

Pueblo Captain Admits Spy Activities

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea broadcast Wednesday "a confession" from the captain of the USS Pueblo, quoting him as saying he was spying for the Central Intelligence Agency and was deep inside North Korea's territorial waters when his ship was captured.

The statement concluded with a reference to "parents and wives and children" waiting anxiously at home for the Pueblo crew's release. The fact that the North Koreans included that seemed to raise at least the possibility that the release was being considered.

The English-language text of an 800-word statement attributed to Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, commander of the intelligence ship, said he spied on the ports of Chonjin and Wonsan, "detected the radar network, accommodation capacities of the ports," the number of ships entering and leaving and the maneuverability of North Korean naval craft.

North Korean patrol boats seized the Pueblo and the 83-man crew, and took her into the east coast port of Wonsan Monday night.

The statement attributed to Bucher said one crewman was killed and three were wounded during the encounter. While under attack, the Pueblo had radioed that four were wounded.

In Washington, the Defense Department denounced as "a travesty on the facts" the North Korean claim that the Pueblo's commander had confessed intruding into North Korean waters.

"The style and wording of the document provide unmistakable evidence in themselves that this was not written or prepared by an American," Assistant Secretary of Defense Phil G. Goulding said in a statement read to newsmen.

Goulding also disclosed that the Pueblo was under orders to stay at least 13 miles from North Korean territory.

At one point the statement attributed to Bucher said:

"My crime committed by me and my men is entirely indelible."

This terminology was not expanded. One definition of "indelible" denotes inability to wash away or blot out something.

"I have no excuse whatsoever for my criminal act as my ship intruded deep into the territorial waters of the Democratic Republic of North Korea and was captured by the naval patrol craft of the Korean People's Army in their self-defense action while conducting the criminal espionage activities," the statement said.

At the conclusion, the statement quoted Bucher as expressing hope that he and his crew "will be forgiven leniently" by North Korea, and saying:

"Our parents and wives and children at home are anxiously waiting for us to return home in safety."

This was the gist of the statement attributed to Bucher:

His ship was sent to Sasebo, Japan, to carry out assignments given by the Central Intelligence Agency "to detect the areas along the far east of the Soviet Union and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

The ship was disguised as one engaged in oceanic research when it left the port of Sasebo.

"It was on Jan. 16, 1968, that we entered the coastal waters of the Democratic Republic of Korea via the Soviet maritime province."

The Pueblo made ocean tests and observations but also spied on the ports and on various military installations and the deployment of armed forces along the east coast, the statement said.

The statement said when the North Korean naval craft appeared, the Pueblo opened fire and tried to escape — contrary to the Pentagon version that the ship did not use its two machine guns.

"But the situation became more serious for us and thus one of my men was killed, another heavily wounded and two others lightly wounded," the statement said.

"We had no way out and were captured by the navy patrol craft."

"Having been captured now, I say frankly that our act was a criminal act which flagrantly violated the armistice agreement and it was a sheer act of aggression."

There was an entirely different version of the incident when the United States called a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom and demanded the release of the Pueblo.

Rear Adm. John V. Smith, the senior delegate, accused the North Koreans of "criminal boarding" and seizing the Pueblo in international waters.

Maj. Gen. Park Choong-kook, the senior North Korean delegate, answered with a tirade contending the Pueblo was in territorial waters on a spy mission.

There was speculation that the seizure of the Pueblo was designed to divert U.S. forces from the war in Vietnam. North Korea long has been clamoring for other Communist nations to aid the forces there.

South Korea's President Chung Hee Park instructed his aides to work closely with U.S. authorities for the return of the Pueblo.

As Park met for the second time in 24 hours with his top security aides, all the South Korean armed forces were placed on combat alert in connection with the Pueblo's capture Monday.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter told Premier Chung Ilkwon that the U.S. government had decided to take certain measures.

South Korean sources said the measures included dispatch of the 75,000-ton nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and three destroyers to the Wonsan area.

They reported the Enterprise will take up a station at the edge of territorial waters 12 miles from Wonsan.

The Pueblo incident did not disturb South Korea in its extensive mop-up operation against remnants of a 31-man North Korean assassination group that invaded Seoul on Sunday reportedly to assassinate Park.

U.S. and South Korean troops killed 10 suspected infiltrators Wednesday, bringing the total number of dead since Sunday to 16. One was captured.

The latest enemy casualty was reported Wednesday evening in the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division area south of the Imjin River, where American and Korean troops were conducting a joint sweep.

A South Korean army regimental commander, Col. Lee Ik-soo, was killed in the action Wednesday, bringing the death toll of South Koreans in the series of incidents to nine.

Harvey Expected To Return Friday For Arraignment

Roy Harvey, one of the 10 persons indicted here two weeks ago by the Johnson County Grand Jury on charges stemming out of the Dec. 5 antiwar demonstration, will return to Iowa City Friday, The Daily Iowan has learned.

Harvey, who had moved to Minneapolis with his wife Karen shortly before the indictments were handed down, will return in time to appear in District Court Friday, a friend of the Harveys told the Iowan.

The nine other indicted persons are to be arraigned at 9 a.m. Friday. All have been formally charged, with the exception of Harvey.

Seven of the 10 persons have been charged with conspiracy in connection with the demonstration; the other three — including Harvey — face resisting an officer charges.

A spokesman for the Student Bail Fund, meanwhile, said that a fresh campaign to raise funds had been launched in anticipation of Harvey's return. The bail fund, which assisted in the hauling out of most of the accused, is seriously depleted, the spokesman said, and urgently needs contributions.

Harvey's bail has been set at $500.

Representatives of the bail fund will be soliciting contributions on campus all day today, the spokesman said.

Augustine Blocks Show; Rienow President Angry

By MIKE FINN

Roger Augustine, associate dean of students, has blocked an attempt by the Rienow Association to sponsor a New Christy Minstrels' concert here, according to the president of Rienow Dormitory.

Rienow Association Pres. Michael Hallerud, A2, Fort Madison, sharply criticized Augustine's refusal, calling him "insensitive to the needs of the dormitories."

Hallerud also accused Augustine of using profanity in talking to students. "Augustine does not care about the dorms," Hallerud said. "We have had trouble with him all year."

Augustine could not be contacted for comment either Tuesday or Wednesday. Marcia Whitney, assistant director of the Office of Student Activities, said Tuesday that Augustine thought that attracting big-name entertainment was the responsibility of the Central Party Committee (CPC), not of the dorms.

Hallerud said Augustine had said he was turning down the proposal because it was not University policy to decentralize all-campus events.

According to Hallerud, Augustine quoted the Code of Student Life, which established the CPC, as a major reason for the refusal.

CPC Duties Cited

The code states that the CPC "is responsible for sponsoring and generally supervising all all-University parties and popular entertainment for which admission is charged."

Andrew Robinson, A4, Maquoketa, president of the CPC, said Tuesday that the group had voted to advise Augustine not to allow the concert because the majority of the CPC members felt it was not financially feasible, that it was planned on the spur of the moment and that there was not enough time to get out the necessary publicity.

The CPC vote to advise cancellation was 9 to 8.

Rienow Sen. Gordon Shuey, A2, Jefferson said, "I don't see why the Interfraternity Council (IFC) and Panhellenic Council (Panhel) can hold a concert and we can't."

Robinson said that CPC had a "gentlemen's agreement" with IFC and Panhel not to interfere with the supervision of the Greek Week Concert.

Offer Reportedly Made

Hallerud said that Rienow had offered to let CPC supervise the concert, but that Augustine had refused. Robinson said that he knew nothing about Rienow's offer.

Soviets Decline To Intermeditate In Ship Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and other top administration sources passed the ominous word Wednesday that the Soviet Union so far had spurned U.S. pleas to act as go-between with North Korea in settling the Pueblo dispute by diplomatic means.

Officials told newsmen "all appropriate diplomatic channels" were being pursued but they did not rule out the use of force.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the North Korean seizure of the U.S. Navy intelligence ship off North Korea Monday night "an act of war."

Rusk made the comment to newsmen who asked him about statements by some members of Congress that the North Korean action constituted an act of war.

"Act Of War"

"I would not object to designating this as an act of war in terms of the category of actions to be so construed," he said.

Rusk advised the North Koreans to "cool it" and said they would be "well advised to pull back here."

The secretary said the United States intended to get back the ship which, with its 83 crewmen, was apparently forced to a North Korean port. Rusk declined to talk about what future course of action this country may take.

The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise and three escorts were reportedly taking position in the Sea of Japan. South Korean sources in Seoul said the 75,000-ton carrier and its escorts would take station 12 miles off Wonsan Bay to await developments. North Korea maintains its territorial waters extend 12 miles out from shore.

Full Dress Session

At the White House, the top-level National Security Council, which ponders major strategic moves, met in full dress session on the problem.

George Christian, White House press secretary, reported after the meeting that "we have not abandoned efforts to settle the problems diplomatically." These efforts "are still of paramount interest," he said, but he would not detail them.

Asked if President Johnson was considering a radio-television report to the nation, Christian said: "We always give consideration to how to present information to the public." But he said no decisions had been reached.

One of the first U.S. moves, after the seizure of the 935-ton Pueblo became known, was to ask the Soviet Union to act as a diplomatic channel between the United States and Communist North Korea in hopes of resolving the tense dispute without shooting.

But White House sources said such efforts had "not had satisfactory results."

The same word was circulated elsewhere in the government.

White House press secretary George Christian stressed the United States still was hopeful that the matter could be settled through diplomatic channels.

Kremlin Attitude Still Unchanged, Wilson Reports

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Wednesday Soviet leaders stuck to their hard line on Vietnam in his talks at the Kremlin, but he insisted a political settlement must be found.

Shortly before taking off on his return to London, after a 51-hour visit, the British leader said neither side had changed its views on Vietnam. Britain supports U.S. policy in general.

"It is no secret," Wilson said, "that explorations about Vietnam and probes are going on outside the context of our talks here in the Kremlin. I don't want to say anything that would make the matter more difficult."

His discussions with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin; the Communist party general secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and other Soviet leaders were based on recent events related to Vietnamese peace possibilities, he added.

"The Vietnamese question has inevitably taken a very high proportion of the time we have spent together," Wilson said. "There is no more urgent or potentially dangerous problem in the world today."

"The Soviet government clearly in private and in public maintained the line that is well known that they hold in these matters."

This is support for North Vietnam and the Viet Cong and condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The problem, Wilson continued, was "how we can get this problem away from the military line — because there will never be a military solution to this problem — and back to a political line that must be the solution to a fine and honorable settlement."

Maker Yacht Seized in North

CONG (AP) — The U.S. sailing yacht Phoenix, seized in its bid to turn over $7,000 worth of medicine first to the North Vietnamese government and then to South Vietnamese, left Hanoi Tuesday with Hanoi's permission to go to the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

The surgical supplies aboard Phoenix will be handed over to North Vietnamese Red Cross for distribution to the Vietnamese and to the "Medical Action Group" which is sponsoring the voyage.

George Scott, executive secretary of the group, told a news conference that the delivery of medical supplies is being carried out as a protest to the war in Vietnam.

Phoenix first arrived here in December hoping to go to Haiphong but the North Vietnamese refused.

EDITOR LOSES APPEAL — The Oregon Supreme Court upheld Wednesday the contempt of court conviction of Annette Buchanan, now Mrs. Michael Conrad, the former managing editor of the University of Oregon student newspaper. The 22-year-old former editor refused to disclose the names of students mentioned in a news story on marijuana and was prosecuted in a Eugene court. She was fined $300. Mrs. Conrad said Wednesday night that she would now appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

LBJ Asks Congress For Civil Rights Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Wednesday for virtually the same civil rights program he sought last year. But high administration officials are not optimistic that all of it will be enacted.

The President called for:

- Stronger federal criminal laws to protect citizens from violence while exercising such rights as voting and attending desegregated schools;
- Greater authority for the Equal Opportunity Commission;
- Nondiscriminatory jury selection at both federal and state levels;
- Open housing.

News In Brief

ALSO IN THE NEWS LAST NIGHT:

SAIGON — North Vietnamese heavy artillery hit the U.S. Marines' Khe Sanh base for the first time in two barrages. The shelling signaled a stepped-up confrontation in the hill country of South Vietnam's northwestern tip.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson asked Congress to extend for three years the life of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, declaring "the ultimate test of our country" is confining nuclear power to peaceful uses.

NEW ORLEANS — Lee Harvey Oswald's Russian-born widow was subpoenaed for questioning by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, who claims President John F. Kennedy died in a crossfire triggered by a band of conspirators. "We've got some very interesting questions to ask her," said a Garrison assistant.

Supreme Court Considers Draft Card Burning Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union argued Wednesday in the Supreme Court that Congress' only purpose in making draft card burning a crime was to stamp out dissent.

A 1965 law covering such actions was termed "an act of hysteria," by Marvin M. Karpatkin, ACLU counsel.

However, the argument got a chilly reception from the justices.

Chief Justice Earl Warren likened draft card burning to a soldier in Vietnam breaking his weapon. Justice Abe Fortas compared it to hurling a brick through a White House window.

'You Have No Case'

Said Fortas: "You have no case to support your argument that a law of Congress can be declared unconstitutional because of improper motive."

The hearing brought the high court into its first direct consideration of the Vietnam war.

David Paul O'Brien, then 19, set the process in motion when he burned his card on the steps of the South Boston Court house in March 1966 in full view of a large crowd and several FBI agents.

The mop-haired Framingham, Mass., young sat up front Wednesday and heard Karpatkin seek reversal of what could be a four-year term in prison.

Law Found Unconstitutional

The U.S. Circuit Court in Boston found the law unconstitutional but said O'Brien could be sent to prison anyway because burning his draft card left him without possession of one and that the Selective Service system has the authority to insist that draft cards be carried.

The government, meanwhile, has sought to upset the decision holding that the law unconstitutionally strikes at "symbolic" speech.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold said Congress' authority stemmed from its power to raise and support armies.

Besides, he said, Congress has a right to establish a draft registration as a "symbol of public authority" and forbid its destruction.

"I suppose that's what makes it attractive to burners," said Griswold, former dean of the Harvard Law School.

"Congress did not forbid dissent," the government's top lawyer went on, "it could not forbid dissent."

Griswold suggested O'Brien could have expressed his opposition to government policies by writing letters to newspapers, speaking on radio and television or simply speaking from the steps of the Courthouse where he burned his card.

Much of the argument concerned what actions can properly be considered "symbolic speech." As such, presumably they would be protected against prosecution by the free speech and free press provisions of the first amendment to the Constitution.

Burning Is Not Protected

Griswold said draft card burning is no more protected by the Constitution than stringing dirty clothes out your window — as a couple did in Nev. Rochelle, N.Y., to protest taxes.

Karpatkin, meanwhile, said he wasn't trying to persuade the court that all forms of expression are protected by the Constitution. For instance, he said, a citizen could not legally protest policy by "dumping garbage or political assassination."

But, he said, draft card burning is as much symbolic speech as peaceful picketing and peaceful sit-ins. And these, he said, have been found permissible by the Supreme Court.

COUNCIL CONFERENCE — President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara are shown Wednesday during a meeting of the National Security Council in the White House. The council meeting dealt with North Korea's seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo.

Phone Helps Test Children's Hearing

Children's fascination with the telephone is being put to practical use in testing children for hearing loss at the Department of Otolaryngology and Maxillofacial Surgery.

Adapting telephones for hearing tests was the idea of Mrs. Jeanne K. Smith, associate professor in the department's Division of Speech and Audiology at University Hospitals.

Because children become familiar with the telephone at a very early age, she reasoned that the telephone might be used as a diagnostic tool for observation of pre-school children with hearing problems and as an adjunct to other hearing evaluation techniques.

Children who might be apprehensive at the sight of conventional audiometry equipment do not hesitate at the opportunity to experiment with the telephone, Prof. Smith said.

In addition, the phone is easy for the child to handle and does not cause the apprehension sometimes triggered by earphones.

As a child plays with the phone, the sounds he hears are made loud or soft. By noting the child's reactions to the sound, Prof. Smith can tell approximately how much the child is hearing.

The telephone will eventually be equipped to be jacked into controlled amplification equipment in the audiological evaluation units for more exact determination of the degree of hearing loss.

Because the device is new, no research has been done to determine just how effective it is in calculating hearing loss.

"But we can make a gross calculation of the degree of hearing loss which is accurate enough to determine whether or not a child will benefit from wearing a hearing aid," Prof. Smith said.

Prof. Smith said.

Douglas Ehninger, professor of speech, has been elected president of the 10,000-member Speech Association of America.

Ehninger assumed his duties this month, after being elected to the post at the association's recent national convention in Los Angeles.

Two other University speech professors also were elected to high offices in the association. Donald Bryant was elected second vice president and Samuel Becker was named to edit "Speech Monographs," the principal scholarly journal of the association.

WSUI Program To Honor Gildas, Idiots' Patron Saint

By BETTY BOWLSBY

It appears the strain of finals is hitting the staff of WSUI, too. In a program Monday, WSUI will honor St. Gildas, the patron saint of idiots. The program, scheduled for 1 to 3 p.m., will feature "Iowa peasant dances by Dvorak," recently discovered in an attic of a home in Spillville where Dvorak spent a summer, according to Bob Block, G. Chicago, co-producer of the program.

The dances include "Mazooka," "Saturday Night in Keokuk Waltz," "The Love Song" and "The Galoppe."

Other music will include a "Sonata for Harpsichord, Cello and Kazoo." Records by vocalists Florence Foster Jenkins will also be played.

Selections from "The Stuffed Owl," known as a collection of very bad poetry, will be read.

Special guest for the program will be Mona Ginga. Block said recently that according to local mythology Ginga was an authority on a very rare disease that can only be cured by cigar smoke and beer.

The highlight of the program will be a silent movie for radio about the life of St. Gildas.

St. Gildas was born in the Valley of Clyde in Scotland around 500 A.D. During his lifetime he did much to promote monastic life. He was known as Gildas the Wise among his followers. He has now become known as the patron saint of idiots, according to Block.

Students To 'Cram' For Final By Radio

Some 750 University students may "cram" for a final exam by radio next Wednesday night.

As the conclusion to a semester-long radio series entitled "Discussions in Earth Science," Sherwood Tuttle, professor of geology, is planning an hour-and-a-half "organized review" for students who will be taking a final exam the next day in the University's basic earth-science course.

The review will be broadcast from 8 to 9:45 p.m. on WSUI Radio. Students may phone the station with questions, which a discussion group in the studio will try to answer. The station may be called at two numbers: 353-5665 or 353-5666.

Robert Irwin, WSUI program director, said the informal live broadcast will be the first such broadcast he can recall, but will present no special production problems. Questions will be written down and taken into the studio, he said.

"Discussions in Earth Science," featuring unrehearsed discussion by students taking the basic earth-science course, has been aired each Tuesday and Thursday evening throughout the semester. The program was designed to be of general interest, though material was taken from the earth-science course, Irwin said.

Tuttle described the series as a means of showing the public how university classroom teaching has changed in recent years, and as "an experiment to test the feasibility of using radio as an aid in teaching large classes."

"We now feel that radio makes a wonderful supplement to a student's regular study. It's so flexible a student can lie down, eat crackers or whistle while he listens," Tuttle said.

Psychiatric Nurses To Hold Workshop

The first of three workshops on "Psychiatric Nursing and the Community" for nurses in Eastern Iowa will be held Monday and Tuesday at the Psychopathic Hospital.

Sessions of the first workshop will concern leadership aspects of nursing. The workshops are designed especially for nurses in Iowa mental health centers, community health nursing, and in general hospitals with psychiatric units.

Representatives from the Community Board of Education and Regina High School board discussed a shared time proposal for City High and Regina at a meeting Wednesday night at City High.

The representatives discussed the possibility and the problems involved with the proposal which would allow students from each school to attend classes at the other school. Regina is a Catholic school.

The proposal, which will be investigated more thoroughly by the representatives, will be brought up at a future meeting of the community board.

According to Jack Demitroff, assistant registrar, a special effort will be made this semester to prevent students from entering the registration area before the last two digits of their identification numbers are posted on the bulletin board at the entrance.

Vehicle Hits Coed

A University coed was reported in good condition at General Hospital Wednesday night after she was struck by a motor vehicle on North Dubuque Street.

Injured was Rebecca Sue Trachsel, Al, Milton. She suffered facial lacerations. The accident happened about 5:30 p.m. at North Dubuque and Church streets.

No further details were available late Wednesday night.

God Is Alive On British Stage

LONDON (AP) — The rule that God must never be represented on a British stage has been abolished.

The decision was taken by the Lord Chamberlain, theater censor, after talks with church authorities.

He has approved parts of a play called Ruling Class, in which a character thinks he is the incarnation of all gods.

Beck Enters Governor Race

DES MOINES (AP) — Calling for lower state taxes by "practically eliminating" the Iowa service tax, Centerville publisher Robert K. Beck launched his second campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination Wednesday.

At a press conference called to announce his candidacy, Beck said if he were governor he would call a special session of the Legislature immediately to correct what he called "inequities" in the 3-per-cent tax.

Beck, 52, a former state legislator and highway commissioner, was narrowly defeated by the 1966 Republican primary by William G. Murray of Ames.

Beck left Des Moines Wednesday afternoon to begin a three-day round of appearances to promote his candidacy.

Beck contended that the service tax "was not needed in 1967 and is not needed now." He said property tax relief could occur without the service tax, and he laid the blame for its existence on Democratic Gov. Harold E. Hughes, although GOP legislative leaders helped draft the tax bill.

Registration Reorganized

Procedural changes for Registration have been announced by the Registrar's Office.

Students will now enter the Field House by the northeast doors. Faculty will use the southeast doors.

Registration materials will be picked up in the North Gymnasium, where activity booths were formerly located. The booths will be in the east concourse. The change has been made to make more room for the distribution of registration materials.

After depositing registration materials, student will leave the registration area down the northeast steps as before but will leave the building by the southeast doors.

According to Jack Demitroff, assistant registrar, a special effort will be made this semester to prevent students from entering the registration area before the last two digits of their identification numbers are posted on the bulletin board at the entrance.

discriminatory housing complaints, she says to call 337-1691, the administrative office of the Civic Center.

Human Relations Commission in Iowa City placed the address of Mrs. Donald R. of 418 Upland Ave., chair of the commission.

It said that the seven-member commission hoped that it would respond to the ad and report incidents of discrimination.

duty of the Human Relations Commission is to enforce fair Housing Ordinance, went in to effect in 1964.

ordinance specifies that discriminatory practices in the sale, financing or showing of advertising of dwelling commercial units or realty are against public policy.

ordinance provides for the citation and hearing of complaints.

complaints have been filed with the nearly four-year-old commission, according to Mrs. but she said the commission is aware that unreported is persisted in the Iowa area and would like to act on them.

Ham Operators Offer Way To Cut Out Bills

By JUDI PIER

Tired of paying high phone bills every month? One possible solution would be to join the University Amateur Radio Club.

Members of the club can call any country in the world at practically any time, day or night, without charge, according to Ron Gutshall, A3, Van Meter, the club's president.

For example, a member can call another ham operator in California, who in turn "patches" the call into a telephone. In this way, members can talk to the party in California, free of charge.

Membership is open to students and faculty members who have licenses issued by the Federal Communications Commission, according to Gutshall.

Knowledge of international Morse code is necessary for obtaining such a license. Gutshall said that the club would offer courses in code to anyone who wanted to join as an associate member (one who does not have a license).

"Hamshack" Is Home
The "hamshack," located in the Old Naval Research room which was used for radio research for the Navy in World War II, is the headquarters for the club.

The club owns two stations. One station, CW or continuous waves is used for transmissions of code. The other, single sideband, is used for voice transmissions.

The club also owns teletype equipment that can be run through either station.

The equipment can obtain information from American and foreign press services and copy it on the teletype machine, according to Gutshall.

Novelist-Poet Borges To Lecture Here

Jorge Luis Borges, the internationally-acclaimed novelist and poet from Argentina, will visit the University next week to give a lecture and lead two colloquia.

Borges, who has been called one of the most original of contemporary Spanish-American writers, will speak on the works of 19th century English author Rudyard Kipling at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 1, in the Union Ballroom.

He will present two colloquia on his writing Feb. 2, the first in Spanish, at 10:30 a.m. in the Union Ohio State Room, and the second in English at 4 p.m. in 304 English-Philosophy Building. The first is sponsored by the Department of Spanish and Portuguese, and the second by the Department of Comparative Literature.

Borges is internationally acclaimed as a poet, critic and writer of fiction. His short, sometimes even fragmented, stories, playing boldly with the baffling dimensions of reality, have won him recognition throughout the world. His work has been translated into all the major European languages.

Borges has traveled extensively throughout Europe and the United States and has lectured at many major universities, including Oxford and Cambridge Universities in England and Columbia University, in New York.

He is currently a visiting lecturer at Harvard University.

Borges has been the recipient of many of the world's most prestigious literary awards, including the international Prix Formentor.

Among his more well-known books translated into English are: "Labyrinths," "Ficciones," "Dreamtigers" and "Other Inquisitions."

Borges' appearance at the University is being sponsored by the comparative literature program, the Spanish and Portuguese department, and the newly organized School of Letters.

Time Is Ripe To Join Band

Now is the time to join the band!

Frank Piersol, professor of music and director of bands at the University, has announced openings in two Hawkeye concert bands and the marching band.

"Opportunities to join were never better," Piersol said. "We are especially interested in non-music majors and freshmen who may have played with their high school band but decided not to join last semester until they 'got settled' on campus," he added.

Academic credit is available for band participation Piersol said. The concert bands will rehearse on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Interested students are encouraged to stop in at the Band Office on the first floor of the Music Building.

Graduate Art Show To Be Given

A comprehensive look at the types of art works being created by graduate students in the School of Art will be offered by an exhibition which will open Saturday on the first floor of the Main Gallery at the Art Building.

Karen Gunderson, G. Racine, Wis., and Michael Meyers, G. Iowa City, are organizing the show, which will present works by some 165 students. Each graduate student exhibiting will select one of his works to be shown, with paintings, drawings, sculpture, prints, ceramic works, jewelry and photographs to be included.

The exhibition will be open to the public on Tuesday. Gallery hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Purpose of the show is to give students in all areas in the School of Art, as well as the public, a chance to see work of fellow students. There will be no jury or prizes offered, but many of the works shown will be for sale.

The work of 13 students who are candidates for advanced degrees at the University's winter Commencement will be shown in a separate exhibition on the upper floor of the Main Gallery next Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Works by part of the students will be shown the first two days and those of the rest on the last two days. Each student will exhibit the work which he submitted to fulfill the thesis requirement for his degree, and will also show additional representative work.

Interstates Believed To Be Safer Of Highways

AMES — A study showing interstate highways are safer than others indicates more free-ways should be built, the Iowa Highway Commission chairman said Wednesday.

Commissioners were shown results of the study at a meeting in Ames. The average of deaths per million miles of travel on interstate highways was 2.4 while on primary roads it was 6.5.

9 Accused Of Negro's Death

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — The state Wednesday arrested nine white men and filed charges of murder and arson in the fire-bombing death of Negro leader Vernon F. Dahmer of Forrest County.

Five of the arrested men were among 12 already awaiting trial on federal conspiracy indictments in the case. The 12 federal indictments were identified by the FBI as members of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Nightriders attacked in the early morning darkness of Jan. 10, 1966, leaving Dahmer's home, grocery store and car in ashes.

Severely burned, Dahmer returned fire with a shotgun despite a hail of bullets as his wife, daughter and two sons escaped out windows.

The men arrested all were from neighboring Jones County, and included Imperial Wizard Samuel Holloway Bowers Jr., 44, of the White Knights, charged with arson.
