Much Of Campus Still In The Dark

University Generator Damaged By Outage To Be Working Today

Sixteen buildings on the University's east campus, including the women's dormitories and the Union, lost some or all of their electricity Tuesday in the wake of a citywide power failure Monday night.

The renewed shortage of power on campus was the result of damage done to a University generator during the city outage Monday, according to Duane A. Nollsch, director of the Physical Plant. Nol-Isch said that the damage put the 3,000kilowatt generator out of service and left the plant's capacity for power production 38 per cent short of its normal load.

The west side of the campus was not affected by Tuesday's shortage because it is equipped to draw extra power from lowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. However, the east side is not equipped to draw extra power from the Iowa City plant and thus could not make up the 3,000-kilowatts of power lost from the damaged generator.

Nollsch blamed the generator's failure on damaged valves and said that repairs could be completed by late this afternoon. He added that the repairs would cost a minimum of $6,000.

Full power was restored to buildings that stayed open Monday and Tuesday night as other buildings and offices closed. However, Nollsch said that he expected electricity to be curtailed today as it was Tuesday until the generator was repaired.

Most of the buildings that received no electricity Tuesday were buildings in which no finals were scheduled. Some switching was done from buildings in which only one final was scheduled so that electricity could be shut off from those buildings and used in more critical areas.

Buildings that received no electricity Tuesday were: Music Building, Eastlawn, Women's Gym, Parking Ramp, Mathematical Sciences Building, Calvin Hall and the Geological Survey Building, Art Building, University Theatre, University High School and Philips Hall.

Partical electricity went to the women's dormitories and to the Union. Burge Hall, Currier Hall and the Union were allowed enough electricity to operate their dining facilities. In addition, all the dormitories and the Union were allowed enough electricity to keep at least one elevator running.

The remainder of the buildings on campus were allowed to operate at 100 per cent electricity. These buildings included University Hall, Old Capitol and all the build-

Council Urged To Advance Date For Ramp Work

By CHERYL TURK

An earlier date for the beginning of the construction of the College Street Parking Ramp was recommended to the City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night by Leslie A. Moore, owner of the Stewart Shoes store.

Moore, representing the Retail Committee of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, said that the committee had unanimously moved that the ramp construction be started not later than September. The previous date for the starting of the ramp had been tentively set

Although the ramp construction would cause some inconvenience during the Christmas season because some parking spaces would be cut off, Moore said that the committee thought the ramp should be completed as quickly as possible to help downtown businessmen compete with the Sycamore Mall Shopping Center.

Mayor Loren L. Hickerson said that the construction date could be changed and that the council would discuss it.

The council voted to take advantage of a federal program whereby the Census Bureau would provide the city with a block-by-block breakdown of population and additional detailed statistics. Previously the Census Bureau had merely counted the total population.

The "Block Statistics" will cost the city about $1,800, according to City Atty.

The council also adopted a parking policy for the Manville Heights area. Under the policy parking will be permitted on only one side of every street in Manville Heights.

On certain streets, where residents or the council find a need, parking would also be removed from the other side from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Parking could be banned from both sides if a need was still demonstrated. Currently no street in Manville Heights has parking banned on both sides all the Isreali jet fighters pounced on Jordan-ian positions Tuesday while Israeli and Jordanian artillery crews fired thunderous barrages across the Jordan River like those of the Mideastern war that began a year ago today. Ambassadors of the two countries traded charges at the United Nations in New York.

Jordanian sources said the fighting south of the Sea of Galilee lasted more than eight hours. They said the area was quiet at 9 p.m. and reported nearly 100 Jordanian and about 45 Israeli casualties. The outbreak was the most serious since March 29, when Isreali planes dive-bombed Jordanian gun emplacements that Isrealis said were used to harass farmers

Officials in Jordan said the Israelis fired first Tuesday in "a surprise attack." Israeli spokesmen said the attack was in reply to the shelling of six Israeli cooperative settlements.

"We hope that this will teach Jordan the lesson once and for all that the shelling of settlements and army positions is taboo," Maj. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, Israel's chief of staff, told a newsman. Bar-Lev said Jordanian forces began by shelling an Israeli army position, then turned their guns on civilian targets. He said there were no attempts to negotiate a cease-fire because Jordanian units appeared to have been put out of action.

Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra of Jordan said at the United Nations the shooting set off raging forest fires around the Jordanian city of Irbid, focus of much of the battle. Associated Press correspondent Rodney Pinder reported from Israel

Italian Workers Take Grievances Onto The Streets

In Naples, police with clubs broke up a march by nearly 200 employes of local schools demanding higher wages.

In Genoa, 1,000 workers and students marched downtown to demonstrate solidarity with French workers and students There was some lack of solidarity reported among the marchers, with the start of the demonstration held up for an hour after some workers tore up a student placard accusing the French Communist party of cooperating with the French government.

Riot squads used tear gas to check the Turin disorders, the second student outbreak there since Saturday, and to drive back the strikers at Lanciano, east of Rome near the Adriatic Sea.

The strikers, members of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor, smashed windows in the City Hall and other buildings, set fire to a postal truck and battled police with stones and bricks. In downtown Turin, industrial capital of Italy, members of the "student movement" organizing nationwide agitation at universities had raised the red flag of revolution and the black flag of anarchy on steps of the main university building.

Armed with nail-studded clubs, the leftwingers clashed with groups of opposing students - moderates and rightists - who tried to storm the stairs and rip the flags

At least a dozen students were reported injured in a fight with fists and clubs before the police arrived to intervene.

A handful of students returned to the University of Rome to resume final examinations under police protection.

Police summoned by the ractor, Pietro Agostino D'Avack, forced their way onto the barricaded school grounds Monday and cleared the school of the more than 2,000 rebellious students who had occupied it since Friday night. There was no sign that the student disorders and the strikers' action in Lanciano and Naples were directly connected. Leaders of the Italian political far left appealed last week for demonstrations in support of the agitation in France. As yet, however, the Communist and Proletarian Socialist parties, which issued the appeal, have shown no sign of joining students in concerted violence. The incidents in Lanciano and Naples appeared to be based on

NEW YORK (A) - About 250 capped and gowned students, holding up their fingers in V-for-victory signs, walked out of Columbia University's commencement exercises in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine Tuesday.

They were cheered in the street by about 1,000 undergraduates and non-students who had staged a "freedom march' to the huge Episcopal church, four blocks from the campus of the 25,000-student Ivy League school, wracked by six weeks of student disorders.

Some faculty members also walked out. The protesting seniors and graduate students, who had been seated among about 2,000 members of the graduating class, got up and filed out as Prof. Richard Hofstadter began a commencement address in which he said that campus demonstrations had "thrust at the vitals of university life."

the signal for the walkout was the playing of a song by Bob Dylan, "The Times They Are A-Changin," on transistor radios carried by the graduating students under their gowns.

Halliwell would not say how the song was transmitted, but stated "you've just heard a broadcast on Columbia's first liberated station."

The students who walked out said they expected to get their diplomas later, either by mail or by picking them up at the university offices. They said that is

The new outbreak came after increasing Arab resistance in territories oc-cupied by Israel since the June 5-10 war last year, and a call for a massive Arab strike today throughout the west bank of the Jordan.

An Israeli military communique issued in Tel Aviv said its fighter-bombers were in action for three hours hitting positions along a 121/2-mile front. All planes were reported to have returned safely.

The fighting left three Israeli civilians, including one woman, dead, and six

The Israeli version of how the fighting started told of predawn shellings at settlements south of the Sea of Galilee, a nmon occurrence there. But after noon, the Israelis said, the firing shifted to farm settlements at Neve Or, Yardena, Gesher and Beit Yosef, all in the Beisan Valley, and Ashdot Yaacov in the Jordan Valley, where field laborers were allegedly shot Within 90 minutes the planes went in. The Israelis said seven or eight farms were hit along the battleline. They said they struck five enemy batteries.

The Jordanian military spokesman's account contended that Israeli forces began the fighting by opening machine-gun fire on Jordanian farmers, then shelling settlements with tank guns, artillery and mortars. Five hours of shelling hit the ancient Roman city of Umm Qays in extreme northern Jordan and a number of villages in the Manshiyya area.

Associated Press correspondent Tony Pitch, watching the fighting from a rooftop in Beit Smean, a Beisan Valley town, reported that thick black smoke rose from Jordanian artillery nests in the Gi-

Kennedy Scores Decisive Victory In South Dakota

PIERRE, S.D. (A) - New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy scored a decisive victory in Tuesday's South Dakota primary, brushing aside one of the strongest bids in any primary on behalf of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy picked up 24 delegates to the Democratic national convention, but his margin was the big surprise. Pre-election polls had given him only a slight edge over a delegate slate listed for President Johnson but committed to Humphrey.

A slate pledged to Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy trailed badly in third

With 52 per cent of the precincts tallied, Kennedy had 48 per cent of the vote, the Johnson-Humphrey slate had 33 per cent and McCarthy 20 per cent.

The votes were, Kennedy 15,971; Johnson-Humphrey 11,281; McCarthy 6,761. Richard M. Nixon was unopposed on the Republican side and pocketed all 14 GOP delegates. No write-ins or crossover voting was permitted under state law.

With 41 per cent of the precincts tallied on the GOP side, Nixon had 27,362 votes. Humphrey, a native of South Dakota, was not formally on the ballot. But Humphrey forces, hopeful of capitalizing on his appeal as a native son, waged a vigorous campaign.

ticket headed by Gov. Richard J. Hughes rolled to victory over the forces of Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the New Jersey Primary Tuesday night. But McCarthy was assured of picking up some of the 80 convention delegates at stake.

Mounting returns showed the five organization statewide delegate candidates leading by overwhelming margins over an opposing slate pledged to the Minnesota

But in 75 other delegate races in congressional districts throughout the state, organization candidates were considered elected in 20 contests, leading in 40 others, while McCarthy forces were leading in three districts with 12 others in doubt.

Statewide, with 676 of the 4.947 districts tabulated, the Hughes ticket led 49,872 to Heavily Democratic counties in populous North Jersey rolled up lopsided margins for the organization delegates, formally behind Hughes as a favorite son but regarding as leading toward Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Senator Critically Injured; Bullet Lodges Near Brain

Sudden Ending To Victory Party; Last Rites Given

LOS ANGELES (#) - Sen. Robert F Kennedy brother of the assassinated president John F. Kennedy, was shot in the head twice and once in the shoulder early today by a gunman whose bullets turned a scene of political triumph into one of shock and

(As The Daily Iowan went to press, National Broadcasting Co. reported that Kennedy was entering surgery. A team of six surgeons was reported working on Kennedy. Reports said that a bullet had entered his right ear and was lodged against the back of his brain.

Kennedy's condition was reported by a spokesman as being "very critical.") Three others also were wounded.

The apparent gunman was captured. (NBC reported that police had tentatively identified the suspect as Jesse Green, a 23-year-old man of Filipino descent.) Frank Mankiewicz, Kennedy's press

A curly haired man, about 25 and of Latin appearance, was seized immediately as he brandished a small pistol. The shooting occurred as Kennedy finished a victory speech after surging ahead

McCarthy had retired when the shooting occurred. He was awakened, went to the ballroom of his botel, and asked the crowd there to join him in a moment of silent praver.

President Johnson also was advised of the shooting.

The shooting occurred as Kennedy was being ushered offstage after delivering his victory statement on the primary election. An unidentified doctor treated the 47year-old Kennedy at the scene. He said the senator was conscious and talking at that time.

Edward Minasion, a hotel employe, said he saw the assailant with a snub nose revolver fire at Kennedy from four or five feet away. Minasion said the gunman had to reach around other people to fire the weapon, and others were hit as well.

The witness said after the shots were fired the man shouted: "Let me explain. I can explain."

Stephen Smith, Kennedy's brother-inlaw and campaign manager, also was reported wounded but later said this was incorrect. Kennedy was taken by ambulance to Central Receiving Hospital. The Rev. Thomas Peacha said he administered the last rites of the church to Kennedy in the emergency room.

The priest said he did not talk to the senator directly and the senator did not talk to him.

An unidentified person in the emergency room said the senator appeared to be unconscious. Later, Kennedy was moved to nearby

Kennedy-McCarthy debate offered look at peace choices

Saturday night's televised debate between Senators Eugene McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy provided a little more than a study break from intensive final cramming. The debate gave national viewers a look at the two leading peace candidates of the Democratic party.

For those of us in Iowa City who were not graced with the appearance of Kennedy in his jaunt through Iowa, the debate offered a chance to hear his eastern accent and see his wavy hair. McCarthy, who has not scheduled any appearances in Iowa, looked and sounded like a dignified, but very tired campaigner. Kennedy seemed to be a confident campaigner, although in appearance, he looked as if he were running for student council rather than president.

On the whole, the Saturday debate was better run and had better content than the 1960 debates, between another Kennedy and the ever-ready, rechargable Richard Nixon.

The Nixon-Kennedy debate series was too long and did not address it-

A debate situation offers a chance for a nationwide audience to listen, watch and judge candidates and their responses to questions which are paramount in the campaign.
