

Senate Reaction Varies

Senate leaders expressed differing opinions Wednesday about the amendment to the student body constitution given initial approval by the Student Senate Tuesday night.

The amendment would make the constitution the "supreme authority governing the regulation of student non-academic affairs."

Legislation passed by the senate would no longer be submitted to the administration for approval. The senate will consider the constitution to be in effect if the amendment is passed at one more senate meeting, signed by Student Body Pres. John Pelton and approved by the student body during the all-campus election Mar. 6.

Pres. Howard R. Bowen said Wednesday night that he could not comment on the ramifications of such a proposal until he had time to read it.

Bowen did not approve the original constitution because it gave the senate veto power over the administration's rules on non-academic matters.

Pelton, who introduced the amendment, said, "The purpose of this amendment is to create a true democracy within the student body. I want to stress that this is a constitution for the entire student body, not just the Student Senate."

Pelton reversed former stand. Pelton's proposal is a reversal of his earlier stand when first elected last spring. He said that during his term of office he had changed his ideals on student government.

6 ballot whether the senate passed it again or not.

Student Body Vice Pres. Ken Wessels said that he wholeheartedly supported the amendment.

Wessels is a candidate for Student Body President.

Hubbard Supports Amendment. Wessels' runningmate, Sen. Phil Hubbard, agreed with him and added, "My stand is not against the administration, it is in defense of the autonomous student element of the University."

Sen. Carl Varner, the other announced candidate for Student Body President, and Sen. Gordon Shuey, his running mate, expressed doubts about the amendment and its effectiveness.

Varner complained that the proposal of the amendment had not been announced beforehand, and was rammed through in one night with only 20 senators present.

He said it was impossible to distinguish between the students' academic lives and their non-academic lives, and until some clear guidelines could be set up, the constitution would be worthless.

Varner Declines Support. Varner said he couldn't support the amendment because it was too vague and had too many interpretations.

Shuey, who voted for the amendment Tuesday, said he liked the Bill of Rights and the senate's deriving power from the students, but the amendment was too vague.

Sen. Bruce Nieman added that the amendment could be construed to mean that students were stealing authority away from the University.

Later Thant saw President Charles de Gaulle, a critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam. Both agreed that negotiations on Vietnam "are not for tomorrow," the sources said.

Thant was said to feel the political situation in Vietnam was too complex to be settled by negotiations between the United States, even with a South Vietnamese representative at the American side. Bo reportedly insisted on the importance of the National Liberation Front — the Viet Cong — whose role in eventual negotiations has been challenged by the Saigon government.

Chinese Influence Cited. It was also emphasized during Thant's talks that Chinese influence in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, was discouraging whatever sentiment there was in North Vietnam for negotiations, the sources said.

Thant was to have returned to New York from London Tuesday night after a peace mission that also took him to India and the Soviet Union. He suddenly canceled his flight and came to Paris after spending the night in London.

Nguyen Van Sao, a North Vietnamese spokesman, told other reporters in London that at Thant's request he helped to set up the session with Bo in Paris.

Sao said the meeting primarily was to permit Thant to receive answers to questions he submitted to the North Vietnamese regime last week through North Vietnam's consul general in New Delhi. These questions were said to relate to Hanoi's terms for a peace conference.

After a 75-minute meeting with Mai Van Bo, head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, Thant was said to believe the positions of North Vietnam and the United States were too far apart to hope for any early peace conference.

Thant Pessimism On Peace Reported

PARIS (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant conferred Wednesday with a North Vietnamese diplomat and came away convinced that peace in Vietnam is as far away as ever, informed sources reported.

Romney Voices Doubt Of Nixon Peace Plan

CLAREMONT, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney described on Wednesday the administration's position on peace in Vietnam as negative, "fool-hardy and defeatist," and questioned whether former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has anything better to offer.

Keynoting his renewed New Hampshire presidential primary campaign, Romney asked of his chief rival:

"Does Mr. Nixon disagree that it is necessary for responsible candidates for the Republican presidential nomination to offer the voters more than just a change of officeholders?"

Romney, troubled by a sore throat, rested and conferred with campaign advisers in Manchester before setting out to meet voters in Newport and Claremont.

Romney shook hands in a Newport supermarket, then told about 100 people at a school cafeteria in Claremont that U.S. escalation of the Vietnam war is self-defeating.

"We've been following a strategy that just doesn't work, a strategy that doesn't produce results," Romney said. "How you can win the hearts and minds of the people by destroying them and the property you are trying to defend is beyond me."

Romney said his proposal of neutralization of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, guaranteed by international agreement, would be an effective instrument to end the war.

Nixon has criticized Romney's proposal, arguing that neutrality could only be applied once peace had been obtained.

Romney said that is incorrect historically and currently.

"Without a just and positive program for peace, the deadlock on peace won't be ended," he said. "And the war will continue indefinitely and at unknown costs."

Nixon Backs Lindsay On Sanitation Strike

DURHAM, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon strongly supported Mayor John V. Lindsay's position Wednesday on the strike of sanitation workers in New York, and thus indirectly criticized the action taken by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"The sanitation union broke the law — the state law," Nixon said, "and I think that the law having been broken, Mayor Lindsay was correct in then saying — and requesting — that the National Guard come in, in order, in effect, to do the job they were not doing."

Thunderous applause from about 3,000 students and townspeople gathered in the University of New Hampshire field house interrupted Nixon at this point.

Rockefeller, although he continues to deny presidential ambitions, is considered one of Nixon's leading contenders for the Republican nomination.

Breaking of the laws of the state of New York or any other state cannot and must not be rewarded by giving those who break the law what they are asking for.

Police Search 'Straying' Plane Downed By China In S.C. Town

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP) — Tension mounted in this small mill and college town Wednesday, as police searched for a man who reportedly said by telephone that he was "psycho" and might kill again.

Police conducted a wide-spread manhunt in the wake of the strangulation of a woman and a teenager and the abduction of another teenager.

Cherokee County Sheriff Julian Wright said he believed the three incidents were related. A mystery call Monday night, believed to have been placed by the same man who called the same man last week, strengthened the sheriff's belief.

The latest crime occurred Tuesday morning as a 15-year-old Negro girl, Opal Dianne Buckson, waited at a rural school bus stop. Gracie Buckson, 16, told officers she had not yet reached the bus stop when she saw her sister forced into the trunk of a car by a white man who sped away.

Managing Editor Bill Gibbons of the Gaffney Ledger said an anonymous caller had telephoned only Monday night and said, "If they don't catch me, there will be more deaths."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chinese MIG aircraft attacked two unarmed American planes which strayed near China's Hainan Island Tuesday night. One was shot down, the other fled to Da Nang, South Vietnam.

The Pentagon, announcing this Wednesday, said the two U.S. Navy propeller-driven A1 Skyraiders inadvertently strayed into Hainan's airspace because of navigational difficulties.

Peking Radio, in a broadcast Monday in Tokyo, charged the United States with carrying out "war provocations."

"Navy pilots of the People's Liberation Army immediately dealt a heavy blow and shot down one of them and damaged the other," Peking said.

At the Pentagon, Asst. Secretary of Defense Phil G. Goulding said he did not know whether the second plane which escaped had been damaged or whether its pilot was injured.

The slow-flying Skyraiders — no match for the supersonic MIG — were on a ferry flight from Cubi Point in the Philippines to the aircraft carrier Coral Sea, in the Tonkin Gulf.

The carrier launches fighter-bombers on raids against North Vietnam.

Goulding said the planes reached approximately five miles off Hainan Island's east coast.

Only a few days ago another A1 Skyraider came within a few miles of overflying Hainan but turned back apparently without incident.

Tuesday night's incident was the ninth involving U.S. planes penetrating Chinese airspace since September 1965.

Ft. Lauderdale Manager Warns Students Of Laws

Students whose travels may take them to Ft. Lauderdale for spring break, have been warned to beware the ordinances of the golden city.

City Manager R.H. Bubber cited guidelines for students planning to visit his city during spring holidays in a letter addressed to M.L. Huit, dean of students.

Students should not come to Ft. Lauderdale unless they have confirmed housing reservations, according to Bubber. City ordinances prohibit sleeping in cars or sleeping in the open.

Campers or trailers are not permitted to park on the city's beaches.

All laws governing individual conduct will be enforced, Bubber said. These laws include a 21-year age requirement for purchasing or consuming alcoholic beverages.

Kyl Plans Tour Of Campus Today

Rep. John Kyl (R-Iowa) will visit the University today to tour the campus and speak at a College of Medicine conference.

Kyl, who is from Bloomfield, serves on the House Committees on Interior and Insular Affairs and on House Administration.

He will have lunch at 1 p.m. with Pres. Howard R. Bowen and other officials at the Union. At 2 p.m. he will tour the campus, including the Hydraulics Laboratory and University Hospitals.

In the evening he will speak to the Iowa Academy of General Practice, a gathering of Iowa physicians, at the University Athletic Club, Coralville.

Doris Levens, associate director of Nursing Service, had been serving as acting director since the death in 1966 of the former director, Helen F. Waters.

Duties Assumed By Mrs. Aydelotte

Myrtle E. Kitchell Aydelotte has assumed her new duties as director of Nursing Services at University Hospitals.

Mrs. Aydelotte, former dean of the College of Nursing, was appointed to the new post last week by the Board of Regents. She also retains her present position as a professor of nursing.

Doris Levens, associate director of Nursing Service, had been serving as acting director since the death in 1966 of the former director, Helen F. Waters.

Soph Adds Scoring Weight

By PAUL STEVENS

CALL HIM "THIN MAN," or "The Stick" — it makes no difference to Iowa sophomore Glenn Vidnovic. The angular 6-5½, 168-pound Vidnovic has scored 35 points in his first two varsity games, providing the Hawkeyes with valuable scoring punch in the front line. — Photo by Rick Greenawalt

Cliche-worn sports writers craftily insert "The Stick" in front of his surname. Iowa fans cheer on his efforts on the playing floor with chants such as "Go, Thin Man."

But Glenn Vidnovic, a new and most welcomed addition to the Hawkeye basketball team, doesn't seem to mind. However, he is somewhat confused over remarks directed toward his angular 6-5½, 168-pound frame.

"I really don't think people realize," Vidnovic said, "that if I put on weight, I would lose most of my quickness. And it's the quickness that counts in Coach (Ralph) Miller's style of basketball."

Vidnovic, a sophomore from McKeesport, Pa., had in the past two weeks become one of the most publicized sports figures in the state, and several factors were involved in the shift of the spotlight to this 19-year-old.

Adds To Scoring

First and foremost was the fact that the Hawkeyes were in desperate need of additional scoring help in their front line where consistent play usually came only from the able touch of Super Sam Williams.

Secondly, Glenn had shown promise of being a fine scorer during his freshman year, when he averaged 14 points for a group of frosh that Coach Miller called "the finest in my years of coaching." However he was forced to sit out the first semester of his sophomore year due to scholastic ineligibility.

One further factor existed, this a real question mark. Could a guy as thin as Vidnovic survive the bumping and shoving from big men 40 or 50 pounds his superior underneath the basket? Those who cover Iowa sports apparently felt he could, for publicity on this then-unproven sophomore began pouring out sports pages and in sports broadcasts a week before Glenn's first taste of varsity competition, against Purdue.

No 'Second Coming'

"Just don't expect a Second Coming," Coach Miller warned. "Glenn will have a tremendous amount of pressure on him at first, so don't expect too much from him."

However the pressure wasn't apparent when Glenn ambled onto the playing floor against Purdue, and it was even less noticeable in the sophomore's second varsity contest at Michigan. Vidnovic became living proof that a guy with a rail-thin frame can make a real go of it in Big 10 play.

Against Purdue, Vidnovic sank his first four shots and finished with 17 points, and he bettered that production by one at Michigan. In both victories, the Hawkeyes scored over 90 points, something they hadn't done since the season's start.

Books Given Priority

Glenn's performance against

Purdue was remarkable in light of the fact that he had practiced only once in a two-week span before the game. Books were given priority over the basketball during that spell.

"I had a bit of a problem with my endurance during those games, though it wasn't as bad against Michigan," Vidnovic said. "I got tired pretty fast, and it took more running before I could build myself back up."

Vidnovic and sophomore Chad Calabria were prize packages obtained by Coach Miller and assistant Lanny Van Eman during a recruiting trip to Pennsylvania two years ago. Van Eman previously had played for the same high school that Glenn attended, McKeesport High, and thus the two were acquainted.

"Lanny and Coach Miller were scouting an all-star game in which Chad and I played, but they were scouting Chad at the time," Vidnovic said. "I guess it was just a lucky break that I had a good game that night."

Glenn scored 16 points in the post-season affair — the Dapper Dan Roundball Classic — but the most valuable player award went to a guy on the opposing team by the name of Calvin Murphy. Murphy is currently among the nation's scoring leaders at Niagara University.

When Vidnovic took the floor against Purdue two weeks ago, it began just his second season of varsity basketball — college or high school.

Grows 5½ Inches In 3 Years

While Glenn's weight remained at a constant 158 pounds, the rest of his body shot up and he grew from a 6-0 sophomore to a 6-4 height as a senior. Vidnovic picked up an additional 14 inches before enrolling at Iowa.

"I can't afford to put on any weight . . . I'm fast when I stay thin," Vidnovic said. "If I got up around 200 pounds, I'd lose my quickness. As it is I'm able to drive on a lot of men because they're slower than me. I suppose a little extra weight might help for rebounding, but everyone gets their share of being bumped around."

Intramural Champ Decided Tonight

Phi Delta Phi and Delta Tau Delta meet tonight to determine the champion of intramural basketball in the All-University finals at 7:30 on the varsity court.

In Wednesday night's semi-final games, Phi Delta Phi defeated 6th Floor Rienow, 46-31, and Delta Tau Delta beat the Prentiss Nads, 48-33.

The Phi Deltas were topped in scoring by Frosty Evashevski's 15 points. Gaylen Noard led Rienow with 10 points.

Tau Delta Tau Delta was paced by Rod Barnhart with 15 points and Bill Kahler with 11. Si McKinnie and Ed Podolak had 12 and 10 points for the losers.

SYMBOL DEPLETION

We've almost lost a good word, and we hate to see it go.

The movie industry may feel the same way about words such as colossal, gigantic, sensational and history-making. They're good words—good symbols. But they've been overused, and we tend to pay them little heed. Their effectiveness as symbols is being depleted.

One of our own problems is with the word "opportunity." It's suffering symbol depletion, too. It's passed over with scant notice in an advertisement. It's been used too much and too loosely.

This bothers us because we still like to talk about opportunity. A position at Collins holds great potential. Potential for involvement in designing and producing some of the most important communication systems in the world. Potential for progressive advancement in responsibility and income. Unsurpassed potential for pride-in-product.

That's opportunity.

And we wish we could use the word more often.

Collins representatives will visit your campus this year. Contact your College Placement Office for details.

Wisconsin's Speed, Franklin Loom As Threats To Hawks

Wisconsin, fresh from a victory over league-leading Ohio State, comes to Iowa City Saturday night with what Dick Schultz describes as a "tough club with very good speed."

Schultz, assistant basketball coach, scouted the Badgers in their upset win over Ohio State Monday night, 86-78.

Schultz said that the defensive effort displayed by Wisconsin was, "the best I've ever seen by a Johnny Erickson-coached team."

Wore Down 'State'

"Wisconsin used a full court man-to-man press which wore down Ohio State," Schultz said. "Wisconsin used this type of press throughout the game."

Schultz had praise for Wisconsin's 6-5 guard John Schell who held Ohio State's Steve Howell to five points. Schultz called Schell's effort "tremendous. It was definitely the turning point in the game."

Howell, Bill Hosket and Dave Sorenson average 60 points among them each game, and when just one of these boys is held down, Ohio State is in trouble."

Hawks Ready For Press

Schultz expects the Badgers to use its full court man-to-man press Saturday mainly because of the good luck they had with it Monday night.

Concerning the press, Schultz said, "I hope they press us because I feel we're in much better physical condition than Wisconsin."

Schultz also had praise for other Badger players. Joe Franklin, 6-4 forward is one of the finest players in the league," he said. "There's nothing he can't do . . . his speed is exceptional and he's a tough boy on the boards."

Compares Nagle To Norman

"Chuck Nagle is somewhat like our Ron Norman in that he can be deadly with that 17-20 foot jump shot if he's having a good night," commented Schultz.

Schultz summed up by saying, "They've got a team with real good speed. Wisconsin will be very tough on the boards, especially their center, Jim Johnson. They want this game just as badly as we do since they're still very much in contention for the title."

Intramurals Key Meeting To Be Held

An important organizational meeting for the intramural 50-point call shot pool tournament will be at 4:30 this afternoon in the Union Minnesota Room.

Jim Berg, head of intramurals, urges all team representatives to attend the meeting to go over tournament procedures and pick up tournament schedules.

The first three rounds of the singles competition will begin Saturday and the doubles start March 2.

There are now five singles leagues with 118 participants representing 33 campus organizations. The doubles competition has five leagues with 66 participants from 33 organizations.

The winners of semifinal games will play for the All-University Championship tonight at 7:30 at the Field House. The winner will receive the championship trophy after the game and will play again against the Iowa freshman team in a preliminary contest before the Iowa-Illinois game March 2.

Hawks' Gym Showing Is Upsetting To Bailie

"We looked like hell" was Iowa gymnastics Coach Sam Bailie's first reaction to Iowa's victory over Iowa State Tuesday.

Bailie said that the Hawkeyes let down after defeating defending NCAA champion Southern Illinois last Saturday at Carbondale.

"It could be a blessing in disguise," said Bailie. "The whole team just let up for this meet, and we didn't win it until the last two events. The team now realizes that it can be disastrous to let up after winning a big meet."

Bailie said that he was disappointed with the performance of Don Hatch on the still rings and Jerry Bonney, Jim Morlan and Don Uffelman on the trampoline.

"All of them can perform better," said Bailie.

Farnam, a high bar specialist, said, "The Iowa game was a release of pressure after we were so keyed up for the Southern Illinois meet."

Iowa will face a stronger Saluki team next Wednesday than it did last Saturday. The injuries that spotted Southern Illinois have healed. Bailie said that Dale Hart on the trampoline would be especially dangerous.

Both Iowa and Southern Illinois have nation-high records of 188-point meets, and they are presently ranked one-two in the nation.

U.S. Captures Silver Medal

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — America's surprisingly successful skaters, doing their best to smooth over the deluge of disappointment that struck U.S. Alpine skiers, sparked again Wednesday as Terry McDermott captured one medal and Tim Wood closed in on another in the Winter Olympics.

McDermott of Birmingham, Mich., the 1964 Olympic 500-meter speed skating champion, but given little chance to place this year, overcame a three-year retirement and poor ice to win a silver medal in the event.

Despite his 48th and last starting position, the gritty 27-year-old McDermott sped through pools of water in many sections and tie Magne Thomassen of Norway for second place in 40.5 seconds.

Erhard Keller of West Germany, a 23-year-old dental student who has the pending world mark of 39.2, won the gold medal in 40.3.

"I didn't come back to the Olympics just to skate," said McDermott, a sales representative, who was a barber before the 1964 Olympics. "I wanted to win a medal."

Wood, the U.S. men's figure skating champion from Bloomfield Hills, Mich., sent American hopes soaring anew a few hours later by jumping into second place with the completion of the five compulsory figures.

Wood trailed only Wolfgang Schwarz of Austria, who became the heavy favorite following the shocking collapse of his countryman, Emmerich Danzer, the world champion who figured for a certain gold medal plummeted from first after Tuesday's first two figures to fourth with virtually no chance of winning a gold or silver medal.

Wood looked a solid bet to pick up the United States' seventh medal, all won by the skaters—Peggy Fleming's gold, three silvers and a bronze by the women speed skaters and McDermott's.

"These figures are the best he ever has done in a major international competition," said Wood's father, Dr. Kennedy A. Wood. "We are real excited because we feel Tim can make it to the top."

End Of Era: Garden Shuts Doors At Last

NEW YORK (AP) — They locked the doors for the last time at the old Madison Square Garden Wednesday and for any old-timers on the staff it marked the end of an era.

But for others, it signaled the beginning of a new life as they prepared to move their base of operations 15 blocks south to the new Garden.

"I'm heading down there," said Dominic Paradise, who was on hand when the old Garden opened on Nov. 20, 1925.

"I'll miss this old place, but working keeps me young, so I'll hang on as long as I can." Paradise, who is 75, has done all kinds of jobs for the Garden, from ushering to selling tickets. Right now, he is a guard. He is the only member of the staff who was an employe on opening day in 1925.

"In fact," he recalled, "I started out in 1921 at the Garden that preceded the 8th Avenue Garden. Our first even was a six-day bike race."

Two of the men who rode in that race, Harry Horan and Willie Keller, are listed as ushers on the Garden staff.

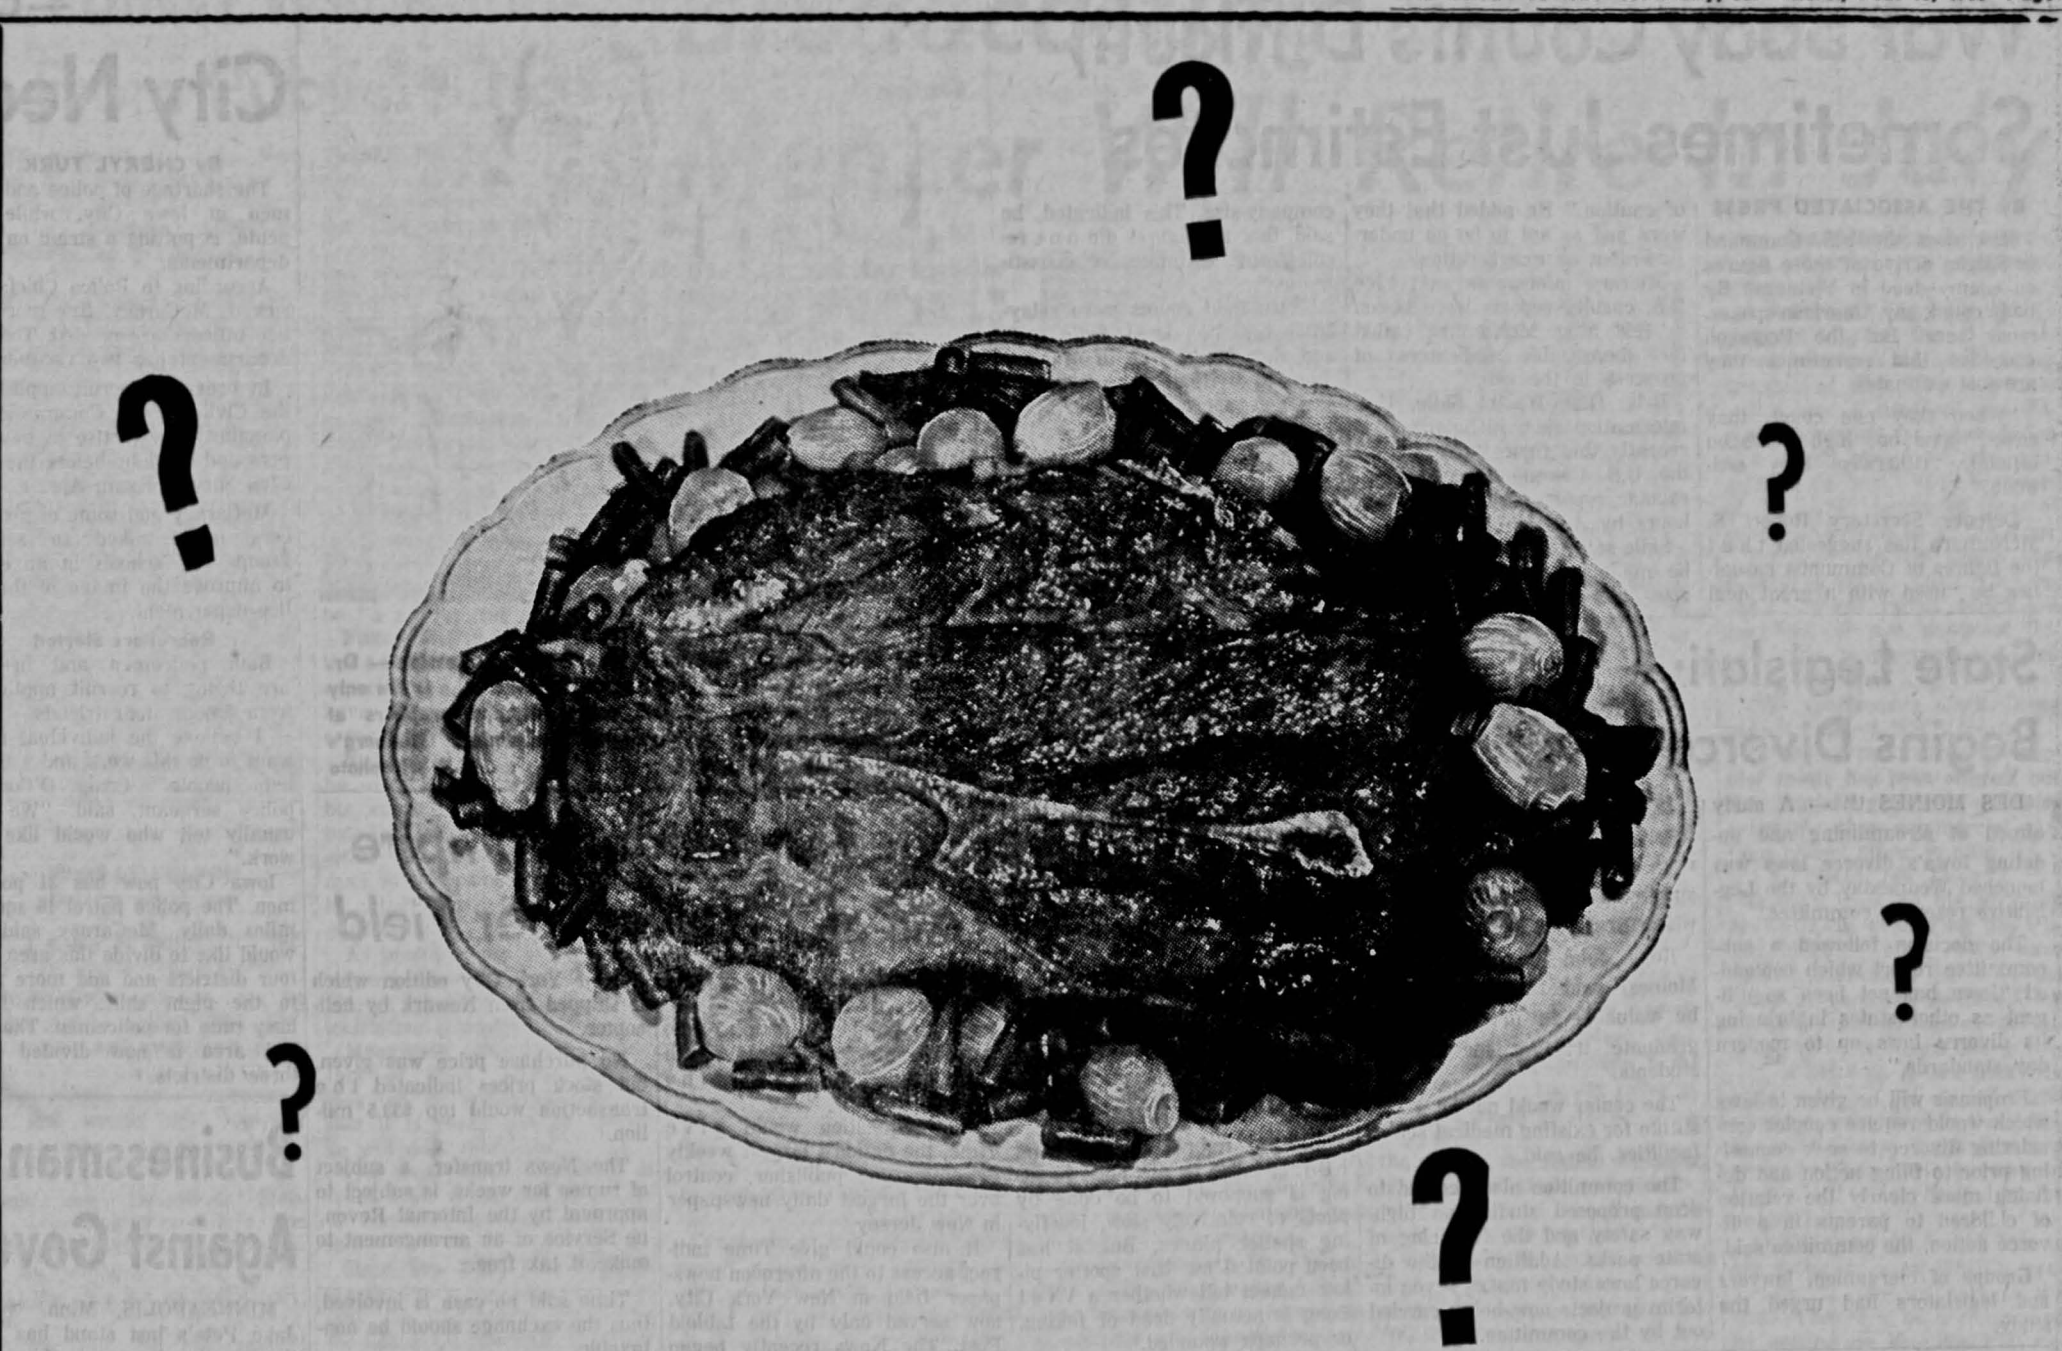

"We had 75 men come over to this Garden in 1925," said Paradise, "and I'm the only one still alive."

Like most of the veterans, his most vivid recollections are of the would-be gate crashers.

"I guess you could say we have heard every excuse in the world from gate crashers," he laughed. "We really got them at fights. Some guys said they were managers of fighters on the card. Others would tell us they left their car keys with their brother inside. But they didn't know where brother was."

Richard Esau, chief of security for the past 18 years, said he will miss the old place.

Esau, who was a lieutenant with the New York City Police Department before he came to the garden, also had humorous recollections of crashers. "One guy came up to the front gate," he said, "and tried to get in without a ticket. The ticket taker told him he would have to have one, and he said: 'All right, if you don't trust me, keep my newspaper until I come back.'"

IS THERE A QUESTION . . . about the grade of meat that you've been buying?

You've probably had this question in mind many times as you look through the newspaper filled with special prices on meat. You may say . . . the price is right but it is a good enough beef to serve my family or . . . should I try and save a few pennies by buying a cheaper grade of beef or . . . how do I really tell the difference between a good and bad cut of beef. At RANDALL'S you can take that big question OUT of buying beef, because we sell only the finest and that's U.S.D.A. CHOICE. Every cut of beef at RANDALL'S carries this label, which is your guarantee that the beef you are buying is the finest top quality beef available. Only beef which is labeled U.S.D.A. CHOICE has passed rigid government inspections for quality, tenderness and flavor. So why guess about the grade of beef you buy when you can shop RANDALL'S with confidence. Plus our every day low prices assure you of getting more for your meat dollar at RANDALL'S than any where else. Not just weekend specials on cheaper grades of beef, but everyday low prices on the best.

Two Men Isolated For Telling Truth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) said Wednesday that State Department employees have been "put in isolation for telling the truth to a Senate subcommittee."

He named them as Harry Hite and Edwin Burkhardt and said they were being penalized for testimony they gave the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in its investigation of the Otepka case.

Otto F. Otepka, the department's former chief security evaluator, was ordered dismissed over the subcommittee's protest after he was accused of giving its chief counsel classified documents without authorization from his superiors.

However, last December Secretary of State Dean Rusk changed the dismissal verdict to demotion, reassignment and reprimand. Otepka has an appeal pending.

Williams told the Senate that

Hite and Burkhardt have been "twiddling their thumbs" for 16 months in a State Department annex although they have repeatedly asked their superiors for work.

Williams said Hite is being paid $15,000 a year and Burkhardt $13,000 but when he went to the annex it took him 10 minutes to find the men, in a building filled with equipment.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) speaking of Hite and Burkhardt, denounced "the utterly appalling conditions that surround these men" and said "it is an unspeakable disgrace that any employee of this government should be treated as these men have been treated."

"If these men are not removed at once from this intolerable situation," Gross' statement continued, "heads should roll in the State Department and the first man to go should be Secretary of State Dean Rusk himself."

Fulton Will Retire From Public Office

DES MOINES (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert D. Fulton, deciding not to bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, announced Wednesday he is retiring from work.

Fulton told a news conference that this decision was based on "entirely personal" reasons and was against the urging of some segments of the state party organization who want him to challenge Franzburg.

The lieutenant governor called Franzburg "an able and respected candidate" and said other Democrats "imbued with the Hughes tradition of leadership" will run for the various state offices.

Following the news conference, Franzburg said Fulton's withdrawal from public office would be "a serious loss to the state."

Fulton took a parting shot at the nature of the lieutenant governor's job. "It is ridiculous to have a part-time lieutenant governor," he said.

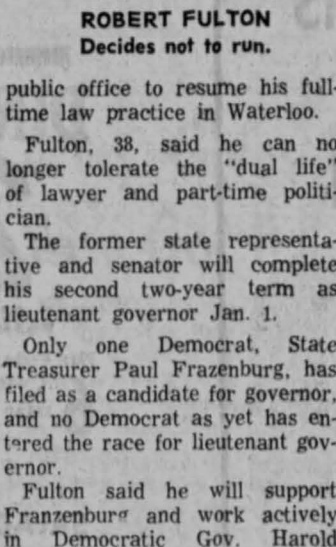

Fulton had previously indicated he would not seek re-election to his current post, but he been listed as a prospective candidate either for 3rd District congressman, attorney general, Democratic national committeeman or as governor.

As presiding officer of the legislature since 1964, Fulton has played a key role in Democratic legislative strategy.

Meanwhile, Republican Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst took out nominating papers and said it is reasonable to assume he will seek re-election.

"At least there has been no great draft under foot to get me to run for anything else," he said.

State Sen. Max Milo Mills of Marshalltown has announced he'll seek the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Five men have entered the race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

public office to resume his full-time law practice in Waterloo.

Fulton, 38, said he can no longer tolerate the "dual life" of lawyer and part-time politician.

The former state representative and senator will complete his second two-year term as lieutenant governor Jan. 1.

Only one Democrat, State Treasurer Paul Franzburg, has filed as a candidate for governor, and no Democrat as yet has entered the race for lieutenant governor.

Fulton said he will support Franzburg and work actively in Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes' bid for a U.S. Senate seat.

Broadcasting Since 1917, Menzer Will Retire In July

By DENNIS BROWN

The man who may have the longest career in broadcasting in the United States will retire next July. He is Carl Menzer, 67, director of University radio stations WSUI and KSUI-FM.

Menzer, who is a professor of engineering, began his career in broadcasting as a freshman at the University in 1917, three years before commercial radio broadcasting began. He has directed University radio for 45 years.

Menzer left the station for 15 months after his graduation in 1922 to work in Newton, but later returned to take charge of the station.

WSUI, which claims to be the nation's oldest station west of the Mississippi River, has undergone many changes since Menzer took over in 1923. WSUI's frequency and power were changed frequently until 1941 when the station was authorized to broadcast on 910 kilocycles with 5,000 watts of power.

LONG CAREER ENDING — The man with one of the longest radio careers in the country will be retiring this year. Carl Menzer, director of University station WSUI, began his radio career as a freshman at the University in 1917. He will retire in July.

In 1924 the studios were moved from the basement of the Physics Building to the attic of the Engineering Building. In 1927 they were moved to the Union where they remained until 1938 when they were moved to their present location in the Engineering Building.

Early programming techniques were cruder than today's. In 1923, Menzer was the station's entire staff. He would broadcast in the morning until lunch time, would shut down the station while he ate, and would resume broadcasting after lunch.

Menzer recalled that to do an early play-by-play of a baseball game, he and a companion had to lug all the necessary equipment for a remote broadcast to a baseball diamond located where the English Philosophy Building now stands. The two men climbed to the roof of the covered bleachers where they set up their equipment. They nailed a board on the roof on which to set the heels of their shoes to prevent them from slipping off.

WSUI occupies space equal to half the area of a football field. Thirteen persons are employed full time. An average of 20 part-time employees also work at the station. The payroll of the station is about $80,000.

The Extension Division of the University under Dean Robert F. Ray and Menzer have responsibility for the station.

WSUI's programming, which has been the butt of considerable criticism in recent years, consists of serious and popular music.

news, documentaries, discussions, talks, dramas, and classroom broadcasts.

A feature missing from WSUI's program during the past two years has been the play-by-play accounts of Iowa athletic events. This kind of program was discontinued at the recommendation of a faculty committee. The committee said that WSUI's accounts of the games duplicated those of commercial stations in the area.

The only regular sports programming left on WSUI is a five-minute sports report which follows the 9:45 p.m. newscast. Occasionally, sports items are aired during the day.

CSB sportscaster Jack Drees once worked on WSUI sports.

In the last two years some popular music has been offered, but the station generally provides programs that commercial stations cannot afford to offer.

"Good Job Done"

Looking back on his 45 years at WSUI, in evaluating the station, Menzer says, "We have done a marvelous job with the funds and facilities we have," but he points out a number of improvements he would like to see.

"I would like to see both stations operate on a full time schedule, from early in the morning until late at night. It would mean a considerable increase in staff which is now limited by the budget."

Menzer said he would like to see an extension of WSUI's service to the western part of the state. This could be accomplished by setting up satellite FM stations in such cities as Council Bluffs or Sioux City.

Menzer said he wants WSUI to connect with the nine other stations of the Big Ten and the program service of the University of Chicago.

Such a network, according to Menzer, should supply an excellent programming source, relieve the staff of working on as many programs as they do right now, permitting them to concentrate on a few good ones; and spread the voice of WSUI into the entire Midwest.

All the necessary plans have been drawn for this network but funds are needed.

Union Board Will Present 41 Movies In Its 3 Series

The Union Board Films Area, with a semester record of 15,508 paid admissions under its belt, is looking forward to an even better record this semester.

Forty-one films are scheduled for the board's three series. Weekend Movies, consisting of popular American and British films, will include such favorites as "Irma La Douce" and "The Miracle Worker."

Cinema 16, a series concentrating on foreign films illustrating the finest in cinematography, will include "Julius and Jim" and "Siberian Lady Macbeth."

Twentieth Century films, showings of American and foreign film classics, include films starring Buster Keaton and W.C. Fields.

The area's biggest "happening" is the annual film festival of student creative photography and cinematography. Scheduled during the week of March 18-24, the event will feature photography and film exhibits from across the nation. Featured speakers will be Beaumont Newhall, director of the George Eastman House and Chuck Jones, animation director for MGM and creator of the Roadrunner cartoon character.

STUDENTS EXPECTED—

About 150 secondary science teachers and 100 high school students are to study and conduct research at the University this summer in five National Science Foundation-sponsored institutes.

Music Works To Be Played For First Time In Iowa City

The Center for New Music will present the fourth in its series of concerts at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Union Ballroom.

Five contemporary works will be performed for the first time in Iowa City. William A. Hibbard, assistant professor of music, composed one of the works, "Intersections: I, II," in 1964 for his doctoral composition.

Hibbard will open the program conducting "Intersections: I, II." "Intersections" relates the pitch characteristics of woodwind instruments to non-pitch percussion pieces such as bongos and wood blocks. This combination interacts with a third group composed of piano, marimba and vibraphone.

The Center will also perform "Klavierstück IX" by Karlheinz Stockhausen and Mario Davidovskiy's "Synchronisms Number Two."

Davidovsky, an Argentine composer currently a member of the faculty of Columbia University, used a combination of live and recorded music to create this work. Electronic parts will be presented on a tape prepared at Columbia while the Center performs the live portion.

After intermission the group will present Anton Weberns "String Trio," a famous but rarely performed composition. Milton Babbitt's "Philomel" will be the final work. "Philomel" is a musical adaptation of a poem by John Hollander based on a story from Ovid's "Metamorphoses." Recorded voice and electronic sounds are used in addition to live parts for soprano.

3 SPI Board Trusteeships To Be Filled In Elections

Three student trusteeships on the board of Student Publications, Inc. (SPI), are to be filled in campus elections on March 6.

The board consists of five students elected by the student body and four faculty members appointed by President Howard R. Bowen.

An orientation meeting for prospective SPI Board candidates will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in 200 Communications Center. Applications and petition forms are available at The Daily Iowan office, 201 Communications Center, for the one and two year terms to be filled. Applications are due by 5 p.m., Feb. 23.

The nine trustees elect The Daily Iowan and Hawkeye editors, make broad policy decisions and control the finances of these publications.

A candidate must obtain at least 25 signatures from students in his own college, have completed 26 hours at the University and have a grade point average equal to that required for graduation in the college in which the credits were earned.

Trustees' terms of office begin July 1, 1968. Student trustees whose terms expire this year are Lee W. Rosebrook, L2, Ames; Stewart Truelson, A4, Park Ridge, Ill.; and John Ramsey, A4, Audubon.

The studios and offices of WSUI and KSUI-FM are located on five floors of the Engineering Building. The station has five studios which were built in 1938. One of the studios recently had to be made into a newsroom when the expansion of the engineering library forced newsmen to move out of their basement quarters.

WSUI is a non-commercial, educational AM station. The station, whose listeners are concentrated in Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Missouri, covers 10 midwestern states.

KSUI-FM signed on the air in 1948. KSUI broadcasts classical music from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Only listeners with the proper type of receiving equipment can pick up the stereo broadcasts.

Audience Small

Audience surveys have shown that WSUI's share of the radio

1 Killed, 2 Hurt In Dominican Student Strife

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Dominican armed forces raged the National University here Wednesday after a civilian was killed and two policemen were wounded in an exchange of gunfire with students.

Official sources said students entrenched on university grounds had been given an ultimatum to surrender with their weapons or the troops would move in.

The Communist-led disturbances were touched off when the government of President Joaquin Balaguer refused to allow a student protest march on the National Palace to accentuate demands for increased state subsidies to the university.

Although school authorities called off the march, students decided Tuesday night to go on with it.

Castroites and Marxists reaffirmed their control of the university in recent elections.

The rest of the Dominican capital of 500,000 appeared undisturbed. Streets were jammed with shoppers and the usual traffic moving slowly under a broiling tropical sun.

"Life Upside Down"

This is the first film of the young French director Alain Jessua and centers on a young middle class housing agency clerk and his gradual withdrawal into insanity. The film manages to retain remarkable objectivity while never becoming merely a case-history. The film itself and the performance of the actor Charles Denner have both been widely praised. Stanley Kaufman of the New Republic called it "a lyric of departure which throws oblique, sardonic glances on the question of reality." If its artisty, Kaufman said that it was a film "executed without flaw."

Premarital Sex Attitudes Seen As Individual Choice

An important characteristic of "new morality" among college students is each individual's choice of moral standards that fit him only, according to Dr. Ira Reiss, professor of sociology at the University.

In a luncheon speech delivered Tuesday to the Iowa City Optimists Club, Reiss noted a change in the way individuals view premarital sex.

The important change today, according to Reiss, is that individuals choose standards for themselves rather than accepting pat formulas dictated by society's institutions.

Reiss pointed out, however, that actual practices have not changed significantly in the last 50 years.

"The majority of men in all recorded societies have had premarital intercourse if the marriage occurred after age 20," Reiss said.

Reiss said that 90 per cent of the American males and 60 per cent of American females studied over the last 50 years had engaged in pre-marital intercourse.

Reiss suggested that the American system of dating, importance of love in marriage, and recognition of the female as a creature capable of enjoying sex were the causes of pre-marital sex in America.

Contraceptive devices allow females to engage in more frequent sex relationships if they so desire, Reiss said. But he pointed out that contraceptives have not altered basic female standards of morality.

FIRE TRUCKS COLLIDE — This was the scene Wednesday morning after an accident involving two city fire trucks and five parked cars in downtown Cedar Rapids. The fire engine in the foreground was coming up the street in background and the snorkel unit, upper left, came from the right, collided at the intersection, clipping the rear of the first engine. The first engine went out of control and struck the two parked cars shown in lower right. Both cars were parked at the curb, right rear. The impact caused damage to three other parked cars. Both trucks were enroute to a small fire at a hospital. No one was injured in the accident. — AP Wirephoto

Antismoking Signs Burn Washington

WASHINGTON — A nasty little backstage Washington wrangle went into those antismoking posters used to adorn the sides of U.S. mail trucks. By all accounts of reliable government sources Wednesday: The President was irked. The secretary of agriculture was unhappy. The postmaster general was harassed and nearly sued. The surgeon general was stubborn. Tobacco-lad congressmen were smoking-mad. And even as the posters prepared to go up, it's virtually impossible to tell who won. Army Gives Version On Vet Who Got Billed For Lost Gun

WASHINGTON — The Army said Wednesday that a Vietnam veteran, Ernest J. Wagner, was being billed $71.20 for losing his rifle because an investigating officer had found him negligent. The finding was based on a determination that Wagner had been negligent in placing his rifle on an aircraft in which he was neither a passenger nor a member of the crew, the Army said. "After being assigned this duty, he placed his M14 rifle aboard the helicopter located in the aircraft parking area and returned to the unit area," the Army said. "However, Wagner did not go on this mission, having been replaced through mutual agreement with another soldier who had asked for the flight in Wagner's place," the Army said. "When the helicopter returned several hours later, Wagner's rifle was missing. A check of the unit area failed to turn up the weapon." A spokesman said he did not know whether the helicopter mission involved combat.

Ottumwa Plant Damaged By Fire

OTTUMWA — The Morrell Co. meat packing plant was heavily damaged early Wednesday by fire which swept the fourth floor and up through the roof. Company officials said the automatic sprinkler system and fast action by firemen prevented the flames from igniting vats of grease and resin stores, which probably would have destroyed the entire building. The plant manager, John Schmidt, said some 600 employees would have to be laid off because of damage to equipment.

LBJ War Effort Slips in Poll

NEW YORK — Half of the adult Americans polled since the recent Viet Cong offensive in South Vietnam disapprove of the way President Johnson is handling the war while only about one-third approve, the Gallup Poll said Wednesday. Public approval of Johnson's handling of the war slipped to 35 per cent from 39 per cent since January, the poll said. In a September survey, 23 per cent expressed approval of the President's Vietnam policy. The latest poll also found that six of 10 Americans now classify themselves as hawks or persons who favor a military step-up in South Vietnam. ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY Arnold Air Society will meet at 7 tonight in 124 Armory. Attendance is required.

Gangland Death Site Gone But Bloody Bricks Live On

CHICAGO — The bullet-strewn site of a garage where seven gangland figures were gunned down in the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre 39 years ago have been sold to a Canadian food executive. The garage at 2122 N. Clark St. was torn down in November, but the bricks have been set aside for shipment to George Patty, a food executive in Vancouver, B.C. Patty reportedly planned to reconstruct the wall in his den with the bricks.
