

Happy St. Patrick's Day

THE REAL ST. PAT WAS A LAWYER

By MIKE KAUTSCH
Staff Writer

Green beer? Hic.

This kind of blarney wouldn't surprise any of the Iowa City bartenders or tavern owners tonight. Full- or part-time Irishmen and green beer will fill the taverns. At least this will be so if the local "bar-history" of St. Pat's Day is any indication.

The green beer, a combination of the regular brew and some kind of food coloring, is in demand. Bartenders at Joe's Place said that they would begin serving the green beer at 12:01 a.m. today.

St. Pat's beer has been going over the bar at The Annex for 20 years. And when asked if he were going to sell green beer again this year, "Doc" Connell said that was begging the question. "That's like asking if there are Bohemians in Solon," he said, considering this to be general knowledge.

Dave Clark, owner of Li'l Bill's, said that green beer was not pleasant to look at, as far as he was concerned. And it is hard to get rid of if there is any left on the day after St. Pat's.

But he's been selling it for four March 17ths now and the celebrants, Irish or not, have been regularly gulping it down.

Asked why people like green beer, on this one day of the year, Barbara A. Tutt, a "bartendress" at the Red Ram, said it was simply because on St. Pat's Day people liked the novelty of green in their beer.

Paul E. Daggett, owner-manager of the Beer Garden, said he thought St. Pat's Day was an "Irish holiday taken over by the American public as a celebration of the opening of spring." And green beer, in the taverns at least, has become a symbol of that celebration.

But a few people don't like green beer, according to Ray Kennedy, manager of Kennedy's Lounge. He said they just didn't like the way it looked.

Kennedy's will sell green beer today, though, as well as green highballs. And the Irish color will appear on signs, vests for the employees, hats and horns.

The national color of Ireland will be everywhere in Donnelly's too. Patrons might even forget what country they're in.

Besides displaying lots of the Irish color in his tavern, Harold Donnelly says this is his 32nd year of serving green beer on St. Pat's Day.

Speculating about its popularity, Donnelly said green beer represented the coming of spring to many people. "The weather breaks about this time of year," he said. Green beer-drinking is one way to celebrate it.

But, he cautioned, regardless of the reasons for consuming the colored brew, the St. Pat's Day celebrant has to be over 21 to drink the green beer just as he does to drink non-green beer. The law makes no distinction, he assured.

Well, the law must not have been made by Irishmen on St. Patrick's Day.

Pres. Pelton Plans Busy Year

By AL KORBEL
Staff Writer

The immediate enactment of campaign promises is the goal of Student Body President-Elect John Pelton, A3, Clinton.

Pelton, who will take office after next Tuesday night's Student Senate meeting, will first work on administrative appointments. "Most of the appointments will be made after Easter vacation," he said.

Next Tuesday night's senate meeting will put into effect constitutional revisions. This includes the controversial Article IV which establishes a student activities board.

Pelton plans to appoint his vice president, Lyle Krewson, A4, Van Horne, as the board's chairman. The rest of the membership will be determined by application and interview, he said.

He will also appoint five students to membership in the Student Judicial system. This is an 11 member board with the other six consisting of faculty and administration.

Dorm Residents Polled On Coeducational Living

By RANK MYERS
Staff Writer

"What if Kate Daum and Carrie Stanley were men's dormitories and Rienow I and II were women's dormitories? Would you be willing to live in an arrangement like this?"

These are the questions men and women dormitory residents are being asked in a public opinion survey by Associated Residence Halls (ARH) this week. ARH is trying to find out if there is enough interest among dormitory residents to support its proposed plan for four coeducational dormitory complexes on campus.

Under the plan, men would live in Kate Daum House and Carrie Stanley Hall and eat in Burge and Currier Hall cafeterias. Women would live in Rienow I and II and eat in Quadrangle and Hillcrest cafeterias. Rienow II is scheduled to open in the fall of 1968.

The aim of the plan is to make dormitory life more attractive, according to Patrick T. Kirby, G, Strawberry Point, head counselor of Quadrangle.

"The turnover in dormitory residents is very high. Obviously something is wrong with the atmosphere in the dormitories," he said.

"In order to make the dorms more attractive, we must improve their social atmosphere. This coed plan is one way to do it," he said.

"Coeducational housing would break up the male and female ghettos on campus," said Eric L. Morris, P1, Bettendorf, president of ARH.

"When you have all the men living on one side of the river and all the women living on the other, socialization is very difficult. Under this type of plan the social atmosphere would be improved on both sides of the river," he said.

Intent Of Accused Plotters Doubted

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Perry R. Russo, star witness in the Kennedy assassination conspiracy hearing, testified Thursday that he did not think Lee Harvey Oswald, Clay L. Shaw and David W. Ferrie intended to actively participate in an assassination attempt.

Under cross-examination about details of the conspiracy talk Russo says he heard in Ferrie's apartment, the witness was asked: "You weren't part of it?"

A. No, sir.

Q. Was it understood that these men would actively participate in the assassination?

A. I didn't get that impression, no.

Q. Was Dallas mentioned?

A. No.

Admits Hypnosis Used

"That's all," attorney F. Irvin Dymond said and sat down.

At that point, Russo — who admitted being hypnotized recently in the courthouse — was excused from further cross-examination.

He testified earlier that he had never spoken to the Warren Commission because, "I was a voice in the wilderness. I wasn't going to fight with the government."

Russo's testimony was brought out by

Attorneys Probe Hard

Russo's attorneys probed hard at Russo's explanation of why he did not speak to authorities immediately after the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination. They hope to prove Garrison does not have sufficient evidence to take Shaw to trial.

Russo, 25, an insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, testified he was present in Ferrie's apartment in mid-September 1963 and heard Oswald, Shaw and Ferrie plotting to kill Kennedy.

He said he decided to come forth with his information after Ferrie died Feb.

Calling himself a progressive, Pelton said that there were three definite choices in the campaign. One candidate was a liberal and the other was conservative. Lee Weingrad, G, Jamaica, N.Y., the Hawkeye Student Party (HSP) presidential candidate was considered very liberal whereas the other candidate, Michael Wolfe, B3, Marshalltown, was termed conservative.

Noting that almost one third of the new senate is already HSP members, Pelton said, "I hope they don't feel any animosity. I don't feel any." He wants to see a "responsible, diplomatic, constructive senate action," he said. "I am happy to see the HSP elected if they represent their constituents."

Pelton does see opposition from the HSP members. "The opposition will probably be more personal than political," he said.

He said that he hopes the new senate will be sympathetic to his goals. "We must be able to work together," he said.

In dealing with the administration Pelton said, "The student body president must deal with the University officials and make the senate policy in conjunction with the University policy."

He added, "I will speak for the senate policy and will not fight for anything that does not benefit the students."

Pelton wants three HSP senators barred from senate meetings. "Two Town Women senators and one Town Man senator are living on campus and cannot represent the off-campus interests called for by the senatorial positions," he said. "I want them replaced for this semester," he added.

The student court ruled that the candidates were eligible to run but not to represent an electorate in which the candidate is not a resident. This originally prohibited Mary Jane Naumann, A1, Charles City; Janet Synhorst, A1, Ames; and Kenneth Wessels, A1, Dyersville, from voting this semester.

As for green beer, it is nonexistent in Ireland. The Irish like their beer heavy and black, not green.

Much of the sentiment surrounding the holiday in America is nonexistent in Ireland. The Irish wear the green shamrock because it represents the Irish, not because of its religious symbolism. St. Patrick used the shamrock to explain the mystery of the Trinity in the Catholic religion to the High King of Ireland in the year 432.

The weather in Ireland is usually very inclement. On St. Pat's Day it almost invariably rains.

If one does put on a shamrock at 8:30 in the morning on St. Pat's Day, by 9:30 it has rained.

About the only thing the American celebration of St. Pat's Day has done for the Irish is that some of the people in Ireland have begun adopting some of the Irish-American practices. Almost every family in Ireland has relatives in America. This fact causes a kind of reversal of traditions.

In the afternoon of St. Pat's Day, many of the Irish go to the Croke Park in National Gaelic Football Stadium in Dublin to see the sports of hurling and football.

There are also many point-to-point horse races in the smaller country districts. Here the races are run through open fields instead of a closed race track. Betting and drinking are generally heavy.

Russo had testified previously that not until Garrison's men had touched up a photograph of Oswald by adding a five-day beard and mussing the hair did he recognize him as the man he knew as Ferrie's roommate.

Under Dymond's often-sarcastic questioning about why he had not come forward after seeing Oswald's pictures after the assassination, Russo said:

"I saw pictures of Oswald in the sun holding a gun, one with him delivering pamphlets, a picture of him getting shot.

Reluctant To Speak

"That face stayed in my mind but the FBI said they had got the man who shot President Kennedy. I read the Warren Commission was to investigate. I'm not going to argue with FBI. But I told several of my friends, 'I might know that man.'

According to Russo's account, Shaw, Oswald and Ferrie discussed specifics of killing the president, including a possible ge'away flight to Cuba and the sacrificing of a scapegoat.

Shaw, 54, former managing director of the International Trade Mart here, was arrested by Garrison on March 1. He was released that night on $10,000 bond.

Ferrie, a former airlines pilot with a homosexual record, died in bed two days before Russo was publicly connected to the case.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SAIGON (AP)

U.S. intelligence officers have uncovered the most graphic proof yet that a shadowy North Vietnamese general directs the Communist war in South Vietnam. He is Nguyen Chi Thanh, 51, a former teacher said to have pro-Peiping political leanings and to stand second only to Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap in the North Vietnamese military hierarchy.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's defenders sought without success Thursday to put before the Senate Ethics Committee a sheaf of statements swearing that testimonial donors wanted him to use their contributions in any way he chose.

Fifteen army officers were convicted Thursday of conspiring to overthrow the monarchy, but the man the government accused of heading the leftist plot escaped trial. He is Andreas Papandreou, once an American citizen, son of a former premier, and a member of Parliament.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ratified the consular treaty with the Soviet Union today. Before it takes effect, however, the Soviet Presidium must also ratify it. If approved it would become the first bilateral treaty between the two countries since the days of the czars, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said.

Communist gunners shelled a U.S. merchant ship near Saigon Thursday after mortar attacks against seven American and Vietnamese positions ranging from the central highlands to the Mekong River delta.

Means of coping with the enemy's intensified use of relatively long-range heavy weapons, evident since March 1, could share attention with broader strategic concepts of war and pacification at President Johnson's Guam conference next week.

Shells Slam Freighter

Six recoilless rifle shells slammed into the freighter Conqueror as she headed toward Saigon in the Long Tan shipping channel 14 miles southeast of the capital. Three exploded in the wheelhouse and one below the bridge. One hit the stack. Another went through the hull near the bow, six feet above the waterline.

A civilian crewman and a U.S. military policeman were wounded.

Despite the damage, the Conqueror made port safely. Patrol boats and helicopter gunships hunted the enemy gunners.

A spokesman said Communist mortar attacks across the country Wednesday and Thursday killed nine Vietnamese civilians, inflicted heavy casualties at four Vietnamese government outposts in the Mekong River delta and wounded 38 Americans at three U.S. positions farther north.

Helicopter Downed

One of the mortar attacks felled a U.S. helicopter attempting to land at a highland clearing near Pleiku, 240 miles north of Saigon. The helicopter was destroyed. By unofficial count, it was the 693rd such craft lost in the war.

Air operations Wednesday cost the United States three planes, one shot down in South Vietnam and the others felled by ground fire in raids that were among 91 missions over North Vietnam.

One of the pilots parachuted into the South China Sea and was rescued by helicopter. The two others were missing.

Some new blood

Now that campaign posters are being legitimately ripped down, newly-elected student politicians are gearing for their respective goals, almost like any other year.

It will be almost like any other year, but there is hope that some new blood and a new student government constitution will bring about a facelift of the Student Senate. Out of 15 Hawkeye Student Party (HSP) candidates, 12 were elected. We are glad to see that. Judging from their platform and their avowed willingness to get something done, no effective senate president should be hamstrung by an apathetic senate.

The constitution should be a firm basis from which to operate. The constitution will come up at the next senate meeting for final ratification.

The booby prize

The Iowa Legislature has made another monumental decision. It decided Wednesday that bingo, that nasty game that corrupts little old ladies and wrecks the moral fiber of our youth, would not be tolerated in the state.

A bill, as presented to the legislature, would allow bingo games for fund-raising projects for churches, veterans and charitable organizations. The chief opposition was that the bill was discriminatory in legalizing gambling for specific groups while banning it from others.

Church leaders themselves have opposed the bill, saying that bingo would lead to other forms of legalized gambling that would, in turn, bring in underworld figures and precipitate all types of sordid activities.

Personally, we can't see how bingo could corrupt anyone. We've spent many dimes at hometown feather parties — and have won a couple turkeys, too — and don't feel one bit like a big-time gambler.

So, although we disagree with the action of our lawmakers, we certainly don't want them to spend any more time discussing the situation. After all, they've already discussed: B — bingo; I — license plates slogans; N — daylight time; and G — state rocks. One letter and BINGO, the legislature will have won the booby prize.

Palmer

The Legislature's decision to reject Dr. David Palmer's nomination to the Board of Regents is the right and just decision.

Dr. Palmer's connection with the Palmer College of Chiropractic and the Palmer Junior College would seem to be a conflict of interest, were he a member of the Board of Regents.

Likewise, his position as Trustee of Parsons' College would also not align with a similar position on the governing body of Iowa's colleges.

Dr. Palmer is a man of principles and would have served adequately on the Regents. We hate to think, however, of what improper decisions could have been made concerning the Iowa Medical Schools, for instance. It would have been unlikely, but possible, to realign Parsons or the Palmer

College of Chiropractic to favor changes made in the Iowa colleges and universities.

Dr. Palmer's offer to sever those connections if he had been made a member of the Board of Regents was an honorable decision.

The opposition by the Iowa Medical Association was also honorable under the circumstances; they attacked Governor Hughes' nomination by office and in principle. They did little backbiting or in-fighting.

Nonetheless, we believe that the rejection of Palmer's nomination is in the best interests of Dr. Palmer, the Board of Regents and the state of Iowa.

And we make no bones about it.

'Trial' criticized

To the Editor:

It looked like a Ku Klux Klan lynch mob of the 1920s, yet it happened Tuesday in the Union Gold Feather Lobby. Led by Don Barnett's little 12-year-old daughter, the mob demanded the execution of President Johnson. Then in the fine old Klan tradition of kangaroo court, they proceeded to try, convict and execute a resemblance of President Johnson. They even used the old Klan favorite — claiming President Johnson to be guilty of a sexual crime against a little girl. The only thing missing was the mob's RED sheets!

This whole incident was funny to most of us — a real farce! The only problem is that some of these people were as serious in what they said and did as the Klan was charged with giving final approval.

Pelton, the HSP senators, Carl Verner, Randy Swisher, and Phil Hubbard, all appear to be action-oriented in student government. We hope that for the first time in a long time the student body can stop complaining about the senate election being a popularity contest and can start bragging that the senate does represent the student in an effective manner to the University administration.

The student senate should have the right combination — able and effective leadership, and new source of innovation. Don't let us down.

Auto, Vietnam evils criticized

To the Editor:

One of the major causes of death and injury in the United States is the automobile. To express our feelings about this, some of us have been letting the air out of our tires each night. The sight of the flattened car on the street each evening serves as a constant reminder to ourselves and our neighbors of the evils associated with the modern automobile. Some of us feel so strongly that we have even threatened to ask the police to enforce the "Yield to Pedestrians" signs.

Another issue that concerns many of us is the impersonal big brotherism of the Federal Government. To combat this we urge students to not accept degrees from the University. Nothing seems to upset the bureaucrat as much as a highly educated person who can not be fit anywhere into the neat categories of Bachelor, Master or Doctor.

Most certainly the biggest evil in the world today is the barbarous war in Vietnam. Since the draft boards, which supply some of the men that fight there, sometimes let a man's academic performance influence his date of induction, we urge all students to refuse to accept letter grades from the University and all faculty to refuse to give such grades.

'Reactionaries reassuring'

To the Editor:

It is most encouraging and reassuring in this age of radical political thinkers to find in our midst a vocal reactionary element. This perceptive group has accurately diagnosed our government's departure from the main stream of American tradition as set forth in George Washington's famous "Farewell Address." Furthermore, as a vehicle for expressing their disapproval they have found it convenient to resurrect the highly appropriate morality play in which the deplorable complexity of life is avoided merely by assigning to various characters names such as "Vice" and "Virtue."

It is not impossible that this little theater group might work up a skit to be presented before the United Nations General Assembly deplored Sin. Such penetrating insight would be of inestimable value to the practical task of solving world problems.

New CIA connections

The Central Intelligence Agency's involvement with ministers and labor leaders will be the next disclosure made about the controversial agency, The Insider's Newsletter said today.

Discussions are likely to focus (1) "missionary cover" — the use of U.S. and foreign clergy intelligence in developing countries, and (2) CIA spending in U.S. political and labor union elections.

According to The Newsletter, some congressmen who have been critical of the agency have been threatened with retaliation from CIA-supported groups in their district.

The CIA is also said to channel funds directly to labor union officials useful in international affairs — through foreign affiliates of the AFL-CIO — to help them retain power in their home locals.

No peace in capital

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — The big question everyone in the nation's Capital is asking this week is, "Can there ever be peace in Washington?" As every day passes the position of President Johnson and Sen. Kennedy harden, and the chances of a peaceful solution to the war in the Democratic Party grow dimmer and dimmer.

From his government-in-exile headquarters at Hickory Hill, Va., Sen. Kennedy told a Japanese newspaperman he's willing to sit down with the President anywhere, at any time, providing the President stops bombing the press with news releases just when Kennedy is making a speech on the floor of the Senate.

A White House spokesman said that it still hopes to go to the conference table with the Kennedys, but first they must make some gesture to show they really want peace.

When asked what kind of gesture was expected of the Kennedys, the spokesman replied, "They have to stop infiltrating Author Schlesinger, Richard Goodwin and John Kenneth Galbraith into the New York Times, the Saturday Evening Post and the Today show."

When asked if they would consider a pause in the bombing of the Kennedys to see what the reaction would be, the White House spokesman replied, "We have tried a pause in the bombing but it did not do any good. Bobby Kennedy went off to Europe and escalated his attacks by meeting with President De Gaulle. We can't stand by and let the Great Society be shot in the back."

A Kennedy spokesman said he doubted the sincerity of the Johnson administration in seeking to achieve a just and lasting peace in the Democratic Party. He said that on the one occasion when the President put out peace feelers to

White Sox Take Baseball Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago White Sox increased their record to 6-1, the best among major league baseball teams in exhibition games, by walloping the Houston Astros 1-3 Thursday.

The Sox slammed four homers, one each by Dick Kenworthy, Lee Elia, Pete Ward and Tommie Agee. Jim Wynn and Norm Miller connected for Houston.

The Boston Red Sox and New York Mets also had on their hitting clothes. Boston, trailing 18-13 scored 10 runs in the ninth and won 23-18. Joe Foy and George Scott had four hits apiece for the Red Sox.

Rookies Jim Shellenback, Bill Knoch and Doc Ellis limited Baltimore to three hits as Pittsburgh recorded a 6-0 victory.

DM North, Ames Advance*Win Berths In Boys' AA Semis;
Carroll, Dike Win Class A Games

DES MOINES (Ia.) — Des Moines North broke away from a 49-49 tie with six minutes to go and squeezed by surprisingly strong Waverly-Shell Rock 62-59 Thursday as first round play ended in Class AA boys basketball.

The victory sent the second-ranked Polar Bears into a Friday semifinal game with Ames, a 72-40 winner over Jefferson in Thursday's first contest.

North, now 20-2, moved to a 40-33 lead midway through the third quarter. But Waverly-Shell Rock's Dave Platte came up with six straight points, and a few minutes later teammate Fred Grawe hit a basket that tied it 44-44.

North Moves
North moved ahead 49-45 at the start of the final period, but two points each by Platte and

Mick Rosenau made it 49-49 with 6:05 to go.

However, North countered with baskets by Rick Hall, Dick Gordon and Ron Nussbaum to move ahead 55-49. Waverly was unable to cut the deficit to less than three points after that.

Hall led North with 18 points. Gordon had 16 and Nussbaum 15. Grawe topped Waverly with 20, and Platte had 16.

The first afternoon game saw Ames jump to a 13-2 lead over outclassed Jefferson and hand the losers their ninth defeat in 23 games. The victory gave Ames a 17-6 mark.

Ames Coach George Duvall used his reserves much of the last quarter after taking a 62-30

The Little Cyclones relied on balanced scoring with Dick Gibbs on top with 23 points. John Faa-borg led Jefferson with 19.

Dike Rolls
In Class A games Dike routed Sutherland 63-56 and Carroll beat Rockwell-Swaledale 58-51 to gain semi-final berths.

Two other Class A first round games were to be played Thursday night. Sioux Center was to meet Clinton St. Mary's at 8 p.m. and Treyon was to meet Ottumwa Walsh in a game at 9:30 p.m.

Dike rolled to a 19-point half-time lead in its game and then coasted its 22nd victory in 24 games.

Dike with 35 points, most of them in an early surge when the Bobcats drove from a 14-12 lead to a 38-22 command midway through the second quarter. Dike led at haltime 49-30.

Roger Ahrens had 23 for Sutherland which finished with a 19-5 record.

Carroll had to come from behind in the last quarter for its victory over Rockwell-Swaledale.

Trailing 45-44 early in the final period, Carroll got three points from Paul Bruns and a basket by Pat McNally to go ahead 49-45. Rockwell, suffering only its second loss in 26 games, was never able to cut the deficit to less than four points after that.

Bruns led Carroll with 24 points, while Ken Reimers and Paul Peters each had 14 points for Rockwell.

Gymnasts To Test Champs In NCAA Regional Meet

By DEBBY DONOVAN
Staff Writer

Iowa's gymnastic team will face defending National Champion Southern Illinois University and three of the top Big 10 teams in NCAA regional meet Saturday afternoon at Wheaton, Ill.

The first three teams will advance to the national finals on March 31 and April 1 in Carbondale, Ill. Twelve teams from four regions will compete in the finals.

The region's top eight performers in each event will also compete at Carbondale for individual national titles.

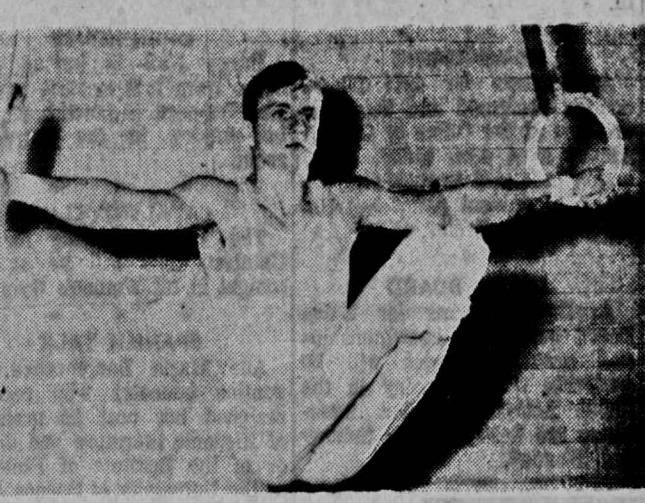

Michigan, Michigan State, and Illinois, who finished in that order behind the Hawks in the Big 10 Championships, will also be in the Wheaton regionals.

But Coach Sam Bailie said, "I'm pretty sure we'll qualify as a team."

Bailie said that Southern Illinois will be the regional and national favorite. He pointed out that the Salukies have the depth, strength and experience to win a second straight title.

BAILIE

DON HATCH
Big 10 Still Rings Co-Champion

He also said that Michigan and Michigan State will be trying to avenge their defeats in the Big 10 Meet.

"We are not in as good shape physically as we were for the Big 10 Meet," Bailie said.

Terry Siorek, side rings standout who tore a muscle in his left arm during the conference finals, will not compete this weekend. If the Hawkeyes win a team berth, there is a possibility that Siorek could compete in the national finals, Bailie said.

The coach said that it was originally suspected that Siorek had torn an attachment in his arm. This would have been more severe, he said. As it is, Siorek has started mild exercise.

Bailie said that Don Uffelman, a mainstay on the trampoline and in floor exercise, has suffered a minor sprain. Uffelman will compete, but Bailie expressed concern that the sprain "may cut his performance down a little bit."

Michigan and Michigan State are in good shape physically, according to Bailie.

Bailie said, "If we qualify, I would say that we would finish in the top five in the nation. It would be good for us experience-wise. Next year our goal will be the national championship."

However, Bailie refused to count the Hawks out of this year's title run. He said, "If we qualify and if we get Siorek and Uffelman back into shape and if it is our day, we could go all the way."

Bailie said that the Hawkeyes have a good chance to qualify for the individual title in each event.

He predicted that the entire parallel bars team and the top three side horse performers would qualify. The parallel bars team is Tom Goldsborough, Ike Heller, Arnie Lazar and Bob Dickson. Keith McCannless, Marc Sloten and Ken Gordon lead the side horse team.

Bailie said that Don Hatch and possibly Bob Dickson and Paul Omi could qualify on the still rings.

He cited trampoline performer Gil Williams for "more improvement in the past month than any man on the team."

Don Uffelman has a good chance to qualify in the floor exercise event if he recovers from his injury, Bailie said.

Ike Heller qualified in the long horse event as a junior last year.

Bailie expressed confidence that both Dickson and Neil Schmidt might qualify in the all-around competition. The top three in each region will compete in the national tournament.

Michigan State's Dave Thor was all-around champion in the Big 10 meet, but Dickson was close behind him.

Bailie also said that Schmidt had a good chance to be national high bar champion. He has beaten every college competitor he's met this year. Bailie said that UCLA's Kanati Allen and USC's Makato Sacamoto are the only ones who would stand a chance of beating Schmidt. Sacamoto competed in the Olympics.

AAU Meet Opens In Marshalltown

MARSHALLTOWN — Five teams meet here today, Saturday and Sunday for the Group V regional championship in AAU basketball.

Boxholm, the Iowa titlist, will face Behlen Manufacturing of Columbus, Neb., in the opening game at 1 p.m. today.

The Iowans are led by Bob Netolicky, Gene Bogash, Chuck Sutherland and Harold Aldridge of Drake University, while the Columbus team features Nate Branch and Willie Campbell from the University of Nebraska.

"I'm not sure yet," he said of plans to combat the scoring, rebounding and playmaking of the young UCLA giant, but UCLA will see the zone and the zone press sometime during the game.

"Offensively, we'll shuffle the same as we have the last few weeks."

The Cowboys, who grabbed a share of the WAC title on the last day of the conference season, had to survive a playoff against tall Brigham Young to advance to the regionals.

"Of course, UCLA is a heavy, heavy favorite," Strannigan said. "But we're not going in with a defeatist attitude."

UCLA Is Favorite Tonight As NCAA Regionals Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and Tennessee are solid favorites to win the NCAA regional basketball tournaments at Corvallis, Ore., and Evanston, Ill., this weekend, while North Carolina and Louisville are less secure choices in the other two.

The winners of the four regionals advance to the national semifinals in Louisville, Ky., March 24. Mighty UCLA, led by super sophomore Lew Alcindor, is favored to go all the way.

UCLA, unbeaten in 26 games and the nation's No. 1 team, goes against long-shot Wyoming, 15-12, in the Far West regional semifinals at Corvallis tonight.

Tennessee Favored

Tennessee, 21-5 and No. 8 in the nation, is the only ranked team in the tourney at Evanston, Ill., and plays tough Dayton, 21-5, in the semis.

The other regionals are in Lawrence, Kan., and College Park, Md., with Louisville and North Carolina facing tough battles. Semifinals are scheduled to night in all regionals with finals Saturday night.

Texas Western, the defending champion and ranked No. 10, plays University of Pacific before the UCLA-Wyoming affair in Corvallis, while Indiana plays Virginia Tech in the other semi-final game at Evanston.

Louisville, 23-3 and second in the nation, takes on Southern Methodist, 19-5, while No. 3 Kansas, 22-3, plays No. 7 Houston, 24-3, at Lawrence.

5 Hawkeye Seniors To Play In All-Iowa Basketball Game

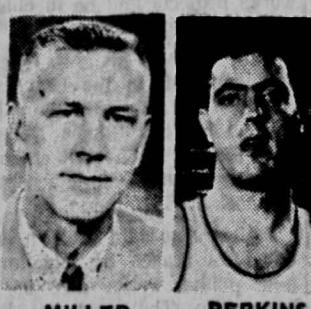

Five Iowa seniors, including Gerry Jones and Tom Chapman, have accepted invitations to play in the first annual all-Iowa Senior basketball game in Cedar Rapids, Saturday, April 8.

In addition to Jones and Chapman, seniors Lew Perkins, Gary Gottschalk, and Harry Venik have accepted invitations. Iowa Coach Ralph Miller accepted an invitation last month to coach the team.

The game will pit seniors from the state's largest schools—Iowa, Iowa State and Drake—against seniors from small colleges around the state.

The contest, sponsored by the Cedar Rapids Sports Club (CRSC), will be played in the Washington High School gym and will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2.50 each and may be ordered by writing Box 123 Cedar Rapids.

Four other seniors—two from Iowa State and two from Drake—have also accepted invitations to be members of the university squad. They are Dave Fleming and Raul Duarte of Iowa State and Bob Netolicky and Erwin Cox of Drake.

Eleven seniors were invited for the university squad, but two have not yet accepted.

The 10-player small college all-star roster will be announced next week. Cornell's Paul Maaske and Upper Iowa's Stan Jack will coach the small college seniors.

A banquet for the senior stars will be held April 7 at Elmcrest Country Club in Cedar Rapids. The banquet will be open to the public.

A similar game—the all-Iowa senior bowl football game—is also sponsored by the CRSC, which recently changed its name from Cedar Rapids West Side

Allen Signs Phillies Pact

PHILADELPHIA — Third baseman Rich Allen, a star-born spring holdout, signed his 1967 baseball contract with the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday—but apparently not for the $100,000 he had sought.

The slugging All-Star, who owns a .300-plus batting average in his first three years in the National League, "came to a meeting of minds" with Phillies owner Bob Carpenter.

The signing took place in Carpenter's office in Connie Mack Stadium here. The salary for which Allen settled was not reported, but a Phillies' spokesman said it was probably in the $75,000 range.

Allen, who made a reported $40,000 to $50,000 last year, could not be reached for comment.

His signing now leaves San Francisco Giant pitcher Juan Marichal the lone major league holdout with major league teams in their second week of spring training.

Smiley Names New Engineer

Melford A. Dahl was named the new Iowa City engineer Thursday by Frank R. Smiley, city manager. Dahl met with the city council Wednesday afternoon.

Dahl, who is the city engineer of Champaign, Ill., is expected to assume his duties here April 17. He succeeds William Morse who was fired from his post as city engineer by the council last September.

As city engineer, Dahl will be responsible for the proper design and construction of all public works projects and be in charge of building inspection.

Dahl received his B.S. in civil engineering from the University of Illinois in June, 1960. He then worked for the Illinois Division of Highways as a civil engineer for three years before accepting the post at Champaign.

Smiley also said that he is in the final stages of selecting a new public works director for Iowa City. That post has been vacant since last August.

Meter Maids Enjoy Work

By DIANE YING
Staff Writer

For the girl who likes to work outdoors, to meet the public and to have a "not too routine" routine job, being a meter maid is one of the best answers.

This is the view shared by the six meter maids of Iowa City.

They think their job, which comprises collecting money from the meters, winding and minor repairing of the meters and writing tickets for parking violations, is interesting.

They enjoy their job, but they have their problems too.

"Some people always try to act smart and this gives us trouble," said Velma Hochsteller, 409 2nd Ave.

Two weeks ago, she said, she

Spring Brings Big Increase In 'Salesmen'

By DON YAGER
Staff Writer

Ah, spring! It brings soft breezes, gentle showers, budding flowers . . . and salesmen.

Iowa City Police Chief John Ruppert said recently spring usually brought a substantial increase in door-to-door salesmen, probably because of the more pleasant working conditions.

Actually, the term "salesman," according to the Iowa City Code, is a misnomer. The Code draws a distinction between peddlers and solicitors, the solicitor being what most people would consider a salesman.

A solicitor, says the code, "is any person who solicits or attempts to solicit from house to house or upon the public streets for the sale or offer for sale of any goods or merchandise by taking orders . . . with delivery at a future date."

Peddler Carries Merchandise

On the other hand, a peddler is one who "carries in his possession goods or merchandise which he sells or offers for sale with immediate delivery."

A solicitor, to work in Iowa City, must obtain license from the city clerk and police chief. The license, which is good for six months, costs $1 and includes information about the company being represented and personal information about the salesman, including fingerprints.

"The license doesn't assure a reputable company," said Ruppert. "For that information, a person should call the Chamber of Commerce."

Check With Police

"Any person," he continued, "before buying anything from door to door salesmen should check with the police department first. This excludes local sales personnel who don't need permits."

Most of the problems with salesmen involve those selling magazine subscriptions, according to Ruppert.

"We've had bad deals with out-of-towners," he said. "They high-pressure the resident, get him to sign up and receive his check, which is cashed immediately."

Ruppert warned residents not to get in a hurry when a salesman calls at their home.

"People always think they're getting a good deal and they usually aren't," he said.

No Soliciting On Campus

The license issued by the city does not enable a person to solicit on the University campus. In fact, the Committee on Student Life (CSL) recommendation adopted by Pres. Howard R. Bowen last December defines solicitation in different terms than the city code.

CSL says, "Solicitation is the seeking of funds or support by a recognized student organization from persons other than members. This includes the obtaining of signatures, food, supplies and other forms of support, and the selling and distribution of items, materials or products and services."

A University organization may solicit on campus if the activity is related to the purposes of the organization and if approval is granted by the Office of Student Affairs.

Cushing Hits Report

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing said today "he never believed" that President Kennedy's assassination "was the work of one man."

The Roman Catholic archbishop said he doesn't think the Warren Commission report is complete.

Safety Tour Planned

DES MOINES (AP) — A caravan demonstrating automobile safety inspections will tour Iowa April 6 - June 6, the State Department of Public Safety announced Thursday.

Motorists will have a chance to have their cars tested free and receive an "OK" sticker for their windshield if the vehicle passes the inspection.

saw a student empty all the pennies from his pockets and put one in each expired meter. "He thinks he is being smart and tries to throw us off just for a few minutes," she said. "Well, as long as people don't put dimes and nickels in, we can wait."

Pop-Top Used

Another "smart" thing, said Oneth Lovetinsky, 307 6th St., Coralville, is to put tops of pop-top cans in the meters.

"They will not only jam in the meters, but can cause damage too," she said.

If caught, she said, the person is entitled to a fine as high as $100. Most people who do this, according to Mrs. Lovetinsky, are kids from grade schools or junior highs.

Other troubles are caused by people misunderstanding the purpose of their jobs.

"We are not paid by how many tickets we write," said Ruth Walter, 304 Clover St.

"There isn't any commission for writing tickets, but somehow people seem to think so," she said.

Because of this misunderstanding, sometimes people try to give them a hard time, said Mrs. Hochsteller.

"They accuse us of deliberately choosing their cars to ticket. That's not true. We are only trying to do our job and not trying to cause trouble for any specific person," she said.

Rules Neglected

Concerning parking violations, most of them are due to careless neglect of the parking rules, they said.

Guitars, Folk Songs Are 'In'

By KATHY FERRY
Staff Writer

Guitar music and folksongs seem to be in the air today. Almost every place one ventures, a six-string Spanish guitar or its counterpart, the electric guitar, may be seen and heard.

The charm of guitar music, or guitar playing as a pastime, seems to be as prevalent today as it was in the 1750s when English society ladies put aside their harpsichords for guitars.

The demand for guitars has risen so fast that companies manufacturing guitars can not keep up.

Guitars A Fad

There are reasons for the boom in guitars, guitar playing and folk music. Harry Oster, associate professor of English, who teaches a class in American folk literature, said that at certain times certain fashions seemed to catch people's attention.

He explained also, "Initially, as the United States moves more strikingly toward a mechanized society, where specialization results, and there are precise limits and forms, there is a yearning for the older 'better' way of life — spontaneity and warmth — and the guitar and folk music are associated with this."

Bill Simons, G., Milwaukee, Wis., who teaches the Folk Lore Club guitar class, gave this reason. "The guitar has a nice sound, a sound you can't get with a wind instrument, a pleasant sound."

According to Simons, a person can learn a few chords and from the first can get an acceptable, pleasing sound.

'It's Emotional Release'

Students play guitars for other reasons, too.

Debby Donovan, A1, Hawarden, said, "it's a good emotional release."

Dan Hedrick, A2, Ames, says: "It's an inexpensive hobby; it is self-rewarding, something you can do by yourself. It doesn't require anything besides a guitar; it's relaxing and it's fun."

Guitar music may be of many types, hillbilly, country-western, or folk music. Folk music encompasses a wide range, including Negro blues, rhythm and blues, rock and roll and now folk rock.

According to Oster, the folklore definition of a folk song varies quite differently from that of the popular fan's. He said that a folk song theoretically was one which has existed for some time (usually a generation or more) and has been changed as it has been spread by word of mouth.

Term Loosely Used

"People usually use the term 'folk song' loosely, to describe styles of performance," Oster said.

He added that if somebody played a guitar and imitated professional performers, in the popular sense, he was spoken of as doing folk music.

Simons, Hedrick, and Miss Donovan all agreed that a folk song, as they understand it, really couldn't be defined.

Simons said, "You know by listening if something is folk, blues, or a combination."

Hedrick said folk singing was a very broad field and Miss Donovan added it was "anything between classical and rock."

Oster divides folk singers into three categories. The first is the genuine folk singer who is continuing in the traditions he has inherited from his parents. The second is the singer who studies the traditions of one group of people and tries to capture their tone, phrasing and artistry. The third is the singer who makes no attempt to imitate the authenticity of one group or people, but carries out the conventions of popular music and imitates popular groups.

Presley Started Boom

The guitar boom started slowly, about 10 years ago. It was then that Elvis Presley first swiveled onto the scene with his guitar. From then on, guitar music has been a prominent part of almost all the big-selling recordings. Groups and singers like the Kingston Trio, Peter Seeger, Joan Baez and Bob Dylan have also contributed much to the popularization of the guitar and folk music.

Simons connects Bob Dylan with the "explosion of folk music." He thinks that the reason a Bob Dylan is so well liked by, or exists for, college-age students is for the same reason other stars exist for younger, high school students.

"They can identify with the spirit of rebellion," he said.

As with any boom, the thought eventually turns to how long it will last. Oster thinks the Spanish guitar boom and folk singing is waning, and electric guitars are becoming more fashionable. He thinks groups such as the Beatles, the Monkees and the Lovin' Spoonfuls have contributed to this.

Simons said the boom of guitars and folk music was "just like a literary genre" — they come and go, and they were replaced by something else.

"Every genre is a rebellion against the preceding one," he added.

Pianist John MacKay will present a faculty recital at the University at 8 p.m. Sunday with William Doppmann joining him for the final number. The recital, which is open to the public, will be held in North Music Hall.

Both faculty members in the School of Music, MacKay and Doppmann will perform a rarely-heard Mozart work, "Sonata No. 3 (F Major), K. 497" for four hands at one piano.

MacKay will also present four sonatas by Scarlatti; two works by Brahms — "Intermezzo, Op. 119, No. 1" and "Rhapsodie, Op. 79, No. 1" and Chopin's "Scherzo, Op. 31."

A faculty member since 1964, MacKay studied piano with Dimitri Mitropoulos, beginning at the age of three, and continued with the Minneapolis conductor for 10 years, until Mitropoulos went to New York.

A native of Minneapolis, MacKay received a B.A. Degree in composition from the University of Minnesota, and B.S. and M.S. Degrees from the Juilliard School of Music, New York, where he studied with a full-tuition scholarship from Mitropoulos.

The young pianist has toured the country with chamber music groups and has given several recitals in New York, including one at Carnegie Hall. He was a voice coach and accompanist at Juilliard from 1960 to 1963 and is now working toward a doctor of musical arts degree.

Next year, MacKay will join the University of Richmond faculty as head of the music department and artist in residence.

copies of a label report for each of its ACT-tested students, approximately three to four weeks after the national testing session. The student receives a report on the results at about the same time.

For each student tested, the college he designates receives two copies of the results, approximately three to four weeks after each national testing session.

ACT is a federation of state programs founded in 1959 and chartered under the laws of the state. ACT has many functions, many of which few people know.

Much of the student information collected and reported by ACT is based on a five-part battery that assesses the student's potentials for college achievement, his special aspirations, and his campus

Four Tests Included

The largest part of the ACT battery, which takes about three hours to administer, includes four tests — in English, mathematics, social studies, and natural sciences. These yield four standard scores on a scale from 1 (low) to 36 (high) and a composite, or average, score.

The fifth part, a Student Profile Section, may be totally unfamiliar to many because it is an innovation of recent years. This section takes about 20 minutes to complete. It is a brief inventory of the student's non-academic achievements, his aspirations, some of his special campus needs, and his perceptions of the college.

Three equivalent forms of the four tests are developed each year in order to safeguard the security of the examinations and incorporate the results of ongoing research. The Student Profile is revised annually as research establishes the educational relevance of new types of biographical information.

The high school receives two lested and reported information for 521,000 students — more than half of the total first time, degree-credit enrollments in the nation's institutions of higher education in the fall of 1964.

ACT likes to think towards the future. Of long-range significance is the initiation of a series of studies in six general areas of inquiry: Assessment of student potentials, conservation of student potentials, student growth and development, selection of careers and curricula, description of colleges, and the influence of colleges.

Generally, the studies focus upon three questions: (1) What potentials does the student bring to his college? (2) What are the characteristics of the college? (3) What does the student become when these factors (individual and institutional) interact in the educational setting?

Through its Research Services to individual colleges and its Developmental Research Program, the ACT Program provides for the constructive development of its services to students and to their high schools and colleges. At the same time, colleges that wish to perform related research can use ACT data as a base for developing policies and procedures directly applicable to local curriculum planning and institutional development, counseling and advising programs, and admissions, financial aid, and other student personnel programs.

Woman Dean Still Has Time To Catch Up On Fashions

By KATHY FERRY
Staff Writer

Miss Laura Dustan, dean of the College of Nursing, is the only woman dean at the University. And when you're a woman, you might just as well be a man.

This type of advice was given to Miss Dustan two and a half years ago. Donald Rhoades, dean of admissions and records, was instructing Miss Dustan on how to present her first class at graduation exercises.

Rhoades told her to turn to Pres. Howard R. Bowen and lift her cap. After she exclaimed that a woman never takes off her academic cap, he responded, "When you are on this platform you are a dean and not a woman. Sex doesn't matter."

Being a dean is the reason Miss Dustan hasn't had more time to think about a new Easter bonnet or new garb for spring.

She has been concentrating on seeking funds for a new college of nursing, the designing and implementing of the curriculum, budgetary planning, trying to find facilities and funds to establish two new majors in the nursing program and instituting the need for baccalaureate education.

tion in nursing in both the state and the nation.

She's Fashion Conscious

Although Miss Dustan is actively involved in academic matters, she is still fashion conscious. When she was interviewed she was dressed in a red gingham light weight wool dress accented with silver jewelry. She said she hoped to be dressed well enough to adequately represent her college at various activities.

Miss Dustan hasn't been so busy, however, that she hasn't noticed current fads and trends in women's clothing.

Concerning mini-skirts, Miss Dustan said, "It depends tremendously on how a person's legs look." She believes some women can wear mini-skirts and some can't and shouldn't.

'Mass Style' Doesn't Appeal

In the life of almost every woman there is a time of experimentation with clothes and with hair styles. Miss Dustan believes that for most women this occurs during the college years. It is then that she thinks a girl may wear a bad hair style, whether it looks the best on her or not.

Miss Dustan believes, however, that most women at sometime find one certain hair style and then usually stick with it. She also thinks that styles should be individual and said, "Mass style doesn't appeal to me."

Miss Dustan calls Vermont her home. She recalls that in her college days she experimented with styles in many ways. "I had long hair once that I wore in a knot at the back of my head."

Now Miss Dustan has found the suitable clothing and hair style to fit her needs and she spends each day thinking more about the academic needs of the College of Nursing than about the outfit she'll wear tomorrow.

2 Coffee Houses Provide Escape

SISTER MARY JEANETTE QUINN
Staff Writer

"Coffee houses are an escape, but not a drugged one," says Steve Wendell, A2, Darien, Conn., who serves as chairman of the "Eve of Man" coffee house at the Hillel Foundation, 122 E. Market St.

A coffee house provides the right type of relaxation, Wendell said. "It's constructive recreation."

In operation since the first week in January, the "Eve of Man" is the second coffee house to open here this year for all students.

"Mugwump," located in the basement of a former home at 707 Melrose Ave., opened its doors last Sept. 30 and re-opened for the second semester on Feb. 24.

While the basement area of the "Eve of Man" with its record player and records, its chess and checker sets and its informal, student-designed, relaxed atmosphere is available for the use of the entire student body at all times, it functions as a coffee house on Saturday nights from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. A 25-cent admission fee includes refreshments.

Admission Charged

"Mugwump" has no admission charge, but donations are accepted for the various coffees served there, including "expresso," "porgia," "mixed emotions" and "Viennese velvet." It operates from 8 to midnight, Wednesday through Sunday. Manager and property supervisor in residence this semester is Ken Canady, G, in the School of Religion.

The property at 707 Melrose Ave. is controlled by the University Campus Christian Board which operates through a working council, ecumenical in structure. It is staffed by volunteers from all academic levels, undergraduate, graduate and faculty.

"Mugwump," named last fall in a campus-wide contest won by Mary Brandes, 312 Davenport St., a research assistant in physiology, is known as a place for quiet conversation, interesting programs, displays of talents and shared conversation.

Guitar playing and folk singing are not the only talents exhibited at the "Mugwump." Student art works in oils, charcoals and water colors are fitted into the decor, contributing to the "creative" atmosphere. Joannie Ross, G, art major from Roslindale, Mass., arranges these art pieces which are offered for sale.

Should you pay twice as much to get it washed?

A Volkswagen isn't any bigger than other station wagons...it just carries more.

That's because a station wagon shaped like a box can hold about twice as much as a station wagon shaped like a station wagon.

So it'll cost you exactly the same to get it washed, but that's about all that'll cost you exactly the same.

Our VW Wagon gets around 23 miles to the gallon.

You'll pay Volkswagen prices for parts. Some 35,000 miles should go by before you have to go buy new tires.

And come to think of it, maybe you should pay less for the wash job, too.

A Volkswagen is actually shorter than other station wagons. (It'll park in 4' less space.)

So next time, why not ask the man at the car wash for a discount.

Don't tell him we sent you.
