Throng Dwindle At Kennedy Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — The throngs faded Monday from Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's grave, leaving a few friends and a smaller stream of visitors to say a prayer, leave a flower or snap a picture of the plain white cross over his resting place.

A political aide, a Kennedy family employee and a nun were among those paying last respects to the assassinated New York senator's grave at the bottom of a flower-strewn slope in Arlington National Cemetery.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller visited the grave in the late afternoon. Rockefeller, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, said candidates should not "cringe from risks" regardless of the tragic slaying of Kennedy as he celebrated his triumph in California's Democratic primary.

Kennedy was buried Saturday night close to the memorial grave of his brother, President John F. Kennedy, who was the victim of a similar assassination in 1963.

"I loved President Kennedy — all the Kennedys," said Sister Mary Theodosia Duffy of Port Arthur, Tex., an Irish-born nun of the Order of the Immaculate Word. She said she had never met any of the Kennedys.

The number of visitors was sharply down from Sunday's estimated 60,000 and the larger, uncounted crowds that saw Kennedy to his burial Saturday.

Blue-uniformed honor guards, who constantly attend the late President Kennedy's grave, estimated just under 15,000 paid their respects Monday. The total was about twice the daily average.

Most visitors first stopped at the late president's grave, a black tombstone surrounded by white granite with an eternal flame flickering over it, then walked the few steps to the senator's grave.

Peter Edelman, a campaign aide who had worked for the senator's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Marian Wright, a family friend, knelt briefly at the grave.

Fred Baldwin, who said he worked for the Kennedy family at their Hickory Hill estate in McLean, Va., offered a short prayer. Baldwin wore his black graduation gown from Georgetown University and left the cowl on the senator's grave.

Enemy Rockets Catch Saigoners At Morning Rush

SAIGON (AP) — Fifteen or more rockets fired by Viet Cong gunners hurtled into the crowded streets of Saigon at the start of the morning rush hour today, exploding among major government buildings and knocking out most tele-communications with the rest of the world.

Nineteen persons were reported killed and 70 wounded.

Today was the 23rd day of the past 38 that Saigon was shelled. An unofficial tally listed 128 persons killed and 483 wounded in that time.

Independence Palace, where President Nguyen Van Thieu and his family have lived recently, appeared to have been a prime target but it was not reported hit. One rocket struck within 50 yards of the U.S. Embassy, which likewise was not damaged.

Most rockets appeared not to have scored direct hits on buildings, although they landed in an area including Saigon's city hall, leading hotels and National Assembly building. One round struck a hospital, killing one patient and wounding six.

Another of the 100-pound, 122mm rockets slammed into the South Vietnamese government Post, Telegraph and Telephone headquarters. A spokesman for the Radio Corp. of America said commercial message circuits were knocked out, as well as overseas communications for a number of news agencies, airlines and other companies.

The spokesman said Telex and other links were out to Osaka, Japan, Paris, Manila and Hong Kong. He said telephone lines were unaffected.

There was one report, unconfirmed, that the Viet Cong was circulating leaflets warning of further daylight shelling.

Supreme Court Upholds 'Stop And Search' Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court swung to the side of policemen Monday, ruling they can stop suspicious-looking persons on the street and search them for weapons.

These searches must be carefully limited, Chief Justice Earl Warren said in the 8 to 1 decision, and can be made only when the officer fears for his own or others' safety.

"The officer need not be absolutely certain that the individual is armed," Warren said. "The issue is whether a reasonably prudent man in the circumstances would be warranted in the belief that his safety or that of others was in danger."

The go-ahead for policemen to search suspects without arrest warrants, though limited, runs counter to most recent Supreme Court decisions in the criminal law field.

Against a backdrop of complaints that the court has been "coddling" criminals and "handcuffing" police, Congress last week completed action on legislation to undo some rulings that had asserted suspects' rights and restrained police.

Justice William O. Douglas, the lone dissenter, said the step the court had taken might be desirable to cope with "modern forms of lawlessness," but "to give the police greater power than a magistrate is to take a long step down the totalitarian path."

Douglas was absent from court, convalescing from surgery at Walter Reed

Army Hospital. A spokesman there said and electronic heart pacemaker was implanted in his chest on June 4 to correct a slow pulse rate.

Pressing toward probable adjournment next Monday, the court rushed out important decisions in several areas. Two dealt with the First Amendment's prohibition of establishment of religion by the state and they appeared to point in opposite directions.

By an 8 to 1 vote, a group of New Yorkers was given the right to test in court their claim that federal aid to parochial school children violates the Constitution. The justices sidestepped a 1923 ruling that had blocked taxpayer suits against large federal spending programs.

By a 6 to 3 vote, the justices turned back an attack on state textbook assistance to church schools. The court upheld a New York law that requires public school systems to lend textbooks to children in parochial and other private schools.

On the business front, meanwhile, the court broadened the Federal Communication Commission's power to regulate community antenna television systems, although Justice John M. Harlan acknowledged in the 7 to 0 ruling that Congress could not have foreseen development of CATV when it enacted the 1934 Federal Communications Law.

CATV systems use antenna to pick up signals from television stations. The programs are relayed, usually by wire, to CATV subscribers who pay monthly fees.

Secret Service Goes Into Action With Rockefeller

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, the first presidential candidate to make a public address under tight new security precautions, didn't let the security prevent him from mingling with the crowd Monday.

Flanked by a wedge of Secret Servicemen, the New York Republican shook hands and accepted wishes of "good luck" after delivering the commencement address at Allegheny College.

In the talk, Rockefeller praised Sen. Robert Kennedy, whose assassination at a campaign celebration prompted President Johnson to assign Secret Servicemen to all presidential candidates.

A half dozen of the 20-man force assigned to Rockefeller flanked him as he walked to the platform with Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, a 1938 graduate of Allegheny College and favorite son leader of the state's big Republican convention delegation.

Perhaps a dozen Secret Servicemen, communicating by walkie-talkie, guarded the podium and scanned the lawn where Rockefeller spoke at the outdoor ceremony.

The Secret Servicemen formed a tight circle as Rockefeller walked the 75 yards to his car after the ceremony. Photographers without special clearance were chased away.

But the spectators lining the way approached Rockefeller easily. He shook hands, exchanged pleasantries, and stopped to comment on a young girl's healthy crop of freckles.

Ex-Gridder Brown Let Off The Hook In Assault Case

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The district attorney's office said Monday it will not charge Jimmy Brown, professional football star turned actor, with assaulting a young woman who was found injured below Brown's second floor apartment.

"We don't have enough evidence to prosecute him," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Phillips Mueller. "It's dropped at this point unless some evidence turns up in the future."

Brown, 32, was booked Sunday on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, then freed on $12,500 bond.

Asked if the woman would make a complaint, Mueller said, "Apparently not." Mueller said, however, that a complaint against Brown was issued on a felony charge of battery against a police officer. Bail of $1,000 was recommended.

Officers identified the woman as Eva Marie Bohmich, 22, born in Schwandern, Germany. She was reported in fair condition at Los Angeles County — USC Medical Center with a dislocated shoulder and bruises on head, mouth and cheeks.

Deputies said she told them she was an actress. The Screen Actors Guild said she was not a member. Other sources said she was a model.

The sheriff's report quoted Brown as saying, when officers tried to enter his apartment about 9 p.m. Sunday after responding to a neighbor's complaint of a fight: "You big white cops and your God damn system. Everything is against the Negroes. In order to get in you are going to have to shoot me first."

After further discussion, officers said, Brown told them: "Well, if you're coming in you're going over me."

Both Brown and Miss Bohmich are black. Deputy John Texeira said Brown struck him with his left forearm as he tried to enter, knocking him seven feet. He and his partner radioed for help and four deputies then entered and subdued and arrested Brown, Texeira said.

The officers said they found Miss Bohmich semiconscious and moaning "No, no, no, no" on a concrete patio about 20 feet under Brown's apartment.

4 Students Tried On Nov. 1 Charge; Verdict Due Friday

Trials of four students arrested in the Nov. 1 antiwar demonstration at the Union on charges of disturbing the peace were held in Police Court Monday. Judge Marion Neely said he would render verdict Friday.

The students were David Pollen, A3, Chicago; Dan Schabillion, A2, Van Meter; William Wernz, G, Winona, Minn.; and Ken Wessels, A2, Dyersville. All four were without counsel.

The four made up the second group of about 20 persons arrested Nov. 1 who entered pleas of innocent and requested trials. Two members of the larger group were tried last month. No verdict has yet been reached in those cases.

One hundred and eight persons — most of them students — were arrested during the demonstration, which took the form of a blockade of the steps of the east entrance to the Union as a protest to use of the University building for recruiting purposes by the Marine Corps. Most of the arrestees entered pleas of either guilty or innocent, no contest, in November, were convicted and fined $50.

Pollen argued that, although he had wanted to be arrested for reasons of conscience, he was not guilty of disturbing the peace. He said that he had not been standing on the steps as the other demonstrators had been but had been an on-looker.

Witnesses for the state, Campus Security Chief John Hanna; Police Detective Sgt. Donald Strand; and Police Sgt. Robert Bevera, testified that 107 of the 108 who were arrested during the demonstration were arrested on the steps.

Mike Lally, A4, Iowa City, testifying on behalf of Pollen, said that Pollen and two other persons that he knew of had not been near the steps when they were arrested.

Wessels contended that, although he had been on the steps at the time of the arrests, he was not guilty of disturbing the peace. He argued that if anyone was a guilty of the charge, it was the counter demonstrators, many of whom attacked the demonstrators.

Schabillion testified that he had been in class at the time of most of the arrests. He said that he had just left his 1:30 p.m. class and had walked up to a bus where Wessels was standing to find out what had happened when he was arrested.

Wernz said that he admitted that he had helped to block the entrance of the Union but that he was not guilty of disturbing the peace.

John Hayek, assistant county attorney, prosecuted the cases for the state.

Neely announced during court that Rande Russell, a former student, had written to him changing her plea from innocent to guilty.

Fred Barnett, A4, West Branch, and Bruce Clark, A2, Des Moines, who were also arrested in the Nov. 1 demonstration were tried in Police Court May 26. Neely gave them until June 4 to submit written briefs on their cases. Neither have done so.

U.S. Makes 1st Move In Bid To Get Back Ray

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. government obtained Monday night a provisional British warrant charging James Earl Ray with the murder of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., clearing ground for a formal application in the next day or two for Ray's return to the United States.

The move followed a calm and impressive appearance by Ray at a perfunctory, two-minute British court session during which he was assigned a British lawyer in what legal experts said could be his first move to fight extradition for trial.

It was the first bit of legal sparring in a case capable of spiraling into months of argument if the suspect contests the U.S. Justice Department request to extradite him "very soon." Legal sources said the earliest possible date for Ray's return would be June 28, but arguments could run into August if there is a battle.

Quick movement was already delayed Monday when Ray, 40, was ordered held without bail by Chief Magistrate Frank Milton, for a hearing June 18. The issuance of the warrant followed.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr., is expected to make formal application to Britain's home secretary for extradition as soon as he receives the necessary documentation from the United States.

The home secretary, James Callaghan, will forward the application to the chief magistrate at Bow Street Court who will consider whether the documentary evidence submitted by Vinson would be substantial for extradition. The application is expected to reach the court today.

Ray will then have 15 days to apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

Under British law and the 1935 treaty of extradition between Britain and the United States, the home secretary cannot surrender Ray to U.S. authorities before 15 days have passed.

Security measures so tight that even lawyers submitted to frisking were in effect when Ray, husky and straight shouldered, was brought into court Monday. No one except the police and legal officers had seen Ray since his arrest Saturday when he tried to board a plane for Brussels.

Under the name Sneyd, Ray was charged with using a false Canadian passport with that name and carrying an unlicensed, loaded gun. There was no mention in court of the name Ray or of the American charges against him.

Ray is sought on an American federal warrant charging that he took part in a conspiracy to deprive King of his civil rights. He is also charged by a Tennessee court with first-degree murder in the slaying of King in Memphis April 4.

To slow traffic down, the residents suggested either stop signs or traffic barriers. Suggested positions for stop signs included the intersections of Lexington Avenue and Park Road and Normandy Drive and Park Road. One woman also suggested push button stop lights at Normandy and Park to enable the safe crossing of school children.

Charles Wunder, 702 W. Park Rd., was the resident who accused the council of taking the lives of children as a joke.

Mayor Loren Hickerson retorted that the council did not take traffic safety matters lightly.

"If you really think that, then there is nothing we can do for you," Hickerson told Wunder.

City Manager Frank R. Smiley said he would not recommend the use of stop signs, traffic signals or traffic barriers to slow traffic down. He suggested the use of speed counts and traffic counts on the street and council's inspection of the area in question.

The council agreed to investigate the problem. Council members, Hickerson and Smiley will drive on Park Road and Rocky Shore Drive this afternoon and make some decision on the traffic problem.

Hickerson said, however, that although the city might make a decision to improve the conditions, city government would need the help of parents to keep the streets safe. Children must be warned about the peak traffic times and dangerous conditions on the streets, he said.

In other action, the council decided to hire six youths from low-income families to work for the city this summer.

The youths will be hired in connection with a summer youth employment commission which was established by Hickerson in early spring. Hickerson's actions came after Gov. Harold Hughes suggested that cities aid in providing employment to low-income families.

Councilman Tim Brandt said the city must set an example for businesses in Iowa City since the program was city sponsored.

Tornadoes Pass By, Don't Stop

Dark clouds and heavy gusts of wind moved into the Iowa City area Monday night but brought no reports of damage to the area.

A tornado warning was in effect for the vicinity from about 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., but no funnel clouds were reported in the area by either Iowa City police or Johnson County sheriff's deputies.

A funnel cloud was reported about 8:15 p.m. outside Cedar Rapids, and another tornado was reported about 500 feet in the air outside North Liberty. Neither cloud touched down.

Funnel clouds dipped down in south central, northwest and north central Iowa, apparently without damage.

Funnel clouds were sighted near Spencer, Sioux City, Albia, Ackworth and Edyville, but none apparently touched down. Tornado watches were in effect for most of south central and eastern Iowa.

High winds whipped eastern Iowa, downing tree limbs and utility lines around Dubuque. Wind took the roof off a hatchery at Farley and cut off power temporarily in Galena, Ill.

One power line in Iowa City was knocked down by the winds. The line, which was on Wolf Avenue, was restored to service soon after it was downed.

Representatives from the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. said they had no other reports of wind damage in the area.

Council Accused Of Taking Lives Of Kids As Joke

By CHERYL ARVIDSON

About a dozen irate residents of the Park Road-Rocky Shore Drive area, one of whom accused the City Council of taking the lives of children as a joke, attended a councilmen's informal meeting Monday night to protest increased traffic flow and speeding in their neighborhood.

Craig Perrin, 212 Rocky Shore Drive, said the biggest objection of the property owners was that the 25-mile-an-hour speed limit on Rocky Shore and Park was not being enforced.

Several persons agreed with Perrin and said that the safety of children in the area was impaired because the two streets had become speedways, with traffic traveling as fast as 60 miles per hour.

The area residents said the traffic speed problem had increased since parking was taken off one side of the streets. Before the parking was removed, the residents said, the traffic had been somewhat slowed down.

Make gun control effective

"What in the name of conscience will it take to pass a truly effective gun-control law?" President Johnson was moved to ask the nation last week. What, indeed, would it take?

The so-called "omnibus crime bill" put on the President's desk last week contained only a half-hearted attempt to control the sale of lethal weapons.

The main provision of the gun-control clause curbs the sale of handguns in interstate traffic but not within the states, and makes no provisions to curb or regulate the sale of rifles or shotguns.

The logical gun-control law, it would seem, would ultimately prevent the indiscriminate use of the guns, not their sale across state borders; control their manufacture — prohibit them, if necessary. Hunting may be a legitimate sport, but murder isn't, and is the former so valuable that it can't be sacrificed to prevent the latter?

Here is what I consider to be the ideal proposal:

- Prohibit the manufacture, sale and use of all pistols and handguns in the country, except for police and military use.

- Register all guns in the country under a federal board of control and license.

- Prohibit the possession of loaded guns except in those areas specifically designated for hunting or target-shooting.

- Limit manufacture of rifles and shotguns so that no weapon may be produced, except for military and police use, that can carry more than two or three bullets at a time.

All this may sound a little too stringent — perhaps even unconstitutional, under our 190-year-old Bill of Rights — but we could fill the pages of this newspaper daily with news stories of murders, shootings, armed robberies, and as the summer gets hotter, snipings and assassinations.

Guns mean trouble. Guns mean shootings. Eliminate the guns, and you eliminate the shootings and part of the trouble. It's that simple.

— Roy Petty

U.S. 'an asylum where the inmates have taken over'

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — To the rest of the world the United States must look like a giant insane asylum where the inmates have taken over. The guards are gone, the doors are open, and everyone thinks the other person is sick.

Except for the charity wards where the people are all shoved together on top of each other, the rest of the asylum couldn't look prettier. The buildings are all new and shiny, the equipment is the most modern in the world, the grounds are green and decorated with flowers. To look at it from the outside, you would think it is the ideal spot on the globe.

But inside the patients are running amuck and no one seems to know what to do about it. Every time a doctor is called in to suggest a remedy for the chaos, the residents of the hospital shout him down. Besides, they believe anyone who is trying to come up with new cures for their sickness must be crazy himself.

The United States is a very special type of insane asylum in that all the inmates are permitted to have guns. These guns are sold right in the hospital or can be ordered by mail because when the hospital was built in 1775 the founders wrote it into the rules. Every time someone wants to change the rules, the gun-loving inmates cry that they only want the guns to kill animals during their recreation periods.

The people who live on the Hill and represent the inmates are afraid to do anything to offend the armed inmates, so they ignore the problem until there's a killing in the hospital, at which time they express horror that the inmates should be allowed to walk around with guns.

Then they forget about it until the next tragedy comes along.

Despite its beauty and size there have been many injustices committed in the asylum against the patients. For 100 years, the black patients were kept in isolation wards and only permitted to scrub the floors. They got no treatment from the white doctors until recently when they became violent and insisted that if they were patients in the same asylum they wanted the same rights as the other inmates.

The administrators of the asylum have belatedly sought to improve the lot of the black patients, but there has been a reluctance amongst the other inmates to pay the bill, particularly since the asylum is supporting so many other insane asylums around the world.

Up until recently the hospital was a model for all other hospitals. But in the '60s people everywhere have been watching it with horror and despair.

The more affluent the hospital becomes the sicker the patients behave. The remedies prescribed for the illnesses are always given too little and too late. And as in all insane asylums, every person thinks the other patient is the one who should get the treatment.

Nobody knows how many more doctors the patients will shoot, nor how long the asylum will survive before the inmates destroy it once and for all.

Time Capsule Shows Effects Of A Century

Sunday's ceremony to examine the contents of the Congregational Church's cornerstone proved to be anticlimactic because the documents inside the stone had decayed beyond recognition.

The ceremony was held in the church yard at 30 N. Clinton St. as part of a "Second Century Ceremony." The stone was laid June 8, 1868.

The copper box holding the documents had been tightly closed but not sealed, according to W. W. Morris, chairman of the second century committee.

The box was removed from the inside of the church so as not to disturb the outside of the stone, which supports the church steeple. The box was retrieved and cut open Saturday.

The Rev. Edward K. Heinger, pastor, said officials had not handled the contents at all. He plans to ask archaeologists connected with the University to try to interpret the documents.

When the box was carried into the yard for Sunday's ceremony it was open but covered with cellophane. The contents were so brown they appeared almost charred.

According to church records, the contents of the box included a copy of the Bible, a manual of the church, the names of original members and officers, names of clergymen in Iowa City at the time, catalogs from the University and other local institutions, newspapers, coins and postal currency of the period.

About 100 persons attended the half-hour ceremony which included hymns, a scripture reading, prayers and short talks by the pastor and church officials. At the end of the ceremony members gathered around a small table to look in the box.

Morris said that the box would be returned to the stone along with a new container with comparable current items in a rededication ceremony Dec. 19.

Registration Slated Today

Registration for the summer session will be held from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. today in the Field House. Students will not be admitted unless they have their old identification card bearing their University number. New identification cards bearing Social Security numbers will not be accepted.

Students will use the northeast entrance to the Field House in order to register. Registration times are scheduled according to University identification number and are listed in the Schedule of Courses.

U.N. Committee Commends Treaty On Nuclear Arms

UNITED NATIONS — The General Assembly's main Political Committee approved Monday a resolution commending the draft treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. The vote was 92 to 4 with 22 abstentions.

Only Albania, Cuba, Tanzania and Zambia opposed a resolution commending the treaty drafted at the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva after the United States and the Soviet Union agreed on its key provisions.

The abstainers included France, which did not take part in the Geneva negotiations. China, also a nuclear power but not a member of the United Nations, has assailed the treaty as a U.S.-Soviet plot aimed at maintaining a monopoly on nuclear weapons.

Other abstainers included India, which has voiced concern over China's nuclear arsenal. Brazil, Spain and a number of African countries.

The treaty will be opened for signature following the assembly vote, and will come into effect after ratification by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and 40 signatory countries.

Under the treaty the nuclear powers agree not to transfer nuclear weapons to countries not now possessing them, and the non-nuclear countries agree not to receive the weapons or manufacture them.

Westmoreland Bids Adieu To Troops He Led 4 Years

SAIGON — Gen. William C. Westmoreland said Monday the price of war "is being raised to the point that it could be intolerable for the enemy." And he declared in some cases the quality of the enemy's battlefield performance "approaches the pathetic."

At a farewell news conference, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam said "I have no reason to change" an estimate he made in Washington last year that it might be possible to begin a token phaseout of U.S. forces in Vietnam by late 1969. But he noted that this statement was based on trends that might change.

On the eve of his departure after four years as leader of the U.S. military effort here, Westmoreland cautioned, however: "The trends are favorable, but it is unrealistic to expect a quick and early defeat of the Hanoi-led enemy."

Westmoreland, who leaves Saigon today for Washington, where he will become Army chief of staff, summed up his views at a news conference during a day marked by a round of farewells.

Monday night in a televised address to his troops over the Armed Forces Network, the four-star general praised the performance of the American fighting man in South Vietnam. He said much has been achieved, not only on the battlefield but also in the field of civil action and help to Vietnamese civilians.

"We have come a long way together," Westmoreland said. "Much has been accomplished.

Much remains to be done. Our goal is peace, but not peace at any price."

At his news conference, Westmoreland reviewed the years of his service here and discussed enemy capability.

Present enemy strategy, he said, appears to be aimed at gaining some major victory on the battlefield, maintaining pressure on the infant South Vietnamese political structure and keeping up military pressure on Saigon.

"If the enemy feels time is on his side," Westmoreland said, "he can go on a long time."

The general said he feels military victory in the traditional sense is not possible for the allies in South Vietnam in view of U.S. decisions not to escalate the war or to enlarge its geographic boundaries.

"But the enemy can be attrited," he said. "The price can be raised. It is being raised to the point that it could be intolerable for the enemy. It may reach the point of question of destruction of his country and jeopardizing the future of his country, if he continues to pay the price he is now paying and is destined to pay in the future."

After then enemy's big Tet offensive in February, South Vietnamese officials estimated that a million people were lost from government control.

"About one-third of this loss has been recovered," Westmoreland said. "Hopefully, in the next few months we can get back to where we were at the first of January."

As for the attacks on Saigon that began in May, Westmoreland noted that it was difficult to halt the infiltration of small enemy units into the capital but studies are under way to meet the problem, including riot control measures.

Westmoreland again said the South Vietnamese armed forces are showing steady improvement and are carrying "a major load of the fighting, but not yet a majority of the fighting." Part of that price, he said, are enemy losses of 113,000 men since the first of the year and observed: "He doesn't have the manpower or resources to take these losses in stride."

Westmoreland said he could not predict what might happen at the preliminary peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam in Paris.

Westmoreland will be succeeded in the top military job here by his deputy of the past year, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr.

Spock, On Stand, Calls War Immoral

BOSTON — Dr. Benjamin Spock outlined Monday his opposition to the Vietnamese war, telling a federal court jury he felt obliged to oppose "crimes against humanity."

The 65-year-old pediatrician-author, one of five men charged with conspiring to counsel youths to avoid military service, took the witness stand on the 15th day of the trial.

Asked if he defended his anti-war activities under the so-called Nuremberg decision which found that Germans during World War II should have opposed orders they felt unjust, Spock replied:

"My belief was that it was a just for me and other Americans in opposing orders from the government which we believed constituted crimes against humanity."

Spock said under questioning by his lawyer, Leonard Boudin of New York, that he thought the war "had no shred of legality" and would "blacken the reputation of my country for decades if not centuries."

"Outrageous" and "abominable" were two of the terms he used to describe his feelings about American participation in the conflict.

"What's the use of physicians like myself in helping to bring up children to be killed in a cause which is ignoble?" he said in reply to a question dealing with American war casualties.

Spock told the all-male jury he believed that the United States was participating in a war which is "totally illegal, immoral, unwinnable and detrimental to the best interests of the United States."

His testimony was interrupted several times by U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford, who cautioned him to stick with "what you believe." The 85-year-old jurist had instructed the jury at the trial's start that the Vietnamese war was not an issue in the case.

Spock charged that the United States ignored the United Nations in 1960 by escalating the war, was destroying crops and decimating vegetation, was engaging in bombing which had "completely flattened" some North Vietnamese cities and had provoked North Vietnam during the Tonkin Gulf incident.

Spock said that he thought the United States introduced "a puppet leader" named Diem to South Vietnam and said the administration gave Congress "misleading information" about the Tonkin Gulf incident.

Tito's Pledge Gets Students To Call Truce

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Student guards of the undergraduate occupation force that has held Belgrade University for eight days left their posts Monday, after President Tito's promise to quit if he could not resolve student grievances. A return-to-class mood spread over the campus.

But a formal end to the strike, the first outward show of opposition to the Tito regime since it took power after World War II, awaited balloting at the university's branches.

There were some pockets of opposition to Tito's promise of educational, political and economic reforms as called for by "these honest youths of whom we did not take sufficient care."

Students from the philosophy school, considered to be the most extremist faction, met at the self-styled "Karl Marx Red University" and said they would hold off on returning to class until they could see a program of student activities being worked out by a coordinating committee that cut across the formal Communist-controlled bodies.

Regardless of when classes reopen, Communist dominance could not be the same again. Student action committees, emerging from the strike and two days of rioting that coincided with it, decided to keep functioning.

A member of the faculty action committee told a gathering of 1,000 students Monday that Tito's speech had created a new situation. He said Tito expressed "great confidence" in the students and asserted that Tito's guarantee that student demands will be met eliminated the need to continue the strike.

Tito, in his speech Sunday, acknowledged that the government and Communist party were responsible for much of the unrest among the 40,000 striking students. He said the party would be purged, and that punishment would be meted out to police officials who led attacks on students.

He skirted demands that Belgrade's police chief and the national and state interior ministers be fired.

"I will wholeheartedly endeavor for solutions," Tito said. "If I am not able to settle these issues, then I should not remain in my post."

Sub Probers Hear 2 Sides Of Argument

NORFOLK, Va. — An admiral and a captain gave conflicting testimony to a naval court of inquiry Monday about the submarine Scorpion's ability to ascend to the ocean's surface in an emergency.

The testimony came as the court began the fifth day of its investigation of the loss of the nuclear submarine and her 99 officers and men, including four Iowans, as she was returning home from the Mediterranean last month.

Rear Adm. Edgar H. Batcheller, commander of the Charleston, S.C., Naval Shipyard, testified an emergency main ballast blowing system by which a submarine empties her ballast tanks to make an emergency surfacing was installed in the Scorpion during an overhaul at the Charleston Shipyard in 1963-64 but was found to be defective and its use prohibited.

Furthermore, Batcheller said, he believed the Scorpion's regular main ballast blowing system was inadequate in the light of operational demands on today's submarines. Current submarine operations, he said "have eaten into the margin of safety in situations in which a submarine might find herself in difficulty."

Capt. Donald H. Kern, head of the submarine type desk in the Navy Department's Naval Ships System Command, testified that in the light of operational depth restrictions imposed on the Scorpion, her regular ballast blowing system was "very adequate and sufficient," without the use of an emergency system.

There are more than thirty-five million poor in the U.S.A., according to government statistics. Some of them are in Washington, D.C. this summer.

As for the rich, they've been there for years.

Fred Schwengel, congressman from this district, admits "there is poverty in our nation," but, referring to one proposal of the Poor People's Campaign, "there are other and better answers to meeting these problems . . ."

"Recently I joined with a bipartisan coalition of Congressmen who are seeking immediate and urgent action to stop malnutrition among the nation's poor children. We have called for public hearings to determine what can be done . . ."

"Public hearings" with whom? The poor people themselves are right there but he has no time to consider their proposals.

But when it comes to extending the Food for Peace program to help eliminate hunger overseas: "Needless to say, this bill received my firm support."

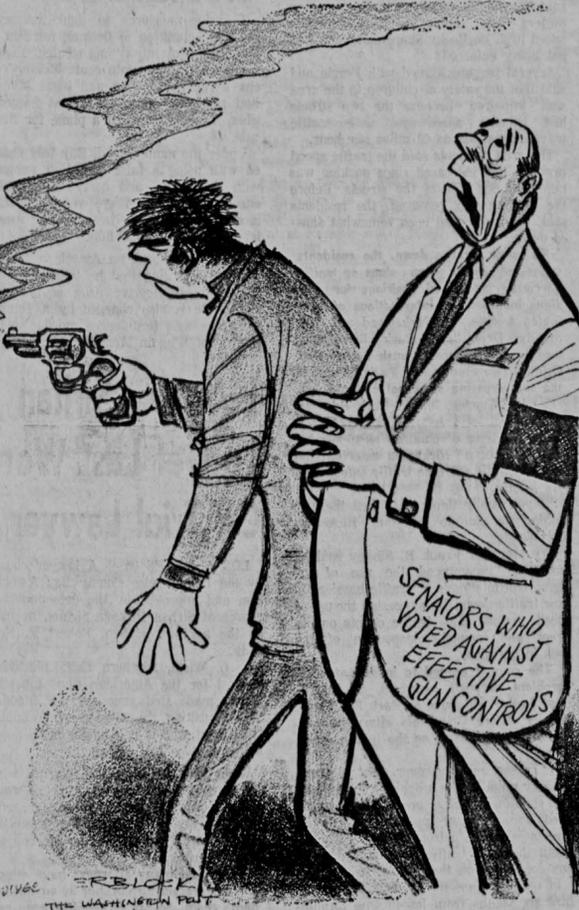

The solution to hunger is, other countries is food. The solution to hunger at home is talk.

Those of us who are tired of talk should let Mister Schwengel know it.

Players Favor Casper To Capture U.S. Open

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Golf's sun-scorched nomads moved into Rochester Monday and came to two quick conclusions about the 68th U.S. Open championship, starting Thursday.

Bill Casper appears to be the man to beat for the title. The 6,962-yard, par 70 Oak Hill course favors the sniper and not the slugger — you have to jab her into submission, you can't knock her out.

"This is not a muscle man's course," said Tom Weiskopf, rated one of the game's longest hitters. "To win here, you have to keep the ball in the fairway. If you miss the fairway, you can count on a bogey."

"The rough will kill you." The rangy 6-3 star of the winter tour said the course would favor a steady, consistent driver on the order of Casper and Lee Trevino, the swarthy Mexican-American from El Paso, Tex.

The colorful, loquacious Trevino, who has won more than $60,000 so far this year, agrees heartily but acknowledges that Casper's chances are better than his own.

Athletic Budgets Approach Crisis, NCAA Report Says

CHICAGO (AP) — College athletic budgets are being strained to an extent approaching a financial crisis, a National Collegiate Athletic Association report said Monday.

The report is the third of a series repeated every fifth year. The 10-year record shows finances "are being sorely strained by inflationary rise in costs and the pressure for more facilities and participation opportunities."

Marcus Plant of the University of Michigan, NCAA president, said that "new ways and means must be found to finance our expanding activities."

"There are obvious limitations on gate income as a support factor because of increased student bodies, practical limitations on fieldhouse and stadium capacities and also a practical ceiling on the price of tickets," Plant said.

He referred to general college revenue or governmental assistance in the building and maintenance of facilities "as a means of dealing with what could be a financial crisis in the colleges' expanded sports, physical preparedness and recreational programs."

The statistic-filled survey, to be distributed to college presidents and administrators, was filed with Vice President Hubert Humphrey and the U.S. Congress.

"This constitutes a documented response" to the request of Humphrey and congressional leaders "that new sports leadership should be exerted to place increased emphasis on wider participation and the development of athletic excellence," said Plant.

The report shows that athletic facilities of NCAA members are valued at $2.05 billion and operation budgets for 1966-1967 totaled $190 million, about double the budget for 1961-1962.

Hurt Athletes May Petition For Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) — United States Olympic track and field candidates who may be unable to take part in four qualifying meets because of injury or illness, may petition for consideration at the high altitude training camp in South Lake, Tahoe, Calif. in September.

A 10-man sub-committee of the Olympic Track and Field Committee will review all cases June 26 in Los Angeles.

The four qualifying meets are the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics trials, run on May 31-June 1; the NCAA, June 13-15; the Armed Forces inter-service championships; the National AAU championships, June 20-21 and the Olympic Trials, June 29-30.

The Olympic committee will take a number of extra men, in addition to the final qualifiers, for a period of altitude training in mid-September. Under Olympic rules no athlete may have more than 28 days at high altitude in the three months before the Olympic games opening Oct. 12 in Mexico.

Eckert, Clubowners Given Criticism During Mourning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Commissioner William D. Eckert and major league baseball clubowners were struck with barrage of criticism Monday for their actions during the weekend of mourning for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Some sports editors and sports columnists predicted that Eckert will not last out the remaining four years of his seven-year contract as commissioner.

Baseball owners and Eckert were strongly criticized for not calling off one day's games, either Saturday when the funeral was held, or Sunday which President Johnson designated as a national day of mourning.

The New York Yankees, the Washington Senators and the San Francisco Giants called off their games Saturday, and Eckert ordered the rest of the teams not to start play before Sen. Kennedy was buried.

As it developed, just about all the Saturday night games started before the burial, which was delayed nearly six hours because the train from New York was late getting to Washington.

The only teams that called off games Sunday were Baltimore and Boston.

"If anything," wrote Ron Fimrite of the San Francisco Chronicle, "Eckert is even more slavish in his regard for his employers than were the rubber stamps who preceded him."

The ensuing batch apparently aroused the owners, who are now, perhaps to save their own greedy faces, muttering about giving the general his discharge.

Commented Al Ackerman of WJW-TV, Detroit: "Eckert is in real jeopardy now by his action in trying to appease them (the owners) . . . This way he has the scorn of both the public and the owners and I predict his career as commissioner will not last long."

At least one sports writer thought baseball acted properly. "Baseball," said Harold Kaese of the Boston Globe, "paid its respects to the senator's memory in ways gracious and reasonable. Some games were postponed for hours, others for days and weeks. Ballpark tributes were suitable. . . . More is always expected of sports than other business."

Here is a sampling of other comments from sports writers and columnists.

Al Abrams, sports editor, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: "General Eckert is partly to blame for being weak in not issuing a blanket order to call off all major league games Sunday. . . . The club owners are mainly at fault for not complying with President Johnson's wishes."

Mickey Herskowitz, executive sports editor, Houston Post: "Eckert's rule by omission continues to turn baseball backward. . . . By failing to cancel the games on either Saturday or Sunday, he left each club to its own conscience, and we can see the result of that."

"It was the weekend they buried Robert F. Kennedy, the brightest and best hope of youth, a man who loved athletics and people who played them — and baseball made itself a million dollars. Remember those values kids."

Milton Gross, New York Post: "Our so-called national pastime apparently regards itself as a republic of its own. Its battle hymn is sung at the turnstiles. . . . On railroad platforms people spontaneously sang 'Battle Hymn of the Republic,' but baseball's truth goes marching on."

Bill Tanton, sports editor, Baltimore Evening Sun: ". . . Today the game is in a turmoil because one man, Eckert, could not set a policy for baseball to follow. By leaving it up to the home clubs, he was asking for chaos, and he got it."

2 Astros Mourn Death, Get Fines

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros' Rusty Staub and Bob Aspromonte each lost one day's pay for skipping Sunday's game with Pittsburgh, General Manager H.B. Richardson said Monday.

Staub and Aspromonte refused to play on the day designated by President Johnson as a day of mourning for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"After talking with the players Monday, I am convinced that these two fine young men had very strong convictions and deep feeling for the late Senator Kennedy," Richardson said.

"Therefore, the penalty was not as great as it might have been," he continued. The penalty will cost Staub about $300 and Aspromonte $200, a source said.

There were earlier reports that absent players would be fined $3,000 but Richardson said "That's not my comment."

Maury Wills, player representative for the Pirates, also was absent from the game, which was won by Pittsburgh, 3-1.

Marichal Ups Record To 11-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, the major league's biggest winner, posted his seventh consecutive victory with a four-hitter as the San Francisco Giants crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-0 Monday.

Marichal, 11-2, yielded only a pair of singles to Maury Wills through the first six innings. Roberto Clemente and Matty Alou opened the seventh with singles and Clemens later became the only Pirate to get past second base, but Marichal worked out of the trouble for his first 1968 shutout.

The Giants each right-hander struck out eight and also hit a sacrifice fly. He was backed by a 10-hit attack, including Willie McCovey's 11th homer in the eighth inning. Willie Mays and Ollie Brown each drove in two runs and Jesus Alou had two doubles as the Giants bombed Bob Veale, 2-7.

Brown drove in his runs with a single and a double. Ron Hunt's sacrifice fly and Mays' two-run double made it 6-0 in the sixth inning.

INDIANS BEAT A'S, 7-2—CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians exploded for three runs in the first inning and three more in the eighth and hammered the Oakland Athletics 7-2 Monday night behind the five-hit pitching of Stan Williams and Mike Paul.

Jose Cardenal and Larry Brown singled to start the first rally against loser Lew Krausse, 2-7, and Tony Horton's sacrifice fly started the scoring. Lee Maye tripled for another run and he scored on Duke Sims' single.

Leading 4-2 in the eighth, the Indians put the game out of reach with another burst, including two unearned runs. Cardenal again started with a single and Horton doubled him home. Horton scored when third baseman Sal Bando threw away a ground ball and Max Alvis doubled in a third run.

Alvis also singled in a seventh inning run after Sims doubled.

APARICIO PACES SOX, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Luis Aparicio's tie-breaking double keyed a three-run ninth inning up ising that carried the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees Monday night.

Ken Berry led off the ninth against reliever Dooley Womack with a single. Aparicio

Tom McCraw sacrificed and Duane Josephson drew an intentional walk before Berry scored on Aparicio's bloop double to right, snapping a 2-2 deadlock.

After another intentional walk filled the bases, pinch hitter Bill Voss capped the winning rally with a two-run single. A run-scoring single by Charlie Smith, the Yanks' streaking pinch hit specialist, tied the game 2-2 in the seventh. Smith, batting for starting pitcher Mel Stottlemyre, scored Jake Gibbs from second with his sixth hit in eight at-bats as a pinch hitter.

Gibbs led off the inning with a single off reliever Wilbur Wood and took second on Bobby Cox' sacrifice bunt.

The White Sox broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth when Aparicio singled, raced to third on Tim Cullen's hit-and-run single and scored as pinch hitter Wayne Causey bounced into a force at second.

Tom McCraw rocked Stottlemyre for a leadoff homer in the second inning, but Andy Kosco opened the Yanks, fourth with a solo homer off Sox starter Bob Priddy, tying it 1-1.

HARDIN WINS 8th, 4-1—WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Hardin pitched one-hit ball after the first inning and Boog Powell drove in two runs as the Baltimore Orioles continued their domination of Washington Monday night with a 4-1 victory over the Senators.

It was the Orioles, eighth victory over the Senators in eight meetings this year.

Hardin was clipped for three hits and a run in the first inning.

Ali's Hearing Request Denied By U.S. Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali was denied a rehearing Monday by the fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals on his conviction for refusing induction into the Army.

Ali had asked for a rehearing by all of the circuit's 13 judges sitting "en banc."

The circuit's normal three-judge panel upheld the conviction in a ruling May 6, rejecting Ali's claim that he was a valid conscientious objector to military service because he was a Black Muslim minister.

The court merely denied the request for a rehearing and issued no opinion.

Ali was stripped of his boxing title and sentenced to five years in June 1967 for refusing induction. He is free on bond. He was convicted on criminal

GOLF TIPS
By CHUCK ZWEINER
Play From The Rough
In playing from fairly heavy rough, the objective should be to get out of the rough. Therefore, use a club with enough loft to get the ball high in the air, even at the sacrifice of distance. Avoid use of the No. 2 and 3 irons and the No. 2 and 3 woods when in the rough.
Make a firm, forceful, sweeping swing through the ball to the finish. Don't attempt to chop the ball out by hitting down on it. This will only drive the ball into the ground. Play the ball more off the front foot and sweep through as with a wind club.
Rule Tip
It is against the rules to break or bend anything fixed or growing under or near the ball. In taking a practice swing, you must not violate this rule. Take your practice swing away from the ball and avoid taking a lot of grass or turf.

22 School Areas Set For $1.2 Million Aid

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa School Budget Review Committee reversed itself Monday and voted to pay $1.2 million in state aid to 22 school districts which had millage increase because of a new state school aid formula.

The committee was told the State Department of Public Instruction had been informed by all but two of the districts that they will use the money as an unencumbered balance to reduce their tax needs in the 1968-69 school year.

The committee had voted 3 to 2 two months ago against paying the aid to the 22 districts, on the basis that it would give them a windfall without any assurance that it would be used to cut tax askings.

But State Supt. of Public Instruction Paul Johnston said Monday that "if they will use it as unencumbered balance, it will do what the legislature intended — reduce tax askings."

The districts involved are those that not only receive no property tax relief but actually wound up with increases under the new school aid and property tax equalization formula enacted by the 1967 legislature.

The law empowers the committee to give such districts enough aid to relieve them of a tax increase because of operation of the formula.

Legislators had been told there were only about five such districts in the state. But because Atty. Gen. Richard Turner interpreted the law differently from legislative leaders, the number jumped to 22.

High Schoolers Study Science, Journalism Here

Approximately 400 high school students are at the University this week for workshops in journalism and science.

Three hundred and seventeen students are attending the Iowa High School Journalism Workshop. Sponsored by the School of Journalism, the workshop will last through Friday and will instruct students in areas of journalism in which they will participate next year.

Classes are offered in newspaper, yearbook, school page, and broadcast journalism. Classes are taught by a faculty of high school journalism teachers who are selected on the basis of their skill in each area. Students attend classes and social activities and live in the dormitories while on campus.

Approximately 100 students are attending the National Science Foundation (NSF) workshop from now until Aug. 10. These students are divided into two groups. One group attends classes all day. Another group works in research laboratories during the day and attends classes in the evening. The classes are taught by a staff of about 30 professors from the University.

In addition, a group of about 200 teachers from Iowa high schools will attend the summer session at the University. This group of teachers are also sponsored by the NSF.
