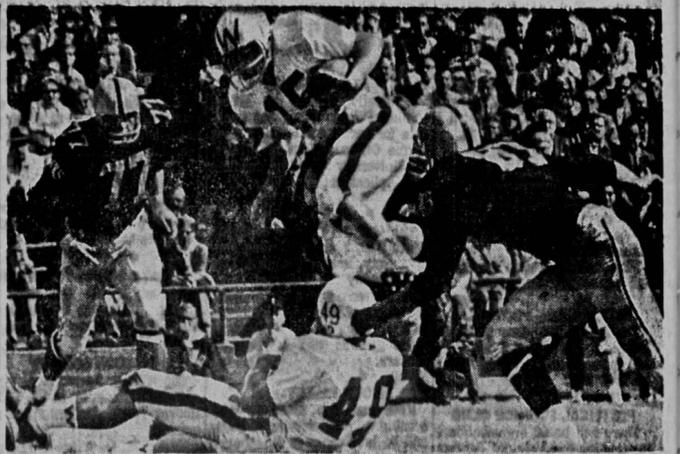

"In the second half I read my blocks better and ran a little bit niftier. They had the best line we've faced."

McKinnie also felt there wouldn't be a letdown now. "We don't have that kind of a team," he said. "We know we're fighting an uphill battle. We know we must do our best to stay in the game."

Iowa has lost 13 Big 10 games in a row, just one short of the all-time school record. Northwestern holds the Big 10 record for the longest losing streak — 17.

The Hawks haven't scored a touchdown in the last nine quarters and now face Purdue, a team which hasn't given up a point to Iowa at Purdue since 1959. Iowa lost at W. Lafayette 9-0 in 1961 and 14-0 in 1963.

Saturday the Bollermakers whipped Southern Methodist 35-23 to boost their record to 2-1. They won their opener 42-3 over Ohio University, then lost 26-14 to Notre Dame.

Dodgers Take Break After Pennant Grind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The newly recrowned National League champion Dodgers retired from public view Monday to shake off the emotional tensions that has gripped them for days and nights in the long haul to the pennant.

"The rest will do us a lot of good," said Manager Walter Alston, who will reassemble his troops today for a workout preceding the opening game of the World Series with the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday in Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers arrived at Los Angeles International Airport at 4:10 a.m. from Philadelphia, where they clinched the title in the final game of the regular season Sunday.

Despite the hour, some 200 well wishers turned out to welcome their heroes.

Ticket Rush
 At the same hour, and increasing by the hour, hundreds of fans gathered at Dodger Stadium where 8,000 tickets went on public sale.

Security guards held the airport through in check but news-men managed to reach, among others, southpaw Sandy Koufax, the 27-game winner.

Koufax, winner of the title clincher Sunday, is due to pitch the second game against the Orioles here Thursday. Don Drysdale is Alston's opening game choice.

"Opening against the Orioles means nothing to me," Sandy said. "I know who'll open — Drysdale — and we're not giving up a thing."

Victory For Team
 The unprecedented two-time winner of the Cy Young Award, and a likely third time selection, continued:

"And our 95th victory meant everything to me, not my 37th. I wouldn't have cared if it was my second."

Repeatedly, the Dodgers have been asked what they think of facing Baltimore's powerful array of hitters.

The answers have been almost identical. After facing the slug-gracing Pittsburgh Pirate roster, not to forget San Francisco, Atlanta and Philadelphia, the Orioles pose nothing unique for the Dodgers.

Hawkeye Harriers Top Illinois, 16-45

Iowa's Larry Wiczorek broke a four-year-old cross-country record Saturday and led the Hawkeye runners to a 16-45 victory over Illinois in the season opener.

Wiczorek, the Big 10 indoor one mile champion, toured the four mile distance at the South Finkbine course in 19:35.7. He thereby erased the previous course record of 19:45.2 set in 1962 by Al Carius of Illinois.

The Hawkeyes captured four of the first five places in the meet and placed seven runners in the top 10 spots. Iowa sophomore Curt Labond finished second with a time of 20:10.0; sophomore Rollie Kitt wound up third; and Steve Szabo netted fourth place in the meet.

Illinois averted a complete sweep of the first five places by Iowa when John Lamoreux won fifth place for the Illini, just four seconds ahead of Hawkeye captain Pete McDonald who finished sixth. Other Iowa harriers placing in the top 10 were Ron Griffith who finished seventh and Ted Brubaker who came in tenth.

Cretzmeyer Pleased With Harriers' Victory

By JOEL FABRIKANT
Staff Writer

Once in a while, a fellow has to rub his eyes and come to his senses before he believes what he sees. That's exactly what cross-country coach Francis Cretzmeyer had to do as Larry Wiczorek breezed past the finish line of the four mile race in an incredible 19:35.7.

In so doing, Wiczorek shattered the South Finkbine course record of 19:45.2 held by Al Carius of Illinois. Carius' mark had stood since 1962. The Hawks won the meet 16-45.

Coach Cretzmeyer was understandably happy to talk about his ace runner. "Larry just flew down that course," he said. "Isn't he amazing? And he's only a junior."

No one would deny that, but Wiczorek's teammates were equally impressive. Curt Labond, Rollie Kitt and Steve Szabo, all sophomores, finished two-three-four. And Captain Pete McDonald was just four seconds from making it a complete sweep.

Wiczorek, last year's winner in the Big 10 one mile indoor championships, led almost all the way as his lead snowballed with every lap. The spindly Maywood,

LARRY WICZOREK Sets Record

Illinois junior grinned as he hit the tape. Coach Cretzmeyer gave an even bigger smile.

The Hawkeye harriers will find that their next conference opponent, Minnesota, will be nowhere near the easy victim Illinois was. The Gophers have top credentials of their own, having beaten strong Drake and Wisconsin teams. The Hawkeye-Gopher meet in Minneapolis on October 15 could well be a dress rehearsal for the 1966 Big 10 championships.

Badgers Hand Rugby Club First Loss Of Season, 9-3

By CHUCK STOLBERG
Staff Writer

Playing before a home crowd of over 100 people, Iowa's Rugby Club was defeated Saturday for the first time in its history, 9-3, by a big, fast Wisconsin team.

Following the Wisconsin setback, the Eagle Hawks defeated the Quad Cities Sunday, 13-6.

The defensive play of Larry Dorr, John Raney, and Dennis Heard was instrumental in stopping the Quad Cities, but Iowa trailed at halftime, 3-0, after the Quad Cities scored on a free kick. Early in the second period, Iowa's Ross scored a touchdown to tie the score.

However, seconds later, the Quad Cities scored their second touchdown to give them the lead, 6-3.

A touchdown by Dorr tied the score once again, and the conversion attempt by Heard was good to give Iowa the lead, 8-6. Later in the second period, the Eagle Hawks' Ed Bastian scored a touchdown, and Jim Middleton converted to make the final score 13-6.

On Saturday, Wisconsin scored two first half touchdowns and led at halftime, 6-0.

Midway through the second half, the Badgers scored their third touchdown.

Later, Iowa's Jim Middleton booted a free kick, but the two first period scores of Wisconsin were too much to overcome, and Iowa fell, 9-3.

The victory left the Badgers undefeated.

Wisconsin coach Bob Murray praised the Eagle Hawks, saying "they showed a lot of promise, but they need more experience."

"They showed American football instincts, but they do have a lot of potential," he said.

Coach Leon Smith's Gray (B) team also saw action Saturday and Sunday. The Eagle Hawks fell to Wisconsin after leading 9-0 at halftime Saturday. The Quad Cities B team defeated the Eagle Hawk Gray team 6-0 Sunday.

Earl Fitz and Gary Goldstein, both of whom played in the Gray game Saturday, moved up to the A team Sunday after impressive showings against Wisconsin.

Mays, Mantle Gain In Home Run Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays of San Francisco moved into second place behind Babe Ruth while four other active players gained ground on the major league career home run list as a result of their 1966 season performances.

Mays finished with 37 homers, lifting his career total to 542. This enabled him to break the National League home run mark of 511 set by Mel Ott.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees had 23 homers, boosting him into sixth place with 496. Ed Matthews of Atlanta tied Lou Gehrig for seventh place with 493.

Modern Gas Ranges Stop "Boil Overs"!

That's because of the "BURNER-WITH-A-BRAIN." Automatic, it adjusts itself to hold the desired heat setting from a low "simmer" to a "king-size" flame. Scorching and boil-overs never happen with this thermostatically controlled top burner. It also lets you braise and simmer cheaper cuts of meat to tender perfection — without "pot watching!" Your kitchen stays cooler, too.

The OVEN-WITH-A-BRAIN cooks while you're away — keeps foods at serving temperatures for hours. And other attractive features like — modern styling — ease of cleaning — attractive colors — are just a few more reasons why you, too, should cook on a truly up-to-date gas range.

Snyder Passes Up
Hunting For Series

BALTIMORE (AP) — Russ Snyder, a Nebraska sharpshooter, will have to delay the start of his hunting season this year. "That's all right with me," Snyder said. "I wouldn't mind having the same problem every year."

Snyder, Oriole infielder, will be busy at least for the next week, preparing for and playing in the World Series.

Announcers Chosen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Announcers for the World Series broadcasts were announced Monday by the National Broadcasting Co., and Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert.

They are Vince Scully, the voice of the Los Angeles Dodgers for 17 years; Chuck Thompson, the Baltimore Orioles broadcaster since 1955; Bob Prince, an announcer for the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Curt Gowdy.

Dodgers Are 8-5 Favorites
To Whip Orioles In Series

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strong arms of Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen make the Los Angeles Dodgers the 8-5 favorites over the hard-hitting Baltimore Orioles in the World Series, opening Wednesday at Dodger Stadium.

Orioles Manager Hank Bauer named Dave McNally, a 23-year-old left-hander with a 13-6 record, to open for the American League champions who have had almost two weeks to prepare for the big test after clinching the AL pennant Sept. 22.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the club right now," said Bauer in Baltimore before leaving for the West Coast. "If it goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

Given a similar choice of the pick of his staff, Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers would have named Koufax, his 27-game winning ace. But he was forced to pitch Sandy against the Phillies Sunday when the Dodgers clinched the National League pennant in the last game of the season Sunday and barely escaped a playoff.

Koufax will be held for the second game of the best-of-seven series. If it goes seven, Koufax would have to come back for the final with two days rest, just as he did last year in Minnesota after missing the opener due to the Jewish holy days.

Drysdale May Start
Drysdale, 33-16, was knocked out of the box by the Phillies in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, but he undoubtedly will get the call for the first Series game from Alston. Drysdale had won four in a row and was working on a string of 25 scoreless innings in a fine comeback until the Phils lowered the boom.

The other possibility for the Dodgers is Claude Osteen, 17-14, a southpaw who was beaten by the Phils Friday night. He probably will work the third game. Pitching is expected to be the hole card for the Dodgers, whose staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared to the Orioles' 3.35 ERA and only 23 complete games for the entire season.

The top winner for Baltimore was Jim Palmer, 15-10. He is due to face Koufax in the second game on Thursday afternoon.

New British Instructor Finds Life Here Is Not Routine

By Dianna Grau Staff Writer

Norman Jackson slowly shakes his head and reflects: "There doesn't seem to be any routine in my life at the moment and I'm a little frightened."

Jackson, a new rhetoric instructor from Hull, England, who is working at the University under a Fulbright Fellowship, is teaching this year for the first time; he teaches two rhetoric classes and writes poetry in his spare time. He says he finds teaching difficult at times and it bothers him that he might be letting the students down some of the days.

But he's a philosophic person and expects that with experience he'll overcome his feelings of newness.

In the meantime, he says he is going to be busy here teaching, writing reviews and delivering special lectures.

Jackson has agreed to write several book reviews for the Davenport Times-Democrat. While in England, he wrote reviews for the London Review Tribune.

To Lecture On Faulkner

Traveling the lecture circuit, Jackson is scheduled to deliver three lectures at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Miss., on Nobel Prize-winning author William Faulkner. Jackson wrote a thesis on Faulkner while a student at Hull University, Hull, England. The thesis was published in the National University Press and is now a part of the Faulkner collection kept at Oxford.

Two volumes of Jackson's poetry have been published by the Northern Poetry Publications in England. Several of his poems have appeared in various magazines and newspapers.

What It Takes

The young poet has some definite views on what it takes to become a good writer.

"You must be disciplined," he advised. "It's not what you can do with words but what you can't do. You can see inside only if you have the key of craft; otherwise good writing remains forever unlocked."

He said he thought aspiring young writers should first work to improve their writing ability before attempting to write a novel.

Profs To Speak At Fair

Dr. Robert E. Yager and Dr. Richard V. Bovbjerg, University professors and members of the Visiting Scientist Program will speak at a Science Workshop Day Saturday at Cedar Rapids Harding Junior High School.

The Science Workshop Day, sponsored by the Eastern Iowa Science Fair, will help junior and senior high school students and teachers in 13 Iowa counties to develop classroom and science fair exhibition projects.

The Eastern Iowa Science Fair is a group of Cedar Rapids businessmen and scientists who are organized to promote interest in science among high school students through scientific, literary and educational programs.

17 Are Named To College Of Medicine

Seventeen new appointments to the University College of Medicine include one professor, fifteen assistant professors, and one associate professor.

Dr. William O. Rieke, appointed professor and head of anatomy, served as administrative officer and associate professor in the Department of Biological Structure at the University of Washington School of Medicine and received his M.D. with honors from the same school. He was selected from the faculty of the preclinical sciences by three graduating classes to receive the "Medical Teacher Honors" award.

Dr. Glenn D. Jacobsen, named assistant professor of anatomy, received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of North Dakota, where he became assistant professor of anatomy. Dr. Jacobsen was named assistant professor at the University of Missouri early this year.

Dr. Walter H. Mason, assistant professor of preventive medicine and environmental health, received his M.S. and Ph.D. in pharmacology from West Virginia University. He had been a post-doctoral fellow on a training grant at Tulane University before coming here.

Dr. James Robert Leonard was named assistant professor of otolaryngology and maxillofacial surgery. He served a residency at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Dr. Leonard received his M.D. from the Medical College of Virginia in 1959.

Dr. Thomas Ellsworth Layman, assistant professor of internal medicine, received his M.D. from the University of Illinois College of Medicine. He served a residency at Minneapolis Veterans Administration Hospital. Later he held a fellowship in cardiology at the University of Minnesota Hospitals and became a research associate in pathology at the Charles T. Miller Hospital in St. Paul, Minn.

Dr. Gilbert Frank, associate professor of psychiatry and neurology, received his M.D. from the University of Minnesota Medical School, where he served a residency and was an instructor for a year. He was an assistant professor of neurology and director of the EEG Laboratory at the Stanford University School of Medicine in Palo Alto, Calif., before coming here.

Dr. Rafiq Waziri, appointed assistant professor of psychiatry, has been in this country for five years on an exchange visa and is seeking an extension for two years of work at the University. He hopes to return to Afghanistan to assume a medical school post. He received his M.D. from the American University of Beirut Medical School. Dr. Waziri was an instructor in the Department of Physiology and Biophysics at New York University Medical School the past two years.

Dr. Donald P. Stahly, assistant professor of microbiology, received his M.S. in microbiology from Ohio State University and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois last year. He has since been in the laboratory of Dr. Robert W. Bernlohr at the University of Minnesota.

Dr. James C. N. Brown, assistant professor of psychiatry, received a medical degree from the National University of Ireland in Cork. After serving a residency in psychiatry and EEG at the University, he became psychiatrist and electroencephalographer for the Clarinda Mental Health Institute, where he also became director of the Out-Patient Department last year.

He was head of the Experimental Medicine Division of the Clinical Investigation Department of the Naval Medical Research Institute in Bethesda, Md., in 1964.

Tipsy Hamsters Give Alcohol Clue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tests with hamsters given alcohol — some to the point of drunkenness — have suggested a new theory on the cause of human alcoholism, two Texas researchers reported Monday.

The admittedly-tentative theory is that chronic, uncontrolled boozing may be due to a more or less inborn defect, in certain individuals, in the brain's ability to metabolize or burn a certain kind of sugar called glucose.

They said the theory appeared to explain why candy and sugary soft drinks were often helpful to drunks seeking to recover from a drinking bout; the extra sugar thus provided to the blood stream may compensate in the sugar-handling department.

The concept, called a hypothesis, was offered in a report in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences by researchers Roger J. Williams and Mary Kay Roach of the University of Texas at Austin.

Since 1947, Williams has held a theory that certain individuals are probably inborn prone to become alcoholics because of undefined peculiarities in the individual biochemistry.

In Monday's report, the investigators said an impairment of glucose-metabolism in the brain could be the missing link and that the craving for alcohol in some individuals could stem from a demand on the part of brain cells for something that will paritally make up for this impairment.

In the hamster tests, 42 animals were given preliminary treatments with alcohol, some of them getting this liquor diet for periods up to more than 10 months. A few also were given injections of alcohol which quickly intoxicated them.

After such drinking sprees, all the hamsters were forced to go on the wagon, and were deprived of alcohol for 24 hours. Then, all received injections of glucose labeled with radioactive carbon-14, so its use by the brain could be studied.

During the preliminary tests, some hamsters showed higher drinking tendencies than others.

After the glucose was injected, the higher drinkers showed a higher level of glucose unconsumed in the brain than did the lower drinking animals, the researchers said.

Drake 'Skip Day' Seen By Hughes

DES MOINES (AP)—About 1,000 jubilant Drake University students celebrating traditional "Skip Day" gathered at the steps of the Statehouse here Monday.

The students, rejoicing about the school's 30-7 football victory over Southern Illinois Saturday, were greeted by Gov. Harold Hughes.

As the governor began to address the throng, one of the students shouted "Down with Murray," Hughes' Republican opponent for re-election in November.

"I'll second that motion," the governor shot back.

Hughes cautioned the students to enjoy themselves but respect the surrounding property.

"You can have a heck of a lot of fun without destroying property," he said.
