Key Probe Figure Dies

D.A. 'Waited Too Long' For Arrest

WALTER JUDD
"What About Red China"

Judd Sees Hope For 'Free' China

By RANDY BLOCK
Staff Writer

"If China's people can be returned to the free world they will be friendly, but if the Communists are allowed to develop their country to its full potential, China won't be able to return to the free world," Dr. Walter Judd said Wednesday night in a lecture in the Union Main Lounge.

Judd, a representative from Minnesota for 20 years and a former missionary to China, spoke with great intensity and enthusiasm on the topic, "What About Red China?" for an hour and a half and was greeted by a standing ovation.

"Communism is not a national movement but an international movement. Mao Tse-tung is not a Chinese patriot working for the people in China but is a world revolutionist," Judd said.

War Discussed

Judd also discussed the war in Vietnam and the recent Sino-Soviet split. In both cases, Judd warned that the U.S. should be on guard against Communist expansion, which Judd believes is the policy of both Russia and Communist China.

"The U.S. policy to counteract this Communist expansion should be to hold the Communists back," Judd said. He compared our policy to that of a baseball game when he said, "Keep 'em on first base."

Judd said that all out bombing in Vietnam was senseless but said there must be bombing of specific military objectives. Judd didn't feel increased bombing would lead to a greater escalation of the war.

"Don't lose faith in the Chinese people. There is a struggle within China, but it may explode the myth of communism and lead the way to peace," Judd said.

"Strategic Position"

"China holds the strategic position in Asia," Judd said. "The countries immediately surrounding it contain one-third of the world's population. The last three wars began in Asia," he added. Judd was referring to World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnamese war.

Judd reported that the Communist Chinese government now in control was not furthering the Chinese culture but destroying it. He cited the teachings of Confucius which emphasized the Doctrine of the Golden Mean, moderation in everything, and the great reverence for learning which the Red Guards, Judd said, are presently trying to destroy.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — David W. Ferrie, an important and strange figure in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, was found dead in bed Wednesday.

Garrison said he had planned to arrest Ferrie next week.

"The apparent suicide of David Ferrie ends the life of a man who, in my judgment was one of history's most important individuals," Garrison told a news conference.

Coroner Nicholas Chetta said Ferrie's death was due to a ruptured blood vessel in the brain, but that further tests were going to be made.

The district attorney's statement was issued at his office at about the same time that the coroner was talking to newsmen at the morgue.

Garrison said Ferrie, a pilot, had been under continual observation, and information concerned him "had caused us to become increasingly concerned about the possibilities of his killing himself."

Believed To Be Involved

"Evidence developed by our office had long since confirmed that he was involved in events culminating in the assassination of President Kennedy.

"Because of this, at a meeting at my house this morning, we had reached a decision to arrest him early next week. Apparently we waited too long," he said.

Dr. Chetta said a note was found in the dining room of Ferrie's cluttered apartment which said, in part:

"To leave this life is, for me, a sweet prospect. I find nothing in it that is desirable and on the other hand everything is loathsome."

The coroner said Ferrie, about 45, was born with a weakness of one blood vessel at the base of the brain. When this ruptured, it caused massive hemorrhage, he added.

However, because of the circumstances and the note, a full autopsy was ordered to check the possibility of suicide. The body was found nude, with a sheet pulled up to the chest.

Complained Of Suffering

Ferrie had told friends he was suffering from sleeping sickness, Dr. Chetta said. Ferrie had high blood pressure. Garrison told newsmen, "the primary reason for the planned arrest of Ferrie was because we felt we had reached a point where we had enough information to move."

Ferrie became "increasingly more and more nervous as the investigation progressed," said Garrison.

"Although my office has been investigating Ferrie intensively for months, we have not mentioned his name publicly up to this point," Garrison added.

"The unique nature of this case now leaves me no other course of action."

Asked if he had any reason to believe anybody but Lee Harvey Oswald took part in the actual assassination, Garrison replied: "I have no reason to believe at this point that Lee Harvey Oswald killed anybody in Dallas on that day."

Police said a quantity of pills was found near Ferrie's body. Ferrie was arrested shortly after the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of Kennedy and questioned. He was released after the arrest of Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas.

Ferrie operated a flying service here and was a private investigator. He said last Saturday he and two friends drove to Texas the day of the assassination.

"We went to Houston, Galveston and then back to Alexandria, La.," Ferrie was quoted as saying.

When he returned to New Orleans, he said, he was questioned at length by the district attorney's office.

Ferrie said he was called into the district attorney's office last November and asked about his activities the week Kennedy was shot.

Garrison began his investigation into the assassination last October. He said Saturday he expected to prove a conspiracy was hatched here and that it led to the assassination in Dallas.

Recruiting Not Barred In Union, Bowen Says

Pres. Howard R. Bowen, in a statement Wednesday, said Marine recruiters were not being denied access to the Union, but were "merely being asked to use the part of the Union which is set aside for placement activities."

The statement said "it has long been planned" that when the Office of Business and Industrial Placement moved into its new quarters in the Union "all of the

Coralville Council Sees 'Advantage' In Separate Plant

It is "economically more advantageous" for Coralville to build its own sewage treatment plant, Coralville Councilman Michael Kattchee said Wednesday night.

Explaining Coralville City Council's rejection of the Iowa City Council proposal to continue supplying sewage treatment for Coralville, Kattchee said that the figures for running an independent sewage treatment plant quoted by the Iowa City Council were incorrect.

"They used the first year's revenue only," Kattchee said, "and compared it with an average expense over a 25 to 30-year period. They were not considering an increase of revenue which would accompany the increase in expense."

Coralville Councilman James M. Bigelow said he feels "it is better to pay out money towards ownership of a sewage treatment plant than continue to pay out money (to Iowa City) over an indefinite period of time."

Both Kattchee and Bigelow said they feel that this action will not eliminate the possible use of federal aid, as stated by Iowa City Mayor William C. Hubbard and Councilman Richard W. Burger.

Both city councils have said that they will go ahead with plans to build sewer facilities for Coralville, the Oakdale complex and surrounding areas.

placement activities of this office would be consolidated in one place."

The decision to adopt the new policy, which places all organizations on an equal basis for interviewing and recruiting, was originated by Bowen and Willard Boyd, dean of the faculties, according to Union Director Loren V. Kottner.

Bowen's statement said that the new policy "tries to treat in the same way private companies, schools and colleges, the military services, the CIA, the Peace Corps, the Foreign Service, the FBI, and all other employers."

Tester Tells Iowan

Marine Recruiter Capt. Bruce A. Tester had told The Daily Iowan after a meeting with Bowen Tuesday that "student demonstrations have caused them to re-examine their policy of allowing service recruiters to operate in the Union."

When asked if recent student protests against various recruiters were part of the reason for removing the recruiters from traffic areas of the Union, Kottner replied, "No, definitely not."

Bowen's statement said that the matter had been complicated because the annual Careers Conference being held on campus had tied up placement office operations.

Miss Helen Barnes, director of the Office of Business and Industrial Placement, said Wednesday that space for the Marine recruiters had not been reserved.

When they arrived at her office Tuesday she had not been informed about them and it was necessary to place them in Barack No. 1 behind Gilmore Hall due to lack of space, she said.

Office Space Reserved

Miss Barnes said she expected to give the recruiters an office in the Union Thursday. She expected an overflow Thursday, when 8 interview rooms and 14 organizations would be represented.

Tester said he preferred the barracks building to Union offices because "we can do more there." He said he regretted leaving the Union God Feather Lobby, however, because traffic areas were better for recruiting than isolated offices.

Tester stressed that he did not like the new policy, but that "the University has been courteous and cooperative within the limits of its decision."

Warren Report Critics To Attend Symposium

Mark Lane, Edward Jay Epstein, and Richard H. Popkin, authors of critical books about the Warren Commission Report on the assassination of President Kennedy, will be at the University March 8 and 9 to participate in a symposium, "The Warren Commission: A Critical Analysis."

The symposium was announced Wednesday by Jay Hanson, A3, Jefferson, publicity chairman of the Union Board Symposium Committee.

Lane Challenges Commission

Lane is author of "Rush to Judgment" and appeared twice before the Warren Commission to present the results of an investigation he conducted into the assassination. In his book Lane challenged the commission's decision that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the assassination.

Lane announced Monday that if he were asked he would help Jim Garrison, district attorney of New Orleans, in Garrison's investigation of the assassination. Garrison recently announced that he had uncovered a conspiracy in the assassination.

Lane will give a speech at 4 p.m. March 9 in the Union Main Lounge.

Discussion To Be Held

Lane, Epstein and Popkin will participate in a panel discussion in the Union Main Lounge at 8 p.m. March 9. The Panel will be moderated by Christopher Lasch, professor of history at Northwestern University. Lasch is a former professor of history at the University.

Questions from the audience will be answered by the panel after their discussion. The two speeches and the panel discussion will be free. Coffee will be served after Epstein's lecture.

Schedules Listed

Jan Ahlberg, A3, Manhasset, N.Y., chairman of the Symposium Committee, gave the men's tentative schedules at the University. Epstein is scheduled to arrive March 8. At noon he is to attend a Union Board luncheon, at 4 p.m. a political science coffee, at 6 p.m. a Christus House dinner, and at 8 p.m. he is to give his lecture.

Lane and Popkin are scheduled to arrive March 9. At noon Lane is to appear at a luncheon with students while Epstein goes to a Rotary Club luncheon. A press conference with Lane, Epstein and Popkin is scheduled at 2 p.m. Lane's lecture is scheduled for 4 p.m. and the panel discussion for 8 p.m.

Lane and Epstein are to visit some classes while they are at the University.

The Fire's Out; Where Was It?

Apparently the fire is out.

The Campus Security Department has recovered a stolen fire extinguisher taken from the English-Philosophy Building by someone who said he was taking it to put out a fire.

Security Chief John Hanna said Wednesday that five students pulled the 20-pound extinguisher to his office Wednesday afternoon. The students said they found the extinguisher in an apartment of a former student who had been rooming in the same house. They didn't know who it belonged to, however, until they read about the theft in Wednesday's Daily Iowan.

On Feb. 3, when the extinguisher was stolen, a janitor told the Security Department he saw the extinguisher being taken, and when he asked the person why he was taking it, the person replied, "To put out a fire." The extinguisher, along with its cart, is valued at $58.

Opera Auditions Won By Student

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Constance Penhorwood, G, Fremont, Ohio, won the New York Metropolitan Opera's regional auditions Wednesday.

Mrs. Penhorwood, a soprano, sang "Javotte," from Delibes' "Le Roi L'a Dit," which will soon be produced by the Opera Workshop. She won $300 and a trip to the national auditions this spring in New York.

Mrs. Penhorwood, who performs under the name of Costanza Cucaro, was featured last summer in the opera workshop's production of "Cosi Fan Tutti," in the role of Despina.

Twenty persons competed in the regional auditions held at the University of Minnesota.

Judge Urges Traffic Safety

By PHIL FLEMING
Staff Writer

Pedestrians pose a safety problem in Iowa City, according to Police Judge Marion R. Neely.

Maintaining the safety of people who cross city streets has become such a problem that Neely has announced a new "crackdown" aimed at motorists who fail to yield the right of way to pedestrians in crosswalks.

The get tough policy is the result of what Neely describes as far too many car-pedestrian accidents within the city in the past several months.

Caution Needed

"The number of near accidents indicates quite clearly that motorists and pedestrians need to be concerned as they cross Iowa City's business streets," Neely said. "Unfortunately, a number of people have suffered injuries because motorists have failed to yield the right of way to pedestrians in crosswalks," he said.

Neely said the "crackdown" was the result of two major problems.

"I am concerned about the motorist who drives through a crosswalk without slowing down when pedestrians are in it," he said. "This type of driver flagrantly violates the law and penalties will be meted out accordingly."

He said he was also concerned about pedestrians who invited trouble by walking against traffic lights and signs.

"If these violations don't stop, I am sure the city attorney will recommend strict enforcement of laws relating to the pedestrian duties," Neely said.

Neely said he would view any charges of failure to yield to pedestrians as being very serious.

Fines Increasing

To make sure his crackdown carries weight, motorists arrested in the future will have to dig deeper into their pockets.

"Fines are going up," the judge said. Recent violators who have appeared in court on such a charge have paid fines ranging from $25 to $45. Neely warned motorists fines could be as high as $100 or 30 days in the country jail.

He said the trouble was not with out-of-town motorists visiting here. The problem is one involving residents and students, he said.

"These people are apparently not concerned with showing courtesy to fellow drivers and pedestrians," he said. More common courtesy on the part of motorists would help solve the problem, he said.

30 Accidents Reported

Iowa City Police Chief John J. Ruppert said a total of 30 car-pedestrian accidents were reported during 1966. One accident resulted in the death of a child.

Neely said he felt it would be impossible to determine the true number of accidents involving cars and pedestrians. He said some accidents were not reported. This happens when the pedestrian involved, after being bumped or brushed by a vehicle, says he is not injured.

State laws require drivers to yield the right of way to pedestrians. This holds true for pedestrians crossing the roadway within any marked crosswalk where traffic control signals are not in place.

Neely said pedestrians also have a responsibility. State laws and city ordinances require pedestrians to cross in crosswalks or at street corners.

Neely said the pedestrian had a duty to obey traffic lights which have been set up for their safety. Pedestrians crossing at points other than crosswalks are required to yield the right of way to vehicles.

A PEDESTRIAN VS. THE MOTORIST showdown occurs time and again in Iowa City crosswalks, according to Iowa City Police Judge Marion R. Neely. The safety of the pedestrian has become such a problem that Neely has announced a "crackdown" on motorists failing to yield the right away to pedestrians at crosswalks. A total of 30 car-pedestrian accidents were reported in Iowa City during 1966.

Coordination needed

This will be a weekend of conflicts for University students.

Saturday night Henry Mancini will appear at the Iowa Field House. But competing with Mancini will be sorority rush and REFOCUS, an exchange of photography and cinematography.

REFOCUS was scheduled before the Mancini concert, but we have Union Director Loren Kottner to thank for scheduling Mancini right on top of REFOCUS. To make matters worse, sorority rush was scheduled for the same night.

Obviously quite a few students will not be able to take dates to the Mancini concert because sorority members will be tied up with rush. Other students will have a conflict with REFOCUS.

For the sake of students such conflicts should never occur. For once, the Union Board has got adequate seating capacity for a good performance, but there will undoubtedly be a smaller turnout.

There is a solution for all this, and we urge campus leaders and interested students to attend the Student Senate meeting next Tuesday night. Pres. Tom Hanson will present an article of the new constitution that will create a student activities board that will coordinate student activities.

At present there is no coordination. Groups that schedule functions go about their merry way setting up concerts and other functions without any idea that they are creating conflicts such as the one this weekend.

Saturday night will be a mess. The only good point about the conflict is that it will add support to Hanson's proposal. A student activities board could have prevented this conflict.

Rust needs financial help

Friday you can help pay the losses of Rust College students who were burned out of their dormitory in Holly Springs, Miss.

There was an estimated loss of $4,000 caused by the fire. The dormitory was not insured.

The University has helped Rust before in connection with the RILEEH program. Rust needs our help again — financially.

Students can contribute money Friday at Dean Hubbard's office in Old Capital, at the Union God Feather lobby, Burge lobby and Hillcrest lobby.

Even though you are going to be pinched for higher dormitory rates next year, give some money. These students don't even have a dormitory.

Apply for leadership

We're looking for guidance. That is, we are encouraging all interested students to consider running for a position on the Board of Trustees of Student Publications, Inc. (SPI). This Board is in charge of The Daily Iowan and Hawkeye yearbook.

This year SPI Board has openings for one 1-year term and two 2-year terms. To qualify, a student must have completed 26 semester hours, must not be on scholastic probation, and be registered at the University for the length of time elected.

Nomination papers are available at The Daily Iowan business office, 201 Communications Center, and must be returned there before 5 p.m. Tuesday. An orientation meeting for interested students will be held at 4 p.m. today at 200 Communications Center.

Reviewer hits theaters' sordid state

By NICHOLAS MEYER
Staff Reviewer

Since both "Dr. Strangelove" and "In the French Style" have been here before and since I wrote them up when they were, I will content myself with observing that "Dr. Strangelove" is a masterpiece of ferocious satire and deserves to be seen and that "In the French Style" isn't and doesn't. (Unless of course there are students of Addison Powell on campus who would be interested to see him. He plays Jean Seberg's father in the latter film).

The time has come, the walrus said, to talk of many things — is this case the sordid state of movie theaters in our fair city and the unhappy tale of their gross mismanagement.

It is more than a pity — it is downright amazing that the managers and owners of movie theaters in this town aren't interested in making any money. They show absolutely no desire and no imagination where enticing a college audience (potentially a huge one) is concerned. And what is worse, their handling of every aspect of the movie theaters which are under their supervision is so bad and so dumb that it would seem they are actively seeking to discourage anyone from going to any movies ever.

Take the advertisements, for example, when they are not lurid, smutty and suggestive of incredible lewdness in a film (they have the gall to say it is for the "adult-minded"), they are completely ungrammatical. A film that ends on Wednesday, for instance, has this information in quotation marks, either implying it is the title of the film, or else extreme doubt and sarcasm as to whether it will indeed be over on Wednesday. To complement this blunder, quotation marks are never used to indicate the title of a film on the theater marquee.

Now let us go inside. The situation does not improve. The short subjects are frequently asinine and aimed at a mongoloid intellect, if that. Conceivably they could be shown for children, but in that case why saddle people who have come to see a serious film (even a sophisticated comedy) with "Loopy de Loop?" Seeing a film at one of the four theaters in this town is an event of such adventuresome proportions that conquering the West pales in comparison. You can never tell what you'll be in for next, but it is possible to predict certain regular features of feature watching. If the film is in color, we can expect a hideous ad for something called "big, beautiful, theater color" in which "theater" is pronounced the way the Hill-billies say it. Next the projector breaks down a few times or else the projectionist falls asleep and forgets to start the other one up when the reel is over. Really, one can sympathize with the employment of mental defectives, but they ought to be given jobs where their particular aberrations won't affect their efficiency. Then we have the "Snack bar closes in Five Minutes" sign flashed on the screen and dubiously adding the film behind it — for the full remaining five minutes. And finally the film is stopped (last show) before the end titles appear on the screen so that the employees can go home early.

Can anything be done about this gruesome plight?

Iowa City theaters occupy the distracting position of the only poker game in town — the crooked one. Crooked it may be, but if you want to play . . . . Some thing could be done, I venture to suggest. Maybe if we deluged the theaters with letters of complaint or picketed the showings, I'm not sure. Whatever it would be, it would certainly take a little effort. Wouldn't it be worth it though? Just once to see a movie from start to finish without interruption of the unique brand supplied by this disinterested clique of small-minded businessmen?

'Eclipse' has little plot

By ALLAN ROSTOKER
For The Iowan

"Eclipse" is the third film in Michelangelo Antonioni's trilogy dissecting emotion in the modern world (the others are "L'Avventura" and "La Notte"). There is little plot and talk is at a minimum. The heroine breaks up with one man as the film opens and then takes up with another during its course. The reasons behind either decision are never made clear, for Antonioni is not interested in probing the psychological motives of his characters. Instead he gives us an episodic and fairly objective picture of the texture of their lives and the physical world they move in.

His visual style captures that world beautifully, for in its own terms that mechanical and complex world is beautiful, and Antonioni recognizes and pictures that beauty. His frames have the same geometric precision and balance as the modern architecture that dominates the land.

Yet many take Antonioni as condemning the world he so lovingly creates in his films. They see the final sequence of the film, in which the characters disappear altogether, as the director's comment on a world in which love cannot survive. The eclipse of the title is for them the eclipse of that emotion. However, Antonioni leaves the fate of the lovers ambiguous. Our last view of them is clinging to each other as if they are being threatened by some unnamed force. We know they are to see each other later that day. We never see that appointment kept.

The film ends instead on a montage of the neighborhood where they are scheduled to meet. What Antonioni does here is to take away from the individual drama of his characters and force us instead to reflect on the world in which all such future dramas will take place. If love is to survive, it must survive in that world. The real crisis of "Eclipse" is the crisis of the gap between our old ideas and emotions and a world which cannot help but modify them, if not change them altogether.

"Eclipse" will surely not be to everyone's taste. Its pace is deliberately slow and undramatic, and its characters are neither fully realized individuals nor representative figures. Many will find the film cold, intellectual rather than felt. Yet it is of tremendous visual beauty and interest, and Antonioni's narrative technique is unlike any other in the film world today. One is constantly aware in "Eclipse" of the presence of an artist in control of his medium. You can quarrel with him but you cannot help but respect him. "Eclipse" should be seen by anyone interested in the film as an art.

Coed 'splutters' at letter

To the Editor:

Sharon Pinney's letter to the editor in Tuesday's DI made me splutter. She asks that one of the "good sisters" get out of bed "a little earlier to let the poor little mites" (euphemism for elementary school students) into the school to protect them from the elements. First of all, considering that "good sisters" already get up at five, how much earlier would she like them to pile out?

Evidently, Miss Pinney has never taught school, for which mark of sanity I commend her. However, a day spent in the classroom would soon convince her that there's nothing like cold weather to take the smart out of the "little mites." The number of rubber bands, paper airplanes and smart-alecky remarks issuing forth from "the fountain of learning" is inversely proportionate to the amount of steam run off outside the classroom.

Cold, wind and snow are not abominations in the sight of the Lord. The Lord, assuming that there is one, did not create abominations. Men create abominations. Cold, wind and snow are good for healthy children.

The children and their parents know at what time the school doors are opened. The children have probably been told by the "good sisters" not to come until that time. Are the sisters supposed to babysit with the children, because daddy dumps them off on the way to work? Isn't it enough that the teachers have to look at them for the six and a half hours of the school day? Would Miss Pinney suggest that the children have the run of the school unattended? Or is she naive enough to think that they're going to sit in their desks and study all by themselves? Are the sisters supposed to leave the breakfast dishes in the sink and the beds unmade so they can open the school to accommodate 12 parents who couldn't wait to get their kids out of the house?

Miss Pinney, the sisters are not horrendous to communicate with at all. Despite their inhumanity to the "little mites," they communicate quite peaceably. They even laugh sometimes.

Does the CIA need a columnist on the payroll?

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — Many students have been wondering concerning how they felt to discover they were part of a CIA-financed operation, but nobody has bothered to interview anyone from the CIA to ask how he felt to be part of a student organization.

I had the good fortune to speak to a CIA man on a park bench in Lafayette Square. I knew he was a CIA man the minute I saw him because he was counting out $100,000 in cash to give to several students who were picketing the White House to stop the bombing in Vietnam.

One of the bills blew away, and when I retrieved it for the agent he told me to keep it and invited me to sit down.

"It's very discouraging," he said. "Here I thought I had joined a professional outfit, and it turns out that all I'm doing is giving money to students and labor union leaders."

"But that's a big responsibility," I said.

"Not everyone can be a James Bond." Just then a man came up and said, "I need $75,000 to send a Vassar student four up the Amazon."

The CIA agent counted out $75,000 and gave it to the man.

"May I have an extra $5 for lunch?" the man asked.

The agent gave him $20. "Everyone thinks we're made of money," he said to me after the man left. "But the truth is they're getting very sticky over at headquarters. You have to prove you're a completely independent organization without any possible government ties before you can become eligible for CIA funds."

"I guess there aren't many of those left any more," I said.

"Well, all I can say is that I'm getting out of the organization. It has no status any more. I was up for promotion the other day, and do you know who beat me out for it? One of the editors of the 'Harvard Lampoon'."

A motorcycle roared up and a tough, bearded fellow in a leather jacket came over. "We need 25 grand to start a chapter in Wilmington, Del."

The CIA man gave him $25,000.

"Are you behind the Hell's Angels, too?" I asked in amazement.

"Don't ask," the agent replied. "I don't know how to say this," I said, "but I have a syndicated column and I'm up to my ears in debt. I'm sure I could perform some service for you."

"How much do you need?" the agent asked.

"Could I have $10,000 to start with? With that kind of money I could really fight communism."

He reached into his satchel and counted out the cash. "Well, that about cleans me out," he said. "I'll have to go back to Langley and get some more."

"Thanks a million," I said gratefully. "Don't mention it. We've been trying to put a columnist on the payroll for a long time now. Besides, you have an honest face."

Corporations Probed

The external environment within which the corporation exists today is having a greater impact on corporate life than the internal environment, according to Dr. Arvid V. Zuber of the Neisler Laboratories.

Group Leader Asks Concern For Vietnam

The newly elected chairman of the Vietnam Peace Committee, Peter Noerdlinger, said recently his organization would do anything necessary to create a public awareness of the "true" situation in Vietnam.

Noerdlinger, an associate professor of physics, was elected last week by the 31 University students and faculty members and local residents who make up the committee.

According to Noerdlinger, the committee's name change from Vietnam Day Committee to Vietnam Peace Committee reflects the addition of new activities.

Formerly, the committee was patterned after a California group of the same name which held day-long Vietnam vigils each month. The Iowa group now intends to broaden its program from one-day vigils to include a newsletter, Viet Message, the sponsoring of speakers and the maintenance of a literature table in the Union.

Zuber focused on three aspects of a corporation in a speech presented at the second day luncheon of the Careers Conference Wednesday.

A corporation, according to Zuber, is a legal entity, an economic entity, and a social entity. It arises through an act of the state and it is subject to law from its birth. Its existence depends upon doing a job, or many jobs, in such a way that the public at large will pay for it. It is made up of a definable group organized to perform more or less specific functions, he added.

The legal and social conditions, in which a corporation finds itself, are related.

"Social pressures produce laws," he said, "and many of the legal requirements of the future will be generated by the pressures of an increasingly crowded society."

"There are several ways to react to new pressures, but the pattern I see will be of commitment, of contributions by the business community, and of people and resources to study and solve the problems as they appear. The pattern, more and more, will be one of participation in the problems rather than resistance," Zuber said.

He gave his reason for this opinion as: "The largest reservoir of skilled problem solvers is in the business community, and the people comprising this reservoir are essentially problem oriented people."

The internal environment of the corporation will effect the newcomer more in his early days of business life, because the external environment will filter down only as expressions of corporate policy, Zuber said.

Initially, he said, the newcomer works within a framework. Later on, it will form a framework. The life of a corporation depends upon how well these things are done, he said.

Changes take place slowly within a corporation and Zuber warned that people might find their books were ahead of actual practices.

Zuber concluded by saying, "The contributions made by the corporations are major. It has not been accidental. Their contributions have been made by the intelligent mobilization of technical skills within the disciplines of the market place."

Ban Draws Fast Reply

One of the Student Senate's recommendations made at its Tuesday meeting drew fire from Iowa City Attorney Jay Honohan Wednesday. The recommendation asked that the Iowa City Council ban student parking in metered areas from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Honohan said the city could not ban any specific group of students from parking in a certain area. He called the recommendation "100 per cent illegal."

Honohan's statements were then criticized by Student Body Pres. Tom Hanson who said, "I wish the city attorney would withhold his comments to the press before the senate is able to send him a copy of the traffic resolution."

Spring Sorority Rush Begins This Weekend

Open houses, excitement, tension and a new policy will mark sorority rush beginning this weekend.

Spring rush, an annual event sponsored by Women's Panhellenic Association, will last two weekends. According to Miss Helen Reich, Panhellenic adviser, this is due to an increased number of sororities taking part, more rushees, and conflict with Saturday classes.

Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 9:40 p.m. approximately 140 rushees will attend open houses at the 16 sororities.

Late Monday afternoon the rushees will receive invitations for tea parties which will be held from noon to 6 p.m., March 4.

March 5 rushees will attend two preference parties, receiving invitations to pledge the next day. Pledging services will take place at 5 p.m., March 6.

Alpha Epsilon Phi colony, rushing for the first time, and Delta Gamma will hold their parties at the Union.

To be eligible for rushing and pledging, a girl must have at least a 2.2 GPA. Entering freshmen must have graduated in the upper half of their high school class and have at least a 2.5 average.

Money Is Sought To Aid Students

A fund drive to replace possessions lost by men of Hilltop Dormitory at Rust College, Holly Springs, Miss., when the dormitory burned down Jan. 29, will be conducted Friday on campus.

Rust is one of two Southern colleges in the Rust, Iowa and LeMoyne Expanding Educational Horizons (RILEEH) program.

Neither the dormitory nor the belongings of the 30 men residents were insured.

City High Plans Children's Play

"Aladdin and His Magic Lamp," a tale from the famous "Thousand and One Arabian Nights," will be performed at 4:15 p.m. March 9 at City High School Auditorium.

The annual children's play, presented by the Rockefeller Traveling Playhouse, is sponsored by the Iowa City Recreation Department and the Iowa City Children's Theatre.

Tickets for the performance are available at the City Recreation Department from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. until March 9.

Clubs, organizations, and groups of 10 may reserve blocks of seats for the performance.

Panel Discusses Business Needs

The small business cannot succeed unless it expands, sells a unique product, or provides a service people must have, a panel of four local businessmen said Wednesday afternoon.

John B. Wilson, Derrold M. Foster, Maynard I. (Moe) Whitebrook, and William O. Terry, discussed problems facing small businessmen at the last session of the 22nd Annual Careers Conference.

"The small business is like the small farm; it is disappearing and there is no way to get back to it," said Wilson.

It is very difficult to start a new business in a locality where the owner is unknown, members of the panel agreed.

Contacts Needed
"The prospective small businessman must know the people he is going to be doing business with before he begins," said Whitebrook. You can't start a business without personal contacts in the community," he said.

"It's not what you know, but who you know," said Terry.

Members of the panel said the small business makes great demands on the owner's time.

"To make a small business a success, the owner must start work early and leave late. There is no 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. work-day for the small businessman," said Wilson.

"The small businessman will probably have to sacrifice his social life to his business," said Foster.

Renewal Debated
Members of the panel debated briefly the federal urban renewal threat to small businesses in Iowa City.

Urban renewal is a definite threat to Iowa City's small businesses, according to Wilson.

"The money spent by the increased number of customers drawn downtown after a renewal program would not offset the raise in business overhead such a program would cause. Rising overhead would cut into profits, causing businessmen to either raise prices or go out of business," he said.

Contest Set For Speakers

As part of the on-campus speech program, the Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts is sponsoring the local contest of the Northern Oratorical League.

Member schools include the University of Michigan, Northwestern University, the University of Wisconsin, Western Reserve University, the University of Minnesota as well as the University of Iowa. The purpose of the league is to encourage public speaking at the member schools.

Whitebrook agreed that the number of customers drawn downtown after a renewal program would increase slowly, but said that in the long run there would be a large enough growth in consumer spending to offset increased business costs.

"A number of large businesses have moved to the suburbs lately. When these stores moved they drew downtown business with them. Businessmen must take pride in the downtown area and improve it if it is to remain profitable," he said.

NU Names Athletic Director Big 10 Slaps Illinois Hard

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Tippy ship vacated Dec. 1 by Stu Holcomb. Holcomb, like Dye a former Ohio State star athlete, resigned to become general manager of the Chicago Mustangs in the New North America Soccer League. As a Northwestern administrator, Dye will serve without a contract at the pleasure of the school president, Dr. J. Roscoe Miller.

CHICAGO (AP) — Big 10 Athletic directors Wednesday called for the University of Illinois to dismiss football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant basketball coach Howard Braun or show cause why the school's membership in the conference should not be suspended or terminated. The University has five days to decide whether to appeal the ruling in its athletic slush fund scandal to faculty representatives. There was no immediate word from Illinois other than a prepared statement by U. of I. President, Dr. David D. Henry, which said:

"The university's special representative in this matter will make a complete report to me and other university officials and after a complete and thorough analysis, a statement will be issued by this office."

The athletic directors, sitting as a jury in trying the Illini's self-acknowledged financial aid irregularities, said that Elliott, Combes and Braun "have been in violation of certain conference rules and regulations relating to financial assistance to athletes and to the source and uses of funds in the recruiting of athletes."

The directors voted unanimously to invoke the penalty prescribed in this conference rule:

"Any member university which employs or retains on its athletic staff anyone who has violated, or who has been a party to a violation of the provisions of this rule recruiting regulation, or who encourages others to violate this rule shall be required to show cause why its membership in the conference should not be suspended or terminated."

Appeal is open, not only to the university, but also to the affected staff members.

"In the absence of any appeal, the recommended penalty will necessarily be referred to the faculty representatives for implementation since only that group can act upon membership status," said Commissioner Bill Reed.

The athletic directors also referred to the faculty representatives the final determination of eligibility of 12 Illinois football and basketball players, who received unauthorized financial assistance.

Reed said the athletic directors, to protect the rights of appeal, agreed that they would make no further comment at this time and directed Reed to do likewise.

MILLER VAN EMAN

Everyone can read of what happens to Iowa's basketball team in the games when it plays on the road, but how many fans know what happens from the time the team leaves for the game until it returns? That's the question we were asking ourselves Monday when we were preparing to leave with the team for Tuesday night's game with Minnesota at Minneapolis. So just for the record, we kept track of our experiences on the trip this time to give readers some idea of what it's like for the team when it goes on the road.

For most of its road trips, the Iowa team chartered a Purdue Airlines DC-3 out of Lafayette, Ind., the home of Purdue University. It did on this one too. The airlines, owned by Purdue University, also offers the same service to other Big 10 schools.

Though the game was on Tuesday, we left Monday to, first of all, give us time to get there in case of bad weather, and secondly to get oriented to the city and the playing court so that the players would feel comfortable at the game.

We were scheduled to leave from Iowa City Airport at 1 p.m., but it was actually about 1:30 p.m. before we were able to take off.

Coach Plays Bridge
On the way up, Coach Ralph Miller, Assistant Coach Lanny Van Eman, team doctor Wesley Claybaugh and trainer Tom Spalj had their usual bridge game in the front of the plane and Gerry Jones, Sam Williams, Lew Perkins and Harry Venik sat across the aisle from them and conducted a sometimes peaceful and sometimes not so peaceful game of hearts. The rest of us either slept, read magazines or looked out the window at the snowy countryside some 2000 feet below.

We landed in Minneapolis at about 3:15 p.m. and quickly gained an appreciation for Iowa weather. Anytime you think it's cold here, subtract 10 degrees and imagine yourself in Minneapolis. They said it was 2 above zero, but if they would have said 20 below I think I would have believed them. And some 44 inches of snow on the ground didn't make it seem any warmer.

No Cabs
At any rate, the taxi-cabs are on strike in Minneapolis and no charter buses were available, so we had to wait in the lobby of a flight agency for an hour before the coaches were able to round up three cars to get us to the hotel.

Dick Agnew, Williams, Jones, Perkins, Venik, Pete Taylor, sports director at WSUI, and myself all rode in a car with Coach Miller, who drove.

Except for a brief stop for a train, our trip in went smoothly and we arrived at our hotel — The Northstar Inn — at about 5 p.m. We parked the car in the hotel's parking ramp and headed for the elevator. It was a tight squeeze, but we packed everyone in along with a couple of other guests.

"I don't know who they are, but they look like a basketball team," said a stranger in the corner of the elevator. "Which one is it," he asked.

"Iowa," we said proudly. "From Iowa City?" he asked. "Uh huh," we said.

"Say, what happened to you guys against Wisconsin Saturday night," he asked.

"We played," grinned Coach Miller.

When we got up to the seventh floor where we were to check in, we found ourselves to be in one of the finest hotels in Minneapolis. Pete and I found the full realization of this when we tried to get something to eat in the hotel later that evening — the cheapest thing on the menu was $3.50 and that was southern fried chicken. It was good.

Where did the team eat? "We all went out," smiled Sam Williams. "I ate in the basement of Kresge's. It wasn't high priced at all."

Oh well, we thought, live and learn. That night the players were allowed to go to a movie or wherever they chose — just so they were back for bed check by 11 p.m.

Coach Gets Lost
The next morning we left the hotel about 10:30 to go to Williams' Arena for a 45-minute practice session. Well, the rest of the team left at 10:30 a.m. anyway. But Coach Van Eman, who we were with, lost the car in the parking ramp and it took him about 15 minutes before he could remember where he had left it.

Harry Venik, Dave White, Pete and myself waited where it was warm while he and manager Dave Arkovich looked for it and later inquired of him, "Where'd you find it coach?"

"Let's not be funny boys," said Van Eman with tongue in cheek. Just as we were leaving then, we asked the coach how far it was to the Minnesota fieldhouse.

"It's not very far, but at the rate I'm going this morning we may never get there," said Van Eman with a grin.

Well, anyway after a 45-minute tour of Northwest Minneapolis, we arrived at Williams' Arena where we found the rest of the team already practicing.

Miller Smiles
Coach Miller just smiled when he saw us come in.

The players limbered up for about 45 minutes on the main court at Williams' Arena and then went to the locker room for a briefing on the Minnesota team. There Coach Van Eman, who had scouted the Gophers previously this season, gave them a detailed description of each of the Minnesota players' abilities, stressing their strengths and weaknesses.

After that it was back to the hotel where the team ate lunch together at 2:30 — the last meal they were to eat before the game.

We checked out of the hotel at 6 p.m. that night. By 7 p.m. the team was in the locker room at Williams' Arena for its pre-game briefing and by 7:30 was out on the court to warm up. The cheer it got when it came out almost equalled that which Minnesota got a few minutes later.

Attendance Poor
In the game, however, the Minnesota fans predominated — that is, they did when Minnesota was ahead. Before that they weren't too excited about the whole thing.

To show you the enthusiasm of the Minnesota basketball fan, Williams' Arena seats 18,075 — largest college capacity in the United States — but Minnesota could only attract 7,725 fans Tuesday night.

The game seemed to be a replay of just about every game Iowa's been in in the past few weeks — the Hawks' opponent again had one of its finest nights of the season against them. Minnesota shot 55.5 per cent for the game — its best effort of the season, while Iowa could manage only 33.3 per cent of its shots — its worst effort of the season.

Still there was a difference of only two points on the scoreboard, 88-86, and that only resulted after Tom Kondla had scored on a desperation jump shot with five seconds left.

Another "Tour"
Well, anyway, the team never stays around too long after an away game — especially after it loses. It was showered and dressed this time in 25 minutes and we were on our way to the airport.

Jones, Breedlove, Perkins, Norman, Phillips, Dr. Claybaugh, Pete and myself were in the same car this time, with Dr. Claybaugh driving. It was pretty quiet most of the way. The guys didn't feel too much like talking. Even the fact that Northwestern lost didn't cheer them up much. There wasn't any way to get around the fact that we had lost.

Minneapolis is a confusing town to begin with — all the side streets look the same. And if you're not familiar with it, it can be even more confusing. By now I think Dr. Claybaugh has had his fill of it, because it took him an hour and a half to find the airport and the De Pont Aviation Co., the place where the plane was parked.

When Coach Miller saw us he just smiled.

Home Sweet Home
Before the game we had planned to take off about 10:30 p.m. and to arrive in Iowa City by 12:30 a.m. Wednesday morning. It was 12:30, however, before we even left Minneapolis.

Box lunches of chicken dinners were served on the way back and were a welcome sight to a bunch of guys who hadn't eaten since 2:30 the afternoon before. But just as the box lunches were a welcome sight, so was Iowa City. We caught a tail wind on the way back and flew the 300 and some odd miles in just one hour and 20 minutes — less time than it had taken us to get from Williams' Arena to the airport.

At the airport the coaches and players went their separate ways.

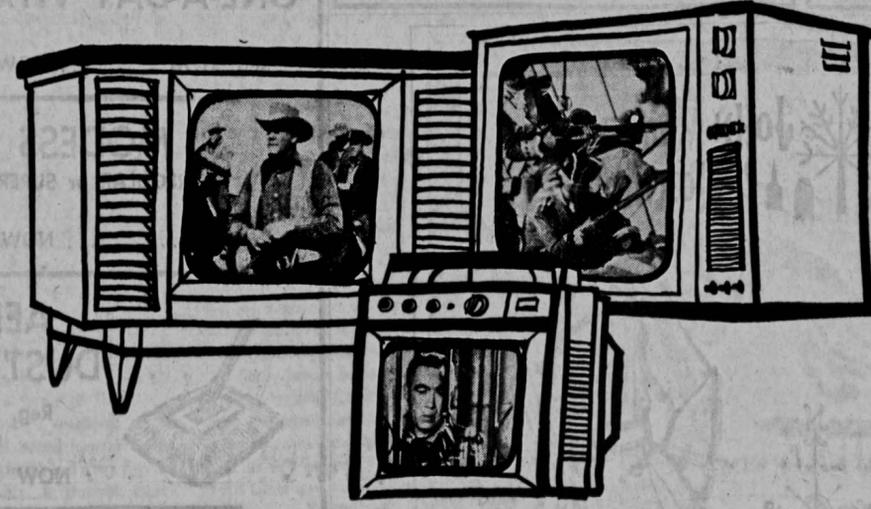

"Same time tomorrow, coach?" asked Gary Gottschalk. "Yep," said Miller, "same time tomorrow."

ELLIS WINS
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sammy Ellis of the Cincinnati Reds soared to a 76 Wednesday but still won the National Baseball Players Golf Tournament by four strokes.

The 24-year-old Ellis, who carded a 38-38 and wound up with a total of 90, was trailed by Alvin Dark, manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

Christian Athlete Association Makes Headway In Iowa City

By RICK GARR Staff Writer

The balding, muscular assistant football coach sat atop the desk facing the small group of long-legged young men and began to speak in hushed tones.

In any other situation one would expect coach Bob Watson to talk on the red dog, the safety blitz or the half-back draw.

WATSON

This evening, however, he quietly began by saying, "Well fellas, I think we could begin with the Gospel of John."

The group then opened their well-worn Bibles and the scriptural discussion began. There in the Athletic Office Building coach Bob Watson and former head basketball coach Sharm Scheuerman were leading the regular meeting of the Iowa chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

F.C.A., with national headquarters in Kansas City, is a non-profit, interdenominational organization started in 1954 to "confront athletes and coaches and through them the youth of the nation with the challenge and adventure of following Christ."

It is privately financed by churches and business, and its advisory council reads like a Who's Who in sports. Under its board of directors, the F.C.A. charters chapters in communities across the nation to conduct Bible study, view movies and read the group's publication, "The Christian Athlete."

Coach Watson said the Iowa group has not been officially recognized as a chapter by the national organization but he said plans are underway for this action to occur soon.

"To qualify I think we have to elect officers and get so many faculty members and clergymen for sponsors before we can be recognized," he said.

The group began meeting informally last spring, and its plans to meet every other Thursday this semester in room 203 of the Athletic Office Building.

University athletes from all sports are welcome to come to the meetings to participate in the Bible study and other programs, the coach added.

Although only seven attended the last meeting, Watson predicted the membership would grow to "somewhere between 12 and 25."

Watson said he believed high school boys could come to these meetings, "but I think the national headquarters would prefer they had their own chapters in each high school. In a college town like this though, I don't see why they couldn't be arranged."

Tickets Available For Buckeye Game

Students are reminded that only two days remain in which they can purchase student tickets for Iowa's final home basketball game of the season against Ohio State. The game will be played Saturday, March 4 in the Field House, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Student tickets for the game are $1 and spouse tickets are $1.50. Both may be picked up in the concourse to the basketball arena today and Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A second student ticket may be purchased if the student has ID card and certificate of identification of a second person. Those purchasing spouse tickets must be able to prove they are married if they are not listed as married in University records.

DICK TAMBURO, former Michigan State All-America center and for nine years assistant coach at Arizona State, will become an Iowa assistant football coach this spring. He replaces Dick Mansperger, who resigned last week to go with the Dallas Cowboys.

Intramural Cage Teams To Open All-University Playoffs Tonight

By PAUL STEVENS Staff Writer

A vast field of 150 intramural basketball teams opened competition three months ago with hopes of gaining the University championship rounds. That figure was decreased four-fold when play-offs began just after resumption of classes following the semester break. Now 12 teams, seven in the heavyweight division and five from the lightweight league, remain in the running.

The figure will be diminished by three tonight in quarterfinal games of the heavyweight division. The trio of games will be played on the varsity court at the Field House.

The quarter-finals open when Mathematics, the Independent League champ, meets Totten, the winner of the Town League, at 7:30 p.m. At 8:30, Grimes, the Quadrangle champ, plays the professional fraternity winner, Phi Delta Phi. The 9:30 p.m. contest pits Third Floor, Rienow-South Quad champ, against Kuever of Hillcrest.

Here is a brief summary of how each heavyweight quarter-finalist gained their respective league championship. Independent — Mathematics (4-0 record) drew a bye. Town League — Totten (4-1) defeated then-unbeaten McClean, 26-24. Quadrangle — Grimes (7-0) downed Hempstead, 37-29. Professional Fraternity — Phi Delta Phi (5-1) beat Phi Beta Phi, 40-27. Social Fraternity — Delta Tau Delta (7-0) edged undefeated Delta Upsilon in overtime, 30-28. Rienow-South Quad — Third Floor (7-0) overpowered Eleventh Floor, 55-37. Hillcrest — Kuever (5-1) defeated Steindler, 28-24.

The lightweight division semifinals will be held Tuesday night at the Field House. Only one quarter-final game remains to be played. Phi Delta Phi, professional fraternity champ, plays Sixth Floor, Rienow-South Quad champ, at 6:30 p.m. tonight. The winner of that game meets Sigma Pi, the social fraternity winner, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. The other semi-final game, beginning at 9:30, features Larrabee, Quadrangle champion, against Bush, the Hillcrest champ.

The semifinal rounds for the heavyweight division will also be held Tuesday night. The date for the University championships is set for Thursday evening, March 2, on the varsity floor. Consolation and championship games for each of the two weight divisions will be held at that time.

Braves Sign H. Aaron For $100,000

ATLANTA, Ga. — Outfielder Henry Aaron has agreed to a two-year contract with the Atlanta Braves, making him the highest paid player in Braves history, the Atlanta Journal said Wednesday.

The star outfielder said he met with Bill Bartholomay in a y. Braves president, and agreed to the pact calling for $100,000 annually for a two-year period, the newspaper added.

Aaron and Bartholomay met in the latter's Chicago office and worked out the details of the agreement that had delayed negotiations on Aaron's contract, the Journal said.

"I've met with Mr. Bartholomay and I've agreed to terms," the slugging outfielder was quoted as saying from his Mequon, Wis., home. "I'll report for spring training next Tuesday." The Braves are training at West Palm Beach, Fla. He is expected to sign the contract at the training camp.

Southern Illinois Keeps Big Lead In College Poll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern Illinois won two more games last week and remained well entrenched at the top of the small-college basketball Top 10.

The Salukis, in the latest Associated Press poll announced Wednesday, received a total of 138 points for 116 for runner-up Kentucky Wesleyan. The leaders beat Washington, Mo., and Northern Michigan last week for a 17-2 record.

Kentucky Wesleyan increased its record to 18-1 by defeating Kentucky State, Northern Michigan and Chattanooga.

Only one other team below the first two remained in the same position last week. That's fifth-ranked Indiana State, 19-4.

Lincoln, Mo., with two impressive victories last week — 122-83 over Pittsburg, Kan. State, and 146-76 over St. Ambrose, Iowa — nudged ahead of Cheyney State into third place. Cheyney won three games but slid to fourth.

The Top 10 with first-place votes in parenthesis, season records through Saturday and total points:

1. S. Illinois (12) 17-2 138
2. Ky. Wesleyan 18-1 116
3. Lincoln, Mo. 23-2 79
4. Cheyney State 21-2 69
5. Indiana State 19-4 65
6. Akron 17-3 62
7. Gambling 18-4 38
8. Southwest Mo. 16-3 33
9. San Diego State 19-4 32
10. Howard Payne (2) 21-2 22

Yanks Open Training Without Elston Howard

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Veteran catcher Elston Howard was still at home in Teaneck, N.J., Wednesday when 28 pitchers and catchers reported to the New York Yankees' spring training camp.

For Howard, who will be 37 years old Thursday, it marked the first time in his 13-year career that he has been a holdout.

Originally, the Yankees reportedly wanted to cut some $10,000 from Howard's estimated $72,000 salary last year. They supposedly have reduced the size of the slice, but Howard still thinks the pay cut is too much.

General Manager Lee MacPhail has other Yankees to sign, but they aren't due to report until next Tuesday. They are Joe Pepitone, Charley Smith, Bobby Murcer, Horace Clarke and Steve Whitaker.

Concert Tickets Still On Sale

Tickets are still available for Saturday evening's concert by Henry Mancini.

Mancini, composer of "Moon River," "Baby Elephant Walk" and many other popular songs, will direct his 40-piece orchestra in concert at 9 p.m. in the Iowa Field House.

Tickets are on sale at Campus Record Shop in downtown Iowa City and the box office in the Union South Lobby. Prices are $3.25 and $2.75 for reserved seats on the main floor; $3.25 and $2.75 for the main floor bleachers; $2.25 for the first balcony; and $1.75 for the second balcony.

Saturday tickets will be on sale at the Union from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. they will be on sale at the Field House Box Office.

Appearing with Mancini and his orchestra will be the Four Preps, popular singers whose hit recordings include "26 Miles,"

Traineeships Still Available In Counseling Handicapped

Ten traineeships are still available for the coming academic year in the applied psychology program for vocational counseling of the mentally or physically impaired.

The traineeship grants, which are tax exempt, may be awarded to full-time candidates for M.A. degrees. A grant to the University by the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, makes possible these grants of $1,800 for the first academic year and $2,000 for the second, plus tuition both years. Students receiving the traineeships don't do extra work, but they accept a moral obligation to work in the field of rehabilitation after they graduate.

John E. Muthard, coordinator for the Rehabilitation Training Program, said the current Rehabilitation Counselor Education Program at the University would be expanded because there was a pressure from state rehabilitation agencies and centers for more trained counselors.

There were about 15 students in the program two years ago, but next fall 30 students are expected to join the program.

The training program prepares rehabilitation counselors to help mentally, emotionally, or physically impaired persons to become self-sustaining citizens.

Counselor Personalizes Service

One main facet of a rehabilitation counselor's work is to coordinate individual adjustment programs. The counselor serves as a bridge between the handicapped and those services which will help them fulfill their potentialities and needs.

With coursework in the College of Education, College of Medicine, the School of Social Work, and the Department of Psychology, the program, including the field work, can be completed in one and one-half years.

Students Do Field Work

Each student in the program is expected to do field work for one semester. At present there are five students doing field work. Michael Stokesberry, G. DuBogue, is at the Iowa Division of Vocational Rehabilitation at Fort Dodge; Roger Reddan, G. Iowa City, at the Minneapolis Rehabilitation Center, Minneapolis, Minn.; Thomas Hills, G. Iowa City, at the Iowa Division of Vocational Rehabilitation in Iowa City; and James Hanson, G. Iowa City, and Ervin Lewis, G. Iowa City, with the Oakdale Rehabilitation unit.

Program To Be Expanded

Muthard said beginning salaries for graduates who enter employment in the field ranged from $6,500 to $7,800 per year.

Students interested in this program should call 353-5515, or write to: John E. Muthard, Ph.D., Co-ordinator, Rehabilitation Counselor Training Program, College of Education, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

A BRONZE PLAQUE honoring the late Carrie Stanley, professor of English who died in 1962, is presented by Ray Marner (center) Lone Tree, Board of Education president, to Pres. Howard R. Bowen and Lois Brown, Al. Nichols. The Plaque will hang in the new women's residence hall named after the professor who taught for seven years in the Lone Tree school system after leaving the University. Miss Brown is a holder of the Lone Tree High School Carrie Stanley scholarship.

Journalism Prof Receives Grant

James K. Buckalew, instructor in radio-television journalism, has been awarded a $1,000 research grant from the National Association of Broadcasters.

Buckalew will conduct a "gate-keeper" study of television news editors and their preferences in editing and selecting news stories for television presentation.

Buckalew, who is developing the study in connection with his Ph.D. dissertation at the University, plans to gather data from 12 Midwest television news editors in both large and small markets.

Carrie Stanley Hall To Hold Open House, Tour Sunday

By BECKY HUXTABLE Staff Writer

An open house to formally introduce Carrie Stanley Hall, the newest women's residence, to the public will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Residents will guide visitors through the $2.3 million building, and refreshments will be served in the Currier Hall dining room.

The brick structure, which houses 563 coeds, is an annex to Currier Hall, the first of the four women's residence halls to be built at the University. Carrie Stanley Hall is connected at its second and third floor levels to the basement and first floor levels of the older building. Residents of the new hall eat their meals in the Currier Hall dining room.

Other Rooms Available

The first three floors of the hall, in addition to housing students, also have two television rooms, a student activities room, a recreation room, study rooms, a typing room, a luggage room, a laundry room and a main lounge where residents may receive guests.

The 10 floors, each housing about 60 coeds, have spacious lounges, with small kitchenettes, at the north end of the building. Large windows on the east, north and west sides of the lounges provide a view of the Iowa River and much of the campus and Iowa City.

The new hall, on the east bank of the Iowa River, is named for the late Carrie E. Stanley, professor of English, Miss Stanley was a teacher for 58 years, 34 of which she spent at the university, where she founded, and for 20 years directed, a writing laboratory for students with special problems in English.

Born in Toledo

Miss Stanley was born in Toledo, Kan. in 1886. She taught in rural Adams County schools for several years before enrolling at the University, where she earned a B.A. degree in 1912 and an M.A. degree in 1915.

Before joining the University faculty in 1920, Miss Stanley taught in Lamoni, Marshalltown and Boise, Idaho. In 1934 she established the writing laboratory. In later years she said the widely copied laboratory was established "for those in need of special explanations about their use of English, or practice in writing or simply a bolstering of their confidence."

Miss Stanley retired, becoming an associate professor emerita, in 1954. She taught English at Lone Tree for seven years until six months before her death in June of 1962. John C. Gerber, head of the Department of English, said at that time, "Miss Stanley was one of Iowa's greatest teachers."

Hanging in the octagon-shaped main lounge of the new hall will be a plaque in honor of Miss Stanley, given by the Lone Tree Community School District.

The bronze plaque honors Miss Stanley as a "master teacher."

For the last five years, a Carrie Stanley Scholarship has been given to a Lone Tree High School senior for college study.

Tickets Still Available For Estes Program

Tickets are still available for the Sunday appearance of bass-baritone Simon Estes in the fourth University Concert Course program of the season. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Union Main Lounge.

Tickets are now on sale to the public for $2. They may be purchased between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. today and Friday and between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday in the Union South Lobby. Students may pick up free tickets at the same times upon presentation of ID cards. Any remaining tickets will be available from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

To Sing Mozart

Estes, a former University student, will open the program with the concert aria "Mentre ti Lascio, O Figlia" by Mozart and will close with three spirituals arranged by Burleigh — "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho," "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child" and "Wade in the Water."

Other selections will include German "Lieder" songs by Schubert and Brahms, Alvisi's aria from "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli, three songs by Tchaikovsky, and two arias from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart. Lowell Farr will accompany Estes at the piano.

Estes was a third-prize winner at the first Tchaikovsky International Vocal Contest in Moscow last June. He sang two of the University program's selections in that competition — the Mozart aria, "Madamina," and the Tchaikovsky song "Ni Slova, O Drug Moy."

Grant Asked For Fine Arts

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Higher Education Facilities Commission recommended Wednesday a $103,188 federal construction grant for the University's Fine Arts building.

The grant, which is still subject to approval by the U.S. Office of Education, is part of a $6.1 million recommendation made by the commission for 13 Iowa institutions.

NLRB Chairman To Appear Here

Frank W. McCulloch, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, will come to the University April 12 to speak at the 11th annual Labor-Management Conference.

McCulloch will discuss "NLRB Trends" during the morning session of the conference and will appear on an afternoon panel entitled "The Impact of Recent NLRB Decisions." He was appointed to the board during the Kennedy administration in 1961 after serving 12 years as administrative assistant to former Sen. Paul H. Douglas (R-Ill.).

The conference, entitled "NLRB in a Changing Industrial Society," is sponsored by the Center for Labor and Management in cooperation with the Iowa Department of Public Instruction.

Also scheduled to speak is Clarence A. Meter, NLRB regional director from Minneapolis, whose topic will be "NLRB: Its Responsibility to Labor and Management."

The University will be represented at the conference by Pres. Howard R. Bowen, Dean B. L. Barnes of the College of Business Administration, director Don R. Sheriff of the Center, and associate directors Anthony V. Sinicropi and Jude P. West.

New Institution To Replace Anamosa Reformatory Urged

IDA GROVE — Russell L. Wilson, chairman of the Iowa Board of Control, spoke out Wednesday for construction of a new medium security institution to replace the State Men's Reformatory at Anamosa.

In remarks prepared for a banquet at the Church of God here where he once was pastor, Wilson called Anamosa "an ancient... bastle type institution" without adequate space to meet the vocational and counseling needs of its inmates.

The restraining wall and custodial nature of the reformatory, Wilson said, conflict with modern correctional philosophy.

He said identification of inmates as convicts or criminals frustrated constructive efforts to rehabilitate them and "robs the men of their feeling of self worth."

Wilson added it was difficult to recruit a professional staff for an institution "which reflects a negative and punitive correctional philosophy which has proven itself to be as outmoded as the pony express."

The only possible solution would be complete abandonment of the Anamosa Reformatory, Wilson said.

He contended even if millions of dollars were spent to remodel the reformatory, "we would still have a makeshift, crowded physical plant of over-all ugly design reflecting the philosophy of detention, oppression and punishment of a century ago."

Added the Board of Control chief: "The replacement of two cell blocks, expansion of the yard area by demolition of the walls and construction of an outside dormitory and minimum renovation would cost approximately $3.5 million.

"That same $3.5 million would provide the first phase of a totally new, modern institutional complex."

The new medium security institution urged by the Board of Control is expected to cost from $15 million to $16 million.

Grad Studies School Costs

Increased investment for each student is related to higher quality education, according to research done in 324 of Iowa's 459 public high school districts by a University doctoral candidate.

Puran Lal Rajpal, India, working under the direction of Robert W. Marker, associate professor of education, concluded from his research that "more money invested generally means higher returns" in Iowa high school education. Rajpal received his degree at the February commencement exercises.

Rajpal's criteria for characteristics of educational quality were: composite score on Iowa Tests of Educational Development, total of units in the senior high school curriculum, qualifications of the teaching staff in the senior high school and sizes of class sections.

Cowles Buys Daily Paper In Thailand

BANGKOK — Cowles Communications Inc., publishers of Look magazine and a group of American newspapers, including the Des Moines Register and Tribune, announced Wednesday it had taken an option to buy the Bangkok World, one of the Thai capital's two English language daily newspapers.

The option had been held by the rival English language daily, the Bangkok Post, which is owned by Lord Thomson, Canadian-born international press magnate.

Cowles President Marvin C. Whatmore told a news conference he was hopeful the Thai government would approve transfer of the World's publishing license to Cowles.

It's Off To The Races For Iowa Legislature

DES MOINES — A bill to legalize parimutuel betting and initially establish two horse race tracks in Iowa came out of the starting gate onto the legislative track Wednesday.

Two different groups, both favoring different versions of parimutuel legislation, reported they had agreed on one broad bill to legalize and regulate horse racing.

The bill would provide that the state would receive 4½ per cent of all money wagered at horse tracks. The bill declares its purpose to be promotion of agriculture, "including horse husbandry and kindred and allied industries."

The measure would establish a state racing commission of three members, each serving six-year terms.

The commission would license all track officials, horse owners, trainers, jockies, grooms and other track workers, fix dates of race meetings; set admission prices, entry fees and other charges.

The track would take 10½ per cent and the state 4½ per cent of all money wagered. The rest would be paid out to winners.

International Living Program Application Deadlines Near

By LOWELL FORTE
Staff Writer

By way of Putney, Vt., you too can end up spending your summer in a country like Switzerland, Germany, India or Tanzania.

Putney is the United States' headquarters for The Experiment in International Living, an organization that arranges for 1700 American college students to live with families in 43 different countries each summer.

If your application was accepted by the Experiment, you would spend a week in Putney in an orientation class before departing for the country of your choice.

The orientation consists of acquainting the participants with the customs, language and politics of the country.

Programs in 17 of the 43 countries require the participants to have completed two or three years' study of the language. The Experiment conducts three-week intensive training courses for those who do not meet this requirement.

For most of the programs, the student is assigned to a family that has a member who speaks English and is the same age as the student.

Participants in a typical program are put into groups of 10 that are sent to the same city or area in the foreign country. For the first month, each member will live with his particular "family" in what is called a "homestay." The following month will be spent with the group and their English speaking counterparts touring the country.

There are some opportunities for independent travel. Each group is accompanied by a leader who has had previous travel experience.

The Experiment also provides special study programs devoted to topics ranging from French civilization in France, ensemble music in Germany, contemporary trends in East Europe, comparative law and theology in India to hiking in Switzerland.

Such special programs include the regular "homestay" period, but the second month is either eliminated or devoted to the work or study programs.

The cost ranges from $250 for a summer in Canada to $1750 for a summer in Australia. Transportation is the main determinant for expense. The only added costs are what the participant spends for souvenirs and other items.

For those who can't afford the cost of a trip, the Experiment provides financial assistance to qualified applicants in the form of scholarships and non-interest bearing loans.

Grades are not a strict determinant in being accepted. Instead, when a student submits his application, he is required to have four recommendations from former employers or professors. The recommendations are used to tell about the applicant's "adaptability, open-mindedness and carefulness in judgments."

Trudy Shimko, G. Omaha, Neb., the campus representative of the Experiment, said the deadline for applying for a scholarship or loan had been extended to Tuesday. The previous deadline was Feb. 13. The general deadline for applications from those wishing to pay their own expenses is March 13.

Miss Shimko said the applications could be obtained from her, from Dean Hubbard's office or by writing to the Experiment in Putney.

Since the Experiment's founding in 1932 by Dr. Donald Watt of Putney, more than 22,000 Americans have participated in its programs.

The first student groups will begin leaving the United States in late June.

THE INCONVENIENCE of working in buildings spread all over town will be at an end for the American College Testing Program when their new $1.5 million center is completed in the fall of 1968.

Construction Now Underway On $1.5 Million ACT Center

By BECKY HUXTABLE Staff Writer... Work started Monday on the American College Testing Program's new $1.5 million building in Iowa City.

Because of ACT's close ties with over 1,400 educational institutions, many people are under the misconception that ACT is bound to the various colleges.

tested $45,795. ACT's role is not limited just to testing, however and rapid growth can be seen in other areas, also.

The American Testing Program was founded in 1959. It serves as a central agency for the collection, analysis, processing, and reporting of information for use in educational planning by college-bound students and their parents, high school counselors, college administrators, and educators.

In its first year of operation, 1959-60, ACT tested 133,000 college-bound high school students. Seven years later, 1965-66, ACT

Since ACT has become more than just a testing service it has developed a data bank of surprising proportion and accessibility. Each year these data continue to expand in quantity and in scope.

Local Control Is Key To HACAP

By TOM MATTAUSCH Staff Writer... The Hawkeye Area Community Action Project (HACAP) is accomplishing a much-needed community attitude change toward Johnson County's lower-income residents, according to Arthur Douglas, HACAP director.

that local communities can deal with local economic problems better than federal or state agencies... Residents Govern Board... CAP chapters are governed by a board of local residents.

HACAP began operations in June, 1966. Projects initiated by the organization include: a group of four "committee aids" who provide a general counseling service to low income people...

Douglas, "are all members of the low income group. Their job is to inform other such people of HACAP and to inform HACAP of residents who need help."

Students who know how to live live at Lakeside Apartments

Lakeside is more than an apartment house. It is a totally new way of living. For instance, how many "apartment houses" have - steam rooms health and exercise room heated swimming pool color TV's private party rooms cocktail lounges billiard tables picnic and barbeque areas ping pong tables Kiddie Korral

Add to this air conditioning, heat and water, and Frigidaire appliances all at probably the same rent you're paying right now. Come out to Lakeside today. It's out Highway 6 East across from Procter and Gamble. For a Limited Time, You Can Move FREE to Lakeside Call 337-3103

EAGLE ORIGINAL MIRACLE PRICES

ARE YOU SPENDING MORE MONEY AND TAKING HOME LESS? GET MAXIMUM VALUE AT MINIMUM PRICES AT PIGGLY WIGGLY!

Eagle's Original "Miracle Prices" really are minimum prices . . . the bare minimum on literally thousands of products you need and use every week! With prices this low your savings are bound to add up . . . and they will, week after week! You'll find you save pennies per item, dollars per week, hundreds per year! This entirely new pricing policy will remain in effect in all the weeks and months to come, so you'll keep on saving every time you shop! And you can do your shopping and saving any day of the week, because the Original "Miracle Prices" are in effect all week long . . . not just a few particular days. All in all, these "Miracle Prices" are the best thing that ever happened to a budget . . . and they're happening now at both Iowa City Eagle Food Centers!
