We feel sorry for Californians. We refer, of course, to the gubernatorial victory of Republican political newcomer Ronald Reagan over his incumbent Democratic opponent, Edmund G. Brown.

That the most populous state in the Union (and many would contend the most progressive and advanced) would elect to its highest office a man with no discernible political experience — on the basis of his looks and movie fame alone — is incredible.

Forget the Lester (chase 'em out with an axe handle) Maddox campaign in Georgia, and the Lurleen Wallace victory in Alabama. The South has a long history of this sort of thing. But that California would elect a man to its governorship who is also possessor of an extremely questionable (some would say the reactionary 'Let's repeal progress') brand of conservatism — so overwhelmingly repudiated by the majority of American voters two years ago in the Goldwater fiasco — is well-nigh unbelievable.

piece of romantic folly — a potential four-year hiatus in qualified and responsible leadership in Sacramento.

George Murphy started it, now Reagan has repeated it in even more spectacular fashion — and several other well-known actors have announced some time ago their willingness to throw their hat in the ring were Reagan to prove successful.

We feel Californians should indeed worry about their Governor-elect's ultra-conservative attitudes — views made all the more chaotic perhaps, because of Reagan's lack of any mitigating political experience.

The notion that his more extreme beliefs will be tempered by the realities of political office will prove of little consolation to Californians who will have to weather his educational sojourn at their expense.

Meanwhile, the country-at-large may have cause to worry about the possible reemergence of the old conservative coalition in Congress of Southern Democrats and old-guard members of the G.O.P. This cynical alliance's stranglehold on important committee chairmanships had almost singlehandedly blocked for a quarter century social legislation that the 89th Congress finally managed to squeeze through.

Their hard-fisted rule, as is now well known, was brought to a timely end in the 1964 Johnson landslide, when a sizeable number of freshman congressmen rode into office on L.B.J.'s coattails.

We only hope that the expected gains of the Republicans and conservative Democrats in the election will not rekindle a 1966 revival of that 19th century anachronism.

Only time and the 90th Congress will tell.

In defense of Barnett

To The Editor:

It has come to our attention that Donald Barnett, assistant professor of anthropology, has been fired. According to rumors circulating on campus, Dr. Barnett's dismissal was based on political rather than academic considerations.

We feel that the only legitimate grounds for dismissal of an instructor are his academic qualifications and performance. Because of Dr. Barnett's active opposition to the war in Viet Nam, and because he is a Marxist-oriented anthropologist, we seriously question the reasons behind Dr. Barnett's dismissal. Would the department's explanation be to the effect that Dr. Barnett's refusal to be silent concerning the Vietnamese war, and/or his particular theoretical approach to anthropology, is the motive behind their action? If so we condemn and protest the firing of Dr. Barnett.

We feel that students have a right to know the grounds for Dr. Barnett's dismissal and that the contents of any departmental proceedings against him be made public.

Someone must clean mess up

To The Editor:

I'm proud to announce that I was one of the hecklers who put on the "disgusting and dangerous" exhibition Saturday evening. What is everyone upset about? If those people have the freedom to protest, then certainly they will allow us the privilege to protest their protest. I was not one of those throwing things; but I'd have liked to have thrown a few left hooks.

I'm sure that the leaders of this march will dismiss my remarks as those of a silly freshman who hasn't taken the time to learn all the background material and carefully think out the whole thing; but, for me, there is nothing to think out. War is a mess that someone made. No matter who made it or why, it had to be cleaned up. Leaving it around isn't going to solve anything. All it will do is rot and stink until something is done about it.

No one in his right mind likes war; no one wants to give up part or all of his young, healthy life to fight a war. But thousands have done it, thousands are doing it, and thousands more will do it until this mess is cleaned up. They'll do it blindly perhaps, but willing nonetheless. They won't know all the political consequences, all the blunders by the big brass, nor all the philosophical theories about freedom and war and humanity. All they'll know is that for a few thousand or a few million lives, they can buy freedom for half the world. For them, and for us, it will be worth all of them.

Had my brother and his platoon been standing on the street Saturday evening, you not only would have heard a few teenagers singing the Star Spangled Banner; you'd have heard the thud of fists keeping time.

I do not believe that the students should have thrown rotten eggs or anything else at the marchers, unless perhaps it had been mimeographed copies of the flag. But why waste our efforts on these college draft-dodgers when we could be honoring those boys who have given their time in Viet Nam and are now back in their classrooms? I'll bet these were the ones throwing the rotten eggs. If I were one of them I would have been.

'Program of Dances' was not creative

By H. E. BRICKMAN
Staff Writer

Movement alone is not dance. Saturday evening's "A Program of Dances" by Lucas Hoving with Nancy Lewis and Chase Robinson was little more than three people bound by an unexpressed involvement in the unshared intensity of their own movement. But dance is an expressive art and a stage is for sharing.

The choreography was neither inventive nor creative. At best it was only interpretive and for the most part it was simply and superficially descriptive. There was little relationship in the movement to one another, although the held designs were sometimes startlingly simple and effective.

Too often, however, the design was not strong enough to hold the stage, and the dancers not strong enough to hold the design. So all would collapse into a classic Limon-like stance. This simplicity sometimes became too simple and subsequently dull as in "Aubade" and "Variations." However, the reduction of the Icarus legend to a simple statement of human relationships worked well. Here Hoving moved beyond a surface description and interpreted the Greek

To The Editor:

In the Nov. 8 issue of the Daily Iowan, there appears a statement by Donald Barnett of the anthropology dept. to the effect that he plans to protest the war in Viet Nam by not presenting grades to the University. An editorial in the Nov. 9 Daily Iowan responds to this statement with the charge, among others, that Barnett's method of protestation is "paternalistic" and that the students affected will be unwillingly penalized.

As a group of students, all the members of 34A:120, who would be affected by this policy, we wish to go on record as wholeheartedly supporting this move. We would like to point out wherein we disagree with the above-mentioned editorial and also to give our reasons for thinking that Barnett's position is logically consistent in the moral frame-work of opposition to the war.

Barnett's statement is not naive, because in fact the University does make grades available to the Selective Service. Whether the student requests this or not is not the point. Outside of making grades available, the University submits information relevant to the student's progress and status and also notifies selective service boards when a student drops enrollment. Grades are only a part of the picture. Whether one is opposed to the war or not, he should recognize that University cooperation with the selective service system perpetrates an unfair situation where the brunt of military duty tends to fall on either those too poor to attend college or those who for one reason or other cannot make their grades.

In the context of moral opposition to the war it would seem that to be consistent anyone opposed should also be opposed to the draft and to seek effective means to deal with it.

Value judgment on music refuted

To The Editor:

Regarding Mr. Barry Shor's letter, "No Change Is Needed," I should like to ask, no change is needed for whom? Truly, Mr. Shor claiming that WSUI's programming minus top 40 "merely adds to its value and distinction," is a value judgment. You have shown us that your taste does not allow for such programming and consequently, such programming should not be allowed. Really! What about the other seventeen thousand students on this campus? Are they to give up their interest in radio to please your personal taste?

The group requesting that top forty music be played on WSUI ask for only two hours a day of this type of programming. They claim they have a right to request this of a University station, because it is a University station. This country functions as a Democratic state, Mr. Shor, and this University is a part of that state. The wishes of the majority should be considered. They have taken into consideration the taste of the minority and gladly agree that WSUI should broadcast twelve hours a day to you and two hours a day to the other seventeen thousand. Wouldn't you consider that more than fair of them?

The wives are restless

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — No one could have been more surprised over the recent housewives' revolt against food prices in the United States than I was. According to all the advertisements in the newspapers, the stores were practically giving the food away, as well as silver dishes, automobiles and free trips to Bermuda. But you don't realize how serious the housewives really are about this until it hits your own home.

The other night I arrived from the office and found my children roller skating in the kitchen. "Where's your mother?" I asked.

"She's down at the supermarket handcuffed to a push cart," one of my children said.

I rushed down to the supermarket and, sure enough, there was my wife with several other housewives, chained to pushcarts. They were singing "We Shall Overcome."

"You're going to have to choose between me and the price of butter," the store manager was called to the phone. When he came back he shouted excitedly, "We have a new contest. Anyone who picketed our store during the last three days can win a new mink coat just by filling out these cards."

As my wife unlocked her handcuffs and started filling out a card, she warned the store manager, "This doesn't get you off the hook. If you don't take two cents off the price of peanut butter we'll all be back tomorrow."

"That's before I saw what they were charging for Brussels sprouts," his wife replied.

A third husband was imploring his wife, "Look, Honey, if you leave with me right now I'll take you to dinner."

"How could I enjoy the meal when I know what other housewives are paying for onions?"

The manager of the supermarket came up to us with tears in his eyes. "Where did I go wrong? I give them free coffee in the mornings, I cash their checks for them, we have free Bingo at lunchtime, horse races in the afternoon, poker games at 6 o'clock, and every evening we raffle off a diamond necklace to anyone who buys a box of detergent. Is this the gratitude I get?"

"And what about the price of chocolate milk?" a lady yelled.

"What are you doing now?" I said to my wife.

BUCHWALD

"I'm burning my trading stamp book." "Please, ladies," the store manager begged. "Be patient. We have a new game. If you can guess how many brans there are in this bowl you can win your own pro football team."

"And how much will that add to the price of ham hocks?" one of the women wanted to know.

The store manager said, "Wait, before you lose all reason, the first three women who buy four cans of tomato paste will get a numbered bank account in Switzerland."

"I can't raise my family on numbered bank accounts. Why don't you knock off the price on frankfurters?" a woman said.

"You don't understand," the store manager pleaded. "We don't make money on our food. We make our profit on our contests. I appeal to you husbands. Please ask your wives to go home."

"Don't you touch me," my wife warned. "You're going to have to choose between me and the price of butter."

The store manager was called to the phone. When he came back he shouted excitedly, "We have a new contest. Anyone who picketed our store during the last three days can win a new mink coat just by filling out these cards."

To The Editor:

Chalk another stupid move by Forest Evashevski, Iowa athletic director. By refusing to change the date of the Iowa-Iowa State football game — now scheduled for Nov. 19 — he has guaranteed that the game will be played in a vacuum.

Most people will be watching the Michigan State - Notre Dame game, probably playing for the national championship. Of course, some people will be at the frosh game — mothers, girl friends, and wives of the players. The coaches will be on hand, and the cheerleaders maybe.

What a great piece of masterminding!

Guaraldi Trio Will Appear In 2 Concerts

Vince Guaraldi, who wrote and recorded the national hit "Cast Your Fate to the Wind," will appear Saturday in the Dad's Day Concerts in the Union Main Lounge.

Guaraldi, leading his own trio, will accompany Allan Sherman for the 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. performances.

Guaraldi is one of the few jazz musicians to have one of his own jazz compositions be a national hit. The tune, "Cast Your Fate to the Wind" has been a chart for 22 weeks. But it took a long time to get there.

The hit tune was written several years ago when Guaraldi was playing with Woody Herman's band. It took five years and an accident for the tune to be released.

The song was placed on the "flip side" of "Samba de Orpheus," an expected success, simply because it was the correct length. However, disc jockeys turned the record over and Guaraldi had a national hit. This story of "Cast Your Fate to the Wind" has been released as a documentary television film.

The song won a Grammy Award as "Best Jazz Instrumental" for 1962, from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

Guaraldi has also written, scored and recorded the sound track of the television film "A Boy Named Charlie Brown." The film, which has just been completed, is the story of Charles Schulz and his famous cartoon character.

Tickets for the performances by Sherman and Guaraldi are on sale for $3, $2.50, and $2 at Campus Record Shop and the Union Box Office.

GOP Increases Are Excellent, YR Leader Says

The result of Tuesday's election indicates that the Republican party has an excellent chance to capture the Presidency in 1968, according to Carl Varner, A2, Centerville, president of Young Republicans.

"I think that the results are substantial enough that we can interpret them as a repudiation of the Johnson Administration," Varner said Wednesday.

Varner said he was very happy with the results, and that they exceeded his expectations.

"I had expected four Republicans to win congressional seats in Iowa and we came out with five. Nationally, I thought that we would gain 23 seats in the House of Representatives and we gained twice that many," Varner continued. "I am extremely pleased that I was proven wrong."

TO REPAIR BRIDGES—

AMES (AP)—The Iowa Highway commission voted Wednesday to repair 10 bridges and structures on old U.S. 34 in Montgomery County, then return the entire road to the county. Estimated cost of the project is $90,000.

DEAN PHILIP G. HUBBARD appeared before an overflow crowd at Soapbox Soundoff Wednesday speaking about Students to Oppose Paternalism (STOP). He said that he welcomed organizations like STOP and would be glad to work on any suggestions that these groups had to better the University. Other issues discussed at Soundoff included the dismissal of Donald Barnett, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, Student Senate and Viet Nam.

Student Body Officers Benefit From Session In Leadership Training

A leadership training program held last June at Bethel, Maine, turned out to be more than a routine meeting for the two University administrators and three students who attended.

The program was sponsored by the National Education Association and was attended by about 250 persons.

Robert N. Hubbell, counselor to men, and Peter D. Grundfosson, former program director of the Union, were the administrative representatives. The three students were Carolyn Lukensmeyer, A4, Hampton, senior class president; Tom Hanson, LI, Jefferson, student body president; and Harold Maas, A3, Wellsburg, Union Board president.

Miss Lukensmeyer said the purpose of the two week session was to help each person better understand himself and to increase his ability to work more effectively with others. By learning effective teamwork, individuals could organize others to bring about community changes, she said.

Some of the participants at the Maine program met with administrative officials and worked out a similar training retreat to be held at the University in December. The retreat would try to produce more effective organizational leadership on campus, Miss Lukensmeyer said.

Miss Lukensmeyer said they went to Maine "expecting an objective study of education, and soon found ourselves in the midst of an experience in living education."

This education was centered on training groups which met in three two-hour sessions daily. The 250 participants were divided into groups of 12, and each group was put in a room.

Miss Lukensmeyer said a man professionally trained in psychology and guidance told them that they were there to learn about themselves and each other, and then he leaned back and said nothing more.

"We discussed the problems of social structure, interpersonal relationships and such topics as why we form opinions about other people on incomplete evidence," Miss Lukensmeyer said.

For some participants, she said, the program helped them better understand their inhibitions, and for others the experience proved too swift and frightening. However, she said, the consensus was that they all would be more capable of adjusting to group situations in the future.

ROAD RAMPS APPROVED—

AMES (AP)—The Iowa Highway Commission decided Wednesday to build earthen ramps and paint lines on roads in an effort to avoid traffic deaths. The commission authorized plans to erect earthen ramps at 83 T-intersections on the state's primary road system.

-But Lose 47 House Seats- Demos Retain Edge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats won continued control of the 435-member House of Representatives in Tuesday's elections but big Republican gains plus a pickup in conservative strength in the South spells trouble for President Johnson. Republican gains of 47 seats exceeded the off-year average of 40 and whittled the Democratic majority to the lowest since 1956.

While the Democrats will have an apparent working majority of some 30 above the 218 mark, this could be deceptive since a big block of the Democrats are conservative Southerners who often refuse to accept Johnson's liberal domestic proposals.

In fact, a revival of the old GOP-Southern Democrat coalition that has operated in some previous Congresses, would hold the whip hand.

248 Democrats Elected

With all of the House races decided, the count stood at 248 Democrats and 187 Republicans. Republicans had unseated 52 Democrats while Democrats overturned only 5 Republicans.

The husky Republican gain should also be reflected in narrower majorities for the Democrats on House committees. With Democrats holding a 295-140 margin in the 89th Congress, committees were formed roughly on a 2-1 ratio. This ratio may be trimmed in the 90th Congress to more nearly reflect the reduced majority. This is the tradition, but there is no legal requirement that committees follow party ratios exactly.

Freshmen Democrats Win

Interesting to note in the Republican wave was the fate of 44 freshmen Democrats who swept to victory in the Johnson win two years ago and sought re-election.

Of these freshmen, 24 won re-election and 20 lost.

Big Republican victories for Govs. George Romney of Michigan and James A. Rhodes in Ohio carried over into the House races. In each state, the Republicans gained five seats at the expense of the Democrats. As a result, the GOP will dominate the Ohio delegation 19-5, the Michigan delegation 12-7.

One big surprise was the defeat of North Carolina Democrat

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and a veteran of 34 years in the House. He lost to Republican James C. Gardner, a young businessman.

Cooley thus became the third committee chairman to go down to defeat this year. Reps. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) chairman of the Rules Committee; and Tom Murray (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Post Office Committee, lost out earlier in the year in primary races.

Another Democratic loss was Rep. James Trimble of Arkansas, veteran of 22 years and regarded as a Southern moderate and a Johnson supporter. He was fifth Democrat on the Rules Committee.

Defeated also were Democrats Rep. James A. Mackay of Georgia, a Johnson man; and Archie L. Lindsay, a moderate who replaced Rep. Charles L. Weltner (D-Ga.).

the man who gave up his nomination for re-election rather than support segregationist Lester G. Maddox for governor.

Boggs Wins Easily

On the other hand Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), House whip and acting majority leader who helped push through many Johnson proposals, won handily in his New Orleans district.

Speaker John W. McCormack (D-Mass) was unopposed. Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla.), the majority floor leader, was re-elected easily.

The women's contingent in the House gained one member when Margaret M. Heckler, Republican, was elected in the 10th Massachusetts District. Mrs. Heckler is the housewife who beat former Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. in the Republican primary. The 10 women incumbent House members all won re-election.

Hawkeyes Among Favorites For Cross Country Crown

MADISON, Wis. — All is in readiness for the 32nd annual running of the Big 10 Cross Country Championship meet here Saturday, Nov. 12, with Iowa, Minnesota, and Michigan State in the favorite roles to dethrone defending champion Northwestern.

The meet will be held in Madison at Odana Hills golf course with starting time set for 12:00 noon CST. It marks only the third time in history that the meet has been held in Madison and the first CRETZMEYER time since 1928. Only other time the meet was held here was in 1915 with the Badgers winning their half of fourteen team titles they have scored over the years.

Both Iowa and Minnesota have unbeaten records in dual meet competition this year. Iowa is paced by junior Larry Wiczorek, who has turned in the best time of any conference performer of 19:11.3 for the four mile distance this year. Wiczorek was not a factor in last year's title meet as he finished 31st in 21:49, far off pace.

Hawks Have Balance
The Hawks, coached by Francis Cretzmeyer, appear to have the balance and experience needed to win as Ted Brubacher (14th), Ron Griffith (15th), and Pete McDonald (30th) return from last year's fifth place finishers, and sophomore Steve Szabo is a fine newcomer.

Minnesota's successful dual meet season also has been due to a blend of experience and newcomers. Five men who helped the Gophers to third place in last year's meet return, including John Valentine (12th), Bob Weigel (13th), Tom Heinonen (18th), Richard Aften (19th), and George Podolsky (32nd). A bright sophomore star has been Steve Hoag who paced the gophers to their dual meet win over Michigan State two weeks ago.

Badgers 'Dark-Horse'
Wisconsin, the host school, has the 'dark-horse' role in Saturday's meet. The Badgers have been improving each week, and could surprise. Sophomore Bob Gordon, Madison, Ray Arrington, Clairton, Pa.; and Branch Brady, Great Falls, Montana, team with Captain Bruce Fraser, Milwaukee and Ken Latigo-Olal, Awello, Uganda, East Africa, to give the Badgers a solid fivesome.

Both Fraser (4th) and Latigo-Olal (10th) placed high in last year's meet won by Northwestern's Lee Assenheimer, who has graduated.

Michigan State, last year's runner-up, returns three of the top 11 finishers from last year's title meet with Captain Dick Sharkey setting the pace. He was third last year, while teammates George Balthrop and Arthur Link were 8th and 11th, respectively. Sharkey's best time this year is 19:32.2 registered against Minnesota.

Wildcats Lack Depth
Runner-up, John Duffield, and teammate Pat Edmondson (9th) give the Wildcats two top notch runners, but lack of depth will not allow Northwestern to retain its title.

Edmondson has been Northwestern's best runner this year with a best time of 19:56 in the Notre Dame Invitational several weeks ago.

Top sophomore in the meet appears to be Mark Gibbens, Indiana's team captain from West LaFayette, Ind.

Spartans Finally Have Leader In Big 10 Football Statistics

CHICAGO (AP) — Powerful Michigan State finally has produced an individual leader in Big 10 football statistics, but also-ran Michigan and Illinois have come up with conference record-breakers.

The league office reported Wednesday that Jack Clancy, Michigan's superb split-end, has set a new Big 10 mark with 41 pass receptions in five loop games.

The other new record is 192 yards on pass interception returns by Bruce Sullivan of Illinois on only four steals, also in five games. Sullivan's returns included a record-matching run of 96 yards and another run of 93 yards, both for touchdowns.

Michigan State's Clint Jones, piling up a single game league total of 268 yards against Iowa, wrestled the rushing lead from injured Dave Fisher of Michigan with a six-game total of 496 on 100 carries.

Fisher, carrying only twice against Illinois, dropped to third with 374 yards in five games. Indiana's Mike Krivoshia took second with 390 yards, also in five games.

Clancy's 41 catches, good for 551 yards, broke the former record of 40 grabs of Iowa's Karl Noonan for six games in 1964. The Big 10 reception yardage record is 656.

Sullivan's 192 interception return yards topped the old mark of 167 by Northwestern's Tom Worthington in six 1947 games.

League passing leader continued to be Michigan's Dick Vidmer with 68 hits on 132 tosses for 652 yards and seven touchdowns.

Purdue's Bob Griese, runner-up to Vidmer in passing, tops the league in total offense with 975 yards both rushing and passing.

Iowa's Ed Podolak is second with 850 yards.

Badger Defender Passes Moreland In Big 10 Tackles

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin has won only one of its five Big 10 starts, but the Badgers have the leading conference tackler in line-backer Bob Richter.

Richter has made 43 solo tackles and has been in on 30 others for a total of 73, the league office reported Wednesday. This moved Richter, a 217-pound senior, ahead of line-backer Dave Moreland of Iowa, now second with 69 tackles.

In pass interceptions, Illinois has two leaders — safety Bruce Sullivan with a Big 10 record of 192 yards returned, and halfback Phil Knell with most interceptions, five, for 83 yards.

Among Sullivan's four interceptions are touchdown runs of 98 yards, also a league record, and 96.

Indiana's Jim Sniadecki, defensive end, leads in tackles for a loss, 10 for 38. Northwestern's Phil Clark has broken up most passes, 12.

Town League To Be Formed For Intramural Basketball

Mike Klopfenstein, the intramural Town League co-ordinator, announced Wednesday that all off-campus students interested in playing intramural basketball should meet at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 15 in the North Gym of the Fieldhouse.

"Of the 5,000 or so students eligible, we should find at least 100 that want to play," said Klopfenstein.

All single male students that live in off-campus housing, including those who commute are eligible to play.

The Iowa City area has been divided into 10 precincts by the intramural department. Each of these precincts will have two teams — a 150-pound team and a heavyweight team. Therefore at least one hundred players will be needed to have a complete Town League.

Only five of the Town League precincts found enough men for football teams this year.

The following is a list of the districts of the Town League, all named after former presidents of the University.

● Black — includes all men living on Burlington Street and south, from Lucas Street east.

● Dean — Burlington Street and south, Dubuque Street east to Lucas Street.

● Leonard — Burlington Street and south from Dubuque Street to the Iowa River.

● Macbride — West of the Iowa River on Grand Avenue and south.

● MacLean — West of the Iowa River and north of Grand Avenue including Coralville.

● Pickard — East of the Iowa River, North of Burlington Street to Van Buren, south of Jefferson to Linn, and south of Market between Linn and Van Buren Streets.

● Schaeffer — east of the Iowa River to Linn, from Jefferson Street north to, and including Davenport.

● Spencer — east of the Iowa River, north of Davenport to Linn and all of Church Street and north.

● Thatcher — Linn Street and east, north of Market Street and South of Church Street.

● Totten — Van Buren Street and east, north of Burlington to, and including, Market Street.

Teams from these areas will be organized from those men who attend the meeting in North Gym Nov. 15.

According to Frederick S. Beebe, director of intramurals, all courts in the Field House have been reserved for Town League practice that evening.

Gillman Signs 5-Year Contract With Chargers

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Sid Gillman has received a new five-year contract as general manager and head coach of the San Diego Chargers, a spokesman for the American Football League team said Wednesday.

"We've torn up the old contract and given Sid a new one at a substantial increase in salary," said Charger general partners Gene Klein and Sam Schulman.

Gillman was believed to be receiving $40,000 a year on a five-year contract signed after the Chargers won their only AFL title, in 1963. Some observers said the new pact calls for about $50,000 a year.

Gillman has been coach of the Chargers since the team was founded in 1960. His record of 60-33-6 includes five division titles and one AFL title.

POOL HAS 345 WINNERS—LONDON (AP) — A British soccer pool outfit Wednesday claimed a record of 733,260 pounds — $2,053,128 — for the lucky winners.

Sometimes one person hits the jackpot — one calling for a correct forecast of eight tie games in one line. This time there were 345 winners.

Hawk Swim Hopes Depend On 9 Lettermen, 3 Sophs

By PETE TAYLOR
Staff Writer

Nine returning lettermen and three sophomores are being counted on by Iowa swimming coach Bob Allen this season, to help the Hawkeyes improve on their eighth place finish in the Big 10 last winter.

Heading the list of lettermen is this year's captain, Gil Hitchcock, who topped Iowa records in two events last year.

He set a record of 5:03 in the 500-yd. freestyle and 11:03.6 in the 1,000-yd. freestyle.

Scheda, Monohon Back

John Scheda and Paul Monohon each set an Iowa record last season and both are expected to have a chance at lowering their times this year.

Scheda set a mark of 48.6 in the 100-yd. freestyle and Monohon broke the record in the 200-yd. butterfly with a 2:04.8 time.

Members of the two record breaking relay teams from last year will return this season with the exception of backstroke Tom Throckmorton in the 400-yd. medley relay.

Plans To Study More

Coach Allen said, "Tom is in Medical School and decided to devote more time to his studies this year. However, there is a possibility he might return to the team after the first semester." Throckmorton has one year of eligibility remaining.

Last year he teamed with Bob Synhorst, Monohon and Scheda to establish an Iowa record of 3:44.6 in the medley relay.

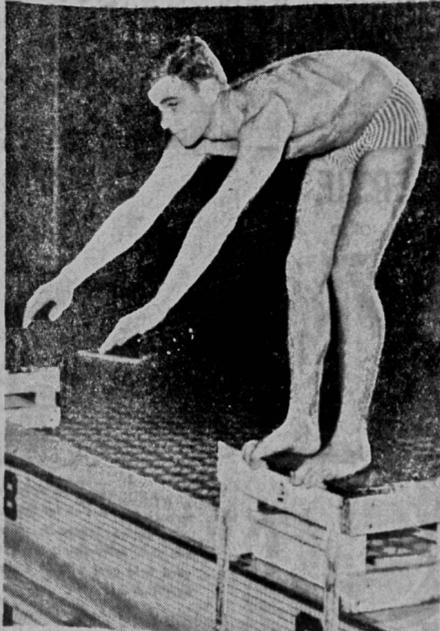

The 400-yd. freestyle relay team remains intact from last year with Skip Jensen, Jim Jones, Ray Kearney and Scheda. The quartet was timed in 3:19.8 last season for another Iowa record.

Three sophomores are considered top prospects by Allen for the coming season. They are Tim Barnes in the distance freestyle; George Marshall in the breaststroke and freestyle and Charles Marshall in the butterfly and freestyle.

Diving A Key Event

Another important event for the Hawkeyes is diving. Diving coach Dale Mood has senior Al Schenck and sophomore Terry Sorenson as his top performers.

Looking at the Big 10 this season, Coach Allen predicted that "Michigan State, Indiana and Michigan will probably be the teams to beat in the conference."

CAPTAIN FOR THE Hawkeye swimmers this season is Gil Hitchcock, a senior. Last year he set school records in the 500-yard and 1,000-yard freestyle events. The Hawkeyes, coached by Bob Allen, have nine returning lettermen.

World Swimming Record Broken By Army Captain

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Army Capt. Jim Coots of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., broke the 300-meter freestyle swim record for the world modern pentathlon Wednesday night, but Hungary virtually wrapped up successful defenses of the individual and team championships.

Coots, 25, who is stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., was clocked in 3:39.5, clipping 5.5 seconds off the mark held by Hungary's Andras Balczó, the defending champion.

This gave Coots 1,087 points and moved him from 15th to ninth place in the individual standings with 3,750. Jim Kerr of the New York A. C. was timed in 3:45.8. He picked up 1,051 points and held fifth place. The United States was fourth with 10,501 points in the team standings behind Hungary, 12,148; Russia, 11,411, and East Germany, 10,979.

Balczó took over first place from teammate Ferenc Tork, the 1964 Olympic champion, with a 3:45.2 swim which earned him 1,054 points for four events. The fifth and final event, the 4,000 meters cross country Thursday, is his strongest event.

Russia's Viktor Mineev also overtook Tork and was second with 4,029 points to Tork's 3,992.

Sports Briefs

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Former world land speed record holder Art Arfons plans to race his jet car on the Bonneville Salt Flats next week despite flooding on portions of the 11-mile speedway. Arfons, 40, said at his Akron, Ohio, home that he would leave for the western Utah desert speedway today, arriving Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana voters have challenged Houston's position as the only site of a sports superdome in the South. Unofficial, incomplete returns from Tuesday's general election showed 353,397 votes in favor of building a huge sports stadium in the New Orleans area; 116,822 votes opposed. The figures were from 2,050 of 2,338 precincts.

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association will hold its early winter meeting in New York, Nov. 21, President Walter Kennedy said Wednesday. Kennedy said the agenda for the Board of Governors includes the annual All-Star game at San Francisco, Jan. 11; adoption of a revised disaster plan; adoption of changes in the by-laws and constitution; a discussion of expansion plans, and playoff plans.

'Big Cat' Williams Vows He'll Scratch Cassius Clay

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and challenger Cleveland Williams taunted one another Wednesday at a preliminary physical for their title match next Monday night in the Astrodome.

But the biggest noise came from Williams' manager, Hugh Benbow, who ridiculed the grinning Clay all through the ceremony.

Dr. Arthur Moers, state appointed ring physician, declared the two fighters physically fit. Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis helped with the tape measurements.

Clay clowned it up prior to the examination and several times moved up close to Williams and asked: "You really think you have a chance with me? Are you really going to be there?"

"I'm not afraid," Williams answered. "I'll be there."

"I'm mean and dangerous," Clay continued, obviously for the benefit of reporters.

"You just be there," Williams answered.

Williams is nicknamed the Big Cat and Clay displayed a cartoon showing Williams as a cat being chased under a ring stool by the champion.

"I've never been scratched by a cat before," Clay said.

"This cat's going to scratch you," Williams replied.

Then Benbow, Houston oilman-manager, arrived.

"You know you are afraid, son," he yelled at Clay. "This is the first time you are going to face a fighter who won't lay down when you tell him to."

Clay only grinned.

"Cleve will whip him if Clay don't run out of the ring," Benbow continued. "I could whip him myself, as old as I am, in an honest fight."

The champion weighed 209, the challenger 216½ at the examination.

FOOTBALL OWNERS MEET — NEW YORK (AP) — The club owners of the National and American football leagues met in closed session Wednesday and will confer again Thursday.

A spokesman said that the owners discussed suggestions regarding the upcoming so-called superbowl game and the common draft of the two leagues. There was nothing to announce, the spokesman said.

Anderson Worked Up To 'Instant Stardom'

By DAN EVEN News Editor

"I hit a 35-yarder in practice one day and that was it — instant stardom." Iowa kicking specialist Bob Anderson said jocularly in recalling the start of his football career with the Hawkeyes.

But like most modest stories by the 190-pound junior from Chalfield, Minn., it was his good-natured way of avoiding the real story. "I wanted to go to Minnesota. They invited me down a couple of times for a look-see but then lost interest." So Anderson came to Iowa without a scholarship, but he had shot a football trial in the bag — a football bag that is.

"I walked in with a bag of footballs — there were really only two — an Iowa sweatshirt and an old golf hat. Red Welcher (former Hawkeye equipment manager) gave me two more footballs and off I went to prove myself," Anderson recalls.

"I had to sell myself. I worked by myself and then with the 'red shirts,'" he says. Anderson's steady practice — in this respect he hasn't changed much since his freshmen days — finally won him a place in Iowa's future and a scholarship.

Anderson has been a "character" since the day he walked onto an Iowa practice field, but one of the strange quirks that brought him reams of publicity was not of his own doing.

007 His First Number

While working as a freshman it finally became time for Anderson to pick a jersey number. "I had no preference so Coach (Jerry) Burns came up with 007 as sort of a gag. I didn't realize the number's significance — but I found out. Just like James Bond, I had a license to kill — a football that is. I also found out about Bond's movies and haven't missed a picture since."

Today Anderson wears number 37 — 007 wouldn't fit across his uniform, he notes wryly.

In his two-year career, Anderson holds the Iowa records for longest field goal (a 42-yarder against Minnesota last year) and most field goals in a game (two). In all he has been successful on 10 of 14 field goal tries and hasn't missed an extra point in 18 attempts over the last two years.

A business administration major, Anderson would like to make one of the professional teams his business address after graduating from Iowa. "I've had letters from a couple of teams and I would like to give it a try," Anderson noted lightly on his pro aspirations.

Does the short (5-11) kicker ever get the urge to do something besides kick — like play defense? "No, they know what they are doing out there, I don't. I'll leave it to them," he commented.

"I really got hit hard once — and it was in practice. I got piled and the kick failed, so after the whistle, what did I hear from the coaches? — 'Do it over.'"

Practices By Himself

Anderson can usually be found at practice — near the gate of which he is the keeper — alone and doing his own retrieving, and this seeming isolation continues during games — home games at least — as he occupies a small bench behind the Hawks' main bench. The reason: "It's just a matter of room and I'm in the way of the big boys when they come on and off the field," says Anderson.

Although he is 15 pounds lighter this fall, the slimming down has had a positive rather than negative effect on his kicking.

Anderson's goal? "I would like to boot six (field goals) in one game — like Charlie Gogolak."

Defensive Record Within The Reach Of S. Mississippi

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern Mississippi, seeking an unprecedented trio of defensive titles, leads the nation's major-college teams in two of the categories, the latest statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau revealed Wednesday.

The Southerners are also a close second in the third department.

No team ever has won the total defense, rushing defense and passing defense crowns in the same season. However, through Saturday's games, Southern Mississippi was No. 1 in total defense with an average of only 115.9 yards a game and in rushing defense, 40.6 yards.

In pass defense, Kentucky leads with a yield of only 74.9 yards a game, but the Southerners are close with 75.3, only A behind.

Notre Dame, ranked No. 1 in the latest Associated Press poll, has the best defense against scoring. The Irish have given up an average of only 4.0 points in seven games. Alabama is next with 5.3.

Kansas is tops in punting with a 43.7 average for 42 punts in eight games. Richmond is the runner-up with 43.1

AP Picks Ohio State To Win, Minnesota To Upset Purdue

By JERRY LISKA
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The snow is on the pumpkin . . . The bee is in the hive . . . And ye olde football Swami . . . Has yet to take a dive. Swami missed last week only on the Elliott brothers, for Pete's sake. He is now forecasting at an improved .732 pace on a season's mark of 41-15.

Look fans, NO hands:

- Ohio State 18, Iowa 12 — The Buckeyes always run into a buzz-saw at Iowa City. That 56-7 score at Michigan State didn't indicate it, but the Hawkeyes moved the ball as well against the Spartans as anybody in the past two seasons. This game could be a sizzler.
- Minnesota 14, Purdue 7 — Those go-go Gophers of the Northland put a chill on Purdue's Rose Bowl dreams. You see, you don't notice that dry Minnesota cold until Bob Griesse's fingers are numbed out of business. Like the Boiler-maker scout said: "When it gets colder, Murry Warmath's Gophers get hotter."
- Illinois 21, Wisconsin 13 — The Illini have the biggest bunch of backfield bandits since Jesse James. They nearly stole one from Purdue and they sure did swipe one from Michigan. If Pete Elliott doesn't make the Rose Bowl this year, he'll certainly be up front and center next season with Bob Naponic heading a sassy junior crowd.

- Michigan State 21, Indiana 7 — The trouble with being top banana is you're liable to slip on a used banana. The Spartans can see those Irish legions gleaming just south of the border, but they should elude an ambush in their final Big 10 start at Indiana. The Hoosiers tripped MSU 27-20 in 1964 and lost fighting 27-13 last season.
- Notre Dame 35, Duke 7 — The top-ranked Irish also are flexing their muscles for that Nov. 19 super scrap at Michigan State.
- Michigan 21, Northwestern 13 — The Wolverines' Jack Clancy and slick runners will bounce back after being sidetracked by Illinois. Northwestern upset MSU 34-22 last season and could be a pack of Wildcats due for a big day.

San Diego State In Lead In Small-College Grid Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Diego State shot into the lead in the Associated Press small-college football poll Wednesday, replacing North Dakota State, the team it overwhelmed 36-0.

The Aztecs, who ended North Dakota State's 23-game regular season winning streak Saturday, drew 11 first-place votes and 153 points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

North Dakota State fell to second with 97 points. There were no changes in the next three positions as Montana State held the No. 2 spot followed by Tennessee State and Northwestern State of Louisiana.

Parsons of Iowa, unranked last week, rose to sixth after defeating Bemidji State 46-17 for a 7-1-0 mark. Arkansas State slipped one notch to seventh despite a 17-14 victory over Southwest Louisiana.

Weber State, 42-7 winner over Colorado Western, advanced one place to eighth.

North Dakota moved back into the top 10, advancing to ninth place. The Sioux beat Augustana S.D., 30-20 and are 6-2-0 for the season.

Muskingum, which has shut out five opponents in moving to a 7-0 record, took over 10th place. The team from New Concord, Ohio, defeated Denison 20-3 in a game of previously unbeaten-united teams.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. San Diego St. (11) 153
2. No. Dakota St. 97
3. Montana St. (1) 91
4. Tennessee St. (2) 89
5. Northwestern La. (1) 87
6. Parsons 44
7. Arkansas St. (1) 41
8. Weber State 33
9. North Dakota 22
10. Muskingum 18

Two Sophomores Get Starting Nods For Iowa State

AMES (AP) — Iowa State's football team devoted most of its time to offensive and defensive review during an hour and 15-minute drill Wednesday.

Coach Clay Stapleton said Jeff Simonds, a sophomore defensive halfback, and sophomore defensive end Ted Reimer would draw their first starting assignments when the Cyclones close Big Eight play at Kansas State Saturday.

Simonds replaces Doug Robinson, who has been hobbled with a charley horse. Robinson, however, is expected to see some action, said Stapleton.

Canada Cup Golf Begins In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — International golf's greatest show, the Canada Cup, got underway in Tokyo today.

The defending champions are Gary Player and Harold Hennings of South Africa.

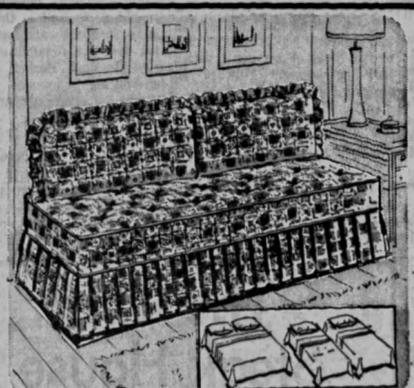

The powerful United States team consists of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, who won the Cup in France in 1963 and again in 1964 in Hawaii.

Thirty-six teams from 34 nations, plus Hawaii and Puerto Rico, are entered.

Liberal GOPs In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate will have only seven newcomers in the next Congress — not enough to have much impact on legislation — but they will give a more liberal tinge to GOP ranks and put a new accent on youth.

Of the seven, five are Republicans and two are Democrats, and all of them are in their 40's, except Wyoming's Clifford P. Hansen, who is 54.

Republicans taking over seats now held by Democrats are Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon and Howard W. Baker of Tennessee.

The Johnson administration lost three stalwart supporters, all of them liberals, in the un-seating of Paul H. Douglas and Ron Bass, and the voluntary retirement of Maurine B. Neuberger.

The white-thatched Douglas, long a leading liberal voice in the Senate, was beaten by Percy. Neuberger didn't stand for re-election. Hatfield defeated Democrat Rep. Robert B. Duncan for the seat. Bass lost out in the primary to Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement, who fell before Baker.

Percy, a former industrialist; Baker, son-in-law of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen; and Hatfield, Oregon's governor, were all critical of the administration in their campaigns, but are regarded as moderate Republicans.

So is the new Republican senator from Massachusetts, Edward W. Brooke. He is the first Negro senator elected by popular vote and only the third in the nation's history. He succeeds retiring GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, another moderate.

The fifth Republican newcomer is Hansen, Wyoming's outgoing governor, who pitched his campaign largely against the Johnson administration's foreign and domestic policies. He is cast in the mold of his conservative GOP predecessor Milward L. Simpson.

Simpson did not seek re-election and Hansen won his seat by defeating Democratic Congressman Teno Roncalio.

The Democrats, who failed to wrest a seat from the Republicans, will have two newcomers in William B. Spong Jr., Virginia, and Ernest F. Hollings, South Carolina.

Spong, a moderate, replaces A. Willis Robertson, a staunch conservative, whom he defeated in the primary for the Democratic nomination. Spong led the ticket in Virginia with his victory over Republican James P. Ould Jr.

Hollings, a former governor of South Carolina, unseated Sen. Donald S. Russell in the Democratic primary and won election over his Republican opponent, Marshall Parker, with a hard-hitting campaign against "Great Society" programs.

But the Democrats, counting the conservative Southerners among them, still will have nearly a 2-1 majority in the new Congress which convenes in January. The lineup will be 64 Democrats to 36 Republicans, compared to 67-33 now.

Write-In Votes Halt Election; Georgia Race To Assembly

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's first two-party race for governor in a century triggered court action and charges of polling irregularities Wednesday as write-in votes of moderates and liberals led to a no-win election.

Republican Howard H. Callaway held a lead over Democrat Lester G. Maddox in late returns from the Tuesday voting. But write-in ballots for moderate Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, denied either nominee a required majority.

With 1,766 of 1,866 precincts reported: Callaway had 423,282, Maddox 416,331, and Arnall 52,173. Callaway had 47.4 per cent of the votes counted, Maddox 46.6 and Arnall 5.8.

A no-majority vote under the state constitution throws the election into the heavily Democratic Legislature. But the American Civil Liberties Union went into federal court to prevent a decision by the legislature.

Gov. Carl E. Sanders said he is prepared to hold office indefinitely — as provided by law — until his successor has been sworn in. He said he will go ahead with budget preparations and will invite Maddox and Callaway or their representatives to take part in the budget work.

A leader of the write-in campaign for Arnall said at a news conference another federal court suit will be filed charging "an enormous number of irregularities at the polls."

Hosea L. Williams, write-in spokesman and an aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., charged that thousands of write-in ballots had been discarded and many voters had been denied the right to vote by write-in ballot.

He said the write-in supporters believe the court suit will result in either Sanders or Lt. Gov.-elect George T. Smith serving as governor. It may result in a new election.

Maddox, 51, upset winner over Arnall for the nomination, told newsmen he expected the General Assembly to name him the next governor when the Assembly convenes in January.

"I believe the state, being Democratic, will be in the Democratic column," he said. "I can't see many members of the House and Senate voting for a Republican."

Callaway, 39, who gave up his congressional seat to enter the governor's race, said only that he was planning the next move in the struggle.

"We are still running a campaign," he said.

LBJ's Impact In Elections Is Spotty

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year's election proved an old axiom: a word from the president is not always sufficient to get a man elected.

President Johnson's impact as a campaigner proved spotty. Sometimes his coattails looked broad, sometimes skimpy.

A few examples:
On a "nonpolitical tour in August he entered the districts of three freshman House Democrats in New York, and gave them prominent places in the ceremonies. All three won. They are J. Michael Hanley, Richard D. Mc-Carthy and Joseph Y. Resnick.

On an October swing into New York, Johnson had Frank D. O'Connor in his motorcade and said the GOP fears "the shadow of progress." O'Connor lost to Nelson A. Rockefeller, re-elected governor.

On Oct. 13, Johnson journeyed to Delaware and told a cheering crowd in Wilmington that Democrats are "your real friends." He plugged for James M. Tunnell Jr., candidate for the Senate, and Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., the state's only House member. Both lost.

Sometimes, what the President didn't say was more interesting than what he did. He never said a word for Democrat George P. Mahoney of Maryland, of "Your home is your castle" fame, or Lester G. Maddox of Georgia, ex-endor of fried chicken and ax handles.

Instead, he contented himself with a statement in which, naming no names, he bitterly assailed politicians who seek votes in the "white backlash."

Mahoney lost a bid for the Maryland governorship, and at last count Maddox was running behind for the Georgia governorship.

A question that will never be answered is: What difference would it have made if the President had launched that 11th-hour, whirlwind campaign tour which he insists he never planned and which, in any case, was never made, in view of his coming surgery?

Partisans of Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas, had counted desperately on Johnson to bolster their flagging campaigns. Both lost.

Iowa Mountaineers Present 'North To Hudson Bay' Film

"North to Hudson Bay" is the title of an Iowa Mountaineers Film-Lecture to be given at 2:30 p.m. Sunday by Art Wilson in Macbride Auditorium at The University.

A graduate of Northwestern University, Wilson will be making his second appearance in Mountaineers lecture series. He became interested in travel and in film-making while serving in the U.S. Air Force during World War II.

Wilson's film on the Hudson

Bay area was made during a journey aboard a boat which travels to the islands in the Hudson Bay once a year, with stops at the outposts of Churchill, Chesterfield Inlet, Eskimo Point and Whale Cove.

Industries of the Caribou Eskimos shown in the film include the hunting and processing of seal and whale. Part of the motion picture made during a train trip into the bush area shows treeless plains carpeted with flowers.

Iowa Needs Board For Air Pollution

DES MOINES (AP)—A state law to control air pollution will be proposed to the 1967 legislature, State Health Commissioner Dr. Arthur P. Long said Wednesday.

He said the State Board of Health, meeting here Wednesday has drafted a bill which it plans to present when the new legislature meets in January.

The bill would not set specific standards, he said, but would establish a control commission under the Department of Health. The commission then would be authorized to establish standards and rule in specific cases.

Dr. Long explained air pollution is not a health hazard in Iowa now, but it is a nuisance that could blossom into a serious health problem if it is not checked.

New Music Concert Planned For Sunday Will Begin At 4 P.M.

Three works inspired by Oriental culture and an original composition by a former University student will be among the numbers presented at the Center for New Music concert Sunday.

The concert is the second in a series of eight Center programs to be given on campus during the school year. It will begin at 4 p.m. rather than 8 p.m., as was previously announced, and will be held in the Union Ballroom. The concert is free.

The hour-long program of 20th century music will include "Yu Ko" by Chou Wen-Chung, "Haiku Settings" by Mel Powell, "Two Balmont Songs" and "Three Japanese Lyrics" by Igor Stravinsky, "Two Pieces for Two Flutes" by Harvey Sollberger, "Klavierstucke Nos. V, VIII" by Karlheinz Stockhausen, and "Variations for Six Players" by Peter Westergaard.

"Two pieces," by Sollberger, a 1960 University graduate, will feature Center musician Patrick Purswell and Betty Bang, associate professor of music. Miss Bang first performed the flute selection with Sollberger here shortly after its completion. Sollberger is co-founder of the Group for Contemporary Music at Columbia University.

"Yu Ko," based on a 13th century Chinese composition for a long zither, an instrument having 30-40 strings, was transcribed by modern composer Wen-Chung for nine instruments, while the Stravinsky selections, written in the early 1900's for voice and piano, were adapted by the composer in 1947 for voice and ten instruments.

Members of the Center — Patrick Purswell, flute; Joseph Dechario, piano; William Parsons, percussion; Doris Allen, violin; William Konev, cello; Janet Steele, soprano, and William Hubbard, viola — will be assisted by others from the school of music, including Symphony conductor James Dixon, who will conduct "Yu Ko" and the Stravinsky numbers.

The Center, which began operation this fall, is financed by a three-year grant from the Rockefeller Foundation and is supplemented by University funds. Iowa is the fourth institution to establish a permanent music center under a Rockefeller grant. It is supporting musical composition through performance of new works and sponsorship of young musicians.

Presidents Wrote Scribbly-Scrabblly

LONDON (AP) — With some exceptions, the 32 presidents of the United States wrote a scribbly-scribbly kind of handwriting.

The signatures of the chief executives will be auctioned off to the highest bidder Nov. 28.

They are being sold at Sotheby's by a man who refuses to be identified but one who has gone to a lot of trouble collecting the signatures, each one neatly hinged in a specially printed folder with a facing portrait.

The collection is contained in a fitted box of Morocco leather, hand-tooled and gilt lettered.

George Washington's signature is fairly legible, but an Englishman said it looked like "G. Wallington."

Other scribblers: John Adams — rounded and a bit like a child's writing.

James Madison — pretty scrawly with the I's and S's resembling one another.

James Monroe — squiggly, and when he wrote "I flattered myself" it looks more like, "I flatted myself."

Abraham Lincoln — self-taught, and his "A. Lincoln" shows it.

Andrew Johnson — hard to recognize the Andrew, but the Johnson is clear.

U.S. Grant — his signature looks like "N.I. Conant."

Chester A. Arthur — the Chester is good, he smudged the Arthur.

Grover Cleveland — You can recognize the Grover, but Cleveland is an eye-tangler.

Benjamin Harrison — The Benj. looks like Bing.

Theodore Roosevelt — used lots of ink and his handwriting was cramped.

Woodrow Wilson — the Woodrow is clear, but the Wilson is not so clear.

Warren C. Harding — the signature looks like "N.G. Standing."

Calvin Coolidge — Resembles a doctor's prescription, in Latin.

Franklin D. Roosevelt — The "D" so much resembles an "S" that the printed catalogue listed Franklin S. Roosevelt.

Harry S. Truman — It's easy to make out the Harry, but the S Truman is less easy.

School Board Alters Classes For Adults

The Iowa City Community School Board decided Tuesday night to transfer one of its evening adult high school programs to the Area 10 Technical, Vocational and Community College in Cedar Rapids.

The adult high school program to be transferred is one in which a diploma can be earned. Being retained, however, is an adult high school program which does not grant a diploma.

The board concluded that federal funds for the adult programs could be more easily obtained through the Area 10 school than through the local school board.

While the administration of the program will be handled in Cedar Rapids, the board noted that extension offices would continue to be located throughout the seven-county area.

A request by the Johnson County Board of Education for the school board to take over administration of the area Head Start Program received no action at the meeting.

The Head Start Program gives pre-school children the opportunity to attend summer classes in preparation for the regular school year.

The county board asked the Iowa City Community School Board to sponsor the two-year-old program from now on because 90 per cent of the children in recent groups have been from Iowa City. The staff and facilities for the program have been provided by the Iowa City district.

The lack of assurance of federal funds to support the program was given by William V. Phelan, community school board president, as the chief reason for taking no action on the proposal.

There was general agreement among local board members that the program should be continued, but the motion to administer the entire program failed to pass on the board's vote.

FREEWAYS URGED—

DAVENPORT (AP) — Iowa should speed up planning for a freeway system linking six major population areas of the state, the American Automobile Association (AAA) Club of Iowa said Wednesday. Club directors at their annual meeting urged the 1967 legislature to appropriate funds if necessary to permit the State Highway Commission to hurry the studies — including cost estimates and right-of-way locations.

Associate Dean Here Is Chosen As Vice-Chairman

Woodrow W. Morris, associate dean for student affairs in the College of Medicine, has been elected vice-chairman of the Continuing Group on Student Affairs of the American Association of Medical Colleges.

The group studies problems related to medical student affairs and assists in improving techniques for attracting, selecting, and guiding the professional development of medical students.

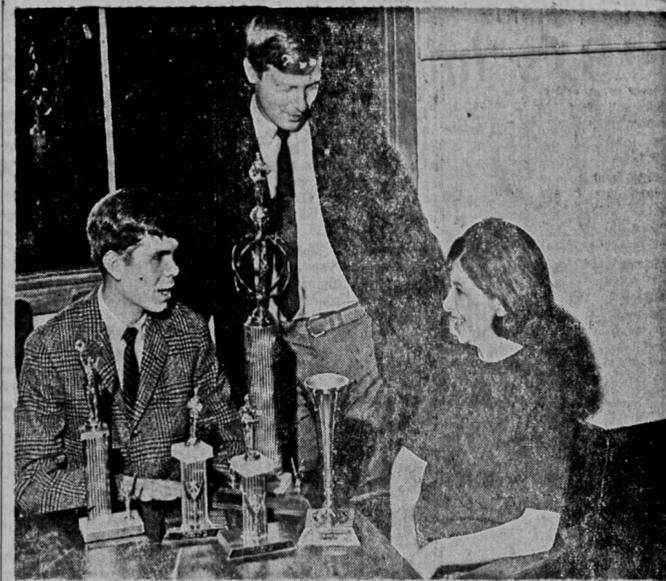

Dr. Morris has been a member of the group since its inception in 1956. At that time he was named chairman of the Great Plains Region, one of five regions of the group. Regional chairmen serve as an executive arm of the group.

River Project Speech Topic

Commissioner Floyd E. Dorniny of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation will speak at 8 p.m. today in Union Ballroom. His lecture, "The Bridge Canyon and Marble Canyon Dams on the Colorado River," is sponsored by the Institute of Hydraulic Research.

Dorniny's topic concerns a proposed federal project to dam the lower Colorado River in Bridge and Marble Canyons to bring water to central Arizona. He is the chief proponent of the project.

The project has generated controversy among conservationists and engineers who think the proposed dams are unjustified and uneconomical.

By SUE HARDER Staff Writer

Who is the student who sits in the last row of psychology lecture and sleeps?

Her name is Zeldia. Her excuse for sleeping through classes is that she can't sleep at night.

Zeldia says she tries to go to bed early, but it takes her half the night and 14 cups of coffee to wake up enough to study.

When she finally gets to bed she tosses and turns. If she sleeps on her side her arms get cramped and stiff. If she rolls over on her back her curlers dig painfully into her head.

Zeldia illustrates the fact that most Americans don't get enough sleep.

A recent Gallup Poll checked for the incidence of insomnia in eight countries. In the Scandinavian countries, one out of four persons reported some inability to sleep. One out of three Frenchmen had trouble sleeping. Americans had the highest incidence with one out of every two persons unable to get enough sleep.

Sleeping A Ritual

According to one authority on sleep, "For perhaps one-half of the adult population in this country, the simple act of falling asleep has become a ritual."

For example, a student who can't sleep may take a tranquilizer or a sleeping pill to get to sleep. These pills often make him groggy in the morning, and the student may resort to a pep pill to wake up.

Or, the student who can't sleep may get out of bed and smoke a cigarette. Smoking increases the heart and breathing rates, the exact opposite of the decreased heart and breathing rates produced by sleep.

If you are 20 years old now, you have an average of 16 years, 3 months, 3 days, and 8 hours left to sleep in this life.

How much sleep is enough sleep? Newborn babies sleep two hours for every one that they are awake. A student's sleep need is approximately the reverse, one hour of sleep for every two he is awake.

Since the average student is awake 15-17 hours daily, eight hours of sleep is the amount required.

Eight hours of sleep, however, isn't right for everyone. The student's capacity to function while awake is the best way to determine if he's had enough sleep.

Nathaniel Kleitman of the University of Chicago says, "The average amount required is no more applicable to a particular individual than the average-size hat or shoe would be."

Ask yourself two questions and if you answer yes, you've had enough sleep:

• Do I wake up consistently at my usual rising hour without an alarm clock?

• Do I feel no drowsiness in the middle of the afternoon?

Loss Of Sleep Costly

Regardless of whether you lose sleep because of insomnia or just because you don't go to bed, sleep deprivation is costly to the human body. Mental productivity is lowered as a result of the loss.

One experimenter at Colgate University Sleep Laboratory in New York tested the effect of two hours' sleep loss on mental ability. Two groups were given difficult mental tests the morning after one group slept eight hours and the other slept for six hours.

The eight-hour group used 12 per cent more energy than usual solving the problems. The six-hour sleep group used 25 per cent more energy than usual to obtain the same score as the first group.

Therefore, two hours less sleep caused the second group to burn up two-and-a-half times more energy doing the same task.

Students who deny themselves sleep for several days may develop hallucinations.

One student, who hadn't slept for three days, saw a girl standing by a refrigerator and attempted to help her in it — he thought the refrigerator was an automobile.

If you haven't slept for several days, the crash-diet approach or making up for lost sleep in one night is no solution.

Good sleeping habits are learned, and should be regulated to fit into your normal routine.

For those students who can't store up enough energy in one night to last through the day, try the siesta or nap habit.

Tension mounts as the day goes on and reaches a high peak at noon. A short nap after lunch will allow you to start the afternoon refreshed.

Go Ahead — Count Sheep To develop good sleeping habits the American Medical Association recommends:

• Go to bed at the same hour every night.

• Don't eat a heavy meal before retiring.

• Don't listen to the radio, read an exciting book, or watch television before bed.

• Remember what position you wake up in the morning and assume that position on going to bed.

• Relax your muscles and thoughts.

• Monotonous stimuli tend to induce sleep, that is counting sheep or a loud ticking clock in the room.

The World in

Time is running out for readers who want complete sets of THE WORLD IN 1964 and subsequent volumes in this series.

Of the 100,000 copies of the 1964 edition printed, only a few hundred have not yet been sold, although as yet the 1965 issue is still in good supply. The 1966 volume is now in preparation and will be distributed next February.

As you probably know, THE WORLD IN 1964 was the first in a unique continuing series of annual volumes recreating the passing years with dramatic narratives and photographs. That way it differs radically from the usual dry-as-dust "annuals."

The series is being produced by The Associated Press, the world's leading news gathering organization, and distributed here by this newspaper, an AP member.

Whether you want the series for your own library, for your office, or school, or to lay away for a son or daughter, you should order now. The coupon below is for your convenience.

Student Santas To Visit Hospitals

Iowa organizations and individuals will have the opportunity to play Santa Claus to patients at the Hospitals on Christmas Eve.

Gifts from civic, fraternal and church groups and individuals will be needed if Santa is to provide gifts for every patient at the Hospitals on Christmas Eve.

Iowans have sent gifts for adults and children to the Hospitals for many years. Some individuals who have been patients during a past Christmas holiday never fail to send gifts. There are usually about 500 patients in the University Hospitals on Christmas.

Appropriate gifts for patients include toys, games, knitting materials, billfolds, leather kits, gloves, toilet articles, shawls, books, scarves, hose, fancy handwork, stationery and stamps.

Cash gifts will be used to buy presents for patients whose age or condition make donated presents inappropriate. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the University Hospitals Christmas Committee.

Also welcomed are larger items, such as radios and record players.

Donors are asked not to send foods and not to gift-wrap their contributions. Foods are impractical because of diet regulations, and every package must be opened for sorting and gift-wrapping by the Red Cross Gray Ladies and other volunteers. Gifts may be addressed to: Christmas Committee, University of Iowa Hospitals, Iowa City, Iowa, 52240.

Guidon Society Selects 18 Coeds

Eighteen University coeds have been selected as new members of Guidon Society, the University's auxiliary to Army ROTC.

They are: Kathryn K. Fischer, A2, Belleville, Ill.; Mary L. Gustafson, A2, Nevada; Sally Holm, A2, Coralville; Sara Horstman, A3, Britt; Gerda Jean Jacob, A2, Mendota, Ill.; Janet Leopold, N2, Belleville, Ill.; Patricia A. Lowrey, A2, Grinnell.

Carol A. McCollum, A3, Des Moines; Deborah M. McKnight, A2, Elmhurst, Ill.; Marsha L. Morgan, A3, Iowa City; Janice R. Munson, A2, Cresco; Suzanne E. Newcomer, N2, Peoria, Ill.; Valerie J. Pierce, A2, Elmhurst, Ill.

Elaine N. Rosen, A1, Wilmette, Ill.; Nancy J. Shepherd, A2, Des Moines; Mary Lou Shoenthal, A2, Elgin, Ill.; Pamela J. Thompson, A2, Barrington, Ill. and Jane S. Witwer, A2, Greene.

The new members were selected from a group of more than 80 coeds who applied for membership in the Guidon Society. Applications were sent to all coed housing units and girls interested in becoming members.

Selection was made on the basis of charm, poise, beauty, personality and grade point average. Final selection was made by members of Guidon Society and by members of Army ROTC.

People To People Hosts Foreigners

The University Chapter of People to People hosted a party for foreign students recently in the Union Hawkeye Room. More than 100 foreign students and hosting American students participated in the friendship program featuring a social dance and hootenanny.

This was the kickoff program of the year for the People to People Chapter which was organized in the University in 1963. Presently, the president is James David Markham, a Junior, political science major, who was elected to the executive council of the National Council of Collegiate Chapter of People to People last month at the 10th anniversary conference held in Kansas City.

The Chapter, approved by the University Student Senate with the annual budget of $350, plans to carry out home-stay project for foreign students during the forthcoming Thanksgiving holidays besides Christmas, Easter or some other vacation periods.

The Chapter is now accepting applications from volunteering hosts of American students and from foreign students as well who would like to spend the holidays at an American home. Markham said the application is available and is being received at the Union Student Activities Center.

Meanwhile, the International Center is also arranging an annual Thanksgiving holidays invitation to Osage for foreign students. People to People is a member of the board of the International Center. There would be closer coordination with the International Center in order to guarantee the greatest number of accommodations for foreign students and to avoid unhappy overlapping of invitations, said Markham.

Research Center Studies New Educational Media

By GAIL LONGANECKER
Staff Writer

A new research center, probably the only one of its kind in existence, was established by the Division of Extension and University Services this fall.

The Center for Research in Educational Media Design, sponsored by a grant of about $50,000 from the Upper Midwest Regional Laboratory (UMREL), has been established to study all types of instructional materials. The center will develop guidelines for the improvement of educational messages in such educational media as films, filmstrips, slides and television.

"Educational media is a term that is almost synonymous with audiovisual," J.R. Morrison, director of the center, said. "For many years audiovisual was concerned only with the mechanics and 'hardware' of the aids used by the classroom teacher," Morrison said. "The center will deal more with the theoretical aspects of educational media materials."

Morrison said that a need for education media research existed at both the regional and national level, and he indicated that this center could be the beginning for a national center that would be a clearing house for all educational media.

"The national center could include a research center, a message design center and a testing laboratory for all educational media," Morrison noted.

"Research facilities could be offered to students of educational media from any university in the United States, with graduate credit transferable to his own university."

The first goal of the center will be to disseminate, in a popular format, an analysis of research on all kinds of educational media and its implications.

"Professionals, such as teachers, don't have the time it requires to keep up with the research that shows them the best ways to teach," Morrison said. "Educational media has proved to be a way of increasing student learning, but teachers don't always have access to all the research available."

Inform Teachers of Research
Morrison said that the center would be unique because it would be the only source for informing teachers of the latest research in educational media.

Lebanese University Begins Arts School

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A School of Fine Arts has recently been inaugurated in Beirut. It is attached to the Lebanese University and includes about 100 students.

Antoine Nahas, the new school's director, says teaching standards in the school are comparable to those found in European faculties. The subjects taught are architecture, painting, decorative arts and dramatic art, he said.

Skills taught in the school range from historical knowledge of various architectural styles to measuring the strength of reinforced concrete and the construction of metal skeletons, Nahas said.

The center's materials will be sent to practicing teachers, teacher educators and teacher trainees throughout the UMREL area, which comprises Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

This information will be distributed through a periodic newsletter, "The Media Message," which will contain popularized abstracts of research. The first issue of this newsletter was published Friday.

"The center wants to bridge the gap between the researcher and the teacher," Morrison said. "By doing this we think we can help in improving the instruction and curriculum in elementary and secondary schools."

Another of the center's goals will be to try to improve the educational messages and message design so that the student can more easily retain material presented in the classroom and in independent study.

Will Also Conduct Research

In addition to disseminating already known research, the center will conduct its own research in the area of educational media message design. Morrison said that he hoped to start this phase of the program by December.

"The center will be open to any university student in the United States who wants training in research of educational media. We will offer them our facilities and transfer their credits to their own universities," Morrison said.

"The true success of this project will be possible only with the full cooperation of educational media directors in colleges and universities, public schools, county and state departments of public instruction, and the producers of educational media," said Lee W. Cochran, the center's project director of the Audiovisual Center.

Members of the center's staff are Warren Deatherage, G. Peoria, Ill., educational media; Norman Felsenthal, G. Iowa City, educational media; Bruce Harrison, G. Iowa City, journalism; Susy Rockwood, G. Norton Air Force Base, Calif., psychology; and Norman Stein, G. Davenport, motion picture and television.

Foreign Students Travel To Osage For Thanksgiving

For the 17th consecutive year, residents of the northern Iowa community of Osage will share their Thanksgiving holiday with University students from other lands.

The Osage Rotary Club sponsors the annual event. After making the 165-mile trip to Osage on a bus chartered by the community, the students will be welcomed into the homes of residents to share traditional Iowa hospitality as well as the turkey and trimmings of the uniquely American holiday.

Some 40 of the 110 students from other lands who are at the University for the first time this year will make the trip, leaving Iowa City at noon Nov. 23 and returning the evening of Nov. 26.

While spending the three-day holiday with their host families, the students will tour the Iowa community of 4,000 and its surrounding countryside, participate in recreational activities and have opportunities to attend religious services.

Because of the length of the Osage visit, Wallace Maner, foreign student adviser, sees the Osage trip as an opportunity for the students to get a good idea of American family life.

A coed from Osage originated the custom in 1950. Joyce Horton (now Mrs. Donald Baisswenger of Oak Park, Ill.) observed students from other lands spending the Thanksgiving holiday on the deserted campus, and wrote a letter to the editor of her hometown paper about it.

When the idea of entertaining these students was brought to the attention of Osage families by the Osage Press-News, they opened their homes to share Thanksgiving with the visitors — and have done so every year since.

and still growing

One measure of a nation's strength is its production and use of electricity.

Take the top six nations of the world, ranked in terms of the electricity they produce. The U.S.A. heads the list, with more power than the other five combined . . . more than 2 1/2 times as much as the Soviet Union.

By far the greater part of our electric power comes from more than 300 investor-owned electric companies across the country. Companies like Iowa-Illinois. Companies that will go right on staying well ahead of our nation's needs — planning, building, raising the money, all in the traditional American business way.

Every day, these companies are proving that this way of doing things serves you — and your future — best.

Thanks to "plan-ahead" investor ownership, Iowa-Illinois will continue supplying you with all the electricity and gas you need . . . low in price, high in value, always dependable.

Prospective Recruits To Try Peace Corps Test Saturday

The Peace Corps Placement Test will be given here at 9 a.m. Saturday in Room 208 at the Post Office Building.

Results of the test will determine how applicants may best be employed with the Peace Corps in overseas assignments.

The test measures general aptitude and language learning ability.

Applications for the Peace Corps may be obtained from the Post Office. Interested persons may take the test on Saturday if they agree to fill out an application before the test begins.

If a candidate meets the requirements he is invited to train for a project.

The candidate is free to accept or decline the invitation, or he may ask to be trained at a later date.

Volunteers receive intensive training designed to prepare them for service overseas. Most of the training takes place at a U.S. college or university where prospective volunteers spend 60 or more hours a week in study.

Each training program is tailored for the specific country and project where the volunteer will be assigned. Studies include the language of the host country, its history, geography, economy, traditions and customs, a review of American history, culture and institutions and specialized training in each volunteer's skill area.

Another Peace Corps Placement Test will be given in Iowa City on Jan. 21, 1967.

Print Collection Shows Change In Abstract Art

"Figurative versus Abstract" is the title of an exhibition opening Sunday in the Terrace Lounge of the Union, sponsored by the Arts Committee of the Union Board. The collection, drawn from many countries, includes works by Chagall, Chirico, and Picasso. Most of the prints are in color.

The collection is the evolution from early cubist and futurist work to recent work by surrealists, impressionists and expressionists.

Violin Soloist Is Featured For Concert

John Ferrell, violinist, will be featured soloist in a Prokofiev concerto when the University Symphony Orchestra presents its second concert of the season at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Union.

The orchestra, under the direction of James Dixon, professor of music, will also play Joseph Haydn's "Symphony No. 88 in G Major," and will give the premiere of "Rota," a work completed this year by Charles Dodge of Ames and a graduate of the University School of Music.

Free tickets are available to the public at the Information Desk in the Union South Lobby. The concert will also be broadcast live by University radio stations WSUI-AM and KSUI-FM.

Ferrell, a member of the faculty and the Iowa String Quartet since 1953, made his New York recital debut in 1958 at the Carnegie Recital Hall. He has appeared as soloist in Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Los Angeles, and Kansas City, and with major symphony orchestras in this country.

While doing graduate work at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., Ferrell played with the Eastman-Rochester Symphony. Before joining the faculty here, he taught violin at the University of Redlands, Calif.

At the concert, Ferrell will present Prokofiev's "Concerto No. 2 in G Minor for Violin and Orchestra," a piece commissioned by a group of French musicians in the early 1930's for violinist Robert Sostens.

Dodge's "Rota," dedicated to Professor Dixon, is an instrumental version of the round, a three-part composition in which different instruments enter in succession with the same melody.

ACT Exams To Be Given

College-bound high school students in Iowa have until Saturday, Nov. 19, to register through their high schools for the December tests of the American College Testing Program (ACT). All students planning to enter the University are required to take the tests.

The ACT battery will be given Dec. 10 in Iowa City at the University, Mercy Hospital School of Nursing and Mercy Hospital School of X-Ray Technology.

More than 1300 colleges and universities across the country require or recommend that their prospective students take the tests. Scores are used by participating schools in student guidance, admissions, placements, and selection of scholarship and loan recipients.

The tests consist of an information section, a student profile, and questions in each of four subject areas — English, mathematics, social studies, and natural science.

Headquarters for the national ACT program which originated at the University in 1959 are in Iowa City.

'66 Dad Of Year Rally Friday

The 1966 Dad of the Year will be announced at a pep rally at 7 p.m. Friday in front of Old Capitol.

Charles Dick, L3, Iowa City, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, will make the announcement. Also speaking will be Coach Ray Nagel and football team captains for Saturday's Iowa-Ohio State game.

The cheerleaders, backed up by the University band, will spur on the excitement and enthusiasm for the football game and Dad's Day weekend.
