

Statehouse Wins Lead Republican Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts Tuesday night became the first Negro ever elected to the Senate by popular vote. Gov. George Romney swept to a massive Republican re-election victory in Michigan.

Brooke defeated a Yankee Democrat on his way to his historic triumph. Romney showed his presidential possibilities by pulling other Michigan Republicans in with him.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller won re-election in New York, beating back three opponents.

But even as Romney piled up his votes, a potential rival in 1968 Republican presidential campaigning was emerging in Illinois.

There, industrialist-turned-politician Charles H. Percy rolled up a lead of his own, over white-maned Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas.

And another possible contender for the next GOP presidential nomination — actor Ronald Reagan — waited in the West.

Reagan, a man with conservative credentials dating from the days of Barry Goldwater, led Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown as the early scattered vote arrived.

The National Broadcasting Co. said Reagan had won.

Brooke Fails Backlash
Brooke foiled white backlash, in a state where Negroes are but a tiny fraction of the electorate, and topped Endicott Peabody, former governor, former All-American football player at Harvard.

Race was not an overt issue in their campaign. Peabody, like State Atty. Gen. Brooke, is a champion of Negro rights.

In Maryland, Republican Spiro T. Agnew bested the backlash, too, topping George P. Mahoney for the governorship. Democrat Mahoney campaigned under a banner of opposition to open-housing laws.

But resistance to the pace of Negro rights advances cut both ways.

Lurleen Wallace kept Alabama in her husband's name while Republican Howard H. Baker was elected to the Senate from Tennessee — to join the GOP minority his father-in-law heads.

Mrs. Wallace was Alabama's first woman governor; Baker became Tennessee's first popularly elected GOP senator.

Dirksen Son-in-Law
Baker, son of a late GOP congressman and son-in-law of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois topped former Gov. Frank G. Clement in the race for a seat the Democrats had expected to hold.

Tennessee's surprisingly potent Baker is 40, a Knoxville lawyer, who focused his campaign on criticism of President Johnson's "Great Society."

Agreeing with him, the voters turned and slow down President Johnson's push for his program?

Here the Republicans showed an early net gain of seven. The National Broadcasting Co., by projecting the vote, said the GOP would pick up 29 House seats.

These losses, while well below the average of 40 for these off-year elections for the last 30 years, could still spell trouble for the administration.

In six weathervane districts — which have consistently gone with the House trend for the past decade — Republicans drew first blood.

Republican Abner Sibal, a two-term former congressman, beat Rep. Donald J. Irwin in the 4th Connecticut District.

Key House Races

Here's the picture of the races that hold the key to what happens in the House:

Freshman Democrats: Of the 44 freshman Democrats seeking re-election in districts previously held by Republicans — 2 were re-elected and 8 were leading; one was defeated and 8 were trailing.

Of the six "bellwether" districts which for 10 years have reflected shifts in the party lineup of the House —

Democrats carried none and were leading in 1.

Republicans carried 1 and were leading in 3.

Democrats won expected Senate victories in North Carolina, West Virginia and Mississippi. Republicans matched them in Kentucky, South Carolina, Delaware and New Jersey.

Republican Claude R. Kirk Jr., a Jacksonville businessman, captured the Florida governorship for the GOP for the first time since the Reconstruction.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Republican, won his expected re-election victory.

And Democratic governors were re-elected, as forecast, in Vermont, Connecticut, Texas and South Carolina.

Hughes Easy Victor For 3rd Term But Loses Executive Council Majority

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. Harold Hughes defeated Republican William G. Murray Tuesday to become the first Democrat to win three terms but his party lost its majority on the powerful State Executive Council.

Hughes, the first of his party ever to win the Iowa governor's seat three times, said, "The causes that unite us are a thousandfold stronger than the differences that divide us." Hughes thanked the voters, "on behalf of my wife Eva, my children, and myself, from the bottom of my heart."

With 62.6 per cent of the vote tallied, Hughes had rolled up 303,539 to 242,242 for Murray.

Two former members of the GOP statehouse team defeated in the 1964 Democratic landslide were put back in office.

Former Republican Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst defeated Democrat Michael Doyle, and former GOP Agriculture Secretary L.B. Liddy defeated incumbent Democrat Kenneth Owen.

Another Republican to unseat a Democrat on the Executive Council was Lloyd Smith, who defeated State Auditor Lorne Worthington.

With 57.7 per cent of the vote reported, Synhorst polled 232,253 to 187,851 for Doyle. Liddy had 218,396 to Owen's 190,465. And Smith racked up 217,734 to 915,947 for Worthington.

Still undecided were the other three races for state office.

With 54.6 of the vote in Democratic Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scallise had run up 195,688 votes to 205,922 for Republican Richard Turner.

Democratic Treasurer Paul Franzburg pulled to a strong lead over his GOP challenger, Dale Awtry. Franzburg had 208,596 to Awtry's 198,818.

The lead see-sawed back and forth between Democratic Lt. Gov. Robert Fulton and Republican Max Milo Mills in the race for lieutenant governor.

With 1,386 of 2,484 precincts reported, Fulton had 210,542 to Mills, 209,399.

GOP Delegation Enlarged

DES MOINES (AP) — Republican Sen. Jack Miller was re-elected, and his party grabbed at least three of Iowa's seven House seats Tuesday as the GOP began to pry loose the Democrats' two-year grip on the state's congressional delegation.

Republican William Scherle defeated Democratic Rep. John R. Hansen in the 7th District. Wiley Mayne took the 6th District seat for the GOP from Democratic Rep. Stanley Greigg. Republican Rep. H. R. Gross routed Democratic challenger Lawrence A. Pat Touchea in the 3rd District to win a 10th term.

Veteran Rep. Neal Smith and freshman House member John Culver, both Democrats, won re-election over Republicans Don Mahon and Robert M. L. Johnson, respectively, in the 5th and 2nd districts.

2 Close Races
The two other races remained on the fence as the night wore on, but Democratic incumbents trailed slightly under challenges by the Republicans they beat two years ago.

In the 1st District with returns in from 207 or 65.9 per cent of the precincts, the count was 39,890 votes for Democratic Rep. John Schmidhauser and 40,892 for Republican Challenger Fred Schwengel.

In the 4th, John Kyl was ahead of Democratic Rep. Bert Bandstra 36,237 to 34,634 with votes in from 199 or 59.3 per cent of the precincts.

Other incomplete returns were:
2nd District, 268 or 79.5 per cent of the precincts reporting, Culver 63,498, Johnson 53,196.

3rd District, 307 or 86.4 per cent of the precincts, Gross 66,977, Touchea 44,334.
5th District, 148 or 70.1 per cent of the

Conflicting Reports In Legislative Races

Johnson County apparently bucked the nationwide Republican fever Tuesday night, but there was still confusion as to who won the state representative race.

With one precinct missing, the Daily Iowan's total showed Earl Yoder, Republican, and incumbent Minnette Doderer, Democrat, taking the races. The Iowan's figures were: Doderer 8,432; Yoder 8,141; Bruce Mahan, Democratic incumbent, 8,081 and Dale Erickson, Republican, 7,142.

KXIC and WSUI also gave Doderer and Yoder the win. But, the county vote tabulation, which included absentee votes, showed Democrats Doderer and Mahan as victors. The Court House totals were: Doderer 8,468; Mahan 8,222; Yoder 8,201; and Erickson 7,213.

In the race for a seat on the county board of supervisors, Clayton (Slick) Mahoney defeated Republican Norwood C. (Bud) Louis by 8,157 to 7,378. Mahoney won both the regular term and the unexpired term in the race.

Democrats Donald Krall, running for county treasurer, and John O'Neill, running for county treasurer, were uncontested for their positions.

However, county voters defeated a proposal to build $90,000 county equipment and shops building. The vote was Yes: 5,384 and No: 4,168. The measure required an approval of 60 per cent to pass. It received only about 56 per cent.

John R. Schmidhauser, Democratic incumbent, U.S. Representative received

8,961 votes in Johnson County. His Republican opponent, Fred Schwengel, received 7,206.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes defeated William Murray 10,963 to 5,257 in Johnson County. Also, Jack Miller, Republican Senatorial incumbent, barely edged E.B. Smith 7,308 to 7,191 in Johnson County.

Charles Pelton, Republican, a former University law student, was elected to the state legislature from Clinton County.

Inflammatory acts

Several persons have objected that Saturday night's hecklers at the peace march were not totally responsible for their actions. The signs carried and the speeches made were inflammatory, these people say, and only goaded the spectators on to what they did. This is ridiculous. True, to a blue-blooded patriot, the sight of a National Liberation Front flag or the statement "I would hate to see the breakdown of law and order in this country, but if that day must come, then let it be" would surely be a rankling situation. But it was no cause for the violent reaction to the protesters Saturday night.

The sight of a bearded, sweat-shirted beatnik probably pleases few and the stand he takes even fewer. But it is what he chooses and he is protected by the Constitution if not by the police. The hecklers disturbed the peace with their verbal and circular projectiles. These actions are not protected by the Constitution they so righteously quote. If the hecklers could not come up with their own peaceful demonstration, they had no right to use violence.

If anyone had a reason to be inflamed to violence it was the marcher who had to wipe egg off his face or duck rocks and cherry bombs.

Withholding grades

Donald Barnett, an assistant professor at the University, made what appears to be a naive, if not ridiculous, statement at the protest march Saturday night.

Saying that the Viet Nam war is illegal, Barnett said the University should refuse to make grades available to the Selective Service. Barnett said he would not give grades to the University so long as they were to be given to the draft boards. He called on other faculty members to do the same thing. When asked how his action would affect the student's graduation status, Barnett answered, "That's the University's problem."

Barnett is unfair both to the University and to the student. To begin with, the University declared last spring that it would give grades to draft boards only upon the request of the student. Barnett is also denying the student any free choice in this matter. If a student wants his grades submitted to the draft board, that is his business, not that of some paternalistic professor.

If withholding grades is going to prevent some student from graduation, then Barnett is defeating his own cause. Go ahead, withhold the grades. There is more than one student who will make sure not to take any course Barnett teaches. Nic Goeres

Progress

The destructive powers of progress have come to the University. The old stone walks on the Pentacrest that have weathered the clomp of students' feet for over 100 years are no more. Cement walks have replaced them.

Cement is also replacing the old cobblestones on the west lawn in front of Old Capitol. True, the cobblestone walks haven't been painted in many years, and are cracked and in bad repair. But they did add a certain touch to the campus, sort of a reminder of the University's past and its age. What will fall next under progress' hand? Will it be Old Capitol itself, needlessly lavish and relatively useless when space is at such a premium? Or will it be the museum in Macbride Hall, to be cubby-holed with paper walls into offices?

There's no telling. But one thing is for certain. They will never take Old Army Temporary or Union Temporaries A through H away from us.

They are ours forever.

Political spectrum— Hungary revolt: our last chance

By LARRY FENNEMA
For Young Americans For Freedom
Today is Nov. 9. Mean anything special to you? To most persons, probably not.

But if you had been in Hungary on that date in 1956, it might have a very significant meaning for you. It might mean the 10th anniversary of the end, the end of a few bloody days of attempting to gain a bit of that fuzzy concept known as freedom.

On Oct. 23, a number of Hungarian students demonstrated in front of the Radio Building in Budapest. They were asking for such things as free elections, freedom of expression, and changes in the conditions of the peasants and the working people. This peaceful beginning soon erupted into riots when they were fired upon by the Communists. The Hungarian Revolution had begun.

The Freedom Fighters used rocks and Molotov cocktails to fight tanks and armored vehicles. Hungarian and Soviet soldiers deserted to the rebel's side. In a few days, it seemed as if the revolution had been successful.

During that time, Hungary appealed to the United Nations for help in defending the country's neutrality.

However, the U.N.'s attention had turned to the Suez crisis in the Middle East. Hungary was forgotten.

Meanwhile, the Soviets were going back into action. The Red Army rolled into Hungary as radioed pleas for help fell on deaf ears.

"Our ship is sinking. Light is failing, the shadows grow darker every hour over the soil of Hungary. Listen to the cry,

Trouble maker changes his mind

To the Editor:
I was one of the ignorant freshmen referred to in your editorial of Nov. 8. I went to the rally Saturday night so that I could cause trouble, just as many others did. Before going to the rally, I sincerely believed that the demonstrators deserved whatever they got. I left the rally feeling just the opposite.

Although I disagree with the beliefs of the protesters, I realize now what I failed to recognize before. They have a right to express their opinion no matter what it might be, and they should not have to tolerate being spat upon with eggs and water balloons just because their beliefs are not the same as those of the majority. I will continue to support the United States government because I feel that we are doing the right thing in Viet Nam. But I will never go to another anti-Viet Nam rally for the purpose of causing trouble for those who are at least courageous enough to take a stand on the matter.

Hecklers contradicted themselves

To the Editor:
In no country in the world does a government put any restriction on the freedom of a man to do and say what the government would like. In no country in the world is a man's freedom to believe what ever he wants to about the government restricted — as long as he gives no indication of what he is thinking.

But what happens when a man does or says something that does not meet with wholehearted approval from the government, or some of its citizens, indicates the level of freedom the man enjoys.

At the recent Iowa City rally in opposition to the war in Viet Nam, there were hecklers who want Americans to go to Viet Nam to kill in order that the South Vietnamese might have freedom. That is, they think any good American would go over there to kill to make it possible for the South Vietnamese to do and say things that did not meet with wholehearted approval of whatever government they might have.

But none of those hecklers were willing to do in their own country what they thought should be done for freedom in Viet Nam. None of the hecklers killed any of those who sought to punish, by throwing eggs and stones, those whose opinions and acts they did not like. If the hecklers were willing to practice in the United States what they say should be practiced in Viet Nam, then they would have strangled, stabbed or shot those who attempt to intimidate the demonstrators and speakers.

If the hecklers are sincere in their contention that they will kill in Viet Nam to bring freedom to the Vietnamese, (and I don't believe they are sincere) then their failure to do any killing that evening shows that they will not do for freedom in their own country what they think should be done in another.

Walter Gormly

civilized peoples of the world, and act . . ."

Protests against Soviet action were world-wide. Quoting the Oct. 23, 1956 issue of the American Security Council Washington Report: "In France, the leftist existentialist Jean Paul Sartre . . . led the protests. In England, a large group of students at Oxford, traditional breeding ground of Fabian Socialists, volunteered to go to Hungary and join the Freedom Fighters. In Italy, there were mass defections from the strongly entrenched Communist Party of the industrial north. Even Yugoslavia, the Communist state on Hungary's southwestern border gave safe conduct to thousands of fleeing refugees."

The revolution was crushed by Nov. 9, although sporadic fighting continued for weeks. Nearly 200,000 Hungarians fled their land. Aside from the thousands killed in the fighting, about 2,500 were sentenced to death at mass trials. Untold thousands more were shipped to Siberia with or without trials.

In 1958, Imre Nagy, the moderate Communist premier of Hungary during the revolution, and Gen. Pal Maleter were executed. They had been seized while negotiating with the Soviets under a flag of truce. Protests were raised, but nothing was done by anyone.

The government of the United States must accept a great part of the responsibility for this disaster of 10 years ago. We encouraged the people behind the Iron Curtain to keep the light of freedom burning.

When they finally revolted, we sat around on our duffs, commenting to one another, "By God, you gotta give them Bohunks credit, they've got guts."

The United States had an overwhelming superiority in weapons in 1956. We could have easily given a great deal of aid to the Hungarians in their hour of need. Today the situation is different. We may never get another chance.

'Respectability' shamed reader

To the Editor:
Craig Lloyd's letter (Daily Iowan, 11/8) shamed me. I am one of those "respectable" middle-aged people who should have been marching with the Anti-Viet Nam War Demonstrators on Saturday evening. I had intended to go but . . . There must be thousands of people like me who are not quite brave enough to act on their convictions.

Although only a visitor here, I was saddened by what happened, and though I didn't make the march, I add my protest here. The demonstrators are the ones who should have been singing the "Star Spangled Banner." They are the courageous ones who show the love of freedom, justice and humanity which Americans profess to believe. They, I would like to think, are the true representatives of your spirit — not the crude and spiteful young hecklers.

It is sad that the image of America is now identified with violence and hate, not peace and love; that throughout the world your government, despite the protests of many of your people, supports the reactionary forces of the privileged and oppresses the poor so cruelly.

For some reason capitalism has come to mean the same as democracy and to be erroneously equated with freedom.

Whose ramp is it?

To the Editor:
When the University parking ramp was constructed, one obvious mistake was made. Signs over the entrances read "students, faculty and visitors," which must be the reverse of the intended order.

That "student" should conclude the list was confirmed again Friday. On that day 40 per cent of the meters were reserved. I have long since given up bucking the impotent bureaucracy here, but when I see an entire floor of unoccupied, reserved stalls, I wonder if perhaps the student driver is once more getting the deference due to his exalted station in Iowa City.

Of the 295 spaces in the ramp, 189 were open to the students while 106 were reserved with those obnoxious red hoods. I've come to accept the usual reserved spaces of the privileged but when conference visitors don't fill the reserved spaces allotted I get disturbed at the lack of planning.

Incidentally, in case you're wondering which conference was being held to legitimize this waste of lucrative space, it was the Region 10 meeting of the American Union Workers, no doubt swapping hints on further exploitation of "student" facilities.

French are willing to die for cuisine

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — The name Alain Zick means nothing in the United States, but to France he has become a legend whose story will be repeated for generations to come. Monsieur Zick, a French chef of the Paris restaurant, Relais de Porquerolles, killed himself with a pistol after the Guide Michelin, the all-powerful food arbiter, took away Porquerolles' two stars and failed to mention it in its latest edition.

Not since Vatel, a maitre d'hotel to Louis XIV, threw himself upon his sword when the first course failed to arrive in time at a royal banquet has France been so moved by a gesture. This showed that despite the so-called "Americanization of France" there were still Frenchmen willing to die for their cuisine.

BUCHWALD

It goes without saying that such a thing could not happen in the United States. Had there been a Guide Michelin in the United States and had the editors taken the stars away from a first-class restaurant, this is undoubtedly what would have happened.

The owner of the restaurant would immediately fire his press agent who he would fully blame for the demotion. He would then hire a new press agent and call a conference of all the columnists in New York whom he had been feeding on the cuff.

The owner would read a statement blaming the unions, high prices and the police review board for his troubles. He would also announce he was firing his chef.

The chef would call his own press conference at the hotel and restaurant workers hall and say he wasn't fired but was quitting because the owner cared more about how much money he made at the bar than he did about how good his food was.

"Are you unhappy?" he would be asked. "I should say not. I've been offered jobs with three frozen food companies, an airline catering service and an advertising agency that makes commercials for electric knives."

"Then you're not too disturbed by losing two stars for the restaurant?"

"Why should I be? If I hadn't lost the stars, no one would have heard of me."

"Why do you think you lost the stars?"

"I pushed the wrong buttons."

"The wrong buttons?"

"Yeah, on the computer. You see the boss went to a restaurant equipment convention in Chicago and he discovered a computer that could cook bouillabaisse twice as fast as a cook at half the price. So he installed it six months ago, but I never got the hang of it. The computer either made it with no bread croutons or so many bread croutons you couldn't get any fish on the plate. Then there was another computer for filet mignons that you could broil in three seconds. But the trouble was it cooked 1000 filets mignon at one time, and a lot of them got cold waiting for someone to order them. I wasn't allowed to even touch the plates. After a while I just lost interest in the operation and didn't care which button I pressed."

"Then despite what the guide did to your reputation you're not going to shoot yourself?"

"What for? Three publishers have asked me to write cookbooks, Ed Sullivan wants me to go on his show, and I don't know what this means but I just got a call from the White House."

Rogers was intemperate

To the Editor:

Re Mr. James Rogers' intemperate and impoverished blast against Prof. McGalliard's Dante lecture at LeMoyne College, Memphis.

Many people on this campus, variously moved by love, shame, anger, guilt, or frustration, are working in different ways toward the achievement of a good thing. Each man works best by giving the strongest part of himself. From Mr. Rogers, that means hip talk; from Prof. McGalliard, that means sharing his knowledge of Dante.

Civil rights work at Iowa has been practical, activist, and focused. There has been very little word-mongering (until Mr. Rogers') and a lot of hard work and hard cash. This work started four years ago when the Mississippi Support Program undertook a broad spectrum of political, economic, educational, and social projects supported and guided by Negro leaders in Holly Springs. It continues today under RILEEH, through which students and faculty at Iowa directly share in solving problems in higher education identified by LeMoyne College, Memphis, and Rust College, Holly Springs.

Mr. Rogers makes a horrible and belittling mistake in assuming that all Negroes are or should be active SNCC workers or else they're useless to the movement, concerning themselves with Dante, organic chemistry, mathematics, and what not. Black men are as various in their social class, individual talent, and personal goals as white men are, and Mr. Rogers should remember and respect that variety.

We all want freedom now. Some see it as a vote, a better school teacher, or a march. We've worked with them. Some see it as a winter coat and we've helped them out. Some see it as a boycott and we've worked with them. Some see it as a first class education, and with them we're best equipped to work.

So we concentrate our energy, using RILEEH as a powerful, personal instrument for touching the lives of about 1000 Negro students and two small college faculties.

Mr. Rogers has, or should have, no quarrel with this effort. He should be working toward his vision of freedom with no time out for frivolous letters to the DI. If he force, let him try; he'll find that LeMoyne student body into a single, active, political force, let him try; he'll find that LeMoyne students are pretty much like Iowa students, I think. But RILEEH welcomes his constructive suggestions and the support of the entire Iowa City community of students, teachers, and townspeople. Together we may get somewhere.

ISL discusses 'Mass Society'

For The Iowa Socialist League

The fifth meeting of the Iowa Socialist League's seminar series on "Alienation and Socialist Man" was held Monday evening and was attended by approximately forty people. Discussion centered on "Mass Society" by C. Wright Mills, taken from his book, "The Power Elite."

Several panel members from the ISL opened discussion on three principal points: (1) the role of the mass media, (2) the transformation of the public society of classical democracy to the mass society toward which the U.S. is now moving, and (3) the role of the individual within mass society and the ways in which alienation of the individual is institutionalized in mass society.

Later the discussion turned to the question of why more people, particularly faculty and students in a university environment, aren't willing to question the existing institutions in the United States. It was suggested that the fear of repression, of risking a job and a privileged position, were largely responsible. In addition, the educational institution itself as an instrument of conformity was mentioned. It was suggested it leads the individual to a feeling of impotence in the face of such institutions.

New Program Established For Library Science Study

Library Science, a new school in the College of Liberal Arts, was established at the University Sept. 1. Frederick Wezeman, professor of library science, was named director of the school. There are now 38 accredited schools of library science in the United States and Canada which offer a master's degree. Next fall the School of Library Science will offer a master's degree program.

The School of Library Science is a professional school within the College of Liberal Arts and is a part of the Graduate College. Library Science is now available as a major for the Master of Education program and for school librarian certification.

There is a shortage of public, college and special librarians, according to Wezeman. The Master's degree is designed to meet this need, he said.

The School of Library Science faculty includes Mrs. Louane Newsome, associate professor; Clyde Greve, assistant professor; and Mrs. Constance Irwin, assistant professor.

Admission requirements and curriculum for the school are now being developed by the faculty and Dewey B. Stuit, dean of the College of Liberal Arts. The proposed Library Science graduate program, in accordance with the rules of the Graduate College, must be reviewed and approved by the Graduate Council, the Graduate Faculty and the State Board of Regents.

The graduate program will use the facilities of the University Library.

Offices of the School of Library Science are located at 223 University Hall. The office of the Director is 212 F University Hall.

Obscenity Ruling Ready By Dec. 6

SIoux CITY — U.S. District Judge William C. Hanson said Monday he would pronounce sentence against Milton Luros, major defendant in a lengthy obscenity trial, on Dec. 6.

The 54-year-old North Hollywood, Calif., publisher was convicted Jan. 14 along with four companies and eight other individuals, including his wife, Beatrice, on a total of 147 counts.

Other defendants ordered to appear Dec. 6 included Sun Era Inc., American Art Agency Inc., Parliament News Inc. and London Press Inc. Luros owns London Press.

Periodicals and books published by the firms featured nudist, girlie and sex themes.

All of the defendants were indicted by a federal grand jury two years ago on charges including conspiring to violate federal obscenity statutes and using the mails for carriage and delivery of obscene books.

Balloon Sale Starts Today

Tickets for Project AID's balloon sale can be purchased today through Thursday on the Pentacrest, at the Union and in all housing units.

The tickets are 25 cents. They will be exchanged for "Golden I" balloons outside the football stadium at Saturday's Iowa-Ohio State football game.

The balloons will be released after the Hawkeyes' first score or at the beginning of the second half.

Profits from the balloon sale will be used for scholarships which will enable several students to further their education at Iowa.

"Be sure to buy a balloon-ticket for your Dad and date. We have ordered thousands, optimistically!" said Larry Lazarus, A3, Skokie, Ill., co-chairman of the project.

Erhard Agrees To Let Party Pick Successor

BONN, West Germany — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard agreed Tuesday night after a sharp parliamentary setback to let his Christian Democratic party choose a possible successor and said he would support any one of four men for his job.

The full membership of the party will meet Wednesday to select the candidate whom President Heinrich Luehke will nominate to Parliament in hopes of ending the crisis precipitated by the breakdown of Erhard's ruling coalition late last month.

The 69-year-old Erhard, who has headed the West German government for the past three years, agreed to support any one of these four men as his successor:

- Rainer Barzel, 42, Christian Democratic leader in the Bundestag.
- Eugene Gerstenmaier, 60, president of the Bundestag.
- Kurt-Georg Kiesinger, 62, prime minister of the State of Baden-Wuerttemberg.
- Gerhard Schroeder, 56, West German foreign minister, who is McNamara was not injured in the demonstration.

Prof Writes Books, Starts New Program

It should be no mystery why some professors fail to write books. It simply takes a great deal of time outside the classroom.

Yet thousands of persistent professors throughout the country have millions of words published every year.

For example, James W. Markham, professor in the School of Journalism, who came here in 1962 and created the school's new graduate program in International Communications, plans to publish a book in March 1967.

Markham was working on his book, entitled "Voices of the Red Giants," when he first came to the University from Penn State. The book is a 14-chapter comparative study of communications within Russia and Red China.

"It has taken me over five years to write the book. Right now I'm tying up loose ends," he said.

By all indications the book should be a good one. Last April, Markham's manuscript shared the $500 Iowa Author's Award given by the Iowa State University Press to the author who submitted the most significant new work.

With "Voices of the Red Giant," almost completed for the publisher, Markham, in collaboration with three other Big 10 professors, is now working on an undergraduate textbook dealing with Comparative and International Communications.

About 40 per cent of the book will examine comparative functions and descriptions of mass communications throughout the world.

Early in January Markham will meet in Madison, Wis., with Robert Bishop of Michigan State University, and the University of Wisconsin's John McNelly and William Hachten.

"In Madison we will exchange ideas and research sources. I will be writing on all the communist nations. We hope to have the manuscript completed by the end of 1967," Markham said.

Aside from writing successfully in his specialty, Markham's dream came true in October, 1965, when the School of Journalism approved a master's degree program in the field of international communications.

"We are especially interested in the possibilities this new program offers for the preparation of foreign correspondents. One of the most critical needs is for reporter, writers and news analysts who better understand the part of the world about which they report and are able to communicate information with background and perspective," Markham said.

Injuries Hinder Hawkeyes

"If our injured players could heal, I feel we'd have a good opportunity against Ohio State," Iowa football coach Ray Nagel said Tuesday.

Nagel ran the Hawkeyes through a two-hour drill Tuesday but all eight of the squad's injured players were still out of action.

Nagel said split end Gary Larsen "definitely will be out of action" for the Ohio State game. Larsen suffered a shoulder injury in practice last Thursday and missed Saturday's game at Michigan State.

Nagel also said number one split end Al Bream is suffering from a pulled hamstring but he should be ready to play Saturday.

Fullback Cornelius Patterson, who worked at linebacker Monday, was moved back to fullback. Sophomore Bob Gibbs, normally a defensive back, continued to work out at linebacker, however.

On the injured list are linebackers Dave Moreland, Dan Hilsabeck and Tom Knutson; defensive linemen John Evenden, John Hendricks and Bob Tripan-ier; offensive center Greg Barton; and split end Gary Larsen.

Statistics released Tuesday showed that fullback Silas McKinnie has regained the lead as the top rusher on the team. He has gained 411 yards in 92 attempts for a 4.4 average. Quarterback Ed Podolak is second with 376 yards in 117 carries, a 3.2 average.

Podolak has completed 61 passes in 151 attempts for 875 yards. Bream is the top receiver, having caught 22 passes for 335 yards.

Robinson Is Historic MVP

FRANK ROBINSON Wins MVP Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles unanimously was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player Tuesday, becoming the first player in baseball history to win the coveted award in both leagues.

In the 35-year history of the award, no other player has been able to achieve MVP distinction in both the American and National leagues.

But Robinson, who won the NL version with Cincinnati in 1961, accomplished the feat by gaining the 1966 AL award without dissent from the 20 voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

In winning the award, the 31-year-old outfielder led a 1-2-3 Baltimore sweep of the top places, drawing a maximum 280 points to 153 for third baseman Brooks Robinson and 122 for first baseman Boog Powell.

Points were on a basis of 14 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third down to 1 point for 10th.

Robinson, who won the American League Triple Crown of batting while leading the Orioles to the pennant and a four-game sweep of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series, is only the third AL player to win the award unanimously and the first in a decade.

Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians won it without dissent in 1953 and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was a unanimous winner in 1956. The 1-2-3 sweep also is not without precedent, having been accomplished in 1959 by Nellie Fox, Luis Aparicio and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox.

Aparicio, like Robinson acquired by the Orioles in a trade, finished ninth in this year's voting. Reliever Stu Miller and catcher Andy Etchebarren also picked up votes on the Orioles.

The Minnesota Twins took the three spots behind the top Orioles in the balloting as third baseman Harmon Killebrew finished fourth with 96 votes, followed by pitcher Jim Kaat with 84 and outfielder Tony Oliva with 78.

But shortstop Zoilo Versalles of the Twins, last year's MVP winner did not receive a vote.

Rounding out the top 10 were outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit, 66 points, outfielder Tom Agee of the White Sox, 63; Aparicio, 51, and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Kansas City, 36.

Utah Senior In 2nd Place For Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Virgil Carter's record-shattering performance against Texas Western last Saturday has lifted the 6-foot-1 senior from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, into second place in total offense among the nation's major college football players.

Carter's 599 yards — 513 passing and 86 rushing — broke the single game records for total offense and passing. The total offense record of 504 yards had been held by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa, who set it in 1964. The passing mark of 502 yards was established by Bill Anderson, also of Tulsa, in 1965.

Trip To Rose Bowl Expected For Purdue-Minnesota Victor

CHICAGO (AP) — Coaches Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Murray Warmath of Minnesota were looking toward Pasadena, Calif. Tuesday as they appraised Saturday's game.

The winner of the Purdue-Minnesota game at Minneapolis undoubtedly will represent the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, and to hear the two coaches talk neither team can lose.

"Minnesota's offense has come to life in its last couple of games. Defensively they've been tough all season, and their offensive line has jelled well," Mollenkopf said.

"We must stop Curt Wilson, who is quick and big and the best rollout quarterback in the conference. But if you contain him then you must try to contain the smashes of John Wintermute, who works behind the fine blocking of the biggest offensive line in the conference," Mollenkopf said.

"Our kids are enthusiastic and want to do a good job. We all know the importance of the game to both teams. I've been asked if our Bob Griese doesn't pass unless he has to. Last week we wanted to establish a running game against Wisconsin, but before that Griese has passed when he wanted to and on any down." Warmath said he never was surprised to see Purdue march on the ground and control the ball.

"But we expect passing by Griese," he added. "We'll do the best we can to rush him and also have defenders where he is throwing the ball."

Nicklaus Is Canada Cup Big Favorite

TOKYO (AP) — Golfers from 36 nations and regions turned up Tuesday for the international Canada Cup competition with a pro-amateur tournament as Jack Nicklaus of the United States took command as the favorite.

He did this by virtue of a 30-38-68 in an exhibition match over the par 71 Sagami Country Club course.

The Canada Cup opens Thursday and ends Sunday.

For someone who has not been playing golf for three weeks, NICKLAUS and whose first two tee shots in his initial practice round on the Yomiuri course where the Canada Cup will be held were sliced into a clump of trees, Nicklaus' first nine 30 was convincing proof he is back in form.

Gary Player of South Africa shot 35-35-70 and Arnold Palmer 36-39-75 in the exhibition match with Nicklaus.

Player won the individual crown last year in Madrid with Nicklaus second, but Nicklaus was the winner the previous two years. He will be aiming for his third crown, unprecedented in the Canada Cup.

Among Nicklaus' chief rivals, in addition to Palmer and Player, are Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the 1962 winner; Bruce Devlin and Kel Nagle of Australia, and Juan Chi Chi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico.

Nicklaus disclaimed interest in the individual title.

"It's the team championship that counts," he said. Each team has two players with scores counting for both team and personal honors.

When we say we want people for the outer limits, this isn't what we have in mind.

Forget science fiction. We're talking about the "outer limits" of technology. And these days it can be even more exciting than science fiction.

Right now IBM needs qualified men and women to help reach these outer limits. The kind of people who have made IBM the leader in today's fastest-growing major industry: information handling and control. And the kind of people who can grow with us as far as their talents and abilities allow.

The result? Greater personal responsibility and recognition; the dual satisfaction of personal achievement and continuing personal rewards. A pretty satisfying result.

Job opportunities at IBM are in six major areas: Computer Applications, Programming, Finance and Administration, Research and Development, Manufacturing and Marketing.

Whatever your immediate commitments, whatever your area of study, sign up now for an on-campus interview with IBM, November 21

Varsity To Face Freshmen On Basketball Courts Friday

By RON BLISS
Asst. Sports Editor

Generally when an Iowa varsity basketball team plays the freshman team in the freshman- varsity basketball game each fall, the varsity can count it as an easy victory. This year, however, the varsity is going to have to be at its best if it hopes to save its pride.

It's not that the varsity team is that bad. It is rated as one of the top teams in the Big 10 in pre-season polls.

The trouble is that the 1966 freshman team is the best that Coach Ralph Miller has seen in his 17 years of coaching, and possibly one of the best in the nation this year.

Assistant basketball coach Larry Van Eman, who is coaching the freshmen this year, agrees that the team is outstanding, but doesn't forecast a victory for his young team over the varsity Friday night when the two meet in the Field House at 7:30.

"They have big names and big reputations," Van Eman says, "but they still have a lot to learn about basketball."

Included on the team are Joe Bergman, a 6-10, 215-pound first-team prep All-American center from Clinton; Dick Jensen, a 6-9, 210-pound forward from Madrid, who led the state in scoring two years ago and ranked third last year; Glenn Vidovic, a 6-5, 190-pound forward from McKeesport, Pa., who was first-team All-State in Pennsylvania last year.

Chad Calabria, a 6-2, 175-pound guard from Aliquippa, Pa., who was also a member of the Pennsylvania All-State team; Tom Schulze, a 6-5, 200-pound forward, who was a first team All-Stater for Des Moines Roosevelt; and Jim Hodge, a 6-1, 175-pound guard from Bettendorf, who set several school and conference records in high school; Jim Monkerud, a 6-4, 180-pound forward from Maywood, Ill.; and Stan Cowan, a 6-1, 175-pound guard from Monticello.

Those are just the men on scholarship. Van Eman also says he has five boys who are not on scholarship that have shown potential of being future varsity basketball players.

They are Frank Nelson, a 6-1, 170-pound guard from Sioux City East high school, who averaged 25.8 points a game last year; Steve Eggeman, a 6-4, 180-pound forward from Jefferson High School near Des Moines, who averaged better than 20 points a game last season and made several All-State teams; Stan Williamson, a 6-1, 175-pound guard from Bettendorf, who set several school and conference records in high school; Jim Monkerud, a 6-4, 180-pound forward from Maywood, Ill.; and Stan Cowan, a 6-1, 175-pound guard from Monticello.

"The men have shown an intense desire to learn," Van Eman said. "They are aware of the reputation they have as Coach Miller's best freshman team and are trying to live up to it."

"I think the odds are too heavily against us to be able to beat the varsity this early though," Van Eman said.

Preparation Time Less
Van Eman pointed out that this year's freshman team has had two weeks less to prepare for the freshman-varsity game than last year's team.

"Where we started practice on Oct. 15 last year, we didn't begin until Oct. 24 this year," Van Eman says. "Also, the game with the varsity was a week later last year (Nov. 19)."

Two other factors also weigh heavily against the freshmen, according to Van Eman.

"We should compare favorably with the varsity in offensive play and rebounding," Van Eman says, "and we probably have better over-all personnel than the varsity has. But we are vastly inferior to them in defensive play and the experience they have on us will also be of great benefit to them."

If Game Were Later
Van Eman says that if the game were later in the season, it might be a different story, but for now, the edge in defense and experience was too much to overcome.

"Later in the season," Van Eman says, "we plan to have the freshmen scrimmage the varsity regularly in practice."

"We feel this will be a good way to get the varsity ready for opponents," he says, "and it should also help in giving the freshmen experience for next year."

Van Eman says the team will also be allowed to play three basketball games this year against outside competition, thanks to a new Big 10 rule. It is likely, he says, that those games will be against freshman teams from Iowa State, Drake and either Northwestern or Wisconsin.

"No final arrangements have been made," Van Eman says, "but conditions are fairly favorable that we will play those teams."

Van Eman is being assisted this year by former basketball star Chris Pervall and varsity squad member Walter "Mac" McCausland, a junior from Maquoketa.

LBJ Signs Bill For Grid Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Tuesday a bill giving the merger of the American and National football leagues limited immunity from antitrust laws.

Under the merger plans, the leagues will play a Super Bowl game in January pitting the AFL champions against the NFL winners, will hold a common draft and will plan a schedule for inter-league, pre-season games next summer.

Two new critics will join the combined league to be eventually formed by 28 teams.

On Nov. 1, the NFL made New Orleans its 16th franchise, to begin operations in 1967. The new club will participate in the January draft. The AFL's 10th club is expected to begin operation in 1968. Two more teams are expected to be added after that.

The two pro leagues had a difficult time getting congressional approval for the merger. It finally came about when the football measure was attached as an amendment to the administration's bill to suspend the 7 per cent investment credit tax.

DECISIONS DECISIONS—
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Trustees of Allegheny County's new community college, debating a name for the school, rejected a suggestion that it be called "Monument Hill," after a Pittsburgh landmark.

"The major problem is how difficult it will be for some cheerleader to holler, 'Yea Monument Hill, Yea Monument Hill.'"

McGilmer Withdraws From University

By JIM MARTZ
Sports Editor

Iowa basketball player Ben McGilmer has withdrawn from school and is reportedly returning to his home in Detroit, Mich.

Ben's brother, Welton, contacted Tuesday evening in Detroit, said Ben would talk to his local draft board and would either enlist in the service or transfer to another school.

He said Ben McGILMER was expected to arrive at home this morning.

Two friends of Ben's said Tuesday night that Ben had received a notice from his draft board and that he had returned home to have it appealed. They said they did not know if he would return to Iowa or transfer to another school.

The University Office of Public Information said that McGilmer cancelled his registration Nov. 1. The office said "personal reasons" were listed for the reason of cancellation.

Coach Ralph Miller, when asked if he had a statement, said: "Not a bit. I have no comment to make."

When asked what he thought McGilmer would do, Miller said: "I can't tell what his future plans are."

Miller also said that to his knowledge McGilmer had left the campus.

This cancels any possibility that McGilmer might rejoin the team for the second semester of play this season. He became ineligible for first semester play when he failed to attain the needed grade point in a correspondence course he took after the summer session.

Vols Aim At Ole Miss

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee quarterback Dewey Warren was a bench warmer until an injury to Charley Fulton thrust him into the lineup against Mississippi at Memphis last Nov. 13.

Warren and the Volunteers bowled to the Rebels 14-13 but since then the Savannah, Ga., Swamp Rat and his teammates have won eight games and lost two.

Mississippi invades Knoxville Saturday and it is no overstatement to say Tennessee's hopes of turning back the Rebel challenge ride primarily on the accuracy of Warren's throwing arm.

With each team boasting 5-2 records, a victory is a must to keep alive major bowl hopes.

Since he took the quarterback slot, Warren has developed into the biggest single offensive threat in Tennessee football history.

In seven games, Warren has completed 89 of 140 passes for 1,074 yards and 12 touchdowns. Add 71 yards running and he has a total offensive of 1,145 yards. This is only 88 yards shy of the Tennessee record of 1,233 yards in one season set by Hank Lauricella, an All-American tailback, in 1951.

Besides their bowl hopes, the Vols have other incentives for beating Ole Miss. It has been seven years since Tennessee has whipped Mississippi, a traditional Southeastern Conference rival.

Mississippi was one of what might be called the Big Three on Tennessee's schedule this year.

Construction Completed For Six New Buildings

Construction work on six buildings on campus was recently completed. Most of the work was done during the summer months. Buildings involved were the Dentistry Building, the Zoology Building and the Mathematical-Science Building. Landscaping was done around the Zoology Building, the Physics Building, the English-Philosophy Building and Phillips Hall. The work is not yet finished.

The main work in the Zoology Building addition is the expansion of library space. The library will be air-conditioned when finished. Work in the building is expected to be finished by the first of the year.

Department offices are being remodeled by putting in new ceilings, lighting and floors. This is also being done in the library. An enclosed stairway is being added to the building by putting doorways on each floor to form a corridor.

The office of Donald J. Galagan, dean of the College of Dentistry, has been changed from its previous two rooms into an outer office and four surrounding offices. The amount of floor space has remained the same.

New Dental Units

Eight new, complete dental units are being used as a private practice area for staff members. Private patients will be treated there.

The units have been added to the sub-basement level of the building. These were put into the area which was previously the laboratory of Alton K. Fisher, head of oral pathology. Fisher's lab has been moved across the hall into what had been a classroom.

Offices for dental hygiene have been relocated in the sub-basement level also. Previously, dental hygiene offices were on the opposite side of the hall from their present location. There are five dental hygiene offices and a secretary-receptionist area.

Windows in the surgical area of second floor Dentistry Building have been made of aluminum with glass blocks instead of the steel windows which were there previously. Construction on the Dental Building was completed in August.

Labs Moved

Physics graduate labs have been moved to the Physics Research Center leaving the Mathematical-Science Building to be used mainly for undergraduate study. Room One of the building, previously used for a machine shop in physics research on satellite projects has been divided into 14 air-conditioned offices for department members.

Two rest-rooms have been added to the building. These rooms were previously research laboratories or graduate assistant offices. The construction in the Mathematical-Science Building was completed in July.

Landscaping will add the final touch to the construction work. Planting of shrubs and trees, grading and sodding are being continued around the Zoology Building, the Physics Building, the English-Philosophy Building and Phillips Hall.

A courtyard between Phillips Hall and the new Zoology Building addition is being tentatively planned for construction. Planters and benches have been placed around the outside of Phillips Hall.

Don J. Sinek, superintendent of operations at the Physical Plant, described the landscape work around Phillips Hall by saying that an attempt is being made to give a softness to combat the concrete of the street, the sidewalk and the building itself.

Organization Initiates 14 At Banquet

Phi Alpha Mu, national honorary scholastic organization, will initiate 14 University students at the annual Interfraternity Recognition Banquet tonight in the Union Ballroom.

Phi Alpha Mu initiates must be members of social fraternities, have at least a 3.3 grade average for a minimum of 60 semester-hours of credit, and be active in fraternity, campus and community affairs. Fraternity adviser David McKinney will present the new members.

Loren Hickerson, U of I director of community relations, will be main speaker at the banquet. Attending the dinner will be the Phi Alpha Mu initiates and the executive councils and scholarship chairmen of each of the 20 social fraternities at the University. Special guests will include all fraternity housemothers, several alumni of University fraternity chapters and Helen Reich, University Panhellenic adviser.

Phi Kappa Psi will receive the Sigma Chi Foundation Scholarship Trophy for earning the highest over-all scholastic average, 2.485, among University fraternities last year. Robert N. Hubbell, counselor to men and assistant professor of education, will make the presentation.

Phi Gamma Delta will receive the Alpha Tau Omega "Help Week" Trophy for its pledge-class service projects to campus and community last year.

Such measures before had to be approved or rejected wholly.

Accident Prevention Section Will Move Into New Building

The new Farm Accident Prevention Building, now nearing completion, should be ready for occupancy by the first of the year, according to L. W. Knapp, associate professor and head of the Accident Prevention Section of the University's Institute of Agricultural Medicine.

The building, located at Oakdale, was scheduled for completion by September, 1966, but delays have set back the moving-in date to early in 1967.

All exterior construction has been completed and the T-shaped structure presents an attractive appearance with its brick-faced front and metal siding on the back wing. The interior work is in its final stages.

The building will house offices, classrooms and a sizable laboratory for the Accident Prevention Section, which currently is operating at the Water Treatment Plant. It is being constructed with money from a four-year grant of $233,491 from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Mich.

The laboratory portion will contain 3,600 square feet of space that will be used in designing and testing farm safety equipment.

Reduce Accidents

"Our aims are to provide insight into the problem of man, machine and environment that will reduce farm accidents," said Knapp.

Three potential farm dangers that the Accident Prevention Section has been attempting to alleviate are tractor overturns and dangers from power takeoff shafts and rotary power lawnmowers.

Tractors overturning is a very common problem in Iowa. Recently, a major farm tractor company introduced an anti-roll frame on its new machinery which protects the driver from being crushed if the tractor should overturn.

Following a three-year study by the section last December, farm equipment companies began to offer improved shielding on the power takeoff shaft, which provides power from the tractor to the piece of machinery being pulled.

Environmental Problems

"We soon hope to initiate work in problems of the farmer's environment, such as noise and dust," said Knapp.

Cooperative work may be done later with the University's Department of Orthopedics.

Knapp said that when the new building was completed, the Accident Prevention staff would be increased from its present three members to a minimum of eight workers. Also a number of graduate students would probably help with work at the Oakdale building.

One section of the building will be used for a cooperative project for the Vocational Rehabilitation Center at Oakdale, headed by Miss Mayta Sievers. The group is under the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

"Special emphasis in this area will be on agricultural rehabilitation problems," said Knapp.

Official Predicts Boom Will Stay

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—A federal official has predicted that the sonic boom from the supersonic air transport plane to be built in the 1970's will still break window glass.

A. Scheffer Lang, deputy undersecretary for transportation research in the Commerce Department, said the only importance he sees in the development of the new transport is the vast amount of money that will be poured into those types of aircraft.

He said no one yet had discovered any solution "that would just make the sonic boom go away."

Housewife Shot In Home

MASON CITY (AP)—Mrs. Lloyd Blackwell, 25, of near Mason City, was in poor condition after being shot Tuesday in what her husband said was an accident.

Cerro Gordo County Sheriff Gerald D. Allen said Blackwell, 28, was being held in protective custody pending developments in Mrs. Blackwell's condition.

As Allen put together the story: Larry Schultz of near Mason City, a friend of the Blackwells, was asleep on a sofa in the Blackwell home when he was awakened by a shot. Blackwell came out of the bedroom and said there had been an accident.

Authorities were called and found Mrs. Blackwell lying on the bed. She had been wounded in the arm and left thigh. A blood-spattered shotgun was in a closet.

Allen said he had no details on how the shooting occurred. The Blackwells' farm home is about five miles northwest of Mason City.

USIA Function Is Explaining Foreign Policy, Official Says

"Truth is our best propaganda," and the dissemination of truth about American foreign policy is the main function of the United States Information Agency (USIA), Thomas L. Wright, USIA officer, told an audience in the Television Studio of the Old Army Monday and Tuesday.

"Our function is to further understanding and approval of U.S. foreign policy," Wright said. Wright has been on campus to explain the opportunities in the USIA to all interested students. He is the director of press and publications services of the USIA.

Foreign opinion of U.S. foreign policy is also channeled through the USIA to the president and the State Department, Wright said. Wright said the USIA did not compete with the Associated Press and United Press International news services, but rather USIA attempted to correct the distortion and lack of news which sometimes occur in newspaper coverage.

For instance, USIA would provide U.S. ambassadors and foreign newspapers with the text of one of President Johnson's speeches which would often not be completely printed in U.S. newspapers. Most of this information is sent all over the world on teletypes. Wright said the USIA sends approximately 12,000 to 15,000 words a day over

Official To Discuss Food Stamps

The Food Stamp Program will be explained to Johnson County Food Retailers by Donald Hoffman, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting will be held in Room A of the Recreation Building, 220 S. Gilbert St. Hoffman will talk on the application of the program and the responsibilities of an authorized food stamp dealer.

The Food Stamp Program is designed to provide more food and a better balanced diet to needy families, and to enlarge the domestic market for the abundant supply of farm products.

The program is of interest to retail food dealers since the food will be supplied through retail stores.

Did you like beer the first time you tasted it?

A lot of people say no. They say beer is one of those good things you cultivate a taste for... like olives, or scotch, or kumquats.

Maybe. But we think it makes a difference which brand of beer we're talking about.

We think Budweiser is an exception to this "you've gotta get used to it" rule. It's so smooth. (You see, no other beer is Beechwood Aged; it's a costly way to brew beer, and it takes more time. But it works.)

So whether you're one of the few who has never tried beer, or a beer drinker who suddenly feels the urge to find out why so many people enjoy Budweiser, we think you'll like it.

From the very first taste.

DATA MATE

COLLEGE COMPUTERIZED DATE MATCHING EXPERIMENT

Now is your chance to participate in the latest college computerized dating experiments. DATAMATE. This latest computer application is being used on college campuses all across the country. It has received national acclaim in LOOK, LIFE, TIME, and other major publications. DATAMATE is not a date bureau. DATAMATE is a comprehensive program designed to provide adventurous college students with a new way to meet new and interesting people. Think of the possibilities! From the thousands of students on your campus that participate, our IBM 709 computer will pick the six who best suit your description of an Ideal Date.

How Does It Work?

First you evaluate your own personality by answering the questions in this questionnaire. Then you answer the questions again, this time the way you'd like your Ideal Date to answer them. Our computer then processes all the replies and through an intricate, psychologically oriented program picks out the six best. We then send the names, addresses, and phone numbers of these six to you and your name to each of them. Certainly there is no obligation to date anyone, but realizing that the computer has selected the six best for you from out of thousands of students, you are sure to be pleased with the results.

In order to cover the costs of programming, coding, and card punching, computer time, clerical help, advertising, printing, postage, etc., we are forced to charge a small participation fee of three dollars. When you receive the results from this program, we are certain that you will consider this small expenditure to have been worthwhile. The deadline for sending in your completed questionnaire is Friday, Nov. 18. Mail early and we will be able to get all results back within 10 days.

The effectiveness of this program and your satisfaction with the results depends upon you answering the questions honestly and critically. Enter the number of only one answer in each box, even though more than one answer might apply.
