Party Transformed Into Riot Watch

DETROIT — Gunfire doesn't crackle, it bangs. And fear isn't cold. It's hot and sticky, and it makes you sweat.

I know because I spent Sunday and part of Monday morning holed up in an apartment at West Chicago and Linwood with a young married couple and a photographer friend in the heart of the Detroit riot area.

What started as a peaceful wedding reception for the young newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. David Welsh, in their small three-room apartment at 2700 W. Chicago turned into a tense, all-night siege.

The apartment is at the northwest corner of Chicago and Linwood, only about six blocks from the point where the riot started.

From behind the shade in a rear window we watched men, women, teenagers and children carrying clothes, liquor, television sets and food — presumably taken from nearby stores — into the apartment building across the alley.

And we saw things carried out of that building, too — like a rifle and cans of gasoline being toted out and loaded into a car with no license plates.

At night, I climbed to the roof of the building. Six major fires surrounded us and made a perfect circle. It looked like the whole city was burning.

After dark we saw two fires, one northeast and one southwest, that appeared to be entire blocks of flame, pulsing against the night sky like heartbeats.

We saw these things through the window. We didn't go outside after dark because we were afraid of sniper fire.

From a building less than three blocks away, flames were shooting 60 feet high. Confusion was rampant. Once in a while in the later afternoon, we spotted a white man or woman among the looters.

A middle-aged Negro man with glasses and Bermuda shorts asked me what was going on.

A white woman trying to doze nonchalant and carry on a normal Sunday afternoon walked her baby in a stroller back and forth in front of our building, but only three blocks away firemen were abandoning their equipment and fleeing under apparent attack.

It's a strange feeling to be sitting in the center of a riot and not to know what is really happening.

The wedding party started at about 2 p.m., and we didn't discover that we were in a riot zone until about 5 p.m. We saw smoke, but we thought it was just a fire.

We called the police in an attempt to measure our chances of evacuating and were told streets were blocked in three directions. Later the fourth direction was blocked.

Most of the 30 guests had left by 5 p.m., never realizing there was a riot. They were mostly out-of-towners and had to leave early. We stayed.

We thought of trying to leave in the evening, but because of the gunfire and rioting we thought it better to sit tight. So we sat in front of the television to learn what we could about the rest of the city. And at times we ventured out onto the front porch to check things in the neighborhood.

Most residents of the apartments had left in early afternoon. A white man about 21 years old guarded our door with a .22-caliber rifle.

Two others clumped the halls with a pistol, knives and clubs. In some ways we were more afraid of what they were doing to provoke an attack than we were of the rioting in the streets.

The 9 p.m. curfew had no effect in our area. The sound of breaking glass, shouts, gunfire and people running through the alley kept us awake almost all night.

We knew from news reports that there were tanks in the neighborhood. We didn't see any, but we could hear them rumbling through the nearby streets.

In the midst of all the violence, there were some who tried to be funny. Three teenagers painted the face on a statue of Christ on the lawn of the Sacred Heart Seminary on the southwest corner of Chicago and Linwood.
The color of the painted face was brown.

Nasser Sounds Call For Long, Slow Struggle

BEIRUT (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser has sounded a call for a long, slow struggle against Israel, with only one faint note for a peaceful settlement.

Most of the Arab press and radio in the Middle East emphasized the need for unremitting conflict with Israel in the Egyptian president's speech Sunday calling for belt tightening for a "long difficult road."

Only the moderate newspaper Al Jarida, in Lebanon, seized on Nasser's one gesture toward a peaceful end to the Middle East crisis.

Nasser's Speech Interpreted

It headlined: "Abdel Nasser Says Diplomacy First and Then War." It interpreted him as saying: "War is not the only way to reach a settlement, but if war is inevitable, we must not expect a quick one."

The one conciliatory note was lost.

De Gaulle Goes Campaigning In Rural Quebec

THREE RIVERS, Que. (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle carried his message of French Canadian separation into rural Quebec Monday, whistle-stopping through thunderstorms and humid weather like a candidate running for election.

"French Canada is a country which wants to be its own master," he told crowds along his 168-mile motorcade route. "This is indispensable today."

De Gaulle, who is headed for Expo 67, had seven stops on his schedule on the drive from Quebec, the provincial capital, to Montreal.

The Quebec government had made efforts to drum up popular enthusiasm for De Gaulle's passage. There were predictions that great masses would line the highway and congregate in the towns. But, perhaps because of the rainstorms and sticky heat, the turnouts did not measure up to the forecasts.

In St. Lawrence Valley, Quebec, he stopped at Daniel Johnson's National Union party brought people from the countryside in hired buses to see De Gaulle. Yet the turnout was only 600, almost half of them children. They huddled under umbrellas as a thunderstorm hit.

Reaction to De Gaulle varied. One woman said she had come to see him because he was "a historical figure."

A teenage girl remarked, "My, isn't he old!" De Gaulle is 76.

When it wasn't raining, he rode with the top down on his car. The route passed grazing cattle, green hayfields, gaudy souvenir stands and frame houses with the Monday washing hanging in the yards.

There were ample reminders of official preparations for De Gaulle; every telegraph pole along the way was dressed with a cardboard insignia of French or Quebec provincial flags.

Romney To Address Iowa City GOP Dinner

Michigan Gov. George Romney will be guest speaker at a Republican fund raising dinner here Oct. 7.

Marion Neeley, chairman of the Johnson County Republican Central Committee, said Monday that arrangements for the meeting were confirmed during the week-end by Robert Ray of Des Moines, state Republican chairman.

Neeley said that the date and location of the event would be decided later. He said the dinner would raise funds for the county Republican treasury.

on officials in Israel, who said it could be considered limited toward any Mid-eastern settlement in Nasser's speech.

"Nasser emphasizes determination to war," headlined the Beirut newspaper Al Anwar.

Cairo's press talked of "military and popular rebuilding" and "continuation of the struggle is the only answer."

The Syrian government's Radio Damascus stressed the fighting spirit of Nasser's words. Radio Baghdad in Iraq applauded the speech as rallying the Arab world.

Speaking in Cairo on the 15th anniversary of the day his secret band of officers overthrew King Farouk and started the 1952 Egyptian revolution, Nasser ruled out the possibility of surrendering to Israel. He stressed the need for rebuilding the army, tightening Egypt's political structure, and preparing for hardship.

He said Egypt was continuing political and diplomatic efforts — possibly a hint that some solution other than war could be found in the confrontation with Israel.

Condemnation Is Mild

Nasser's condemnation of the United States was milder than had been expected. He said Cairo had not ruled out diplomatic contacts with Washington.

While Nasser let up on the United States, there was no relenting in the anti-U.S. campaign in Syria.

Foreign Minister Ibrahim Makhos charged in Damascus that the United States was "pushing the world into a perilous juncture" by blocking U.N. action on the Middle East.

In a statement, issued on his arrival from the U.N. session in New York, Makhos accused the United States of exerting "massive pressure" to hamper the passage of "any positive solution" to the Middle East crisis at the U.N. General Assembly.

BUCHAREST (AP) — Romania served notice to the Kremlin Monday that it would hew to its independent course despite Soviet pressure to abandon its doctrine of national communism.

Nicolae Ceausescu, the nation's Communist party chief, spelled out the doctrine in a foreign policy declaration that sounded like an invitation to other East European regimes to follow the Romanian example.

Speaking before the National Assembly, Ceausescu listed basic differences between his party and the Russians in interpreting Marxist-Leninist tenets from the Warsaw Pact to Middle East policies. On the latter, he proclaimed Romania's recognition of Israel's right of existence and warned the country would not support any Arab effort to destroy Israel in any new war.

Ceausescu coupled a promise that Romania would fulfill its obligations toward the Warsaw Alliance with a standard plea for abolition of both the Atlantic Alliance and the Warsaw Pact, and withdrawal of all troops from foreign territory. This meant the Americans and British in the West and the Russians in Hungary and East Germany.

Just how Romania could "help to strengthen" the pact's defense capacity, as Ceausescu put it, was anybody's guess, considering Romanian membership exists only in theory.

One of the highlights of Ceausescu's 2½-hour speech was sharp criticism of Arab policies in the Middle East crisis.

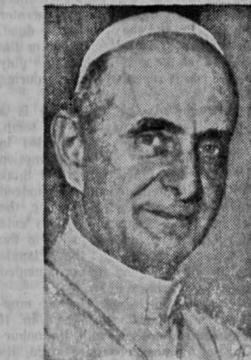

While backing the demand for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories, Ceausescu said Romania must "honestly tell our Arab friends" that it disagreed with those who would risk a new war to destroy Israel.

POPE PAUL VI Visits Turkey Today

Hard-Hit Turkey Hikes Papal Flag For Pope's Visit

ISTANBUL (AP) — The Turkish government ordered papal flags hoisted Monday to give Istanbul a festival touch when Pope Paul VI arrives today on his fifth trip abroad since his coronation in 1963.

Despite the sadness of a disastrous quake that hit towns and cities of western and central Turkey Saturday, the government sped preparations for the first visit of a pope to Turkey.

President Ceydet Sunay and Premier Suleyman Demirel, who will meet the pope in Istanbul, journeyed Sunday to Adapazari, a city of 110,000 near the center of the quake. Officials said the known death toll was nearing 100.

Pope Paul is coming to this Moslem nation primarily for a meeting with Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox, to discuss church unity.

He will see the patriarch after a meeting with Sunay. He and Patriarch Athenagoras will pray together later in the ancient St. George Orthodox church.

The staff of the patriarch polished the worn and rutted marble floor of St. George's church, which is next to the 81-year-old prelate's apartment quarters in the Fener district of Istanbul.

Gls Sent To Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson sent nearly 5,000 federal troops into the Detroit area Monday and pledged any other aid needed to put down two days of flaming riot which have claimed 15 lives.

Injuries neared the 1,000-mark, and riot losses were estimated at $150 million in 100 destroyed or damaged city blocks. Almost 500 fires had been reported — more than 100 of them since noon Monday.

Federal officials said Monday night, however, that they had decided not to use the paratroopers unless the situation worsens. Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said he thought it was a bad decision.

Mayor Is Hopeful

"I certainly see some hopeful signs," the mayor told a news conference. "But I still share the conviction that I would like to see the commitment of federal troops at this time."

In Washington, the Republican party's top policymaking council, which includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said of racial upheaval in the nation:

"We are rapidly approaching a state of anarchy and the President has totally failed to recognize the problem."

Democratic congressional leaders came out of a session with Johnson at the White House flailing back at the GOP.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen: "It is time for Democrats and Republicans to face up to these issues not as members of parties but as Americans first."

Elsewhere on the nation's racial scene, trouble or its aftermath occupied the attention of authorities in such widely separated cities as New York, New Britain, Conn., Minneapolis, Cairo, Ill., and Tucson, Ariz.

Conference Ends

In Newark, N.J., scene of wild Negro rioting earlier in the month, a black power conference came to an end over the weekend with a string of resolutions that would, in effect, set up a black-oriented society distinctly antiwhite, anti-Christian and anti-racist in tone.

Some of the nearly 1,000 delegates termed the conference the start of "the black revolution."

In East Harlem a mob of more than 1,000 Puerto Ricans burned and looted along an 18-block stretch of Spanish Harlem Monday night and police reported one man killed and two others wounded by gunfire.

In the third straight night of disturbances in the heavily Puerto Rican area along upper Third Avenue, firebombs were hurled, police were pelted with bottles and a taxicab was overturned and set afire.

President Johnson moved troops into the Detroit area as more than 7,000 National Guardsmen, Michigan State Police and Detroit policemen braved sniper fire to restore order to some sections of the nation's fifth largest city.

A police raid on a Negro night spot before dawn Sunday was cited as the spark that touched off Detroit's worst riot since 1943, when 34 persons died.

Curfew Imposed

Gov. George Romney decreed a state of emergency in Detroit, imposed a curfew, halted all sales of intoxicants, closed theaters and shut down 3,000 service stations, in an attempt to cut off the sale of gasoline to rioters.

Most business in Detroit came to a halt at Romney's request.

New York's Republican mayor John V. Lindsay met with Puerto Rican leaders Monday in an effort to prevent new disturbances in Spanish Harlem. Two nights of bottle-throwing, window-smashing and a store looting were confined to the area, and did not spread to Negro Harlem, scene of a 1964 riot.

New Britain, Conn., was reported calm after two nights of scattered rock-throwing incidents in Negro areas. Helmeted police managed to keep things pretty well in hand, barricading five blocks and dispersing unruly Negroes.

After one false start, Mayor Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis scheduled a general public meeting with Negroes there to air their grievances. "We mainly want to listen," the mayor said.

In Pontiac, Mich., looters and arsonists struck Monday night. Isolated shooting was reported throughout Pontiac's south side.

Police Chief William Hanger said arsonists have set a dozen buildings ablaze.

Union should investigate

There have been a substantial number of articles in The Daily Iowan recently criticizing various aspects of the Union. Most of them have occurred as letters to the editor, although two of Sue Rickel's recent Weekend Wanderings columns have satirized the Union. Most of the criticism has been directed at the Union food services, specifically in the River Room.

The complainers say that the prices of the food in the River Room have increased substantially while the servings have decreased in size and quality. A boycott of the Union food services has been suggested.

Considerable pressure has been applied to staff members of The Daily Iowan to lead and support such a boycott. The staff, as a group, has resisted this pressure for lack of knowledge on the subject.

The problem is that most of the staff members have been boycotting the Union food service for a long time — that is, they have seldom used it. Because of this, they have not personally experienced the problems the complainers say exist.

However, the complainers (including many people who haven't boycotted their complaints in The Daily Iowan) have been sufficiently reliable and numerous to convince most of the staff that their complaints deserve attention and the situation should be looked into. The new director of food services at the Union Iowa House has promised such an investigation.

There are a number of things that should be determined: Has there been a substantial increase in food prices? What has this increase been? What reasons are there for the increase? Have food servings been decreased in size? Why? Has the quality of the food being purchased and prepared been lowered? Why? How do the food prices and serving sizes compare with those in nearby restaurants and other student unions?

The problem of service should also be examined. When the State Board of Regents was in town last month at least one regent was substantially inconvenienced by the service of the Union food service and was late to a meeting because of it.

Staff members of The Daily Iowan would like to have the newspaper conduct an impartial investigation to find out about these matters. But we can think of no scientific way for us or any other outside group to do so.

Data for the comparison of the above and explanations for changes can only be obtained from food service or Union officials. And the impartiality of these sources can be fairly questioned. However, it will be good business for these sources to make an honest and objective study of the situation and to present a complete report of their findings to the patrons of the Union food service, via The Daily Iowan. For if the patrons are not satisfied with the report, no organized boycott of the food service will be necessary — it will come automatically.

In the meantime, if the patrons of the food service are not satisfied, there is nothing to keep them from going elsewhere to eat. If the report is not complete, logical, explanatory and seemingly fair, pressure should be applied to the University administration to see that proper and practical changes are made to insure an efficient use of the food facilities in the Union. Bill Neubrough

Negroes need leadership

The front page of Saturday's edition of The Daily Iowan included four stories about Negroes. Had there been enough space, there probably would have been more. Whether it is a riot in Minneapolis, Detroit or Waterloo or an interracial marriage in Tennessee, a black power conference in Newark or an NAACP convention in Boston — Negroes are making news.

Little of the news is good. That is because good things don't make news. Reporters have a vested interest in controversy, and there is nothing more controversial than a riot. The quiet, painful business of achieving racial equality does not make for headline news.

It is therefore difficult to keep things in perspective. It is easy to forget that a Negro soon will sit on the Supreme Court when one watches television films of Negro women casually looting shops.

The so-called white press has a legitimate interest in Negro activities and, for the most part, has reported the news in an objective, restrained manner.

That is why the efforts of the black power advocates to keep newsmen away from their Newark convention strike me as foolish and dangerous. It is unseemly for a young Negro rabble rouser to order a New York Times reporter to leave a meeting via a window. It is obvious that many of the black power delegates sought nothing more than to attract attention to themselves, so why should they turn away reporters?

The answer, I suppose, is because the press is a convenient whipping boy. It gives a frustrated demagogue a feeling of power to be able to exclude a reporter. After all, the reporter represents the white establishment, and if he is foolhardy or brave enough to pay attention to a convention of hot heads, why not be assertive and kick him out?

The tragedy of the Newark conference, in my opinion, was not that the press was rudely treated, for that is commonplace. What was so obviously missing was leadership. To stand on a chair and shriek slogans about whiteness is not to lead, but to follow — to follow the most hateful and destructive instincts born of slavery and indignity.

The notion that white society must be destroyed in order to achieve equality of opportunity is revolutionary, and was correctly labeled as such by the black power advocates. But the United States is not the Russia of the Czars, and the machinery for evolution, not revolution, is effective and cherished in this country. The special problems of the Negro notwithstanding, colored people can be integrated into our society just as thoroughly as the Irish, Polish and other immigrants were.

But the Irish, Polish and other immigrants had leaders. So do the Negroes, it's true, but the Roy Wilkinses, Martin Luther King and A. Philip Randolphs did not attend the Newark meeting.

The young militants had only to look to a cynical and untrustworthy man like Adam Clayton Powell for leadership. And Powell copped out.

A child, when deprived of parental guidance, rebels against the vacuum. He lashes out at whatever there is to represent authority. He may kick a newsman out of his secret club, but what he really needs is the discipline of responsibility. Gordon Young

By ART BUCHWALD
WASHINGTON — Last week, the House of Representatives voted down an Urban Control Bill by a vote of 207-176. The bill, which would have provided $20 million a year for the eradication of rats in slums, was a victory for U.S. rodent lovers who have been militantly fighting any legislation to control rats in the United States.

Elated over the vote was Walter Ferret, lobbyist for the National Rat Assn., who said, "Congress' vote against rat control has spoken for the majority of the American people who are getting fed up with the government dictating to them whether they should have rats or not. The Constitution provides that everyone shall have the right to keep rats in his home, and the NRA has been leading the fight to protect this constitutional guarantee."

"But don't you feel that rats are dangerous and can cause a great deal of trouble?"

"This is the propaganda put out by the antirat people. Most rats are safe and give pleasure to people. The few rats who cause all the trouble cannot be controlled by legislation. I see no reason why the American people should be deprived of rats just because there is an occasional rat incident that makes the headlines."

"Sir, one of the criticisms made by people asking for strong antirat legislation is that it is so easy to get rats these days. All you have to do is leave your garbage pail open overnight and you can have rats the next morning. Don't you think some laws should be made so rats won't get into the homes of innocent people?"

"I'd like to make the policy of the NRA very clear on this point, because our position has been so distorted in the press. The National Rat Assn. is not opposed to every law aimed at trying to control rodents. We are only opposed to those laws that would eradicate all rats in the United States, just because some people don't like rats."

"We would support a bill in Congress that would keep rats from getting into the home of the wrong people. We think the police and local law enforcement agencies should be strengthened and that the rat problem should be turned over to them. The penalties for misusing rats should be meted out to those antisocial elements in our society who have given honest rat fanciers a bad name. We can't lose sight of our history because of the hysteria of the do-gooders and the bureaucrats who think they can solve every problem through federal law."

"This country has had rats since it was founded. There have been rats with the armed forces in every way; we have had rats in the Capitol and even in the basement of the White House. You kill all the rats in America and you'll leave this nation naked and defenseless. Congress in its wisdom has seen fit not to fool with the rodent population of the United States and for this reason I can only say, 'God bless our rat-loving legislators.'"

"That's a little strong, isn't it, Mr. Ferret?"

"It's not strong enough. We won this year but you can be sure we'll be under attack again next year. So I can't rest on my lobbying victory."

"Do you have any message for the American people?"

"Just this. Whenever anyone starts talking to them about antirrat legislation, I wish they would keep the NRA slogan in mind: 'The rats you save may be your own.'"

Today's Union movie a conversation piece

By ALLAN ROSTOKER
For The Daily Iowan

Alain Resnais' "Last Year at Marienbad," this week's Tuesday Union Movie, is, if nothing else, a conversation piece. There seems to be no satisfactory explanation of what the film is about. Playing the Marienbad game (offering your own interpretation) was a favorite parlour sport the year the picture was first released.

No real plot summary is possible but the apparent main line of action of the film is the attempt of the narrator to convince a woman that they met and had an affair last year (at Marienbad or some other resort) and that he has come back a year later as she wished to take her away with him. The woman is staying at a hotel with a man who may be her husband, and so the film may be described as a romantic triangle of an unusual sort. Whether the narrator and the woman meet seems to be far less important than the attempt of the narrator to convince the woman that they did meet and so to impose his reality upon her and the film.

This much of the film seems clear. But it emerges slowly. The film has its own logic but no chronology in the ordinary sense. The apparent (apparent because it may all take place in the characters' minds in the present) shifts in time flow one after another. Differences in costume and the exposure of the film are two of the ways that apparent differences in time are marked. Continuous divergence between what is said by the narrator and what is seen on the screen creates a tension between the word and the image. The narrator's own story pieces itself together only over the course of the entire film. To add further to the confusion there are distinct possibilities that the narrator is mad, that he and the woman are dead, or that the film takes place in one or the other's mind at the performance of a play whose dialogue is repeated by them during the film.

The scene of all this ambiguity is a baroque hotel where conversations seem, in the narrator's words, "suspended in space" and where any excessive emotion would seem out of place. One might think of it as a hotel of the dead, and indeed the narrator seems to be offering the woman an escape from an eternally cold world. Yet the tremendous tension in the film lies in playing out the triangle against the background of ornamented cupids on the wall.

A use of restraint to show intense emotion is evident everywhere in the film. It is in Resnais' direction with its unhurried, formal, almost obsessive pace, its brilliant tracking shots over the hotel interior, its imagination, its use of a musical score and a performance as stylized as its presentation of the character's memory. This is exemplified by a use of overexposure when the narrator describes the woman's surrender to him, almost subliminal flash cuts, and a contrast of black and white when the woman is forced to remember her own quite different version of the same scene.

There can be no doubt about the film's artistry, visual beauty and sophistication. Its emotion effect is not so certain and it can be guaranteed to infuriate some and alienate others with its apparent coldness. Apparent because I find a tremendous intensity within its rigid and formal design. "Last Year at Marienbad" is finally more than a conversation piece. It is, at least for me, a haunting and unique experience.

HSP senator replies to letter from Varner

To the Editor:
May I remind Mr. Varner that the sole purpose of the Hawkeye Student Party is not to harass the Establishment, but to co-operate in order to inspire action in the Student Senate, something which is not seen around it very often. Also, as in any other organization, the opinions of one member do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the others.

Any other improvements Mr. Varner may have will be more than welcome at the next HSP meeting in the fall.

Hot Putter Helps As January Wins PGA Tournament

DENVER, Colo. — Don January broke an 11-year playoff jinx with a dazzling putting exhibition Monday and beat fellow Texan, Don Massengale, by two strokes in their duel for the 49th PGA Golf Championship.

January shot a three-under-par 69, Massengale 71.

They surpassed some of the game's leading stars, including Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, Sunday to tie for the crown at 231.

Spraying his shots and hacking from rough to sand bunkers, the 37-year-old January fell two strokes behind through the first five holes. He stayed alive with some magnificent putting.

Then he rallied to even the duel at the par five eighth, running in a 30-foot putt from the fringe to go ahead — to stay — at the 199-yard, lake hole 10th.

He rolled in a tricky 12-foot footer after Massengale's 20-foot birdie putt at the 550-yard 12th hole and matched his rival with another birdie putt at the 14th.

The back-breaker for Massengale came at the 15th where January, after a tremendous drive of nearly 300 yards, ruffed a wedge to within three feet of the hole. He then sank the putt for his fifth birdie of the day.

The two parred the short 16th, shared bogeys on the 17th and then scrambled for their pars on the final hole.

It was the first major golf victory for January, who was beaten in a playoff for the PGA title by Jerry Barber at Chicago in 1961. He lost his only other two playoff chances — the Western Open to Mike Fetchick in 1956 and the Lucky International to Chi Chi Rodriguez in 1964.

A crowd of 7,500 — anti-climatic for a record 74,500 for the four days of regular tournament play — watched the duel over the 7,436-yard, par 72 Columbine Course. The course surprisingly baffled the nation's finest pros.

January earned the top prize of $25,000 for the victory with Massengale getting $15,000.

American Shooter Captures 1st Pan-American Gold Medal

WINNIPEG — Harshel Anderson, a 29-year-old staff sergeant in the United States Army, won the first gold medal awarded in the fifth Pan-American Games Monday when a re-evaluation of the free pistol targets placed him first over Javier Peregrina of Mexico.

The United States also won the team championship gold medal in the free pistol event with a score of 2171 to 2,127 for Cuba. Mexico was third. The American team was made up of Anderson, Sgt. Arnold Vitarbo and Major Franklin Green, San Antonio, Tex. and Sgt. William Blankenstein, Columbus, Ga.

Anderson's preliminary unofficial score of 545 out of a possible 600 was boosted to 548, and Peregrina, with 546, was dropped to 545 and the silver medal. Edgar Espinoza of Venezuela was third at 542.

Jane Albert sent the favored Yankee women's tennis team off to a flying start. Miss Albert won her opening match over Maria Holguin of Colombia 6-6, 6-1.

Welterweight Fight Off After Harris Skips Weighin

DALLAS — Gypsy Joe Harris, the still unbeaten boxer from Philadelphia, failed to show up for the weighin Monday, bringing cancellation of a world's welterweight title fight with Curtis Cokes, the champion from Dallas.

The scheduled fight had been weighed down with legal technicalities, confusion over contracts and one cancellation that was overruled by the courts.

But Cokes solemnly weighed in at 147 pounds — the limit — and waited a couple of hours for Harris to show.

Kenneth Hayles, the frustrated co-promoter of the fight, said Willie Reddish, Harris' manager, called him from Philadelphia about daylight and said despairingly that he couldn't find Harris.

Later a news story from Philadelphia quoted the fighter as saying he refused to come to Dallas, because he was over the weight limit and his manager said he couldn't make it.

At 2 p.m. Hayles issued a terse statement: "I am reporting to the World Boxing Association and to the Texas Boxing Commission the fact that Harris failed to show up. I do not know at this time what action will be taken."

Doug Lord, manager of Cokes, projected the controversy surrounding the proposed fight when he demanded Hayles to pay his fighter $20,000 he said was due after the Cokes-Francois Pavilla title fight here May 19.

Rickey, Waner, Ruffing Inducted Into Major League Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. — The late Branch Rickey, Lloyd Waner and Red Ruffing were inducted formally into Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in a brief, colorful ceremony marred a bit by drizzling rain.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert presided at the outdoor ceremony in front of the Baseball Museum.

"I've had many, many thrills and some sad moments in my life," said Waner, "but this is the greatest thrill ever."

Waner was part of the famed brother combination in the Pittsburgh Pirates outfield in the 1920s and 1930s.

Ruffing Comments
Ruffing, a right-handed pitcher who won 273 major league games, called the induction "one of the great moments of my life."

Mrs. Rickey, widow of the late executive and administrator with the St. Louis Cardinals, Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates, accepted a replica of the plaque honoring Rickey that will hang in the museum. She did not speak.

Rickey's five daughters also attended. In all, 24 members of his immediate family were on hand.

Rickey, a dominant figure in the major leagues for six decades, died in 1965 at the age of 83. His bushy eyebrows and dominant personality earned him the nickname "The Mahatma."

Rickey Starts Farm System
Once a catcher with the old St. Louis Browns, his major accomplishments included the foundation of the baseball farm system, while with the St. Louis Cardinals, and the breaking of the color line when he brought Jackie Robinson into the game 20 years ago as the first Negro major leaguer.

Ruffing's major league career stretched from 1924 to 1947. He played with the Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

Waner played from 1927 to 1945, most of it with the Pirates, but also serving with Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Boston and Brooklyn. He finished with a .331 lifetime average.

The 5-foot-8 left-handed hitter set a National League record in 1927 with 223 hits as a rookie.

Kalnitsky, Johnson Share Sailing Honors

Other finishers in the first race were: Johnson, second and Marshall Cortney, Iowa City, third; second race, Lee Horn, Cedar Rapids, second and Cortney third.

Formidable U.S. Swimming Team Tests Pan-American Field Today

WINNIPEG — The formidable United States swimming team figures to win more gold medals — and maybe lose a few more — than in 1963 in the fifth Pan-American Championships starting today.

Seven new events have been added to the men's competition, making a total of 17 in swimming and diving, compared to 10 years ago at Sao Paulo, Brazil. The Yanks swept all eight swim gold medals and captured one of the two diving golds.

The women will be gunning for 16 golds — 14 in swimming and two in diving — compared to 10 in 1963. The U.S. girls swept the boards four years ago.

Led by Don Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the Tokyo Olympics and a horde of world record swimmers, the Yanks are favored to sweep most everything but the specialties of Canada's Elaine Tanner and one or two other events. The 16-year-old Miss from Vancouver, B.C., is favored in the 100-meter butterfly and backstroke and the 200-meter backstroke.

PRICES SEEM TO GO HIGHER BY THE HOUR!

But that doesn't apply to the cost of GAS and ELECTRICITY (per unit)

One major factor in holding down the cost of gas and electricity (per ccf, therm or kwh) is their ever-increasing use in the home, in industry, in business, and on the farm.

Equally important are the efforts of utility companies and manufacturers to increase the efficiency of facilities and personnel. Constant research and development . . . larger, more economical generating units . . . vast networks of interconnected electric systems . . . improved data processing and other techniques . . . and effective training programs have helped combat rising costs of materials, operating expenses, and taxes.

You may be sure that this Company will put forth every effort in the future as in the past, to keep ahead of your requirements for gas and electricity — at reasonable cost.

For the undergraduate who is unwilling to settle for easy answers, who seeks relevance in his studies—there is now a place.

There is a small college within a noted university in New York City. It has no "credit system" for measuring knowledge; no large lecture halls for one-way dialogues; no teaching assistants where the professor should be.

What it does have is a new program of study conceived for students who can best realize their intellectual potential by learning how to inquire, by seeking meaningful relationships between disciplines, by recognizing alternative modes of analysis and explanation. It has a faculty that is discussion-oriented, concerned with teaching—and learning—only through active participation of the student. It has a philosophy which views preparation for graduate school as just one of several possible goals of a liberal arts education.

THE NEW SCHOOL COLLEGE offers a two-year course of study (the third and fourth years of undergraduate work) leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree in the Humanities or the Social Sciences. It provides opportunities for specialized study and research through a tutorial program conducted within a broad liberal arts framework. It grants degrees only on the basis of comprehensive examinations administered after completion of the course of study. It is open only to students who have completed at least two years of college work at other accredited institutions.

City Budget To Be Aired

The Iowa City council is to hold a public hearing on the record $6.4 million municipal budget proposal at a special meeting at 7:30 tonight at the Civic Center.

Also scheduled is a public hearing on the $277,000 street paving program.

Several councilmen had indicated they would not be available for a regular Aug. 1 meeting, so routine business for August is to be handled at tonight's meeting.

The 1968 budget calls for a property tax increase of 1.3 mills ($1.30 per $1,000 value of property), bringing the tax rate for Iowa City to 35.7 mills.

Large budget items include $684,120 for public safety (police) programs, $84,000 for salary adjustment and $50,000 for the city bus transit system.

The paving program calls for paving about 45 blocks of city streets and alleys at an estimated cost of $254,000 to be paid by affected property owners and $23,400 by the city.

Sharp To Give Main Address At Graduation

Pres. Paul Frederick Sharp of Drake University, Des Moines, will deliver the summer commencement address Aug. 9.

One thousand students are expected to receive degrees at the exercises, which will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Field House. This number will be about 60 more than graduated last summer, according to Donald Rhoades, dean of admissions and records and director of convocations.

The August graduates will bring the total number of University graduates since the first degree was granted in 1858 to some 101,800.

Pres. Howard R. Bowen will deliver the traditional charge to the graduates and will confer degrees.

Family Housing Being Discussed

A four-week course in family housing is being held here through Aug. 9 at the University. Course director is Janet K. Smith, a former professor of housing and interior design at Florida State University and now retired from the faculty of Washington State University. The course is sponsored by the Department of Home Economics.

UNION BOARD PRESENTS: Summer Cinema 16 "Last Year at Marienbad"

Directed by Jean Renoir, this picture is truly a film masterpiece in all respects. Chosen as the feature film of REFOCUS in 1966, "Last Year at Marienbad" has been brought back due to strong popular demand. It is, without a doubt, one of the most demanding films in years. Renoir has broken with all the former traditions of cinema chronology in telling his story; the events, as they are portrayed, are not only shown as they happened, but also as the characters would have liked them to have happened. The past is fused with the present and the future, and the real scenes with those imaginary ones in the minds of the characters.

7 and 9 p.m. in the Illinois Room. Tickets available at the door, and in the Activities Center for 50c.

VOICE RECITAL SCHEDULED

Daniel Jepson, G. Iowa City, will present a voice recital at 4 p.m. Wednesday in North Music Hall. He will sing four songs by Purcell, Schumann's "Liederkreis, Op. 39," and Britten's "Winter Words."
