Oglesby Defends Viet Revolution

By TED HENRY

A critic of American foreign policy charged Wednesday that "the American Revolution lives in Vietnam and South America."

Carl Oglesby, an instructor at Antioch College in Ohio and a former national president of Students for a Democratic Society, was the main speaker at a rally held on the Old Capitol steps to protest the war in Vietnam. He charged that for the first time in recent history someone (the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front) is attempting to contain the United States just as this country has been bent on containing communism.

Comparing the spirit of nationalistic revolutionary movements in Southeast Asia and South America, Oglesby predicted that "the political survival of the United States depends on the recognition of this fact."

The rally, which attracted more than 250 persons, capped a protest march which began at College Street Park at 7:15 p.m. and wound up at Old Capitol at 7:45 p.m. The march and rally were sponsored by the University chapter of SDS, the Draft Resisters Union, Veterans for Peace in Vietnam and the Iowa Socialist League.

Oglesby, who was in Iowa City to participate in this weekend's Conference on Modern Letters, appeared as the climax to almost a dozen speeches by local critics of the war, including students, faculty members and clergymen.

Growing Frightened

Oglesby opened his remarks by recounting a meeting with a Vietnamese professor he had talked with during a recent visit to South Vietnam. He said the professor was fond of Americans but was growing increasingly frightened of the implications of the American military presence in his country.

The Vietnamese professor, according to Oglesby, summed up the American presence in South Vietnam by saying, "You're turning our children into beggars, our women into prostitutes and our men into Communists."

Student Sen. Charles Derden, A3, Waterloo, said he spoke not as a representative of any organization but "as a student, a black man and an American." Derden was sharply critical of what he termed an overly proportionate number of Negroes fighting in Vietnam.

"Why should the black man fight an unjust war for the 'rights' of the Vietnamese," said Derden, "when they have no rights of their own in Georgia, Chicago or Waterloo?"

Derden ended his speech by calling on the American Negro to rally to the slogan "Hell no, we won't go!" The cry was taken up by many of the people in the audience.

Black Man Ahead

Another Negro, Jim Dunn of Des Moines, said he felt that the black man was ahead of the white population in one respect. He said, "We've been getting screwed for a long time, but we know it." He was referring to the Americans' being "doped" into supporting the Vietnamese war.

The speakers were intermittently interrupted by a group of about 50 pro-war demonstrators who shouted such slogans as "Hey, hey, what do you say, let's support the Green Berets" and "2-4-6-8 we want to escalate."

George Starbuck, associate professor of English and director of the Writers Workshop, said that the rally reminded him of a similar one held two years before. The size of the crowd and the flavor of heckling had not changed much, he said. Starbuck said that the time has come to be "less reserved and less cool." Americans must let people know that their ideals have been violated by an unjust war being carried on in Vietnam, he said.

Antidraft Action Urged

Steve Morris, the Iowa City man who turned in his draft card to a U.S. marshal in Cedar Rapids Monday, said that the war exists because "American people just don't give a damn." He added that Americans are more concerned with their own personal welfare than with people getting killed. Morris is an Air Force veteran.

Urging that students take action to end the draft, Morris said "talk will not deter war but action will."

Mrs. Corrine Durby of Des Moines, said, "it is a sick society that spends so much money on an unjust war when so much poverty exists in the United States."

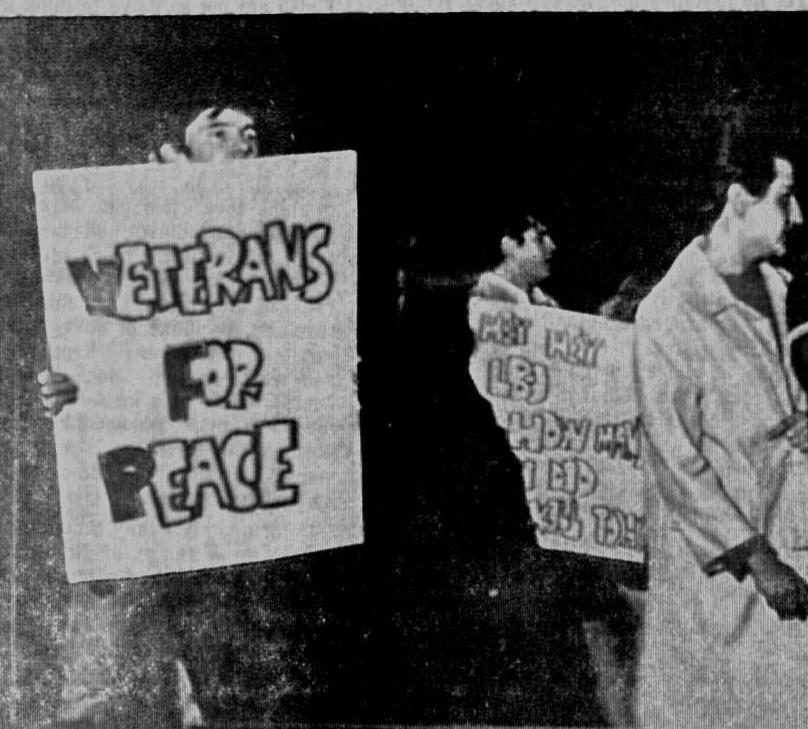

Rev. Jim Anderson of Christus House, lashed out against the complacency of Christian Americans. He said that any Christian who supports or fails to be against the war in Vietnam is not one of God's chosen people but one of "God's chosen people."

The hecklers who often interrupted the speakers with boos and catcalls, carried signs with such messages as "Let's Call Mao's Bluff" and "Drop the Bomb."

This group responded with a chorus of boos when the Rev. William Wier, Iowa City University minister urged opposition to the draft, asking the crowd "Do injuries outweigh injustices?"

A member of the audience, Lynn Lewis, Iowa City, was permitted to go to the platform in defense of the war. Lewis, who said he had lost a son and two sons-in-law in combat, said that only in America do people have the right of protest. "But we must not ridicule what we don't understand," he added.

Don't Let Heavy Traffic Cut Campus, Bowen Tells Planning Commission

By LINDA ARTLIP

Pres. Howard R. Bowen told the Johnson County Regional Planning Commission Wednesday night that his plans for the University include a quiet campus, one not cut by a busy highway.

Bowen's statement was made after a lengthy discussion by the commission of plans to make Court Street and Melrose Avenue four-lane arterials.

Both Bowen and Barry Lundberg, Iowa City's director of urban renewal, said that plans could be revised to accommodate both the city's and the University's plans.

Lundberg said that Melrose Avenue and Court Street should be made into four-lane roads because of the heavy traffic that would flow on them after the completion of the new West High School, Hawkeye Village and expected residential construction on the city's west side.

These streets would compliment the new

Burlington Street bridge, said Ray B. Mossman, University business manager and treasurer.

The southwest section of the city lacks north-south through streets, according to Allan D. Vestal, chairman of the commission.

Mayor William C. Hubbard asked the commission to also consider extending Benton Street to the new high school grounds so that the city could utilize the south 20 acres of the school area. He said that the city would develop the land into a neighborhood playground.

Hubbard said the proposed street projects' purpose would be to get traffic where it wanted to go the fastest, not to direct all traffic from the west side to downtown Iowa City.

The problems of busing students to the new school next fall and the extension of the city bus line to Coralville were also discussed in conjunction with the problems posed by the projected traffic programs.

Such situations were the reasons the commission was established and can be solved with cooperation from the members of the group, according to Vestal.

The commission will hear plans on a sanitary district at its next meeting. Projected boundaries for the district are Interstate 80, Tiffin, Five Corners and Sharon Center, according to Noel Willis, a member of the commission.

Dr. William H. Pickering added that this country was "running out of lead time for interplanetary programs planned for the 1970s."

Asked at a news conference if he thought Russia's achievement would spur the U.S. program, he said: "I want to see the United States have a very active program in the 1970s, and it takes a Russian shot to do it, why okay."

Pickering's laboratory directs U.S. space probes. Plans have called for a U.S. instrument landing on Venus in the Voyager program in the early 1970s, but Congress this year refused funds to get it started. The only probes now authorized are Mars flybys of Mariner spacecraft in 1969.

It was also a big leap forward for the Soviet Union in the space race with the United States.

Official announcement described the Venus 4 flight this way:

The spaceship, launched June 12, reached the atmosphere of the planet — 50 million miles away — at 12:34 a.m. EDT, Wednesday and released its instruments in a separate package.

This braked itself, then put out a parabola. For the next 90 minutes it floated down the 15 miles toward Venus' surface, sending back data through radio signals.

The temperature rose from 104 degrees Fahrenheit at the start of the descent to five times that at the end. Pressure rose 15 times that on the earth.

But the special Moscow radio report, which told the world of the space success, said that a soft landing had been achieved.

And Soviet Astronomer Vitaly Bronstein said in an interview with the official news agency Tass that communications with the instruments were "being maintained." He predicted that they would provide "plenty of new information."

Venus 4 provided the Soviet Union with the first significant space success since its predecessor, Venus 3, reached the planet. This was the first man-made object to reach Venus but it failed to radio back anything because of an equipment malfunction.

Both Venus 3 and Venus 4 carried the hammer and sickle emblem of the Communist state to the planet.

This country started the race to Venus on Feb. 12, 1961. The United States joined in and in 1966 got back the first radio information about the planet from Mariner 2, but this passed within 21,000 miles of it.

Mississippi Jury Quits For Night

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — An all-white federal court jury began deliberations Wednesday on the fate of 18 men charged with conspiracy in what the government labeled "a calculated, cold-blooded plot" to murder three young civil rights workers in 1964.

The jury of seven women and five men, with testimony from 155 witnesses to consider, was asked by the Justice Department to convict all but one of the defendants. Deliberations began at 4:20 p.m. CDT.

Acquittal Asked

Dear said, however, he thought the panel should acquit Travis M. Barnette, 39, a Meridian garage owner, because: "I don't think the evidence warrants us asking you to return a guilty verdict against that individual."

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Harold Cox held in reserve a ruling on a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on five other defendants.

Mike Watkins, one of 12 defense attorneys, countered Dear's claims, telling the jury that "the government's theory was that here in Mississippi the society was so closed and so filled with hate that we murdered outsiders."

Not On Trial For Murder

Attorneys for both sides stressed that the men were not on trial for murder, but on charges they conspired to violate the civil rights of two white men, Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and a Negro, James Chaney, 22 of Meridian.

Conviction for violating the Reconstruction era federal statute under which the men were tried could mean a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The state has never filed charges in the case.

The Justice Department contended the defendants, all white, participated in a Ku Klux Klan plot that led to the backwoods slaying of Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney near Philadelphia, Miss., during the racially troubled summer of 1964.

Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 43, his chief deputy, Cecil Price; and the Democratic nominee for sheriff, E.G. "Hop" Barnette, 47, all of the Philadelphia area, were among the defendants.

Soviet Vehicle Lands On Venus, Radios Data

Scientist Says Soviets

Beating U.S. In Space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union achieved another historic space breakthrough Wednesday by dropping on Venus instruments that radioed back the first information ever received from that planet's surface. The data indicated Venus' temperature was hot enough to melt metal.

U.S. space leaders, awaiting Thursday's flyby of Venus by the American Mariner 5 spacecraft, called the Soviet landing of an instrument package on the cloud-shrouded planet "an accomplishment any nation can be proud of."

Official versions here of the flight gave no indication of what happened to Venus 4, the 2,433-pound vehicle that carried the instruments into Venus' atmosphere. Presumably it crashed into the surface.

The information relayed to earth showed Venus' atmosphere to be extremely hot — up to 536 degrees Fahrenheit — and made up almost entirely of carbon dioxide, which the earth's living creatures cannot breathe.

Big Boost

The feat with the unmanned Venus 4 spaceship was a big prestige boost for this country's space program, which suffered a tragic setback April 24 when cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov was killed in the crash of Soyuz 1.

It was also a big leap forward for the Soviet Union in the space race with the United States.

Official announcement described the Venus 4 flight this way:

The spaceship, launched June 12, reached the atmosphere of the planet — 50 million miles away — at 12:34 a.m. EDT, Wednesday and released its instruments in a separate package.

This braked itself, then put out a parabola. For the next 90 minutes it floated down the 15 miles toward Venus' surface, sending back data through radio signals.

The temperature rose from 104 degrees Fahrenheit at the start of the descent to five times that at the end. Pressure rose 15 times that on the earth.

Picked Up Signals

The Jodrell Bank Observatory in England picked up signals from Venus 4 throughout the descent period but nothing since. This indicated that perhaps the impact of the landing or the heat put the instruments out of operation.

But the special Moscow radio report, which told the world of the space success, said that a soft landing had been achieved.

And Soviet Astronomer Vitaly Bronstein said in an interview with the official news agency Tass that communications with the instruments were "being maintained." He predicted that they would provide "plenty of new information."

Conflict Of Interest Noted

Conflict of interest — the issue which brought urban renewal to a halt here this summer — may affect the candidacies of seven of the eleven persons running for City Council.

Five of the candidates have businesses in the proposed — but now suspended — downtown federal urban renewal project, and two of the candidates are University employees.

Two of the candidates' businesses are in areas once considered for renewal.

The injunction issued by Hamilton said that Mayor William C. Hubbard and Councilmen Richard Burger and Robert Lind had property interests in the area under consideration. Councilman Loren Hickerson is the University's director of community relations, and the injunction noted that the University had an interest in urban renewal.

Candidates Don A. Graham, Daniel L. Berry, E. Dale Erickson, Robert J. (Doc) Connell, and Gerald Stevenson may have an interest in the project — at least as it was defined in the court injunction.

Likewise, Brooks W. Booker and John B. Harper are University employees.

The remaining four candidates have no business interests in the proposed urban renewal area. They are either employed by firms or own businesses outside the redevelopment boundaries.

Graham is treasurer of Paris Cleaners, 121 Iowa Ave.

Booker is associate director of conferences and institutes, said that he had no property in the redevelopment area.

Booker said, "I am running as a citizen of Iowa City and am definitely not running as a representative of the University."

Harper, an administrative assistant in the English department, has no property in the area either.

Connell said that he found the question of urban renewal and improving the city bus system before the ramp is constructed.

Tim Brandt, president of Brandt Heating and Air Conditioning, 1205 Highland Court, said that he did not approve of using up the city's general obligation bonding capacity for the ramp and did not think that sufficient revenue bonds could be sold.

Brandt advocated solving the question of urban renewal and improving the city bus system before the ramp is constructed.

Connell said that the present council had thought of "ways and means and excuses" to delay ramp construction or change the ramp location.

Connell said that the ramp should be built immediately on the College Street lot.

Ramp Financed By Bonds

E. Dale Erickson, owner of Ewers Shoe Store, 107 S. Clinton St., said that the parking ramp could be easily financed by the sale of revenue bonds.

The ramp's cost would thus be borne by only those who used the facility, he said.

Clifford B. Kritta, the third member of the Erickson, Connell and Kritta ticket, said, "The Council has left the ramp plan to be useless when it could have been useful."

Kritta said that Iowa City needed the parking ramp "real soon."

Kritta is owner of Kritta Beverage Co., 211 N. Gilbert St.

Mrs. Alan E. Ganka, a real estate saleswoman for George Paul Realty, said, "The parking ramp should have been built two years ago."

Stevenson Rebuffs Delay

Gerald Stevenson, owner of the Paper Place bookstore, 130½ S. Clinton St., and publisher of the Iowa Defender, accused the city of "procrastinating" in the ramp delay.

Stevenson said that the ramp should be built rapidly, but the ramp plan should be a flexible part of a long-range city plan.

The candidates in opposition to immediate ramp construction based their opinions on feasibility of finance, cost and priority needs for Iowa City.

Brooks W. Booker, associate director of conferences and institutes at the University, said the ground level parking could be provided at half the cost of building a multi-level ramp.

Booker said the ramp should be included in Iowa City's total redevelopment program.

Ground Level Parking First

John B. Harper, an administrative assistant in the English department, said the ground level parking should be obtained first, and later, when the urban renewal problem was decided, the ramp could be constructed.

Don A. Graham, treasurer of Paris Cleaners, 121 Iowa Ave., said that he thought the problem of financing the ramp was the prime consideration.

Graham said that the city's bonding capacity was not large enough to finance both the ramp and the Melrose Court bridge project.

Graham said that the city must keep its bonding capacity "to do the jobs that must be done."

See Problem Of Priority

Leroy C. Butcherus, owner of the Beckman-Butcherus Funeral Home, 507 E. College St., reduced the ramp question to a matter of priority.

The question, according to Butcherus, is, "Do we solve urban renewal before the ramp is constructed or do we construct the ramp before urban renewal is solved?"

Butcherus advocated solving the question of urban renewal and improving the city bus system before the ramp is constructed.

Tim Brandt, president of Brandt Heating and Air Conditioning, 1205 Highland Court, said that he did not approve of using up the city's general obligation bonding capacity for the ramp and did not think that sufficient revenue bonds could be sold.

Brandt said that a surface parking lot would provide greater flexibility in future planning than a multi-level ramp.

2 Women Injured In Apartment Fire

Two women were sent to Mercy Hospital as a result of a fire which broke out early Wednesday morning at the Town and Campus Apartments, 1100 Arthur St.

Judy Cooley, 23, and Sally Kiley, 24, suffered smoke inhalation and were treated and released.

Firemen said the fire was caused by some combustible material near a hot water heater.

Brisbane Enters Not Guilty Plea

James Lee Brisbane, 21, of Route 3, arrested Tuesday and charged with possession of marijuana, pleaded innocent Wednesday before Iowa City Police Judge Marion Neely.

Brisbane, appearing with his attorney, William Suerpel, asked for a preliminary hearing in the Police Court.

Neely set his hearing for Oct. 25 and ordered him to be transferred to the Johnson County District Jail where he remains in lieu of $500 bond.

Booker said the ramp should be included in Iowa City's total redevelopment program.

Towncraft Plus Suits

John B. Harper, an administrative assistant in the English department, said the ground level parking should be obtained first, and later, when the urban renewal problem was decided, the ramp could be constructed.

CHICAGO (IOWA) — The American League approved Wednesday night transfer of the Kansas City Athletics to Oakland, Calif., effective in 1968, and also adopted an expansion plan to increase membership to 12 clubs by 1971 with the expansion franchises going to Kansas City and Seattle, Wash.

The awards to the new franchise cities are subject to applicable baseball rules and procedures and, in the case of Seattle, to that city being able to provide stadium facilities.

Evy Calls Charges 'Absurd'

By MIKE BARRY

Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski dismissed as "just ridiculous" the charges by a former Hawkeye athlete that football players here are used as "commodities."

Evashevski commented on an article entitled, "Iowa Football, An Ex-Player Speaks Out," which appeared in this week's edition of The Iowa Defender out Tuesday. It was written by former football player Ken Wessels.

Wessels has accused the Department of Athletics of "using football players until they are no longer useful, and then casting them off." He cited two examples of cases here in which players were supposedly "cast off."

He also pointed out instances in which a player was "asked" to play football with an injury that "was potentially crippling. . . ." In rebuttal to Wessels' accusations, Evashevski told The Daily Iowan Wednesday night:

"It's just ridiculous. No boy has ever been injured and cut off a scholarship since I've been here, and that's been 15 years."

"It's up to capable doctors whether or not a boy plays for us. I agree with Ray (Iowa Coach Ray Nagel) in that I've never known any doctors to sacrifice a boy's well-being just so that he could play ball."

"This whole thing is just absurd. Anybody who knows our medical people, knows that they have the final word on whether or not a boy plays."

"Ray gets a list of 'goes or no goes' every morning. And every boy is listed as to his capabilties," said Evashevski.

"I've checked up on the author of this article. He was out for football and was denied a scholarship . . . he said."

Team physician Dr. W. D. Paul had more to say:

"If there is a situation here, then I don't know that it exists."

Kaat Denies Story Of Twins Trouble

SAM MELE

JIM KAAT

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota pitcher Jim Kaat labeled Wednesday as totally untrue allegations that a player voted on World Series money share for former manager Sam Mele divided the Twins and cost them a possible American League pennant this year.

The Twins took the vote the Friday night before they played a two-game season-ending series in Boston. Minnesota needed only a split in that series to win the pennant, but the Red Sox swept and went on to the World Series.

"It is totally untrue that the vote on the Mele share cost us the pennant," Kaat said in an interview with the Associated Press Wednesday. "The whole thing didn't amount to that much, but some people have tried to make it sound like the great debate."

Vote Not Important

"I think it is a very false statement to say that vote divided us and cost us the pennant. The players thought nothing of this vote during those two games in Boston. As far as I know there was no split feeling or hard feelings on the part of the players. There was too much money at stake for each of them to let

Football Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — If statistics tell the story, the best offense in the National Football League will be taking on the best defense in the league Sunday when Fran Tarkenton and his New York Giants mates bump up against Ray Mutschke and friends of the Green Bay Packers.

The Giants' attack has averaged 407 yards a game, tops in the NFL. The Giants' passing game has averaged 273 yards, second only to Baltimore and their running game is fifth with a 133-yard average. The Los Angeles

San Diego St. No. 1

The state of San Diego State's lead in The Associated Press' small-college football poll was somewhat more precarious Wednesday, particularly in view of Waynesburg's unprecedented scoring output.

The Aztecs' lead over Waynesburg was trimmed to 20 points in the latest vote by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters. San Diego topped the Yellow Jackets by 24 points are eighth in that category.

2 Lead U.S. Scorers

NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis Homan of Alabama, Butch Colson of East Carolina and Wayne Patrick of Louisville were locked in a tie for the scoring lead among the nation's major college football players Wednesday. The Tide's star, though, has an advantage.

Homan, a senior, has scored 48 points on eight touchdowns in only four games. His co-leaders have totaled 48 points on eight touchdowns in five games.

Ace Hendricks of New Mexico continues to lead in pass receptions with 38, one more than Phil Odle of Brigham Young.

U.S. Wins Medal In Pre-Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ron Whitney of Boulder, Colo., gave the United States its fourth gold medal in the track and field competition of the Pre-Olympic Games Wednesday but the U.S. lost a chance at the decathlon title when favored Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., was forced to withdraw.

Whitney won the 400-meter hurdles in 49.8 seconds with Gary Knoke of Australia second in :50.3 and Miguel Olivares of Cuba third, also in :50.8. Knoke is a student at Oregon State.

Toomey withdrew from the decathlon competition on the advice of trainer Bob Taylor, who said such events as the high and long jumps might prove too strenuous. Toomey pulled a hamstring in his right leg last week while long jumping.

Orenthal James, which no one calls him, was pleased but it was plain he was more concerned with the vital Pacific 8 Conference game coming up with Washington at Seattle Saturday than over his feats last week against Notre Dame.

Simpson is the leading rusher after five games for the unbeaten, No. 1 ranked Trojans. He has carried the ball 150 times, which averages out to 30 carries per game, has gained 752 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

O. J. Simpson Pleased

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Halfback O.J. Simpson of Southern California's football Trojans Wednesday took the news he had been named college Back of the Week just as he takes a football — in stride.

Orenthal James, which no one calls him, was pleased but it was plain he was more concerned with the vital Pacific 8 Conference game coming up with Washington at Seattle Saturday than over his feats last week against Notre Dame.

Simpson is the leading rusher after five games for the unbeaten, No. 1 ranked Trojans. He has carried the ball 150 times, which averages out to 30 carries per game, has gained 752 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

Comedy To Open UI Theatre Season

By MARY ANN McEOVY

The University Theatre will launch its 47th season next Thursday with a comedy, "You Can't Take It With You."

The play, written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, won the Pulitzer Prize for drama in 1937.

The comedy is the story of two families with opposite interests in 1936 in New York City.

The Vanderhoff clan lives a carefree, happy life and the Kirbys are interested in business and society.

Grandpa Vanderhoff (Richard Pick, G. Valparaiso, Ind.) is the family patriarch who collects stamps and snakes, goes to college commencement and does not believe in paying taxes.

His daughter Penny Sycamore (Mimi Schwid, A3, Peoria, Ill.) is a painter who turned playwright because someone visited her and forgot his typewriter.

Penny's daughter, Alice (Susan Kramer, A2, Erie, Pa.), falls in love with Tony Kirby (Dorwin Peterson, A4, Canton, Ill.) who is the son of a big businessman and a flirty socialite.

2 Worlds Clash

The Vanderhoff and the Kirby worlds clash, complete with fire-works and the FBI.

The theater's public relations director, Jerry Di Iorio, G, Las Vegas, said Wednesday that the play was trying to show that the "screwy" world of the Vanderhoffs was really normal. The world of the Kirbys, which one would at first consider normal, was actually the "screwy" one.

Di Iorio defined "screwy" as a world of fun and lightheartedness where people enjoy life because they do what they want to when they want to.

At the end of "You Can't Take It With You" Grandpa Vanderhoff convinces Tony Kirby's father (Don Muench, A3, St. Louis, Mo.) that Grandpa has missed something in life.

Kirby World Defeated

The Kirby world of business and society is finally defeated by the "unreal" world of the Vanderhoffs.

Other cast members are: Mary Beth Supinger, A4, Marshalltown; Claire Keeble, G, Mentone, Calif.; Bob McAndrew, A2, Prospect Heights, Ill.; Rick Fazel, A3, Perry; Wayne Muller, G, Salem, Ohio; David Smit, G, Hinsdale, Ill.; Michael Herman, A4, Rock Island, Ill.; Marla Friedman, A3, Chicago, Ill.; Elyse Garlock, A2, Grinnell; Dennis Howard, A3, Marshalltown; David Mumm, A1, Cedar Rapids; Phil Wagner, A4, Chicago; and Anita Miller, A1, Chicago.

"You Can't Take It With You" will be presented Oct. 26, 27, 28, 30, 31 and Nov. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Tickets can be picked up at the Union ticket office with a student ID from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday. Non-students can buy tickets for $1.50.

More Space Set For Student Cars

Two more reserved parking areas will be opened partially to student cars by this weekend, according to John Dooley, director of parking lot operations.

The west row of reserved area 29 was opened to student cars Wednesday morning Dooley said Wednesday. Area 29 is west of the Speech and Hearing Clinic and had been reserved for faculty and staff.

On an experimental basis, area 13 will be opened to student parking from 5 p.m. Fridays to 6 p.m. Sundays, he said. The lot is north of Hillcrest and Quadrangle dormitories and has been reserved 24 hours daily for faculty and staff.

Dooley said the lot was opened because students had expressed a desire to use the lots on weekends.

Dooley said the three days of home football games would be exceptions to the new regulation. On Oct. 28, Nov. 4 and 24, area 13 will be closed to students in the morning and until after the football game.

Di Iorio defined "screwy" as a world of fun and lightheartedness where people enjoy life because they do what they want to when they want to.

At the end of "You Can't Take It With You" Grandpa Vanderhoff convinces Tony Kirby's father (Don Muench, A3, St. Louis, Mo.) that Grandpa has missed something in life.

Decorated Cars To Parade Tonight

A parade of decorated cars is to travel from City High School down College and Clinton Streets at 7:30 tonight as part of City High School's homecoming activities.

About 30 cars are expected to be in the procession, Mrs. Dawn Rogers, secretary to the principal, said Wednesday.

The parade has been a part of City High School's homecoming activities for the past two years. Prizes will be awarded to the three best decorated cars.

A bonfire at 6:30 p.m. on the school football field will precede the parade.

Urban Policy Parley To Probe 'Future City'

"The City of The Future" is the theme of the fourth annual urban policy conference to be held at the University Oct. 28.

Attending will be public officials, academic personnel and interested citizens. The conference is sponsored by the Institute of Public Affairs and the League of Iowa Municipalities.

It will open with a seminar "Maintaining Order in Our Urban Areas," led by Matt Holden Jr., professor of police science at Wayne State University. Detroit Panelists will be Mayor Lloyd Turner of Waterloo; James A. Thomas, executive director of the Iowa Rights Commission; and Edward L. Holcomb, director of the Bureau of Police Science.

Also scheduled is a discussion of "Political Problems in Our Urban Future" by York Wilbur, professor of political science at Indiana University. Earl Stewart, a University professor of urban and regional planning, will talk on "Planning for the Urban Future."

The Urban Future of Today and the Midwest" will be the topic of Brian Berry, a professor of geography at the University of Chicago.

The conference serves as a fall meeting of the Iowa City Managers Association and a large city group of the League of Iowa Municipalities.

Faculty Feature In Voice Recital

Songs from four countries highlight a faculty voice recital Wednesday night at 8 in McBride Auditorium.

An Tarzler will open the program with three Italian arias Handel.

Three French ballads by Bussy will be sung by Al Gammon, assistant professor of music.

Four German songs by Richard Strauss will be sung by Kathryn Harvey, soprano.

Gas Storage Holes Provide Insurance For Winter Months

By GAIL DRAUDEN
Max Young, supervisor of the Iowa City terminal of Mid-America Pipeline Co., pours propane gas down two very large holes.

One hole, about eight miles southeast of Iowa City off U.S. Highway 6, holds nearly 10 million gallons of propane. A second hole, two miles west of West Branch, holds 17 million gallons.

These huge storage areas insure Young a supply of propane during peak winter months. During the summer, a pipeline can be kept in use pumping gas from the West into the Iowa storage tanks.

No Maintenance

Once built, the storage holes need no maintenance. But digging them is more difficult than building a ship in a bottle.

Because drilling the first shaft is one of the main costs of digging such a hole, the shaft was kept as small as possible, Young said.

In the hole dug southeast of Iowa City, the shaft was only 42 inches in diameter. It went down 800 feet, the equivalent of 80 stories.

All the men, equipment and dug-up earth had to move through the three and a half foot shaft.

The year-long construction project was finished in July.

After the shaft was drilled, men went down and hand dug enough space for heavy machinery. Earth-moving machines had to be broken down to fit through

State Plans To Tax Ironing, Sewing, Yard Work

DES MOINES (Ia.) — The Iowa Tax Commission has ruled that tax if performed more than once hired "casual" services, such as washing, ironing, sewing, yard work, even shoveling snow—are man Earl A. Burrows said such collections would have to be made on the honor system because of the difficulty of checking on those who do such work.

With a commission decision pending on whether municipally-owned off-street parking facilities are subject to the tax, Davenport city treasurer Theodore Lorenzen suggested the possibility of a "Davenport tea party" to dump parking meters into the Mississippi River.

The Iowa City Society of Friends has written in opposition to the proposed federal surcharge on income tax to Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa).

The tax has been recommended by the Johnson Administration to deter an expected $29 billion federal deficit and to help finance the war in Vietnam. Schwengel opposes the tax.

Mrs. Mary Hutchins, 304 4th Ave., Coralville, a clerk of the society, signed the letter. She explained this week that Quakers traditionally have been opposed to war.

"I can't support additional funds for the Vietnamese war," she said in reference to the 10 per cent surcharge.

The letter said: "The Iowa City Monthly Meeting of Friends wants to thank you for opposing the proposed 10 per cent surcharge to finance the Vietnam war."

"May your fact-finding reveal some more successful and humane methods of opposing Communism than the destruction of human beings, both Vietnamese and American."

"We will be eager to support well thought-out, non-violent means of alleviating tyranny."

STATUSES SEEKING HOMES—

CALCUTTA (Ia.) — In Independent India, if anything's more of a white elephant than a white elephant it's a statue of a former British dignitary. Calcutta officials are seeking places to put 14 statues erected in a downtown park during British rule. Eight others have been removed. One was sold at auction, another was sent back to London and six are in the junkyard.

Probation Chief Aims To Do The Best For Youth In Trouble

By TOM RAFTERY

Dependent, neglected or delinquent.

There are legal definitions for each of those adjectives, but to Herbert A. Wicks, 26, they mean a youth in trouble.

It's his job — as the new chief probation officer for Johnson and Iowa Counties — to help them.

Wicks is young, a 1963 graduate in sociology and criminology, and the father of two children. He is perhaps better able to get through to juvenile delinquents than an older person might.

In an interview in his office at the Johnson County Court House recently, Wicks explained that he and his staff were best able to deal with children aged 13 to 15.

"The older ones are less likely to respond to the counseling we give them," he said. "The biggest problem with boys is car theft. With girls, it's shoplifting."

Few Cases End In Court

Wicks said that most youths brought to his office never end up in court. Their cases usually are settled in the office, after conferences with parents, guardians or sometimes with school officials.

Officers may request judicial action, depending on how serious the youth's offense or whether he has committed several offenses.

Technically, a youth does not have a trial. He has a hearing before a judge. Since Johnson County does not have a Juvenile Court as such, such cases are heard by regular District Court judges.

The judge does not impose a sentence, but may send the youth to the State Training School for Boys at Eldora, or for Girls at Mitchellville. Or he may continue the case until a later date and require the youth to consult regularly with a probation officer.

In some cases the judge simply gives the young offender a stern lecture.

Wicks, who took over his job Oct. 1, is assisted by four part-time workers: Douglas D. Hall, G. Des Moines; Eric C. Thorp, A4, Ardsley, N.Y.; Campbell F. Waits, A4, Cedar Rapids; and Mrs. Esther Atcherson of 705 S. Summit St., the wife of an assistant professor of music.

Whichever way a case is handled, Wicks said that the goal of his staff remained the same: "To help decide what is best for the child."

UI Library Friends Contribute Rare Books

By MARY CLARK

A university is known by the books it keeps, and a group headed by John Huntley, associate professor of English, is trying to give University Libraries a reputation of excellence.

Huntley heads the Friends of the University of Iowa Libraries, an organization founded three and a half years ago to acquire rare books and special materials not provided for in state appropriations.

In a recent interview Huntley noted that contributing books to a state supported library is not a popular tradition. It is to overcome this, he said, that the Friends was organized.

"The main function is to build an organization of good will and fund raising and to obtain books that are severely needed," he said.

'Friends' Begins In 1963

Leslie W. Dunlap, director of University Libraries, and several faculty members started the Friends in 1963. Since then, the group has grown to include over 200 faculty members, students and private citizens. He is also a member of the council of the Friends.

Paluka's bibliography gives a short history of each author and lists his works. The authors range from William "Buffalo Bill" Cody to Paul Engle, the head of the University Writer's Workshop.

Huntley taught at the University of Cincinnati before coming to the University in 1957.

He received his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago and his M.A. degree from the University of Connecticut. This semester he is working on two books, "The Theory of Literary Criticism" and "The Development of Milton's Theory of Poetry."

'Steam' Seen As Pollution Solution

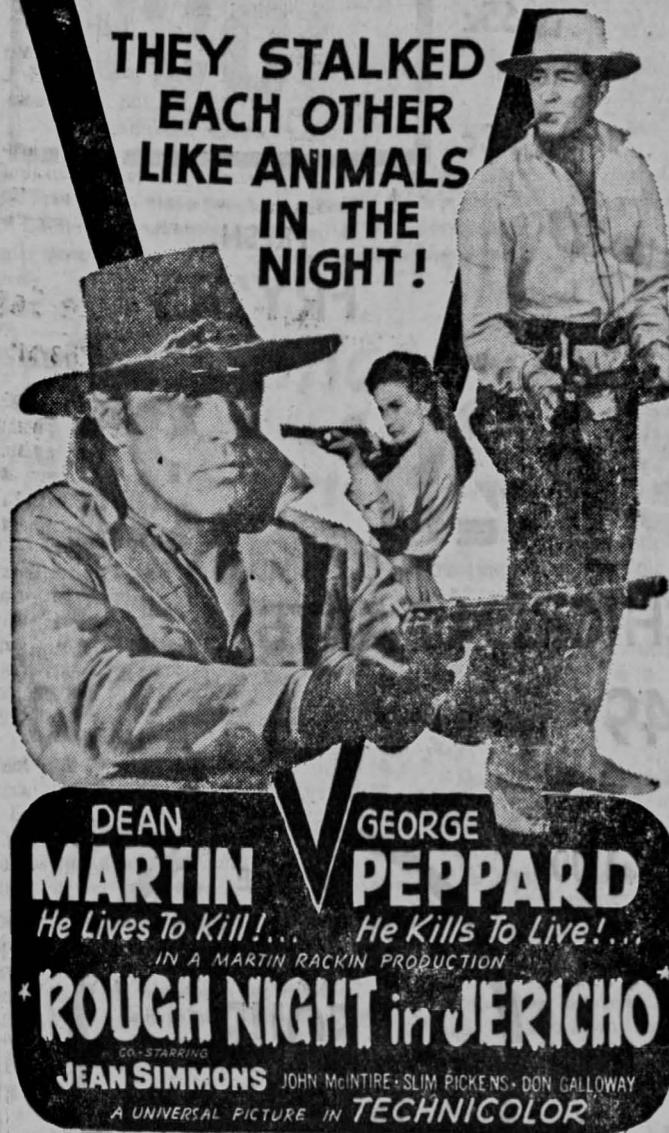

WASHINGTON — A government advisory panel Wednesday voted to keep the electric car as an immediate solution to the nation's air pollution problem and suggested a five-year, $60-million federal program to help develop cleaner vehicles.

It said a piston type steam engine of advanced design potentially offers a satisfactory alternative to the present gasoline-burning automobile, but the panel didn't specifically advocate development and production of such a vehicle.

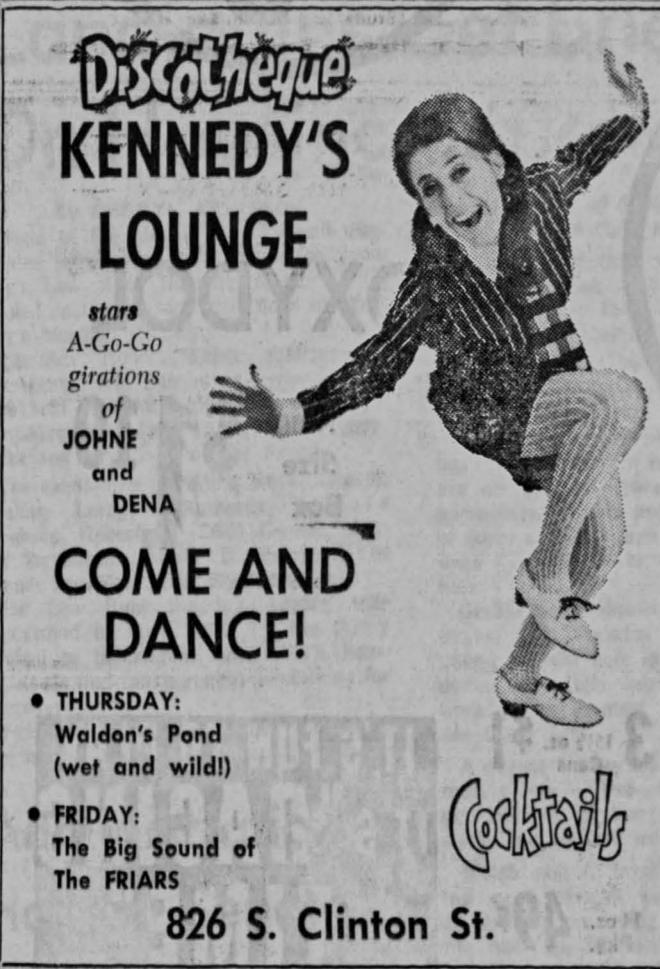

The recommendation was one of 16 outlined by the Panel on Electrically Powered Vehicles as a minimum program to meet what it called the serious threat of air pollution.

It blamed the automobile for most of the nation's air pollution and called for a national air quality goal, strict standards on automobile exhausts, further government research and federal regulation of the amount of lead which may be added to gasoline.
