Johnson Cool To Hopes For Viet Bombing Pause

Renews Peace Plea; Invites Russians To Visit America

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Thursday all but spurned a one-sided bombing pause in Viet Nam. He renewed a bid for Soviet leaders to visit this country and apparently bracketed the Soviet Union among nations seeking peace in Viet Nam.

The President also took some political swats at the Republicans during a news conference. He said he still hoped to visit as many states as possible before the Nov. 8 election. But there will be some interference with that from the six-nation, 25,000-mile trip to the Pacific he starts Monday.

The forthcoming journey and one or two other items took up 17 minutes before reporters got a chance with questions at the televised session with Johnson in the White House East Room.

The President had just returned from a political sortie into New York and Delaware. He was in a bouncy, ebullient, expansive mood. He told stories in his own Texas style to back up points. Obviously he was looking forward to the trip to the far East which he said "is going to be a very exciting, challenging and demanding trip."

The centerpiece of the expedition will be a conference in Manila Oct. 23-27 seeking to build foundations for peace in Viet Nam. The President was asked about the possibility of another bombing pause in Viet Nam to provide "a good atmosphere for the journey." Johnson said no, he didn't think this would be discussed.

"I would be very interested at this moment in a pause if I could have any assurance that it would be reciprocated and pause, unless their enemy would pause."

"But I see nothing on the horizon at this moment that would justify my asking all 300,000 or 400,000 Americans to stand there with their hands in their pockets because someone here suggested they pause unless their enemy would pause." If the aggressor will pause, Johnson said, we will pause immediately. If they will withdraw, he said, we will withdraw immediately.

As for the Soviet Union, Johnson said he had spent almost two hours Monday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in what he considered helpful, fruitful discussions that he believed would be productive.

"I don't want to get your hopes up," the President said. "I am not a prophet. I don't want to prognosticate. But I think I feel good about our meeting."

Johnson said he told Gromyko that a visit by Soviet leaders to this country would be welcome and so would Soviet citizens.

"I think all of the other nations look to us to keep the peace of the world," Johnson said, "so it is important that we understand each other and that we have proper respect for each other."

Smith Appeals Draft Card Case To U.S. Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A former University student convicted of burning his draft card filed an appeal Thursday in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Steven Smith, 21, Marion, contended if he had chosen another way to express his opposition against United States involvement in Viet Nam besides burning his draft card he would have been protected by the Constitution.

Smith was convicted last Feb. 18 in U.S. District Court at Des Moines of violating federal laws by burning the draft card at the Union on Oct. 20, 1965. Judge Roy Stephenson placed him on three years' probation with the stipulation that the probation would end if Smith volunteered for the armed forces.

Smith's appeal said that if he had written a book criticizing U.S. Viet Nam policy he would have been sheltered by the first amendment to the Constitution which guarantees free speech.

The appeals court took his case under advisement.

Forecast

McNamara Ends Tour Of Viet Nam; Says Operations To Remain Same

SAIGON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Thursday night "the rate of progress has exceeded our expectations" in military operations in Viet Nam over the last year. He suggested the swelling U.S. war effort would be pursued along its present lines.

"I saw nothing that in any way indicates a substantial change in the rate of operations, the tempo of operations, the type of operations in the months ahead," McNamara said in a statement on completing a four-day tour, his eighth visit to this war-torn country.

"I saw nothing that indicates any need for a change in the rate of deployment of U.S. forces in the months ahead."

Another B52 raid on Communist forces within the old demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams, official acknowledgment of the loss of three more American planes elsewhere, and minor skirmishes aground marked McNamara's final hours in looking over a war that now claims the direct attention of 328,000 U.S. servicemen.

Informed sources said adherence to current policy means no extension of the 12-month tour of duty for American troops in Viet Nam.

Some Will Stay

Certain pilots and selected, specially qualified staff and advisory officers are called on for longer service and some combat personnel stay on voluntarily. But military commanders and Defense Department officials consider an extension for the enlisted men would be unwarranted and would have an adverse effect on morale.

"I never come here without being impressed by the morale and the performance of the U.S. troops, both individually and collectively," McNamara said.

In speaking of allied military efforts, he said:

"The pressure on the Viet Cong, mea-

Hughes Promises Aid To Education

Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes said Thursday that he will "attempt to appropriate capital needs for Iowa's universities as near as possible to the amount asked for."

Hughes said he interpreted recent remarks by Republican candidate for governor William Murray as a "slur against the three fine university presidents and their institutions." Murray, according to Hughes, said the universities didn't need as much money as they requested.

Hughes was speaking at a fund-raising dinner here.

The governor also accused Murray of attempting to "buy votes," with the proposed return of some of the income taxes. Hughes said that Murray "seems to think you can spend your money two or three times and still get it back in your pocket."

Hughes said Murray's partial tax-refund proposal would lead to "a 4 per cent increase in sales tax and a 100 per cent increase in the state income tax."

The governor said many things now need attention in Iowa, among them the rehabilitation of the penal system and better mental health facilities. Hughes said that "now is the time to face up to these needs, not to stop and divide the pot" as Murray wants to do.

GOV. HUGHES

Appointive Offices

Hughes also said he wanted several state offices to be appointive, rather than elective, in future years. Among these offices are attorney general and state auditor. He said that the state auditor should be responsible to the General Assembly.

Hughes said that if the Democrats lose control of the Iowa General Assembly in the 1968 election "the state would face obstructionism because the Republicans would want to destroy me" rather than concentrate on what would be best for the people of Iowa.

Assembly The Greatest

Speaking of the Democratic party, Hughes said it is "known as the party to look to the future." He said that the 1965 general assembly was the "greatest since the state began" and that 95 per cent of the Democratic platform proposals of 1962 and 1964 are now law or in the process of becoming law.

The governor added that many improvements had been begun during his administration. He cited the amendment which would establish the item veto, whereby a single appropriation could be vetoed from a bill, an annual session of the general assembly, which he said was much more efficient than biennial sessions, and the elimination of secrecy in the government which would let each citizen know how his representative voted on a particular bill. Most of these reforms would require further action during the next session of the legislature.

Harlan Strikers Issued Citations For Picketing

HARLAN (AP) — A hearing for 51 persons charged with unlawful assembly during an Oct. 3 riot at the strikebound Western Iowa Pork plant here took an unexpected turn late Thursday when contempt of court affidavits were served against all the defendants.

The hearing was before Justice of the Peace J. Bruce Potter but when the defendants filed out of the courtroom in the Shelby County Courthouse each was handed an affidavit ordering them to appear on Nov. 10 before District Court Judge Bennett Cullison.

The order signed by Judge Cullison directed each defendant to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in disobeying Cullison's decree against mass picketing.

The decree limited the number of pickets to eight-four at each of the two plant entrances.

Meanwhile, the hearing before Potter was recessed until Friday after Shelby County Attorney Jerry Larsen presented nine witnesses.

Defendants charged with unlawful assembly included members of a United Packinghouse Workers Union local who struck the plant last Aug. 18.

The witnesses identified 42 persons who they said were present when violence broke out at the plant during the night of Oct. 3.

Those testifying included five law enforcement officers, two plant supervisory employes, a woman employee who was dragged from her car during the riot when she tried to report for work and Marvin Gear, Manning chief of police.

Originally 65 persons were charged with unlawful assembly. Charges against five of them were dismissed and nine failed to show up for the hearing, forfeiting their bonds.

Spending Pushes Economic Growth To New Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rate of economic growth accelerated over the last three months as increased consumer and Viet Nam war spending pushed the nation's Gross National Product (GNP) to a record annual rate of 7.46 percent.

The Commerce Department, in reporting this Thursday, said inflation ate up much of the third-quarter gains of $13.7 billion but that a strong inflationary trend which marked the second quarter eased significantly between July and September.

Inflation, however, still accounted for 47 per cent of the dollar rise in Gross National Product — the value of all goods and services produced in the economy — during the first nine months of this year.

Figures for Gross National Product are always figured by the department at an annual rate adjusted for seasonal variations.

Because of the Viet Nam war, military spending during the third quarter shot up by $4.2 billion to an annual rate of $61.3 billion. It was the largest quarterly rise since the Viet Nam war began.

Last January, the administration projected military spending at $57.15 billion for the fiscal year which began July 1, including about $10.5 billion for Viet Nam.

But the Commerce Department figures indicate Viet Nam spending running at a rate of about $14.5 billion on an annual basis during the third quarter. It is expected to rise further.

The department said its figures are subject to revision next month.

—Clark Says He Doesn't Know If Whitman Read His Book—

Author Of Novel Similar To Texas Slaying Enrolls Here

By BOB REILLY
Staff Writer

A writer who chose to write about murders instead of committing them has enrolled in the University's School of Journalism.

Fred Clark was the author of "The Open Square," a novel some Texans believe came to life last summer when sniper Charles Whitman almost duplicated the chief character's carnage from a university tower. Clark said his youthful frustrations might have led to murder if writing out his problems had not produced the results of a successful psychoanalysis treatment.

By putting his thoughts and feelings on paper Clark got to the root of his problems, which stemmed from a background similar to his character's.

Result A Success . . .

The result was a successful novel, which sold 250,000 copies, and a writing career. In the novel the tormented student, like Whitman, had a perfectionist, dominant father, and a protective mother.

Clark said, "Once I put my feelings in writing, I began to understand my problems."

"The Open Square" was brought to national attention when a reporter was told in Austin that Whitman definitely got his idea for murder from Clark's book. The reporter checked, found similarities, and called Clark.

"I was in bed when the reporter called,

I told him I had no idea if Whitman read my book."

Yet Clark admitted the similarities were eerie.

Same Caliber Rifle

Whitman carried to the tower the same caliber rifle with the same type of scope. He also took dextroamphetamine, a drug students sometimes use to keep awake. Both the drug and the rifle were mentioned in the novel.

"An Austin psychiatrist said he thought Whitman read my book because he also carried a gas stove which he didn't need," said Clark.

Although Whitman may have re-enacted the carnage described in the novel, he was beyond saving.

"This is where Whitman was different from my character. When Whitman went to the tower he was determined to kill. In my book, the student went up to think for four days and didn't want anyone to come near him," said Clark. "He wasn't determined to kill."

However, after a policeman, the protagonist in the novel, almost talked the student down from the tower, the student shot and killed two people. He shot when he thought he was betrayed by a man trying to divert his attention.

Different Relationship

Clark also said Whitman differed from his character in his relationship with his mother. He said possibly Whitman and his mother had the kind of relationship portrayed in "Oedipus Rex," the Greek tragedy.

Clark said Whitman's mother left her husband, moved to Austin, and used to walk down the street arm and arm with her son, calling him "my dearest love."

Clark also mentioned the left hand of Whitman's mother that was crushed in a door sometime during the night of her murder. The door tore the stone from her wedding ring.

"I believe Whitman grabbed her left hand on purpose and slammed the door on it," he said.

After the tragic event in Austin, Clark was asked for interviews across the country and received threatening calls.

Granted 40 Interviews

He granted interviews to about 40 stations and became quite concerned when one caller said "I'm going to get you!"

The man did not carry out the threat. In the midst of all the publicity, why should a successful author, after making national headlines, return to the University for a degree he says he doesn't need?

"To gather material for a novel about college life I have in the back of my mind," said Clark, smiling. "I hope my reason for being here doesn't cause students to avoid me like the plague."

Currently classified as "about a sophomore," Clark works part-time for radio station KXIC. He is married and is the father of six children.

Grad Student Tells Of Work Helping Viet Cong Defectors

By MARGARET FONES
Staff Writer

A memory from this summer lingering in the mind of one graduate student is that of hearing bullets zip through the air above him in his hut, where a moment before he had been sleeping. He remembers leaping from his cot, putting his hands over his shoulders, and "praying like hell."

Peter M. Sturtevant, G. Buffalo, N.Y., spent two months this summer in the coastal lowlands of Viet Nam under a program of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID). He was one of 30 students from universities in the United States who worked in Viet Nam in civilian jobs under the foreign aid program.

Although he would occasionally see remnants of a battle, Sturtevant said this week, "You become used to the war and you don't even worry about it after a while. If you do, you go crazy."

Defector Program
Sturtevant was the AID adviser for the provincial Chieu Hoi (open arms) service chief in Tuy Hoa, who was responsible for running the defector program for the province. This program, which rehabilitates Viet Cong members who surrender voluntarily, is being pushed hard by the Vietnamese government, Sturtevant said.

"If it is successful, it will be a major factor in winning the war," he said.

Sturtevant, who interviewed about 200 of the 300 Viet Cong defectors handled at Tuy Hoa during his stay, said most of them had been "pressed into service" by threat of violence against their families if they refused. The family is the strongest tie among people there, he explained. These reluctant fighters compose about 40 per cent of the Viet Cong forces, he estimated.

"Most of them don't care at all about Communism," he said.

Apathetic Toward Ky
In fact, Sturtevant said, most people in South Viet Nam have been apathetic toward the Ky regime until recently. This is because governments of their country have never been responsible for the welfare of the people, he said.

As the Ky government, with U.S. aid, is providing security and food for the people, more interest in government is beginning to develop, Sturtevant said, citing the 80 per cent turnout for the election in September as an example.

Sturtevant liked Viet Nam and wants to return there to work for a government program after receiving his M.A. in journalism in February.

Always Hot Weather
The monsoon rains made the foliage greener than usual, he said, and the temperatures were always between 80 and 120 degrees.

South Vietnamese seemed to like Americans, Sturtevant noted, even though American money is causing inflation there.

"I found a smile and a friendly gesture helped develop rapport with people," he said.

Sturtevant had to use an interpreter all the time, but found that the major deterrent to communication with the Vietnamese was that he, at six feet five inches, stood about a head taller than they did.

He also noted that Vietnamese women were the most attractive of any native women he saw on his tours through such places as Hong Kong, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and Burma. He described them as "slender, petite, and stunning," and said that although

Senator Predicts Need To Increase Viet Nam Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) said Thursday the United States may have 500,000 military men in Viet Nam by the end of next year.

"We must prepare for the long haul," Stennis, chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, said in a Senate speech.

Current U.S. military strength in Viet Nam is estimated at 328,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, winding up an inspection trip, said Thursday in Saigon, "I saw nothing indicating substantial changes in the rate of operations or the deployment of U.S. forces in the months ahead."

Stennis' prognosis appeared to differ.

Visiting Official Explains Multilateral Trading

A central theme in U.S. foreign policy since World War Two has been to "foster economic cooperation on a multi-lateral basis so as to decrease nationalistic economic tendencies," James Stromayer, a U.S. State Department official, said Thursday.

Stromayer was on campus Wednesday and Thursday to describe the foreign service to interested students.

The visiting government official said multi-lateral trade agreements allow nations to sell their cheapest goods to other countries. For instance, if the price of American potatoes is high, and cheaper potatoes are imported, then the American consumer benefits from the lower price, and the importer benefits from the sales.

Stromayer said the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) are examples of multi-lateral organizations. He is assigned to advise the U.S. economic representative to NATO.

The French decision to leave NATO is an "unfortunate departure" from the U.S. policy for multi-lateral institutions, Stromayer said. France fears the United States might gain control of France through the importing of U.S. goods and industry, he said.

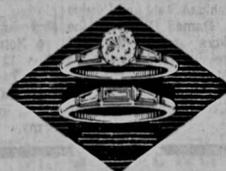

Stromayer said he hoped the French decision would only be temporary, and he said good relations were still being maintained with France.

President Johnson's recent proposal to Congress concerning new trade and tariff agreements with the Communist bloc countries would improve economic and political relations, Stromayer said.

Stromayer expected a good reaction from the communist countries.

Swami Picks Gophers To Beat Iowa, Purdue Over Michigan

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO — Today the Midwest Swami hopefully tries to shake the football barnacles off his plowing hull.

He shipped a little water last week charting against Northwestern and Nebraska, leaving a season's 21-11-1 record for '66.

● Minnesota 19, Iowa 12 — Injuries have slowed Gopher running, but their aerial game is strong enough to outlast the Hawkeye tossing and scrambling of Ed Podolak.

● Purdue 24, Michigan 18 — Both have lost to the best, Michigan to Michigan State and Purdue to Notre Dame. However, the Boilermakers are on the spot with successive road showings against Michigan and Michigan State. Banking on Boilermaker ace Bob Griese to pitch one game at a time.

● Michigan State 21, Ohio State 13 — It won't be easy in the Buckeyes' big bowl, but the No. 1 Spartans should make it five in a row. If the Buckeyes want to butt heads they're in trouble.

● Northwestern 14, Wisconsin 7 — The Wildcats got a big lift in ending a three-game losing streak at Oregon State. The difference may be Northwestern's "walk-on" battery of Bill Melzer and Roger Murphy.

● Illinois 13, Indiana 7 — Illini sophomores, especially quarterback Bob Naponic, jelled considerably in that 10-9 shading of Ohio State. The host Hoosiers, however, now are getting explosive fullbacking from Mike Krivoshia.

● Notre Dame 24, North Carolina 12 — Fresh from a two week rest, North Carolina's Tar Heels will keep the Irish varsity toiling longer than it did against Army.

Hilsabeck, Ficeli To Captain Hawks

By JIM MARTZ
Sports Editor

Dan Hilsabeck was named defensive captain and John Ficeli offensive captain Thursday by Iowa Coach Ray Nagel for Saturday's game at Minnesota.

Hilsabeck is a 224-pound linebacker from Audubon. He is Iowa's leading tackler, with 27 solo tackles and 13 assists.

Ficeli is a 222-pound offensive center from Grand Rapids, Mich. He has started every Iowa game for the past two seasons.

A traveling squad of 40 was announced Thursday, and the list included Gary Larsen, split end who missed the last two games because of a double-dislocation of a thumb.

Bream To Start
Nagel said that sophomore Al Bream would start at the end but that Larsen would be available for action.

Sophomore split end John Hayes was not included on the traveling list.

Nagel also said that Larry McDowell would again start at tight end. Paul Usinowicz, tight end who was moved to offensive tackle last week, will again start at tackle, Nagel said.

Patterson OK
Bob Gibbs, sophomore defensive halfback and brother of senior defensive back Dick Gibbs, might see action as the No. 2 tight end behind McDowell, Nagel said.

Cornelius Patterson, No. 2 fullback who injured an ankle in last week's game at Purdue, will be ready for action, Nagel said. For a statistical oddity: both

Bring Home Floyd, Says Iowa Quarterback Podolak

By KEN GOLAND
Staff Writer

ED PODOLAK
Hawk Signal-Caller

"We have only one goal. That is to beat Minnesota, ruin their homecoming, and bring home to Iowa the Floyd of Rosedale." These words from Ed Podolak, Iowa's scrambling sophomore quarterback, are just a reflection of the spirit still left on the Hawkeye squad despite their dismal 1-3 showing thus far.

"Everybody on the squad is still hustling," he continued. "Even though we make mistakes, there are no head-hangers on the team, and we keep on hustling. We're going to win this one."

So far this year, Podolak has passed for one touchdown and scored two others himself, all during the winning effort against Arizona. For these efforts Ed was named the UPI Midwest Back-of-the-Week. In four games, Ed has netted the Hawkeye offense 554 yards, 129 on the ground and 425 via the aerial route, for an average of 3.2 yards per try.

'Defense Improved'
As for improvement by the team, Ed merely stated, "The defense is vastly improved, and we on the offense are trying to keep pace."

During his high school years passes for 250 yards in one game, as a junior.

Ed's greatest thrill in sports, oddly enough, did not come on the gridiron. "Being able to play in two state high school basketball tournaments at Des Moines has to rate as my greatest thrill," recalled the all-around athlete.

Majors In Math
In the classroom, he is majoring in math. He plans to go on to graduate school in either math or business after earning his four-year degree.

Like most college football players, Podolak hopes to give pro football a try if he should receive the opportunity. "I would like to give college coaching a try also," speculated Ed. "If that doesn't work out, I still have a major other than physical education to fall back on."

Ed has a younger brother who is a senior back at Atlantic High School and is currently starting at end for the football team. "It is more or less up to the coaches whether he plays college football here," said Ed. Coupled with the large number of reliable sophomores on the squad, the prospect of a devastating Podolak-to-Podolak passing combination should make future Hawkeye opponents shudder.

Alabama At Tennessee For Major SEC Game

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Ken Stabler is the hottest passer in the country but his ability to count may be more important to Alabama Saturday when the third-ranked Crimson Tide battles Tennessee.

The Volunteers could be the last big stumbling block in Alabama's bid for a third straight Southeastern Conference (SEC) and national football championship. The Tide will be out to avoid the counting error that left them with a 7-7 tie against Tennessee last fall.

Alabama's last-minute bid for victory was halted in Tennessee territory by a pass purposely thrown out of bounds to stop the clock — on fourth down.

Tennessee took over and salvaged a tie, and a Volunteer aide gleefully recalled Thursday "that fourth-down pass by Alabama was our favorite play."

All-American Report Lauds MSU Fullback

CHICAGO — Top-ranked Michigan State has shunned the air lines in crunching to four successive victories and fullback Bob Apisa, the Samoan Smasher, is one of the big reasons why.

Apisa, 212-pound junior from Hawaii, drew loud acclaim in the latest report by the AP's Midwest All-America board for his play in Michigan State's 20-7 triumph over arch-rival Michigan Saturday.

Apisa, starting the season slowly after knee surgery last winter, ripped through Michigan for 140 yards on 10 carries. He set up MSU's second touchdown with a 49-yard dart through the middle to the Wolverine six and then scored on the next play.

Michigan State has passed an average of only 12 times a game in rolling over North Carolina State, Penn State, Illinois and Michigan.

MSU 3rd Nationally
But, in rushing offense the Spartans rank third nationally with a total of 978 yards — almost one-third, 298, provided by Apisa on 49 carries for a 6.1 average.

Thus far, it's been a good season for fullbacks in the Midwest despite glory-grabbing by such aerial artists as passers

Old Foe Minnesota Next For Iowa

Old rival Minnesota is Iowa's next football opponent, with the 60th game in the series set for Minneapolis Saturday. It will be Iowa's second consecutive road game.

It's never easy against the Gophers, especially on their home field. Iowa has lost five of the last six games, three of them at Minneapolis, since the last win there in 1958.

Iowa has a 1-3 season's record, with losses to Oregon State, Wisconsin and Purdue, after the win over Arizona. Minnesota has beaten Stanford, but lost to Missouri and Kansas and tied Indiana last Saturday.

"I feel that we have a good chance in the Minnesota game but we will have to fight our hardest if we are to scratch out a victory," said Iowa coach Ray Nagel.

Gophers Are Sound

"Minnesota has a fundamentally sound team, with power. The Gophers really do not do a great deal but they do it very well. I think it is one of the soundest teams in the Big 10," he continued.

Nagel said that the Iowa players, who now have suffered through eleven quarters without scoring, have a problem of trying to fight back and to improve in the face of defeat.

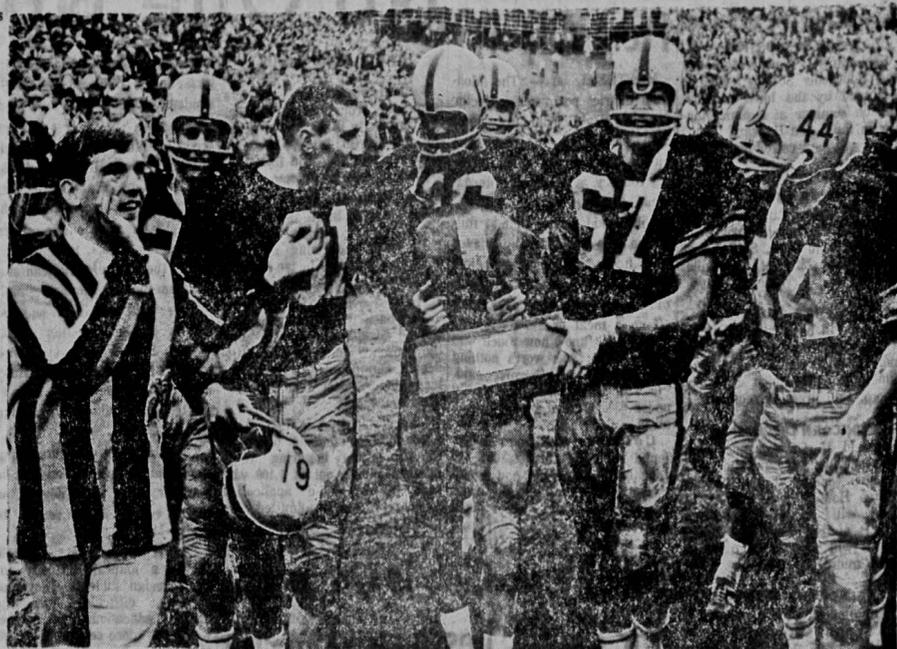

"Losing does not build character but it is a good test of character and the inner strength which enables a man to take the challenge and respond with harder work toward improvement," Nagel declared.

Coach Nagel is encouraged with the balance of the running and passing game. This balance is essential, he said. In the Purdue game, Iowa ran for 131 yards and gained 132 yards by passing.

McKinnie Top Rusher

Halfback Tony Williams has lost his No. 1 spot as a rusher to Silas McKinnie, but moved up to first as a pass-catcher. McKinnie now leads in rushing with 171 yards in 55 carries for a 3.1 average, to Williams' 155 in 44 for 3.5.

However, Williams caught four passes in the Purdue game, so leads with eight receptions for 120 yards ahead of sophomore end John Hayes with seven for 94 and the former leader, Gary Larsen, six for 90. Larsen has not played in the last two games because of a thumb injury.

Quarterback Ed Podolak has 27 completions in 86 throws for 425 yards and on total offense has 554 yards in 131 plays for a 3.2 average.

Other Leaders

Other individual leaders are Larry McDowell, punting, 36.6

average; Bill McCutchen, punt returns, 12 for 6.5; Williams, kickoff returns, 6 for 23.1; Dick Gibbs, pass interceptions, 3; and tackles, Dave Moreland, 23 solo and 15 assists for 43.

Iowa and Minnesota will meet in Game No. 60. Minnesota leads, with 39 wins to Iowa's 19, with one tie. In Iowa's last three games in the Gopher stadium, the home team won in 1960, 27-10; in 1962, 10-0; and in 1964, 14-13. At Iowa City in 1965, Minnesota was a 14-3 victor.

MSU's Apisa Tops Rushers In Big 10

CHICAGO (AP) — Fullback Bob Apisa of Michigan State is the rushing leader, but otherwise statistics for the still young Big 10 football season belie the strength of the nationally top-ranked Spartans.

Michigan State (2-0) ranks second defensively behind Wisconsin (1-0) and is fourth on offense behind Purdue (1-0), Northwestern (0-1) and Indiana (1-0-1).

In individual passing, Indiana's Frank Stavroff is the Big 10 leader with 35 completions of 35 tosses for 301 yards. Michigan State's Jimmy Raye ranks sixth in this department, throwing only 16 times for eight completions and 153 yards in Spartan victories over Illinois and Michigan.

Rate 3rd

However, Raye is the third best rusher behind Apisa and Indiana's Mike Krivoshia, according to conference statistics posted Wednesday.

Raye also shares a four-way tie for first in scoring with 12 points on two touchdowns and is third in total offense, topped by Hoosier quarterback Stavroff.

Purdue's offensive leadership is based on a 35-0 victory over Iowa in which the Boilermakers piled up 23 first downs and 5.9 yards per play.

Other departmental leaders:

- Pass receiving: Roger Murphy, Northwestern, 11 catches for 178 yards; and John Wright, Illinois, 8 for 194.

- Punting: Stan Kemp, Michigan, 11 for 44.0 average; and Larry McDowell, Iowa, 15 for 37.7.

- Kickoff returns: Rich Erickson, Illinois, 4 for 17.0 average; and Tony Williams, Iowa, 3 for 23.3 average.

- Punt returns: Bill McCutchen, Iowa, 3 for 8.6 average; and Al Brenner, Michigan State, 6 for 25.8 average.

- Interceptions: Tom Schinke, Wisconsin, 3 for 29 yards.

Chances Dimmed On Merger Bill For NFL, AFL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes dimmed Thursday for congressional approval of a bill that would clear the way for the merger of the National and American football leagues.

Lawyers for the combined leagues and the House Antitrust Subcommittee were unable to agree on language exempting the proposed merger from antitrust action.

With Congress hoping to adjourn next week and subcommittee chairman Emanuel Celler, (D-N.Y.) declaring he wants to "plumb the depths" of the merger plan, there appears little chance the House will get to act on the bill.

Only the fact that a substantial majority of Celler's subcommittee favors the bill keeps alive a faint possibility that it might still squeeze through. If it doesn't, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says he will urge that the merger be called off.

Yankees Hire Lee McPhail To Manage Front Office

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees coaxed Lee McPhail out of the baseball commissioner's office and hired him as their front office boss Thursday in hopes he'll help them rebound from their most disastrous season in more than a half century.

He estimated it would take about five years for the Yanks to regain a contending position. "This is not a 10th place club, but we've got a long row to hoe," said McPhail, the 48-year-old former president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

"I don't think we can expect to be a contender next year unless we get a lot of breaks that we can't anticipate now."

Contract 3 Years

McPhail agreed to a three-year contract as executive vice-president and general manager of the Yankees, effective Dec. 3 when he leaves his present position as administrative assistant to William D. Eckert. He became a member of the commissioner's staff 11 months ago at an estimated salary of $40,000.

Terms of his salary agreement with the Yankees were not revealed. However, it is believed he will get about $75,000 annually.

"The Yankee ball club now is a better one than the one in Baltimore when I took over there," McPhail insisted. "What we need most is a good right-handed hitting outfielder and a stopper in the bullpen. We'd like to trade to strengthen these positions."

McPhail took over as general manager of the sixth-place Orioles in November of 1958 and is credited with having helped them reach their present status as baseball's world champions. Before leaving the Orioles last November he negotiated the trade that brought Frank Robinson to Baltimore from Cincinnati. The latter captured the American League's triple crown the past season.

"We don't plan wholesale changes, but we hope to deal more now than the Yankees have in the past," McPhail said.

Wieczorek Leads Harriers Toward Big 10 Championship

By JOEL FABRIKANT Staff Writer

Larry Wieczorek, the top runner on an outstanding Iowa cross-country team, likes to kid about his number 50 jersey.

"I inherited it from Dick Butkus," boasts Larry. Wieczorek's jesting may not be too far off, for at the moment he appears to be to Big 10 cross-country what Butkus was to Big 10 football.

But there the similarity ends. Wieczorek, all 5'7" of him, weighs a mere 130 and he's not about to put on any more.

Wieczorek hails from Maywood, Ill. He is the oldest of seven children. He began running seriously as a sophomore in high school. His varsity prep career at Maywood's Proviso East High meet." The top 15 finishers in the NCAA meet receive All-American status.

"Wiz has one other desire. 'I wouldn't mind being a coach someday. Maybe I can succeed (coach) Francis X. Cretzmeier,'" he exclaimed.

The coach need not worry though, because for the next two years he has one of the best runners to come along in the Big 10. Moreover, another Wieczorek is making news. The day before Larry broke the Iowa course record, younger brother Bruce was setting the Illinois sophomore high school mark.

Hawk Runners Face Gophers On Saturday

Iowa's cross country team will go after its second Big 10 dual meet victory at Minnesota Saturday morning, prior to the Hawkeye-Gopher football game.

Iowa whipped Illinois, 16-45, only one point from a perfect score, Oct. 1, with Larry Wieczorek breaking the Iowa four-mile course record which had been set in a Big 10 title meet.

LARRY WIECZOREK
Set Record

School was capped with the establishment of state records in cross-country and the one-mile outdoor event.

Wieczorek was persuaded to come to Iowa by Ted Wheeler, a neighbor and a former Hawkeye and Olympic track star. Wieczorek enrolled at Iowa two years ago as a physical education major.

Ankle Fracture

In his sophomore year, Wieczorek was sidetracked from cross-country competition by a hairline fracture of the ankle. He nursed that injury well enough so that the next spring he took first place in the conference one mile outdoor race with a time of 4:00.7.

Wiz, as he is known by his teammates, picked up his torrid spring pace by leading the Hawkeyes to a 16-45 rout of Illinois last week. His time of 19:35.7 over the four mile South Pinkine course eclipsed by almost 10 seconds the course record set by Al Carius of Illinois in 1962.

Wieczorek admits surprise at his timing. "When I started out, I had no intention of surpassing the mark. I just got out there with the thought of winning."

Sites Set

Wiz has already mapped out his future. "I'd like to help us win the Big 10 meet and then hopefully go on to finish among the top 15 runners in the NCAA

Thieves Take Half-Million From Airport

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal district postmaster, Hector Cormier, said Thursday night thieves made off with much less than $500,000 in an early morning robbery at Montreal International Airport. Police said earlier that $1 million in bills was taken by thieves who hacked through a heavy mesh screen into the airport's mail room while employees were off on a meal break. "We don't know how much was taken, but it was worth nothing like $1 million," Cormier said. "It was much less — probably under $500,000 and by no means all in cash." Cormier said investigators found that the thieves took 28 registered envelopes and small packets, containing money, shares, bonds and "other legal documents."

Folk Music Club Is Organized For Guitar Lessons, Concerts

Guitar lessons and cut-rate tickets to concerts are the attractions to membership in the Folk Music Club, according to Vince Kohler, president. The club was formed to help students play better, gain further appreciation of folk music and to get several folk singers to come to the Iowa campus and perform. An organizational meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Monday in the Union Michigan Room. A Hootenanny at the meeting will feature Dr. Harry Oster, associate professor of American Literature and international expert in the field of folk recordings. Students are urged to bring their own instruments and join in the singing. One-year membership fees of $5 will entitle students to 10 free guitar or banjo lessons. Students who join the club and help schedule concerts, but do not take lessons are entitled to half price tickets for the concerts. Oster, adviser to the club said, "This campus will appreciate the added programming of folk singing talent." Oster won a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1961-1962 to write a book on the folk songs of Louisiana. He is working on several books of folk songs of the South. "As soon as we find out how many students are interested in lessons, we will find instructors and schedule times and dates," said Catherine Palmer, A4, Webb, vice president.

Enrollment Doubles—No One Notices

By KOH MYUNG SHIK Staff Writer
A total of 104 new students from other countries enrolled at the University this year, bringing the number of foreign students here to about 300. The final tabulation is still in process. The expected total will be about twice as large as the number of foreign students here in 1952, when increasing numbers of foreign students began to seek admission to the University. "In 1952 everyone in the town looked back when an Indian girl walked down the street. But now the presence of any foreign student is commonplace," said Wallace Maner, foreign student adviser since 1952. Maner said that in 1963 about 6,500 foreign students wrote to the University inquiring about admission and, out of 1,100 who sent in completed application forms, 147 were admitted. He noted that this was a token of increasing foreign students' interest in the University and U.S. academic life. Last year, the Chinese student group led other nationalities with 64. Others were: Indian students, 49; Canadians, 27; Koreans, 14; Philippines, 12; and Japanese, 8. Despite the increasing numbers of foreign students, their proportion to the total of American student enrollment remains small. Maner said one reason was the cost of higher education in the United States — about three times as high as in Europe. However, various financial arrangements are available to foreign students. The ability to overcome language and cultural differences is a major factor in achieving the goal of coming to this country to study, Maner said. The rapid pace of academic life is a natural difficulty for most foreign students. They also encounter difficulties with the different educational system here, which has more compulsory class attendance, regular tests and a lot of homework. Maner said the most frequent difficulty was surprisingly the extremely cold weather here. Maner spends most of his time answering personal letters from prospective foreign students. He works jointly with the Registrar's Office, where the applications are processed. He said he felt somewhat relieved as the number of letters has slightly decreased since the introduction of the $10 application fee in 1965.

Need Help With Problems? UCS May Be Your Solution

STEVEN J. CARROLL Staff Writer
"I just can't decide on a major." "I wish I had more confidence in myself." "I don't know what occupation I want to prepare for." "I just can't make the grades I'd like to have." Problems like these are the reasons why the University Counseling Service (UCS) exists on this campus. Located in the west wing of East Hall, the major function of the UCS is to help students with academic, personal adjustment and vocational problems, explained Willis D. Poland, acting director of the service. Its other functions are training and research. Many Services Some of the ways the UCS aids students are through counseling interviews, individual testing, occupational and educational information, study skills and referral services, Poland said. Counseling interviews focus on vocational and educational planning, personal-social adjustment, interpersonal relationships and marital and premarital counseling. Tests given by the UCS are in the areas of abilities, aptitudes, interests, personality and educational achievement, Poland said. Occupational and educational information about vocational trends, job qualifications and training courses is on file at the UCS for general student use, he said. When a student first approaches the UCS he is given an appointment with an "intake interviewer," Poland said. As a result of talking with the student, the interviewer decides if the student's problem is appropriate for the UCS or if he will be referred to another service. Counselor Assigned If accepted as a client, the student will be assigned a counselor who will work with the student on his problems. The University Counseling Service is staffed by five psychology faculty members, four part-time staff members, five half-time student counselors and approximately twelve practicum students. Having graduate students on the staff of the UCS serves two purposes. It fills a need for trained personnel, and it provides a practical training program for graduate students in psychology. The third function of the UCS, research, is accomplished with the cooperation of the students who use its services, Poland said. After a student has completed the intake interview, he is asked to take a battery of research tests. These tests help the staff of the UCS learn more about the counseling process and more efficient ways of counseling the students. Approximately 600 students use the UCS services in a year, Poland said. The UCS is administratively under Philip G. Hubbard, dean of academic affairs. The Director, John O. Crites, is on leave at Harvard University.

Foreign Students To Be Introduced

The 104 foreign students who are new to the University campus this year will be introduced to the International Center Association at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Rose Room at the Hotel Jefferson. The meeting, the association's first of the year, will have as guest speaker Wallace Maner, foreign student adviser. Maner will introduce the students and officially welcome them. Entertainment will be provided by the International Singers, a group organized under the auspices of the International Center.

Parking Fines Net $74,212 For City In 1965

Iowa City collected $74,212.05 in parking fines in 1965. This amount includes fines for overtime parking from the city's 1,198 parking meters, as well as from fines levied on cars parked illegally, such as in front of fireplugs or drive-ways. In previous years, this money was used to fill one hole in the city's budget, but now is used to cover about 20 budget items under the title of the general fund. Now, funds from fines of parking violators are paying salaries of some of the city's employees, utility bills, auditing expenses, travel and promotional costs, medical and surgical expenses, and many other smaller expenses. The size of the general fund is about $287,700, of which the amount received from parking fines is 26 per cent.

Junior Colleges Gain In Popularity This Fall

Enrollment figures for the fall indicate that junior colleges are gaining in popularity as a starting point for college students. Figures in a report from the Association of Iowa College Presidents (AICP) indicated that public and private junior colleges enrolled 839 more freshmen than they did a year ago. The state-supported schools gained 100 freshmen over last year's total. Private colleges and universities enrolled 338 fewer freshmen than they did a year ago.

According to the report, the total enrollment for Iowa colleges, universities and junior colleges was 93,581. These figures do not include Parsons College, Fairfield, or Midwestern College, Denison. Their fall registration had not been compiled when the AICP report was written.

This fall's total enrollment of 93,581 represents a 10.2 per cent increase over last year's total of 84,948, according to the AICP report. In spite of this, there were fewer high school graduates in Iowa last spring than there were in 1965.

Commenting on this fall's combined enrollment among AICP member institutions, President McCabe said: "The most significant development in higher education in our time is not the explosion of knowledge or the multiplication of new programs. Far and away the most decisive new factor is the commitment of the federal government to support higher education."

"It will be several years before we can clearly decipher the full effect of this commitment. The most visible first effect will be the swelling of enrollments which will raise the attendant problem of the availability of good teachers. The improvement of teaching and the enlarging of the pool of trained people have become problems of the first magnitude."

The public junior colleges enrolled 6,400 freshmen this fall for an increase of 10.8 per cent, while the private junior colleges have 1,795 freshmen, an increase of 13.5 per cent over last year. In total enrollment, public junior colleges gained by 15.5 per cent to 10,787, while the private junior colleges gained by 14.2 per cent to 3,190.

Private colleges gained 8.6 per cent in enrollment to a total of 38,933, despite the fact that these schools showed a 3.4 per cent decrease in the number of freshmen this year — from 9,734 to 9,406.

The state-supported schools — the University of Iowa, Iowa State University, and the State College of Iowa — gained in total enrollment by 9.8 per cent, from 36,770 to 40,356.

Knee Bends Help Singers Keep Opera Voices In Shape

By KATHY FERRY Staff Writer

"One, two, three, stretch. One, two, three, bend." The stage director of the Opera Workshop calls cadence as he leads the group in the warm-up exercises which precede every practice session.

Robert Eckhart, assistant professor of voice and associate director, said, "an operatic singer has to be athletic and in very good shape in order to sustain the role he is doing."

Nesbitt Blaisdell, stage director and graduate assistant in music, spends half an hour with the group leading it in fundamental warm-up exercises.

The Opera Workshop was organized to give students of voice an opportunity to become familiar with classic and contemary literature of opera through actual participation.

Demand Has Grown
Eckhart said the demand for opera in colleges has grown over the past decade. Most colleges and universities have opera groups.

Usually the workshop members present scenes from a variety of operas, doing as much work in English as possible. However this year, the group will present a whole opera, "Lucia Di Lammermoor" by Donizetti, Nov. 19 in Macbride Auditorium. This opera will be performed in Italian with narration.

Eckhart said that the opera is a difficult one, and so the group has been split into small segments. The opera is being cast in these segments to assure that no one person has too demanding a role. A different cast is planned for each scene.

As well as working on various scenes from operas, the group looks for small one-act operas they can do in small units. The group members perform these at surrounding communities.

Full Length Opera
Each spring the workshop members present a full length opera with orchestral accompaniment. "LeRoi L'adit" (The King Has Spoken) will be performed this spring with the University Symphony Orchestra providing the accompaniment.

Except for the spring production, performances are piano accompanied. Accompanists are Ed Penhorwood, Vernon Gould and Mike Sproston, all graduate assistants in music.

Eckhart said the first and foremost qualification for being in opera workshop is a singing voice. Although no previous operatic training is required, he said it helped.

Director of the workshop is Herald Stark, professor of music. Also assisting are Albert Gammon and Katherine Harvey of the music department.

UFO SIGHTINGS—KINGSPOUR, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Dolen of Kingsport has added a touch of realism to flying saucer sightings. The ones she saw are even the right size.

Mrs. Dolen said she and several others saw an object about the size of a breadplate, yellow in color and surrounded by a halo, whizzing by on several occasions.

Federal Money For Books Granted To Area Libraries

A federal grant to be given to the Seven Rivers library cooperative will be used this fall to buy a rotating supply of books, available to all Iowa City Public Library members, according to Miss Audrey Bell, consultant.

The library is the administrative center of the Seven Rivers Program; a cooperative started in 1965, the program is sponsored by the state traveling library and supplied with funds by the federal government, as a result of the Library Services and Construction Act of 1964.

There are 11 member libraries in the Seven Rivers Program but membership is open to any library within the 15-county area in east-central Iowa meeting certain standards of quality. The present members of the Seven Rivers Program are: Grinnell, Brooklyn, Victor, Blairstown, Marengo, DeWitt, Stanwood, Clarence, Monticello, Van Horne and Iowa City.

There are also five reference centers in the program, each with a specialized collection of books. Iowa City's is "Literature and Art." The four other centers are Clinton, Davenport, Cedar Rapids and Marshalltown.

The two central aims of Seven Rivers are to develop library services where they are not presently available and to improve libraries now in existence.

Besides making available the rotating books, the Seven Rivers Program performs several functions for the member libraries, according to Mrs. Sallie Helm, administrator. The members buy books through the Iowa City administrative center, getting about a 37 per cent discount on most books. The center also catalogues, processes and mails the books to the member libraries.

There is also a training program for librarians and board members. The professional service of the Iowa City consultant is always available.

Chrysler Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) criticized Chrysler Corp. Thursday for reportedly eliminating disc brakes as standard equipment on its big Dodge and Chrysler station wagons without public announcement.

Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, brought the matter up at a hearing which approved the nomination of Dr. William Haddon Jr., of New York, for the new federal job of traffic safety administrator.

The senator read a news story saying Chrysler had eliminated the disc brakes in order to cut prices an average of $97 and make the station wagons more competitive with those of other manufacturers.

"The move was quietly revealed to dealers in a special price bulletin, but no public announcement was made."

Student Receives ROTC Scholarship

Thomas A. Polk, A1, Potosi, Mo., is attending the University this year as a result of his selection as winner of one of 400 four-year scholarships awarded annually by the National Army ROTC program.

The scholarship will pay tuition, books and laboratory fees and grant a $50 monthly allowance for the four years it is in effect, Shockey said.

Polk, a pre-med student, is the son of Navy Lt. Lloyd E. Polk, who recently returned from two years of duty in Asmara, Ethiopia. Polk applied for the scholarship while living with his parents at the Kagnev Station Communications Base in Asmara. His father was a communications officer at the base.

Polk was granted the scholarship early this year and chose the University through recommendations of his counselor and two teachers at the Asmara Americans' Dependents school in Asmara.

"We feel very fortunate to have had Tom choose Iowa for his schooling," said Col. Cyrus R. Shockey, professor of military science. "The scholarship allows him to choose any university in the United States that he wishes — as long as it has an Army ROTC program."

"I think the fact that he chose Iowa is a fine credit to the reputation of the University," Shockey added.

Following completion of his medical studies at the University and completion of the Army ROTC program, Polk will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army.

Polk's scholarship and others like it were made possible on the national level by the ROTC Vitalize Act of 1964. The four year scholarship program is designed for outstanding students who wish to make the Army a career.

Organization Offers Chance For Service

"I encourage all young men with the spark of character to be of service to this campus and community to do so through Alpha Phi Omega," said Dr. Robert Hubbell, assistant dean of men.

Hubbell was referring to the opportunities for leadership, friendship and service that the national service fraternity offers. The fraternity is the second largest national campus organization, having 400 chapters in the United States.

Rick Echternacht, B4, Fort Dodge, president of Alpha Phi Omega said, "We're on campus to carry out service." The only requirement necessary for joining is past affiliation with scouting or other service organizations.

One of the fraternity's major projects is an annual blood drive for the Red Cross. Last year more than 310 pints of blood were donated by University students, faculty and staff. This year's drive will open December 1.

The fraternity and the Iowa Jaycees co-sponsor a scout troop for Pine School. A big brother program, in which each member will "adopt" a brother at Pine School, is also being planned.

The organization also helped the sheltered workshop for the physically handicapped to become a reality. Last year the service fraternity arranged for a speaker and raised $1,000 for the workshop.

Next spring the organization will sponsor the Ugly Man Contest. The contest, open to all university students, will determine the ugliest man on campus with the candidate receiving the most monetary votes becoming the winner. Proceeds will be donated to charity.

The fraternity hands out literature, puts up posters and helps to administer tests for the Peace Corps. Other projects include helping at orientation and running the closed section board at registration.

Alpha Phi Omega also sponsors various social events such as a dance, a banquet and picnics after football games.

The local chapter was founded in 1930. Although membership declined in the 1950's, the group is growing again and now has 40 active members.

Anyone interested in Alpha Phi Omega is invited to stop in or call the Activities Center in the Union (353-5745).

Films Used To Instruct In Dentistry

Single concept films, which are unique in the field of dental education, are being used this fall in the College of Dentistry to permit more effective use of time spent on individual education, according to Dr. Wallace W. Johnson, head of the department of Operative Dentistry in the College of Dentistry.

The films are part of the second phase of a two-year educational research program financed by a $92,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The first phase of the program, begun last fall, included production of the films and a study of student-teacher relationships.

Operative crown and bridge, and prosthetic dentistry are the three general areas involved in the study. Dr. Keith E. Thayer, head of the department of crown and bridge, and Dr. Ralph C. Appleby, head of the department of prosthetic dentistry, are co-investigators in the study.

Each 8mm film shows only one procedure of an operation. The films are in color, and are accompanied by explanations of the procedures on soundtracks. They are shown on small projectors which the student can easily refer to while working in the clinic.

"If, for example," said Dr. Johnson, "a student is not sure about one step of an operation, he can go to one of these machines, find the film which demonstrates that step, and return to the patient in a matter of minutes."

If an instructor were to demonstrate the procedure, explained Dr. Johnson, the student would not benefit by being able to perform the procedure for possibly several weeks.

These films will permit the instructors to emphasize the "why" of a certain procedure without repeating how to do it, Dr. Johnson added.

"It isn't trying to replace the teacher," he said, "but it is trying to separate the teacher's unnecessary functions from the teacher's necessary functions."

Dr. Johnson pointed out that these projectors can be placed anywhere to make material immediately available to the student. Presently there are 10 of these projectors in the dental clinic.

Organization Offers Chance For Service

"I encourage all young men with the spark of character to be of service to this campus and community to do so through Alpha Phi Omega," said Dr. Robert Hubbell, assistant dean of men.

Hubbell was referring to the opportunities for leadership, friendship and service that the national service fraternity offers. The fraternity is the second largest national campus organization, having 400 chapters in the United States.

Rick Echternacht, B4, Fort Dodge, president of Alpha Phi Omega said, "We're on campus to carry out service." The only requirement necessary for joining is past affiliation with scouting or other service organizations.

One of the fraternity's major projects is an annual blood drive for the Red Cross. Last year more than 310 pints of blood were donated by University students, faculty and staff. This year's drive will open December 1.

The fraternity and the Iowa Jaycees co-sponsor a scout troop for Pine School. A big brother program, in which each member will "adopt" a brother at Pine School, is also being planned.

Professor Finds Students More Friendly In America

Frederick Bargebuhr, professor of religion, who has just returned to the University after a year of teaching at the Free University of Berlin, said he thought the German student was perhaps more motivated, but the American student had more tact, a better sense of humor, and was always friendly.

The German student tended to be older and more directed, he said.

Luckily, a German student warned him to keep humor out of his lectures, he explained.

"I'm perfectly charmed by this year's undergraduates at Iowa. My Old Testament class is a circus," he said.

Bargebuhr said he enjoyed teaching in Berlin and was made to feel welcome by the people. "Out of their guilt has come a very friendly generation," he said.

Bargebuhr has been at Iowa since 1951 and was a Fulbright scholar in Germany in 1961.

A former architect, he said about Iowa City, "I could envision such a beautiful city here, but it's pretty late." He said the University puts up buildings just where there is space with no overall architectural plan.
