Civil Rights Commission Requests Stronger Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights has proposed strengthened civil and criminal laws to hasten school desegregation in the South and in border states.

In a 262-page report submitted to President Johnson and the Congress Tuesday, the commission concluded that the desegregation of schools since the 1954 Supreme Court decisions ordering equal education opportunity had been too slow.

The commission said violence against Negroes continued to deter many of them from seeking education alongside white children and declared that existing federal law is inadequate to deal with the situation.

"We do not believe that further delay in securing rights so fundamental as the right to equal educational opportunity will serve the real interests of any citizen or of the nation," the commission said.

Specifically, the commission wanted legislation to permit any Negro child and his parents to bring civil action for damages against persons who harass or intimidate them in connection with the child's enrollment at a public school.

The commission also proposed a parallel law to permit the U.S. attorney general to sue for damages or injunctive relief in behalf of victims of harassment or intimidation.

In addition, it proposed that Congress enact legislation to make intimidation, including economic intimidation, a federal crime.

The report blamed lack of sufficient staff in part for a "significant dilution of desegregation requirements and standards during 1966-67 and asked that Congress appropriate funds to enable the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to meet manpower needs.

The commission's report said that in the first 10 years after the 1954 Supreme Court decisions the number of Negro pupils attending school with whites in the 17 Southern and border states previously requiring or authorizing school segregation had increased at an average rate of about 1 per cent per year.

By the end of 1964-65 about 11 per cent of the region's Negro students were in biracial classrooms.

Obligation Shifted
In 1964, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act was enacted, shifting the obligation of achieving desegregation from the federal courts to the Health, Education and Welfare Department. That sent the percentage of Negro students at biracial schools in the south up another 5 per cent.

Freedom-of-choice plans, accepted by the Office of Education, failed to eliminate the previous dual school system, the commission found. Rather, the report said, they tended to perpetuate segregated education.

"During the past school year, as in previous years, white students rarely chose to attend Negro schools," the report said.

It asserted this system placed the burden of change on the Negro, and Negroes are being subjected to harassment and intimidation.

"Although it does not receive as much publicity as in previous years, violence against Negroes continues to be a deterrent to school desegregation," said William L. Taylor, staff director of the commission.

He reported that in six of 63 school districts visited by the commission staff, investigators found shots had been fired into the homes of Negro children who had picked up their option to attend white schools.

Viet Tactics Evaluated

SAIGON (AP) — Failure of massive U.S. firepower to break Communist morale and fighting spirit has forced a major reevaluation of the Viet Cong guerrilla warrior in South Vietnam.

A continuing search for radically new tactics with improved equipment has turned up nothing essentially new to combat the Communists' highly effective mobile warfare techniques.

Is it a failure of heavy conventional firepower and of enormous air superiority?

Viet Cong Down 5 U.S. Copters, Wound General

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas shot down five U.S. troop-carrying helicopters in a battle near Saigon late Monday and wounded an American brigadier general who set his own helicopter down in an attempt to rescue two of the troops.

"A hail of automatic fire engulfed us, tracers flying all over the place," said Brig. Gen. John F. Freund.

Freund won the Bronze Star in Vietnam three years ago. His craft took off again immediately without picking up the two soldiers.

Freund, 49, commander of the 190th Light Infantry Brigade, was directing an assault by U.S. troops and South Vietnamese rangers on a suspected enemy position seven miles north of Saigon.

Enemy gunners popped from foxholes, firing a curtain of bullets at the helicopters. Freund said one of the helicopters was destroyed but the other four reached safe landing areas and would soon be back in operation.

Freund suffered a broken lower right leg. He told newsmen at an Army hospital in Saigon he expected to return to action in 10 to 14 days but doctors said it would more likely be two to three weeks.

A lieutenant in the general's helicopter was shot in both legs but was reported in good condition.

How was it that air power could be so effective, for example, in German warfare against the Greeks in World War II, or Israeli warfare against the Arabs in 1967, and yet be so ineffective in American warfare on the Vietnamese Communists?

The biggest reason seems to be geography, terrain. Greece is a largely barren country and the Middle East is largely desert, where target forces found little place to hide. But South Vietnam is largely impenetrable jungle.

"Hundreds of tons of bombs and shells every day are fired or dropped blindly in the jungle making matchsticks," said one U.S. source. "It's very seldom we really have a good target and actually hit it."

Tactics Differ
Another factor is the enemy use of guerrilla and ambush tactics, a far cry from the conventional wars of Europe. The head of one intelligence section compared the Vietnamese situation to the American Revolution.

"The British had the best of weapons, heavier artillery, larger units," he said. "But we had a cause we believed in. I'm not idealizing the Communists for comparing their war here with ours, but the psychological motives are the same."

Another source said that in the American Revolution, "we used ambush, unconventional tactics and other tricks to take the edge off the British advantage, just as the Viet Cong are now."

The United States faces a growing stalemate in the war, at least until new fighting troops arrive. The offensive pressure of the enemy has lessened, but his desertion rate is dropping. Although enemy defections have nearly doubled over the same period last year, the number is about half that of those deserting their government posts, and include but a few of the hardcore fighters or important officers or political leaders.

Morale Remains High
Concern is high here over the Communists' ability to maintain their morale and high fighting spirit. Until these can be broken, no military victory appears possible. Political victory, sought through pacification of the countryside seems even more elusive, senior U.S. officers say.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander here, says that he is at a loss to understand how the enemy can continue to suffer such heavy casualties, engage in battles knowing that he will be mercilessly hammered by shell and bomb with no defense and still come back for more.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, Commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, told a newsmen:

"They take heavy casualties from the air and artillery. Apparently they don't care if they throw away their young men."

In some areas morale is bad, intelligence officers believe. But they say these spotty reports show no sign of a trend. Leadership has weakened in some areas also, but overall, new officers and noncoms also seem to be in good supply on the enemy side.

Government figures show that so far this year, 18,967 have left the Communist side and turned themselves into the government. In the same period last year, 10,523 deserted. However most of these were political agents, runners, porters, or minor cogs in the intelligence system.

In the same period, the government forces lost about 32,000 men despite tough new laws on desertion introduced this year.

Irked Student Backs Down On Pill-Bill Controversy

By GORDON YOUNG
News Editor

A freshman who had protested the Student Health Service's policy against providing birth control devices to unmarried coeds said Monday that he would pay his University bill, after all.

Joel K. Whitaker, A1, Iowa City, threatened in a letter to the editor of The Daily Iowan Saturday not to pay his August bill because his fiancée had not been given a prescription for birth control pills by Student Health Service.

He wrote that since he and his fiancée, Margaret Schumacher, A2, Marengo, had been "denied the services that the University is supposed to provide, I refuse to pay this month's University bill."

Whitaker said Monday that his action was intended as a "token protest" and that he would pay the bill sometime before he re-enrolls in September.

A spokesman for University Hospitals said Monday night that although Student Health Service does not give prescriptions for oral contraceptives, Miss Schumacher might be able to obtain one from the hospital's Obstetrics and Gynecology Department.

Hospital Charges
Miss Schumacher said that she had not gone to the hospital — as a Student Health Service doctor had recommended — because she understood that she would be charged for the prescription.

The spokesman for the hospital said a complete pre-marital examination, including the pill prescription — if authorized — costs $3.50.

The health service writes re-fill prescriptions for birth control pills for student wives who have been taking them, the spokesman said, but does not give prescriptions to any unmarried students.

"Women students who, prior to marriage, seek contraceptive advice from Student Health Service, are referred, if they desire, to medical specialists in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology," the spokesman said in a statement.

"Students who desire this referral service receive a complete pre-marital examination for which they must pay a nominal fee," the statement said.

The spokesman noted that medical authorities recommend pre-marital examinations for everyone. In addition, he said, the University policy encourages this because:

• "It provides the student with the advice of experts in pre-marital examination and counseling.

• "It assures that prescribing oral contraceptives for an individual is medically advisable.

"While oral contraceptives have been declared safe," the statement continued, "caution is urged in the use of them under certain conditions."

The spokesman noted that these conditions pertain to women with histories of breast or genital cancer, liver disorders or cardio-vascular diseases.

"If an oral contraceptive device is prescribed, University physicians ask that the student return in one or two months (after marriage) to the University's Family Planning Clinic or to visit their family physician for an examination to check for possible side effects," the statement said.

Adding to the pill-bill controversy Monday was an assertion by Whitaker that Miss Schumacher had been asked to move out of her apartment because of the letter he wrote.

A spokesman for the management of Burkley Place Apartments, 130 E. Jefferson St., said however, that Miss Schumacher had never signed a sub-lease to live there this summer, and was not 21.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said Monday that Miss Schumacher had not been authorized to take over the apartment.

Reason Cited
The Code of Student Life stipulates that coeds must be over 21 or a junior and senior with parental permission in order to live in off-campus housing. Miss Schumacher is a 20-year old sophomore.

The spokesman said that Miss Schumacher was told she could receive a rebate on her rent if she chose to move out sooner than the middle of the month, when she had been scheduled to leave.

Miss Schumacher said the management representative was "very irate and almost cried" when she was asked to leave Monday afternoon. She said the request to leave was directly connected with Whitaker's letter.

The apartment spokesman said, however, that the main reason for asking Miss Schumacher to move out was that Whitaker had used the Burkley Place Apartments as his address, though he does not live there.

Whitaker is listed as a resident of 130 E. Jefferson St. in the summer session student telephone directory, and that was the address he used when he signed the letter to the editor.

Whitaker said Monday afternoon that he does not, in fact, have an Iowa City address. "I just live wherever I can hang my hat," he said.

As for Whitaker's threat not to pay his bill, a spokesman for the Registrar's Office said Monday that Whitaker has until Aug. 12 to pay it.

All summer school tuition bills were sent out in July, the spokesman said, but a supplementary bill for such fees as parking fines, Union food and other charges is due Aug. 12. If no payment is received by then, Whitaker would be billed again on Sept. 1 for the amount due plus a $5 late payment fee, the spokesman said.

If Whitaker refuses to pay, he will not be permitted to enroll until he pays his bill, the spokesman said.

Whitaker said the bill amounts to about $16.

Whitaker said he and Miss Schumacher plan to wed in Iowa City Sept. 2.

Poverty Workers Linked To Agitation Of Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — A police station jailer from Newark, N.J., brought renewed charges Monday of racial agitation against men he linked with the anti-poverty campaign.

Patrolman Leonard F. Kowalewski testified as members of the Senate Judiciary Committee argued over the course of their inquiry into big city riots.

For three days, the hearings have centered on the role of the Office of Economic Opportunity — the anti-poverty agency which now is seeking congressional approval for a $2-billion budget.

Kowalewski, president of the New Jersey Order of Policemen, made his complaint about the United Community Corp., (UCC) Newark's poverty agency.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) demanded detailed charges and documentation.

Knowledge Of UCC Limited

"My knowledge of the UCC has been limited to seeing these people picket and demonstrate," Kowalewski acknowledged.

"That's a good deal different from what you've said previously," Kennedy said.

However Kowalewski insisted that Negro demonstrations and civil disobedience over a five-year period created the climate which produced five days of racial rioting. Twenty-seven persons were killed.

Kennedy asked Kowalewski who he was representing in the witness chair.

"That is a good question," the policeman said. He never answered it, although he said he had advised police officials on his call to testify.

Kowalewski said he had been invited to appear Friday, hours after comment that the testimony of a Newark police detective did not name names in connection with the riots.

"In my opinion, the climate for the conditions in the city of Newark that started the riot began in 1962," Kowalewski said.

At that time, he testified, the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) began "vicious, insidious" attacks on the Newark police department, calling it a Gestapo of brutal, sadistic, murderous men.

"They held court, they were judge, trial and jury out in the streets," Kowalewski said.

2 Cops Charged With Murdering 2 Detroit Teens

DETROIT (AP) — Two white policemen were charged Monday with murder in the shotgun slaying of two Negro teenagers, found dead in a midtown motel at the peak of Detroit's racial riot.

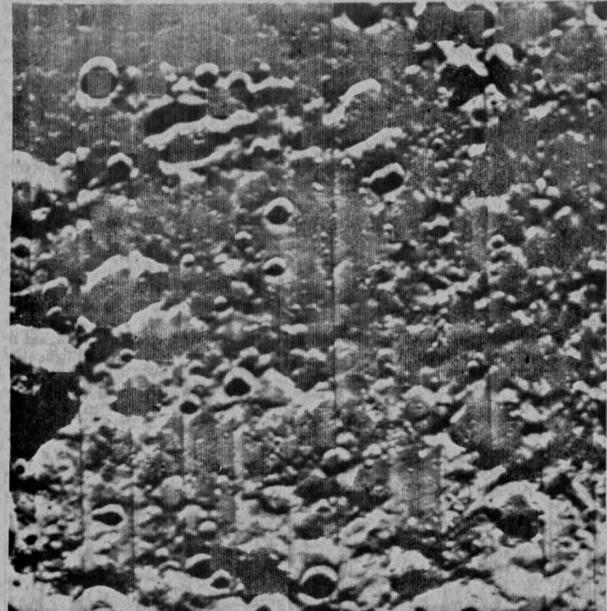

The motel — The Algiers — stands on busy Woodward Avenue on the fringe of the near West Side section where a week of pillaging, burning and sniper activity broke out July 23.

It is the same one where several persons registered as guests claimed they were lined up against a wall, beaten with gun-butt and threatened with death by 16 or 17 "uniformed men" in search of snipers.

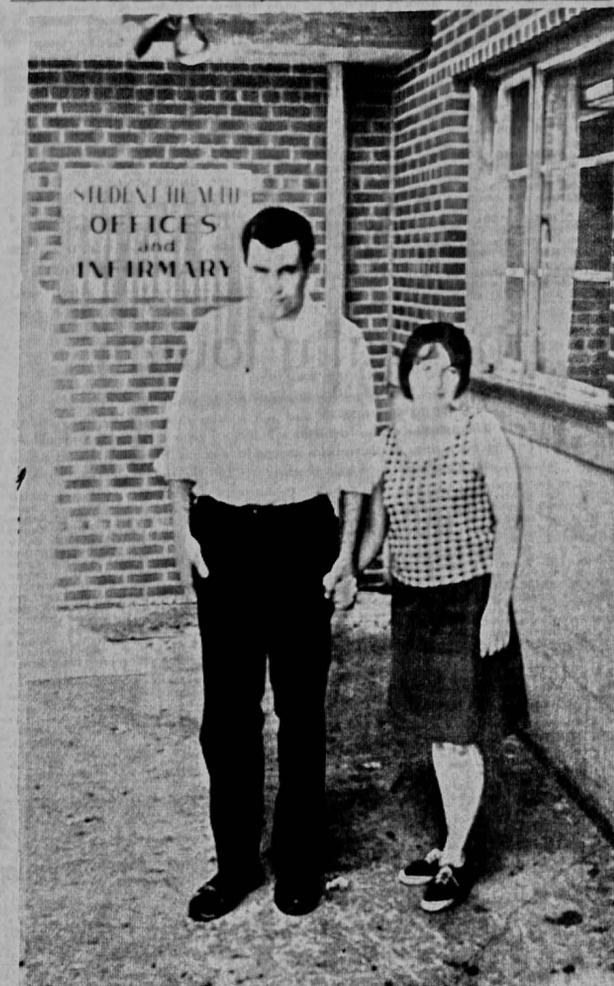

The guests claimed two Negro youths were shot to death by one of the uniformed men, but none has said he or she actually saw any shooting.

The charges announced Monday were the first directly related to the deaths at the motel.

Charged were: Policeman Ronald August, 28, charged with murder in the death of Aubrey Pollard, 19, whose body was found in a room at the motel; and Policeman Robert Paille, 32, charged with murder in the death of Fred Temple, 18, whose body was found near Pollard's in the same room at the same time.

THE MOON'S BACK SIDE is clearly shown in this photograph taken by Lunar Orbiter 5 with a telephoto lens from an altitude of 1,460 miles as the spacecraft whirled around the moon early Sunday morning. The picture was processed aboard the craft, transmitted to a tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., and released Monday at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif. The picture, showing an area never before photographed, shows a heavily cratered upland surface measuring about 90 by 120 miles. — AP Wirephoto

Hearing Set On Budget In Coralville

A public hearing on the proposed 1968 Coralville budget of $37,959 will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the city hall.

Coralville has a present taxable valuation of $7,749,743. The millage rate for the coming year is estimated at $30.901 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This represents an increase of approximately 3 1/2 mills over last year's estimate of 27.3703.

Approximately one fourth of the proposed budget would be raised by taxation. This compares with $198,605 being raised by taxation for the 1967 budget of $714,000.

Recreation, debt service funds and municipal enterprise account for the major increases in the proposed budget.

Schools' Budget To Be Considered

A proposed expenditure of about $6 million for the 1967-68 school year is to be considered tonight at the regular monthly meeting of the Iowa City Board of Education.

The meeting is to be at 7:30 p.m. in the school board office. A public hearing for the budget and opening of bids for the grading of the new West High School grounds are on the agenda.

The grading had previously been abandoned because of a lack of funds.

Soprano To Join St. Paul Concert

Coloratura soprano Constance Penhorwood, G. Iowa City, a semi-finalist in the annual Metropolitan Opera auditions, will participate in a concert of opera excerpts Friday at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

All five participants in the concert are district or regional winners in the auditions. Mrs. Penhorwood is one of nine semi-finalists to be selected by Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Met, to compete in the national audition November 5.

COAL MINES TO CLOSE—

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia will close 59 unprofitable coal mines during the next five years, the government has announced. The action was prompted by the growing use of oil and gas to produce energy. The 14,000 miners will be transferred to other enterprises.

Work Progressing On Hawkeye Court

One hundred and seventy-three units of Hawkeye Court Apartments, married student housing, should be ready for occupancy by early November, T.M. Rehder, director of dormitory administration, said last week.

If construction proceeds as scheduled, he said, the 61 one-bedroom apartments and 112-two bedroom apartments should be available by then.

The one-bedroom apartments are to rent for $92 a month and the two-bedroom apartments for $112 a month.

Rehder in effect denied a report published in the Iowa City Press Citizen last week that the University would lose as much as $75,000 in rental fees for first semester because a delay in selecting a location for the apartments had delayed the beginning of construction.

Presumably the $75,000 figure was computed by adding fees for all the apartments which could not be rented in the fall because of the delay.

Before the apartments could be rented, an Iowa City sewage pumping station had to be constructed on the lot.

Melford Dahl, city engineer, said the University's delay in finalizing a site for the apartments delayed construction of the station.

Work has not started on the station, he said, and the sewer for the apartments should be finished about the same time as the complex in November.

Rehder, who expressed puzzlement over the reports of the $75,000 loss, said the University had hoped to have part of the apartments completed by September. However, no contracts were offered because the completion date was tentative, he said.

The apartments will be rented just as soon as they are completed, Rehder said, and no money would be lost because apartments which are not completed can't be rented. The University did not plan on the income from these apartments for fall, he said, because a completion date was not finalized until recently.

The entire apartment complex, consisting of 504 apartments, is expected to be finished by the fall of 1968, Rehder said.

Mississippians Vote Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidates made last-minute pitches to voters Monday at the close of a spirited campaign based largely on emotions and personal attacks.

State Treasurer William Winter, former Gov. Ross Barnett and Rep. John Bell Williams, the three regarded as top contenders, spent the day speech-making and handshaking before making election eve television appearances.

Barnett hit his main theme hard by saying, "I am the conservative candidate for governor in this race. I am not a liberal. I am not a middle-of-the-roader."

Williams told voters, "The choice is clear and solid: The liberal philosophy of surrender versus the sound conservative philosophy of John Bell Williams."

Winter said he was a "John Stennis-Jim Eastland Mississippi Democrat. I will make the children of our state the No. 1 priority of my administration."

Other candidates are Dist. Atty. Bill Waller of Jackson, radio executive-country singer Jimmy Swan of Hattiesburg, pipefitter C. L. McKinley of Kreole and Stone County tax assessor Vernon E. Brown of Wiggins.

Both Waller and Swan conducted vigorous campaign and won enough support to assume dark horse roles. McKinley and Brown were expected to get only a smattering of votes.

If the expected 650,000 voters turn out it would mark a big jump over the present record of 475,000 set in the 1963 first primary for governor.

2 Grad Students Join Music Center

Two candidates for advanced degrees in music at the University have been named to the staff of the Center for New Music. They are David Randall, G. Cedar City, Utah, and William Hartman, G. Ponca City, Okla.

Randall, a clarinetist, earned a B.S. degree from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, and an M.M. degree from Indiana University, where he performed many contemporary compositions. He came to the University in June as a candidate for a doctor of musical arts degree. Randall also plays the saxophone.

Hartman, who plays the trombone, has been at the University since last September working for an M.A. degree. He appeared in several concerts given by the Center for New Music last year. He earned a bachelor of fine arts degree and a bachelor of music education degree from the University of Kansas before coming to the University.

County Budget To Raise Taxes

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors Monday approved a $3,433,052 county budget for 1968. Approval was given following a public hearing.

The budget called for a rise of about one mill in the property tax levy for both rural and town residents. The levy was estimated at 25.6 mills for rural areas and 13.9 mills for towns.

At the public hearing, Mrs. Irene E. Murphy objected to spending $107,000 for mental health care during 1968 without establishing a county mental health center.

Johnson County Sheriff Maynard E. Schneider agreed that mental health care was a problem in the county, but he said he thought a bond issue would be necessary to pay for such a center.

Mrs. Cleo Marsolais, director of welfare, said, "When the public shows sufficient interest in a mental health center, then we can have one."

Union Hours Announced

The Union public lounge areas will be closed Thursday until Sept. 4 to permit cleaning and repairs. The rest of the building, except for the Iowa House, will remain open.

The River Room Cafeteria will be open from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. and the administration offices from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Visitors to the Alumni Foundation Office, the office of the director of student activities and the Business and Industrial Placement Office are asked to use the east lobby entrance of the building.

Those visiting the Union administrative offices and the conferences and institutes offices are asked to use the Iowa House entrance.

Journalism Prof To Visit Europe

Lester G. Benz, professor of journalism and head of the community journalism and high school journalism teaching sequences, is to leave Saturday for a five-week study mission to eight European countries.

The mission, sponsored by the National Newspaper Association, will visit the Soviet Union, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Germany, Italy and Spain.

Rat Protestors Invade House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A predominantly Negro group from New York's Harlem staged a chanting, clapping demonstration in the public gallery of the House Monday. Police quickly stepped in and, amid screaming epithets and flying fists, expelled the group from the Capitol.

Police arrested eight of the resisting demonstrators, whose purpose was to protest action by the House last month in killing a bill to set up a federal rat-control program.

Prof To Be Guest On Radio Show

Kenneth B. Hoyt, divisional chairman of counselor education in the College of Education, will be interviewed Wednesday on the "Ask Betty White" show on CBS Radio. The program will be carried by four CBS-affiliated stations in Iowa and by WHBF, Rock Island, Ill.

Subject of the five-minute interview will be "Opportunities and problems in post high school specialty occupation training."

The program will be heard at 1:30 p.m. on WMT, Cedar Rapids; KRNT, Des Moines; KGLO, Mason City and KBIZ, Ottumwa. Broadcast time on WHBF is 2:10 p.m.

Right now the investor-owned electric companies of America have more than four million direct (share) owners.

Since insurance organizations, mutual funds and pension plans invest in the electric industry, more than 100 million people who save money through them have an indirect share in this business, too.

To finance the development of all the additional electric service people need and want, this industry puts to work about 6 1/2 % of all personal savings in the U.S. every year. That's American enterprise in action, for as the industry grows to meet its customers' electric needs and desires, its countless "partners" grow economically, too.

Browns Keep 3 Holdouts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of five Cleveland Browns who held out from reporting to training camp since July 22 will play for the National Football League team, the Browns announced Monday. The other two have been traded.

Returning to the Browns for the season are halfback Leroy Kelly, who last year had the best rushing average and the most touchdowns in the league, and guard John Wooten, who started in last year's Pro Bowl game.

Linebacker Sid Williams was traded to the New York Giants for a draft choice or a player to be announced later. Tackle John Brown was traded last week to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Ex-Hawk Cager Tries Coaching

Former University basketball star Dave Gunther was named head basketball coach at Wayne State University, Nebraska, over the weekend.

Gunther graduated from LeMars High School in 1955. He played basketball for the Hawks for three years, 1957-58-59. He was named Iowa's most valuable player three times, was All-Big 10 in 58-59 and received All-American honorable mention in 1959.

Gunther played four years of professional basketball with the Detroit Pistons, San Francisco Saints of the now defunct ABL, San Francisco Warriors and Chicago Majors, also of the ABL.

Since 1964 he has been head basketball coach at Kimball High School in Royal Oak, Mich.

Gunther replaces Al Svenningson, who resigned after eight years at Wayne State, to become head basketball coach at the University of Alaska.

'Fun' Philosophy Helps 'Skins Win

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Otto Graham still claims he would rather lose a few games 35-28 than win them all 3-0.

"Football is entertainment," said the coach-general manager of the Washington Redskins.

"To me a no-hitter is a dull baseball game. Fans like the 10-9 slugfest.

"I don't believe in the three yards and a cloud of dust philosophy. I don't mean I'm for ridiculous gambling but football should be fun.

"But fun doesn't replace hard work. You can have fun working on a job. I like to win but not win at all costs. I won't cheat but we'll try anything if it's within the rules."

Graham emphasizes pass Otto, one of the great quarterbacks of all times naturally is going heavy on the pass with the Redskins. He has the passer in Sonny Jurgensen and the receivers in Charley Taylor, Bob Mitchell and Jerry Smith.

"I think Sonny is as good a quarterback as there is in the league," said Graham. "I know Bart Starr and Johnny Unitas are good, too. But I wouldn't trade Sonny for either one of them. He is intelligent, works hard and has that God-given gift of throwing the football."

The Skins were a .500 club (7-7) last year for the first time since 1956 and Otto is aiming at even better things.

"We are far advanced over where we were a year ago," said Graham. "My big problem was to develop a winning attitude on a club that was used to losing. Now they think they have a chance to go all the way."

Taylor impresses

The most successful move was shifting Taylor from running back to split end where he led the league with 72 receptions for 1,119 yards and 12 touchdowns.

With Taylor wide, Mitchell at flanker and Smith, 15 pounds heavier, at tight end, the passing game should be even better.

"Taylor didn't even know what he was doing out there last year," said Graham.

Graham rebuilt the offensive line into an effective unit. The Redskins' quarterback was thrown for a loss fewer times (27) than any in the league, a statistic that means top flight pass blocking.

Tackles Mitch Johnson, a Dallas castoff and Jim Snowden, guards Vince Promuto and Ray Schoenke and center Len Hauss will be tough to dislodge.

King, Riessen Reach Tennis Finals

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Billie Jean King, preparing for the upcoming Wightman Cup matches, and Marty Riessen, just dropped from the U.S. Davis Cup team, struggled to victory Monday in the finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Riessen, 25, ousted his Davis Cup doubles partner and former Northwestern teammate, Clark Graebner, 18-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Mrs. King, stunned by a service break in the first game, rallied to defeat Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Shortly after their marathon match, a worn-out Riessen and Graebner dropped the doubles final to Australians Bill Bowrey and Owen Davidson, 6-4, 9-7. The match had been scheduled for the best-of-seven sets but was shortened following the long singles match.

Mrs. King and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco took the women's doubles.

Giants' Hart Gets Award

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Ray Hart of the San Francisco Giants was named the National League player of the month for July Monday.

The slugging third baseman received 24 of the votes cast by the panel of 50 baseball writers and sportscasters. This put him well ahead of two Houston players, outfielder Rusty Staub and pitcher Don Wilson, who got seven votes each.

Hart batted .355 during the month and drove in 34 runs in 29 games. He also hit 13 home runs.

Staub's .426 batting average was even better, but he hit no home runs and drove in only 12 runs.

Nagels Take 2 Titles In Des Moines Tennis

Bruce and Tom Nagel, sons of Iowa Football Coach Ray Nagel, won tennis championships in the Hilltop Open tennis tournament, in Des Moines over the weekend.

Bruce won the boys' 16-and-under singles championship Sunday with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Dave Will of Des Moines. Tom won the 12-and-under title Friday.

Nancy Nagel, another member of the family, teamed with Katie Fletcher of Des Moines to advance to the women's doubles final Sunday.

C.R. BOATERS WIN — Tom Buresh and Darald Schultz of Cedar Rapids finished first and second respectively, in both races sponsored by the Hawk Eye Sailing Club on Lake Macbride Sunday.
