LBJ To Assure Educational Integrity

November 24. 1963

WASHINGTON — President Johnson announced today that Chairman John L. Mcnamara, a veteran of the draft controversy, had been named to a special panel to study educational integrity

The President opened his statement by quoting from a letter written by President Johnson to the Congress: "We must not allow the very real impact of the draft controversy on the educational system to undermine the educational potential of the nation."

The President said, "We have decided that the best way of meeting this challenge is to name a panel of distinguished educators and policymakers to study the problems and make recommendations for the improvement of educational integrity."

The President also announced that Mcnamara would be joined by two other members of the panel, Robert Byrd, Senator from West Virginia, and President John F. Kennedy of the University of Texas.

Panel Favors Stronger Faculty Role; Will Vote On Issue At Next Meeting

By DAILY ALT Staff Writer

A joint faculty-student panel favoring a stronger role for the faculty in university affairs has been formed at the University of Iowa. The panel will meet next week to discuss the issue.

The panel, which met at the Capitol Hotel, was composed of members of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP), the Faculty Council, and the Student Senate.

The panel voted unanimously to support the faculty's role in campus affairs.

U.S. Attacks In Clear Sky

WASHINGTON — The sky was clear over Vietnam Wednesday, meaning the United States could launch a new wave of bombing raids.

A Time report said American planes, including B-52s and F-101s, were massing for a new wave of attacks on the North Vietnamese.

A Time dispatch said American officials had warned the North Vietnamese that the United States was preparing for a new wave of attacks.

Candidates for the post of the Iowa City city council are calling for a greater role in the city's development. The candidates, including former aide Jeff Burger, are pushing for greater involvement in the city's planning and development decisions.

Burger, who is running to be the head of the Iowa City Development Commission, has called for a greater role for residents in the planning process. Burger's platform includes proposals for more community input in decisions regarding development, including land use, transportation, and housing.

The candidates are also calling for a greater role for the city in addressing the needs of the community. They are advocating for more funding for education, healthcare, and infrastructure, and for greater transparency and accountability in the city's decision-making process.

The candidates are also calling for greater attention to environmental issues, including the need for more renewable energy sources and the protection of local water resources.

Overall, the candidates are calling for a more inclusive and participatory approach to city planning and development, and for greater collaboration between the city and its residents to ensure that the needs of the community are being addressed.

For more information, please visit the websites of the candidates, Jeff Burger and the other community leaders running for the city council.

The NBA is growing very fast. The National Basketball Association, founded in 1946, is in its 100th year. The league has gone through many changes over the years, including expansion and contraction, changes in rules and player contracts, and the rise of stars like Michael Jordan and Lebron James.

The NBA is one of the most popular sports leagues in the United States, with a large fan base and a global presence. The league has also been influential in promoting social justice and advocacy, particularly with regards to issues like racial equality, LGBTQ+ rights, and mental health.

The NBA is made up of 30 teams, divided into the Eastern and Western Conferences. Each conference has two divisions, the Atlantic and Southeast in the East, and the Pacific and Northwest in the West. The league also has a D-League, which serves as a developmental league for players looking to make it to the NBA.

The NBA season typically runs from October to April, with each team playing 82 games. The playoffs begin in May, with the conference semifinals starting in early June. The NBA Finals take place in late June, with the champion being declared as the winner of the best-of-seven series.

The NBA has a rich history, with many memorable moments and players over the years. Some of the most iconic players in NBA history include Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Magic Johnson, Larry Bird, Michael Jordan, and Kobe Bryant. The NBA has also produced many successful coaches and managers, including Phil Jackson, Pat Riley, and Dwyane Wade.

The NBA is not just a sport, but also a cultural phenomenon, with fans around the world following the league and its stars. The NBA has been at the forefront of social change, and its impact on society is undeniable.
Lights Go Out, Fans Yell On In Prep Wrestling Tournament

By MARVIN LINSAY

When you win, lights go out! That was the question surrounding Wednesday night, when the New York State Wrestling Tournament was under way in Rochester. The 16 state champions were in town, and the audience was loudly cheering them on.

In the quarterfinal matches, the state champions showed their stuff, and the audience was happy. The 32 wrestlers met in two round robin matches, and the top six went on to the semi-finals.

In the semi-finals, the state champions continued to show their skills, and the audience was again loudly cheering them on. The winners of the semi-finals will meet in the finals on Friday night, and the audience will be on its feet again.

A MESSAGE EXCLUSIVELY FOR ENGINEERING GRADUATES WHO ARE LOOKING FOR RESPONSIBILITY:

At Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, we are cotnitively seeking engineering graduates with executive potential who are able and willing to share the heavy responsibilities in our business of building and operating the facilities for the transmission of billions of cubic feet of natural gas each year from the gas fields of the Southwest to millions of homes and thousands of industries in the Midwest usage areas -- a business which demands outstanding engineering talent.

THE MEN WE WANT are distinctive creative, with a desire to direct their energies and capabilities into services of significance. They are men who prefer to work with a compact, knowledgeable group rather than be lost in a large but non-specialized staff. They are dedicated men who want to develop careers in a growing industry where individual achievement is still recognized and rewarded on the strength of merit.

At NGPL, furthermore, there are excellent career opportunities for qualified men regardless of their engineering specialties: architectural, chemical, civil, electrical, industrial, mechanical or petroleum.

Where does an engineer intern?

Before you decide on the job that's a step you can take as your professional career, it's good to ask a few basic questions...

- Will this job let me work at skilled engineering jobs that haven't been assigned, in all phases of engineering?
- Will I be working under the direct supervision of an experienced engineer?
- Will I be working in a large engineering group?
- How many hours for overtime are expected?
- Will I be working with the widest range of professional competence and technological facilities in the group?
- Will engineers have this company's interest...
- or do they depend upon outside experts?
