Viet Death Toll Hits New Peak; 274 GIs Killed

SAIGON (AP) — Two bitter battles and dozens of lesser engagements last week set combat death records in Vietnam for both the American forces and the Communists, the U.S. Command announced Thursday.

All told, 274 Americans were killed — along with 203 South Vietnamese and 10 of the other allies — in action March 19 — 25 that cost the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units 2,774 dead.

The kill ratio was a near-record 5.69 to 1 in favor of the allies.

The figures reflect a surge in fighting brought about by more U.S. units in the field — 18 campaigns are under way — and perhaps the enemy's willingness to gamble lives against U.S. firepower for a showpiece victory in the hope of promoting mass disaffection for the war among the American people.

Field dispatches told of scattered action around the country as the casualty summary emphasized the growing intensity of the struggle.

Koreans Fight
South Korean troops sweeping Viet Cong from a segment of Highway 1 on the central coast had a sharp fight with an enemy detachment Wednesday in Phu Yen Province. They said they killed 50, while their own casualties were light.

U.S. operations included a drive into jungles of the coastal foothills in the central highlands. A spokesman said 10 soldiers were wounded. There was no report on enemy losses.

B-52 jets from Guam, flying in with their 30-ton bomb loads, staged three raids on Communist troop bivouacs in South Vietnam.

Despite poor weather, U.S. pilots flew 108 missions Wednesday against North Vietnam. A storage complex 27 miles northeast of Hanoi was one of the prime targets.

Flames Reported
Flames and secondary explosions such as come from oil or ammunition were reported to have boiled up from the area under an attack by U.S. Air Force Phantoms and Thunderchiefs.

Over-all American casualties last week were 1,606. In addition to the 274 U.S. servicemen killed, 1,320 were wounded and 12 were reported missing or captured.

The over-all record is 2,092 in the week of March 12-18, when 211 Americans were killed, 1,874 wounded and seven missing.

U.S. casualties have been averaging 1,000 or more a week since the turn of the year compared with about 700 in 1966, and last week was the third straight in which more than 200 Americans have died in action.

Plane Hits Motel; 18 Killed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A DC8 jet cut a swath of destruction through a residential area early Thursday and exploded in a fiery crash into the rear of the Hilton Inn, killing 18 persons. The accident happened when the plane flew a practice landing pattern near New Orleans International Airport.

Nine of the dead were high school girls from Juda, Wis. All but one burned to death in their rooms as flames fed by jet fuel engulfed a portion of the motel. The ninth girl was blown out of the building.

The tragedy occurred only hours before the girls were scheduled to leave with their classmates for some fun on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. They were on a senior class vacation outing.

On board the Delta Air Lines jet were five pilots and an inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency. All were killed when the plane fell sharply during a banking turn, sliced through two homes and cartwheeled into the multimillion-dollar motel.

Spewing fuel from the exploding craft set off an inferno near the section where the Wisconsin pupils were quartered.

"It spouted a sea of fuel right to those rooms where those eight kids were staying," said Capt. Marvin Leonard of the New Orleans Police Department. "That's what killed them, not the impact from the wreckage. You could see that they took refuge in the shower stalls. One girl even took her purse with her. They turned on the water but it didn't do them any good."

A Catholic priest said last rites over the huddled, charred bodies. A mass memorial burial was planned in Juda.

The remaining 23 students and their advisors arranged to leave by train Thursday for home.

"The students are taking it fine," said Jerome Kalk, superintendent of the school district in Juda, a town of 300 in Wisconsin.

"They are a very close knit group, a mature level-headed group. We will escort the bodies back on the train," he said.

The uninjured pupils, and most of the other guests at the motel, ran in panic from their rooms when the jet struck about 1 a.m. Many were in nightclothes. At least 11 were injured.

In addition to the pupils and the six on board the plane killed, a mother and her son living in one of the houses demolished by the careening plane lost their lives. A maintenance man at the motel was killed also.

The Delta plane's flight recorder, which registers all panel instruments, was found intact among the wreckage strewn for about 100 yards around the scene. A voice recorder was recovered from the tail assembly, which ended up inside the motel structure.

Jan. 1 Deadline Ordered For Auto Safety Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government told auto manufacturers Thursday they must meet new safety standards by next Jan. 1 but left the door ajar for possible modification on the regulation for softening and padding interiors.

The National Traffic Safety Agency denied appeals of 37 domestic and foreign vehicle and equipment manufacturers for changes, deletions and postponements of effective dates on 18 of the 20 standards issued Jan. 31.

The agency did, however, make some minor, technical modifications on three of the 20 standards.

To Hold Hearing
It said also it would hold a public hearing to give the manufacturers the opportunity to defend their claim that they cannot redesign and build by next January new instrument panels, seat backs, sun visors, arm rests and knobs and handles to reduce the chance of injury in accidents.

The agency said the auto companies "have raised issues of material fact which should be resolved in a hearing conducted for that purpose where they and the National Traffic Safety Agency may present evidence in support of their positions."

No date has been set for the hearing.

The manufacturers had no comment immediately on the agency's refusal to grant their requests for changes in standards.

All the federal standards must be met by manufacturers on all cars produced after next Jan. 1 for sale in this country unless the public hearing on interiors results in a modification.

Industry Complains
The industry contended previously it is impossible to redesign and retool in time to meet the deadline. They said at the time the proposed rules were announced two months ago basic design work for next year's models already had been completed.

Action in the Court of Appeals and ultimately in the Supreme Court is available to any firms objecting to the ruling.

Any car failing to meet the government's safety standard by Jan. 1, 1968, cannot be sold under the law. Civil penalties of up to $10,000 fine for each violation are specified, with the maximum penalty not to exceed $400,000 "for any related series of violations."

Townpeople Mourn Dead; Only 7 Girls Left In Class

JUDA, Wis. (AP) — "I knew them all. In a small town like this you know them all," sobbed Teresa Zimmerman, 20, at the grocery counter.

"I don't want to say anything. They were my children and everyone else's," said a gray-haired waitress at the only cafe in town.

In the post office, Irma Norder said, "I knew when Jake from the lumber yard went by this morning. He always hollars, 'Hello, Irma.' This morning he didn't say a word."

The townspeople talked in hushed tones and long, painful pauses as they clustered in the hilltop village of Juda, a hub of the lives of nine girls who died Thursday when a plane crashed into a motel where they were staying on their senior class trip to New Orleans, La.

"People are pretty quiet," said the waitress. "It's hard to take but we've got a lot of faith."

"This is a cross we have to bear," said the Rev. Melvin J. Nickel.

7 Girls Survive
Only seven girls survive in the senior class at the red brick school at the top of a hill in this southern Wisconsin farming hamlet of 300 persons. Thirty-two pupils had left Monday on a six-day pregraduation train trip to New Orleans and Biloxi, Miss., for what the itinerary called "the time of your life on the tour of your life."

The senior class washed cars and sold cookies and ice cream to finance the trip. Pupils raised cash to pay for meals and souvenirs. Linda Moe, 18, one of the victims, worked for weeks as a baby-sitter to make the trip.

Last Morning
The itinerary for Thursday began, "This is your last morning in New Orleans." The day was barely one hour old when a Delta

Ship's Oil 'Destroyed'; Divers To Check Today

LAND'S END, England (AP) — Bombing of the supertanker Torrey Canyon indicated Thursday that most of her 35.8 million gallons of oil have flooded out to sea, or washed ashore on the beaches of Britain.

Three direct hits by navy jet bombers — Sea Vixens and Buccaneers — set off small fires that went out quickly. The Royal Air Force planes were aiming at the one last tank of 16 on the 61,000-ton tanker.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins said the reports indicated all oil in the Torrey Canyon probably was destroyed or had floated off but divers might be sent down today to make sure. The wreckage has been under bombardment for three days.

"It looks as though this probably is the end of the bombing operation," Jenkins declared.

"I wish I could say the crisis is over, but I can say a certain phase is probably over. We still have the crisis of dealing with the oil at sea and that which comes ashore."

He thought the operation so far could have cost more than $2.8 million, but he had no accurate figures.

For five miles around the reef where the tanker grounded there was little evidence of oil, but plenty was still floating in the sea. The biggest patch, 30 miles long and five miles wide, was heading toward the island of Guernsey in the English Channel.

Wreckage of the tanker, owned by the Union Oil Co. of California and registered in Liberia, still hung from Seven Stones Reef, nine miles from Land's End where she was impaled 12 days ago during a voyage from Kuwait to Britain.

The battle went on to save the miles of beaches already polluted and to keep the remaining oil offshore. Bulldozers scraped away oily sand along the Cornwall beaches.

Along the 120-mile shore line of western Cornwall and Devon, Britons fought the oil slick with foam barriers, sweeping operations and detergent.

The foreign Office in London was in touch with representatives of the ship owners and nations concerned over the wreck. Top question was: Who reimburses Britain and the man on the coast in Cornwall for the disaster threatening the holiday season, the fishing industry and even the natural bird life?

Newspaper Negotiators Strive To Avert Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators worked against a midnight strike deadline Thursday night to avert a walkout of 17,000 employees on five major New York daily newspapers. Some of the sting was gone from the threat, however.

The powerful printers union scheduled slowdowns against the Daily News but announced it was withholding strike action. The union called the News an obstacle to over-all settlement, and said it planned to hold meetings during which News printers would leave their jobs.

Others among 10 industry unions, however, could wreck the armistice and spearhead a walkout that would cut off a combined circulation of nearly four million daily.

Nevertheless, an expression of cautious optimism came from John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, which bargains for the "I'm confident nobody wants a strike. I sincerely hope that we'll be able to find an accommodation to the situation by the midnight deadline," he said.

Wages were the chief issue. Four times in as many past years some or all of New York's major dailies have been shut down by union walkouts. In that period also, the number of major newspapers has shrunk from nine to six, a decline publishers attributed to rising labor costs and recurrent strikes.

Involved in the current contract crisis were the morning Daily News and the Times, and the afternoon World Journal Tribune, the Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press.

The afternoon New York Post is not a member of the publishers association and does its contract bargaining separately.

Broadcasting Walkout 'Could Be A Long One'

NEW YORK (AP) — The unprecedented two-day old strike of four broadcasting networks by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists may last a week or more, network and union spokesmen said Thursday.

"I'm afraid this could be a long one," one National Broadcasting Co. management official said, and an AFTRA spokesman echoed: "I would certainly hope that isn't the case, but it's entirely possible."

The 18,000-member AFL-CIO union that struck NBC, the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Mutual Broadcasting System early Wednesday has always been flamboyant where trouble is concerned.

It has been involved in bitter jurisdictional disputes with the movie union, Screen Artists Guild, and was the first union to expel suspected Communists during the "Red scare" of the 1950s. This is its first nationwide strike.

300 Involved
The walkout was in a dispute involving 300 AFTRA members.

It appeared there was no chance for settlement at least until Saturday when both sides were scheduled to meet in Washington with a federal mediator.

In the meantime, network supervisory personnel continued to substitute for striking broadcasters and announcers and filmed reruns were substituted for programs usually shown live or on videotape.

Feeling on the picket lines, especially at NBC, ran high over the decision by Chet Huntley to go on the air despite the strike.

He said he went on because he did not feel that AFTRA was the right group to represent him.

Picture Taken Down
Some of the strikers, at a midtown bar frequented by NBC personnel, took down an autographed photograph of Huntley, draped it in black crepe paper and placed it in the window.

GOODNIGHT, CHET was the feeling of striking newscasters who tore down this autographed photo of NBC newsman Chet Huntley from its place in a tavern and draped it in black. Huntley continued his newscasts despite the strike of his colleagues. — AP Wirephoto Huntley's news program, shown in New York at 7 p.m., to protest his appearance. The NBC pickets were to be joined by pickets from ABC and CBS.

Normally they picket only their own networks.

AFTRA's first big trouble began in 1947, ten years after the union was founded with 700 members, and was in its heyday with the largest membership in its history, 27,000. That was the year of television's big surge.

The union, then called AFRA and representing only radio personalities, wanted jurisdiction over television performers. So did the Screen Artists Guild.

Viet Casualties May Rival Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's killed and wounded in Vietnam fighting this year could, at current rates, soar to over 61,000 — rivaling Korea's first and most bloody 12 months of battle.

The new savagery of the war was illustrated Thursday with the disclosure that U.S. forces last week had suffered a record total of 274 combat deaths, well over Korea's average weekly battle losses of 255 during 37 months of that conflict.

In Korea's first year, before the war settled into trenches and truce talks, the United States suffered 74,700 combat casualties — 21,000 killed and 53,700 wounded.

A projection of Vietnam losses under the current deadly tempo of operations escalates U.S. battle casualties in Southeast Asia during 1967 to 61,000 — 8,320 killed and 52,780 wounded.

This is based on recent U.S. combat losses which have averaged 160 killed and 1,015 wounded per week in the last three months. In 1966 weekly combat casualties averaged 96 dead and about 575 wounded.

Rate Would Mount
If the recent casualty rate is maintained, the United States commitment in Vietnam in terms of life and limb since 1961 would mount by the end of the year to 104,482 battle casualties — 14,964 killed and 89,518 wounded.

In Korea the United States suffered 33,629 battle deaths and 103,284 wounded. World War II battles killed 291,557 Americans and wounded 470,846 others. Noncombat deaths in World War II raised the cost in lives to 406,742 while the over-all toll of the Korean conflict was 54,246.

One significant point emerges in comparing recent losses in Vietnam with those during Korea's early weeks. While numbers of wounded per week are roughly equal — 1,015 in Vietnam this year, about 1,630 in Korea's first year — there is a great disparity in the combat deaths — 160 a week this year in Vietnam, 400 a week the first year of Korea.

2 Wars Differ
The reason for this apparently lies in the difference in the two types of wars. Korea involved conventional battle-line operations with distinct opposing armies. Vietnam is largely a hit-and-run conflict, sometimes against guerrillas, with few battles of duration.

Pentagon figures show that as of March

NFO Under Order To Halt Violence In Milk Holding

DES MOINES (AP) — Members of the National Farmers Organization were placed by a federal judge Thursday under a 10-day restraining order forbidding acts of violence in their milk-holding action.

Judge Roy L. Stephenson emphasized, in granting the order asked by the U.S. Justice Department, that it does not bar the NFO from continuing the milk hold-out begun March 15.

He ordered the militant farm group to refrain from "threatening, intimidating, harassing, or engaging in acts of violence" against nonmember farmers, milk carriers and milk processors.

The order allowed the NFO to engage in peaceful picketing but limited pickets to no more than four at any one site.

Thursday's court action came on the heels of a request by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to President Johnson seeking restrictions on dairy product imports many farmers and congressmen blame for low prices.

Government attorneys introduced at the hearing an affidavit stating some NFO members used threats, intimidation and violence to prevent milk deliveries in Wisconsin. They said some of the milk was headed for other states, placing it under federal jurisdiction.

NFO President Oran Lee Staley came from his headquarters in Corning to attend the court session but took no active part.

25, the jungle war has claimed 8,286 American combat dead and 48,002 wounded, mostly in the past two years. In addition, 1,822 deaths from non-hostile causes raises to 10,108 the cost in lives of the Vietnamese conflict through March 25.

Earlier this year Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge predicted in an interview that the purely military part of the war would "make tremendous progress in 1967 and that the percentage of American casualties will start declining."

There is no indication Lodge's predicted point of proportionately lower casualties lies in the near future.

NEWS IN BRIEF

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — A huge satellite almost as long as a football field is to be launched Tuesday as the first U.S. spacecraft equipped with cameras commercially compatible to standard home television sets. A space agency spokesman said national television networks have "expressed interest" in relaying live pictures from the satellite as it swings around earth.

DES MOINES — The House Schools Committee Thursday tabled, and thereby virtually killed, a Senate-passed bill to allow students of parochial and other private schools to ride public school buses. (Rep. Harry Gittins (R-Council Bluffs) made the motion to table immediately after the committee took up the bill and before it had been debated.)

WASHINGTON — New outbreaks of Communist guerrilla activity in two Latin-American nations and resurgent terrorism in other countries caused concern Thursday among U.S. officials preparing for a summit meeting of hemisphere presidents. The worst outbreaks were reported in Bolivia and Colombia, but there have been recurring incidents in Guatemala and in oil-rich Venezuela, long considered a prime target of Communists.

ROME — Anti-Vietnam war demonstrators threw an open can of yellow paint at Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as he entered the Rome Opera House Thursday night. The paint splashed down the front of Humphrey's host, opera director Angelo Carlucci. A few drops touched Humphrey's suit. The vice president had reached Rome a few hours earlier by air from Bonn for a three-day visit and talks with Italian government leaders.

Broadcasters' strike not so unfair

As the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) strike enters its third day, it becomes apparent that the demands of so few have seldom influenced so many.

No more than 150 newsmen for local stations owned by the three major networks are actually disputing their wages and creating the strike situation. But for the benefit of these few individuals AFTRA has seen fit to deprive millions of American viewers and listeners of normal programming in the entertainment as well as the news areas.

It hardly seems equitable that a million housewives must suffer the supreme mental anguish of not seeing their favorite soap operas while only 150 newscasters are directly benefiting from the strike.

Nor does it seem very fair that if the strike continues, the demands of so few must be directly felt by America's children who will no longer be able to watch Captain Kangaroo after April 10, when the pre-tapes run out.

Is it fair? Should the American mass audience be inconvenienced in the interest of so few?

The American people as a whole, children and housewives as well as teamsters, seldom realize what the right to strike peacefully entails. Now that so many can see and hear what a strike is, we realize how important the right is.

AFTRA members have been negotiating with the networks since their contract ran out in November. They have not found the networks sympathetic to their demands and stand as far from settlement today as they did when negotiations broke down early in March.

AFTRA newscasters have worked four months with no contract without nearing agreement. It is time that more effective action be taken, and the union is taking it. With the help of so many big names the 150 local newscasters will probably find the networks easier to talk with than before.

So if you get a bit tired of "I Love Lucy" reruns, remember that television and radio personnel desire a fair wage just as earnestly as truck drivers or teachers. And with the help of several thousand fellow AFTRA members and the understanding of the American public, these 150 newsmen may get their demands, in an honest, traditional, American way.

The real victims in news strike

The threatened New York newspaper walkout invokes the old adage about not biting off one's nose to spite one's face. Apparently, the various unions don't think so — it looks as if they are willing to walk out and leave New Yorker newspaperless.

They shouldn't.

Granted the four similar strikes since 1962 have accomplished pay raises and few benefits for New York union members. But, those walkouts also crippled all of the city's present major newspapers for more than 40 weeks.

That may have been the idea — hit 'em until it hurts. But, was the idea also to eliminate daily papers?

The Mirror, Herald Tribune and the World-Telegram & Sun and Journal American have since then gone under, in part because of the strike.

Where do the past employes of these papers go? Maybe they could be feather-bedded on the other New York papers as left-handed linotype operators. But, that's doubtful.

The fact is, they're done.

They either relocate, learn a new trade or starve. It's a high price to pay for blind union brotherhood.

A little soul searching may be in order for the New York union leaders before they begin another blind crusade. At least, this may insure a steady wage for their members.

China says U.S. weakening

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's leaders, up to their own necks in cultural revolution trouble, are going all-out trying to convince North Vietnam that it cannot lose if it holds out indefinitely against U.S. peace talk proposals.

The propaganda beamed to Hanoi reflected a Chinese worry that Hanoi's confidence might be shaken, and that it might crack and agree to talks.

The strategy meeting of President Johnson and his advisers in Guam left open the question of further escalation of the war. Hanoi has no assurance that the U.S. effort will not be transformed from its present limited status to total offensive.

Hanoi publicly rejected Johnson's peace talk offers earlier this year and then turned down the latest proposal of Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations. The feeling seems to be growing among non-Communist diplomats that Hanoi will respond to nothing but force. But reports from Hanoi itself make it clear North Vietnam is hurting from the effects of the conflict.

The Hanoi regime is in a sort of trap of its own making. If the U.S. bombing offensive against North Vietnam is stepped up, there will be a growing internal threat to the regime itself. But if Hanoi accedes now to peace talks, it could risk the end of the Viet Cong insurrection in South Vietnam and loss of the prospective dividends from it, and possibly even an intervention from the Chinese.

If Hanoi believes that its version of popular sentiment in the United States means promises of decisive concessions to its side in the long run, it is likely to try to hold out, at least until next year's political campaigns in the United States.

Peking seeks to nourish this belief.

Propaganda to North Vietnam from Red China harps on the theme that the Johnson administration is, as People's Daily expressed it, "in enormous, insoluble and fatal" difficulties at home.

Peking assures Hanoi that U.S. military morale in South Vietnam is low, that the rate of casualties among the Americans is becoming intolerable, and "the Vietnam war has brought grave difficulties to the U.S. economy." It dwells repeatedly on what it describes as an irresistible wave of popular resistance to the war among Americans.

Movie tough guy 'undesirable' say the British

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Somebody must have put the finger on me," said George Raft, barred from England as an "undesirable." "The only thing I can figure is that it was the FBI. And so I'm going to try to see J. Edgar Hoover and find out what they've got against me."

The onetime coin-flipping gangster of movies, still dapper at 71, was discussing the latest blow in a decade of personal trouble. For a year he had been frontman and greeter for George Raft's Colony sporting club, a Las Vegas-type casino in London, where gambling is legal.

During a trip home, Raft was notified that he was one of eight Americans whose "continued presence in the United Kingdom would not be conducive to the public good."

A month later, Raft is still shocked. "What have I done?" he asks as he chain smokes — despite an asthmatic condition — in his comfortable Beverly Hills home.

"They haven't accused me of anything; they've just barred me from the country without charges, without a trial or anything. And just when I was about to start participating in the profits of the Colony. All I got was an apartment, the use of a car and a small salary until the investors were paid off. Now they have been, but I won't be there to collect."

"I suppose the British had some information on me, and it must have come from the FBI. I'm going to New York this week to see about a job, and I plan to drop down to Washington and wait in Hoover's office until he sees me. I know him; once I introduced him to Ali Khan at the Del Mar race track."

"Hell, I'm not a member of any mob, never was. Sure, I know some guys that are, but I know a lot of people. What am I supposed to do when those guys say hello to me — tell them to get lost?"

Raft, who was married briefly in 1923 to Grace Mulrooney and never divorced, claims to have spent a million dollars on "broads." Such extravagances and a fading career as a film tough guy led to his financial troubles. In 1965 he was fined $2,500 after pleading guilty to tax evasion.

"My luck started turning sour in 1957," he said. Since then he has suffered a series of personal and financial disasters in Cuba, Las Vegas, London and elsewhere.

Chicago businessman wants Big 10 probed

By EARL B. DICKERSON

(Editor's note: Atty. Earl B. Dickerson, president of the largest Negro-owned insurance company in the North, issued this statement recently in support of other charges of discrimination on the part of the Big 10 in the slush fund scandal. Dickerson is on the National Board of Directors of the NAACP.)

CHICAGO — I am making this statement as a graduate of the University of Illinois, class of 1914, as an alumnus of Northwestern University and as one who has been in the struggle for 50 years to help Negroes matriculate into the Big Ten schools.

One important aspect of the case dealing with the expulsion of athletes from the University of Illinois is that the Big 10 faculty representatives were dealing with athletes who knew nothing about the rulings, and therefore, had no duty or responsibility in relation to the rulings governing the Big 10. This ruling which declared five Negroes permanently ineligible will have the effect of stopping the recruiting of a large number of Negro stars.

The action of the faculty committee in forcing the University of Illinois to discharge these athletes was too stringent and excessive. I do not want to quarrel with the action the officials took as to these players, but I do want to question the action of this body in determining the further eligibility of the players involved.

There were 14 of these athletes — eight of whom were Negroes. It is strange that out of the 14, no whites were permanently denied eligibility, five permanently and three temporarily.

Now, it may be, as we look at the facts, that the officials were determining the basic action on the amount of money which these athletes received. It is well known that Negroes don't have any money to go to these schools. And it's particularly true of Negroes in the South who have been denied their opportunities all through the years. They are handicapped not only economically, from a lack of money, but handicapped from a standpoint of training in those schools in the South which are far below the de facto segregated schools in the North.

So when these star athletes in Southern schools are recruited to Northern institutions, it seems to me that the amount of money that is involved should not be a standard to judge for the eligibility. They were all getting money from the "slush fund." The same yardstick should apply to all of them without regard to the amount that they received, for they were not the primary violators. The "slush fund" was given on the basis of need and we have established that the need of Negroes is far beyond the need of whites.

It seems to me, in light of the action taken, that the Big 10 faculty was influenced by the fact that here are too many Negro stars operating in the Big 10. This action taken now would be a deterrent, not only to Illinois in future recruiting policies, but a deterrent to other Big 10 schools who have been seeking to bring in Negro stars from the South to bolster their athletic standards and the gate receipts which come to them by reason of the action of these stars on the field.

Is not this action on the part of the Big 10 faculty representatives designed, whether they think so or not, to deter the vast infiltration of Negroes on the football and basketball rosters in the Big 10 and bring it back to days of scarcity and paucity? The action taken will have the effect of dulling the appetites of Negroes, wherever they are, to wish to come to the Big 10, and particularly to the University of Illinois. If this is a pattern, I am certain that it will be used in other schools.

'Black' Campaign Planned

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Birth of a "black political power third force" that could become a third party was announced Thursday by Adam Clayton Powell and other Negro leaders meeting on this British resort island.

The ousted Harlem congressman, who lives in self exile here, told a news conference that a national campaign "to elect the black man" would be pushed.

Powell, jaunty in a yellow sport shirt and yellow shorts and smoking a yellow cob pipe, announced, "We are getting together as a team very soon, criss-crossing the nation from Washington to Berkeley, Calif., stopping at strategic points."

Appearing with Powell were seven U.S. Negro leaders.

A crowd of natives, who stood behind them, chorused, "Talk your talk, baby!" as Powell told newsmen, "We have faith in the black man and also in the young white man."

Conference Called

A national conference of elected Negro public officials will convene in Los Angeles on May 26 Powell announced. He said he will be the keynote figure.

"The future of black political power is the future of the United States," Powell asserted. "I don't know if this is the beginning of a third party, but we are discussing that."

California State Sen. Marvin Dymally, representing the Watts area, said the new black political organization would be called "the National Conference of Negro Elected Officials."

Dymally heads a California group formed last month with 48 members as the forerunners of the national organization. He said the national group has a 500-member initial potential.

Julian Bond, the Negro Georgia representative who was at first refused a seat, said, "When I went through the difficulty that Mr. Powell is going through, he came to my support. So I now come to his support."

Floyd McKissick, director of the national Conference of Racial Equality (CORE) said, "Mr. Powell is a symbol of black political power — the only black political power in the United States."

Declines To Answer

Powell, asked when he planned to return to the United States, replied sharply, "That is my business."

California Assemblyman Bill Greene, representing the Watts area, said, "We are going to see that one congressman will be missing in the 91st Congress."

He said he referred to Rep. Lionel Van Deerling, a leader in the move to oust Powell from Congress.

Powell introduced Alex Michaux, a Harlem senior citizen and worker, as "one of the few remaining instigators of the black revolution in Harlem."

Powell said, "There is a new brood of cats now. The old order has changed for the new."

Also at the news conference were Wilfred Ussery, national chairman of CORE, and O'Dell Clark, senior deacon of Powell's Harlem church.

Powell said he would preach in Bimini April 9 — two days before the Harlem election for his vacated seat in which he is heavily favored for re-election.

Congressmen Plan Return To College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats plan to send more than 40 congressmen to college campuses next month to show off their party's wares and find out what students are thinking about.

Charles L. Weltner, deputy national chairman in charge of the Young American Division, said in an interview Thursday that 44 of the first 60 House members to respond have agreed to take part, and he hopes the number will exceed 50.

All will appear the weekend of April 28 on campuses outside their home districts.

State Democratic chairmen opened two days of meetings here by holding closed discussion groups with National Chairman John M. Bailey, Weltner and other party leaders.

Weltner denied published reports that a number of congressmen have refused to take part in the "Congress on campus" program because they fear criticism from students who oppose the administration's Vietnam policy.

Both major political parties have begun new efforts in recent months to increase their appeal to young people.

Speck Trial Jury Completed; Testimony To Begin Monday

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Richard Speck, the blond, tattooed drifter accused of killing eight student nurses, will be tried by a jury of seven men and five women.

The jury was completed at the opening of court Thursday when the defense accepted the third panel of two men and two women. The panel was tendered by William Martin, assistant state attorney, as were the first two panels approved.

A middle-aged machine operator and a mother of five grown children were picked as the two required alternate jurors.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen recessed court to 9:30 a.m. Monday when the 12 jurors and two alternates will be brought from a nearby hotel where the various members have been or will be sequestered. They will be sworn Monday.

Presentation of evidence is expected to start Monday.

The third jury panel is made up of a housewife with four children, a housewife who also is employed as a computer operator, a boiler operator in a chemical factory and a retired parking lot owner.

The two men have had previous jury experience. The retired man has a granddaughter who is a registered nurse. During the interrogation the juror told the court that he believes his granddaughter knew one of the eight girls strangled and stabbed July 14 in their townhouse dormitory on Chicago's South Side.

The first jury panel was chosen March 1 and the second was approved March 17. All 14 jurors will be sequestered at a hotel for the length of the trial.

Planners Deny Bid For Site Rezoning

The Iowa City Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday denied a request that a 16-acre site between Lakeside Apartments and the Bon-Aire Mobile Home Lodge be rezoned to highway-commercial use.

The land, presently zoned for residential use, would be used for a "semi-public country club" complex, according to Terry Bjornsen, Cedar Rapids real estate developer who had made the request. Bjornsen was the builder of Lakeside Apartments.

Bjornsen said the complex would include part of a par three, 18 hole golf course, a supper club and cocktail lounge, four tennis courts, a handball court, a pro-shop and a barber and beauty shop.

Alan D. Vestal, commission member, in moving that the request be denied, said it was "inconsistent with the overall planning of the commission to establish an all residential area west of the trailer park." He added that it would be against commission "plans of keeping commercial areas centered in

H. Sidwell Smith, commission member who studied the request prior to Thursday's meeting, recommended that it be approved. His motion failed to receive a second. Vestal then moved that the request be denied. Richard Jordison seconded it.

The commission, in sending its rejection to the Iowa City council will submit the reasons for the rejection.

Bjornsen left soon after the vote and was unavailable for comment.

If Bjornsen calls for a public hearing before the council, he still has a chance of getting his request approved.

Smith said that the incident points out the need for "some kind of continuous policy with respect to planning." He said that there seems to be no system except personal recollections and agreements of commission members.

Kenneth Mulford, chairman of the commission, said he realized the problem and said the commission had requested an overall zoning plan from the council in the past but had received no reply.

Professor Will Obtain Research Leave Grant

Frederic Will, professor of English, has been awarded a research leave, financed by the Old Gold Development Fund, to spend the 1967-68 academic year writing and studying at Cambridge University, England.

Will intends to continue work on his forthcoming book, "The Argument of Water," a historical-philosophical study of attitudes on water in both the Eastern and Western parts of the world. He also intends to finish a volume of poems.

In addition, he will do further work on a book dealing with Catholic existentialism. He will also continue his editorship of "Micro Megas," a magazine on poetry published thrice yearly at Will's expense. Besides his writing activities, Will plans to listen to lectures on philosophy.

Last summer Will traveled around the world, spending most of his time in Asian countries, to gather data for the book on water.

Will returned from Paris recently, where he represented the English Department's translation workshop at a translation conference dealing with Polish and French translators. The trip was made at the invitation of the Doubleday Publishing Company, Inc., and lasted about a week.

The current academic year is Will's third at the University. He has taught also at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H.; The Pennsylvania State University, University Park; the University of Texas, Austin; and Tuebingen University, West Germany.

Will received his B.A. from Indiana University and his Ph.D. degree from Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

NATO Shuts French Base

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization lowered and folded its flag today, formally closing its headquarters — called SHAPE — on French soil.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander, looked on from the steps of the headquarters building as an honor guard received orders to lower the flags of 15 member nations.

A crowd of more than 1,000 watched the ceremony marking the closing of the last allied base in France in compliance with President Charles de Gaulle's expulsion of foreign troops from the country.

INSPECTING RADIO receiver to go up with a University rocket payload this spring is Dr. Donald Gurnett, assistant professor of physics, project director for rocket flights which will investigate low-frequency radio noises in the upper ionosphere. One rocket is to be launched at a National Aeronautics and Space Administration Wallops Island, Va., facility in early April. Another will be launched at NASA's Fort Churchill, Canada, site in May. The receiver which Gurnett holds contains about the same amount of circuitry as two ordinary hi-fi amplifiers.

Bill To Up Pay Of Solons OKd

LBJ Gives 'Treatment' To Democratic Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is seeking to build support for his Vietnam policy among the men who help write speeches and conduct research for Democratic senators.

"We got the full treatment," an aide to one Democratic senator — a critic of the war — said Thursday after a White House reception and briefing.

About 100 top-echelon assistants to Senate Democrats attended Wednesday night's affair — described by the White House as a private party.

One Senate aide who attended said Johnson told the administrative and legislative assistants that he had briefed their bosses on national problems, and felt it was time to provide some of the briefings for the men who do the ground work on Capitol Hill. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Budget Director Charles Schultz and Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers Gardner Ackley, all took part in the briefings.

Gymnasts Vie For NCAA Title

Defending Champion Southern Illinois Is Team To Beat As 25th Meet Opens

By RON BLISS
Asst. Sports Editor

Iowa Coach Sam Baillie will be hoping to make a beautiful dream complete today when he sends his Iowa gymnastics team against the best in the nation in the 25th NCAA gymnastics championships in Carbondale, Ill.

Baillie, in his first year as head coach, has already produced the first Iowa Big 10 gymnastics team championship in 30 years and today would like nothing better than a national title to make his first year as head coach complete.

The Hawkeyes have never won a NCAA gymnastics championship, but have come close on three occasions. In 1963 they finished third and placed fourth in 1958 and 1959.

Iowa's Best Chance

Iowa figures to have its best chance ever at the title this year, however, after winning the Big 10 title and placing second behind defending NCAA champion Southern Illinois in the Midwest Regionals two weeks ago.

There will be 12 teams competing in the meet, but Baillie's biggest worry is Southern Illinois, which will have the advantage of its home floor.

"Southern Illinois will definitely be the team to beat," Baillie said, "but the West coast teams (UCLA and Southern Cal) also figure to be strong."

What are Iowa's chances? "As a team we could do it," says Baillie, "except that we're weak on the trampoline. But if Southern Illinois lets down at all we could be right there."

Uffelmann Returns

Baillie said the trampoline team should be strengthened by the return of Don Uffelmann, one of Iowa's top trampoline men. Uffelmann, who also will compete in the floor exercise today, missed the regional meet with a sprained ankle.

Another injured Hawkeye, Terry Siorek, will not compete in the meet though, according to Baillie. Siorek, one of Iowa's top men in the still rings, tore a muscle in his left arm during the finals of the Big 10 meet has not recovered enough to compete in today's meet. He will, however, be able to compete in open tournaments later in the season, Baillie said.

Iowa will have 10 men competing for 16 places in Saturday's individual championships. Included will be three men who won regional championships and one who tied for a regional title.

Dickson Leads Qualifiers

Bob Dickson led Iowa individual qualifiers. He took first place in the regional meet in the all-around competition and also qualified to compete in the long horse, horizontal bar and still rings.

Other champions in the regional meet were Neil Schmitt, who won the horizontal bar championship, Marc Slotten, who placed first in the side horse and Tom Goldsborough, who tied for first in the parallel bar competition. Schmitt also finished second in the all-around and qualified for the parallel bars.

Other Iowa qualifiers were Ike Heller, long horse and parallel bars; Don Hatch, still rings; Paul Omi, still rings; Arnie Lazar, parallel bars; and Ken Gordon and Keith McCanness, side horse.

Ziolkowski Signs

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bob Ziolkowski, 270-pound tackle on the University of Iowa football team, was signed Thursday by the Green Bay Packers. Ziolkowski, a seventh round draft choice of the Packers, played offense at Iowa.

Ziolkowski was a starter for Iowa during the 1963 and 1964 seasons, but broke an ankle prior to the 1965 season and never played again.

SPORTS BRIEFS

CHICAGO (AP) — Cassius Clay's manager said Thursday night there are no prospects that the heavyweight will defend his title in Houston, Tex., in the near future, but that Clay definitely is interested in a match with Floyd Patterson in Detroit. Earlier, it was reported that Clay — facing Army induction April 28 — was considering a Houston bout. Clay's manager, Herbert Muhammad, said an offer has been made for a match in Detroit April 25 and that Clay was willing, under certain conditions, to meet Patterson.

MIAMI (AP) — Outfielder Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles had fluid drained from his right knee and then played his first complete game of the baseball exhibition season. Robinson failed to hit the ball out of the infield in four tries, but he handled four outfield chances including a rolling shoestring catch. He had played only four innings in the past four games.

Baseball Team Loses Twice

TUCSON, Ariz. — Iowa's baseball team lost two more games Thursday as the team's spring training trip neared its climax. The Hawkeyes lost to Colorado 3-0 in a morning game and fell to Arizona 9-3 in an afternoon game.

The Hawkeyes, now 1-5, have only two games remaining before concluding their spring trip. They will meet Arizona in single games tonight and Saturday afternoon.

In Thursday's first game, Taylor Torney set down the Hawkeyes on three hits to give Colorado its second shutout victory in a row over Iowa. All Colorado's runs came in the fourth inning against Iowa's Donn Haugen. Pat Prima got two of Iowa's three hits in the game.

In the Arizona game, Wildcat catcher Ron McMackin got a triple and two singles to lead a 13-hit Arizona attack.

Two of Iowa's runs came in the second inning when the Hawkeyes bunched two doubles and a pair of singles. Russ Sumka led the Iowa attack with two hits.

Iowa's track team was rained out Wednesday in its meet with Arizona after five events. The Hawkeyes won four of those five events, with Larry Wiczorek winning the two-mile in a record 9:07.6.

Other Iowa winners in the meet were Ted Brubacher in the 800 (1:57), Ron Griffith in the mile run (4:17.5) and the Iowa mile relay team of Fred Ferree, Carl Frazier, John Remmer and Mike Mondane (3:12.8). Iowa is scheduled to meet Arizona in track again Saturday.
