Arabs Move To Unite As Peace Bids Stall

CAIRO (AP) — Arab nations took new military and diplomatic steps Wednesday to buttress a united front against Israel.

At the same time, the United States seized the initiative in debate at the United Nations. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg asked the Security Council to urge the Arabs and Israelis to cool off pending a diplomatic solution.

The council adjourned until Friday without acting on the U.S. resolution supporting Secretary-General U Thant's appeal for restraint. The U.S. move ran the risk of a Soviet veto, but in a brief intervention Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko did not say he would vote against it. He chided Goldberg for putting the resolution forward.

"Is it not ironic that the official representative of the United States of America sits to present Washington in the role of an advocate of peace, a defender of justice and legality, and even on a world scale?" Fedorenko asked.

Resolution Supported

In Washington, however, the resolution got speedy bipartisan support. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois applauded Goldberg's move.

Dirksen said he regretted the great acrimony that has developed in Security Council debate. He said that unless this can be moderated in the discussions which have pitted the Soviet Union and the Arab countries against Israel and the West it will be difficult to reach any agreement.

Mansfield said if the United Nations fails to find a settlement he hopes the Big Four powers will "assume responsibility and, if necessary, summon a summit meeting." Cairo radio reported Iraqi and Kuwaiti troops have begun arriving in Egypt to reinforce frontlines on the Israel border.

Egypt sent a high-level mission to Damascus apparently to enlist Syria's support for the new Egypt-Jordan mutual defense pact that brought Jordan into the anti-Israel front. Syria's Socialist regime continued its feud with Jordan with propaganda attacks on King Hussein.

There was no word on whether the Egyptian delegation was successful. It obtained the public support of President Abdel Rahman Aref on a similar mission to Iraq, which also has been on the outs with Jordan.

Wilson Warns Of War

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons the crisis has the earmarks of a holy war that could spread.

Foreign Secretary George Brown told the House of Commons that Britain wants "a clear declaration by the international maritime community that the Gulf of Aden is an international waterway in which and through which all vessels of all nations have a right of passage."

Soviet and U.S. ship movements continued in the eastern Mediterranean. The semi-official Turkish News Agency said the Soviet submarine tender Magomet Gadzhiev passed from the Black Sea through Turkey's Bosphorus to the Mediterranean.

The Turkish naval command said in all 10 Soviet warships will pass through the Bosphorus, the Marmara Sea and the Dardanelles within a week to join about a dozen Soviet naval vessels in the eastern Mediterranean, where the powerful U.S. 6th Fleet is deployed.

Carrier Approaches Suez

The U.S. carrier Intrepid, with 78 jet fighters, approached the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean, but U.S. officials said it was on route to Vietnam. Cairo radio and press speculated the carrier would take up a position off the Gulf of Aqaba.

Shortly before the 41,000-ton carrier reached Egypt's Port Said, Syria broke the spell of Arab unity by denouncing King Hussein.

Ignoring the mutual defense pact Hussein signed with Nasser in Cairo Tuesday, Damascus radio charged the king still plotted "against Syria's revolutionary regime."

Despite this apparent setback, sources in Cairo said they considered that with the Jordanian pact, Nasser had built up Arab unity against Israel to its greatest point. Jordan and Egypt had been at each other's throats for months.

Syria touched off the Mideast crisis early in May by charging that Israel planned an invasion to upset the Syrian socialist regime. Israel had threatened reprisal for Syrian commando raids.

In the Arab military buildup, Iraq announced that more troops had left Baghdad.

Prof: Ethics A Question In War Training

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A Duke University professor told a military court today the question of a physician training Green Beret medics, whose primary role is fighting, could raise substantial ethical issues.

"That's an individual decision and choice," said Dr. William J. DeMaria, professor in the Duke School of Medicine.

He was called by the prosecution at the court-martial of Capt. Howard B. Levy, the Army doctor charged with refusing to train Special Forces medics and with promoting disloyalty by statements opposing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

DeMaria's testimony was introduced in an effort to refute the defense theory that a doctor's medical ethics may override military orders. Levy contends it would violate his professional and moral standards to teach medical skills that would be used by soldiers for political purposes.

DeMaria said he felt a military aidman must act "in the context of the operation." At times, the doctor said, the medic might be required to subjugate his health function to the mission of his troops.

Soviet Pressure Seen Behind Mideast Crisis

An AP News Analysis By CARL HARTMAN

GENEVA (AP) — The idea is gaining ground that the Soviet Union is maneuvering the crisis in the Mideast to put pressure on the United States in Vietnam.

There is no way to prove that this is the way minds have been working in the Kremlin, but there is no doubt Soviet encouragement has helped stiffen the Arab stand.

The idea that the two situations are connected has been given some support by such diverse personalities as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Tran Van Do, foreign minister of South Vietnam.

All three are in Geneva for the conference called Pacem in Terris — Peace on Earth. The purpose of the meeting is to advance ideas that will prevent confrontations of the two super-powers. It is being held just when two such conflicts are at a dangerous stage.

Relation Seen

King told the conference he could not help feeling a relation between the Mideast crisis and U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Fulbright said in an interview that the two crises were closely related. Tran Van Do said the war in Vietnam was only part of a general Communist plan, not an isolated movement.

People who see a connection between Vietnam and the Mideast reason this way:

The main thrust of Soviet foreign policy is to make President Johnson ready to yield some points in Vietnam on the assumption that he can be softened up by the threat of military involvement somewhere else.

An Obvious Place

The Mideast is an obvious place. Despite Soviet coolness toward Israel and support of the Arab states, the Chinese Communists have been criticizing Moscow as favorable to Israel. They cite the emigration of Jews permitted from Eastern Europe in recent years and jeer that "Moscow supplies the men and Washington supplies the money" for Israel.

The Soviets feel such criticism weakens them in the Arab states.

At the same time they know that any American president faces domestic political pressure on Israel. As a country whose people were active in setting up the Jewish state, the United States has assumed special responsibility in looking after Israel's interests.

dad, the capital, for Syria and Egypt. Little Lebanon announced it had sent forces to its southern border with Israel.

Banners Hoisted

War fever gripped Egypt and Jordan. War banners were hoisted in Cairo streets saying, "We are ready now for the battle"; and "The Arab nation is ready to teach the imperialists and Zionists their lesson." Newspapers praised the defense pact with Jordan.

Jordan's Parliament adopted a resolution declaring that the Jordanian-Egyptian defense treaty was "the first step toward liberation of Palestine and the regaining of the usurped land." In an emotional session, speakers expressed joy at Hussein's reconciliation with Nasser.

Prospects Of War In Nigeria Stirs American Exodus

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Prospects of war between troops of the federal government and Nigeria's secessionist Eastern region led diplomats to arrange Wednesday for an exodus of 700 Americans from the rebel territory.

Some Britons and Italians also may pull out.

About 2,000 Americans, including 125 Peace Corps volunteers, live and work in the Eastern region, which its military governor, Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, proclaimed Tuesday to be the independent Republic of Biafra.

U.S. Ambassador Elbert G. Mathews advised American firms to pull out dependents. The 700 — women and children and others described as "unable to travel quickly in an emergency" — will leave in a privately chartered airlift scheduled to start Saturday from Enugu, the Eastern capital, and the port of Harcourt.

No Decision Reached

It also was learned that dependents of American diplomats on leave will not be permitted to return. No decision has been reached on whether the U.S. consul, Agency for International Development staff members and the Peace Corps volunteers should be removed.

Three thousand Britons and 300 Italians are in the 30,099-square-mile Eastern territory. British and Italian authorities began making arrangements for their withdrawal.

The central government, headed by Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, has been massing troops for several months in the Northern region, Gowon's home area, directly adjoining Ojukwu's bailiwick.

Communications Cut

Following up an embargo that he set on Eastern ports, Gowon cut off Eastern communications with the rest of Nigeria and the outside world. All its international cable and radiotelephone services are routed via Lagos, where the plugs were pulled.

Through a message to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in New York, Gowon notified members of the United Nations that his government would consider recognition of Biafra as an independent country to be an unfriendly act.

Diplomats said they considered fighting is imminent.

Council To Open Park Pool Bids

The Iowa City council, under a new bid-opening procedure adopted recently, will open bids today on a $236,500 swimming pool slated for the new 27-acre Mercer Park in southeast Iowa City. The pool is to be completed May 1, 1968.

Under the new procedure, City Manager Frank R. Smiley will open the bids and refer them to the Engineering Department for a recommendation. Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m. today.

The bond issues slated to cover the cost of the project have apparently been undercut by costs of other projects and the Parks and Recreation Commission is presently looking for places in the parks budget through which funds could be made available.

If bids are substantially higher than estimates, the shortage of funds may force a redesigning of the pool and a new call for bids.

Wallace Lauded At Ceremonies For Iowa Award

AMES (AP) — Mrs. Henry A. Wallace heard her late husband described Wednesday as one of the most controversial and yet one of the most capable men of his time.

Pres. W. Robert Parks of Iowa State University made the statement in formally nominating Wallace for a posthumous Iowa Award from the Iowa Centennial Memorial Foundation.

"Few men in the nation's history have taken high public office more completely unarmed, by nature and experience, with the hard and sometimes vexing realities of practical politics than was Mr. Wallace when he assumed the enormous depression era burden of administering the United States Department of Agriculture," said Parks.

"But few men in this nation's history have taken high public office possessed of greater intellectual capacity or more thorough technical preparation."

Parks described Wallace's career as an agricultural scientist, farm publications editor and political figure who reached the vice presidency under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He said Wallace met the unprecedented farm crisis of 1933 with unprecedented programs.

State Treasurer Paul Franzburg, who presented the award, described Wallace as a man who "devoted a lifetime toward improving the lives of farmers everywhere."

"His accomplishments as a geneticist will continue to benefit mankind to the end of time," said Franzburg.

Former Gov. Robert Blue also spoke at ceremonies in the ISU Memorial Union.

Symbolizing the award, made every five years by the commission, a print of a Grant Wood portrait of Wallace painted for a Time magazine cover in 1940 was unveiled. Eventually it will hang in the university's cultural center now under development.

NEWS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK — The stock market was thrown for its worst loss of the year Wednesday as anxiety over the Middle East crisis intensified. The decline was on a broad front, ranging through all of the major groups.

WASHINGTON — The defection of a second Hungarian diplomat since last month was disclosed Wednesday. Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, confirmed that Ernoe Bernat, 33, a third secretary at the Hungarian embassy, had requested and been granted political asylum on April 21.

NEW PROVIDENCE, Iowa — Two employees of the State Training School for Boys at Eldora were bound over to Hardin County District Court Wednesday on charges of sodomy. Justice of the Peace Harold Reece ordered bonds continued at $5,000 each for Gary Johnson, 22, and Pine S. McPherrin, 32, and both were returned to jail. Reece ruled there was sufficient evidence to detain Johnson, a training school counselor, and McPherrin, an instructor, for trial on charges of committing sodomy with two 15-year-old inmates of the institution.

WASHINGTON — The Senate sent to President Johnson Wednesday a compromise bill restoring major business tax incentives suspended last October as an anti-inflationary move. The bill restores the seven per cent investment credit allowed on machinery and equipment and also two accelerated depreciation schedules which permit fast tax writeoffs on income-producing buildings such as factories and apartments.

DES MOINES — A bill to require that trading stamps be redeemed in cash or in merchandise, whichever the consumer wants, was passed 71-32 and sent to the Senate by the Iowa House Wednesday. Its chief sponsor, Rep. William Gannon (D-Mingo) said it would permit people to redeem their trading stamps for money and spend the money in their home towns instead of taking the stamps to a redemption center in some large city.

NEW YORK — Two U.S. Air Force helicopters took off for Paris from Floyd Bennett Field Wednesday on what would be the first non-stop helicopter flight across the Atlantic Ocean, an Air Force spokesman said.

Navy Planes Hammer Targets Near Haiphong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets flew through heavy ground fire Wednesday to hammer targets near North Vietnam's port of Haiphong for the second straight day. American airborne troops and Marines fought North Vietnamese troops in two widely separated battles in the South.

The U.S. Command said the Cong My complex of storage buildings, piers, railroad sidings and fuel tanks was hit for the first time in the war. The carrier-based pilots said their 1,000-pound bombs heavily damaged the site 3 1/2 miles northwest of Haiphong.

The Loi Dong area four miles north of the city was bombed for the fourth time. Pilots reported leaving thick, black smoke over the area and said they also set off a large secondary explosion at a radar site three miles northwest of Haiphong.

Plane Lost

One A4 Skyhawk from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock was reported downed, the 565th U.S. plane announced lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was listed as missing.

A broadcast dispatch from Hanoi, the Northern capital, said three U.S. planes were shot down. Pilots reported encountering antiaircraft fire and some missiles on the raids.

Tuesday's and Wednesday's strikes were the closest to either Hanoi or Haiphong in more than a week. There had been unconfirmed reports from Washington that U.S. raids on the immediate Hanoi-Haiphong areas were being temporarily suspended to concentrate on less well-defended targets.

House Approves Bond Issue Bills

DES MOINES (AP) — Overriding objections that litigation on the subject is pending before the Iowa Supreme Court, the House passed two bills Wednesday to legalize a bond issue in the Clear Creek Community School District in Johnson and Iowa counties.

It passed 70 to 22 a bill to legalize new boundaries of the Clear Creek District created by land attachment, and then approved 69 to 33 a bill to legalize the $563,473 bond issue. Both bills now return to the Senate for action on House amendments.

Rep. John Mowry (R-Marshalltown) vigorously objected to passage of the measures, saying a suit challenging the bond election is now pending before the Iowa Supreme Court.

The House passed the two bills after Rep. Earl Yoder (R-Iowa City) said the district boundaries were not involved in the legal dispute and an amendment was attached by the House to the other bill declaring its passage would not affect any existing litigation.

Funeral Services For Drowned Man Scheduled Friday

CEDAR RAPIDS — Funeral services are scheduled Friday morning here for 31-year-old John Hadish of this city. Mr. Hadish drowned Tuesday afternoon in Lake Macbride about 12 miles north of Iowa City.

Mr. Hadish was fishing with two other men, Ronald Musel and Leonard Berg of Cedar Rapids, when their small boat was swamped in rough water. According to Johnson County Deputy Sheriff Gene W. Shepard, Berg swam to shore, and Musel, who was wearing a life jacket, was rescued by a passing boat.

Musel told authorities that he kept Hadish afloat for a time but was unable to hold him until help arrived. The accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. The body was recovered shortly after 3 p.m. about 50 feet from shore.

Mr. Hadish's death was the second drowning in the area in five days. A University of Iowa student, Darrel W. Brown, 21, of Jesup, drowned in the Coralville Reservoir on Friday.

The Johnson County Coast Guard Auxiliary Unit, fire departments from Iowa City and Solon, conservation officers and the Iowa Highway Patrol, as well as sheriff's officers, aided in rescue operations.

Funeral services for Mr. Hadish are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. at the Janeba-Kuba Funeral Home and at 10 a.m. in St. Lude-milla's Catholic Church.

Forecast

IOWA — Cloudy and continued cool today with rain likely west and south; highs 50s southwest to about 65 northeast. Cloudy southwest and partly cloudy northeast tonight and Friday with occasional rain southwest.

'Grades Are Wicked And I Care Nothing For Them. However . . . .'

What this campus needs is new excuses. This, at least, is the opinion of Ernest F. Andrews, assistant professor of journalism, who occasionally at examination time posts a list of old excuses for students who think their grades should be raised.

Andrews, head of the public relations sequence in the School of Journalism and head of the journalism honors program, invites his students to come up with excuses he hasn't heard.

A list of excuses he had already heard was published a year ago in The Daily Iowan. A revised list, incorporating excuses heard by some of Andrews' colleagues, is offered now as a public service to students harried by instructors who think they've heard everything:

1. This grade made my mother very unhappy.
2. This grade made my father very unhappy.
3. This grade made me very unhappy.
4. This is the only course in which I've received a poor grade.
5. I think grades are wicked and I care nothing for grades. However, since I have to be the victim of this pernicious system, I am seeking a higher grade.
6. I know many members of my class whose work was not as good as mine but who received higher grades. I was recognized by my classmates as a good student. Just ask any of them.

7. Several students copied from my exam but received higher grades than I did. I should have a higher grade, too.
8. I had to get married last weekend.
9. My house blew up.
10. I studied for your course from a broad and philosophical point of view. I was unable, therefore, to answer questions demanding specific or precise knowledge.
11. The exam did not cover everything in the whole course and I knew all the answers to all the questions that were not asked.

12. I had no time to study because I was busy punching cards.

13. The night before the exam, I found out I was pregnant.

14. The night before the exam, my girl friend told me she was pregnant.

15. The night before the exam, my girl friend got pregnant.

16. The exam instructions said the answers had to be typed and triple-spaced. I do not own a typewriter. Anyhow, it doesn't have triple spaces.

17. The exam instructions said the answers had to be on copy paper. I did not have any copy paper. All I had was punch cards.

18. I got mixed up about the exam schedule and couldn't do much in the time left after I arrived. Besides, I thought the exam was another day.

19. I live far away from the building and cannot attend class regularly.

20. I have trouble finding a parking place and cannot attend class regularly.

21. I broke my glasses.

22. I interpreted your questions differently from anybody else and I should be graded on my interpretation of them.

23. The coach needs me.

24. I commute weekends to New York to edit a Chinese newspaper.

25. You have a responsibility to the freedom-loving people of Tanzania to withhold my grade.

26. I had a scheduling conflict between your exam and my picketing.

27. You are prejudiced because I write for Biopsy. It isn't my fault that I have a fecal complex.

28. I resent your judgment that I don't know nothing about English. The English Department has hired me to teach in their program next year.

29. You should realize that your grade is forcing me to go fight for my country. This is a prostitution of my personal principles.

30. All I really need is a C to stay eligible for the team and ineligible for the army.

Local law officials should be congratulated for restraint during raids

The events at Midwestern College in Denison last weekend and similar events at Texas Southern University in Houston sometime before point out the need to credit law enforcement officials in the Iowa City area as well as University of Iowa authorities with very intelligent actions earlier this year.

In both Denison and Houston, law enforcement agencies were called in to handle student disturbances. In the Denison case, the action was taken after male students relieved their year-end anxieties in various ways, including burning books. In Houston, a civil rights demonstration was involved.

The reports are that in both instances, the police action was far more severe than was necessary. Tear gas was used in Denison, and there was a full-scale gun battle in Houston. Mass arrests occurred during both incidents.

Before either of these incidents, student unrest became overt here at the University of Iowa. The result was a panty-raid on the women's dormitories.

The second of these raids almost was publicly planned. Many male students and a substantial number of coeds knew when it was to take place. So did local law enforcement officials.

Many additional law people were called in to help. They met the students near the women's dormitories. And, for the most part, the law authorities seemed to enjoy the whole incident as much as did the students. The only time any force was used was when individual students tried to enter or got on the roof of the dormitories.

Only two arrests were made. One was for intoxication and the other was for disorderly conduct. In addition, some names were turned over to University authorities.

But, for the most part, the male students were allowed to have their fun. There was no use of riot control devices, nor were there any mass arrests.

And, within an hour or so after the raid started, the male students required very little persuasion that it was time to quit. Indeed, most of the fun that had been expected by the students never materialized because the police let them carry on their panty raid.

Although most of the gripes of the male students that motivated the raid have not been taken care of, there has not been a similar disturbance since. This is probably because the students were allowed to do what they wanted.

The restraint shown by law enforcement officials probably prevented a major disturbance, much like those at Houston and Denison. I hope that University officials, law enforcement agencies and students show similar intelligence in the future.

Bill Newbrough

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — This has been a bad week for the doves and the hawks. Nasser's decision to close the Gulf of Aqaba to Israel has made hawks out of doves and doves out of hawks. The doves of the past want the United States to act immediately, and the hawks of the future want us to cool it in the Middle East.

BUCHWALD

Even my friend Brinkerhoff, a devout pacifist, was in turmoil. When I saw him this weekend he was sticking a knife into a photograph of Nasser and screaming "Kill! Kill!"

"Brinkerhoff, how can you talk that way when you've been one of the leading advocates of peace in the world?"

"I'm still for peace in the world, but you'll never have it with that dirty rat Nasser in the Middle East. Kill!"

"Now, wait a minute, Brinkerhoff. If you're going to be a pacifist, you can't be going around screaming 'Kill,' and stabbing photos of Nasser in the newspapers."

"That's how much you know about pacifists."

"Let me ask you this, Brinkerhoff. Would you advocate the use of force to reopen the Gulf of Aqaba to international shipping?"

"Only if we bomb Cairo first," Brinkerhoff said.

"But you're against bombing. Don't you remember, Brinkerhoff?"

"Stop telling me what I was against. Ask me what I'm for."

"All right, what are you for?"

"Blowing up the Aswan Dam, B-52 raids on the Suez Canal and the complete defoliation of Jordan."

"If I didn't know you better, Brinkerhoff, I would think you've become a hawk."

"I'm not a hawk. I'm a dove who's lost his temper. I say there's only one solution to the Middle East crisis, and that's to escalate. Egypt must be made to pay for its aggression."

"But Brinkerhoff, the hawks in the United States say the matter should be settled peacefully in the United Nations."

"The hawks are chicken. The United Nations can't settle anything. The only thing the Arabs understand is force. We should nuke 'em."

"Give 'em a taste of nuclear weapons and let's see what big shots they are, then."

"But Brinkerhoff, you marched in a parade three weeks ago carrying a sign which said 'Live and let live.'"

"I wasn't talking about Nasser and those Syrians. Besides, the United States has a commitment to Israel and they should honor it."

"Do you think the United States should go it alone if nobody else wants to help?"

"You bet your sweet life they should go it alone. I say bomb them back to the stone age."

"Brinkerhoff, you sound like Barry Goldwater."

"What's wrong with Goldwater? At least he knows what a bunch of dirty double-crossers the Russians are."

"Then you think we should stand up to the Russians on the question of the Middle East?"

"The hell with standing up to the Russians. Let's nuke 'em."

"I wish you wouldn't keep saying that, Brinkerhoff. It doesn't sound like you."

"You haven't heard anything yet," he said. "You know my son Herbert, the one who said he was going to be a draft dodger?"

"Yes. What about him?"

"Well, he's joining the U.S. Marine Corps. He says if we don't stop the Commies in the Middle East, we'll be fighting on the beaches of Coney Island."

"He said that?"

"Why do you look so surprised?" Brinkerhoff said. "Haven't you ever heard of the Domino Theory?"

Canadian doctor writes on war

To the Editor: I was glad to read that the Americans say they have been using anti-personnel bombs in Vietnam (Associated Press, April 10). The use of these bombs for the express purpose of killing people, including civilians, is long over-due. Those wicked Communist aggressors deserve all the punishment that comes to them; I hope the Communist women and Communist children get it too. Judging from the pictures of maimed and dead children that have reached readers in North America in various magazines of late, the children are paying the price.

Bravo, America! Stick to your guns and your bombs. Ignore world opinion. Ignore the eggs and tomatoes thrown at Vice President Humphrey in Berlin, Paris, and Brussels; ignore the storming of U.S. embassies throughout the world; ignore the frequent burning of the American flag and ignore the mass demonstrations and protests in every city. These are the actions of subversive leftists, misguided intellectuals and perverted rabble-rousers.

We in Canada should be grateful that the United States is in Vietnam saving the free world from domination by the Communist monsters ruling North Vietnam. Those Communist beasts must be destroyed — and the brave U.S. forces can do just that, outnumbered and outgunned though they may be. And we should be equally thankful that the Americans have seen fit to give full and unquestioned support to such courageous, upright and noble men as General Ky and his loyal democratic government, solidly backed by the overwhelming majority of the population of South Vietnam.

Canadians should not hesitate to condemn any short-sighted, muddle-headed dope who questions American intervention in Vietnam. Anyone who shouts about the numerous American infractions of the 1954 Geneva Agreement is undoubtedly tainted red. Those people who criticize the support given by the Americans for nine years to that benevolent leader, Ngo Dinh Diem, whom these same people call a ruthless dictator, are probably agents of the Soviet Communist Party. And anyone who tells you that Americans are despised throughout the length and breadth of both South and North Vietnam is almost certainly a Marxist, and should be reported to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. As Canadians, we should miss no opportunity to praise the fine American foreign policy and to support wholeheartedly the carefully planned and directed involvement of American forces in Vietnam. The "damning by faint praise" on the part of Canadians in public office undoubtedly has upset the sensitive souls in the State Department and the Pentagon and given encouragement to the Communist maniacs in Vietnam.

Keep up the killing, America, in Vietnam. Whether they want it or not, the South Vietnamese are going to get democracy. Keep up the blind, unthinking "anti-Communism" and if a small country in Southeast Asia must be destroyed and if hundreds of thousands of its civilians must be left bleeding and dying, it's a worthy price to pay. At least they can die happy, knowing that the sacrifice of their lives has served to bring to Vietnam the blessing of America-sponsored democracy.

Grinnell grad disputes editorial

To the Editor: As a recent graduate of Grinnell College, I found Bill Newbrough's editorial quite amusing in its naivete. "Pot" is quite definitely used by some students, though for most of them it is an "I'll try it once" experience. There are, however, a few regular users as might be expected — but this is merely incidental.

I do object to Newbrough's comments about freedom of editorial policy. Grinnell College has shown a quite lenient attitude in regard to what is printed in the school publications; more so than is evident in the Daily Iowan. One example I would like to cite was the reproduction of a Kinseyesque survey of sexual behavior at the College. Such an article does not put the College in the best light with regard to the parents and alumni; yet it was published with little if any comment.

The marijuana situation is quite a different matter. I believe the College's objection is that such a picture would indicate that the practice is rather common — an impression which is unjustified. The staff of the yearbook is composed of quite capable people who probably produced a yearbook that is otherwise quite exceptional. They do seem to have their heads in the clouds. This is not an uncommon thing to do; as such, I advise you to look and see how strong is the "Ivory Tower" of editorial freedom is at this institution.

Law student hits parking plan

To the Editor: Do I read the parking commission's future plans correctly when I understand that the price of the reserved lot stickers will be increased next year to help finance a new parking ramp? If so, has it been taken into consideration that those who purchase these stickers will seldom use the parking ramp because they have the privilege of parking in the reserved lots, and that those who will use the ramp are the students with automobile registration but no reserved stickers? Then doesn't it seem a bit ridiculous to charge those who will not be using the ramp and completely eliminate any cost to those who will, by dropping the present $3 registration fee? It's about as ridiculous as putting the new ramp immediately across the street from the present ramp?

Reader laments Alston's departure

To the Editor:

In about a week or so, a member of the University community will be leaving Iowa City for another educational institution, welcomed by a few, and disappointing to many. But whatever the case, this tuition. His exit may be overlooked by man deserves a brief moment of public acclaim and recognition for the work he has done here at the University.

Because of certain difficulties (they need not be discussed here) that have occurred in the past, this man has found it necessary to seek employment at another university where he may be free to pursue the educational standards in which he strongly believes. It is very difficult to openly decide who is to blame, since I am not completely cognizant of all the facts involved in the case. But I would like to make a value judgement that stems from three years of a student-professor association: the University is taking a step away from a liberal, intellectual environment to one of restricting educational creativity and expression, by releasing from its academic fold the likes of Prof. Patrick Alston.

I honestly feel that Alston has fulfilled his role of teacher far more adequately than he is given credit for — by his peers and by his colleagues. He has given his classes a great deal of warmth and understanding; put a very down-to-earth, philosophical vitality and insight in his lectures; and made many students learn to think more astutely in one semester than what four years of college may have provided them. What it boils down to is that he has made learning an interesting and enlightening process — a welcomed relief from the "standard-procedures-methods" practiced by so many teachers in the American school system.

It is really sad that something could not be worked out within the administration, to keep Alston here. A man of his genius should be more appreciated and respected by those associated with the University.

Social work members ask full welfare budget

To the Editor:

Iowa may continue to neglect 33,000 children and to keep some poor from getting medical care. Representatives Mowry and Marber propose amending the welfare budget to cut ADC by $500,000; Old Age Assistance by $25,000; and medical care for the indigent by $1 million. Rep. Van Nostrand recommends even larger cuts.

We, undersigned social work faculty and students at the University, urge the Legislature to pass the full appropriation for welfare as recommended by the governor and the appropriations committee. Society saves nothing if our grants permit children to eat half the food they require and thereby become sick and unfit adults.

Summer Repertory Theatre Changes Plans For Season

Three of the four plays originally announced for the Summer Repertory Theatre season have been changed due to casting difficulties.

The cycle, which will run from July 7 to 29, will feature four plays written within the last 50 years — "The Underpants" by Carl Sternheim, "A Thousand Clowns" by Herb Gardner, "A Slow Dance on the Killing Ground" by William Hanley, and the previously announced play, "The Fantasticks" by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt.

"The Fantasticks," the most successful off-Broadway show in American theater history, is a musical fantasy which tells of the carefree innocence of young love and the harassment the romance causes the fathers of the boy and girl involved. Based on "Les Romanesques" by French playwright Rostand, the play ranges from farce to near-tragedy.

Part Of Trilogy
"The Underpants," the first of a trilogy tracing the rise of a family through three generations, was called a "middle-class comedy" by the author.

An ironic and comic attack on middle class morality, the play is filled with hilarious caricatures and farcical situations. Sternheim, a German playwright, wrote this and several other plays between 1908 and 1920 to turn the spotlight on "the heroic life of the middle-class citizen."

"A Slow Dance on the Killing Ground," a serious drama which focuses on guilt and responsibility, takes place on the night of June 1, 1962, in a small store in Brooklyn and involves three characters — the 65-year-old store owner, a homeless Negro youth with a brilliant mind, and an independent university coed.

Made Into Movie
"A Thousand Clowns," a Broadway comedy which was made into a movie, is the story of Murray Burns, a bachelor left to raise his precocious nephew. A lovable but exasperating nonconformist, Murray is unemployed and likes his status until he receives the alternative — go back to work or give up the nephew.

"Clowns" satirizes the U.S. business establishment and its implications for the individual.

Cosmo A. Catalano, associate professor of dramatic art, will be director of the summer theater series, as well as of "A Thousand Clowns." He directed "Oh, What a Lovely War" last March.

Catalano, who joined the faculty last September, has done extensive work in summer stock theaters as well as directing drama groups at Ohio University and the University of Massachusetts, where he taught for several years.

Directors of the other summer productions will be Ed Sostek, instructor in dramatic art, "The Fantasticks"; David Schaaf, associate professor of radio-television-film, "The Underpants," and David Knauf, assistant professor of dramatic art, "A Slow Dance on the Killing Ground."

House GOP Cuts Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans, aided by some Democrats, finally succeeded Wednesday in a move designed to cut federal spending by five per cent during the fiscal year starting July 1.

They wrote it into the annual appropriation bill for the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the federal courts and the U.S. Information Agency. The amendment says none of the money may be spent after budgeted spending for the agencies involved reaches 95 per cent of what the administration had proposed.

Army Wipes Slate Clean For Major

WASHINGTON (AP) — They cleared the record Wednesday of Maj. Marcus A. Reno who fought at "Little Big Horn" and whose body has lain for 78 years in an unmarked, unmarked grave.

An Army Board said the conditions under which Reno found himself back in 1880, when he was dishonorably discharged, "were not conducive to producing 'plaster saints.'"

Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor ordered the adjutant general of the Army to correct the records of Reno to show that he was honorably discharged on April 1, 1880.

It means that the body of Reno, now in a Washington cemetery, may be moved to a national cemetery, where only the honorably discharged may be buried.

Charles Reno, 54, a New York City bartender who is a great-grandnephew of the major, told a news conference that he wants to rebury the major in Custer National Cemetery in Montana.

Group Plans Campaign For Kennedy

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Backers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) for president Wednesday called a news conference for Friday to announce plans to enter a Kennedy slate of delegates in the 1968 New Hampshire presidential primary.

Kennedy has disavowed the group's attempt to enter his name in the nation's first primary, next March. The New York-based group has organized chapters in Franklin and Hanover.

The group supports the New York Democrat for president and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) for vice president.

Dr. Martin Shepard of New York City heads the group that claims 2,300 members in 25 cities across the country. The organization opened a headquarters in a Manhattan store in March.

Monaural Records Given Price Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — Record buyers are going to have to pay as much for monaural records of Bach and the Beatles as they do for stereo, major record companies said Wednesday.

They added that monaural records soon may disappear altogether.

RCA Victor monaural record prices go up $1 Thursday, making them the same as stereo prices. Columbia Records will follow suit Monday, and Capitol Records July 1.

Alcoholism Plan Draws Controversy

DES MOINES (AP) — Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes said Wednesday he is going ahead with a pilot alcoholism project despite objections from Republican Atty. Gen. Richard Turner.

The two officials clashed at a meeting of the Iowa Executive Council, of which Hughes is chairman.

Turner said offices rented in six cities by the Iowa Comprehensive Alcoholism Project (ICAP) are being leased illegally, because there is no statutory provision for the project financed by $642,000 in federal anti-poverty funds.

Hughes Will Sign
The governor retorted he will ignore Turner's advice and make the rentals official "by signing the leases anyway as governor of this state."

Turner was asked by Hughes and the council to rule on legal form of rental contracts for office space in Waterloo, Davenport, Ottumwa, Fort Dodge, Council Bluffs and Sioux City.

The ICAP already occupies the office and is in business as part of the nation's first attempt under the anti-poverty program to aid alcoholics.

"I have grave reservations about the constitutionality of the alcoholism project," said the attorney general.

Replied Hughes: "I think I have as much legal ground to stand on as you do."

The governor asked the council not to approve or reject the rental contracts, and the Republican-dominated council did as he suggested.

Tried To Cooperate
"We have endeavored to be cooperative, but we cannot vote against an attorney general's opinion," said GOP Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst.

Hughes said differences between himself and Turner "could have to be resolved by state or federal courts."

Turner said after the meeting that the governor "is proceeding as an agent of the federal government" and not as an agent of the state of Iowa.

The attorney general added he will issue a written opinion soon on legality of the alcoholism project.

"I am going ahead with this program today," asserted Hughes. "We should have had his (Turner's) report two weeks ago. It is a matter of necessity for me to operate this program. I can't stop now."

Iowa Teams, Athletes Enjoy Winning Year

Sports competition for University teams for 1966-67 has ended except for a few June championship meets, with the Hawkeyes having a record of 88 victories, 61 defeats and one tie for all dual, triangular and quadrangular contests.

The teams had a mark of .591 for all contests. For events with Big 10 opponents, the mark was 47 wins, 42 defeats for .528.

Best rankings in Big 10 competition included championships in cross country (the team was unbeaten in all meets), basketball and outdoor track. Basketball and indoor track teams finished third; and baseball, golf and fencing teams fifth.

Record by sports: cross country 4-0; fencing 14-2; gymnastics 7-2; basketball 16-8; baseball 19-12-1; golf 5-3; indoor and outdoor track 5-3; swimming 4-4; wrestling 7-8; tennis 5-11 and football 2-8.

Kenneth Gordon, gymnast, and Lee Endsley, baseball shortstop, won awards for excellence in athletics and scholarship. Gordon from Skokie, Ill., has been awarded the Big 10 Medal of Honor, one of 10 given to scholar-athletes in the conference. Endsley, from Decatur, Ill., was given the Iowa Board in Control of Athletics cup.

Medal winner Gordon was the Big 10 side horse champion in 1966 and in 1967 was third in the NCAA event. He has twice been named an All-American.

Endsley was a sharp-fielding shortstop on the Iowa baseball team which placed fifth in the conference race.

Larry Wieczorek is the 1968 University of Iowa track captain and Ron Griffith is the leader of the 1967 cross country team, according to Coach Francis Cretzmeier.

Wieczorek, holder of the Iowa indoor and outdoor mile record with a best time of 4:05 made indoors at the NCAA championships, is from Maywood, Ill., and Griffith is from West Des Moines.

Both men also were members of the 1966 Iowa cross country team which won the Big 10 championship. They will be seniors next fall.

Nats Edge Angels

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-run homer by Ken McMullen and a three-run blast by Cap Peterson, both with two out in the third inning, carried the Washington Senators to a 6-3 victory over the California Angels Wednesday night.

Nick Willhite retired the first two batters in the third before Tim Cullen's infield single. McMullen followed with his third homer.

'Frisco Wins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jesus Alou's three-run homer and a two-run clout by Ollie Brown powered the San Francisco Giants to a 15-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday.

Both homers came off left-hander Bob Veale, who suffered his first loss of the season after six victories. Ron Herbel, who allowed one run in three innings of relief, was the winner.

Alou's homer highlighted a four-run, fourth inning rally that put the Giants ahead 5-3. Brown, hitting in his ninth straight game, connected in the fifth.

Yanks Win, 3-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Steve Whitaker whacked a two-run homer and reliever Dooley Womack checked a ninth-inning rally, pacing the New York Yankees to a 3-0 victory over Kansas City Wednesday night.

Right-hander Thad Tillotson, making his first major league start, blanked the A's on three hits until the ninth, when two more hits and a walk loaded the bases with one out.

Womack then came in from the bullpen and struck out Dick Green and Phil Roof, preserving Tillotson's second victory without a loss.

Whitaker slammed his third homer of the season with two out in the third after Ruben Amaro reached base on Bert Campaneris' error.

Bosox Hot

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski clubbed two home runs and reliever John Wyatt choked off an eighth-inning rally as the Boston Red Sox edged Minnesota 3-2 Wednesday night for their fourth straight victory.

Yastrzemski led off the fourth inning by drilling Twins starter Jim Perry's second pitch into the seats in dead center field for his ninth homer of the season. He led off the seventh with a drive into the Red Sox bullpen in deep right center.

Boston starter Darrell Brandon breezed along on a two-hitter before loading the bases in the eighth.

 IOWA CITY, IOWA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— A heart-breaking power failure just 7 1/2 miles from the finish by Parnelli Jones' revolutionary turbine racer swept Texan A. J. Foyt to his third 500-mile auto race victory in a wreck-jammed delayed running of the 51st motor classic Wednesday.

Weird Finish
 In an incredible windup to a bizarre race, which was postponed by rain after 45 miles Tuesday, Foyt—who had ostensibly settled for second place behind the record-smashing Jones — suddenly was handed victory when the sleek red turbine quit and limped into the pits.

Foyt, who previously won the 1961 and 1964 races, snaked through a spectacular five-car mobile stretch crackup on the last lap.

Foyt, who nudged ahead of Jones only twice during pit stops by the turbine, was clocked in a record average time of 151.207 miles per hour.

Foyt, who joined a select group of three-time Indy winners including Mauri Rose, Louis Meyer and Wilbur Shaw, broke the former record of 150.686 set by Scotland's Jim Clark in 1965.

Had Jones, whose wonder car suddenly was stricken by a broken gear box, been able to finish, the record would have been smashed by about an average of two or three miles per hour faster.

2nd Place
 Second place, as the red flag was immediately waved stopping the race after Foyt got the winning checker flag, went to Al Unser of Albuquerque, N. M.

Third was Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., followed by Denis Hulme, New Zealand, only survivor among the starting five foreign drivers.

Jim McElreath of Arlington, Tex., was fifth; Chuck Hulse, Los Angeles, sixth; Art Pollard, Medford, Ore., seventh; Bobby Unser, Al's brother, eighth; Bob Veith, San Lorenzo, Calif., ninth, and Carl Williams, Kansas City, 10th.

Foyt's share of an expected $700,000 total purse will be announced after a victory dinner, probably tonight. Last year's winner, Graham Hill of England, who had miserable luck and washed out of the race after 75 miles, collected $157,297 in 1966.

A total of 17 cars were forced out of the race as the yellow caution light, slowing the pace, flashed a whopping aggregate of an hour and four minutes.

The most spectacular crackup came at the weird finish with a spinning, smoking chain reaction pileup of five cars.

Jones' "silent sam" turbine relentlessly had re-written the Indy record book, lap after lap, until stunning breakdown.

OERTER BUSY — Al Oerter of the New York Athletic Club, the three-time Olympic discus title holder, will attempt a coast-to-coast double in the event this weekend, it was announced.

Oerter will participate in the Coliseum-Compton Relays in Los Angeles Friday night and in the NYAC meet in New York Saturday afternoon.

'Fans Told Me,' Says Champ Foyt

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race for the third time, saw victory suddenly materialize but then almost vanish as quickly in the last 4 minutes Wednesday.

"I figured there it goes," said Foyt when he saw five cars skid and crash in front of him on the final turn less than a mile from the checkered flag.

Onto Infield
Foyt said he slowed almost to a stop and drove onto the infield grass to get around the cars.

Foyt, 32, of Houston, Tex., said, "I knew I had the race won if I could just get back to the starting line."

Foyt, who had trailed Parnelli Jones most of the race, took the lead four laps from the end when the revolutionary turbine car of the Californian failed.

"The fans were the ones who told me," said Foyt, "I knew something had happened when the fans started waving me on."

The three-time champion had led briefly twice during the race when Jones went in for pit stops, but ran second the rest of the time. He said, "I just tried to set myself a good pace and that was all."

Foyt added, "Like I've always said, the race is 500 miles long."

2nd Surprise Win
It was the second time Foyt became a surprise winner in the closing minutes. He captured the rich race for the first time in 1967 when the late Eddie Sachs had to stop for a tire change with two laps to go. Foyt repeated his triumph in 1964.

Foyt said Jones success would cause him to change his own car design next year, but didn't offer any specifics. Mobbed in victory lane, he answered "I don't know, I'll talk to you all later."

Beauty queens and bag pipers surrounded Foyt in the swirl of victory. He received the traditional kisses and the sip of milk.

Gear Box Bearing
For want of a healthy gear-box bearing, the fastest race in 500-mile motor classic history was lost by Jones, the former Indy champion.

Jones, 1963 winner, who apparently had the 51st 500 race wrapped up in a fancy ribbon of record-breaking laps, was stunned but tight-lipped after his car stopped running less than four laps from the finish.

"I was fairly certain, as certain as you can be in the unpredictable race, that I would get the checkered flag," said Jones. "There were only four laps left and I was running very slow, taking no chances, as the yellow light was on. Then the trouble started without any indication of gear box failure."

Har-luck Andy Granatelli, president of the Studebaker's STP division who thought he had a cinch winner in the turbine entry, had only a technical explanation of the car's startling home stretch collapse.

"You all knew we had gear problems earlier this month here, but it was not the gears, it was a bearing failure in the gear box."

End Of Era?
The stunning turbine setback, which allowed Texan A. J. Foyt to surge his orange-red Coyote Ford to his third 500 triumph in seven years, may have collapsed a likely new Indy era.

Based on what the turbine showed running away from the field before its incredible breakdown, a groundswell was growing to prohibit or drastically modify future turbine contenders.

Both Granatelli, who had a string of Indy failures previously with his high-powered Novis, and Jones declined comment on the possibility of racing the turbine further this year, or if they would return for a 1968 try.

The glowing red turbine, with its 550-horsepower engine nestled alongside of driver Jones, swished almost silently to lap record after lap record with the rest of the snarling, roaring rear-engine rivals trailing in seemingly hopeless pursuit.

Yank Golfers Pacesetters In England

FORMBY, England (AP) — Downing Gray, Larry Hinson and John Kensek chalked up massive 7 and 6 victories Wednesday and led a nine-man American contingent into the last 32 of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Gray, of Pensacola, Fla., was one of seven American Walker Cup players left in the field. Experts were predicting that the title would travel West after Saturday's 36-hole final.

Hinson, a 22-year-old collegian from Johnson City, Tenn., and Kensek, an Army doctor from Buffalo, N.Y. were two dark horse survivors from the original entry of 37 Americans.

Smith Defeated
Gray defeated Lionel Smith of England; Hinson trimmed Noel Kelly of Ireland; and Kensek knocked out England's Peter Snodgrass.

But as the pay-off stages came, in this championship first competed for in 1855, the inside word was: Watch Dickson.

Bob Dickson, of Muskogee, Okla., won all his three matches in the Walker Cup and Wednesday defeated Rodney James of England 5 and 4.

Dickson had four birdies in his round over Formby's 6,854-yard, par 72 links, and wound up three under par without once missing a fairway.

The day started with 16 American survivors. Six were eliminated in the second round Wednesday morning. Another went out in the third round in the afternoon.

Other Winners
Besides Gray and Dickson other U.S. Walker Cup winners were: Ed Tutwiler, 47, Indianapolis, Ind., winner over Wally Webster, England, 2 and 1.

Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael, Calif., winner over Alastair Low, Scotland, 3 and 2.

Marty Fleckman, Houston who defeated Peter Benka, England, 3 and 2.
Bob Murphy, Nichols, Fla., victor over John Fisher, England, 4 and 2.
Jim Grant, Wethersfield, Conn., who defeated Dudley Milensted, England Walker Cupper, 4 and 3.

Series Hero Larsen Now Pitching AA Ball

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Don Larsen, who 11 years ago electrified the sport's world with a perfect game in the World Series, is playing his trade with Dallas-Fort Worth of the Class AA Texas League these days.

He has been with seven clubs since pitching that gem with the New York Yankees, twice falling down to the minors yet never below Class AAA until now.

But he isn't anywhere near being through with baseball.

"I'll pitch as long as my arm holds out," the big right-hander said Tuesday night after working

Stakes Eye On Prinkipo

NEW YORK (AP) — The word was out to beware of Prinkipo as a field of nine shaped up Wednesday for the 99th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Preakness winner Damascus rules the favorite ever Kentucky Derby hero Proud Clarion.

Who is Prinkipo that he should be rated a chance against such outstanding candidates for the 3-year-old division title as Damascus and Proud Clarion?

Dangerous Contender
"You'll find out Saturday," said one prominent trainer, who has such high respect for Prinkipo that he is sending his Belmont eligible elsewhere on Saturday. "He could be a real dangerous contender — plenty of speed and the breeding that says he'll go the distance."

The Belmont is run at 1 1/2 miles, longest of the Triple Crown series which also includes the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

"He's a right fair horse, and merits a chance," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Prinkipo.

"He is coming up to the race in top condition and the owner wants to run him, but whether he is a match for the likes of Damascus remains to be seen."

Prinkipo, who is owned and bred by Edgar Zantker, a Lexington, Ky., horseman, did not race as a 2-year-old. The bay gelding couldn't do better than second in his first four races.

Finds Formula
Then on May 3 he found the winning formula in a seven-furlong race at Aqueduct, scoring by 3 1/2 lengths. He was back five days later and won by eight lengths at 1 1/2 miles. In his outing on May 25 he again traveled 1 1/2 miles on an off track and romped home by 2 1/2 lengths. Each time he was ridden by Ernie Cardone, who'll be in the saddle again Saturday.

The race which, with nine starters, will have a gross value of $148,450 with $104,700 to the winner, $25,000 for second, $12,500 for third and $6,250 for fourth.

Post time will be 5:30 p.m. EDT with the CBS televising the race from 5:45 p.m.

New Rules Hurt Golfer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The rule makers of golf don't like Bob Duden's mallet-headed putter.

And if they outlaw it, the Portland golfer's business as well as his putting game will be ruined.

Committees of the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, have proposed that Duden's croquet-style putter and other unconventional styles be banned from the game.

The proposed rules, which would bar a man from standing astride the ball and from using a club with a straight-up shaft, would go into effect next January, if adopted. Adoption appears certain.

Duden, a PGA player and the Oregon medalist for U.S. Open qualifying, faces the hole and pushes the putter in front of himself.

He has a patent on the club and has sold 1,000 for $15.50 apiece.

5 1/3 innings of shutout relief. He didn't allow a run and fanned 10 El Paso batters.

"I would go on pitching in the minors even if I had all the money in the world and didn't need 'o play," he declared.

"Baseball has been good to me and I'm staying with it as long as I can go."

Then he hinted that he had his eyes on a return to the majors. He thinks he could do all right, especially in a relief role.

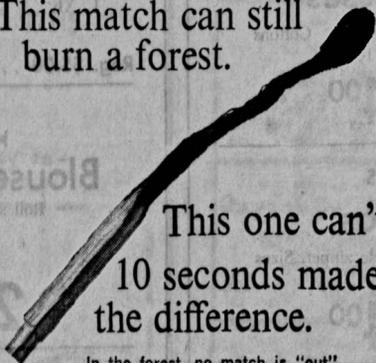

If what he has done here is a criterion, big Don may have something there.

He has appeared in three games, working 10 1/3 innings. He hasn't allowed a run or a walk, given up only four hits and struck out 16.

Tuesday night was his longest stint since joining Dallas-Fort Worth after being cut loose by Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League. Phoenix was making way for good young prospects. Larsen is now 37.

This match can still burn a forest.

This one can't. 10 seconds made the difference.

Pacem In Terris Conference Calls Viet War 'A Mistake'

GENEVA (AP) — An unofficial international conference called Pacem In Terris (Peace on Earth) ended Wednesday with the conclusion that the war in Vietnam is "at best a mistake."

Neutralization of Southeast Asia, and end to the cold war and the admission of Red China to the United Nations were also among the points summarizing the four-day session. They were listed in the closing statement made by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions of Santa Barbara, Calif.

This was the second conference sponsored by the center. Harry S. Ashmore, its executive vice president, emphasized that neither the conference nor the one in Geneva could be considered a "peace conference."

Hutchins listed 11 points on which he said the 365 participants from 70 countries were agreed:

1. The United Nations must be strengthened.
2. Its membership must be made universal — that is, Red China must be included.
3. The Vietnamese war is at best a mistake.
4. Southeast Asia must be neutralized.
5. The cold war must be ended.
6. Racial discrimination is intolerable.
7. Aid to poor countries should be given on a multilateral basis.
8. The poor countries are suffering from intolerable terms of trade — the low prices they get for their exports as opposed to the high prices they must pay for imports.
9. No military solutions are adequate for the problems of today.
10. No national solutions are adequate to the problems of today.
11. Coexistence between Communists and non-Communists is necessary but it is not enough.

Hoover Protests Statements Of Rights Leaders On Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover protested Wednesday that statements by civil rights leaders pinpointing cities where riots may occur this summer is an open invitation to hotheads and rabble-rousers to "move into action."

Hoover apparently referred to Stokely Carmichael, former head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The FBI director, however, did not mention either by name in making his comment in his monthly message to the June issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.

Dr. King has said the nation can expect trouble this summer in many cities, especially Cleveland, Ohio. Carmichael has made similar statements referring to Washington.

In the past, Hoover has often criticized the actions of Dr. King and Carmichael.

Hoover's new statement said riots and anarchic demonstrations which leave devastation and ruin in their wake place a tremendous burden on law enforcement officers.

House OKs School Bill

DES MOINES (AP) — Legislative action was completed by the Iowa House Wednesday on a bill to exempt certain college preparatory schools from Iowa's minimum school standards. The measure was sent to the governor 87-22.

Proponents of the bill said it was designed to exempt from school standards such schools as St. Catherine's in Davenport and the Scattergood School at West Branch, which have high academic ratings but do not meet state teacher certification standards in all cases.

Its application would be limited to college prep schools which send at least 80 per cent of their graduates on to recognized colleges or universities.

"If all schools met the standards set by St. Catherine's, we would have no problems," declared Rep. Elizabeth Shaw (R-Davenport).

Rep. Charles Grassley (R-New Hampton) sought to amend the measure to exempt all private and parochial schools from the law on minimum standards but the House voted 52-41 that the amendment was not germane.

Iowa Joins Drive To Probe Prices

DES MOINES (AP) — An assistant attorney general told the State Executive Council Wednesday that Iowa and eight other Midwest states have launched an investigation into alleged price fixing activities of several industries.

Roger Ivie, the assistant attorney general, also told the council he is unable to disclose publicly any details of the investigation.

Ivie was scheduled to meet privately with Gov. Harold Hughes later Wednesday to discuss efforts to determine whether the state, counties, and municipalities have been victims in a wide range of alleged price-fixing activities.

The council was told by Ivie that Iowa's long-standing anti-trust case against 21 oil and asphalt firms probably will not come to trial in U.S. District Court here until next year.

Cedar Falls Woman Given 3-Year Suspended Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George F. Knoop, who admitted to faking his own drowning to collect insurance and Social Security payments, was sentenced Wednesday to a maximum of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

His former wife, convicted in the same case, got off with a suspended sentence. But U.S. Judge E. Avery Cracy said Knoop will undergo a 90-day psychiatric examination, the results of which might modify his sentence.

Knoop, 34, pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to defraud the Social Security Administration, mail fraud to collect Social Security benefits and mail fraud to collect insurance premiums.

Also charged in the case was Knoop's former wife, Mrs. Janice McNelly, 25, Cedar Falls, Iowa. The couple collected a total of $23,000 in insurance and Social Security benefits after Knoop was reported drowned in Lake Mead, Nev., in 1964. The Knoops reportedly perpetrated the scheme to solve marital and financial difficulties.

Both partners remarried. Knoop, using the name John Deviland, moved to Inglewood, Calif., where he was arrested last January. He had been living only a few blocks away from relatives who thought he was dead.

Judge Cracy described the arrangement as a "weird proposition." In ordering the psychiatric examination, he described Knoop as "immature and still a little boy."

Mrs. McNelly, an attractive blonde, drew a three-year suspended sentence earlier Wednesday from Federal Judge Edward McManus in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Dancing Included In Arts Festival

By RACHAEL ROBERTS
The University Dance Theatre will participate with the other fine arts for the first time in the 29th annual Fine Arts Festival, June 12 to August 9.

The dance theatre will present concerts July 14-15 in Macbride Auditorium, under the direction of choreographers Angelika Gerbes and Linda Lee, graduate assistants, and Marcia Thayer, director of the dance theater and head of the dance school.

The theater, which was formed about six years ago under the title of Dance Club, was highly regarded by the late Earl E. Harper, founder and director of the Festival, Mrs. Thayer said.

Harper Backs Idea
At the conclusion of one of the theater's winter concerts, Harper told Mrs. Thayer, "I am going to do something about this," and he did.

He brought the idea of including the dance theater before the Fine Arts Committee last summer, and the members voted unanimously to feature the theater in its festival this summer.

The Festival Committee is dedicating this year's festival to the memory of Harper, who died last March.

Harper was former director of the School of Fine Arts and former director of the Union.

He was in partial retirement at the time of his death.

Himie Voxman, director of the School of Music, was appointed Harper's successor with the festival about three weeks ago.

Along with the dance theater's concert, the Fine Arts Festival will feature exhibits, music concerts, an opera, repertory plays, lectures and University radio programs.

Leon Volkov and Boris Goldovsky will be featured in the Summer Session Lecture series, which is under the chairmanship of Orville A. Hitchcock, professor of speech.

Volkov will speak on "The Great Schism Between Russian and China" June 20, and Goldovsky on "Piano Portraits" July 11.

The School of Art will feature a double exhibition of paintings and drawings by John Grille and Harold Baumbach, New York artists, June 12 to July 30.

Geologists To Participate
A "Geology of Iowa" exhibit, sponsored by the University Museum of Natural History, will present a large geologic map of Iowa to illustrate the distribution of pre-glacial rocks. Included will be characteristic fossils from the various rock units.

The organization and relationships within the major plant groups will be the subject of the museum's "Major Groups of the Plant Kingdom" exhibit.

Professor Walter C. Thietje, curator, said that the Museum would be open for visitors this summer from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, Sundays, it would be open from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Exhibits At Union
The Union will present six exhibits throughout the summer. From the George Binet Print Collection, the Union will feature the French Masters Art Exhibition Posters through June 16.

From June 17 to July 1, pottery by Karl Christiansen and Carl Sande will be on display. "Wall Hangings, Weavings, and Stitches," by David B. Von Dommelen will be featured June 17 to July 7.

Segy Gallery's "African Masks and Sculpture" will be on display in the Union July 3 to July 28, and photographs by John Schulze will be shown July 8 to July 31.

At its last exhibit, the Union will feature in August "Rock Paintings from Southern California."

The School of Music plans to give six concerts this summer.

On June 25 and June 30, the All State Music Camp Concerts will be presented in the Union.

On June 30 the University Symphony Orchestra will perform in the Union. The Iowa String Quartet plans to present its concert July 12, also in the Union.

Pianist William Dopman and violinist Charles Treger will give concerts July 19 and 26, respectively, in the Union.

The School of Music and the University Theatre will present the opera "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss early in August in Macbride Auditorium. The conductor will be Herald Stark, professor of music. George Gunkle, professor of speech, will be dramatic director.

4 Plays Scheduled
Four repertory plays are to be presented by the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art, under the direction of Arnold S. Gillete, professor of dramatic art.

The plays are: "The Fantasticks" by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt; "A Thousand Clowns" by Herb Gardner; "The Underpants" by Carl Sternheim; and "A Slow Dance on the Killing Ground" by William Hanley. Each play will be presented five times during the month of July.

Radio stations WSUI and KSUI will present musical, dramatic and literary program originating in their studios throughout the summer. Reviews of University programs will also be featured by the stations.

BABY DOLL ISN'T OBSCENE—MILAN, Italy (AP)—A resident complained that a baby doll—unmistakably male—offended public decency when it was placed on sale in this north Italian city. But a court ruled in favor of the doll, saying it was not offensive because "the innocence of a baby excludes obscenity."

Memorial Day Traffic Toll Reaches 608, Sets Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 608 persons in the nation during the long Memorial Day holiday weekend, a record for the holiday. The four-day toll compared with 560 traffic deaths during a nonholiday period of identical length two weeks ago.

Despite its record-shattering proportion, the holiday toll this year remained well below the 650 to 750 deaths which the National Safety Council estimated in advance might occur in the 102-hour period. The previous high for a Memorial Day weekend was 542, set during a three-day period last year.

Howard Pyle, president of the council, said his organization is "delighted to be proved wrong in its estimate by the American driving public."

Grand Jury Indicts Man For Murder

DES MOINES (AP) — A Des Moines man, released from jail to work during the daytime, was indicted by the Polk County grand jury Wednesday on charges of murdering a 17-year-old girl.

Ralph Reynolds, 43, was ordered held in the April 19 stabbing of Judy A. Corbin in a downtown hotel.

The defendant was sentenced last Dec. 7 to serve six months in jail for receiving and concealing stolen property.

Last Dec. 15 Judge Harry Perkins of Polk County District Court directed that Reynolds be released from jail between 6 and 4 p.m. daily to work as a fireman in the boiler room of the Hotel Chamberlain.

Art Building Exhibit To Feature Color Use

The use of strong colors is a common characteristic of paintings by two visiting artists which will be shown in an exhibition to open Sunday in the Main Gallery of the Art Building. But there the similarity ends.

Seventeen works by Harold Baumbach in the show are figurative in type, using color applied boldly, but with color modulations within a given area. Ten paintings and two collages by John Grillo to be shown feature geometric shapes, juxtaposing brilliant colors in sharply defined areas to produce an arresting effect.

Opening of the exhibition is scheduled for 4 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the Main Gallery. The show will run through July 30 as a feature of the summer Fine Arts Festival. The early opening was arranged to give students leaving at the end of the current semester and Commencement weekend visitors an opportunity to see the double exhibition.

Hours Given
Gallery hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Grillo's works will be shown on the second floor of the gallery, and Baumbach's will be on the first floor.

Grillo, who came to the University for the spring semester from positions on the faculties of Wagner College, Staten Island, N.Y., and the New School for Social Research, New York City, will teach at the University of Massachusetts in September.

Baumbach, who will be a visiting artist at the University during the summer session, is now a lecturer at Brooklyn College, New York.

Grillo, who completed all of his paintings in the current show during the second semester here, calls the works space landscapes. In presenting his images of space, he uses circles as a kind of representation of the cosmos.

He considers his works as "optical art" only in their composition. Color relationships are very important to him, he says, adding that he feels that one color should "bounce off" those adjacent to it. He explains that his works probably come out of an unconscious mathematical and organic way of thinking or feeling, and that he is trying to create an emotional effect by working indirectly.

Purchased By UI
One of Baumbach's earlier works, titled "Green Street," was purchased for the University's permanent collection of art a number of years ago. In a small street scene, the work is in lighter colors than paintings in the exhibition which will open Sunday.

A native of New York City, Baumbach studied at the Pratt Institute Art School in Brooklyn. His paintings now hang at the Brooklyn Museum, the Whitney Museum of Modern Art, the Chrysler Museum of Art, the Albright Art Gallery and in a number of university collections.

A native of Lawrence, Mass., Grillo studied at the Hartford School of Fine Arts and the California School of Fine Arts and with Hans Hoffman in New York. Grillo's works have been purchased by the Brooklyn Museum of Art, the Chrysler Museum, the Guggenheim Museum of Art, the Walker Art Center, the Los Angeles Museum and a number of other museums, colleges and corporations. His paintings also hang in a number of private collections in Europe, as well as in the United States.

Miller Sworn In By Iowa House

DES MOINES (AP) — Rep. Raymond J. Miller (R-Dubuque) was sworn in Wednesday as a new member of the Iowa House of Representatives.

He is the first Republican in many years to represent Dubuque County in the Iowa House.

Miller was elected at a special election Friday to fill out the unexpired term of the late Rep. Arnold Utzig.

Hanoi Reported Committing More Troops; Need Seen For Additional U.S. Buildup

HO CHI MINH Plans Watched

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. intelligence officers expressed belief Wednesday that President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam has recently committed all or parts of three new divisions to the Vietnam war. At full strength they would total about 35,000 men.

If the assessment is borne out and these troops are reinforcements rather than replacements for Communists felled in battle, enemy ranks in the south might rise appreciably above the estimated level of 286,000.

That could mean pressure for more American servicemen in Vietnam. Though conventional warfare marks much of the action in and around the demilitarized zone, the Communists retain guerrilla tactics and experts estimate it takes anywhere from 4 to 12 defenders to cope with one guerrilla.

At present there are 453,000 GIs in Vietnam, mainstay of allied forces totaling 1,113,000.

Neither South Vietnam nor the other allies seem willing or able to commit more men.

Test Warned
U.S. military leaders have been warning for some time that a time of testing is coming soon for the allied side.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland warned that bigger and bloodier battles are just around the corner.

One theory holds that the North Vietnamese nearly have concluded an experimental phase in which tactics were tested and discarded as the Hanoi high command sought an effective way to deal with the tough American troops and their massive artillery and air power.

The war undeniably has mushroomed since the first of the year. In the two northern corps areas alone, more than 10,000 Americans have been killed or wounded. This is more than 10 per cent of the total number of Americans assigned to combat roles, as opposed to clerks, supply men and other support troops.

Problem Faced
Nineteen Marine infantry battalions and 12 U.S. Army battalions essentially face the problem of dealing with an enemy force that may run as high as 63 North Vietnamese battalions. A more conservative estimate puts the number at 45 battalions. U.S. battalions usually run about half again as large as North Vietnamese units.

A large number of U.S. troops are tied down in static defense roles protecting their bases and lines of communication.

The U.S. Command has listed three North Vietnamese divisions in and around the demilitarized zone. It estimated the strength of these units at 35,000 troops.

Peace Unit Holds Survey On Vietnam

The Citizens Committee Against the War in Vietnam, a newly formed group, is conducting a survey of University faculty and staff opinion on the war. A city-wide canvass will follow.

The committee's other proposed programs include a speakers' bureau, a tape-recording library and information center and a subcommittee to monitor and respond to broadcast editorials, newspaper articles and letters to the editor.

Officers for the 25-member committee are: James F. McCue, assistant professor of religion, coordinator; Burns H. Weston, assistant professor of law, assistant coordinator; Lyell D. Henry, Jr., project director of the Graduate College, treasurer; Mrs. Hugh Dingle, secretary; and Lawrence E. Barrett, WSUI program assistant, public information director.

The mailing address of the committee is P.O. Box 125, Iowa City.

2 Complex School Aid Plans Given Airing By Senate

DES MOINES (AP) — Sitting as a committee of the whole, the Senate heard two complex school aid plans explained Wednesday without acting on either.

No debate of the proposals was allowed, but Majority Leader Andrew Frommelt (D-Dubuque) said they will be called up for debate after senators mull them over a few days.

One proposal, called the proportionate sharing plan, came to the floor Wednesday as a bill introduced by the Senate Education Committee.

A committee member, Sen. Joseph Cassidy (D-Walcott) said it would have the state bear 40 per cent, rather than the present approximately 13 per cent, of the cost of operating local schools.

State aid would be distributed on a formula based on the market value of property and the gross income of citizens in the district. No district would get more than 70 per cent nor less than 15 per cent of its expenditures from the state.

Based on a statewide 40 per cent average, it would mean distribution of an additional $100 million a year in state aid.

Rep. Leroy Petersen (R-Grimes) outlined a plan which the House has passed and which bears his name as chief architect.

It would have the state pay an average of 41 per cent of local school costs. Estimates were no more than half nor less than 30 per cent of its operating costs from the state.

Also slated for eventual Senate debate is a bill passed by the House to increase sales and income taxes to finance the Petersen plan.

Calcutta Accidents Show Decrease

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — The accident rate is falling in the narrow, crowded streets of this Indian city. There were 17,135 traffic accidents involving 237 deaths last year, compared with 17,504 accidents and 257 deaths in 1965.

Probe Into Drug Prices Prescribed By Gardner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner established Wednesday a high level task force on prescription drugs and ordered it to recommend in six months whether the medicare program should be broadened to include the cost of prescription drugs.

Gardner appointed Dr. Philip R. Lee, assistant secretary of welfare, to head the task force. "For many older Americans the cost of needed drugs prescribed by a physician is a heavy burden, representing 15 to 20 per cent of their medical care costs," Gardner told a news conference.

"Man older Americans," he added, "find themselves with limited financial resources at the very time that age brings an increasing incidence of chronic diseases and greater needs for medical care, including prescription drugs."

Youth's Family Rail Merger Plans Rejected

CHICAGO (AP) — The family of a Negro youth beaten to death by four white youths filed two lawsuits seeking a total of $135,000 damages.

The Town of Cicero and several of its officials were named defendants. Jerome Huey, 19-year-old junior college student, was beaten to death in Cicero, a western suburb of Chicago, last year.

Rail Merger Plans Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission rejected Wednesday proposals for consolidation of two pending railroad merger proceedings.

It said the consolidation, proposed in a series of petitions, would "serve no useful purpose at this time." There has been no final decision in either of the pending cases.

Farm Bureau Head Hits Government Tactics

DES MOINES (AP) — The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation accused the Johnson administration Wednesday of using government employees to combat any change in farm programs.

Charles B. Shuman spoke to some 300 delegates at the mid-year conference of the Iowa Farm Bureau. He said the administration kicked off its drive to retain present farm price supports at a recent Washington meeting of members of state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service committees.

Farm Bureau Head Hits Government Tactics

Shuman noted Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman at that meeting used the term "demagogue" to describe opponents of current government farm policies.

Change in farm policy is to be labeled a 'demagogue'...

"If this is to be a battle between the administration's farm program payrollers and farmers I know on which side the Farm Bureau will fight."

Getting Books Takes Money But is Worth It

EDITORS NOTE: This is the first of a three-part series on books and book collecting at the University.

By TOM FENSCH
To be a good book collector, one must have knowledge of his subject, unflagging interest, discretion and, of course, money.

To specialize in slavery, for instance, or the history of the pipe organ in medieval literature, are the three $100 winners in the recent University Book Prize Contest did, takes time, money and determination.

To be interested in poetry and poetry criticism, chess, history of pharmacy and Carl Jung, as other winners in the book contest did, takes time.

A specialized collection on one subject is not built overnight. In most cases, it takes several years to build an exceptional collection in one area of study.

But the cost, which is hard to determine, is worth every penny to the collector. When he has finally exhausted all possible sources and has every possible volume, his collection is well worth the effort.

Cultivating a specialized collection may take the collector to Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland or New York. Rare volumes usually are not purchased through the mail. Therefore trips to book stores in larger cities are a necessity for collectors.

But there is one specialized collection that can be assembled on this campus with a little time and effort that is well worth the effort.

That is, a collection of autographed volumes written by University faculty members and visiting lecturers.

Most volumes by University writers are available here.

This reporter has such a collection, gathered over the last two years. All the volumes are autographed by the respective authors. They include:

Novelists Nelson Algren, author of "The Man with the Golden Arm," who was a visiting lecturer in the Writers Workshop last year; Richard Yates, author of "Revolutionary Road" and "Eleven Kinds of Loneliness"; satirist Kurt Vonnegut Jr. and Vance Bourjaily, whose novel "The Man Who Knew Kennedy" is a current best-seller.

Poets Paul Enloe, past director of the Writers Workshop, author of several volumes of poetry; George Starbuck, author of "White Paper," James Tate, author of "The Los Pilot"; and Marvin Bell, author of "Things We Dream We Died For".

Visiting lecturers: Tom Donaghy, author of "The Cornucopia"; and P. N. Santos, author of several novels.

Guest lecturers such as Allen Ginsburg, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Galway Kinnel, Saul Bellow and Donald Finkel.

With a little effort, one can keep track of writers appearances on other campuses in the vicinity. In the past year, Truman Capote's author of "In Cold Blood" Tom Wolfe, author of "The Kandy-Kolored Tangerine Flake Streamline Baby" have appeared at Coe College in Cedar Rapids.

There are some "round rules for autograph collecting": Do not disturb the writer during a class, or when he is busy with someone else.

Try not to bother him at his home. His free time should be off-limits.

Be polite. Furnish your own pen.

Don't reveal your own ignorance: "Gee, I haven't read the book, but I'll get to it any day now..." that makes the writer wonder why you want it autographed.

Writers are usually happy to autograph their own books. It helps them to know that there is actually some one "out there" who reads their books.

This kind of a collection is easily built and very interesting. Try it. Only don't troop over to the same writer all at once and tell him I sent you.

Cornell Fears Campus Fires

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A fire of suspicious origin, the third in two months involving high-ability students, wrecked a private home near the Cornell University campus Wednesday.

"This is just too much coincidence," Fire Chief Charles M. Weaver said after the fire at the three-story, frame home, where nine students were living.

Seven of the students, members of the special Ph.D. program, were moved to the home after a fire April 5 at a university residence hall killed nine persons.

Four of the victims in that fire at the Cornell Heights Residential Club were members of the special, shortened program leading to a doctorate degree.

The cause of that fire was not determined.
