Iowans Express Shock, Regrets At King's Death

Public officials and friends expressed deep sorrow over the death of Martin Luther King Jr., the civil rights leader whose work inspired the 1960s' civil rights movement in the United States.

Gov. Winthrop A. Wright of Iowa said, "We must not allow the tragedy of his death to destroy our resolve to achieve the goals for which he so nobly gave his life." The governor was痛心疾首 over the loss of a man who had dedicated his life to fighting for racial equality.

"Martin Luther King was a beacon of hope for all those who struggle against prejudice and discrimination," said Iowa Sen. Bob Allen. "His death is a loss for all of us." The senator added that King was a "man of great courage and conviction" who had "given us all something to strive for."
Upcoming Texas court case may have relevance here

The Texas Civil Liberties Union (TCLU) is going to be at the center of a housing dispute on the Texas Tech University campus at Lubbock.

The TCLU is in the process of developing arguments for a case to test the validity of housing regulations at Texas Tech and other state colleges and universities. It expects to file the suit by June 1.

The situation at Texas Tech is similar to the one faced at the University of North Texas, where there are more dormitory rooms than students who want to live in them. And to fill the rooms, the administration is forcing students to live in the dormitories.

The controversy there began in January when the administration decided to start looking for an extra long-weekend, non-regular committee job to fill 100 rooms in the dormitories.

The dormitory surplus resulted from the opening of two new dormitories for 1,500 students with no more than 1,450 students on campus.

Student-faculty committee system can be channel of student power

By KAFFY BUISOLO

It’s always a good idea to have a system of local and national legislation of American culture made in the name of the student body and by the student body.

It’s not new. Samuel R. Brown argues that such student councils have existed at least since 1850. He refers to the local University Student Council and the national University Student Council Committee.

In other words, student councils have existed for at least 100 years.

Of course President Brown still has to find the courage to keep up that he has observed the depression of student representatives.

Students are not his forte, he doesn’t represent student interests or even his own.

Fourth and finally, Brown doesn’t show any interest in what student wants to do his own thing.

It’s also a good idea to have a system of local and national student councils to represent student interests and to provide a voice for the student body. The student council has the potential to be a powerful voice for the student body. But it needs to be nurtured and supported by the administration and the faculty.

Founded in 1968, the Student Council has not had a chance to demonstrate its effectiveness. It has been dominated by the administration and the faculty, and has not been able to represent the student voice.

Recently a student member of the Board of Regents has suggested that the student council should be given the opportunity to represent student interests. The Board has not yet responded to this suggestion.

Election is the only way to be sure that student representatives are putting their interests and needs into action.

Tiger or lamb: who makes the best CPA?

Men who more in flocks don't make the best CPAs. The CPA often has to answer for those in wild new country. He's constantly trying to prove that there are no pat solutions. He needs conceptual imagination and conviction and guts. He may have to defend his answers like a tiger when he thinks he's right.

The demand for CPAs is growing fast. Whether they are in independent practice or part of the top management of a company, they are taking on increasing responsibility in financial and business affairs. You can select the college courses that can help you earn a CPA certificate. Only after graduation can you take the CPA exam in graduate school.

Ask your faculty advisor about them. If you'd drop a note to us, we'll be glad to send you a booklet with the whole CPA story.
