A MYSTERIOUS STUDENT, hidden completely in a black bag, has confounded students at the University of Oregon. He's been attending a class in the bag for two months. — AP Wirephoto

—Student In Bag A Mystery—

'Phantom' Attends Class

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — A mysterious student has been attending a class at Oregon State University for the past two months enveloped in a big black bag. Only his bare feet show.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 11 a.m., the Black Bag sits on a small table near the back of the classroom. The class is Speech 113 — basic persuasion.

The Black Bag seldom speaks or moves. But a newsman who attended the class says his presence is overwhelming.

Charles Goetzinger, instructor of the class, knows the identity of the person inside. None of the other 20 students in the class do.

Attitudes Change
Goetzinger said the students' attitude changed from hostility toward the Black Bag to curiosity and finally to friendship.

"We must find a rationale for everything. Life is pretty well structured from birth to death. We always have a frame of reference for events," Goetzinger said.

"Then in walks a black bag with a human inside it. Nowhere in our frame of reference has there been such a thing. So we resent. But we're stuck, so we find reasons for it all. And once we find reasons, then we defend our reasoning. So now, we defend the Black Bag."

Bag Silent
Early in the term, students were required to give three minute talks. The Black Bag, when his turn came, stood in front of the class for four minutes without speaking.

But in his second talk, he mumbled a little and answered a few questions about himself. Most of his answers were, "I'm not at liberty to say."

The term ends March 13. Will the Black Bag disclose his identity?

Will He Reveal Himself?
He says he doesn't know.
"I might just walk out in my black bag, go somewhere and hide it and just be a human being again. I don't know."

He arrives and leaves in a car driven by a friend and apparently lives on or near the campus. He says there is no physical reason for wearing the bag, and he does not wear it to his other classes.

"No, I'm not malformed. No, I'm not a Negro, although discrimination enters into it. I am sure the Negro must be stared at and resented just like I am in the bag," he says.

Only Slight View
The black bag has no eyeholes. The wearer says, "Although I can see a little bit through the bag I can't register your emotions and you can't tell what I'm thinking at all."

Goetzinger, explaining the Black Bag's presence, says, "The student came to me before the term started and said he wanted to come to class in a black bag. I'm enough of a nut to try anything once, so I went for it."

Driver Learns Never To Turn Back On Auto

A man can't trust his own car anymore.

Harry E. Dow, 85, of 714 Iowa Ave., discovered this after being injured Monday in an unusual accident. Dow told police he was attempting to walk around his car when the vehicle accidentally ran over him.

Dow told police he had parked his car near his home with the ignition on and the car in gear. He told police he had applied the emergency brake before getting out of the car.

Police said when the man walked behind the car, the car rolled over him.

Dow suffered injuries to his right arm, leg and hand when the car pinned him up against a house at 712 Iowa Ave.

Dow was taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment of injuries and is listed in satisfactory condition.

Phi Delta Suspended, May Lose Frat Status

Phi Delta Theta has been suspended indefinitely from the Interfraternity Council (IFC) and is on the verge of losing University recognition.

The suspension was taken Friday by the IFC court which also recommended that University not recognize Phi Delta Theta as a fraternity. The court, comprising seven members, was unanimous in its decision.

A tight lid has been clamped upon the reasons for the suspension. Both IFC Pres. Stephen Wherry and M. L. Huit, dean of students, refused Monday to divulge the reasons.

Phi Delta Theta has not been in the good graces of the University and the IFC. The fraternity has been on disciplinary and conduct probation for a semester.

ISL Probes Student Role

The Iowa Socialist League discussed Monday night the role played by the student in the university of today.

William Cline, 103½ S. Clinton, Iowa City, said the university with its intellectual professors who might hold science above practicality, was not preparing its students for these practicalities.

Ross J. Peterson, A1, Des Moines, told the group that "massive student power over university matters would be nearly impossible in America today." He quoted a statement by Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California, in which Kerr said that no American university could stand without supporting the government. Peterson said that student power would break the university-government understanding and cause a cut in university funds.

Faith Carney, A3, Iowa City, said that "student resentment to such things as inadequate course material is no longer pointed out by apathy as in the past but rather by action."

Phi Delta Theta as a Fraternity

The general status of the fraternity was examined at its national convention Aug. 21 in Nassau, the Bahamas. No action was taken against the fraternity by the national fraternity because of "progress" achieved during the summer before the convention. During that summer a special operating program had been drawn up to foster morale and chapter activity.

After the national convention, the University and IFC also examined the status of the fraternity. Huit said that the University and IFC role was "supportive of the national fraternity's action."

Panel Advises Draft Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A citizens' panel recommended to the House Armed Services Committee Monday night tightening draft deferments for students and more emphasis on induction of younger men in the 19-25-year age group.

The report of the panel headed by retired Gen. Mark W. Clark was made public by the committee.

It supports the general philosophy of the present Selective Service System. It rejects proposals for a national lottery system and a universal national service system that would equate nonmilitary service with military duty.

Mere Uniformity Indicated
If approved by Congress, the recommendations would promote more uniformity in deferment procedures of local draft boards and reduce the likelihood of youths being inducted into military service after their 21st birthday.

The Clark committee is separate from the National Commission on Selective Service set up by President Johnson last summer in the wake of mounting student protests to the draft. That presidential group is expected to make its recommendations to Johnson later this week.

In contrast to the Clark panel, the presidential group is reported planning to suggest that Johnson ask Congress to revolutionize the draft with a lottery system.

Young Men Reported Favored
However, the presidential group is reported — as does the Clark committee — favoring taking younger men first. At present the draft begins with 26-year-olds and works down in the 1A bracket.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the national draft director, has favored keeping the draft system pretty much as it is and especially considers a lottery impractical. He has indicated he would not object to changing the age-order.

The new induction system proposed by the congressional panel would encourage local draft boards to meet monthly draft quotas by inducting 1A registrants in the 19-20 age group ahead of older registrants.

Age Ceiling Would Remain
Older registrants would continue to be eligible for induction until age 26 but at a considerably reduced priority.

The student deferment system would be revised to provide that all bona fide students of institutions of higher learning be granted a deferment while remaining students in good standing and until they received their undergraduate degree or reach age 24. Deferred students then would revert to the 1A pool for induction on the same basis as nonstudents in the 19-20 age group.

Students electing to claim a student deferment would waive any possible entitlement to a later deferment based on other than student status, except in extreme hardship cases.

Ticket Plan To Be Probed

By ELAINE SCHROEDER
Staff Writer

Football tickets, the University's policy on membership selection for fraternities and sororities, and a recommendation from the Housing Committee are scheduled for the agenda of the Student Senate meeting at 7 p.m. tonight in the House Chamber of Old Capitol.

The senate meeting will provide a forum for students to voice their opinions on the Board of Control's recommendation on the distribution of football tickets for next fall.

Only season tickets would be sold to football games at a cost of $10 with both permanent and individual pick-up seats available under the Board's proposal, according to William S. Power, A4, Newton, a student member of the board.

The major change in this policy from last fall's system of distributing football tickets is that tickets would be given out according to the identification card policy system.

The priority system would apply to both those receiving permanent seats and those who want to pick up tickets before each game.

Better Seats Available
Power said that under this proposal "people with individual pick-ups could get better seats than they did last fall."

Both faculty and student members of the Board of Control will attend the senate meeting to allow all students an opportunity to ask questions about the proposal.

Student Body Pres. Tom Hanson said he would bring up the question of Sigma Chi social fraternity at the meeting and ask the senators to interpret the statement in the Code of Student Life concerning autonomy in membership selection of campus organizations.

Alleged de facto segregation in Sigma Chi was discussed at a meeting of the Committee on Student Life (CSL) last week. Action by CSL could lead to the fraternity's expulsion from campus.

The Code of Student Life states it is University policy that "local student organizations be able to exercise free choice of members on the basis of their merits as individuals without restrictions as to race, color or national origin."

An organization which is unable to exercise such free choice as of Oct. 1, 1965, will have its Certificate of Recognition revoked by CSL, according to the code.

Chapter Suspended
The University's investigation followed an incident at Stanford University, Stanford, Calif., in which the local chapter of Sigma Chi was suspended by its national organization after pledging a Negro.

There have been several similar incidents at Eastern colleges in the last few years.

Although Sigma Chi's national rules have no whites-only clause, the rules stipulate that any new member must be "socially acceptable" to all members.

Under this rule any one of the 60 persons which make up the fraternity's national membership committee can veto any pledge proposed for membership by any chapter.

CSL warned Sigma Chi about the chapter's ability to exercise free choice in membership at the University in January of 1966.

If CSL revokes Sigma Chi's certificate of recognition the chapter would probably be forced to go local.

Hanson said he would ask the senators to make a recommendation to CSL on the interpretation of the code with regard to sororities and fraternities.

Also on the senate's agenda is a proposal from the Housing Committee which has not as yet been released.

Filing Marks Beginning Of Election Campaign

Petitions for president and vice president of Student Senate were filed Monday by John T. Pelton, A4, Clinton, and Lyle R. Krewson, A4, Van Horn. Pelton and Krewson were the first candidates to file for the election. Michael J. Wolfe, B3, Marshalltown and Edward J. Lemons, B3, Iowa City, also filed petitions for president and vice president.

Pelton and Krewson issued the following statement: "The University is for students. We feel that by achieving a position of responsibility to the student body, we will provide a vigorous and experienced student voice in University policy making. We will take a personal approach to student problems, which are the true issues of this campaign. There must be a united effort to attain these student-desire goals. We therefore look forward to a spirited and challenging campaign."

Pelton said he was running because of a "personal obligation I have to the University." If elected, he said he hopes to create "a better atmosphere in which to live."

Pelton is presently a senator-at-large for Student Senate. He is also Commissioner of Student Services which has administrative and financial control over People-to-People, Project Aid, the Freshman Intern Program for Student Senate, Orientation, All-Campus Elections and Student Services for Student Senate.

Pelton was president of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations in 1965-66, and president of the assembly of the Eastern Iowa Model United Nations in 1966-67.

During his freshman year, Pelton was a freshman intern for the senate and a member of Union Board. He was an orientation leader for three semesters.

Krewson has been a member of the Student Traffic Court for two years. He is a member of the Student Faculty Parking and Traffic Security Committee.

Krewson was commissioner of all-campus elections and University chairman of Young Republicans in 1965-66.

Applications for all senate positions are due at 5 p.m. today in the Union Activities Center. There will be a meeting of all candidates at 7 p.m. tonight in the Union Minnesota Room. This was changed from the original 7:30 meeting time.

IFC Asks Change In Liquor Policy

The newly elected president of the Interfraternity Council (IFC) has advocated a change in liquor control policy among fraternities.

Hugh Mossman, A3, Vinton, and other IFC officers elected last Sunday will be installed March 12. Other officers include: vice president, Mitch Dolier, A3, Chicago; secretary, David Peters, A2, New Hampton; treasurer, Bill Reubin, A3; and two senators, Carl Stuart, A2, Keokuk; and Bob Griffin, A3, Denison.

The basic goal of the new liquor control policy would be to strengthen "internal control," Mossman said. If this internal control is not maintained more pressure will be applied on the fraternities through the National and the Alumnae, he emphasized.

By "internal control" Mossman meant control within the fraternity itself. If this control within the fraternity would come then the IFC court could be used more sparingly, Mossman added.

Mossman's platform also includes plans for more direct contact between the fraternity system and IFC. Fraternity presidents, plus a representative from each fraternity, will hold informal meetings several days before every IFC meeting.

These informal meetings will result in a greater understanding between IFC and the fraternity system and will make the IFC meetings more efficient, reported Mossman.

—Salary Index Included— ICTA Supports Proposal

By CHARLES NORTON
Staff Writer

Members of the Iowa City Teachers Association (ICTA) gave unanimous support to the association's School Finance and Study Committee salary proposal for the 1967-68 school year in a meeting Monday afternoon at the City High School auditorium.

The proposal is to be presented today at a meeting of the Liaison Committee, comprised of members of the Iowa City School Board and the School Finance and Study Committee. The ICTA's salary schedule is a counter-proposal to one prepared by the school board.

The total cost of the ICTA's proposal would be $3,040,290. This is $105,412 more than the school board's proposal and $331,890 more than the present salary schedule.

Proposals Agree On Base
Both the ICTA and board salary schedules call for $5,500 as the starting salary of a teacher with a B.A. and no experience.

Michael A. Logan, 2108 Miami Dr., president of the ICTA, said the "single most important feature" of the ICTA's proposal was a salary index.

The index, he said, called for a 5 per cent raise each year for teachers with a B.A., a 6 per cent raise each year for teachers with an M.A., and a 7 per cent raise each year for teachers with 30 credit hours beyond an M.A.

Base salaries would be $5,500 for teachers with a B.A., $6,050 for teachers with an M.A., and $6,600 for teachers with 30 credit hours beyond an M.A. The base salaries are for teachers with no experience.

Board Proposal Lacks Index
The school board's proposal, Logan said, had no index but added it may mean more money for teachers with under seven years experience.

Several teachers said in the meeting that the index meant more to them than the possibility of higher salaries at the lower levels of experience provided in the school board's proposal.

Logan said the ICTA's proposal was a "professional salary schedule" and would help to keep career teachers in Iowa City.

The key to the school board's philosophy in its proposal was "flexibility," Logan said. He charged that the board's proposal was "so flexible, no one knows from one year to the next where it will flex." One teacher said the board appeared to "discriminate against career teachers."

Salary Computation Explained
The index that the teachers' group wants is a system of computing salaries from one base salary. The index is set at 1.00 for the salary of a teacher with a B.A. and no experience. The index then increases with each year's experience and advanced study. Salaries are found by multiplying the base salary by the applicable index.

According to Logan the school board's proposal uses a system where the base and top salaries are set. All other salaries, he said, are graduated to fit between these fixed limits.

Logan said that the attendance of over 270 teachers at the meeting indicated the support teachers were willing to give the ICTA proposal. He said this was a far greater turnout than usual.

A proposal for teachers to "sit in" at the school board's March 14 meeting met with applause from the group. The "sit in" would mean attending the meeting in order to show support for the ICTA proposal.

Directors Chosen For Union Board

Undergraduate directors of the 1967-68 Union Board were chosen recently by current board members.

The new directors will assume control under advisement of present board members, April 1, and will officially assume responsibility for the board May 1.

The function of the board, according to Director Tom Mattausch, is to provide a supplement of cultural and recreational activities for University students. Union Board sponsored events include: concerts, discussion groups, dances, movies, and poetry readings.

Newly elected undergraduate directors are: Susan Kostick, A2, Great Neck, N.Y.; Judy Burling, A3, Park Ridge, Ill.; Jill Wiley, A2, Cedar Rapids; Sally Holm, A2, Iowa City; Sharon Main, A4, Hinsdale, Ill.; Marys Balanoff, A3, Des Moines; Ardes Beisler, A3, Arlington Heights, Ill.; Stephen Meuller, B3, St. Ansgar; Robert Wilshire, A4, Omaha; and Diane Hawkson, A2, Kenilworth, Ill.

3 cheers and 1 tiger to Illinois campus paper

Three cheers and a tiger for the University of Illinois campus newspaper in its support of the Big 10 athletic directors who want three Illinois coaches fired. It is about time somebody stood up for some good old-fashioned honesty for a change, and we are proud that our counterpart, The Daily Illini, heads the movement.

"A violation is a violation, regardless of what anyone else is doing and regardless of what we think of those who have broken the rules," an Illini editorial said Friday. "It is often harder to acknowledge that a good friend has done something wrong. But when the evidence is there, there is little room for discussion. 'We agree with the Big 10.'"

It seems unlikely, however, that that movement will get very far, for it seems that The Daily Illini stands against virtually every group and citizen in the state of Illinois. Statements supporting the coaches have poured in from students, athletes, faculty members, alumni and sports fans, and even Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner.

And the justification common to just about all their complaints is, "Why penalize us? Everybody else is doing it."

That is not the point, of course. The point is that the Illinois Athletic Department has for several years been operating a slush fund amounting to as much as $21,000 for athletes in Big 10 competition.

Such a fund is strictly against Big 10 rules and Illinois knows it.

The Big 10 athletic directors invoked the penalty prescribed in the rules for such a violation, and presumably the Illinois Athletic Department could read and understand that penalty as well as anyone else.

The question of whether the penalty is too rough is overridden by the Illinois officials' knowing what that penalty was and, by their membership in the conference, agreeing to abide by it. There seems to have been no arbitrary application of judgment ruling at all.

So it is clear that the rule was there, the Illinois Athletic Department chose to violate it and was caught. The violation was reported to the Big 10 by Illinois Pres. David D. Henry, and the coaches ought to take their medicine as prescribed.

But the justification that "everybody's doing it" raises a serious point. We suspect that other such funds in Big 10 schools do exist outside conference rules.

And while that does not justify Illinois' operating such a fund, it suggests that the conference rules set up to protect Big 10 college athletics from corruption and unfair competition are not doing their job for lack of investigation and enforcement.

Unless strict enforcement is forthcoming, college athletics may someday go the way of prize fighting.

The lush, suave sound of Henry Mancini, the sound of full strings backed by light flutes and piccolos and 'floating' basses, captivated 4,400 listeners Saturday evening in the Field House.

Mancini, known for his film scores, television music and albums, played an hour and ten minute concert, marred in spots by confusion and mismanagement on the part of the Central Party Committee (CPC) and bad lighting and technical difficulties.

Mancini was ready at 9 p.m., the stated time of the concert. His orchestra was tuned and on stage. The audience was ready — that is, the audience that was seated. Nearly 60 patrons stood in the right aisle and almost that many waited in the left aisle for seats. Finally benches and seats were produced from the depths of the Field House and, at 9:20, the concert began.

The 40-piece orchestra, a myriad of strings and woodwinds, caught his style and Mancini on the podium was a model of suave, relaxed conducting. It was obvious that he felt at home with the orchestra — mostly a pick-up band of student musicians, from Indiana University and Northwestern. He brought section leaders and soloists from Hollywood.

His first number, a driving, orient-inspired number, featured his trumpet player, Bud Brisbois. The group sounded more like a stage band than a concert orchestra, with a full, rich, powerhouse sound, on the number from Mancini's movie score "Breakfast At Tiffany's."

Two microphones caught well the entire band, and solos by Mancini on piccolo, flute and piano, as well as drum, trumpet and sax solos. Some of the Field House side loudspeakers might have been used, however, to aid the listeners in the tired side bleachers.

"Mr. Lucky," "Dear Heart," "Baby Elephant Walk," all past Mancini hits were greeted by applause, as was a medley from his score of "The Great Race," including "The Great Race March," a labyrinth arrangement of marches and anthems.

Lighting Problems Obvious Just shortly after the beginning of the concert, the third violins complained that their music stand lights were out. Stagehands crawled through the musicians during the next two numbers re-connecting cords separated by an errant musician.

Films, soundoff in Union this week

By CHERYL ARVIDSON For The Iowan

Applications for Union Board committee chairmanships for the coming year will be available Wednesday at the Activities Center information desk. Any interested student may apply. Interviews are scheduled for March 7 and 8.

Soapbox Soundoff is scheduled from noon to 2 p.m. today in the Union Gold Feather Lobby. The discussion topic will be announced there.

A series of three films will be shown on tonight's 20th Century sequence. Featured films will include "Boundary Lines," a film which explores the various imaginary boundary lines that divide people from one another and discredit their existence; "A Picture in Your Mind," a sequel to "Boundary Lines," which shows the tribal roots of prejudice in a cartoon fashion; and "Brotherhood of Man," a cartoon which reveals the scientific facts of how people are essentially alike. These features may be seen at 7 p.m. in the Union Illinois Room. Admission is 25 cents.

Thursday and Friday's Cinema 16 feature will be "Henry V," starring Laurence Olivier in an Academy Award winning role. This film may be seen at 7 or 9 p.m. in the Union Illinois Room. Admission is 50 cents.

Four-man teams wishing to enter the Union Board single elimination bridge tournament should sign up at the Activities Center information desk before March 10. The tournament will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. March 11 and 18 in the Union Harvard Room. A trophy will be awarded to the winning team.

Next week, Union Board will sponsor Symposium. The symposium, a critical review of the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of John F. Kennedy, will be held March 8 and 9 in the Union Main Lounge. At 8 p.m., March 8, Edward J. Epstein, author of "Inquest," will speak. Attorney Mark Lane, author of "Rush to Judgment," will speak at 4 p.m. March 9. Lane was the lawyer chosen to represent Lee Harvey Oswald before the Commission. A panel of Lane, Epstein and Prof. Richard Popkin, a visiting professor at Duke University who has written a book on the assassination, entitled "The Second Oswald," will be featured at 8 p.m. March 9. The program is open to the public.

Iowa Itch

Academy Award nominations have been announced. "Alfie" raised caine. He performed ably.

Iowa City's new city manager, Frank R. Smiley, has taken office. He promises to always be frank, but with problems such as urban renewal, it's doubtful he'll remain smiley.

Student and teacher protests continue a tradition that dates from Caesar's days

By Johnny Hart

Their work caused Mancini to remark whimsically, "I felt something under my piano during that last number. I didn't know whether to enjoy it or kick it."

With a touch of the risqué, Mancini introduced a number as "the national theme of sorority houses everywhere," and plunged into a rollickingly blatant version of David Rose's "The Stripper."

Beatles' Contributions Acknowledged Mancini played his arrangement of Beatles creations, including parts of "A Hard Day's Night," "And I Love Her," "Can't Buy Me Love," "Norwegian Wood," "Michelle," and "Yesterday." The medley ended with snatches of "Hail Britannia."

"The Beatles' music will be around for a long time," he said. "The Beatles — Lennon and McCartney — have blended contemporary feelings on a melodic structure. They have penetrated the adult listening audience. Other groups — The Rolling Stones and the Mamas and Papas — haven't. Their music is hard to remember."

"There is a rock anarchy now," he said later. "Where will music go? It's hard to say. The experimentation in the classics and jazz — we'll catch up with it eventually."

Four Preps Entertain The Four Preps, an added treat, entertained for some minutes after an intermission. Mancini returned to the podium and ended the program with other hits, "The Pink Panther Theme" and "Peter Gunn."

"That started it all (for me) in 1959. (After that hit) everything has been just fine," he remarked.

After several other numbers, he slipped into a repetition of "The Stripper," as an encore.

By his own admission, Mancini has written the score for 40 to 50 movies. He has sold 4 million copies of 21 different albums, and sold 600,000 copies of the single release, "Moon River." His latest album is "Mancini '67."

The Final Verdict: Totally enjoyable sounds and entertainment by Mancini, his orchestra and The Four Preps. Continued fumbling and mis-handling by the CPC directors.

According to Bill Parisi, changes will be made for the next concert involving simplified ticket sales, seating and better lighting. Inept managing, which has drawn the ire of listeners and Daily Iowan readers will be improved, according to Parisi.

Lit instructor asks return of notebook

To the Editor:

I am an instructor in Masterpieces of Modern Literature (11:8). Last Thursday, Feb. 23, I misplaced a notebook containing lecture material for the course. The book represents approximately five months of research and careful analysis in preparing the material, five months of from two to four hours of concentration each day. Now, the five months of work appear to have vanished in the brief period of thirty minutes.

I attended a meeting on Thursday in 104EPB. The meeting ended at five that afternoon. Due to forgetfulness, I left the book in the room. The janitor who cleans the room did so at five-thirty. He told me he had not seen the notebook, and surmised that either someone walked off with it, or he dumped it into the garbage container out back. I went through the garbage, literally, thoroughly, for 25 minutes. It was not there. Thirty minutes was all that passed between my forgetting the notebook and the thiefery.

I call it thievery because I waited all weekend for somebody to call about the book. My name, home address, telephone number, the book's purpose, all were written clearly and boldly on the cover and inside pages. Three days have passed now and no one has called. Obviously, the thief intends to keep the book.

Without the notebook, the effectiveness of the course I teach will be less than what it should be. I taught it for the first time last semester. It is generally agreed that the second time around is a good deal more effective than the first. Without the notebook, I will have less opportunity to gain fuller knowledge of my course materials. So, in the end, my students suffer most.

I am in the process of alerting all 11:8 instructors to the loss of my notebook. I will also circulate the major ideas that run throughout the notebook (not all instructors use the same sources of research or have the same approaches to the course, etc.), and will ask instructors that whenever possible, during class discussions, and on written exams, to be watchful of any student who uses the same ideas and approaches.

I have come across at least six books in the past, textbooks, notebooks, that were left behind by students because of forgetfulness. I have taken these books to the lost and found, or sought out the students, or left the books at the main offices in the buildings in which they were found. Textbooks cost money.

I make an appeal to all students in 11:8. If you know anything about the whereabouts of the notebook, please let me know. There is a reward. I make an appeal to those students not only in 11:8, but also those in 11:7 who intend to take this course in the Fall. It is not inconceivable that you, too, will be affected by this act. I make an appeal to all students to be on the lookout for my notebook. It is not far-fetched to imagine this thief harming any one of you in the future, by lifting your own books, your own notes, and who knows, maybe even your own clothes.

I make an appeal to you, Mr. Bookswiper, to return my notebook. I wonder what goes on through that mind of yours every time you open the pages of my notebook, in whatever dark corner, in whatever cowardly manner, and dirty yourself, little by little, with some of my blood.

I wish your conscience on no one.

Hud To Review Renewal Project

Representatives from the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will meet with Iowa City urban renewal officials Wednesday for a pre-submission conference. They will review both phases of the proposed $16.8 million central business district urban renewal project. The project has been divided into two phases to take advantage of the $8 million which has been proposed for Iowa City by HUD. The total project will require $12.4 million in federal funds.

Quick Review Given
Barry D. Lundberg, director of planning and urban renewal, described the conferences as merely a "work session with technicians from HUD." He also said, "their primary concern will be to give certain sections of the plan a quick review and to see if there are any gross errors or areas of misunderstanding." "They might question certain things, make suggestions and look over the urban renewal area," Lundberg said. He emphasized that this conference is primarily a service to Iowa City to expedite the review of the plan to be held in Chicago and Washington. "There will be no public hearing at this time," Lundberg said.

City Council To Vote
After the pre-submission conference, Lundberg will discuss the urban renewal program with the Iowa City Council. The council will then vote on a resolution to send the program to the federal government for review.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development will give the plan a detailed review in both the regional office in Chicago and in Washington. "This usually takes between three and five months," Lundberg said. After the federal government's review, the city will take action on the program. It is at this time that a public hearing is held and the council votes whether or not to proceed with urban renewal. Lundberg said that the public hearing and final vote should take place by next September.

3 cheers and 1 tiger to Illinois campus paper

Three cheers and a tiger for the University of Illinois campus newspaper in its support of the Big 10 athletic directors who want their Illinois coaches tried. It is about time somebody stood up for some good old-fashioned honesty for a change, and we are proud that our counter-part, The Daily Illini, heads the movement.

"A violation is a violation, regard- less of what anyone else is doing and regardless of what we think of those who have broken the rules," an Illini editorial said Friday. "It is often harder to acknowledge that a good friend has done something wrong. But when the evidence is there, there is little room for discussion." We agree with the Big 10.

It seems unlikely, however, that that movement will get very far for it seems that the Daily Illini stands against virtually every group and individual in the state of Illinois. Statements supporting the coaches have poured in from students, athletes, faculty members, alumni and sports fans, and even Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner.

And the justification common to Illinois, operating such a fund, is greater than the college athletes to protect Big 10 college athletes from corruption and unfair competi- tion are not doing their job for lack of investigation and enforcement. Unless strict enforcement is forth- coming, college athletes may some- day go the way of prize fighting.

Manicini sounds: lush, suave

By TOM FENSCH Staff Reviewer

The lush, suave sound of Henry Manicini's orchestra, backed by light light and piano and "light" basses, captivated 400 listeners Saturday evening in the Field House.

Manicini, known for his film scores, led a band of 15 musicians, played an hour and ten minutes concert, marked in spots by a few minutes of vocal soloing on the part of the Central Party Committee (CPC) and had lighting and technical difficulties.

Manicini was ready at 9 p.m., the star- ready — that is the audience that was seated. Nearly 60 patrons stood in the left aisle for seats. Finally, benches and seats were produced from the depths of the Field House and at 9:20 the concert began.

The 40-piece orchestra, a myriad of strings and woodwinds, caught his style and Manicini on the podium was a model of suave, relaxed conducting. It was obvious that he felt at home with the orchestra — mostly a pick-up band of student musicians, from Indiana University and Northwestern. He brought sections and soloists from Hollywood.

His first number, a driving, orient-inspir- ing number, featured his trumpet player, Bud Bishop. The group sounded more like a stage band than a concert orchestra with a full, rich, powerful sound, and score "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

Two microphones caught well the en- tire band, and solos by Manicini on pic- colo, flute and piano as well as drum, trumpet and sax solos. Some of the Field House side benches might have been used, however, to aid the listeners in the first side bleachers.

"Mr. Lucky," "Dear Heart," "Baby Blue- pants Walk," all past Manicini hits were greeted by applause as was a melody played by Manicini on the piano, "The Great Race," in- stead of his score of "The Great Race," a main arrangement of marches and anthems.

Just shortly after the beginning of the concert, the first violins complained that their music stand light went out. Stage hands crawled through the musicians' area and the next two numbers re-connecting cords separated by an errant musician.

The darkened sky

By TOM FENSCH Staff Reviewer

The darkened sky, a play by the University of Iowa, is a powerful and moving work of art. It tells the story of a young man who is blinded by a lightning bolt and how he copes with his new world. The play is a masterpiece of modern drama, and it is a must-see for anyone who loves the theater.

Lit instructor asks return of notebook

To the Editor:

I am an instructor in Masterpieces of Modern Literature (11:8). Last Thursday, Feb. 23 I misplaced a notebook containing lecture material for the course. The book represents approximately five months of research and careful analysis in preparing the material, five months of work appear in four hours of concentration each day. Now, I am in the last period of thirty minutes.

I attended a meeting on Thursday in 10:45 P.M. The meeting ended at five that I forgot to bring the notebook. I left the room and did not see it. He told me he had not seen the notebook, and sur- mised that either someone walked off with it or he dumped it into the garbage can. I went through the garbage can, literally, thoroughly, for 25 minutes. I was not there. Thirty minutes was all that passed between my forgetting the notebook and the discovery.

I call it discovery because I walked all over the campus, and I called the police. I have a name, home address, telephone number, and I have a list of all the people who have been in the room and one has called. Obviously, the finders to keep the book.

Without the notebook, the effectiveness of the course I teach will be less than what it should be. I taught it for the first time last semester. It is generally agreed that the second time around is a good deal more effective than the first. Without the notebook, I will have less opportunity to teach.

I am in the process of getting all 11:8 instructors to the loss of my notebook. I will also circulate the matter, but all in- struction through the notebook (not all in- struction use the same source of research, etc.) and will ask instructors that when- ever possible, during class discussions, and on written exams, to be watchful of any student who sees the same books and I have come across at least six books in the past. Textbooks, notebooks, that were left behind by students because of forget- fulness. I have taken these books to the

Columnist Writes Novel

"Taint of Innocence," a novel about the Central Intelligence Agency — to take the spy business out of the realm of fantasy and show what it's really like — has been written by newspaper columnist Marquis Childs, who received an M.A. in Journalism from the University in 1925. Childs calls the CIA "a key to the examination of our wisdom or unwisdom in the big power — cold war age" because it "goes counter to so many of our convictions — fair play, no secret diplomacy — out of the era when we were a sleeping giant unaware of our potential power."

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield idea is very simple.

We walk together. 800 thousand of us in Iowa. 800 thousand people who regularly put a small amount of money aside for unexpected hospital and doctor expenses. You might say we just put a little money in the kitty. And when the need comes, the money is there through benefits aimed at meeting the need. It's that simple.

And since 6,000 hospitals and more than 122,000 doctors in the USA are part of our arrangement, our members are free to walk off by themselves.

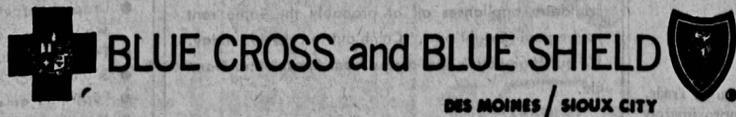

You can be a member in Iowa and a pre-paid patient in Idaho.

And nobody makes a penny on Blue Cross or Blue Shield. There are no profits, no dividends, no stock, or anything like that.

After all, we're not just insurance companies. If we were, we'd return only as little as 65 cents of the dollar in benefits instead of as much as 95 cents.

We're just 800 thousand cautious Iowans who get together on hospital and doctor bills for our own common good.

It's all so simple. Shouldn't you be a part of it?
