

Traffic Court Rules Today On Campus Election Bid

By AL KORBEL
Staff Writer

The Traffic Court will decide today whether a second all-campus election will be held.

Allegations concerning the validity of the election were submitted to the court Monday night.

A three-page appeal was submitted by Everett Frost, G, North Coventry, Conn., on behalf of Lee Weingrad, G, Jamaica, N.Y., the Hawkeye Student Party's (HSP) losing presidential candidate in the election.

The appeal's summary states, "we contend that if there exists a reasonable doubt that the election was sound, then it must be run again."

In an original petition filed March 23 by Fred Wallace, G, New Haven, Conn., he contended that the vote fraud was centered around the new student body president, John Pelton.

Pelton Mentioned
Wallace cited Pelton's name in the affixing of posters to the inside of the Law Building, a violation of the election rules, and the fraudulent marking of 70 ballots in Pelton's favor.

In Frost's presentation on Weingrad's behalf, the attack on the election's validity was directed more toward the integrity of the elections committee headed by Dave Peters, A2, New Hampton.

Frost first contended that if there were 70 fraudulent ballots, there was also a possibility that more existed.

Tom Stone, L2, Iowa City, representing the elections committee, countered, saying, "It is entirely speculative that more ballots could have been marked and stuffed."

Peters pointed out that he deliberately kept the number of ballots distributed to 100 at a time to minimize the possibility of cheating.

Frost then contended that ballots for Weingrad could have been destroyed.

Peters explained that he was the only one with keys to the cans which held the marked ballots. "The ballots were taken to the Interfraternity Council office for separation into hand and machine tabulation," he said.

Affidavits Presented

Stone then presented signed affidavits by Leslie Ann Hanau, A2, LaGrange Park, Ill., and Carol Kaplan, A1, Chicago, Ill., that to the best of their knowledge no ballots were destroyed while being counted.

Miss Kaplan and Miss Hanau are on the elections committee and one of the two were with the marked ballots at the IFC offices throughout the day.

Peters explained that he brought most of the marked ballots over to the computer center for counting.

Frost then presented the poster violation in the Law Building. He said, "Approximately 300 ballots were affixed in strategic areas."

Stone presented an affidavit by Lee Rosebrook, L1, Ames, stating that he (Rosebrook) had placed 150 flyers for Pelton in the locker room of the Law Building the day of the election.

These were in no way authorized by Pelton, according to Rosebrook. He said that he had pulled down almost 100 of these at 1 p.m. and the rest by 5 p.m.

Don Kleinhesselink, A1, Hospers, testified that no ballots were in Hillcrest during part of the lunch hour. "I was there at 12:25 and no ballots were at the polling place," he said.

Ballots Not Available

Peters said that throughout the day ballots were not available at different polling booths. He estimated that these places were without ballots for no more than 15 minutes.

Peters pointed out that the poll watchers were yet to be questioned about any possible involvement in the vote fraud. He stated that 72 ballots appeared to be fraudulent and 71 of these were for Pelton.

Stone closed Peters' side of the case by saying, "The allegations, some speculation, some untrue and some true, do not significantly affect the election."

Frost contended that more than 70 ballots could have been stuffed, and the contrary was not sufficiently proven.

McNamara Launches Study Of Industry's War Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has launched a secret study of the profits industry reaps from the nearly $40 billion in defense contracts the government awards each year.

The defense chief's action came as top government officials, on orders from the White House, reviewed procurement and property management practices of some contractors.

The two developments coincide with a continued acceleration in Pentagon spending.

As history's biggest buyer of equipment, supplies and materials, the nation's defense establishment last year awarded $38.2 billion.

McNAMARA

lion in contracts for everything from eggs to warships. This was up sharply from the previous year's $28 billion. The total is expected to go even higher this year. Vietnam spending alone is nearing the $2-billion-a-month level.

How much of this is siphoned off as excessive profit?

In past periods of heavy defense spending, profits mounted. From 1942 to 1964, for example, the government recovered more than $11 billion in excess profits from World War II contractors.

Congress Unconcerned

Right now, no one in government seems to have up-to-date figures; there seems to be little concern on Capitol Hill about possible profiteering; the government's surveillance of defense contractors is fragmented with no one agency watching over excessive profit aspects from the start of the contracting process to the finish.

That McNamara found it necessary to initiate an independent Pentagon study points up this fact: even though the government spends about $50 million a year to maintain an army of more than 5,000 civilian auditors to keep tabs on defense outlays, the profiteering-control machinery operates in such a way that officials who man it say it will be two years or longer before they can give even a vague estimate of any excess profits realized from Vietnam-related spending.

One of the government's profiteering watchdogs, the Renegotiation Board, has been hamstringed by restrictive amendments enacted by Congress since the Korean War. And the board's staff has dwindled from 742 employees in 1953 to 179 last year.

Disclosures Curtailed

Another watchdog, the General Accounting Office, sharply curtailed public disclosure of excessive cost cases at about the same time the United States started the Vietnam buildup. The changes in GAO procedures followed complaints by contractors and some congressmen about the agency's auditing practices.

In a move to bring the fuzzy profit picture into sharper focus, McNamara has ordered what one official described as "a sub rosa study trying to find out the levels of profits of defense contractors and how they compare to the investment and risks involved." The Pentagon, in response to a query, confirmed that such a long-term, "in house" study is being made.

The apparent lack of concern in Congress about possible profiteering may be a tribute to McNamara's penchant for cutting cost.

In his six years at the Pentagon, the secretary has curtailed use of the cost-plus fixed-fee contract. Instead, he has stressed fixed price and other types of incentive contracts, trying, as one of his aides puts it, to "exploit the profit motive of the contractor to the fullest extent."

Problems Persist

But problems persist. One of the major ones is weeding out unnecessary costs contractors include in their price proposals.

In a study published in 1965, Army auditors said they believed questionable items included in contractors' price proposals, defensewide, could reach a billion dollars a year. Other officials now place this figure at $1.8 billion. And some say even the higher figure may be conservative. "No-body quite knows the magnitude of it," one commented.

Although none of the officials interviewed could give a firm estimate, they said the bulk of these questionable costs were knocked out before contracts are signed.

Five years ago Congress passed a law requiring contractors to certify that their cost estimates and supporting data are current, accurate and complete. But recently the General Accounting Office said there is "widespread failure to effectively implement the act."

"The negotiation of unreasonably high prices may be attributed primarily to inaccurate, incomplete or noncurrent cost information furnished by contractors or subcontractors in support of price proposals," the agency said on Jan. 10 in its annual report to Congress.

It added that "certain of the excessive costs may be attributed to laxity of the departments and agencies in their administration of negotiated contracts during the period of contract performance."

To consolidate examination of contractors' cost estimates, McNamara two years ago established the Defense Contract Audit Agency. Its 3,000 auditors and accountants inspect contractors' estimates before negotiations begin. They make some postaward audits also.

Jury Trial Set Thursday For Field House Guard

The Field House door guard charged with assaulting Johnson County Sheriff Maynard Schneider on Feb. 7, will face a jury trial at 1 p.m. Thursday in Justice of the Peace Court at the Johnson County Courthouse.

Richard A. Hartman, Cedar Rapids, was charged after he was alleged to have assaulted Schneider to prevent him from entering the Field House during the Iowa-Illinois basketball game.

The date for Hartman's trial was set Monday morning.

Residing Justice of the Peace Carl J. Goetz Jr. and other Johnson County officials said that length of time needed to set a trial date was not unusual.

According to Schneider, a Justice of the Peace Court usually considers the convenience of all parties involved before setting a trial date, and there are many delays in bringing a person to trial when a jury must be chosen.

Goetz explained that a Justice of the Peace jury consists of six persons who must be chosen from a field of 18.

"This also takes time," he said.

According to Goetz, Hartman's lawyer, Robert F. Wilson, Cedar Rapids, requested that the trial not be held until after March 14. Goetz said that such a request also was very common.

"I don't think that the time needed to set the trial was uncommon," said Johnson County Atty. Robert Jansen. "The proceedings involved in such a case do take time."

Goetz added the "integrated court system," which might be affected in Iowa in 1969, will cause such proceedings to be even slower.

The new Iowa court system under study would establish lower courts directly related to each state district court.

House Gets Bill On Merit System

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa House made a feeble start Monday on a bill to establish a state merit system of personnel management.

After spending most of the morning in party caucuses, the members sat down to hear the opening statement by Rep. Charles Grassley (R-New Hartford) on the controversial measure.

It then was deferred so that numerous amendments could be printed and distributed to the members before the debate begins in earnest.

The bill would set up a system of examinations for persons seeking state employment, and for persons already holding state jobs who want promotions. It also would provide hearings for employees with grievances and complaints, or those discharged.

Grassley said enactment of the measure would build "respectability" into state employment.

He said it would mean "no more Denmark cases, no more announcements the day after election that half the employees of a certain department will not be retained."

Council To Hear Viet Parade Bid

Mayor William C. Hubbard recommended the Iowa City council deny a request for a permit to stage an anti-war rally and parade on the evening of April 14. But the mayor left the door open for the rally and parade to be held at a different time.

The request is being made by the April 15th Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

At an informal council meeting, Hubbard said he would like to grant the request if the parade and rally would be held in the afternoon rather than in the evening.

"It would be easier for the policemen to handle the crowd in the daylight than in the dark," he said.

"I have nothing against what they're trying to do," Hubbard said. "We are trying to cooperate in the greatest way possible. However, a crowd at night is just too hard to control."

The request will formally come before the council at its meeting tonight.

Also at the meeting, David J. Markusse, assistant director of Planning and Urban Renewal, told the council that Iowa City's urban renewal plan would be submitted to the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development today.

The council also discussed changes in the 1967 paving program and heard reports from the city health sanitarian and the city's nursing service.

Pelton To Ask 2 Changes In New Senate Constitution

Student Body Pres. John Pelton said Monday he would propose two amendments to the new Student Senate Constitution at tonight's meeting at 7 in the Union Michigan Room.

The appointment of members for seven senate committees and two resolutions, one concerning the adviser system and one concerning dormitory contracts, are also scheduled for the meeting.

The first of Pelton's proposed amendments to the constitution provides for the formation of a cabinet for the student body president.

Pelton's second proposal calls for preliminary consideration of financial allocation to student activities by both the newly formed Student Activities Board and the Senate's Budgeting and Auditing Committee.

Requests for funds would then be presented to the senate for approval. In addition, any appeal would be made directly to the senate.

Asks Rules Suspension

Pelton said he would ask for suspension of the rules so the senate would be able to vote on the amendments tonight. An amendment requires a two-thirds vote of the senate in two consecutive meetings.

The seven committees for which Pelton said he planned to appoint members are: Student Organizations, Budgeting and Auditing, Personnel, Academics, Student Rights, Community and External Affairs and Housing.

Carl A. Varner, A2, Centerville, is scheduled to reintroduce his resolution calling for a central advisory office to replace the University's present system of individual faculty advisers.

Wants Full-Time Counselors

Varner's resolution calls for full-time academic counselors. Discussion of the resolution is scheduled for tonight's meeting. Pelton said he hoped the senate would vote on the resolution tonight.

Pelton said the senate's first resolution for its term in office, which was presented by Carl W. Stuart, A3, Keokuk, would probably be tabled until next week.

Stuart's resolution provides for dormitory contracts to be binding on a semester basis only. Dormitory contracts are binding for a full year under present regulations.

The resolution also calls for cancellation dates for dormitory contracts to be changed to Sept. 1 and Jan. 1. The present cancellation date for a year's contract is June 1.

Terrorists Battle British In Aden

ADEN (AP) — British troops fought a day-long street battle with sniping and bomb-throwing Arab terrorists here Monday.

"The situation is firmly under control," reported security commander Maj. Gen. Sir John Willoughby during a visit to the center of violence in Aden's Crater District.

Ten British soldiers and 10 Arabs were wounded by bombs, mines and bullets. British authorities said two Arabs had been killed.

Terrorist violence flared following the arrival Sunday night of the U.N. mission which is advising on the problems of the Federation of South Arabia's independence which Britain has promised by 1968.

A demonstration in the teeming Crater District sparked off the first clash Monday morning.

Two grenades were flung at troops.

From then on the rattle of gunfire and the rump of bombs reverberated through the city.

The U.N. mission — Dr. Manuel Perez Guerrero of Venezuela, Abdusattar Shalizi of Afghanistan, and Moussa Leo Keita of Mali — is expected to be in the federation several weeks and to visit most of the 17 outlying sheikhdoms and sultanates which make up the Federation of South Arabia.

The Arab terrorists want Aden linked to neighboring Yemen. This would effectively wreck the federation.

The National Liberation Front and the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, the two extremist nationalist parties which direct the terrorism in Aden, are boycotting the U.N. mission.

Aden was paralyzed for the second day by a general strike. All shops and offices were closed and the port was almost empty of shipping. The airport was closed down.

Allies Stage Operations To Drive VC Into Open

SAIGON (AP) — U.S., Australian and South Korean soldiers — a combined force of perhaps more than 10,000 men — ranged along three sectors of South Vietnam's fertile coast Monday in operations designed to secure roads and drive the Communists away from food supplies and into barren mountains open to air attack.

If successful, the operations, which have been under way since mid-March but disclosed only Monday, are expected to ease the movement of military supplies as well as help farmers and fishermen.

Roads that the Viet Cong has blockaded since 1964 are important to the movement of farm produce to markets in provincial capitals and such centers as Saigon, Da Nang and Nha Trang.

The Americans and Australians have met little resistance in their operations but the South Koreans engaged a Communist unit in Phu Yen Province, about 230 miles northeast of Saigon, and reported killing 16 Viet Cong in a sharp fight Monday.

Operations Under Way

Allied commands gave this rundown of the operations:

● In their largest operation of the war, about 4,000 Australian soldiers worked along roads in Phuoc Tuy Province, about 40 miles east-southeast of Saigon. Dubbed Operation Portsea, the campaign began March 21 with some U.S. soldiers in the force under Aussie command.

● The American phase — Operation Sumner — also got under way on March 21 with 1,500 troops of the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade in Phu Yen and Khanh Ho provinces on the central coast, 190 to 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

● The South Koreans are using troops from two divisions in their Tuy Hoa operational area. The number of Korean soldiers involved was not disclosed but the force was reported larger than the U.S. and Australian forces. The Koreans are seeking to secure Highway 1, which runs along South Vietnam's coast.

War Slackens

The war elsewhere slackened in intensity Monday.

The U.S. Command reported American planes flew 108 missions against North Vietnam on Sunday, despite heavy weather. Most of the raids were against targets along the coast and in the southern panhandle.

In the ground war, U.S. Army troops fighting in Operation Junction City — the massive drive in War Zone C northwest of Saigon — reported killing 25 to 30 Communist soldiers in a series of small and scattered fights. It appeared the Communists were fleeing the area where they lost 581 men Friday and Saturday. The U.S. forces appeared to be fanning out to catch them before they reach Cambodian border areas.

Junction City, which began Feb. 22, aims to clear the Viet Cong from jungles they have used for several years as a base for operations around the Saigon area and as a safe route for supplies from North Vietnam.

The Viet Cong's central headquarters is believed to be somewhere in War Zone C.

NEWS IN BRIEF

NATAL (AP) — An explosion rocked a coal mine in this British Columbia community Monday and a spokesman for Crows Nest Industries Ltd., owner of the mine, said in Seattle that 11 men were killed and 21 injured. The spokesman at the company's Seattle office said two men still were missing. The cause of the blast was not known.

PEORIA (AP) — A rapt jury heard the state demand Monday that Richard Speck die in the electric chair for slaying eight students nurses. Speck, a gangling, 25-year-old drifter, propped his head in one hand and faced the bench rather than the jury box during opening statements in his trial on charges of murdering the young women.

CORNING (AP) — The president of the National Farmers Organization estimated that from 12,000 to 15,000 head of dairy cows were sold for slaughter Monday in the group's milk holding action. Oren Lee Staley said at his headquarters here that the sales will cut the nation's milk output by about 120 million pounds over the coming year.

LEXINGTON (AP) — A chartered twin-engine aircraft plunged into a pasture next to Keeneland Race Course and burned two minutes after takeoff Monday. All eight passengers and the pilot were killed. The aircraft, chartered by Piedmont Airlines from the Lexington Air Taxi Service, was taking the passengers from Bluegrass Field to Louisville to make connections with other flights, a Piedmont spokesman said.

Protesters Begin 2-Week Viet Vigil

Members of a newly formed group, organized to protest the war in Vietnam, began a two-week vigil in front of the Iowa City Post Office at Linn and Washington Streets Monday morning.

Melissa Jo Kelly, 15, a sophomore at Iowa City High School, and Robert F. Sayre, associate professor of English, were handing out leaflets warning of a possible American invasion of North Vietnam.

The new protest group, as yet unnamed, was founded by two students who decided events in the news pointed to a coming land invasion by U.S. troops in North Vietnam.

One of the founders, James R. Hulbert, 44, Cedar Rapids, said he and Fredrick L. Barnett, 44, Iowa City, discussed the possibility of such an invasion and decided to ask some friends to inform the public of the danger of such a move by U.S. forces in Vietnam.

'Citizens Responsible'
Sayre and Miss Kelly were passing out leaflets entitled "Why," which said that "each citizen who is not drunk, on an LSD trip or apathetic, is responsible to the nation and to himself to end the killing in Vietnam."

The leaflets said that the purpose of the vigil was "to call attention to the possibility of the American ground invasion of North Vietnam and other types of escalation of our war."

On another leaflet, the group listed nine sources - from newspaper articles to foreign magazines - which hinted that a land invasion may occur in the near future.

Co-founder Hulbert said the contributions received from the Post Office vigil would be given to the Napalm Children's Fund and the Conference on Non-Violence sponsored by the Iowa Ministerial Association. The conference is scheduled for April 28 to 30 at the University.

"We are not a formal organization," said Hulbert. "This is just an individual reaction to what is happening in Vietnam. We want the bombing stopped in support of U. Thant's peace proposal."

Bombing Halt Urged
Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, called recently for the United States to discontinue the bombing of North Vietnam.

President Johnson has refused to halt the bombings until the government of North Vietnam agrees to stop the infiltration of troops into the South.

"We have asked students, faculty and community members to join us," said co-founder Barnett, "but our group is aimed mostly at the students."

Barnett declined to say whether the group would sponsor any more vigils after the present one is completed in two weeks.

"There is a possibility," he said, "but right now we don't plan to take any other steps."

When asked why he was against such an invasion of North Vietnam, Barnett declined comment.

"I wouldn't want to give my personal opinion," he said. "There is no group policy on this, and I can't speak for the whole group."

Hulbert, the other founder, said the group had 20 to 25 members.

Daley Picked To Recapture Mayor's Spot

CHICAGO (AP) - Mayor Richard J. Daley is an odds-on favorite to win an unprecedented fourth term in today's Chicago election, but despite white backlash influences in some wards, Negroes will fill at least 9 and possibly 10 of the 50 City Council seats.

Precinct captains of both major parties made final rounds Monday to get out the vote for Tuesday's election.

A forecast for fair and cool weather should help the voter turnout.

The Democratic Daley forces are aiming to surpass the record 778,612 votes cast for their candidate in 1959. His opponent, Timothy J. Sheehan, now Republican county chairman, received only 311,940 votes in that contest.

Running on the Daley ticket are City Clerk John C. Marcin, also seeking a fourth term, and Marshall Korshak, former state legislator, sanitary district trustee, and state revenue director, bidding to succeed City Treasurer G. Milota, a Democrat. The city treasurer cannot serve two consecutive terms.

Daley is opposed by John L. Wamer, 52, who waged a hard-slugging campaign that included promises to fire O. W. Wilson, the city's superintendent of police, and take City Hall jobs out of politics.

Daley, 64, has conducted a low-key election drive, never mentioning his opponent by name.

Some of the films to be shown include: "Our Enemy in Vietnam," "Toxic Chemical Warfare in North Vietnam," "Our Children Arise," "Vietnam-Land of Fire," "The Heroic Conco," "A Visit to the Land Nghe Ahn," "U.S. Aggressors in Northwest Vietnam," and "So you Want to be a Green Beret."

Strikes Continue To Plague Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) - A spate of labor disputes ranging from truckers and train men to trash collectors and television newscasters continued Monday, but the threat of any new major strikes abated at least temporarily.

Teamsters Union officials negotiating for 450,000 workers in a threatened nationwide trucking shutdown, took a breather to attend the funeral of a Teamsters vice president.

Frank Fitzsimmons, Teamsters general vice president, and other union leaders arranged to fly to Chicago to attend services Tuesday for John T. O'Brien, first vice president of the Teamsters.

Talks To Resume
The Teamsters, armed with a national strike vote from their members, could walk out any time. But negotiations are expected to resume Wednesday with representatives of some 12,000 trucking firms, with no strike before then.

A major segment of the industry has threatened to shut down 1,500 of the biggest trucking firms if the Teamsters strike even a few of them.

Informed sources are pessimistic at the moment about the chances of a peaceful settlement.

About 250 members of a small Cincinnati Teamsters local struck at the Kroger Co. food-processing plant but officials of a larger local which did not strike said the walkout was unauthorized. And union sources in Washington said the Kroger dispute is not connected with the national negotiations.

No Talks Scheduled
The six-day strike of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists continued with no new talks scheduled after union officials walked out of negotiations called by federal mediators.

When they walked out Sunday night, union representatives charged the networks had made an "insulting" offer. Details of the offer were not disclosed.

A union spokesman in New York said Monday he will seek to broaden the strike to include all employees in the industry.

The union is demanding $325 a

Police Probe 2 Break-Ins In Iowa City

Iowa City police are investigating break-ins at two Greek houses which occurred over the Easter vacation period.

Robert C. Ahders, 42, Rock Rapids, reported Monday that the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house, 724 N. Dubuque St., had been entered sometime between March 24 and 30.

Ahders said approximately $167 in cash had been taken from a petty cash box belonging to fraternity members. A coin collection, containing 640 pennies, was also reported as being stolen, according to Ahders. The coins were dated from 1812 to 1967.

The entire fraternity house was ransacked, Ahders said. He said fraternity members were still checking to determine if anything else was taken.

Police Sgt. Donald Strand said an investigation into a break-in at the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority house, 815 E. Burlington St., was continuing. The house burglary was reported last Thursday.

Five portable typewriters and two portable stereo phonographs found lying in a ditch, east of Iowa City on Friday, have been identified as belonging to the sorority members, according to Strand.

Strand said a complete inventory of the merchandise stolen in both break-ins wouldn't be completed for several days until all the Greek members living in the houses return from vacation.

Nominations Due For Coed Of Year

"Coed of the Year" nominations from women's campus organizations are due Wednesday in 201 Communications Center.

The award will be given April 25 at the annual Matrix banquet, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity.

The campus groups were asked to choose a senior woman outstanding for her leadership, scholarship and service to the campus.

A similar award for the outstanding woman in the city will be made at the banquet by the professional chapter of Theta Sigma Phi.

The banquet, to be held in the Union Ballroom, will be attended by women campus and civic leaders. Matrix banquets are held annually in April by Theta Sigma Phi organizations across the country.

Prof Edits Book, Publishes Essay

Frederick P. W. McDowell, professor of English, has had an essay, "Caroline Gordon," published in the University of Minnesota Pamphlets on American Writers, and was editor of a recently published book of essays, "The Poet as Critic."

McDowell's work is the first published study of Miss Gordon, 20th century Southern novelist, short story writer and critic. Miss Gordon is connected with the renaissance in Southern literature after World War I.

The essays in "The Poet as Critic" were presented at an October, 1965, conference on this topic at the University. The program was sponsored by the English Department and the Iowa Center for Modern Letters.

According to McDowell, "The essays deal with the reciprocal relationship in the poet's psyche between the forces that make for his original inspiration and the forces that consciously shape his finished work of art."

Other Contributors
In addition to McDowell's essay, an essay by each of two former English professors at the University, Murray Krieger and Ralph Freedman, are contained in the book. Krieger is now at the University of California, Irvine campus, and Freedman is at Princeton University.

Miss Gordon's more important books have been the novels, "Aleck Maury: Sportsman"; "None Shall Look Back"; a Civil War novel; "The Women on the Porch"; "The Strange Children"; "The Malefactors"; the critical work, "How to Read a Novel"; and a collection of short stories, "Old Red" and Other Stories.

She received a fellowship for creative writing abroad in 1934, as well as several other awards, and has taught at many universities throughout the country.

Others Included
Other essayists in "The Poet as Critic" are Donald Hall, poet and professor of English at the University of Michigan; Richard Ellman, professor of English at

Hawk Baseball Here Today

By RON BLISS
Assf. Sports Editor

Iowa opens its home baseball season today when it faces Central College of Pella in a double-header on the Iowa diamond at 2:30 p.m.

The games will be a continuation of the Hawkeyes' spring training season which started last during Iowa's eight game series during Iowa's spring sports trip at Tucson, Ariz. In that series the Hawkeyes lost seven of eight games to Colorado and Arizona.

None of those games or games this week, however, will count in the regular season record, since the regular season does not start until next Tuesday when Iowa plays Luther in a double-header here. The Hawkeyes will also play four exhibition games this weekend against Western Illinois at Macomb, Ill.

But despite the poor record, Iowa Coach Dick Schultz was far from discouraged with the team's play during the trip.

"By the end of the week, I think this team was playing better than I've had a team play in Arizona," Schultz said Monday. "We really only had one bad day and played well enough to win our last two games against Arizona but just didn't get the breaks we needed."

Schultz said that one aspect of the team's play that pleased him was the hitting.

"The hitting was perhaps a little better than we thought it would be," Schultz said. "We hit pretty well the first couple of days, tailed off in the middle of the week, but came back strong on Friday and Saturday."

He said he was not entirely pleased with the pitching, but said he thought the pitching staff would come around before the season began. The defense, he said, looked good.

The hitting highlight for the Hawkeyes came Tuesday when Steve Hirko and John Blackman each slugged two-run home runs. Russ Sumka, senior co-captain from Chicago, led Iowa hitters during the week with 10 hits in 27 at-bats for a .370 average. Larry Rathje and Steve Welter were next with .250 averages.

Schultz said he planned to start Mike Linden and Tom Staack in today's games. Both were among Iowa's best pitchers last season and Linden accounted for Iowa's only win Tuesday by beating Colorado 8-2 on a seven-hitter.

The remainder of the lineup includes Blackman at catcher, Gaylord McGrath at first base, Sumka at second, co-captain Lee Endsley at shortstop and Pat Prina at third. The outfield will have Bob Leshyn in left, Rathje in center and Hirko in right.

There will be no admission charge for today's games or any of Iowa's other non-conference games this spring, thanks to a ruling last week by Athletic Director Forest Evashevski. There will be 15 non-conference games at home this spring in addition to 10 Big 10 games. For Big 10 games there will be a charge of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children while staff members will be admitted with presentation of their basketball season ticket and students with presentation of ID card.

Gymnasts 3rd In Nation; Soph McCanless Wins Title

Iowa's gymnastics team, the 1967 Big 10 champion, placed third in the NCAA finals Friday at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Sam Baillie, the Hawks' first-year coach, said, "We had a tremendous performance from ev-

Baillie said that the Hawks were weak only in the trampoline event. He said that mainstay Don Uffelman had not worked out in three weeks due to a sprained ankle. As a result, Uffelman's timing was off and his score suffered, the coach said.

Baillie said that the Hawks would be working to improve their trampoline routines and that three freshmen were excellent prospects for next year's trampoline team. Sophomore Keith McCanless won the individual sidehorse championship with a 9.6 Saturday. Senior co-captain Ken Gordon's 9.375 was third.

Baillie said, "I'm glad McCanless finished sixth in the region. As a result, he was more relaxed and did the job we always knew he could do. It's hard to stay at the top."

Others Praised
McCanless said, "I don't think I could have done it without a couple of guys on the team. They worked the same event, and their competition and ideas helped me."

Last year Baillie coached Arizona University's D. Doty, who was second on the side horse. Neil Schmitt's 9.425 won a close second place in the high-bar competition.

Baillie said that Schmitt did his best routine of the year. He said Schmitt was defeated because Rich Grisby of San Fernando Valley College did a "different routine with more moves, and more flair." Grisby scored 9.5 points.

Baillie predicted that Schmitt, a junior and the team's co-captain, would be a strong contender for the national title again next year.

Tom Goldsborough, a senior, was sixth on the parallel bars with 9.25 points. Sophomore Don Hatch scored 9.275 points to place sixth in the still rings competition.

3 Are All-America
Keith McCanless, Neil Schmitt and Ken Gordon were named to the All-America team.

Baillie said that there would be no more team competition this season. However, individual Hawks will compete in various tournaments such as the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Championship and the Pan-American Olympic Try-outs.

The U.S. Gymnastics Federation's National Individual Championships will be held here April 28 and 29. According to Baillie, most of the Hawkeyes and many of the nation's top gymnasts will compete. Baillie said that Terry Siorek, still rings star, should be able to participate. Siorek has been out of competition since he tore an arm muscle during the Big 10 finals.

Baillie said that many of his gymnasts will be trying new routines in the individual tournaments. He said, "A gymnast might be ready to make that advancement to a harder routine but a coach could hold him back because experiments could hurt the team effort during the season."

O'Connor Named To Iowa Sports Hall

He was a relative unknown when he took over as Iowa head basketball coach in 1951, but in a short period of seven years he made Iowa one of the nation's basketball powers and created a legend that will long be remembered by Iowans.

The legend was of the "Fabulous Five" and Sunday, the man behind that legend, former Iowa basketball coach Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, was selected to the Iowa Sports Hall of Fame by the Des Moines Register.

O'Connor, the winningest coach in Iowa history, died in an automobile accident near Waterloo April 22, 1958, but his name has become legendary to Iowa basketball fans.

In his seven years as head coach he compiled a 108-54 record, had two Big 10 champions, had two Big 10 second place finishers and gained fourth and second place finishes in the NCAA basketball championships.

Fabulous Five
He had many good teams during those seven years, but the one that will be remembered longest by Iowans will be the team of Sharm Scheurman, Bill Seaberg, Bill Schoof, Carl Cain and Bill Logan.

They started playing as a team by the end of their sophomore years in 1954 and went on to be known as the "Fabulous Five," the greatest Iowa basketball team in history.

Their first year together they teamed for an 11-3 Big 10 record and finished second to Indiana, but beat the Hoosiers 82-64 in their only meeting that season.

The next season they won the Big 10 title with an 11-3 record and went on to finish fourth in the NCAA tournament.

Win 17 Straight
In 1956, their final season together, the "Fabulous Five" got off to a slow start, losing three non-conference games to west coast teams. They also lost their home opener to Michigan State, 65-64, but then reeled off 13 straight victories to finish with a 13-1 Big 10 record — the best ever by an Iowa team. Their streak extended to 17 before San Francisco and Bill Russell ended it in the NCAA championship finals, 83-71.

By the time their three years had ended, they had posted a 56-18 overall record and were 35-7 in the Big 10.

O'Connor also had a second place Big 10 finisher in 1952 and an All-America in Chuck Darling. Three members of the "Fabulous Five" also made All-America teams under O'Connor's coaching, Carl Cain, Bill Seaberg and Bill Logan in 1956. Cain went on to represent the U.S. in the 1956 Olympic games in Melbourne, Australia.

Before becoming head coach

FRANK (BUCKY) O'CONNOR
Added to Hall of Fame

at Iowa, O'Connor had had a life history in sports. Born in Monroe, Dec. 21, 1913, he grew up on a steady diet of golf. His parents were in charge of the Newton Country Club and Bucky practically lived on the course for 12 years, learning the game both as a caddy and a player.

Was Drake Star
Later he went on to Drake

University in Des Moines where he made the starting five in basketball as a sophomore in 1935-36. Despite small size and poor eyesight, he remained a starter for Drake through all three years and was chosen captain his senior year. During those three years Drake finished first, third and second in the Missouri Valley Conference.

It was his golfing background that brought him to Iowa, however. In 1948 he accepted a spot on the Iowa athletic staff as golf coach. Then in 1951 he moved out of obscurity when Rollie Williams stepped down as basketball coach and he was given the head job.

His widow, the former Jane Westberg of Boone, lives in Iowa City, as does his daughter Kathy, now 22. In August of 1965 Kathy was married to Fred Riddle, an ex-Iowa athlete, who is now attending dental school at the University.

To perpetuate his memory, the Bucky O'Connor Scholarship Fund was started shortly after his death. From it, a grant is made each year to the basketball player or golfer who best displays O'Connor's high ideals.

O'Connor joins 55 others in the Iowa Hall of Fame.

Spring Sports Teams Win 1 Of 14 Contests

Iowa's spring sports teams won only one of 14 contests last week during their third annual trip to Arizona.

The lone win came Tuesday when the baseball team defeated Colorado, 8-2. The baseball team was 1-7 for the trip, while the track team was 0-1, the tennis team 0-4, and the golf team 0-1.

Baseball

A five run first inning highlighted by a two run home run by Steve Hirko, set Iowa on its way in its 8-2 baseball win over Colorado.

In an afternoon game Tuesday, the Hawks lost to Arizona 8-3 as Donn Haugen was chased from the mound by a five-run third inning.

Iowa lost an 1-8 slugfest to Colorado in the week's opening game on Monday. Colorado scored 10 runs in the first five innings. The Hawks came back with seven runs in the last three innings.

Colorado's Mike Newton struck out 11 and held Iowa to two hits in an afternoon game Wednesday. The Hawks committed five errors and lost 5-0.

Thursday morning the Hawks suffered their second straight shutout as Colorado won 3-0. Taylor Tomey threw a three-hitter for Colorado.

Arizona racked three Iowa pitchers for 13 hits and blasted the Hawks 9-3 Thursday afternoon. The Hawks held a brief 2-0 lead in the second inning, but then the Arizona bats started to boom.

The Hawks erupted for a big five-run seventh inning on Friday to pull to a 5-5 tie with Arizona, but a two-run pinch single by Fro Brigham in the eighth proved to be the winning blow as Iowa fell again 8-5 to Arizona.

Trailing Arizona 7-2 on Saturday, the Iowa hitting started to pick up. Consecutive doubles by Larry Rathjue and Sumka cut the deficit to 7-5. A single by Hirko scored another run, but reliever Pat O'Brien came on to get Bob Leshyn to ground out to end the threat.

Track

Arizona captured 10 of 17 events Saturday to spoil Iowa's outdoor track debut, 86-60, in Tucson.

In losing, the Hawkeyes still came up with three meet records — Mike Mondane in the 440 (:46.9), Jon Reimer in the intermediate hurdles (:51.7) and the mile relay team (3:12.1).

The Hawks' Tom Knutson was a double winner, taking the discus and shot put events. Other Iowa individual winners were Larry Wiczorek in the mile and Ted Brubacher in the 880.

Iowa coach Francis Cretzmeyer was not too perturbed by the loss. "We got a lot of work done and that was the main thing," he said. "The results of the meet were secondary."

Cretzmeyer explained that early leg injuries to high jumper Steve Wilson, who didn't make the trip, and to long and triple jumper Dick Gibbs figured in Iowa's loss. Also, it was Arizona's sixth meet this year.

For Cretzmeyer, the loss was the first any of his teams had suffered this year in regular season competition. His cross-country and indoor track teams were unbeaten, with the cross-country team taking the Big 10 title as well.

Tennis

Iowa's tennis team dropped matches to Corpus Christi (Texas) and to Arizona in Tucson Saturday, as its spring tour mark slipped to 0-4.

Corpus Christi defeated the Hawkeyes 6-1; Arizona won 6-3. Junior Rich Strauss beat Arizona's Bill Martin for Iowa's only singles victory of the day.

Earlier in the week, the Hawks were defeated by Trinity (Texas) College, 7-2, and by Utah, 9-0.

Despite the outcome of the tour, Iowa coach Don Klotz was not in the least bit discouraged.

"We did well, considering the competition," he said. "After all, Utah was the Western Athletic Conference Champion and Arizona the runner-up. Each school has high ranked players and either team could beat any Big 10 team. But I'm glad we played competition the likes of Utah and Arizona, even though we lost, than had we beaten some easy teams."

Golf

"We had a real good trip and made a lot of improvement," said Iowa golf coach Chuck Zwiener in commenting on the Hawkeyes' trip.

The Hawks played only one match during the week and were beaten by the University of Arizona 22-5, but Zwiener was very pleased with his teams' overall play.

Courses Offered To Servicemen

A sailor studying elementary French in a room on an aircraft carrier in the middle of the South Pacific at 2 o'clock in the morning makes a good symbol for the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI), the organization which offers correspondence courses to servicemen.

April 1 marked the 25th anniversary of the Institute's beginning, and the University, like other universities, has cooperated with it since its first day in 1942. The University has offered some of its correspondence courses to USAFI students and has provided consultants to USAFI policy-makers.

Two members of the University faculty had good reason to think about USAFI on Saturday: Lowell A. Schoer, associate professor of education, the French student on the U.S. Navy carrier, who now has USAFI students taking his courses, and E. F. Lindquist, professor of education, who produced general education development tests for the Institute during World War II.

Schoer joined the Navy in the 1950's after doing some work toward a bachelor's degree at a Minnesota college. While aboard ship in the Pacific, he decided to try to complete his degree work at the University but needed a language credit to qualify for entrance. So after the day's duties were over, he would settle in the band room to work on his auxiliary verbs. USAFI lessons reached him by slow mail from the United States.

"It's very quiet on an aircraft carrier between 1 and 3 in the morning," he says now.

After finishing the French course and receiving credit for it, Schoer registered for a USAFI course in elementary statistics given by Paul J. Blommers, now professor of education. But by the time he got halfway through it, he was discharged from the Navy. He then enrolled in a University summer session to finish the course.

Now, after 10 years at the University, Schoer has B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. Degrees, is a member of the educational psychology faculty, and gives grades to USAFI students taking his two correspondence courses, The Learner and Social Development of the School-Age Child.

Lindquist, who directs the Iowa Testing Program and is president of Measurement Research Corp. in Iowa City, was commissioned during World War II to construct an exam for determining whether a serviceman-student's achievement was the equivalent of a high school education. He patterned this exam after the Iowa Tests of Educational Development, which he had just originated and which were given for the 25th time last fall to more than 180,000 students in some 500 Iowa high schools.

Lindquist recently called his work for USAFI interesting and rewarding, and said that more education was provided for servicemen during the war than most people realized. Every battalion and company had an educational officer who helped servicemen register for correspondence courses and administered the necessary tests, Lindquist said.

More recently, Leonard S. Feldt, professor of education and present director of the Iowa Tests of Educational Development, has revised the test forms for USAFI. A. Eloise Snavely, assistant professor of education and instructional materials editor in the Bureau of Correspondence Study, reports that 407 servicemen were actively enrolled in University courses through USAFI in February, 1967.

Pres. Howard R. Bowen recently received a letter from C. L. Munden, director of USAFI headquarters in Madison, Wis., expressing appreciation for the University's efforts to help "thousands of men and women in the armed forces working toward self-improvement."

More than six million persons have enrolled in courses through the Institute in 25 years, some in courses given by USAFI and some in courses offered by participating universities. Nearly a million tests are processed every year, and registration and testing sections are established throughout the world, including Vietnam. The Institute wants its courses to make servicemen more efficient on their present assignments, increase their capabilities for greater responsibility, and stimulate their intellectual interests.

The selection of courses ranges from arithmetic and reading at fourth grade level, through high school courses in trigonometry, American history, and business law, to college courses in calculus, criminology, and Vietnamese. USAFI also offers technical courses like aeronautics and electronics, lessons on film, and a non-credit course called The Military Novel.

Officials Knock Latin Aid Motion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee came up with a U.S.-Latin American aid resolution Monday which administration officials said "is worse than useless."

"These officials, who deal with inter-American affairs, said that: 'We do not need a resolution which says only in effect, 'We shall consider cooperating.' No president should undertake to enter into an agreement unless there is stronger support in the Senate than that indicated by this resolution.'"

Harvard Prof Will Lecture On Chemistry

Dr. Martin Karplus, professor of chemistry at Harvard University, will speak on "Recent Developments in Chemical Kinetics" tonight.

His talk, in the Union Illinois Room starting at 8 p.m., will be the first of four lectures to be given today through Thursday as part of the Distinguished Visiting Professor Program in Chemistry.

The lectures Tuesday through Thursday will be in Room 225 of the Chemistry Building starting at 4:30 p.m. each day. They are:

Tuesday, "Theoretical Studies of Exchange Reactions: The H<sub>2</sub> Systems;" Wednesday, "Theoretical Studies of Exchange Reactions: Other Systems;" Thursday, "Vibrational Effects in ESR Spectra of Aromatic Systems."

Karplus received an A.B. Degree in 1950 from Harvard in chemistry and physics and a Ph.D. in chemistry in 1953 from the California Institute of Technology, where he studied with Linus Pauling, 1954 Nobel Prize winner in chemistry.

He was a National Science Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow at the Mathematical Institute in Oxford and on the faculties of the University of Illinois and Columbia University before moving to his present post at Harvard.

"His research has been in the theoretical chemistry including the electronic interpretation of the NMR and ESR spectra of molecules, the development of techniques for the evaluation of molecular properties, and the formulation of a detailed theory of chemical reactions."

Flames Damage Burge Hall Room
Several fires, including one at Burge Hall, kept Iowa City firemen busy Sunday and Monday. Firemen said only minor damage was caused by flames at each fire.

Fire Chief Dean Beebe said a lighted candle on a desk sitting too close to a window drape caused a fire Sunday afternoon in Room 3502 of Burge Hall. Beebe said flames caused damage to a drape, a desk and some papers on top of the desk.

Two fire calls, including one to Mayor William Hubbard's home, 300 Kimball Rd., were reported early Monday morning. Beebe said a crack in a fireplace in the Hubbard home allowed sparks to cause minor damage to the inside of the wall structure.
