

—Ambassador Denies Tour Is Peace Mission—

Goldberg To Embark On 'Fact-Finding Trip'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg outlined plans Tuesday for an around-the-world "fact-finding trip" for President Johnson, including a stop in South Vietnam.

"I am not going on a peace mission," the U.S. envoy to the United Nations cautioned newsmen after seeing Johnson.

Nonetheless, Goldberg presumably will have his antenna out for any peace feelers during his journey, starting late this month, to Europe as well as Southeast Asia.

In a separate development, the State Department left open the possibility that the Vietnam lunar new year cease-fire now getting under way might continue longer than the four-day period proposed by the allies if the Communists do not reopen the fighting. Goldberg made several recommendations on Southeast Asian policy, touching on Vietnam, in a Chicago speech Tuesday night, his aides said.

The initial reaction of State Department officials was cool. They were inclined to regard it as being similar to positions previously stated by Hanoi.

American officials said that since the North Vietnamese were posing as conditions a halt to the bombing and other acts of war, this would not change the situation.

Offers Differ

The Viet Cong have proposed a seven-day truce, and department press officer Robert J. McCloskey was asked what the U.S.-South Vietnamese and allied forces would do if the Red guns were still silent after the allied cease-fire period expires Feb. 12.

McCloskey declined to answer what he termed "a speculative question" on "a rather important matter at this point." "We'll see what happens," he said. "I'm not making any categorical statements up or down on any possibilities."

Again, McCloskey affirmed U.S. backing of the Saigon government's offer to discuss a cease-fire extension with North Vietnam. Hanoi has spurned this idea so far.

Meantime, in a speech Tuesday night, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey described the lunar new year truce as "an extremely delicate and sensitive time" for Vietnam combatants to reassess their thinking.

No Hint Given

But in his speech, prepared for the International Development Conference, Humphrey gave no hint that there is in the making any imminent change in American policy. In fact, he said, "I believe the cause of peace can be served if we patiently and perseveringly continue the course we have set for ourselves in Vietnam."

Humphrey said he doesn't believe peace will be served by public speculation on possible negotiations.

But Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference: "I do believe there is a little more than rumor to the effort to find some common ground for some negotiations."

Dirksen, who is kept closely in touch with Vietnam developments by Johnson, said he is "under solemn obligation" not to say any more.

Speech Planned

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) who just returned from talks with European leaders, will give some concrete recommendations on Vietnam policy in a Chicago speech Wednesday night, his aides said.

But they added that he will avoid any fresh report on his European trip. Kennedy, who has opposed any escalation in the war, denied Monday the reports that he had brought home peace feelers from Hanoi relayed by French officials in Paris.

Dirksen, at his news conference, came up with some indirect criticism of the speculation about peace talks that grew out of Kennedy's journey.

"I hope we don't develop 101 secretaries of state," he said in obvious reference to the 100 senators and Secretary Dean Rusk.

Dirksen said touring senators often appear to regard themselves as potential secretaries, adding: "This is an easy way to throw some of the procedures in the diplomatic ash can."

Traveled For Peace

Goldberg is one of Johnson's special peace emissaries. During the 37-day bombing pause which grew out of the 1965 Christmas year-end cease fire, he took the U.S. 14-point peace plan to the Pope, and to Italian, French and British leaders. But the ambassador stressed Tuesday that his forthcoming travels will be of a different sort. He had intended to undertake the trip late last year, but it was put off with the press of U.N. business and the 11th-hour delays in reaching final agreement on the peace-in-space treaty.

He told reporters at the White House that this time he will be going abroad on "a fact-finding trip for the President — all political and economic developments."

All told, Goldberg is likely to stop at a dozen or more capitals, he said. He figured he would be gone three or four weeks.

The exact itinerary is still being worked out.

New Year Truce Begins Amid Extension Rumors

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A lunar new year's truce began last night in a tense wait-and-see mood on whether suspension of hostilities could lead to the first positive steps toward ending the Vietnam war.

U.S. and allied armed forces idled in defensive positions at the outset of their truce of four days, with the possibility that it might be extended. The ceasefire began formally at 7 a.m. — 5 p.m. Tuesday CST.

A prolonged suspension of the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam — a key issue in the war — might provide an avenue, some believe, toward a longer truce, but this remained to be seen.

As the sound of gunfire gave way to the popping of holiday firecrackers, a possibility arose that the allies would extend the cease-fire beyond four days of Tet, as the lunar new year is called.

Answer Vague

A query on whether hostilities might remain abated beyond Sunday morning drew from a State Department spokesman in Washington, Robert J. McCloskey, the remark: "We will see what happens."

The Viet Cong, accused by the allies of staging attacks in past truces, have called for a seven-day pause in the fighting this time.

During the two-day Christmas truce, the allies reported 112 incidents of violence, although they were careful not to claim them as truce violations. In the New Year's weekend truce, 178 incidents were reported. For the Tet truce, both sides have pledged only to take no offensive action. The opponents reserved the right to shoot in self-defense and left themselves free to move troops and supplies.

Bombing Suspended

As the Tet truce got under way, the United States called off its air raids against North Vietnam which on Tuesday marked the start of a third year of bombing there.

The pretruce raids were restricted by poor weather, U.S. spokesmen reported, and relatively few missions were flown Tuesday.

Right up to the start of the cease-fire, allied artillery shelling could be heard in Saigon.

Celebration of Tet officially starts at midnight Wednesday, when the lunar new year begins. In Vietnam it will usher in the Year of the Goat, although in other Asian countries it is variously known as the Year of the Lamb or the Year of the Sheep.

The observance is marked by family gatherings and general celebrations in which firecrackers play a large and loud part.

An incident on the Cambodian frontier marked a flurry of 11th-hour action before the cease fire.

Airfields Shelled

In surging activity on the eve of the truce, the Viet Cong shelled four airfields with mortars and recoilless rifles. Targets were at Tra Cu, Tra Noc and Binh Thuy, in the Mekong River delta southwest of Saigon, and a U.S. Army strip known as English Airfield near the central coast 47 miles northwest of Qui Nhon. The Communists lobbed from 10 to 50 shells at each.

Spokesmen said damage to aircraft was light and there were casualties only at the airfield. Casualties at that field, manned by U.S. air cavalrymen and government infantrymen, were termed light. U.S. aircraft losses edged closer to the 1,800 mark with the destruction of a small U.S. Air Force observation plane and a rescue helicopter over North Vietnam that day.

On the basis of revised Pentagon figures, the plane was the 1,173rd lost from all causes in Vietnam. The helicopter — one of a type called the Jolly Green Giant — apparently was the 606th to be destroyed in the war.

Council Slaps University On Law School Parking

By passing a motion to ban parking on Richards and Ferson streets between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., the Iowa City City Council served notice to the University that residential streets were not to be made University parking facilities.

The council voted the parking ban on the two streets near the College of Law in response to a petition from 94 residents on Ferson and Richards streets which charged that student vehicles were dangerously congesting the area during class hours. Both streets are deadend.

The council also indicated it would study the problem of students parking in residential areas in the entire area surrounding the Law Building in order to see that students did not just find some other residential street on which to park.

The petition presumed that the parking problem on Richards and Ferson streets was caused primarily by automobiles of law students, and the council in its discussion seemed to accept that assumption.

"These people (the petitioners) seem to think the problem has gotten worse lately, but I don't see how it could," councilman James H. Nesmith said. "It is pretty bad. We have got to find some way to make the University fill that Law Building lot. It is not being filled now because of the $40 parking fee."

Complained To University

"I have mentioned the problem in front of University officials, but they don't seem to want to do anything about it," Nesmith went on. "I think we ought to extend the 'no parking' all over the area."

Councilman Richard C. Burger said he thought a ban on just Richards and Ferson streets would simply push the problem off on other residents. He wanted to know just how far away from the College of Law parking would have to be banned to make parking on streets so inconvenient that students would use University lots.

Guard Lands In Guardhouse

A man hired to guard the door to the Iowa Field House Tuesday night found himself behind a guarded jail door after tangling with Johnson County Sheriff Maynard Schneider.

Richard A. Hartman, Cedar Rapids, was charged by Schneider with assault and battery after a scuffle at the Field House door between the two. According to Schneider, Hartman refused to admit Schneider and two uniformed deputies after the three displayed identification.

Hartman was a member of the Veteran's Public Safety Unit, which aid in crowd control at University athletic events.

Schneider said that his department has been requested by University authorities to assist in law enforcement, crowd control and traffic at University events and that he has had uniformed and plain-clothesmen present at most athletic events.

Mao Issues Instructions To Accelerate Attack Against Revisionists

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung has issued new instructions to fight the Soviet brand of communism, Japanese reports from Peking said today, and China's official news agency told of accelerated anti-Soviet activities in a dozen cities.

In another report, Japanese correspondents said Red China's government had cut off meal money for Red Guards and told the youths they would have to buy their own food in Peking. The Red Guard youngsters are Maoist but sometimes uncontrollable.

The anti-Soviet campaign in Red China appeared to be reaching new intensities. The Soviet Union has protested hotly against riotous demonstrations around its embassy in Peking, where members of the staff are reported virtual prisoners of the Chinese.

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri said that under Mao's new instructions, a "liaison station for struggling against revisionism" — China's term for Russian communism — has been set up in the capital.

Demonstrations To Continue

Yomiuri said the instructions indicated anti-Soviet demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy and in the provinces would become more menacing.

New China News Agency reported anti-Soviet activities in Peking, Shanghai, Tsingtao, Nanning, Kunming, Sining, Nanchang, Chungking, Tsinan, Yinchuan, Hefei and Lanchow.

Japanese correspondents quoted wall posters as warning Red Guards in Peking they must pay for their own meals and that Red Guards, students and teachers were ordered to stop their "long journey on foot" to Peking and other places to exchange "revolutionary experiences."

The new orders, issued throughout China, apparently were aimed at stopping the heavy influx of rural Red Guards, students and teachers into the capital, the reports said.

Dependents Evacuated

Yomiuri's correspondent said Polish and Hungarian embassies had decided to evacuate dependents of their embassy staffs from Peking because their safety could not be guaranteed. The report said other Eastern European countries except Albania and Romania would follow suit.

Demonstrations went into the 12th day outside the Soviet Embassy. The Foreign Ministry warned the Russians it could not "guarantee the safety of Soviet citizens outside the Soviet Embassy."

Polish and Czechoslovak diplomats drove their cars through the blocking Chinese to take food and other supplies to the Soviet Embassy staff, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

Moscow Radio, in a Japanese language broadcast, said that "despite Peking's anti-Soviet campaign, the Soviet people will not be intimidated in taking any rash steps" in relations with Red China.

The broadcast added: "There has never been anything like this in the history of international relations. They have gone beyond the acts of decent human beings."

Yomiuri said Red Guards brought effigies of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to the embassy and kicked them around.

Blizzard Sweeps Across Northeast; Worst In 2 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blinding blizzard, winter's worst storm in two years, swept in from the Atlantic Tuesday, savagely punishing the Northeast and crippling the chain of great cities strung along its coast.

More than a foot of snow fell and icy gales piled drifts five feet deep in places. Temperatures in the teens began to slide steeply in the wake of the storm. Twenty below zero was forecast for parts of New England.

New York City got 12 inches of snow, its suburbs 14 inches. The thermometer headed downward toward an anticipated 5 below zero. Two weeks ago it was a record 68 degrees.

As darkness enveloped the nation's largest city, the blizzard tapered off, leaving a vista of normally surging side streets as peaceful as any snowcovered rural lane.

Chaos of a sort briefly touched downtown Manhattan as its transit tempo slowed and rush-hour crowds unexpectedly built up hours ahead of time. Throngs shoved and scuffled and some persons were knocked down in subway, rail and bus terminals.

Bridge and tunnel approaches were snarled, and the New Jersey Turnpike was closed between Newark and the George Washington Bridge. Hundreds of airline flights were canceled.

Political 'Guide' Is In The Dark

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — A 45-minute power failure left a group of women visitors to the Legislature sitting in the dark in strange surroundings in the House Office Building Monday night.

Rep. Paul Barden, Seattle Republican, gallantly stepped into the confusion. "Follow me, ladies," he said confidently. "Be calm. I know all the exits."

They trailed after Barden trustily — right into the women's rest room.

MADRID (AP) — Groups of Barcelona students — some sources put them at 500 strong and others at more than 1,000 — marched downtown from the University of Barcelona grounds Tuesday shouting "dictatorship no, democracy yes, and down with the rector." Security police broke up the demonstration.

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist James Wechsler said Tuesday that despite denials, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) did receive a proposal in Paris aimed at bringing about peace negotiations in Vietnam. Wechsler, writing in the New York Post, also said a Newsweek magazine report that Kennedy was bringing home a plan from Paris was "obviously intended to explode any possible effectiveness of Kennedy's effort."

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt arrived from Bonn Tuesday to explain, as he put it, the views of his country's new coalition government to President Johnson and other top American officials. One of the "essential elements" of this policy, he said.

New Orleans Celebrates 'Shivering' Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The magnificent, but disorganized uproar of Mardi Gras turned downtown New Orleans into a seething costume party Tuesday.

Temperatures hovered in the upper 30s but a brilliant sun eased the pain.

Hairy gorillas bobbed threateningly on the sidelines, and there were elves, knights in armor, queens, butterflies, Arabs and convicts, bears, clowns, Chinese coolies and Frankenstein.

Most costumes bulged with layers of sweaters beneath. But there were diehards who ignored the chill.

One intrepid youth pushed through the throng wearing a yellow pigtailed wig, bra and half slip, rewarding ribald comments with a cap-toothed grin — and frequently slipping into an overcoat carried by a companion to thaw his knees.

eight-mile parade route — with lots of beer, to be sure, but in moderate quantities — to the free-wheeling alcoholic crush in the French Quarter.

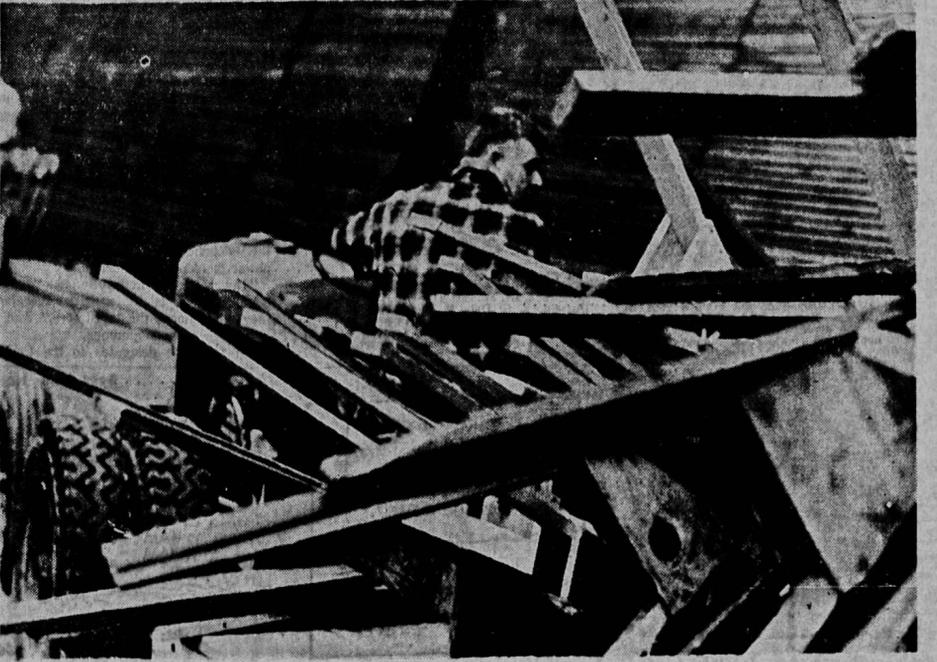

But to a great degree, Mardi Gras is a family affair.

Many a father ached beneath the weight of an offspring perched on his shoulder as Rex thundered past, with his animated floats bobbing and glittering in the sun.

Rex and krewnen hurled necklaces, candy and the prized Mardi Gras souvenir — doubloons. Zulu, king of the all-Negro parade, doled out carved coconuts.

The parades, opening with the numerous neighborhood marching clubs, started early and rumbled on all day and into the night, when the krewns of Comus winds it up.

Officially, the revelry of Mardi Gras ends at midnight. In the French Quarter's night club and strip joint section, it roars on until dawn, with a heavy police patrol to maintain a semblance of order.

Bids on the project were rejected in December when they exceeded the estimated cost of $63,850 by more than $16,000. At Tuesday's meeting the board voted to lower the specifications for the windows to decrease the cost.

School Board Tables Award Of Contracts

The Iowa City Community School Board received bids on window replacement at Central Junior High and Longfellow schools Tuesday, but deferred awarding the contracts.

The board voted to have the district's architects study the bids and make a recommendation.

Faculty To Vote On Plan

The University Faculty Council set a date for an all-faculty vote on the Faculty Senate Document during a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The ballots will be distributed during the week of Feb. 20 and must be returned by 5 p.m. March 3.

If the document is passed by the faculty, it then must be approved by Pres. Howard R. Bowen and the Board of Regents. Bowen has not yet indicated that he will approve the document.

Henry E. Hamilton, professor of internal medicine, said he was discouraged by the number of faculty members he had talked to who hadn't even read the document.

He submitted to the council a memorandum which he said would stimulate more interest in University affairs.

The council will discuss the document again Feb. 15. A special meeting of the council was tentatively scheduled for Feb. 16 to discuss suggestions and criticisms drawn from that meeting.

Hamilton insisted that there had been considerable differences of opinion over the document and said he was concerned with how to improve faculty participation.

Talks Begin On Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said Tuesday the United States and the Soviet Union have initiated talks aimed at preventing a costly race for ballistic missile defenses.

President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara have said such an anti-ballistic missile system race would result in no advantage for either side.

The President said last month the United States would take up the question with the Soviets.

Academy Buys Works Of Burford, Goldin

Paintings by a University art professor and a University graduate now on the faculty of Columbia University are among 13 major contemporary paintings selected by the American Academy of Arts and Letters for purchase as gifts to art museums in the United States and Canada this year.

Byron Burford's "The Most Beautiful Tattooed Woman" will be purchased for the Agnes Etherington Art Centre of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, Canada, through the Academy's Child Hassam Fund. Burford has been a member of the art faculty since 1947.

A painting titled "Red Field," by Leon Goldin, recipient of an M.F.A. degree in 1950, was chosen as a gift for the Oklahoma Art Center, Oklahoma City, Okla.

The two paintings were among 64 works by contemporary artists chosen for exhibition in the Academy's Art Gallery in New York City during November and December. From the exhibition, the 13 were selected for purchase by the Academy.

Chamber Favors Renewal, Is Opposed To Present Plan

Results of a Chamber of Commerce poll released Tuesday showed broad agreement and disagreement on at least two urban renewal questions.

The poll was conducted last month among chamber members. The chamber received 62.5 per cent replies to more than 600 questionnaires which were sent out. Five questions were asked.

The question, "Do you feel it is necessary to improve and redevelop the downtown area?" received an 89 per cent approval. The vote was 329 "yes" and 37 "no."

However, the question, "Do you favor a modified federal urban renewal program similar to the one presented by the City Council in the Iowa City Press-Citizen of Nov. 18?" was turned down by 79 per cent of the members. The vote was 66 "yes" and 248 "no."

But 60 per cent of the members said in a third question that they favored any federal urban renewal plan. The vote on this question was 181 "yes" and 122 "no."

The two other questions were turned down. "Do you favor the City-University federal urban renewal program as presented to the public on Oct. 19 at the Iowa City High School Auditorium?" received 145 "yes" and 186 "no" votes.

"Do you favor a local voluntary downtown urban renewal project with application for federal funds for use only in improvement of public utilities, parking, bridges, traffic control, etc.?" received 140 "yes" and 179 "no" votes.

The board of directors of the chamber met Tuesday morning and released the following statement:

"Based on careful consideration of the results of the poll, the board of directors of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce supports the expression that some action is necessary to redevelop and improve the downtown area and recognizes that the majority of the membership opposed the present plan as it has been presented.

"Further, the board sides with the expressed feeling that a voluntary plan will not work. The board is strongly in favor of the stated objectives of the plan.

"The board recommends that the council work with those most directly affected to work out an acceptable means of executing the plan or come up with a different plan which would be acceptable."

Clay Fight 'Sickening' London Newspaper Says

LONDON (AP)—"Ugly, venomous and sickening," said the front-page headline across London's Evening Standard reporting Cassius Clay's victory over Ernie Terrell in Houston Monday night.

British sports writers and broadcasters agreed that Clay had proved himself the world's best but they denounced the "arrogant and unsportsmanlike" manner in which he taunted and humiliated his outclassed opponent.

The BBC's Harry Carpenter said: "I left ringside wishing Clay had been more magnanimous in victory."

The London Evening News report regretted that "Clay's disappointing disregard for the niceties of the rules prevented his performance from being great." But the Standard's George Whiting, after praising Clay's fighting skill, wrote: "In my book, Clay fell headlong down the scale of sportsmanship. To half-paralyze your opponent with punches, to slash ugly slits over and under his eyes, to reduce him to a game but impotent wreck, these things may be ugly but they come within the rules of the trade."

"Less forgivable was the cocky, arrogant manner in which Clay sneered and snarled and taunted — and even on occasion spat at the feet of the poor wreck of a Terrell."

Other London headlines called Clay "The Champ of Sneer and Snarl."

Tie For 3rd In Big 10; Williams Scores 35

By RON BLISS
Asst. Sports Editor

Sam Williams turned in a dazzling 35-point performance Tuesday night and guided Iowa's basketball team to a 96-89 Big 10 victory over Illinois before a sellout crowd of 12,822 fans in the Field House.

Williams, the Big 10's leading scorer, scored on 11 of 17 shots from the field and made 13 of 15 free throws for his total. Nineteen of his points came in the second half when the Hawkeyes had to thwart off an Illinois rally that brought the Illini to within one point — 71-70 — midway through the first half.

Illinois scored on 75 per cent of its shots in the first half and finished the game with a 61.3 per cent average, but never had the lead after losing it to the Hawkeyes midway through the first half.

Iowa, doing some outstanding shooting of its own, fired 62.9 per cent in the first half to grab a 53-42 halftime lead and finished with a warm 58.5 per cent average for the game.

The Hawkeyes led by as much as 15 points at one point in the first half, but had to scramble to hold off the eager Illini. Iowa saw its 11-point halftime lead melt to only four in the first two minutes of the second half and never led by more than eight points the rest of the game.

The Hawks built a 93-86 lead with 3:01 remaining and then went into a control game to assure themselves of the victory.

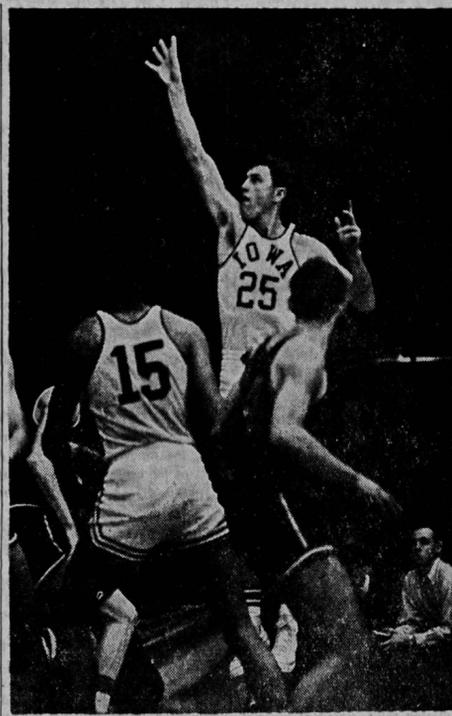

Gerry Jones was also an important part of Iowa's victory. The 6-4 senior from Chicago scored 23 points to compliment Williams' fine performance and pulled down 14 rebounds. Tom Chapman added 18 points for the Hawks as he connected on 8 of 11 field goal attempts.

Dave Scholz, Illinois' 6-7 sophomore center, played one of his finest games ever for the Illini. He scored 32 points on 16 of 21 field goal attempts and pulled down 10 rebounds. Illini Captain Jim Dawson connected on 10 of 17 field goal attempts for 20 points in the game.

The margin of victory for Iowa came in the free throw department where the Hawks connected on 20 of 23 attempts. Illinois could manage only 13 of 25.

The victory was Iowa's 20th straight at home and moved the Hawks into a third place tie at 3-2 with Michigan State in the Big 10. Illinois, which upset league-leading Northwestern Saturday, is now 3-3 in conference play.

The Hawks, now 10-5 for the season, face Ohio State in a televised game at Columbus, Ohio Saturday afternoon before returning home next Tuesday night to play Northwestern in an all-important Big 10 game.

Miller Pleased With Play; Says All Should Be Eligible

By CHUCK WANNINGER
Staff Writer

Iowa defeated Illinois 96-89 Tuesday night. Coach Ralph Miller, and most of the Hawks, said it was the best team effort of the season. However, the first questions Miller faced in his post game interviews were not about the game, but about the eligibility status of the Iowa players.

"By the gamut of rumors, we have lost everybody except Chapman," laughed Miller. "But, to my knowledge, we have not lost anybody at this point because of academic failures in the first semester."

Turning to the ballgame, Miller said that it was one of the better games of the season. He said one or two players could have played better, but none played badly.

Miller said that it was probably Chapman's best overall game of the season. Tom said, "We played as a team tonight. And I think we will from now on too."

Chapman admitted to being a streak player, and the Illinois game illustrates this. He scored nine points in the first five minutes. Then late in the game, after cooling on the bench with four fouls, Chapman returned to hit a drive-in and a tip-in to put the Hawks out of reach.

Iowa Center Houston Breedlove had the job of guarding Dave Scholz, Illinois' 6-7 sophomore. "Scholz just turned around and shot in my face," he said. Scholz made 16 of 21 shots from the field.

"If you shoot 90 per cent from 20 feet you deserve to get 32 points," Breedlove said. However, he was very emphatic in saying that Scholz was not the best he had faced this year.

"Loyola's Jim Tillman could do everything — score, rebound, play defense. All Scholz could do was score," said Breedlove.

He said that it was one of the best overall games for Iowa this season, and probably the best first half.

He also talked about Indiana, who has streaked to a 4-1 record after an opening loss to the Hawks. "They don't have overpowering personnel, but they have good balance."

Gerry Jones also warned that Indiana would be tough, especially on their home floor.

"Of course Northwestern is real tough too," he said.

Hawkeye Freshman Cagers Battle Experienced Cyclones

By JIM MARTZ
Sports Editor

Iowa's tall freshman basketball team plays its first intercollegiate game in modern times at 7:30 tonight when it meets the Iowa State University freshmen at the Field House.

It is the first of three regulation games scheduled under a new Big 10 program. The Hawkeyes will face Drake here Feb. 24 and Wisconsin at Madison March 4.

Admission for tonight's game is $1 for the public, 50 cents for University staff members, and presentation of ID cards and registration certificate for University students.

Time and Place: Wednesday, Feb. 8, 7:30 p.m., Iowa field house. Record of Teams: Iowa — W 2, L 0; Iowa State — W 3, L 2.

Tickets: $1 to public, 50c to UI staff members; ID card and registration certificate display to Iowa students.

Van Eman will start a team which averages 6-6, as compared with Iowa State's 6-3½. However, the Cyclone freshmen will have the edge in experience since they have played five intercollegiate games, winning three.

Iowa's two games were played and won against pick-up alumni teams featuring George Peoples, Chris Pervall, Denny Pauling, and Bill Skea.

Van Eman said he would start the following lineup: forwards — Dick Jensen, 6-9, Madrid; and Tom Schulze, 6-5, Des Moines (Roosevelt); center — Joe Bergman, 6-9, Clinton (St. Mary's); and guards — Glenn Vidnovic, 6-5, McKeesport, Pa.; and Chad Calabria, 6-2, Aliquippa, Pa.

Vidnovic and Calabria are the top scorers, Vidnovic with 38 and Calabria 34. Jensen has scored 18, Bergman 15, and Schulze 11.

The five starters plus Jim Hodge, a 6-0 guard from Danvers, Ill., are on scholarship. Frank Nelson, a 6-1 guard from East Sioux City, has been an impressive walk-on.

Iowa State has defeated Marshalltown Junior College, 97-61; Webster City Junior College, 95-76; and Drake's freshmen, 69-57. The Cyclones have lost to the State College of Iowa freshmen, 78-76, and to Fort Dodge Community College.

Iowa State is expected to start Steve Cooper, 6-3, and Ron Kaufman, 6-5, at forward; Bill Cain, 6-7, at center; and Mike Murray, 6-0, and Jim Abrahamson, 6-1, at guard.

Cain, from White Plains, N.Y., is averaging 19 points per game.

Kaufman is averaging 14, Abrahamson 13, Murray nine, and Cooper six.

Iowa head coach Ralph Miller said last spring after he completed his recruiting that "this is my best ever — either at Iowa or Wichita."

Can beer be too cold?

Maybe we shouldn't care how cold people drink beer... just so they drink ours. (After all, we're in business!)

But we do care. We go to such fuss and expense brewing all that taste into Budweiser, we want our customers to get it all out. And this is a fact: chilling beer to near-freezing temperatures hides both taste and aroma. 40° is just right.

To make it easy for you, we've asked all the bartenders to serve Bud® at 40°. Also, every refrigerator is designed to cool Bud at 40°.

Of course, if you're on a picnic or something and the Bud's on ice and nobody brought a thermometer... oh, well. Things can't always be perfect.

University Asked To Develop Police Degree Program

Police education in the State of Iowa got a push forward today with announcement of a $13,290 federal grant to the University to develop a police degree program in cooperation with two-year colleges.

of the Bureau of Police Science and project director under the grant, said the University would help plan a police science curriculum for probably six two-year colleges scattered about the state.

The students would get the usual liberal arts core along with some courses in law at the two-year colleges. In the summer between the two academic years, they would take a course in law enforcement at the University.

The $13,290 planning grant was made by the Office of Law Enforcement Assistance, a Department of Justice unit that is less than two years old. Holcomb said he was seeking further grants to get the program well under way as soon as possible.

Holcomb said he hopes to set the program up in time for students to enter it this fall. He said the two-year colleges have not been chosen, but that several have shown interest in the program.

Senate OKs Constitutional Amendment

DES MOINES — Apparently persuaded by lawyer members disagreeing with Atty. Gen. Richard Turner, the Senate voted 51-9 Tuesday to pass a constitutional amendment which Turner said was unconstitutional.

The measure first approved by the 1965 legislature, would give four-year terms to the governor and lieutenant governor and have them run as a team. They now are elected independently of each other to two-year terms.

The measure goes to the House, where approval would submit it to voters at the 1968 general election.

In an opinion requested by Sen. Seelye Lodwick (R-Weaver) Turner said the proposal violates a constitution requirement that each amendment deal with only one subject.

Senator-attorneys from both parties who spoke on the issue Tuesday unanimously disagreed with Turner, saying the amendment does deal with only one subject. They included Sens. William Denman, (D-Des Moines); David Stanley (R-Muscatine); and Max Milo Mills (R-Marshalltown).

There was virtually no debate on merits of the proposal. Lodwick urged that the measure be defeated and that the legislature start a new amendment limited to giving four-year terms to the governor.

Prof Prepares Part Of Study On Resources

A report on the nation's energy needs, initiated by President Kennedy and recently released to the public, was written in part by Thomas P. Anderson, professor of mechanical engineering.

The study was initiated in 1963 by Kennedy to determine the most effective allocation of the nation's research and development resources. The public report resulting from the study consists of findings and conclusions of 10 participating federal departments and agencies, together with a 437-page, separately published analysis and background discussion.

The background discussion was prepared by a study group of which Anderson was associate deputy director. Director of the group was All Buleen Cambel, former University faculty member who received his doctorate in mechanical engineering here in 1950. Cambel is on leave from Northwestern University and is director of the Research and Engineering Sciences Support Division of the Institute for Defense Analyses in Washington.

Among its conclusions, the report notes that future development and use of fuels will be strongly influenced by the necessity to control environmental pollution. The report further asserts that research and development programs aimed at assessment of hazards to health and environment are urgently needed.

Anderson received his doctorate in 1961 from Northwestern University. Last July, he was named professor of mechanical engineering and chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering. Previously, he taught at Northwestern.

Anderson was chosen as one of "Ten Outstanding Young Men" by the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry in 1964. He is listed in "American Men of Science," "Who's Who in Space," and "Who's Who in American Education."

POLITICAL ASYLUM —

LONDON — The House of Commons has approved in principle a bill allowing British governments to grant political asylum to citizens of Commonwealth countries. These countries now are deemed parts of a single legal system that obviates extradition procedures among them.

Micro-Manipulation

Chemical changes occurring in single muscle cells may provide clues to the cause of muscular dystrophy. Here a cell biologist at the Institute for Muscle Disease uses a micro-manipulator to "pluck" a single fiber from a piece of tissue. The Institute is sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America whose annual fund raising drive, the March Against Muscular Dystrophy, is now under way throughout the country.

Mini-Skirts Short On Impact But Long On Male Interest

By MRS. JANET BEAVER
Staff Writer

The mini-skirt, so popular on U.S. coasts and in England, doesn't seem to have had much impact in Iowa City. Most Iowa coeds appear to dress conservatively and favor a short skirt just above the knee as opposed to the mini-skirt.

Most males, however, line up definitely on the mini-skirt side. Duane Crock, A4, Mechanicsville said, "I just don't see how any normal boy could help but like mini-skirts. They add to a girl's attractiveness."

The short, short skirts — at least four inches above the knee — and other mod fashions seem to be an emblem of protest, of morals and of more in transition. This didn't bother Barry Benson, A3, Pompton Lakes, N.J. He thought they looked good for sportswear, and there "certainly isn't anything wrong with them."

On the other hand, Rick Thiele, B3, Cincinnati, said, "I think they're becoming, but I wouldn't want a personal acquaintance to wear one. High skirts have an association with loose morals."

That Iowa City is not a fashion center, is surely an understatement. Most coeds, it would appear, are more practical and conservative than English girls. Michael Thorn, G, Darlington Durham, England, said mini-skirts were generally worn in England.

"I've been very surprised at how few there are in the United States. In England the mini-skirt is most popular among college students. Most girls wear them whether they have attractive legs or not," he said.

When Iowa coeds apply the short, short skirt fashion to themselves they panic. The focus of the panic is the knee. "If you have the knees they're okay," said Andie Lubin, A4, Iowa City, "but I don't know anybody who has the knees. On me — forget it."

Fran Baker, A4, Grinnell, agreed with Miss Lubin. She said, "A girl has to be thin enough to wear one."

Iowa coeds in general are conservative in their attitudes towards mini-skirts. Kay Kalma, A3, Newton, frequently wears what she called a "modified mini-skirt — just above the knee." Jane Uhlenberg, A3, La Porte City, said she had a mini-skirt that she wore only with high socks, but she said she was too modest to wear one without the socks.

With little skirts come large problems of modesty and grace. The big problem is how to sit down gracefully. Fashion designers suggest young mini-clad girls sit with their knees together and the feet wide apart. Sitting gracefully and comfortably in a classroom is, however, difficult.

The escalation of the skirt is influencing the economics of fashion. "A girl could end up looking awfully foolish by subscribing herself to all the fashion trends," said one coed.

Under garments have to be abbreviated to keep from slipping out from underneath nearly skirtless styles. One solution is to wear something long and gaudy underneath.

Mini-knickers, boxer shorts and fitted boot leotards resembling long underwear, are designed for this purpose. These under garments are becoming a part of the outer-world of the mini-skirt.

Hosiery manufacturers will be coming out with bright colored nylon stockings for spring, and several cosmetic firms are marketing leg make-ups.

The full impact of the short, short skirt in Iowa City will probably be understood this spring when the wraps (literally) come off.

IT IS TRULY A WOMAN'S WORLD if one is to measure the feminine influence on the controversy stirred up by the annual change of fashions. Mini-skirts, the high fashion trend mainly responsible for today's low stares, has not caught hold of all Iowa coeds, at least not these two relaxing in the Union Gold Feather Room. They tend to favor skirts just above the knee. —Photo by Dave Luck

Community Theatre School To Teach Theatrical Skills

A school for participants in community theatres will be held in Bettendorf on Feb. 18 to teach principles of directing, make-up, set design, and other theatrical skills.

The workshop, to be held in the Bettendorf Recreation Center, is sponsored by the University's Division of Extension and University Services and the Iowa Community Theatre Association. It is financed by a $20,000 grant under the community services section of the federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

The program's purpose is to increase the skill of volunteers in the state's 43 community theatres, and to establish the theatres as cultural and educational institutions.

Participants will be taught how to choose and direct a play appropriate for the available theatre.

Poet Is Appointed

James Crenner, a 29-year-old poet whose works have appeared in a variety of publications and who is now teaching in the Writers Workshop, has been appointed an assistant professor of English at Hobart and William Smith Colleges, Geneva, N.Y.

Albert E. Holland, president of the colleges, who made the announcement, said that Crenner's appointment would be effective in September. He will teach in the field of American literature and other areas.

light and set the stage, costume the actors and develop membership and financial support for the theatre organization.

John R. Winnie, administrator of the workshop series and associate professor of television, radio and films, will speak at the Feb. 18 luncheon on the development of community theatres in Iowa. In the evening the Bettendorf theatre group will give a performance of "A Hatful of Rain," which will then be discussed by members of the workshop.

Staff for the workshop will include Mark Snegoff and Michael Griffith, of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art; Donald Tescher, director, Francis Brinkman, designer and Edward West, lighting, all of the Cedar Rapids Community Theatre; Mary Beth Schuppert and Agnes Knauf, Iowa City Community Theatre; and L. K. Boutin, Drama Workshop, Des Moines.

Registration information is available from Boutin, who is president of the Iowa Community Theatre Association and coordinator of the series, at 1434 Idaho Street, Des Moines.

RUSSIAN VISIT —

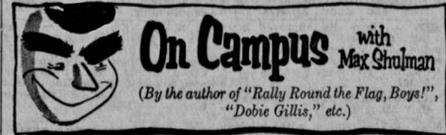

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia — Emperor Haile Selassie will visit the Soviet Union starting Feb. 27, the government announced, after his mid-February talks with President Johnson in Washington.

VOA To Report About Workshop

Chinese-speaking people on the mainland, Formosa, and the peninsula of southeast Asia will soon be hearing about the University's Writers Workshop over the Voice of America (VOA).

Miss Hua-ling Nieh, lecturer and consultant for Asia affairs at the Workshop, has tape-recorded a 15-minute interview in Chinese describing the program in creative writing, for broadcast by the VOA.

She mentioned plans for an international center for creative writing in the Workshop, which is a division of the Department of English. She also told about the recent publication of one of her short stories in the Atlantic, and about the impending production of a film from a novel she wrote on Formosa.

STAMP OUT YOUNG LOVE

It happens every day. A young man goes off to college, leaving his home town sweetheart with vows of eternal love, and then he finds that he has outgrown her. What, in such cases, is the honorable thing to do?

Well sir, you can do what Crunch Sigafos did.

When Crunch left his home in Cut and Shoot, Pa., to go off to a prominent midwestern university (Florida State) he said to his sweetheart, a wholesome country lass named Mildred Bovine, "My dear, though I am far away in college, I will love you always. I take a mighty oath I will never look at another girl. If I do, may my eyeballs parch and wither, may my viscera writhe like adders, may my ever-press slacks go baggy!"

Then he clutched Mildred to his bosom, flicked some hayseed from her hair, planted a final kiss upon her fragrant young skull, and went away, meaning with all his heart to be faithful.

But on the very first day of college he met a coed named Irmgard Champerty who was studded with culture like a ham with cloves. She knew venetian the complete works of Franz Kafka, she sang solos in stereo, she wore a black leather jacket with an original Goya on the back.

Well sir, Crunch took one look and his jaw dropped and his nostrils pulsed like a bellows and his kneecaps turned to sorghum. Never had he beheld such sophistication, such intellect, such savoir faire. Not, mind you, that Crunch was a dolt. He was, to be sure, a country boy, but he had a head on his shoulders, believe you me! Take, for instance, his choice of razor blades. Crunch always shaved with Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and if that doesn't show good sense, I am Rex the Wonder Horse. No other blade shaves you so comfortably so often. No other blade brings you such facial felicity, such epidermal elan. Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades take the trail out of shaving, scrap the scrape, negate the nick, peel the pull, oust the ouch. Furthermore, Personnas are available both in double-edge style and in injector style. If you're smart — and I'm sure you are, or how'd you get out of high school — you'll get a pack of Personnas before another sun has set.

But I digress. Crunch, as we have seen, was instantly smitten with Irmgard Champerty. All day he followed her around campus and listened to her talk about Franz Kafka and like that, and then he went back to his dormitory and found this letter from his home town sweetheart Mildred:

Dear Crunch:

Us kids had a keen time yesterday. We went down to the pond and caught some frogs. I caught the most of anybody. Then we hitched rides on trucks and did lots of nutsy stuff like that. Well, I must close now because I got to whitewash the fence.

Your friend,
Mildred

PS...I know how to ride backwards on my skateboard.

Well sir, Crunch thought about Mildred and then he thought about Irmgard and then a great sadness fell upon him. Suddenly he knew he had outgrown young, innocent Mildred; his heart now belonged to smart, sophisticated Irmgard.

Being above all things honorable, he returned forthwith to Cut and Shoot, Pa., and looked Mildred straight in the eye and said manly, "I do not love you any more. I love another. You can hit me in the stomach all your might if you want to!"

"That's okay, hey," said Mildred amiably. "I don't love you neither. I found a new boy."

"What is his name?" asked Crunch.

"Franz Kafka," said Mildred.

"I hope you will be very happy," said Crunch and shook Mildred's hand and they have remained good friends to this day. In fact, Crunch and Irmgard often double-date with Franz and Mildred and have barrels of fun. Franz knows how to ride backwards on his skateboard one-legged.

So you see, all's well that ends well—including a shave with Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades and Personna's partner in luxury shaving—Burma-Shave. It comes in menthol or regular; it soaks rings around any other lather.
