Maoists Claim Control Of Four Major Cities

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peking said Tuesday Mao Tse-tung's forces "are taking by storm one after another the citadels" of his enemies, but so far Maoists claim control in only four cities. And broadcasts admitted trouble in two of these.

Far from Peking's control, such areas as Sinkiang Province, Inner Mongolia and parts of Manchuria are still in a state of rebellion against Mao and resistance is reported widespread elsewhere.

The Hong Kong Star in a report unconfirmed elsewhere said Gen. Wang En-mao, anti-Mao boss of Sinkiang Province, had threatened to seize Red China's nuclear base at Lop Nor in the south if Maoists try to take over the provincial government.

Quoting "reports reaching the Star," the newspaper said Wang made his statement at a meeting with Gen. Liu Chang-ching, the political commissar of Inner Mongolia who also is believed to be bucking Mao's purge.

Radio Peking, quoting an article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, asserted that Mao's enemies are being "battered into confusion."

But it added: "Like all reactionaries, they will never be reconciled to their own extinction, and like all reactionaries, they will never lay down their butcher knives."

These enemies, supposedly led by President Liu Shao-chi, apparently were striking back in the northeast port of Tsingtao on the Yellow Sea, which earlier broadcasts said was firmly seized Jan. 22 after a battle led by the army.

A Chinese-language broadcast said that despite more than a week "since power was seized in Tsingtao, a handful of persons in authority are continuously attempting to counterattack." The broadcast indicated Mao's foes were striking back through sabotage and strikes in Tsingtao.

Soviet Protest Now In Hanoi

MOSCOW (AP) — Chinese anti-Soviet demonstrations were reported Tuesday night to have spread from Peking and other world capitals to Hanoi.

Izvestia said Chinese students and diplomats chanted anti-Soviet slogans in a "provocative demonstration" outside the Russian Embassy in the North Vietnamese capital. In a brief dispatch, the government newspaper called it "a hooligan spectacle."

For six days thousands of Chinese have been staging sometimes riotous demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking, and others have been launched in Paris and Baghdad, Iraq's capital. Tuesday came word of another in Sana, capital of Yemen.

In Tuesday's demonstration in Peking, Tass, the Soviet News agency, said teenage Red Guards and others shouted anti-Soviet speeches and slogans over loudspeakers, then read off "death sentences" for members of the embassy staff.

The incidents were provoked by what Peking claimed was the beating of 69 Chinese students by Soviet police in Moscow's Red Square last Wednesday.

The Hanoi demonstration brought the Peking-Moscow feud to the capital of a nation trying to balance itself on a tight rope between the two Communist giants.

VA Hospital To Enforce Parking Rules

The Iowa City Veterans Administration Hospital will start enforcing regulations to individuals who violate parking privileges.

Dr. J. Gordon Spendlove, director of the hospital, said Tuesday that enforcement would be effective next Monday.

Anyone who has a car parked in violation of the hospital parking regulations will receive a traffic summons and be subject to payment of parking violation.

"We regret that we have been forced to take this action, but we have no choice," Spendlove said. We have far too many cars parked on our grounds by persons not authorized parking privileges, he added.

Spendlove said that most of the problem was caused by University students who attend classes at University Hospital and the Hospital School.

The hospital parking lots are maintained for employees, patients being admitted or treated and visitors, Spendlove said.

He suggested that students park in the University parking lots and warned that summons would be issued to all who violated the hospital's regulations.

2nd Fatal Oxygen Fire Apollo-Type Blaze Kill 2 Airmen In Cabin Test

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Flames fed on pure oxygen swept through a space cabin simulator at the School of Aerospace Medicine Tuesday, killing two airmen in an accident similar to the one which killed three Apollo astronauts only four days ago.

One of the airmen died within an hour after the fire and the second one died five and one-half hours later at an Army hospital here.

Doing Maintenance Work

Both men were doing maintenance duty inside the space cabin relative to an experiment.

Officers said at a news conference that the first indication of trouble came in the form of a "sudden muffled sound from inside the chamber" followed by the sound of running feet.

A technician, monitoring the experiment on an intercom system, looked through a glass portal, saw the flames, and threw a lever which diluted the oxygen atmosphere in 13 seconds.

The inside of the simulator was charred and blackened by the fierce flames, as was the Apollo 1 capsule at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

"Everything inside was burned," said Lt. Col. T.A. Glasgow, information officer for the aerospace school at Brooke Air Force Base. "It was gutted."

Burned Beyond Recognition

Newsmen who visited the site hours after the fire said equipment in the chamber was burned beyond recognition in some cases but pieces of paper were only slightly charred.

Rabbits being used in the experiment lay in piles like scorched bundles of fur. The fire started up again four hours later but was swiftly put out.

Killed were Airman 2.C. William F. Bartley Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bartley of Indianapolis, Ind., and Airman 3.C. Richard C. Harmon, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. Harmon of Auburn, N.Y.

Cap. Richard D. Sinclair, aviation physiologist in charge of the experiment, said the men made no verbal sound once the trouble happened.

Pure Oxygen Atmosphere

Col. James B. Nutall, commander of the school, said the only similarity between this fire and the one Friday at Cape Kennedy was that both occurred in pure oxygen atmospheres.

A spokesman said the airmen were inside the space cabin simulator to monitor the activities of 16 rabbits, which were the subject of an experiment to study the effects of pure oxygen on the animals' blood.

The sealed cabin, which bears no resemblance to the size or shape of an actual spacecraft, was under a pure oxygen environment and had a simulated pressure of 18,000 feet altitude. That would make the inside pressure about seven pounds per square inch.

The victims were wearing ordinary "medical whites," a spokesman said.

The 16 rabbits were killed by the flames, which coursed through the chambers at 8:45 a.m.

Glasgow said the airmen were taken from the cabin within five minutes of the blaze, and that doctors worked over one almost an hour before he died.

The other was taken to nearby Brooke Army Medical Center with burns over 95 per cent of his body.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin O. Reischauer, former ambassador to Japan, said Tuesday the Vietnam war "may gradually dwindle away," and Americans should keep it out of the 1968 presidential campaign so as not to force a settlement that could be a bad one. Reischauer, now a U.S. consultant on Far Eastern affairs, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "prudent de-escalation" is the best road to peace. He termed U.S. bombing of North Vietnam a "psychological blunder," further diminishing the already thin hope of negotiations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy's image has been tarnished by the furor over publication of the book "The Death of a President," two public opinion polls report. George Gallup and his Gallup Poll found that opinion is 3 to 1 that the controversy hurt rather than helped the former first lady's image. And Luis Harris reported one of every three Americans interviewed in his Harris survey said he thinks less of the widow of President John F. Kennedy because of the controversy.

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — In a surprise move, plaintiff Robert Bolivar DePugh pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of violating the national firearms act. A nolo contendere plea means the defendant does not admit the charge but does not wish to present his case in defense. The 43-year-old self-styled anti-Communist was sentenced to a year in federal prison when Judge Elmo B. Hunter accepted DePugh's plea which automatically denies him the right of appeal.

WATERLOO (AP) — An unemployed Waterloo man was bound over to U.S. District court Tuesday on a charge of robbing the Urbana Savings Bank Jan. 19 of $8,300. U.S. Commissioner Fred Clark Jr. ordered James M. Jones, 32, returned to jail in lieu of $25,000 bond. Clark denied a motion by Walter Rothschild, Jones' attorney, that the hearing in the U.S. District Court room be closed to newsmen and the public on the grounds testimony might prejudice the defendant's chance for a fair trial.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell finally paid off a basic, four-year-old libel judgment to Esther James, but only after her reluctant lawyer had been persuaded to keep the check. "This check is deemed to be Mr. Powell's property," asked Mrs. James' attorney, Raymond Rubin, fingering a $32,460 advance on the congressman's new recording, "Keep the Faith, Baby."

DES MOINES (AP) — Proceedings may be dropped against three of the 22 oil and asphalt companies being sued by the State of Iowa for allegedly fixing prices on road building materials, Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Roger Ivis indicated Tuesday. Ivis told a preliminary pre-trial conference in U.S. District Court "There may be some defendants here who don't belong in this case."

THE END-OF-THE-SEMESTER rush at the University Library found quite a few students standing outside Sunday afternoon just before the library doors opened. The library is observing regular hours during final examination week, but will close earlier during the interim period between semesters this coming weekend. The library will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday; from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; from 1:30 to 10 p.m. Sunday; and from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday. Shorter hours will be observed by departments within the library. — Photo by Joe Whitehouse

Grieving Nation Expresses Its Sorrow At Military Funerals For Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three astronauts who died in their burning moonship were buried Tuesday with full honors from their country.

Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee lie side by side in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from the capital.

Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II rests in the West Point Cemetery in New York, above the Hudson River.

President Johnson went twice to Arlington to stand beside the families of Grissom and Chaffee in the winter sun on a chill day.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Johnson flew to West Point to represent the tribute and sorrow the nation at White's burial.

On the hilltop in Arlington, a little boy wiped his eyes with the gray wool, billed cap he held in his hands.

Then Stephen Chaffee, 5, son of the astronaut, took his mother's hand and walked away from the gray coffin which the military men saluted.

Mrs. Humphrey, official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and members of Congress joined with Johnson at the graveside to pay their tribute.

The three astronauts died last Friday when a ball of flame engulfed their Apollo I spacecraft at Cape Kennedy, Fla., as they rehearsed one of the steps designed to take man to the moon.

Fellow astronauts were the honorary pallbearers for the three men who were buried.

At Arlington, six black horses drew a caisson bearing the casket of Grissom to the gravesite at 9 a.m.

The U.S. Air Force Band marched with the caisson for Grissom, playing slowly "Onward Christian Soldiers." Three jet fighters flew over as the casket bearers folded the flag that had draped the casket. The flag was given to the widow, who sat with their sons, Scott 16, and Mark, 13.

After each service, the President shook the hands of the families, leaning down to shake the white-gloved hand of Sheryl Chaffee, 8-year-old daughter of the astronaut. Little Stephen, clutching his cap in his left hand, stood up to shake hands.

U.S. Reports A-Warheads Are Perfected

Nuclear-Tipped Missile More Powerful And Able To Penetrate 'Ray Curtain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has developed nuclear-tipped missiles with improved powers for penetrating a kind of nuclear-ray "curtain" deployable by anti-missile defenses.

The new warheads also pack more explosive wallop for a given quantity of nuclear material than heretofore, the government indicated.

In AEC Report

The development — growing out of underground weapons tests at the Nevada Proving Ground last year — was reported record-breaking activity in the nuclear power field during the past year.

The report made no reference to the pending U.S. decision on whether to build a complete, $40-billion antimissile defense system or rely on offensive capability as a deterrent to war.

But it appears evident this latest advance in American nuclear weaponry could play a part in that decision — and perhaps strengthen the Johnson administration's hand in its call for Soviet cooperation to end any antimissile race.

Moscow Defense

Late last year Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said the Soviet Union had deployed elements of an antimissile defense system around Moscow. And he has indicated belief that even an advanced antimissile defense by either the United States or Russia could not completely thwart a nuclear missile attack.

The new warheads — presumably of the hydrogen variety — are already slated for production, if not already on the production line, the report indicated.

The AEC said steps are being taken to overhaul older nuclear intercontinental ballistic missiles to incorporate the new gains.

Finally, the report indicated that, aside from finding ways for improving the capabilities of nuclear warheads to penetrate antimissile defenses, American weapon-makers have improved the explosive efficiency of all kinds of nuclear weapons — from missiles and bombs to land mines.

Civic Units Argue Renewal

By MICHAEL TU Staff Writer

This is the fifth part of a nine-part series on the proposed urban renewal plan for Iowa City — Ed.

All of them feel the same need, but only one of them actually pushes for it.

That seems to be the attitude toward the proposed federal urban renewal plan for Iowa City among five local organizations.

The five prominent groups, with a total membership of more than 10,000, have expressed their opinions in three entirely different directions: strong support, strong opposition, and no comment.

But all agree on one point: something must be done.

Holding the strongest favorable view is the League of Women Voters. Vigorously opposing it is the Downtown Businessmen and Professional Men's Association (DBPMA).

"War of Sexes"

It is almost a battle between men's and women's organizations. Yet in these two opposite groups, the strongest feeling against each other sometimes comes from their own sex. One woman member of the DBPMA with her feminine voice made her group's opinion sharper and stronger.

Three other groups, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Republican and Democratic parties, which constitute both men and women, have not taken an official stand on the issue.

With a membership of 276, the League of Women Voters was the first group to study the need for comprehensive planning in the city and the problems of the central business district.

According to Mrs. Howard Shipton, president of the league, it was back in 1960 that the league started to study the possibility of an urban renewal program for the city. The league's goal, Mrs. Shipton said, is simply good local government.

Answer Never Came

The Downtown Businessmen and Professional Men's Association, with a membership of 200, was formed in April, 1965. Immediately after the organization was formed, the group queried the City Council about the proposed urban renewal. But, according to Frank Vogel, chairman of the association, the answers have never come.

"We assumed that the whole renewal program was just not workable," Vogel said.

"If the council gave us a proper answer, we would know the extent of the program which would affect us and we would prepare for it."

The Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of 725, studied the problem four years ago. It was generally agreed among the members that something should be done. The main concern, said Keith Kafer, secretary of the chamber "is to gather information, study the pros and cons of the issue and present them to the people. The Chamber of Commerce is concerned with whatever they (the council) do, which should be in the best interest of Iowa City."

Decline To Comment

The leaders of both the political partisan groups, the Republicans and the Democrats, with membership of more than 9,000, declined to comment on the issue and have not taken a stand. They both think the city has to do something about a renewal program.

Marion Neely, Johnson County Republican party chairman, said, some of the party members favor it, some don't. He said that 10 days before the November election last year some members mentioned the issue at the party meeting and wanted the party to take a stand, but the proposal was dropped because it was a non-partisan issue.

The Democratic party chairman, Daniel Boyle, shared the same opinion. He said, "We don't want to take a stand on the question." He also said it was not a partisan issue.

So there are only two small-membership organizations that are actually doing something about the proposed urban renewal program.

Groups Offer

And these two groups sharply differ. Mrs. Shipton said, "We favor the federal urban renewal project in which the city can get federal funds, but it should be controlled by the local authority instead of from the federal source."

She said that the only way a long-range, planned program could be accomplished was through the use of federal funds in the downtown renewal.

In one of the league's statements presented to the council last year, the league suggested that the downtown should:

- Be a regional center for communication (commercial, services, financial, cultural, recreational, entertainment, information and government).

- Be a site for special activities of regional importance (antique shows, flower shows, art fairs, music festivals, fashions and sports).

- Present an image of vitality, prosperity, historical character, high quality design and environment amenities, and cultural opportunities to draw people here for unique events and facilities.

Taxes Considered

She said a healthy central business district should bring in tax revenue of at least 20 to 30 per cent of the city's tax base. "The central business district now contributes only eight and a half per cent of the tax base," she said.

The Downtown Businessmen and Professional Men's Association has quite a different view of the present program. Vogel said, "Urban renewal is to clear the slum and blight area; that means downtown Iowa City, in a sense, is a slum area and needs to be cleared."

He said that meant the central business district was deteriorating and businessmen were making a profit out of a slum area.

Heart Fund Drive Will Be Headed By Mrs. Hancher

Mrs. Virgil Hancher, wife of the late Virgil M. Hancher, former University president, has been named chairman of the 1967 Heart Fund campaign for Johnson County.

The campaign will include a local business and industrial fund drive during the week of Feb. 20. A door-to-door fund drive throughout the country will take place on nationally-designated Heart Sunday, Feb. 26.

Funds collected by the drive will be used primarily for research in heart and blood vessel diseases. A large part of the money collected in Iowa will be used for research grants by physicians at University Hospital.

Nearly 29 of every 50 deaths in the United States is a result of diseases of the heart and blood vessels, according to Dr. Lewis E. January, professor of internal medicine and president of the American Heart Association.

"The high death rate from heart disease points out the importance of the Heart Fund drive to me. This is the reason I give my time toward the campaign, and I hope to receive strong support from everyone in the county," Mrs. Hancher said.

Booze on Sundays

Did somebody hear Gov. Harold Hughes say Iowa was a progressive state? He's said it many times. Then why has he taken a reactionary attitude toward allowing alcohol and beer being sold on Sundays?

Hughes has said that he would veto any legislative bill to extend hours for sale of liquor on Sunday. His statement was in a response to a proposed bill that allows the sale of beer and liquor from 1 p.m. until midnight on Sundays.

Another distasteful remark by the governor was that he would oppose any bill to legalize grocery and drug stores selling wine.

No doubt, Iowa has seen progress regarding sale of liquor. The state finally got legalized booze across the bar four years ago. At least we have escaped the dark ages. We no longer have to use liquor books to pick up liquor anymore either. Wow!

In stating his opposition to booze on Sundays, Hughes said, "If a person can't get enough to drink six days a week, that's tough."

Why does Iowa have to be the desert in the middle of an ocean on Sundays? The five surrounding states all serve alcohol, beer or both on Sundays. Iowans near the border flock to other states' bars on Sunday. They buy Illinois booze, Missouri booze, Nebraska booze, Minnesota booze or Wisconsin booze and pay taxes to those states on each drink.

It is not really that "tough" to get a drink seven days a week anyway. By either crossing the Iowa border or stocking a weekend's supply of hooch in the liquor cabinet, Iowans can easily get soaked on Sunday. The governor should recognize this fact. If people can drink on Sunday anyway, why not let them drink in Iowa? At least the state would be picking up revenue instead of losing it to other states.

Other states apparently have not been too troubled by residents who drink seven days a week. There is no grand move on to abolish serving booze on Sunday there.

Buchwald finds new president

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — When President Clark Kerr was fired by California's Board of Regents last week, I immediately got a call from my uncle Oscar.

"I hear they're looking for a new president for the University of California. You know anybody out there I can speak to?"

"Gee, Uncle Oscar, what credentials do you have to become the president of the largest university in the country?"

"What credentials did Ronald Reagan have to become governor of the state?" he said hopefully.

"That's different, Uncle Oscar, and let's keep politics out of this. The beautiful thing about the university system in California is that it remains above politics. Now what are your qualifications for the job?"

"I saw 'King's Row,' 'Brother Rat' and 'Knut Rockne' three times. I'm one of Reagan's biggest fans. I still choke up everytime I see a rerun of 'Death Valley Days.'"

"I'm sure the governor will be very pleased to hear it, Uncle Oscar, but he has a great deal of respect for education and he wouldn't hire someone to run his school system just because the person was a movie fan."

"I should hope not," Uncle Oscar said. "A state university system is a very serious thing and they should get someone who knows how to handle kids."

"Now you're talking, Uncle Oscar. What is your feeling about California students paying tuition to go to school?"

"I not only think the kids should pay tuition, but the teachers should, too. You are not going to have a balanced budget in California unless the professors pay their own way."

"That's pretty radical, Uncle Oscar. There are very few schools in the country that require professors to pay tuition in order to teach."

"Well, just because they've been doing it one way for so long is no reason why they can't change. You have to get the money for the schools somewhere."

"There has been a lot of unrest on California campuses in the past few years. Do you have any idea how you can do away with it?"

"I'd build up a strong university police force. Instead of putting all that money into new buildings and research, I'd put it into police equipment — you know, armored cars, riot helmets, tear gas masks and things like that. You get enough cops on campus and the students will run for the hills."

"That's pretty strong medicine."

"Well, they did it at the universities in Argentina and you don't have any student unrest down there."

"You make sense, Uncle Oscar. Now there is one more thing that everyone's going to insist on, and that is that the University of California must be kept out of the political arena. How do you plan to do this?"

"I'll do away with the student government for a start."

"Okay, Uncle Oscar, I'll pass on your application to the Board of Regents, but I wouldn't count on your getting the job."

"Why not? Who else are they going to get?"

Viet Cong Document Shows U.S. Gaining Rural Control

SAIGON (AP) — A captured document made public here Tuesday reports American operations have cost the Viet Cong control of a million rural South Vietnamese since 1965 and recruiting to fill guerrilla vacancies "presents a serious problem."

In the field, U.S. Marines reported two engagements in northern sectors. Spokesmen said they killed 49.

A company of the 26th Marine Regiment wiped out a guerrilla squad by killing 14 and capturing one as the squad tried to flee by raft across a river from the hamlet of Duc Ky, 11 miles southwest of Da Nang. None of the Leathernecks was hit.

Marines Kill 35

Marines of the 7th Regiment, backed by naval guns, field artillery and air strikes, overran a collection of enemy bunkers and entrenchments on the coast 25 miles south of Quang Ngai. They said they killed 35 of the enemy. Their own losses were described as moderate.

Briefing officers told of other developments:

- Two regiments of South Korea's White Horse Infantry Division have killed 71 Viet Cong and captured 129 weapons in a new operation, called White Horse 1, launched Sunday on the central coast 15 miles northwest of Nha Trang.
- Five-inch shells from guns of the U.S. destroyer Keppler sank five Communist cargo barges and damaged 10 from a fleet of 20 sighted off Dong Hoi, 40 miles north of the border. The shelling was part of a continuing effort by 7th Fleet warships to intercept North Vietnamese supply vessels before they reach Communist forces in South Vietnam.
- 2 Raids Staged
- While dozens of fighter-bombers struck at Communist targets elsewhere in South Vietnam, U.S. B52 Stratofortresses staged two raids in the central highlands. One wave blasted at suspected North Vietnamese base camp near the Cambodian frontier 17 miles west of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. The second struck at a troop concentration in the area of Do Xa, 56 miles north of Kon-tum.

Heavy fog and clouds limited U.S. squadrons to 38 missions over North Vietnam Monday. Among the targets was the Ninh Binh barracks area, 60 miles south of Hanoi. Navy fliers said they destroyed two supply vessels 20 miles south of the port of Haiphong.

From North Vietnam came a charge that nearly 100 civilians were killed in Thanh Hoa Province during raids Sunday. A Hanoi broadcast said the high command protested to the International Control Commission.

Civic Units—

He said the joint conclusion of the members of the association was that the "whole thing is a scheme to take prime property off the tax rolls and place it in the hands of the University."

The present urban renewal program was proposed, he said for the benefit of a few people who had designs on their neighbor's property.

Damage Predicted

If the program is adopted, Vogel said, the small businessman will be bankrupt and the affected residents will be hurt. He said that one professor living on Court Street would like to donate her house free to the University as long as the University lets her live in the house for the rest of her life.

He said, "I don't know the reason why the University won't accept it."

Vogel said that Earl Stewart, associate professor of urban administration and planning, made a public statement to the council in 1965 that if 70 per cent of the people in the affected area did not approve this program, it should be abandoned. The same opinion was shared by former Mayor Richard Burger and other councilmen, he said.

According to Vogel, his organization conducted polls recently in the central business district. About 83 per cent of the respondents in the first poll and 80 per cent of the respondents in the second poll expressed their opposition to the proposed program.

University Chided

Vogel said Pres. Howard R. Bowen of the University was pushing urban renewal. "If the University wants to expand," he said, "it can expand to the west side of the Iowa River and Capitol Street."

He said he did not know why the University wanted to expand to this side of the river where people already had buildings.

What kind of an urban renewal program would Vogel's organization prefer? It should be a local renewal plan supported by the majority of the directly-affected businessmen instead of a federally-supported plan, Vogel said. He added the organization's guidelines for the renewal plan, expressed on Nov. 22, stand on the voluntary participation basis of all businessmen.

Some of the guidelines included were:

- All urban renewal properties should be inspected by a local engineer, then written notice should be given to each building owner showing alterations required to bring buildings into compliance with the city building code.
- An immediate study of how to provide rear access to each business building for delivery of merchandise and supplies should be made.
- Underground utilities should be installed in the business district.
- The organization, DBPMA, should get each property owner to clean up, paint up and modernize all exposed areas, with special emphasis on the front and rear elevations of downtown buildings.
- An all-out, clean street program should be undertaken by the city.
- Building a parking ramp on College Street, between Dubuque and Linn Streets, on currently-owned city property should be started immediately.
- Expand the business district to the south immediately.
- Fully investigate the methods available for borrowing money for remodeling or rebuilding.
- Fully investigate the possibility of getting federal funds under a local urban renewal plan.

Since these five local groups feel the same need that something has to be done, it is only the method they are arguing about. The League of Women Voters wants to see an entirely different face of Iowa City in the future — a city of tomorrow.

The DBPMA prefers a small scale of remodeling and rebuilding. They also want to use federal funds, not for a big and time-consuming project, but for some desirable local renewal projects — such as underground parking, parking ramps, placing utilities underground and Ralston Creek improvement.

The three other groups remain silent.

Home Rule Amendment May Face Legal Block

DES MOINES (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to give cities and towns home rule remained on the House calendar Tuesday, stuck there by a motion to reconsider its passage.

The measure, previously passed by the 1965 legislature and the Senate earlier in this session, sailed through the House 113-9 last Friday.

Except for the motion to reconsider, filed by Rep. Maurice Van Nostrand, R-Avoca, that would have completed legislative action on the measure, setting the state for a vote on its ratification in the 1968 general election.

There are reports the Iowa attorney general's office has given an oral opinion that the proposed constitutional amendment "won't work," and that it conflicts with a part of the Iowa Constitution's Bill of Rights.

Definition Questioned

The opinion reportedly held the term "home rule power" used in the proposed amendment is not sufficiently defined.

A bill designed to prevent damage suits against persons who attempt to aid the injured in an accident ran into trouble Tuesday when a move was made to bring it out from the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The committee asked three of its members — Sens. Max Milo Mills (R-Marshalltown), Joseph Coleman (D-Clare), and William Denman (D-Des Moines) to draft a substitute proposal for consideration later.

The fact that the bill was introduced by the Legislative Research Committee was used against it by a senator who pointed out there still is some question as to whether that committee has the power to introduce bills.

The measure would prohibit a damage suit against "any person who in good faith offers and administers medical attention at the scene of an accident."

Question Raised

Elsewhere in the Senate, Sen. Verne Lisle (R-Clarinda) raised a legal question on the validity of the so-called short ballot constitutional amendment passed by the 1965 legislature and before the General Assembly again for possible submission to the voters.

The measure would authorize the governor to appoint the secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general, and it would have the legislature appoint the state auditor. All these officials now are elected for two-year terms.

Lisle asked Atty. Gen. Richard Turner whether the proposal violates a provision that each constitutional amendment must encompass only one question.

Government Tones Down Standards on Auto Safety, Grants Postponement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department issued 20 auto safety standards Tuesday night, toned down from its previous proposals. And the department gave the industry an extra four months to comply with them on 1968 model cars.

Three proposed standards were withdrawn for further study. Two deal with tires and rims. And the other would have required headrests as a protection against whiplash injury.

Softened Since Dec. 3

Officials said the 20 standards issued were softened in varying degrees from proposals the department made Dec. 3. Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the National Traffic Safety Agency, said many points made by the domestic and foreign industries were reasonable, well-documented, and accepted by the department.

But he said his experts did not go along with all industry suggestions.

Fourteen of the standards issued Tuesday night were in final form while six others contain amendments for possible adoption later.

One standard — that applying to the strength and hardware for seatbelts — will go into effect March 1 as scheduled previously. The others won't become effective until Jan. 1, 1968. The original proposals recommended a compliance date of next Sept. 1.

A Step Forward

Lowell K. Bridwell, acting undersecretary of commerce for transportation, called the 20 standards a "substantial step forward" and said every automobile manufacturer can meet them by next Jan. 1.

Bridwell said the standards were the best that could be drafted at this time based on the legal constraints that they must be reasonable, practical and appropriate and based on existing standards.

"I'm not happy with them in the sense they are not as far as we need to go in the future in order to protect the lives of people who drive automobiles," he told a news conference.

"But . . . they are as far as we are able to go now within the legal constraints."

This summation was also voiced by Haddon who, in response to a question, said his agency did not evaluate industry claims of possible shutdowns should the original proposals be adopted. The industry's comments, Haddon said, were considered in terms of the technical data and highway safety.

Bridwell said the industry exerted no pressure on the government as he knows.

Teacher Jobs Are Available

Representatives from the Madison Wisconsin Public School System will be on campus Friday, Feb. 10, seeking teachers for the 1967-68 school year.

Teachers of all elementary grades, high school subject areas, and special fields such as art, music, library science, special education and guidance will be sought, according to H. Ralph Allen, recruiting team leader.

Minimum salaries begin at $5,500 for the teacher with a bachelor's degree and no teaching or military experience. A top salary of $12,650 can be attained by teachers with experience.

Interviews will be conducted in East Hall, Room C-103. Interested persons may secure application blanks and sign up for interviews by going to the Office of Educational Placement.

Today on WSUI

Broadcasting is the subject for discussion several times this week (one occasion will be Saturday at 8 p.m. when we ask that ugly question "What's the Matter With Radio?"). This morning at 9 a.m., Gladys Gardner Jenkins will discuss "Television: How to Use It With Children" on her regular weekly program "These Are Our Children." Principal resources will be a booklet, bearing the same title, by Josette Frank.

Music all afternoon, from 1 to 5 p.m., will have as its highlights: a setting by Handel of Milton's "L'Allegro ed il Penseroso," cellist Maurice Gendron playing the "Arpeggione" of Schubert, "The Hammer Without Master" by Boulez, and Erica Morini playing the Bruch Violin Concerto in G Minor.

Robert Sayre, associate professor of English, will be Literary Topics guest tonight in a presentation called "Vachel Lindsay and the Higher Vaudeville" at 7 p.m.

Music again: The Dvorak String Serenade in E and "A Sea Symphony" by Ralph Vaughan Williams, from 8 p.m. to newstime at 9:45.

City Man Candidate For State NEA Post

Walter Schnelle, principal of Longfellow Elementary School in Iowa City, is one of two candidates for state director of the National Education Association.

Schnelle is being opposed for the position by Vernon Kruse, curriculum director of Marshalltown Public Schools.

Hawkeye Teams Return To Action This Weekend

Sports for Iowa teams come to life again between Friday and Tuesday, after a period of hibernation because of semester examinations.

Nine events are on the schedule, but only two are set for the Hawkeye Field House: Northwestern wrestling at 2 p.m. Saturday and Illinois basketball at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The weekend ushers in February's big lineup of 37 contests between Feb. 3 and 27 — the biggest series of the winter.

Iowa's 9-4 basketball team works out the layoff kinks Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Chicago Stadium by playing Loyola of Chicago (7-7) in the first game of a doubleheader. This is the final non-conference game for the Hawkeyes.

Then, the following Tuesday, Iowa returns to Big 10 play, hoping to improve its 2-2 record by beating Illinois. The game originally was announced Feb. 6 but was set back because of registration in the Field House. The 8 p.m. starting time is necessary to allow for the removal of registration equipment from the court area — and at that the job will just barely be completed before the fans are admitted.

Iowa's fencers (2-0) meet Indiana, Indiana Tech and Notre Dame Saturday at Bloomington and the gymnasts (4-1) have the

Mantle To Try First Base

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 35 with the end of his career in sight, Mickey Mantle will try to learn how to play first base this season to earn his $100,000 pay from the New York Yankees.

Mantle signed his fifth consecutive $100,000 contract Tuesday at Yankee Stadium where he will be starting his 17th year as a Yankee April 14.

MANTLE

"If I should have a real good year and we do good, I think moving to first base could add to my career," said Mantle in response to queries about his future plans. "I'll just have to wait and see how it turns out before we start talking about the future."

Mantle and Ralph Houk, his manager, agreed that the first base trial would hinge on the way Mickey's battered legs react to the change from center field to the infield.

"If Mickey could play first base adequately, we probably would be a little better ball club," said Houk at a news conference attended by Mantle.

"I don't know whether he can," Houk added. "Mickey doesn't know either. If we find it a difficult thing to do, after a period of days, Mickey will go back to center field. I have a feeling that if he can get acquainted with the bag it will save wear and tear on his legs."

"In center field a man does a great deal of running. When Mickey hurts his legs it usually is when he has been doing a lot of running in the outfield. We will start spring training with Mickey working at first base and Joe Pepitone in center field. If it doesn't affect Mickey's legs, there is no doubt in my mind that he can do it. I know he can field ground balls."

"It's the only position I never played," said Mantle. "I used to pitch and catch some as a kid. Stopping and starting may be hard but saving all that distance running may make my legs stronger. The hardest thing to learn will be where to throw the ball on cutoffs and things like that."

Engineers, Mathematicians:
Contribute to Technical Programs of National Significance
nsa
Creating secure communications systems and equipments unknown anywhere else. This is the mission of the National Security Agency—a mission which in turn creates problems of a high order of difficulty, requiring an uncommon amount of ingenuity. There is no other organization like it... no other organization doing the same important work, or offering the same wealth of opportunity for imaginative graduates in mathematics or the engineering sciences. A separate agency operating within the defense establishment, NSA has a critical requirement for:
ENGINEERS. To carry out basic and applied research, design, development, testing and evaluation of large-scale cryo-communications and EDP systems. Engineers may also participate in related studies of electromagnetic propagation, upper atmosphere phenomena, superconductivity and cryogenics using the latest equipment for advanced research within the Agency's fully instrumented laboratories. Career programs are designed to develop the professional engineer for a full and satisfying future in research or management.
MATHEMATICIANS. To define, formulate and solve complex communications-related problems in support of the NSA mission. Statistical mathematics, matrix algebra, finite fields, probability, combinatorial analysis, programming and symbolic logic are but a few of the tools applied by Agency mathematicians. They enjoy the full support of NSA's completely equipped computer laboratory where many of them often become involved in both the hardware and software of advanced computing systems. Theoretical research is also a primary concern at NSA, owing to the fact that the present state of knowledge in certain fields of mathematics is not sufficiently advanced to satisfy NSA requirements.
CAREER BENEFITS
With NSA, you enjoy all the benefits of Federal employment without the necessity of Civil Service certification. NSA's generous graduate study program permits you to pursue two semesters of full-time graduate study at full salary with academic costs paid by NSA. The Agency also encourages participation in professional associations and assists you to attend national meetings, seminars, and conferences. Located between Washington and Baltimore, NSA is also near the Chesapeake Bay, ocean beaches and other summer and winter recreation areas. The location permits your choice of city, suburban or country living. Starting salaries, depending on education and experience, range from $7,729 to $12,873. Check now with your Placement Office to arrange an interview with the NSA representative visiting your campus, or write to: Chief, College Relations Branch, Suite 10, 4435 Wisconsin Avenue, N. Hershey Predicts Clay Won't Get Deferment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service System, predicted Tuesday that Cassius Clay would fail in his attempt to be deferred from the draft.

Clay, the heavyweight boxing champion, currently is seeking deferment on the grounds that his activities as a Black Muslim entitle him to classification as a minister. Clay applied another application Tuesday to his local board in Louisville, Ky., for that status. Hershey, speaking at a men's club luncheon, said he thought the appeal would be unsuccessful. The only question in his mind is whether Clay will step forward and take the oath when called for induction, he said.

"I don't think there's any question that he will be confronted with the decision of stepping forward or not," Hershey said. "If he doesn't, it's not our problem — it goes to the Department of Justice."
Clay also petitioned the board to transfer his case to another state but a spokesman for Board 47 declined to say which one.

Police Reveal Alcindor Had Bodyguard in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police revealed Tuesday that Lew Alcindor was assigned a bodyguard over the weekend in Chicago after the UCLA basketball star had received threatening letters, before the team left Los Angeles.

Because of snowbound Chicago, the team was in town from Friday until Monday morning, playing games in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. During the entire stay, a police plainclothesman stayed close to Alcindor. Arthur Morse, assistant athletic director at Loyola and promoter of the Chicago Stadium basketball programs, said the matter was treated secretly until the team left the city. He said that J. D. Morgan, UCLA athletic director, had advised him a week before the Saturday game that crank letters to Alcindor had Chicago postmarks. Morse and Loyola Coach George Ireland turned the matter over to the office of Orlando Wilson, police commissioner, and the bodyguard plan was arranged.

IT'S IN THE BANKS — CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks, who has spent his entire major league career with the Chicago Cubs, signed his 14th contract Tuesday, Ernie's 36th birthday.

Only 16, She Retires

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Leonore Modell, the girl who swam the English Channel at the age of 14, announced Tuesday she has retired from marathon swimming. She is 16 now.

Miss Modell, a junior at a Sacramento high school, said she will probably continue to swim shorter distances in local competition, then added: "I really won't be doing much. I'm tired of swimming." She became the youngest person ever to swim the English Channel when in September, 1964, she fought ripping, freezing water from Cap Gris Nez, France, to Dover's white cliffs in 15 hours, 40 minutes.

PALMER GETS $20,000 — PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — A five-shot victory in the Los Angeles Open and a $20,000 pay check has Arnold Palmer off and running on golf's 1967 money-winning trail.
