Van Nostrand Clarifies Tuition Bid

By ELAINE SCHROEDER
Staff Writer

The State Legislature has no intention of setting tuition rates at the state universities, Rep. Maurice Van Nostrand (R-Avoca), told the Daily Iowan Thursday. Van Nostrand is the major proponent of a tuition bill before the House Appropriations Committee.

The bill as it now stands after revision by a subcommittee asks for tuition to be increased so that students at the University, State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls and Iowa State University at Ames would pay 25 per cent of the cost of their education instead of the 19 per cent they pay presently, according to Van Nostrand.

The bill was given informal approval late Wednesday night by a show of hands in the subcommittee.

"The legislature doesn't have any intention of setting tuition fees because we don't have the kind of information to do this," said Van Nostrand.

The legislature would simply set up a "guideline" for the State Board of Regents to institute a policy under which each student would pay 25 per cent of the cost of his education at the University, he said.

University students who are residents of Iowa in the colleges of Liberal Arts, Nursing, Business Administration, Pharmacy and Engineering now pay $340 a year for tuition. Of this amount $278 goes to the University for educational purposes.

Each student pays $62 a year to an activities fund which supports concerts, lectures, plays, and a building fund for the Union and a proposed auditorium.

Non-resident students in the same colleges pay $930 a year tuition of which $868 is received by the University for instructional costs.

According to Van Nostrand, under the present tuition rates a resident student only pays 19 per cent of the cost of his education and a non-resident pays 59 per cent.

Under the subcommittee version of his bill, the tuition a resident pays would be raised to $375 without the activities fee so that the student would be providing 25 per cent of the cost of instruction. The increase would amount to $97 a year.

Gordon B. Strayer, director of the University office of public information, said Thursday that no increases in the activities charge was expected next year. If this is the case, the total tuition fee with activities charge and tuition increase would amount to $437.

The tuition for a non-resident would be increased so that the amount allocated for instructional costs would be $947 instead of the present $868, an increase of $79. The non-resident would then be required to pay 65 per cent of his educational costs as compared to 59 per cent which he now pays.

The cost of educating a student at the University this year is $1,437, according to the state auditor's figures, said Van Nostrand. The expected cost for next year is $1,500.

Resident students now paying tuition for the College of Medicine and Dentistry spend $320 a year; non-residents pay $1,230.

Law students and graduate students taking more than 8 credit hours pay $380 a year if they are residents and $790 if they are not residents of Iowa. Graduate students with 8 credit hours or less pay proportionally lower tuition fees.

When asked how the tuition hike would affect students paying other than the $340 resident or $930 non-resident tuition fee, Van Nostrand said that the committee had not yet worked out the details.

The original proposal considered by the subcommittee called for students to pay 30 per cent of the cost of their education. The additional charge for tuition under this proposal would have been $159 for residents. The original provisions for non-residents have not been changed by the subcommittee.

Van Nostrand said that when the House subcommittee met with the Senate subcommittee on appropriations Thursday morning, the measure met with "almost complete opposition from the Senate members."

However, the representative maintained that the proposal probably would be accepted by the legislature because it was backed by the majority of the House subcommittee and the Senate itself.

Van Nostrand argued that 25 per cent of the entire state budget goes to the State Board of Regents for the state universities while only 19 per cent of Iowa high school graduates go to these institutions.

This amount is too much money for too few students, according to Van Nostrand.

Part of the amount saved by the state by raising tuition could be used to give support to community and private colleges, said Van Nostrand.

The remainder of the savings would be used to provide a state loan fund for students who could not afford to pay the tuition, he said.

Van Nostrand said that under the original proposal $11.8 million would be saved by the tuition increase and that $6 million of this could be used for the loan fund.

With the increase now being considered, $6 million would be saved and only about $4 million would be available for the loan fund, Van Nostrand said.

Under such a loan, a student would begin paying back what he had borrowed plus three per cent interest 10 months after graduating or otherwise leaving school.

When asked how a student who enters the armed services or for some other reason could not pay back the loan at the prescribed time, Van Nostrand said that there would be provisions made for such a person.

Stanley F. Redeker, chairman of the State Board of Regents, told The Daily Iowan Thursday that he did not know exactly how the proposed tuition increase would affect overall tuition rates.

"I am only familiar with the suggested tuition increases to the extent that I read in the newspapers," said Redeker.

He did say that he thought the tuition hike would "heighten the Iowa fees above any other comparable institutions."

"Frankly, I'd be very disturbed about the fact that the fees would be increased so much higher," Redeker said.

Presently resident tuition rates at the University rank fifth among 11 midwestern state universities. With the proposed tuition hike, the University would have the highest tuition among these state universities.

The University now ranks fourth in fees for non-residents. If non-resident tuition is increased by the proposed amount, the University would have the second highest tuition in the 11-state area.

Adviser Defends Role In Disciplinary Action

By FRANK MYERS
Staff Writer

Jerome F. Beckman, men's residence hall adviser, defended probationary action he took against 25 men as a result of their participation in an April 7 disturbance in the area of the men's dormitories at a meeting of the Student Senate Committee on Student Rights Thursday night.

Beckman, representing the Office of Student Affairs, placed the 25 men on dormitory probation after their names were turned in to him by advisers who said the men refused to cooperate with their efforts to quiet the disturbance.

The disturbance involved three unsuccessful attempts by large groups of men's dormitory residents to cross the river, apparently bound for the girls' dormitories.

The committee passed three resolutions condemning Beckman's action after hearing his defense.

Beckman said he felt he was justified in by-passing the dormitory judicial councils and taking direct disciplinary action.

Felt 'Responsibility'
"I knew I was sticking my neck in a noose when I took the action I did," he said, "but I felt I had a responsibility to the residents to take immediate action. I feel my decision was basically sound."

Beckman said that because he had information that another disturbance was being planned, and because of the three-day notice necessary before judicial councils can act, he didn't think there was enough time to use the councils.

"I had positive information in my hands that a party raid was being planned, and there was pressure on me not to let it happen," he said.

Even more than administration pressure, Beckman said, he was motivated by the fear that any further disturbance involving large groups of men might develop into mob action with potential danger to life and property.

"Because I thought we should let the residents know immediately that the University did not consider the April 7 disturbance a mere prank, I decided to take action myself," he said.

The penalties were not harsh, according to Beckman.

"Dormitory probation does not interfere with the student's freedom," he said. "No record of it is made on the student's University record. It is a chance for the students to show his sincerity by not becoming involved in anything else that would cause him to be disciplined a second time."

Position Clarified
Some of the students placed on probation had been involved in other disturbances within the dormitories, and this combined with their refusal to cooperate with the advisers caused them to be placed on probation, said Beckman.

The Senate committee voted unanimously to present three resolutions to the Student Senate Tuesday concerning the Office of Student Affairs and the men's dormitory advisers.

In a resolution condemning the Office of Student Affairs, the committee accuses the office of "violating basic student rights in circumventing the student judicial structure, and asks that the office rescind the probation and turn the cases over to dormitory judicial councils."

In another resolution condemning the advisers, the committee asks the senate to go on record as condemning resident advisers of the men's dormitories for "unwarranted police action" in connection with their part in the disturbance.

A third resolution asks the Senate to authorize the Committee on Student Rights, Associated Residence Halls, and representatives of the Office of Student Affairs to "specifically enumerate the duties and responsibilities of the dormitory advisory staff and the rights and obligations of residents in responding to the advisory staff."

U.S. Pilots Battle MIGs Near Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots streaked through a sky full of MIGs to bomb close to Hanoi on Thursday and Air Force Col. Robin Olds shot down a late model MIG21 to become the first double MIG killer of the Vietnamese war.

Air Force pilots tangled in at least seven dogfights with the Communist interceptors and sighted many more, U.S. military headquarters reported.

The aerial battles swirled for 20 minutes in the skies around Hanoi while U.S. bombers pounded the Hanoi transformer site seven miles north of the center of the Communist capital.

Honor Society Initiates Boyd, 21 Top Students

Twenty-one students and one faculty member were "tapped" for membership in the University chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), leadership honor society for college men, at the annual leadership banquet honoring student and community leaders Thursday evening.

Roy A. Williams, 919 Maggard St., recently retired manager of the Iowa City office of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, was named outstanding community leader by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the banquet.

State Rep. Earl Yoder (R-Iowa City), a director of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly after the dinner. He said, "One must learn to be a good follower if he would be a good leader."

Yoder said that a leader must always put the general welfare above personal ambitions.

"Too often," he said, "a leader forgets his responsibilities."

Yoder listed several qualities a leader should have, among them an optimistic attitude and ability to make everybody feel respected, a mind for the future, an ability to forget past mistakes, a cheerful countenance and a concern for self-improvement which leaves no time for criticism of others.

Williams was with Northwestern Bell for 37 years. He has held offices in many civic groups, including the presidency of the local Chamber of Commerce in 1966. He has also been president of Community Givers of Iowa City, University Heights and Coralville.

Among those chosen for membership in ODK was Willard L. Boyd, vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculties since 1964.

Included in the criteria considered for membership in ODK is the requirement that a student be ranked in the top third of his class academically.

New members are Phillip Reisetter, A3, Jewell; Michael Kirby, A4, Strawberry Point; Bruce Dugstad, B3, Waterloo; Barton Whitman, B3, Waterloo; David Zwangiger, D3, Waterloo; Franklin Renner, A4, Bartonville; John Fink, A4, Cedar Falls; John Pelton, A3, Clinton; William Newbrough, A4, Des Moines; Nicholas Goeres, A4, Dyersville; Lee Dicker, A4, Iowa City; William Knowler, A3, Iowa City; Edward Kolker, L3, Iowa City; Michael Shea, A3, Iowa City; Stephen Morain, A3, Jefferson; Kenneth Gordon, A4, Skokie, Ill.; Alan Kotok, A4, Buffalo, N.Y.; Larry Kuhl, A3, Aberdeen, S.D.; A. Frank Barton, A3, Sioux City; Steven Seymour, A3, Mason City; and Michael Loftus, M3, Mason City.

Plan To Topple Mao Reported On China Poster

HONG KONG (AP) — A long detailed wall newspaper in Peking has reported that Red China's President Liu Shao-chi and his followers stockpiled arms and military equipment for a coup to topple Mao Tse-tung from power and place former Mayor Peng Chen of Peking in control of the Chinese Communist party.

The wall newspaper — a device of Mao's young Red Guards to carry attacks on his enemies — was brought to Hong Kong by a traveler from Peking. It is considered by experts the most revealing account to date of a monumental power struggle which has been going on in Red China since late 1965.

From inside mainland China came fresh reports of bloodshed in the current "great proletarian cultural revolution" launched by Mao to save his authority.

Armed Services Group Asks 19-Year-Old Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee recommended Thursday that younger men starting at age 19 be inducted ahead of older youths.

This reversal of the callup order was proposed by President Johnson in a message to Congress on revisions of the Selective Service system.

In backing the proposal, Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said there may be some difficulties in changing over to a new system. He said that for the first year or two both 19-year-olds and those in the 25-and-younger bracket would be subject to induction.

The committee gave only lukewarm endorsement to another Johnson proposal. This calls for a lottery or random selection system of inducting youths and is backed by the draft director Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

The lottery plan came under fire at a hearing of a House Armed Services subcommittee, where the U.S. Chamber of Commerce argued for the present system of giving local draft boards full authority in determining who should be called.

Hershey urged a random selection system based on birth dates and alphabetical listing of names for selecting inductees.

Both House and Senate committees have been working on legislation to extend key sections of the military draft law which are due to expire June 30.

The law requires young men to register when they reach 18 and makes them subject to induction and training between 18½ and 26.

The Senate committee said it would not oppose trying out a lottery, which Johnson said would be "a fair and impartial system of random selection" of inductees. But it questioned whether this would "really result in a fairer sharing of military service."

Goodman Urges Mixed Housing For All Students

Percival Goodman, professor of architecture at Columbia University, New York, said Thursday that single men and women, married students and faculty should be housed together in apartment-like residence halls.

Goodman spoke at the Symposium on Student Housing sponsored by the University's Student-Faculty Housing Committee.

The University should "accept coeducation at all levels," Goodman said. He said that most residence halls "should be built in areas designated off-campus regarding rules."

The University should become a "benevolent landlord of such housing requiring only that students obey the law," said Goodman.

Partial rules such as those which now exist in University residence halls would not be necessary because according to Goodman "the mere presence of the older students and faculty would provide the requirement to be circumspect in living."

Restrictions Cited
Goodman said that the main objection students have to living in dormitories was the existence of restrictions that would not be imposed on them if they lived in general society.

The University should be required to provide housing that is closer to reality, said Goodman.

"The educational experience is not confined to the classroom, but should involve all the students' waking hours," he said. Having younger faculty members live in a residence hall with students would promote informal contact between faculty and students, Goodman said.

"The students of today reject traditional Gothic architecture and what it stands for. They are against regimentation and the necessity of conformity. They demand the necessary freedom of space to expand the body and mind."

Plan Proposed
Specifically, Goodman proposed residence halls be built with six-student apartments for single students, one or two bedroom efficiency apartments for married students and larger apartments for faculty members.

These apartments would be built on each floor of a residence hall.

Students, Faculty Favor Dormitory Policy Changes

By CHARLES NORTON
Staff Writer

Students and faculty generally favor liberalization of residence hall policies while parents and alumni generally want them to remain the same.

This was the tone of the preliminary findings of a questionnaire circulated recently by the Student-Faculty Housing Committee among students, their parents, faculty members, and alumni.

A progress report on the findings was made at the Student Housing Symposium Thursday by Eva Erickson, associate professor of nursing and chairman of the subcommittee which sent out the questionnaire.

About 60 per cent of the 3,841 questionnaires was returned, Miss Erickson reported. There were 54 questions on the form.

About 75 per cent of the undergraduates favored coed dorms while a majority of the parents were opposed to them, she said.

On a question on drinking, more than 70 per cent of students and faculty members thought that students over 21 and living in University dormitory which excluded minors should be allowed to drink in their rooms. However, only 33 per cent of the alumni and 21 per cent of the parents agreed.

'Mao-thing philosophy' studied

By TOM FENSCH
Staff Reviewer
"Quotations From Chairman Mao Tse-tung" (New York: Bantam Books, 1967) $1.00. Available at The Paper Place and Iowa Book and Supply Co.

Two people out of every ten in the world today are Red Chinese and don't care one whit what happens to you and me. They work obediently for the State and read only a few selected polemics. By far the most popular is "Quotations From Chairman Mao Tse-tung," which Chinese carry around as if it were — perish the thought — a bible. What does this great thinker have to tell the Chinese millions? Weighty thoughts, encouragements, denunciations of the western world and brouhaha that we wouldn't pay attention to in junior high school. Here:

"As we used to say, the rectification movement is 'a wide-spread movement of Marxist education.' Rectification means the whole Party studying Marxism through criticism and self-criticism. We can certainly learn more about Marxism in the course of the rectification movement."

Got that? Ready for more? "Chiang Kai-shek always tries to wrest every ounce of power and every ounce of gain from the people. And we? Our policy is to give him tit for tat and to fight for every inch of land. We act after his fashion. He always tries to impose war on the people, one sword in his left hand and another in his right. We take up swords, too, following his example. . . . As Chiang Kai-shek is now sharpening his swords, we too must sharpen ours."

Poor Chiang. But then, there seems no end to the heroic struggle that the Chinese must grind themselves for: "After the enemies with guns have been wiped out, there will still be enemies without guns; they are bound to struggle desperately against us, and we must never regard these enemies lightly. If we do not now raise up and understand the problem in this way, we shall commit the gravest mistakes."

Hard words those were from a peace-loving people: "As far as our own desire is concerned, we don't want to fight even for a single day. . . . Bantam Books, having chosen to publish Mao in English have done nothing to placate Mao or his agents in Warsaw, concerning royalties, because Bantam thought it "an empty gesture." How capitalist! And, it seems, that students in the Ivy League — notably Harvard and Radcliffe, have been Mao-thing philosophy right and left. Apparently there is no better way to stall a conversation than a quick gem from Mao.

"Learn to 'play the piano,'" he says. "In playing the piano all ten fingers are in motion; it won't do to move some fingers only and not others. But if all ten fingers press down at once, there is no melody. To produce good music, the ten fingers should move rhythmically and in coordination."

Well Mao, there are some piano pieces for less than ten fingers. How about "The Volga Boatman?" Or don't you play that tune?

In "Methods of Work of Party Committees," he says:

"Grasp firmly." That is to say, the Party committee must not merely 'grasp' but grasp firmly, its main tasks. One can get a grip on something only when it is grasped firmly, without the slightest slackening. Not to grasp firmly is not to grasp at all. Naturally, one cannot get a grasp on something with an open hand. When the hand is clenched as if grasping something, but is not clenched tightly, there is no grip. Some of our comrades do grasp the main tasks, but their grasp is not firm and so they cannot make a success of their work. It will not do to have no grasp at all, nor will it do if the grasp is not firm."

YAF members reply to criticism of Father Lyons' address

To the Editor:

Several corrections are in order regarding the complaints of Dean Jungman (Daily Iowan, May 3) about the Rev. Daniel Lyons' address on Vietnam.

Mr. Jungman calls Father Lyons an "irresponsible speaker." Rev. Lyons has been to Vietnam five times, three in the past twelve months. He is a recognized authority on Asian affairs, and is co-author of Vietnam Crisis, a scholarly review of Vietnamese history and politics. His credentials to speak on this subject are better than many critics of the war.

Mr. Jungman accuses Father Lyons of uttering "glittering generalities," "false assumptions," and "wild predictions." What glittering generalities? What false assumptions? What wild predictions? Be specific. (By the way, Mr. Jungman, how does a "glittering generality" differ from an "un glittering generality?")

Mr. Jungman says that Father Lyons "angered" at least half of his audience. Probably more than half of his audience was already angry with a man of the cloth who has the audacity to support the Vietnam war.

Mr. Jungman says that Father Lyons based his statement "the South Vietnamese are far more anti-Communist than we" on a poll of South Vietnamese clergy. If Mr. Jungman has been paying attention, he would have known, first, that this private poll had been conducted among American, not South Vietnamese, clergy (for the purpose of determining the feelings of U.S. clergy on the war), and, second, that this statement was based on personal contact with Vietnamese of all walks of life, many of whom who have fled Viet Cong terror and know the National Liberation Front for what it does, not what it claims.

Mr. Jungman calls the question and answer session "the worst part of the evening." If it was, it was because several members of the audience did their best to dominate the floor. We refer to: 1. the man who kept insisting on an answer to an alleged question, while Father Lyons was giving him an answer; 2. the girl who attempted to read most or all of an article from Ramparts magazine; 3. the character who barged in during the question period, and began booming out remarks while Father Lyons was speaking. There were several persons who cast audible aspersions at Father Lyons' procession, and some whose "questions" were harangues for the benefit of the audience. Those questions which were succinctly worded were clearly answered.

Father Lyons' major points were clear and he supported them with abundant evidence. They were: 1. a Communist victory in the South at this time would mean a massacre for hundreds of thousands, if not a million, South Vietnamese who have openly supported the government; 2. a Communist regime in Saigon would resemble the Hanoi regime, which is a vicious police state; and, 3. the current United States policy of increasing trade with the Soviet bloc is irrational in view of the fact that the Soviet Union supplies 80 per cent of North Vietnam's war material. Finally, we appreciate Mr. Jungman's concern for the rationality of thought among members of Young Americans for Freedom. We only hope that he will be more rational the next time he attends one of our programs.

Today on WSUI

● Tonight's opera is "Der Freischutz" by Weber. It was scheduled early (6 p.m.) so that WSUI might carry a "live" broadcast of the University Choir concert tonight. Technical difficulties "beyond our control," however, prevent our doing so; instead, WSUI will play recorded music at 8.

● More Toscaniniana has appeared in tribute to the maestro's 100th anniversary. Today, in the series Great Recordings of the Past, WSUI will have four presentations drawn from Victor's new album "A Toscanini Treasury of Historic Broadcasts" never before released. It will be all Haydn this morning at 11 with performances by Toscanini and the old NBC Symphony Orchestra of Symphony No. 99 and the Symphonie Concertante, Op. 84, recorded in the late '40's.

'Lazarillo' is well acted

By ALLAN ROSTOKER
For The Iowan

"Lazarillo de Tormes," which is this week's Cinema 16 feature at the Union, is a film about the adventures of a 12-year-old boy in sixteenth century Spain. It is based upon a picaresque novel of the time, and traces the wanderings of its picaresque (rogue) hero through a world whose constants are hunger and religious hypocrisy. Lazarillo, an orphan, is first sent out into the world with a blindman by his mother. He looks and is innocent but he shortly learns the cunning which is obviously necessary for him to survive. With the blindman he learns the art of begging and how to get food from a greedy master. In his subsequent adventures with a miserly priest, a poor young nobleman whose life is devoted to putting on a show of richness to the outside world, and a troop of actors, Lazarillo learns more about survival and the ways of the adult world. In the end, after one of the actors has posed as a priest and performed a phony miracle, Lazarillo repents of his acts. Yet, alone in the world, he is finally forced, as a storm sweeps across an immense field, to run after the actor's wand, the only temporary shelter he can find. The film remains basically outside Lazarillo (with the exception of a dream sequence brought on by hunger and exhaustion, and a few lines of what the boy is thinking inside). The world in which he moves is an objective one. Yet his final repentance is the result of interior actions and it is of these that we have no sense as we watch the film. The film is ultimately split in its approach. We have both the physical world and Lazarillo intermittently, neither of them providing the firm base that the movie needs. Instead of a unified narrative drive, we have a series of loosely joined adventures, some of which are interesting (the best one is with the down and out nobleman who is a marvelous character) and others of which are not. This haphazardness of construction becomes a slowness of pace which at times reduces the film to a crawl. The direction, which makes much of the film overly emphatic and fails consistently to show subtlety or real imagination, adds a slowness of its own and a sincere, if dogged, respectfulness for the text.

The film is worth seeing. It's well acted (although one could have hoped for more from the boy who plays Lazarillo), has interesting characters and situations, and competent direction and photography. What is disappointing is to see constantly under its surface the suggestions of the much finer film this could have been.

Rusk Doubts European Cut In Red Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressed interest Thursday in possible action by the Soviet Union and its allies in matching the announced U.S. troop withdrawal from Western Europe. But the United States has no plans to ask a reciprocal withdrawal.

"We would be very much interested if they would show some interest in that," Rusk told the House Foreign Affairs Committee during questioning after he made his annual appeal for the administration's foreign aid program.

RUSK

Although Rusk said he understood there had been some discussions among the countries of the Communist Warsaw Pact, he said he doubted that the U.S. decision "has much political leverage as such on the Warsaw Pact."

Earlier, a State Department spokesman said this nation hoped the announcement of plans to rotate some 35,000 troops to the United States next year would encourage the Russians to follow suit. But he emphasized the United States did not plan to make such a suggestion.

Rusk declined to go into details on whether possible Soviet reciprocity was a reason for the U.S. move, saying he preferred to discuss the motivations behind the American action at a closed session of the Committee. One will be held early next week.

In response to questions by Rep. Edna F. Kell (D-N.Y.), chairman of the group's Europe subcommittee, Rusk said the withdrawal plan would "not have a significant impact on the capability of NATO," because of the increased U.S. ability to move combat forces rapidly.

The committee has been holding hearings for some weeks on the administration's request for $3.2 billion in aid for fiscal 1968, including some $596 million in military aid.

Rail Overhaul For Chicago Urged By Prof

CHICAGO (AP) — A university professor proposed Thursday a high speed electrified rail service through Chicago which he said would go a long way toward solving its passenger and freight transportation congestion for "no more than $10 million."

The regional system envisioned by Stanley Berge, professor of transportation at Northwestern University, would extend from Milwaukee, Wis., to La Porte and South Bend, Ind.

He said it would provide not only faster and more convenient service for commuters and through passengers, but also would provide piggyback rail service through the city for loaded trucks and even motorists in their cars.

Ahead of Time
Berge first advanced his idea nine years ago but said then the plan was ahead of its time.

He said Chicago should act now because caissons being put down for high rise buildings might foreclose the most advantageous route for the heart of his dream—a 3-mile tunnel linking the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Illinois Central Railroad.

From 1908 to 1963 the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railway operated electrified trains between Milwaukee and Chicago. The service was abandoned in 1963, after piecemeal phasing-out, and the rails and other salvage sold for junk.

Details of the proposed Chicago regional transportation system were included in a paper Berge wrote for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's second annual conference on public transportation.

Conference Slated
Sixty of the nation's top transportation experts will attend the 3-day conference at the University of Chicago beginning Friday.

The heart of Berge's Chicago plan is the 30-foot wide tunnel accommodating double tracks linking the North Western and the IC, and it envisions electrification of the North Western between Milwaukee and Chicago, he said.

The major cost item, Berge said, would be a fleet of 200 modern electric suburban cars because of what he called "the obsolescence of the Illinois Central's and South Shore Line's multiple-unit electric car fleets."

He said the new fleet would cost $40 million.

The total cost of the regional system — "no more than $110 million" — would be "less than the cost of just 8 miles of some of our recently completed urban expressways," Berge said.

Women's Dorms Plan Mothers Day Events

Residents of the four women's dormitories have scheduled style shows, teas and open houses to honor their mothers in connection with the annual Mothers Day weekend beginning today.

Burge Hall and Kate Daum House will present a joint style show of spring and summer clothes from five local stores to be modeled by Burge and Kate Daum residents. Moderator for the show will be Linda L. Brouillette, G, Coralville.

The Burge and Kate Daum Mothers of the Year will be presented at the style show.

Both dormitories will have an open house and scheduled tours following the style show until 5 p.m.

The dormitories are also having a Mothers Day breakfast from 8:15 to 9 a.m. Sunday in the Burge Dining Room. Open house tours will be from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Kate Daum House will have an art show in the dining room lobby featuring ceramics, handicrafts, and paintings Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

Currier and Carrie Stanley halls will welcome mothers at a tea at 3:15 p.m. Saturday in the south dining hall. Immediately following the tea there will be a fashion show. Residents will model clothes they made themselves. The Mothers of the Year for both dorms will be presented at the style show.

Open house at Currier and Carrie Stanley will be from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Currier is also featuring an art exhibit open to the public in the Green Room.

Pittsburgh's Pagliaroni Asks To Be Traded

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Catcher Jim Pagliaroni's revelation that he wants to be traded from the Pittsburgh Pirates is a sign that there's some sort of friction on the team, but the full extent of the friction is about as obscure as a power struggle in Red China.

Pagliaroni, the regular catcher for the past two seasons, had hinted before he would like to be traded, but now he is public and emphatic.

"I've thought about it for the past few years," he said Thursday. "I have my personal reasons. I want to be traded."

Asked if manager Harry Walker's actions had anything to do with his feelings, Pagliaroni answered, "I'd rather not say."

Walker referred all questions on Pagliaroni to General Manager Joe L. Brown.

Brown said, "I don't intend to trade Pag just because he says he wants to be traded. He is a professional. He is getting paid to play for the Pirates."

So the incident boils down to a test of wills between Pagliaroni, who is the team's player representative, and Walker and Brown.

Pagliaroni has started dismally for the Pirates this year, managing only two hits in 21 trips for a .095 average going into Thursday night's game. He has spent much of the young season sitting on the bench behind former reserve catcher Jerry May.

Iowa Net Team Beats Kansas 6-1

Iowa's Jones Goes To L.A. In Cage Draft

Iowa's Gerry Jones was drafted by the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association (NBA) in the supplementary draft Thursday.

Jones could not be reached for comment Thursday night.

Los Angeles was the second team to draft Jones. He was also drafted by Indianapolis of the American Basketball Association (ABA) in April.

At that time Jones commented that he would have a "pretty good chance" in the ABA because he would be playing with young players of his own calibre and experience.

Jones had expressed a desire to play for the NBA's Chicago Bulls. But Chicago chose Western Kentucky's Clem Haskins and Northwestern's Jim Burns in the early rounds of the draft Wednesday.

Jones averaged 18.9 points a game for the Hawkeyes last season and led the team in rebounding. At the end of the season he was selected as the team's most valuable player.

Hawkeyes Test Minnesota In Key Big 10 Game Today

By JOHN HARMON
Staff Writer

Iowa's baseball team will have its hands full this weekend when it meets Big 10 leader Minnesota in single games today and Saturday. Today's game starts at 3:30 p.m., while Saturday's game is scheduled for 1 p.m. Both will be nine inning games.

The Gophers come with a big reputation. They not only lead the league with a 7-0 record, but also top the league in batting, fielding, pitching and team slugging. They have a nine game winning streak going and have won 23 out of their last 24 games. Their season record is 27-5.

Admission to the games will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children of high school age or under. Students will be admitted upon presentation of ID card and faculty and staff members with presentation of their basketball season ticket.

"Minnesota is a good team with exceptional strong pitching and hitting," said Iowa Coach Dick Schultz Thursday. "Although they have defensive problems at a couple positions, they don't give away many games. You seldom get a second chance against them."

Minnesota Coach Dick Siebert plans to start Jerry Wickman (7 wins, 0 losses, 1.80 earned run average) and Jerry Seville (3-2, 1.55) in the weekend series.

Iowa will go with righthander Mike Linden (3-1, 1.53) and either Tom Staack (2-1, 1.71) or Jim Koering (2-0, 1.50).

Minnesota is probably strongest in Iowa's weakest department — hitting. The Gophers are hitting .314 to their opponents' .192. Iowa is hitting .216 and the opposition, .171.

Zacho Leads Gophers
Firstbaseman Denny Zacho leads Minnesota with a .444 average, but eight Gophers are hitting over .300. Shortstop Bob Fenwick and catcher Mike Sadek are tied for runnerup honors behind Zacho with .418 marks.

Minnesota has connected for 16 home runs, compared with Iowa's two. Zacho is the team leader with five, while Fenwick has three.

After 16 regular season games, Stoney Jackson is the leading Hawkeye hitter with a .378 average. Russ Sumka is hitting .346, Gaylord McGrath .267 and Larry Rathje .245 for other leading gen was felled by the sickness last weekend.

Endsley Questionable
Shortstop Lee Endsley again is a questionable starter. Whether he plays depends on the weather. Endsley's pulled leg muscle tightens up in cold weather, making it nearly impossible for him to play.

He sat out the Tuesday double-header sweep of Northern Illinois at DeKalb because of low temperatures.

The Gophers have a 2½ game lead over second place Indiana in the Big 10. Minnesota defeated Wisconsin 8-3, Northwestern 7-2 and 13-0, Illinois 3-2 and 5-1 and Purdue 6-1 and 3-2.

Iowa beat Northwestern 4-1 and lost to Wisconsin 8-0 and 5-4. The Hawkeyes split doubleheaders with Purdue 3-5 and 6-0 and Illinois 2-3 and 7-0. Iowa's season record is 10-7-1.

According to Schultz, the two teams have played nearly to a draw in past years, although the Gophers swept a three game series at Minneapolis last year.

Palmer Only 1 Stroke Back In Champion International

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — George Archer, Frank Beard and Dan Sikes battled a long, wet course Thursday to fashion four-under par 67s and tie for the lead after one round of the $115,000 Champions International. Arnold Palmer was right on their trail.

All three used the massive greens of the 7,118 Cypress Creek course to their advantage, dropping long putts.

The mighty Palmer, in a fashion typical of the way he has become golf's all-time money winner, fought back from two double bogies to trim out a three-under 68, one stroke off the pace. He tied with South African Harold Henning.

Arnie Sinks Approach
A seven-iron shot on the par 4 No. 15 plopped into the hole from about 145 yards for an eagle.

"It fell about four feet short," Palmer said, "and just jumped right in."

Palmer, defending champion here, had just hooked a tee shot into the lake on the hole before for one of his double bogies.

The course, soggy from several days of scattered showers, stood up well. Only 13 of the star-studded field of 99 broke par. The field includes all the tour's leading money winners.

Ben Hogan, a golfing immortal, found it to his liking. He stepped off to a birdie on the first hole, then followed with back-to-back birds on five and six to move three under par. He carded two bogies and an additional birdie for a 69.

On one green a dog sat down in front of him as he started to putt from 30 feet. He had to wait until someone ran it away and eventually two-putted. When asked if the dog had upset his concentration, Hogan replied "Nothing upsets my putting except me."

Chi Chi Rodriguez, the small Puerto Rican who won last week's Texas Open in San Antonio, Tex., dipped back into the pack with a three-over par 74.

Gay Brewer, who ranks second behind Palmer in 1967 money winners, had a 72 for a massive tie for 21st place.

Demonstrations Threaten To Mar Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Damascus returns to the state of his birth as the 2-1 choice to whip Ruken and 12 other 3-year-old rivals in the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby Saturday amid threats of disturbances over an issue far removed from the sport of horse racing.

The Kentucky-bred bay son of Sword Dancer, owned by Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft and beaten only once in four starts this year, was the last of the 14 entered Thursday morning. In fact, trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. was 15 minutes late dropping the name of his agile Wood Memorial winner in the entry box.

But smiling Whiteley quietly expressed confidence that his finely-tuned horse will be on the opposite end of the field when Outwardly all was calm as thousands poured into this Ohio River city. But quietly the city, county and state were marshaling their forces to thwart any disturbance by advocates of an open housing law. There have been frequent outbreaks in recent weeks and the city canceled a part of the Derby Week program, including Thursday night's traditional Pegasus parade.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was in town but declined to reveal any plans of his group to disrupt the running of the Derby.

Heads of local and state security forces said about 1,000 lawmen will be on hand Saturday, 300 more than in other years. They are expected to line the one-mile racing strip, where five Negro teen-agers jumped over the fence and ran down the track as horses charged for the finish of the first race Tuesday.

Another 600 National Guardsmen, who will be on training duty in nearby armories Saturday, apparently will be available if needed at the track on the southern outskirts of the city.

Record Number Apply For US Open Golf Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — A record 2,793 applications for entry in the 1967 U.S. Open golf championships have been received, the United States Golf Association said Thursday. The title will be decided June 15-18 at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N.J.

The actual playing field will be reduced to 150 starters through a pair of qualifying trials. Local qualifying will be held at 58 sites on Monday and Tuesday, May 22-23.

Yanks' Mantle Needs 1 More Home Run To Join 500 Club

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle is just one home run away from joining baseball's ultra exclusive 500 set.

The 35-year-old Yankee switch-hitter belted his third homer of the year in Minnesota Wednesday night for the 499th of his fabulous career.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and four immortals of the game are the only other members of the 500 or more club. Mays, with only one this year through Wednesday's games, is second on the all-time list with

MANTLE

543. Babe Ruth tops them all with 714.

After Mays comes Jimmy Foxx, 534; Ted Williams, 521, and Mel Ott, 511.

Eddie Mathews of the Houston Astros, has 494 and probably will join the 500 club this year. Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has four this year for 446 and figures to make the 500 club next season.

The only other active player with 400 or more homers is Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs with two this year and a career total of 421 for 11th place in the all-time list.

Mantle, handicapped earlier by a leg injury, has belted his three this year in his last five games. His first two were game-winners.

S. Africa To Integrate Team If Allowed At '68 Olympics

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — South Africa, currently barred from the Olympic Games, told the International Olympic Committee Thursday it would send a massive integrated team of athletes if it is allowed to compete in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico.

Despite South Africa's race barriers, Negro, colored and white athletes "can travel overseas together, can march together in identical uniforms as one unit under the same flag, and they can be housed in the same unit in the same Olympic village," South African Olympic officials told the Olympic executive board in a determined bid to get back into the Olympics.

Fourteen African countries have formally threatened to boycott the Olympics if South Africa is allowed to compete, despite South Africa's relaxation of racial discrimination in sport.

Olympic President Avery Brundage of Chicago said no final decision will be made at the current meeting and that the International Olympic Committee will send a special mission to investigate the racial question inside South Africa.

HILLER HURT—

NEW YORK (AP) — Infielder Chuck Hiller suffered a fracture of his right hand in a freak accident before Wednesday night's game with San Francisco and will be placed on the disabled list, the New York Mets said Thursday.

Hiller was walking off the field after infield practice when he was struck on the hand by a line drive off pitcher Jack Hamilton's bat. Hamilton was supposed to be hitting fly balls to the outfield.

This Grid Coach Has A Better Idea

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Ballet instructor Ebba Thomson has never had a class quite like it before.

"They are so serious," she reports, "and they must be practicing between classes, because they are really learning fast."

The Class? The Jenkins High School football team, whose coach feels that ballet will increase his team's effectiveness on the field.

Music, scholastic and honorary recognition, and sporting events are included in the three days of the 1967 University Mothers Day activities which begin today.

Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Field House. All tickets for the concert were sold out in a day and a half.

Music of a different style by the University Choir will be presented at 8 p.m. today in Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. Under the direction of Daniel Moe, associate professor of music, the choir will present a program which will close with Claudio Monteverdi's "Magnificat," to be sung in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of Monteverdi's birth.

The University Dance Theatre will present a dance concert "Vivachi!" at 8 p.m. both today and Saturday in Macbride Auditorium. The group of student, faculty and non-student dancers is under the direction of Marcia Thayer, instructor in women's physical education.

Annual Honor
The 1967 University Mother of

The Year will be presented at the Mothers Day Luncheon scheduled for 11:30 a.m. Saturday in the Union Main Lounge. Kathleen K. Buresh, former president of the Associated Women Students (AWS) will be mistress of ceremonies.

M.L. Huit, dean of students, will speak at the luncheon, and the Old Gold Singers will provide entertainment. The Susan Hanchar Award will be presented to an outstanding coed. Jane E. Anderson, A3, Des Moines, present AWS president, will make the presentation.

Scholastic achievement will be recognized at an Honors Convocation at 10 a.m. Saturday in Macbride Auditorium. Howard Hayden, visiting professor at the University from Victoria University in Wellington, New Zealand, will be the speaker. His topic will be "Academic Values and Emergent Societies."

New members of the University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary organization, will be initiated at a ceremony at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Old Capitol. Parents of the initiates will be special guests.

At 3 p.m. Saturday, outstanding junior coeds will be formally tapped on the west steps of the Old Capitol for the University chapter of Mortar Board, the national honorary organization for senior women.

Tennis matches are scheduled at 2 p.m. today and 1 p.m. Saturday. The Iowa baseball team will play Minnesota at 3:30 p.m. Friday and again at 1 p.m. Saturday. A track meet in which Iowa, Drake University and Northern Illinois University will participate will start at 12:45 p.m. Saturday.

Student art works will be on display for parents and other visitors from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday at a "Thieves Market" in the Union Ballroom. Ceramic works, prints, drawings and paintings will be on sale at the show, sponsored by the Thieves Market Committee of the Union Board.

An exhibition of works by both undergraduates and graduate students in the School of Art will be open to the public in the Main Gallery of the Art Building all weekend. The show opened last Wednesday and will run through next Wednesday.

Tours Planned

Guided tours of the University campus are planned for the visitors following the Mothers Day Weekend luncheon Saturday. Guests will be taken on separate tours through Phillips Hall, the new building of the College of Business Administration; the Home Economics Department; the Hospital School and the College of Dentistry. A 35-minute general bus tour will take visitors around the entire campus.

Mothers Day weekend will close with University sing at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Union Main Lounge. Eight choral groups which have won preliminary competition will compete for prizes which will be presented by the Mother of the Year.

The groups participating in the University Sing are Alpha Delta Pi and Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Gamma Delta and Phi Beta Pi, Alpha Phi and Sigma Pi, Chi Omega and Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Nu, Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Beta Theta Pi, and Zeta Tau Alpha and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

'Road To Christ' Mapped

By DEBBY DONOVAN
Staff Writer

Charles Powell, former student body president of the University of California at Berkeley, gave four rules for becoming a Christian Thursday night at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house.

Powell spoke at an open meeting of Campus Crusade for Christ, a group described by one member as "a movement to reach the world for Christ in this generation." About 100 attended.

He is a member of a 70-man university ambassador team which is on a tour of 100 colleges and universities in 40 states.

The four beliefs that Powell said will lead to a personal relationship with Christ are:

1. God loves you and has a wonderful plan for your life.
2. Man is sinful and separated from God and thus cannot understand his plan for life.
3. Jesus Christ is God's only provision for man's sin and through him you can reach God.
4. You must invite Jesus Christ to take over control of your life.

Powell said that obtaining a personal relationship with Christ helped him to handle his official and personal life during the time the Free Speech Movement caused strife at Berkeley.

Armada Perera of Ceylon told how he was converted from Buddhism to Christianity. He said he planned to go back to Ceylon and share his faith with the people there.

Two Iowa students talked of their experiences after they became Christians.

Donald C. Sibery, A1, Dearborn Heights, Mich., said that Christianity filled a large gap in his life. He said that football, his girlfriend and studies had not been able to fill the emptiness.

Marilyn V. Houser, A3, Des Moines, said that she had found a challenge and unique experiences daily in Christianity.

Powell and three other ambassadors also appeared Wednesday and Thursday at the Delta Chi and Sigma Pi fraternity houses, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Chi Omega sorority houses and Burge and Rienow Halls.

UI Student To Resist Draft; Support Planned

A University student, called for induction into the Army May 17, said Thursday he would not take the oath because he thought the Vietnamese war was a genocidal war.

The student, Kuris Raits, A2, Marion, said he had accepted the idea that he might have to go to jail because of the decision.

The Draft Resister's Union (DRU) will meet at 8 tonight in the Union Hoover Room to discuss a demonstration May 17 in Des Moines to support Raits.

A member of DRU, Ross Peterson, A1, Des Moines, said that anyone interested in resisting the draft should attend the meeting.

Peterson said that about 20 members of DRU will accompany Raits to Des Moines to talk with people being inducted about the immorality and illegality of the Vietnamese war. He said they should do anything to avoid serving or to help end the war.

In explaining why he will resist induction, Raits said: "I see no other choice if I want to remain honest with myself. Thousands of people are being slaughtered for no reason. Therefore, I cannot cooperate with the U.S. government and what they are doing."

Raits added that when he goes to Des Moines May 17, he would bring material about conscientious objectors to hand out to his fellow inductees. He said he would also pass out leaflets explaining his own views.

Peterson said that DRU members will be in the Union Hoover Room from 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. today to advise anyone on how to resist the draft.

"Some of our members have information on how to file as a conscientious objector, or how to avoid the draft by going to Canada," Peterson said.

Hawkeye Party Attempting To Mobilize 2,000 Students

The Hawkeye Student Party (HSP) is reorganizing in an attempt to "mobilize its 2,000 constituents," said Lee Weingrad, G, Jamaica, N.Y., in a meeting Thursday night.

"The problem of HSP," said Weingrad, "is to become more and more engaged in student government." He said that student government at the University is polarized into the interested and the disinterested.

HSP must become part of the interested class, Weingrad said. The government must get back to the people, and HSP intends to accomplish this.

Phillip G. Hubbard, A2, Iowa City, outlined the plan for reorganizing HSP. He said there were five categories: education, external affairs, Student Senate, ideology and fund raising and social. Each category except the last has sub-categories.

Weingrad said that there were two important issues within HSP's position on student rights. They are, the arbitrary and unjust punishment of 30 under-graduate students and the recent attempt by the legislature to raise tuition at state universities through mobilization of students. He said that he believed such things could be fought more effectively.

Senate Hit Over Role In Parley

The Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) drew up a resolution at its meeting Thursday night which opposes the Student Senate's official participation in the National Student Anti-War Conference in Chicago.

The resolution also calls on the senate to insure fair representation of persons who favor the present U.S. policy in Vietnam at Wednesday's Day of Inquiry teach-in.

Student Senate Tuesday night passed a resolution providing for a senate representative to be sent to the National Student Anti-War Conference May 13 and 14.

YAF has opposed the action, according to its resolution, on the grounds that the conference will include in its leadership "known Communists, such as Herbert and Bettina Aptheker; Michael Zagarell, National Youth Director of the Communist Party of the United States (CPUSA), and Arnold Johnson, a member of the national committee of CPUSA."

The campus-wide teach-in scheduled for the east steps of Old Capitol is a part of the Day of Inquiry activities scheduled by the senate in cooperation with a National Day of Inquiry being held on more than 200 other campuses.

Positives Open On Hawkeye

Applications for the 1968 Hawkeye staff are available in the Daily Iowan business Office, 201 Communications Center.

An informal coffee hour at which Fran Puhl, A3, Mason City, will meet the applicants, will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Communications Center Lounge, Room 200.

Application forms also will be available at the coffee hour, and the editor, business manager, and faculty adviser will answer questions of applicants.

The Hawkeye has a staff of approximately 50 persons, including assistant editors, copy writers, an art editor, photographers, and a business staff.

Although a few of the positions must be filled by persons with experience in writing or photography, experience is not required for many of them.

Mortar Board To Tap Coeds Here Tonight

Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary society, will informally tap coeds in their housing units tonight.

Formal tapping will be held in conjunction with Mothers Day activities at 3 p.m. Saturday on the west steps of Old Capitol. The tapping is open to the public.

Initiation of members into active membership will follow immediately in the Senate Chambers of Old Capitol.

To be chosen for membership in Mortar Board, a junior woman must have attained a grade point of 2.85 or above, and display qualities of leadership and service.

Mortar Board members are selected by a vote of all junior women, recommendations by faculty members, and a final vote of present active members.

Coed's Poem Places 2nd In Contest

Miss Jari D. Austin, A4, Waukegan, Ill., recently won second prize in the College Division of the 1967 Iowa Poetry Association Contest.

Miss Austin, a major in creative writing, submitted a poem entitled "Friday After Classes." Hers was one of 153 poems in the College Division.

Steven L. Orlen, G, Holyoke, Mass., received honorable mention.

The poems by Orlen and Miss Austin as well as poems by Maria V. Abrika, A1, Des Moines, and John C. Jens, A1, Davenport, were accepted for publication in the Lyrical Iowa, yearly anthology of poems chosen from those submitted to the annual contests.

Friends Of Music Set New Season

The 1967-68 concert schedule has been announced by the Friends of Music, a local non-profit organization which annually presents a series of performances.

Performers scheduled to appear next season include, the Warsaw Piano Quintet, Oct. 21, 1967; Duo Ermeler, Nov. 18, 1967; the Menhin-Ryce Duo, Jan. 20, 1968; Szymon Goldberg and Victor Babin, Feb. 9, 1968; and Gerard Souzay, March 29, 1968.

Friends of Music announced that prices for season membership would be the same as last year. Adult tickets are $7.50 and student tickets, $5.

Plan To Exempt Amish From Law Wins Support

DES MOINES — A plan to exempt the Amish from Iowa's compulsory education laws was recommended for passage Thursday by unanimous vote of the Senate Education Committee.

The plan is essentially one recommended by a committee appointed by Gov. Harold Hughes to study the problem. The committee was headed by the Rt. Rev. Gordon V. Smith, Episcopal bishop of Iowa.

Workshop Poet Wins Fellowship

Michael G. Culross, A4, Iowa City, has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship by Syracuse University to study for an M.A. degree there in creative writing.

Culross is a student in the Writers Workshop. He expects to receive his B.A. degree in creative writing in June.

As partial fulfillment of the requirements for getting the fellowship, Culross submitted several of his poems. Two of them were "The Wayward Flanker" and "The Dreamer."

Auto Vandalism, Parts Theft Rising Yearly, Hanna Says

By GEORGE BRUNCHEEN Staff Writer

Automobile vandalism and theft of automobile parts in student parking lots are increasing each year, according to John Hanna, chief of the Campus Security Department.

"There has been a tremendous jump in vandalism reports during the last 90 days," said Hanna Wednesday.

Vandalism and theft increases can be paralleled with overall larceny reports, explained Hanna. The security department does not keep separate records for various crimes, but rates of increase for all crimes are about the same.

Hanna cited as an example the rise of grand larcenies from 108 in 1963 to 208 in 1966. Petty larcenies increased from 159 in 1963 to 270 in 1966. The same rates of increase could be specifically applied to the areas of theft and vandalism in student parking lots.

Rate Variables

Reports of these crimes are not steady, said Hanna. October, November, March, April and May are when these crime rises are most likely. The summer months and December, January and February show the least activity by thieves and vandals.

Most vandalism consists of slashed tires, broken aerials, slashed convertible tops and broken windows, Hanna said. Tires, wheels and personal possessions are the most frequently reported stolen goods, and occasionally a battery is taken.

No automobile thefts have occurred since 1962, when Hanna became chief of security. He did not remember any reports of automobile thefts before 1962. Reports are kept on file only six years.

Hanna recalled one incident when a victim's good tires and wheels were exchanged for old, worn-out tires and wheels.

Hanna said most of these incidents occurred between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m., and mostly high school and college students were involved in these incidents.

Students Reported

Students caught inflicting damage or stealing are reported to the Office of Student Affairs. The original complaint, the officer's investigative report and supplementary reports from the city police and the sheriff's office are turned over to the office.

The security department also files reports and keeps them for six years, said Hanna.

One of the steps taken by the security department to prevent vandalism and theft and to catch persons in the act is to patrol parking lots regularly.

Plain clothes men in unmarked cars also make spot checks on parking areas, particularly in lots which vandalism and theft have increased.

"On any big thefts, we notify the Iowa City police," Hanna said.

The security department works with both the Iowa City police and the sheriff in apprehending vandals and thieves.

The best deterrents of these crimes are adequate lighting of the parking areas, keeping the cars locked and not leaving the keys in the cars, said Hanna.

John Dooley, director of parking, agreed that lighting was a large factor in preventing these crimes.

He noted that damage from theft and vandalism last year in the South Riverside Drive storage lot was over $2,500. The University is now working with the city to improve street lighting in that area.

Project Planned

An $11,000 lighting project is planned for lot 15, near Hospital School, and lot 29, near the stadium, said Dooley.

The planning of new lighting is limited because of a shortage of funds, he explained. Most of the funds come from parking revenues.

Lighting of new parking areas is financed by the funds used to build the lots, he said. These projects are planned by both Dooley's department and the director of planning and development, Merritt Ludwig.

Ludwig said that new lighting is being planned for the parking lot east of Rienow Hall. The proposed storage lot on the south edge of the city would also be amply lighted.

University To Honor 100,000th Graduate

The University will honor its 100,000th graduate during the Commencement activities June 9-10. A selection process has begun.

The 100,000th degree will be among some 1,200 to be conferred June 9 when one of the University's best known graduates, Dr. George Gallup, will deliver the traditional address and receive an honorary degree.

A committee headed by Donald E. Rhoades, director of convocations, will select a representative graduate for official designation at the 100,000th degree recipient.

Since the University granted its first degree to Dexter Edson Smith in 1858, a total of 98,776 degrees have been awarded.

In announcing the special recognition, Pres. Howard R. Bowen said recently:

"In this year of the 120th Anniversary of the founding of the University, another significant milestone in the life of this institution will be reached—the granting of our 100,000th degree. This is a remarkable record, not only for the great outpouring of effort by faculty and staff which it represents, but also because it reminds us that the key measure of this or any university is its graduates and their contributions to their fellow men."

"In selecting a representative graduate, we seek to honor all our graduates, of whom 72,000 are living throughout the world today."

Rhoades said the committee was seeking as the representative 100,000th graduate a liberal arts student from Iowa, since the College of Liberal Arts was the oldest of the 10 colleges and has awarded the most degrees (37.7 per cent), and because native Iowans were most numerous among University graduates.

Founded in 1847 by the first General Assembly of Iowa, the University began classes in 1855 with a student body of 19. Its initial task was to train teachers for the prairie schools. Since 1855 it has awarded these numbers of degrees: liberal arts, 37,219; business administration, 9,280; engineering, 4,341; nursing, 3,378; pharmacy, 1,805; dentistry, 3,465; law, 6,397; medicine, 5,724; graduate, 26,967.

Army Can't Kill Elephants Used To Move VC Guns

BAN DON, South Vietnam — The biggest live enemy targets in Vietnam are the elephants the Viet Cong use to transport armaments and food.

There are few of the lumbering beasts and they are so valuable to the primitive Montagnards who train them that severe restrictions have been placed on killing them.

In this tiny riverside village, known half a century ago as the elephant center of Indochina, the U.S. Special Forces team watches over the elephants roaming the lightly jungled terrain of the central plateau.

"No one shoots an elephant unless we personally give him the okay, and that hasn't happened in the five months I've been up here," commented Capt. Robert M. Wolfe of Cheshire, Conn., commander of the Special Forces A team building, a new camp at Ban Don.

Just before the Special Forces arrived late in 1966, armed helicopters from the 1st Cavalry Airborne Division killed an elephant in the Ban Don region. The Montagnard owner demanded $5,000 compensation.

He got nowhere near that much, Wolfe said, but the indemnity was considerable.

The Viet Cong frequently load as much as an 81mm mortar and 100 rounds of ammunition on each beast. They apparently own none of the animals and use the elephants found in most of the villages scattered across the southern central plateau.

For that reason, the Special Forces teams oppose indiscriminate elephant killing on the grounds that the short-term gains would not compensate the long-term economic disruption and ill will among the tribal communities.

However, U.S. armed helicopters and fighter-bombers have standing instructions that if they can positively identify an elephant load as armaments or spot loaded elephants in a free-bombing zone they can zero in for the kill.

Group Editing Twain Works

A 22-volume edition of the complete works of Mark Twain is being produced by the University Center for Textual Studies, a division of the Department of English. The first three of the Twain books, "Roughing It," "The Gilded Age" and "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," are to be published next year.

Warner J. Barnes, assistant professor of English and director of the Center, said recently that a writer couldn't be interpreted confidently by literary critics or casual readers unless the texts of his works had been established in a pure form. The work of the Center on the Twain project, which is financed by the U.S. Office of Education, is to record for each work "everything the author wrote from the first ink-blot to the last revision," he said.

Changes Checked

Every handwritten manuscript, typescript, galley proof, and edition published during the life of the writer, which in Twain's case was 75 years, must be scrutinized to find his changes, Barnes said. The textual editor looks for additions, deletions, or revisions made by the author, as well as for similar changes made inadvertently by the printer or intentionally by a self-appointed editor.

The textual editor at times is confronted with a major piece of detective work such as the one involving Twain's "Mysterious Stranger." Barnes said that this work was published after Twain's death by his literary executor, Albert Bigelow Paine, who gave to the world his own blend of four manuscripts left by Twain, edited and censored to spare the feelings of people whose religion Twain had criticized.

Incidents Listed

The history of textual analysis is full of similar incidents which deprive the reader of the chance to read what the author meant him to, Barnes said.

For example, Hamlin Garland, writing in Iowa at the turn of the century, changed the ending of one of his novels to satisfy outraged readers, but the original ending has not been preserved for readers who would like to know what Garland really wanted to say.

Henry James' "Ambassadors" was published for years with Chapter 29 preceding Chapter 28. A publisher of a work on taxation by Samuel Johnson used the first edition for his text, thereby missing the revision made by Johnson in subsequent editions.

An 18th century editor even revised Shakespeare's "King Lear" to provide a happy ending with Cordelia still alive.

The University Center's work, Barnes said, is "to edit definitive editions and significant individual works of major British and American authors." Besides the Twain project the Center is at work on an eight-volume edition of the works of Tobias Smollett, one of the four major novelists of 18th century England. O. M. Brack, assistant professor of English, is editor-in-chief of that series.

Cooper Researched

Barnes is doing preliminary research for a 48-volume edition of the works of James Fenimore Cooper, who was known to Europeans as the father of American literature, and who was the first American novelist to write about the sea, the frontier, and a single family through several generations.

Several other Big 10 universities have contracts with the federal government to produce definitive editions of American writers. Indiana University has a contract for the works of William Dean Howells; Northwestern University for Herman Melville; Ohio State University for Nathaniel Hawthorne; and the University of Wisconsin for Washington Irving.

Seven of the Twain books are being edited at the University and the others have been assigned to scholars all over the country. Barnes himself is textual editor for "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" and "Life on the Mississippi."

John C. Gerber, head of the Department of English and editor-in-chief of the Twain project, is editing the Tom Sawyer books: "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," "Tom Sawyer Abroad," and "Tom Sawyer Detective."

Paul Baender, associate professor of English, is editor for "Christian Science" and "What Is Man?"

Editors Named

Charles T. Miller, associate professor of English, has been named by the editor-in-chief of Indiana University project to edit two volumes of selected criticism by Howells, and Alexander Kern, professor of English, is editing "Fruits and Seeds" for the Henry David Thoreau project being done by the State University of New York.

Brack and Robert A. Corrigan, assistant professor of English, are working together on an edition of "The Day of Doom," a long 17th century poem by Michael Wigglesworth. This was the most popular imaginative work in colonial America, Barnes said.

Baender has been named official inspector of the definitive editions of Howells, Melville, and John Dewey, to determine whether they should receive the seal of the Modern Language Association, the major professional organization of teachers of English and foreign languages.

The University English Department has more textual editors at work than does any other English department in the country, Barnes said. Among the methods used here are reading aloud various editions of an author's works and using computers to compare later editions with earlier ones.

Machine Used

The Center uses a Hinman Collator, the second such machine to be installed west of the Mississippi River and one of about 32 operating in the United States today, Barnes said. This machine uses mirrors and a microscope to superimpose the images of the same page from different copies of a book. A light-flashing mechanism then points out variants in the text, some of which may be due to "hidden printings," the name given to printing plate changes made in the same edition. Almost 5,000 variations have been found for the Mark Twain edition, Barnes said.

The Center depends entirely on grants from the government, private foundations, and business corporations, for the University Library's budget is too small to include the purchase of the multiple copies of first editions needed by the textual editors, said Barnes.

"I hope native Iowans will take pride in the contribution to culture which their university is making," he said.

Detective Offers Installment Plan

BARDFORD, England (AP) — A snoop now-pay later service is offered by a private eye agency operated by James Ackroyd, 36, a former police officer. Wives engaging his men to watch husbands who chronically report they're working late or off on business trips can settle their fees for the service in weekly installments amounting to $1.40, Ackroyd advertises.

Pair Charged With Attempt To Defraud

The Johnson County Sheriff's Office has arrested two young men, one a University student, on charges of attempting to defraud an insurance company by arson after a car was destroyed by a fire.

They were John Beliveau, 21, 2032 Ninth St., Coralville, and Jerry Rea Walden, A2, 730 E. Bloomington St., Bellevue, who was arrested Wednesday, is being held in Johnson County jail in lieu of a $1,000 bond. Walden, who was arrested Thursday, was released after posting a similar bond.

Both men had their cases continued until 8 p.m. Monday, after appearing before Coralville Justice of the Peace T.E. Lyon.

Sheriff deputies said the two were charged with setting fire early Tuesday to a 1967 Corvette convertible after driving the car into a bridge, one mile east of Highway 1 on Rapid Creek Road. The car, which belonged to Beliveau, was insured for about $6,400.

Sheriff Maynard Schneider said the two were arrested after an investigation by his department with the assistance of the State Fire Marshall's office.

Schneider said the investigation determined that when the car collided with the bridge, the impact was not great enough to set the auto in flames. He said the car apparently was driven into the bridge.

The investigation also revealed the car had been damaged in an earlier accident, according to Schneider. He said evidence found on Highway 1, two and one-half miles away, indicated the car had struck a drainage ditch.

The impact of the first accident apparently collapsed the right front wheel of the auto. Schneider said the damaged wheel left black tire marks on the highway which lead to the scene of the second accident.

HIGH PERFORMANCE STEREO MUSIC SYSTEM

THE KLH MODEL TWENTY-FOUR

ONLY . . . $299⁹⁵

The new KLH Model Twenty-Four is a high-performance stereo music system that offers unprecedented sound quality for its size and cost. Simple and tasteful in appearance, it takes up a minimum of valuable living space in a home, but equals or surpasses the performance of many complex and expensive sound systems.

The walnut case houses a Garrard turntable made to KLH specifications, with low-mass tone arm and a Pickering V-15 magnetic cartridge with diamond stylus. The FM tuner is a sensitive, drift-free design that provides excellent reception under the least favorable conditions. The amplifier provides more than enough power (30 watts music power, more than 60 watts peak) to drive loudspeakers in virtually any living room. Its circuitry like that of the tuner is entirely solid-state.

The speakers round out the quality design of the Model Twenty-Four, which are new acoustic-suspension systems employing an 8-inch woofer and 2-inch tweeter. Like all KLH speakers, they are entirely manufactured and tested within the KLH plant, and they have the smooth octave-to-octave musical balance that has made KLH speakers famous. Stop by and examine this superb system and hear its fine quality for yourself.

There's a place for mentally retarded people.

Maybe right in your business.

If you have job openings which the retarded can handle, you'd be wise to give one of those jobs to a trained retarded worker.

You'd find him—or her—capable, loyal, steady, well-behaved. In fact, the retarded perform much more efficiently on some jobs than average or "normal" persons.

What jobs can the retarded fill successfully? Messengers, stock clerks, packers, gardeners, laundry and restaurant helpers, warehousemen, aides in hospitals and nursing homes and assemblers of amazingly complex equipment.

Thousands of retarded people are trained to work and want to work. All they need is the chance to prove themselves—to someone like you.

Why not get in touch with your state rehabilitation agency about placing a trained retarded person in your business?

For more information on employing the retarded write for a free booklet. Address: The President's Committee on Mental Retardation, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Wallace Chides 'Pacifists'

CONCORD, N.H. — Closing his tirade against "nonpolitical" swing through the state which holds America's first presidential primary, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace chided Thursday "pacifists" who "don't want to fight the Viet Cong" but "sure can fight politics."

Wallace told newsmen who surrounded and pounded his car at Dartmouth College Wednesday night "said they were pacifists who don't believe in violence. "That rocking the car business was nothing more than academic freedom. The student body was receptive. I think there were more on our side than against us."

Dartmouth College apologized for the incidents that included a charge toward the stage by about 10 Negroes and whites screaming: "Wallace go home! You're an insult to our intelligence!"

City Barred From Helping Commission

Under present Iowa law the Iowa City council cannot legally budget funds directly to the Human Relations Commission, said Philip Leff, chairman, at a commission meeting Wednesday.

The commission had requested money for two projects. One is to print and make available to members of minority groups a pamphlet explaining the powers of both the Iowa City discrimination ordinance and the state discrimination statute. It would also tell how to file a discrimination complaint.

Leff said the city agreed to print the pamphlet, at its cost, making a commission budget for the project unnecessary. The pamphlet should be completed within two or three months.

The other project is to run a daily classified advertisement in the local newspapers. The ad would tell persons where to file a discrimination complaint.

8-Story Plunge Hospitalizes Boy

CHICAGO — A 16-month-old boy wandered from his parents' 14th floor hotel room Thursday, fell eight stories and survived.

However, hospital attendants described his condition as poor. Police said the youngster, Rupert Christopher Burtan, toppled from the sill of a supply closet window on the 14th floor of the Essex Inn and landed on the roof of a five-story offset portion of the building. The hotel has no floor numbered 13.

The baby was reported to have suffered a fracture of the right arm and shock. He was taken to Presbyterian - St. Luke's Hospital.

The baby's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Rupert C. Burtan of Pittsford, N.Y. Burtan and his wife, Grace, were in Chicago to attend a conference.

The Essex Inn is at 800 S. Michigan Ave.

Iuns Receives Charlemagne Prize

AACHEN, West Germany (AP) - Aachen gave Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns its annual Charlemagne Prize on Thursday for contributions to European unity.

The prize, which includes $1,250, a gold medal and a seal, was presented by Lord Mayor Hermann Heusch.

Luns, 55, has been acclaimed in West Germany for his role in settling Dutch-German border problems and promoting closer ties between the nations. Previous recipients of the prize included Winston Churchill and U.S. Gen. George C. Marshall.

ASCENSION ISLAND BLESSING - VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope Paul VI blessed 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's Square on Thursday on Ascension Day.

FLOODS THREATEN TASHKENT - MOSCOW (AP) - Tashkent, the Soviet central Asian city battered by earthquakes last year that left a quarter of its 1.2 million residents homeless, now faces a threat of flood damage, Tass reported Thursday.

The official Soviet news agency said floods from heavy rains had hit several cities in the Uzbekistan Republic, as well as some residential suburbs of Tashkent, the republic's capitol, and neighboring areas.

Designer's Award Received By Former Graduate Student

A former University graduate student who is now a publisher in Iowa City has received a designer's award for his part in the publication of two books of poetry, one by Marvin Bell, an instructor in the Writers Workshop.

K. K. Mercer, who operates the Stone Wall Press in the basement of his home at 502 Grant St., received the award from the American Institute of Graphic Arts. Bell's book is entitled, "Things We Dreamt We Died For."

The other book is "Traversees," consisting of French poems with English translations. The author is Paul Ene Aspel, whose husband, Alexandre, is a professor of Romance languages at the University.

The Final Press, University of Illinois, Urbana, published the books jointly with the Stone Wall Press.

The award is one of 50 given every year in a competition in which about 1,000 books are entered, Mercer said this week. The 50 winning books will be exhibited soon at the University.

In addition to the book of poetry by Bell, eight of his poems have been published in the April issue of Poetry magazine. Poems by Bell have also appeared in the New Yorker, the Nation and other magazines. Bell is the poetry editor for the North American Review.

Bell came to the University in the fall of 1965 to teach in the Poetry Workshop. He had been a student here from 1961 to 1964, receiving an M.F.A. degree from the Poetry Workshop. He also received an M.A. degree in English from the University of Chicago.

Horse Race Bill Dies in Committee

DES MOINES (AP) — Backers of a bill to legalize betting on horse racing tried to move it to the Senate floor Thursday but failed by a 6-7 vote to get it out of the starting gate.

The bill got six votes, but nine are needed to get it out of committee.

Sen. Don Murray (D-Bancroft) introduced the bill to the Ways and Means Committee as a bill for the promotion of agriculture.

He said it would lead to a horse breeding industry in Iowa.

Sen. John Kibbie (D-Emmetsburg) said most of the people in Iowa favor pari-mutuel betting, but the measure got little other support in the brief committee debate.

"Views in my area are about the same as on dope peddling and prostitution," said Sen. James Potgeter (R-Steamboat Rock).

Sen. Richard Stephens (R-Ainsworth) said, "If I were passing a bill that would be of mutual benefit to the people of Iowa, this is one that would not have occurred to me."

Voting to adopt a subcommittee recommendation for sending the bill to the floor without recommendation were committee chairman Andrew Frommelt (D-Dubuque) and Sens. Joseph Cassidy (D-Walcott); Kenneth Benda (R-Hartwich); Kibbie; Murray, and Charles Van Eaton (R-Sioux City).

Voting against it were Sens. Robert Dodds (D-Danville); Vern Lisle (R-Clarinda); Kenneth Nurse (D-Hartley); Potgeter; Roger Shaff (R-Camanche); Stephens, and John Welsh (R-Dubuque).

Sens. Max Reno (D-Bonaparte), and Merle Hagedorn (D-Royal), abstained from voting. Absent were Eugene Condon (D-Waterloo) and William Reichardt (D-Des Moines).

In the Judiciary Committee, six members voted for and seven against reporting out a bill to require retailers to redeem beer cans for two cents each. It was the same count by which the bill failed to clear the committee April 18.

The Ways and Means Committee considered but took no action on a proposal to exempt from taxes up to $50,000 worth of personal property for each taxpayer.

Estimates of the revenue loss to local governments that the state would replace ranged from $56 million to $70 million. The committee set another meeting to discuss the proposal Tuesday.

Long Gives Apologies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) publicly apologized today for saying half of the Senate ethics committee members couldn't stand an investigation like the one Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) went through.

After quoting from the Bible "he that humbleth himself shall be exalted," Long told the Senate he had not meant to offend the six-member bipartisan committee that recommended last week that Dodd be censured for financial misconduct.

"If I made a mistake and if I did wrong by saying what I said," Long asserted, "I am here to offer a public apology." Long is the Senate Democratic whip.

Long said he did not think Dodd should be censured because Dodd had not violated any law or any rule of the Senate.

He said his reaction to the committee's censure recommendation was that practically anybody who went through an investigation like the ethics panel's investigation of Dodd could be seriously embarrassed.

He had said he felt this was true not only of half the committee but also of half the Senate. He emphasized that he included himself, and said he has made mistakes that could bring criticism.

But Long said he wanted to apologize because he had not meant to offend any of his colleagues.

"The ethics committee members," he said, "are six of the finest members who have ever served in this body. That's why we kicked them."

Two Exhibits Of Student Art In Art Building

Two exhibitions of student art work can be viewed by visitors to the University during Mother's Day Weekend today through Sunday.

The works of 81 University art students are now on exhibit in the Main Gallery of the Art Building, and will be exhibited through Wednesday.

Seventy-five students will also display their work at the Thieves Market from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday, in the Union Ballroom. Many of the works will be for sale.

There will be no admission charged for either exhibition. The Main Gallery of the Art Building is open from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Art Building exhibition was chosen by graduate assistants in the School of Art from about 300 student entries. The exhibition includes 35 paintings, 31 drawings, 24 prints, 13 photographs, 11 ceramic pieces and 9 sculptures.

The Thieves Market exhibition will include paintings, drawings, prints, photographs, jewelry and other hand-crafted articles. There will also be an afternoon demonstration of pottery making by Frank Tapy, graduate assistant in ceramics, and several advanced art students.
