Mrs. Full Predicts Clearing Weather In Rights Climate

By RON GEORGEFF

Mrs. Elliott Full, outgoing Iowa Civil Rights Commission chairman, is optimistic in her assessment of the civil rights climate in Iowa but realizes that discrimination in housing, employment and public accommodations still exists.

In her characteristically animated style of talking, Mrs. Full said Monday in an interview that important strides had been made during her 19-month leadership to effect equality among people of all races.

The commission's successes have generally not been noted because of the law which requires its members to be silent about complaints brought to the commission until the case reaches a public hearing.

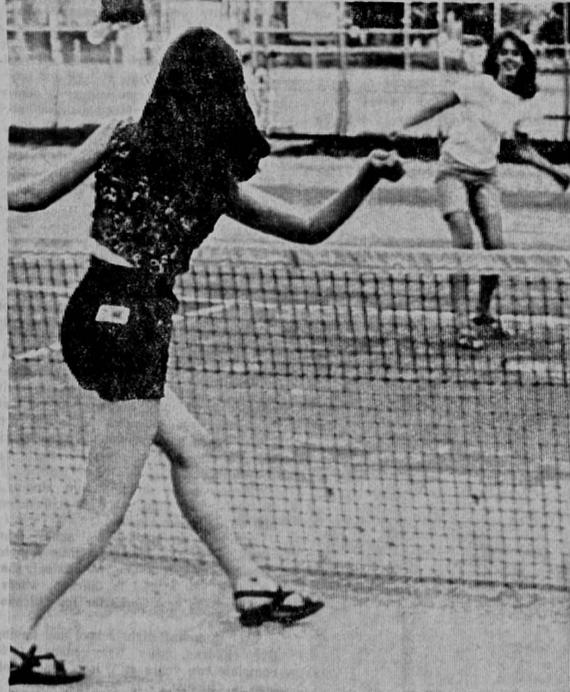

Since 1965, when the commission was formed, Mrs. Full said, only one case has reached the public hearing stage. Most cases were resolved before they reached this stage by talking to the person suspected of discriminating.

The most positive signs of improvement in her term as chairman, she said, were the increased employment opportunities for minority persons. Big corporations in Iowa, she said, are opening their doors to more and more previously unemployed persons.

"Employers still need to provide human relations training to help prevent the abuse a man might receive on the job," Mrs. Full said.

Mrs. Full said the commission was currently conducting a series of meetings with local school boards to encourage the elimination of racial imbalance in the schools.

"The racial imbalance is greatest in Des Moines and Waterloo," Mrs. Full said. "The population elsewhere is not

Firemen Put Heat On For Major Salary Hike

A local attorney representing the Iowa City Firefighters Association petitioned the City Council Monday for a "substantial increase" in firemen's salaries.

The action came in an informal council meeting which followed an early afternoon discussion of the proposed 1969 budget. Salaries of police and firemen were discussed at the budget meeting.

William F. Sueppel, an Iowa City lawyer, and members of the Firefighters Association presented the council with a four-point proposal. The group wants a higher salary scale, six men added to the squad, provision for parking when firemen are called on emergency duty, and a clarification of a city law regarding residency of firemen. Sueppel asked if firemen had to be city residents.

In presenting his argument for higher salaries, Sueppel quoted figures from comparable Iowa cities as to salary and manpower of fire departments.

Sueppel said that in a study of 24 Iowa cities, Iowa City ranked eighth in population but last in terms of firemen per 1,000 population. Iowa City has 65 firemen for every 1,000 people. Sueppel said that every other major city had at least one and most had 1.5 to 2 men for every 1,000 people.

Salary figures quoted by Sueppel put Iowa City in 15th place in terms of starting salary, 16th place in "1st-class salaries," or the high point on a salary scale, and 20th place considering salary based on years of service with the department.

Firemen's starting salary in Iowa City is $458 per month, as compared to $484.65 in Cedar Falls.

City Manager Frank Smiley explained the city's salary scale, inaugurated in January, 1968, as a "six-step system," involving a 5 per cent increase between steps.

Smiley termed the system a "combination of merit and longevity" with the first three raises being automatic, and the last three based on a man's contribution to the department. He said that the merit raise is up to the discretion of a department head plus the availability of funds to make the raise.

Sueppel complained that none had been given a merit increase when the system was set up, but Smiley said that it was not supposed to be included at that time.

Mayor Loren Hickerson said the city would have to increase its entire salary schedule in order to include the firemen. Sueppel indicated that this would be agreeable.

Councilmen will discuss the salary issue further at another budget meeting this morning.

During the budget meeting Monday, the council approved the addition of another sergeant to the city police force. The man selected will be chosen from present patrolmen and another patrolman will be hired.

In another budget matter, it was decided that the Recreation and Park Fund millage would be increased to 7.3 mills as compared to last year's figure of 4.6. The increase was appropriated to partially cover a $43,719 debt in the department which Smiley expects to have reduced by next year.

The council will meet in regular session tonight at 7:30 in the Civic Center.

Harriman Hopes Hanoi Will Start 'Serious' Talks

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman returned to Paris Monday night from consultations in Washington and said he hoped that the North Vietnamese will "get down to serious discussions."

The chief U.S. negotiator in the Paris peace talks has been away for 10 days. Asked whether he came back with plans for change in U.S. tactics, Harriman said: "No, I think that by and large people — in the United States — are satisfied with our presentation. I think people feel we have attempted to make constructive suggestions and that the other side has been dealing in propaganda."

"Let's hope they get down to serious discussions," he said.

Earlier in the day, in New York, Harriman said he "just can't believe" Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy will go to Paris to talk to the North Vietnamese.

"The talks are highly sensitive," Harriman said at Kennedy Airport. "The whole world wants peace, the United States wants peace and there is too much at stake to interject partisan politics."

McCarthy, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, has said he might go to Paris to talk with the North Vietnamese to get a personal view of their demands.

Social Service Official Refuses to Meet Demands

ADC Mothers Hold All Night Vigil at Statehouse

DES MOINES (AP) — The director of the State Department of Social Services on Monday told a group of mothers receiving aid to dependent children it would do their cause more harm than good if he were to order county officials to meet their demands.

The mothers, weary from an all night vigil on the Statehouse steps protesting recent changes in the ADC laws, presented a list of 14 demands to Maurice Harmon, commissioner of the Department of Social Services.

The vigil and the demands were in protest against amendments to the federal Social Security Act which the Iowa Welfare Rights Organization (WRO), as the mothers call themselves, say would reduce their welfare grants and force ADC mothers to accept jobs assigned them by the government.

They also are protesting a second amendment, not effective until next year, which would place a ceiling on the number of ADC cases involving illegitimate or abandoned children for which matching federal funds would be available.

Harmon told the group of about 25 ADC mothers and welfare workers who met with him for about two hours Monday he would not send out a general letter to county administrators of the ADC program.

"The best way not to see the demands effective would be for me to write a letter to 99 county boards of supervisors," Harmon said.

He had told the participants in the vigil, "I want to help you all I can, but we have an awfully lot of rules and regulations to get through to do it."

Reaction of the mothers was mixed after their meeting with Harmon. Mrs. Laurel Carr, state representative of the WRO, said she thought the meeting was worthwhile because "it is bringing to the attention of the people the plight we're in."

But Mrs. Shirley Proctor of Waterloo said she thought the time was wasted. "Our checks are still cut," she said. "We're forced to take jobs. We don't know why ADC is being cut. We don't know where the extra 20 per cent of ADC is going."

The group's demands included establishment of a panel of welfare recipients

Another Airliner Hijacked to Cuba; 2nd in 3 Days

MIAMI (AP) — A pistol-wielding passenger hijacked a Northwest Airlines plane carrying 92 persons Monday night and forced the pilot to land in Cuba.

Federal Aviation Administration officials said the plane was flight 714 from Minneapolis, Minn., to Miami via Chicago.

The FAA said 85 passengers and a crew of seven were aboard.

FAA regional administrator Paul Boatman said a passenger from the first class section of the Boeing 727 jet pulled a gun and ordered the pilot to get non-stop clearance to Miami. "Then he came back a few moments later and said, 'Make that Havana,'" Boatman said.

The landing in Havana came six hours after a hijacked Southeast airliner and its 14 passengers were permitted to depart. The plane was commandeered at gunpoint Saturday during a flight from Miami to Key West.

The first word of the Northwest hijacking came at 6:36 p.m. when the plane was in flight about 35 miles out of Miami, an FAA official said.

The forced flight across the Florida Straits was apparently without incident, the FAA said. The pilot requested "procedural instructions such as Cuban Radio frequencies," said an official, and then reported a safe landing.

George Prelezo, the Cuban-born pilot of the pirated Southeast Airline DC3, was jailed after officials of the Castro regime claimed he was a deserter.

Prelezo was the first person to be detained by Cuban authorities in the rash of seven hijackings since the first of the year.

Boatman said he had no idea when the Northwest plane would be allowed to return. He said the U.S. State Department and the Swiss Embassy, which handles U.S. business in Havana, had been notified and were working toward release of the plane and its passengers.

Texas Delegates Released; Nixon Seen Benefiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John G. Tower released his favorite-son hold on the 56-member Texas delegation to the Republican National Convention Monday and predicted it will result in a first-ballot nomination of Richard M. Nixon.

Throwing himself solidly behind Nixon's presidential aspirations, Tower told a news conference he figures the former vice president will get 44 or 45 of the Texas vote on the first ballot.

And on the basis of Nixon's reported support in other states, the senator said this would be enough to give him the nomination on the first ballot.

A nationwide, up-to-date Associated Press compilation of delegates who are on record in supporting a candidate gives Nixon 478 to 192 for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the only other prime candidate for the party's number one spot.

Another 317 delegates are listed as committed to favorite sons and 309, including the Texas delegation released by Tower, are listed as uncommitted.

Tower said he feels sure that a minimum of 40 of his state's delegation will go for Nixon on the first ballot. If that is added to the AP calculation, Nixon would lead Rockefeller 518 to 192. It takes 667 delegates to win the nomination.

The support for Nixon from Tower, a conservative, came shortly after the former vice president was endorsed by Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, a member of the GOP liberal wing.

Rockefeller Proposes Good Neighbor Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller proposed a new "Good Neighbor policy" for the Western Hemisphere Monday as he prepared to fly to Montana to resume his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Should he become president, Rockefeller said, he would promote efforts to establish a small "peace-keeping force" under the Organization of American States, (OAS) for use in disputes among or threatenings to members.

He also asked for appointment of a welfare recipient to the "Board of Social Welfare," which was abolished when the Department of Social Services was formed.

Other demands were for an increase in the standard monthly allowance per child, now from $35 to $50 a month depending on the number of youngsters in a family, to $100; lowering the age at which a mother may start receiving ADC from 21 to 18 years; and bimonthly instead of monthly welfare payments.

Another demand was that earnings of a welfare recipient, which are deducted from grants if they exceed a certain level, be figured on an annual rather than a monthly basis.

Marines Smash Northern Force

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines, backed by planes and artillery, smashed a North Vietnamese force in a one-side battle near the former combat base of Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported Monday.

The marines reported killing 157 North Vietnamese while sustaining casualties of two marines killed and 11 wounded.

The day-long action Monday, three miles southeast of the almost abandoned base at Khe Sanh, also resulted in the capture by the marines of 71 enemy weapons, military spokesmen said. Of these, 24 were crew-served weapons such as machine guns and mortars and the rest were individual weapons, reports said.

The marines announced last week they were abandoning the combat base for the kind of mobile warfare for which the Leathernecks are trained. The reason was the rising threat of increased enemy infiltration.

But the North Vietnamese learned that the marines had not gone far away.

The battle broke out when a company of the 3rd Marine Division clashed with an enemy force three miles southeast of the base. The marines called in air and artillery support.

Marine planes answering the call found a second enemy group nearby and both concentrations were brought under heavy attack.

Other fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese menacing marines and Navy Seabees who are completing the dismantling of the combat base.

Bulldozers have been moved in to flatten the entrenchments and bunkers where marines, through a 77-day siege, had lost more than 300 killed and 2,000 wounded.

A rescue column of U.S. soldiers, maines and South Vietnamese lifted the North Vietnamese siege early in April after the North Vietnamese began to withdraw.

With the raising of the siege, the marines fanned out north, south and west of the base, looking for the enemy.

Some North Vietnamese units had been withdrawn southward for possible operations in the Hue area or the central highlands. But others have been filtering recently across the nearby demilitarized zones between the Vietnams and more hard fighting is expected.

In all, eight enemy divisions are now believed to be operating in the northern sector and the area south of the demilitarized zone has become the bloodiest front of the war.

The enemy strategy seems to be aimed at keeping the pressure on the northern front while massing men for another blow at Saigon.

The Air Force heavyweights, the eight-engine B52s, kept up a sustained pounding of suspected enemy bases around Saigon Monday.

For the first time since May 9, the B52s also flew five missions against North Vietnam, bombing coastal artillery that has been shelling U.S. destroyers operating off the coast.

U.S. headquarters said the targets, all just to the north of the demilitarized zone, also included bunkers, caves and storage areas.

U.S. fighter-bombers launched 139 missions over North Vietnam's panhandle Sunday and ran into moderate antiaircraft fire.

Pilots reported they destroyed or damaged three bridges, a complex making brick and other building material, 15 supply boats, seven trucks and four weapons positions.

Hubbard Changes Mind, Shuns Draft Board Spot

By DENNIS BATES

Philip G. Hubbard, University dean of student affairs, had decided not to accept the position on the Johnson County local Selective Service Board that he said he would accept last week.

Hubbard told The Daily Iowan Monday that he had written a letter to Col. Glenn Bowles, director of the Selective Service System in Iowa, informing him that he had changed his mind about the position. Hubbard said that the draft board position would make too many demands on his time and that it would also be a conflict of interests.

Hubbard said last Thursday that he had discussed the possible conflict of more, they would say that instead of three or more like they say," Hoffmans said.

Hoffmans said that he would continue his action of seeking an injunction against the local draft board because of what he felt were improper actions in connection with the vacancy on the board. The injunction is to be filed for Johnson County draft registrants.

Hoffmans said Monday that he now had four or five county registrants on whose behalf he can file the injunction and that he is looking for more registrants. He said he planned to file the injunction request sometime this week.

Opposing Sides In Records Case To Air Arguments

District Court Judge William R. Eads will hear argument on the case of Iowa City vs. Jerry Sies, Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the Johnson County Court House.

Lawyers for both parties filed their briefs Friday. D. Keith Borchart represents Sies, A4, Valley Stream, N. Y. City. Jay H. Honohan represents Iowa City in the case which requests an injunction against Sies to stop him from examining the city housing records.

Gary M. Veldey, director of the Hawkeye Area Legal Services Society, Inc., also filed a brief as a friend of the court on behalf of Sies.

Eads is expected to rule on the case sometime after hearing arguments Wednesday.

The briefs for the two parties fail to agree on what the basic issue of the case is. Sies' lawyer contends that the sole issue is whether he has the right to examine the records.

Honohan argues in the city's brief that the main issue is the validity of the law permitting public access to such records. He contends that the bill signed into law by the governor is not the same law passed by the legislature, due to an error in transcription.

The main context of the briefs for Sies argues that the bill questioned by Honohan is valid and that there is no check that can be made on the error that Honohan says exists.

The brief for Iowa City also argues that the injunction should be granted because Sies has no direct interest in the records and that revealing the records would disrupt city progress. Honohan also questions whether the housing records are actually public records and thus open to the public.

The argument that revealing the records to Sies is not in the public interest is "untenable and unrealistic," according to Veldey's brief, and there is no evidence of damage, only conjecture.

Veldey also said, "Certainly his actions... have focused public attention on a problem existing in our city..."

The briefs for Sies also contend that the housing records are public records and that the injunction sought would interfere with the separation of branches of government.

Mayors Give Total Support To Humphrey

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, acknowledging the support of more than 100 Democratic mayors, pledged Monday that as president he would have "a red tape unraveler second to none."
"If America has a crisis, that crisis is rooted in the urban areas," he said, promising to outdo his efforts of the past three years in helping the mayors with the red tape in federal aid programs.
Before the news conference with the mayors, held in the Minneapolis City Council chamber where he was sworn in as mayor 23 years ago Tuesday, Humphrey led some 40 of them on a walking tour of downtown Minneapolis.

Most of the big-name mayors attending the news conference had announced their support of Humphrey earlier. But the group included several former backers of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, including Mayors Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore and James J. M. Doolley of Providence, R.I.
Although some of the biggest names among Democratic mayors were absent, including Richard J. Daley of Chicago and Samuel F. Yorty of Los Angeles, no major city executives are backing Sen. Eugene F. McCarthy, Humphrey's rival for the Democratic presidential nomination.
Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia, who helped swing his state's large convention delegation into the Humphrey column in May, said, "Among the mayors of his own party, there is virtually no support for any other candidate."

Common Market Eyes New Steps For Europe

PARIS (AP) — The Common Market leadership urged major new steps Monday toward creating a United States of Europe as the last tariff barriers disappeared among the six member nations, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The 14-man Executive Commission, under President Jean Rey, asked an end to the veto power for each nation, more power for itself and real powers for the European Parliament.

President Charles de Gaulle's opposition has stood in the way of these steps.

At the same time, the Common Market and Britain — barred from the club by De Gaulle — put into effect 40 per cent of the tariff cuts pledged to the United States and most of the rest of the world in the Kennedy Round agreement a year ago. They were joined by a dozen other countries.

U.S. trade is expected to benefit considerably. The Kennedy Round tariff cuts will affect U.S. exports that were worth more than $8 billion last year. The cuts could increase this trade by hundreds of millions of dollars, helping the U.S. balance of payments and cutting down the drain of gold from American reserves.

The picture was darkened by new emergency restrictions on French trade imposed by De Gaulle's government. Imports of textiles, automobiles and some other important products are to be limited. French exporters are to get new subsidies, which annoy exporters in other countries.

Representatives of the world major trading nations met in Geneva Monday to consider the French measures, fearful that reprisals and countermeasures could create new barriers harder to surmount than the old ones. The United States is already considering the imposition of "countervailing duties," surtaxes on imports.

De Gaulle's triumph in Sunday's elections was also seen as a setback for European unity by Sisco L. Mansholt, the Common Market commission's vice president for agricultural affairs.
Also thrown into the river were the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Keeney of Davenport. Both escaped serious injury. Larry's 7-year-old brother, Jerry, did not go into the stream but was examined at a hospital.

More Skirmishing Develops Over High Court Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP) — More skirmishing over President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments broke out in the Senate Monday as a public hearing on the nominations was set for July 11.

Here were the chief developments:

• Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, said he will vote to confirm Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice and Judge Homer Thornberry as an associate justice.
Dirksen predicted that any filibuster against confirmation, already threatened by some of his GOP colleagues, will be smashed.

• Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Johnson has a right and a duty to fill the vacancy arising from Chief Justice Earl Warren's announced retirement. To delay until a new president is elected, Smathers said, could turn the appointment into a political pawn in the forthcoming election battle.

In a Senate speech, Smathers also said that Fortas, as an associate justice since 1965, has shown a sense of restraint and is extraordinarily qualified to become chief justice.

• Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) proposed that the Senate take two votes on the nominations — first on a motion to send them back to the Judiciary Committee and then, if that fails, on confirmation.

Javits said the first vote would give senators opposed to letting Johnson make the appointments an opportunity to express themselves without engaging in a filibuster. The second vote, he said, could be on the merits of the nominees.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has been called for questioning at the July 11 meeting of the Judiciary Committee on whether a vacancy on the court actually exists.

The issue was raised in the committee last week because Warren submitted his retirement request at the pleasure of the President and Johnson said he would accept it when a successor had been confirmed by the Senate.

Missile Race Talks Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Monday that the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to start talks "in the nearest future" on curbing the costly missile-antimissile race between the two atomic superpowers.

Johnson reported on the long-awaited U.S.-Soviet talks during a historic signing at the White House of the Nonproliferation Treaty, a pact aimed at outlawing the spread of nuclear weapons.

A total of 57 nations signed the treaty at the nationally televised ceremony the East Room of the presidential mansion. In parallel ceremonies at Moscow, 35 nations signed while at London, the capital of the third treaty-sponsoring power, 23 joined.

Duplications held the opening day total to a figure of 60-plus but Johnson predicted that in the months ahead virtually all of the world's nations would join.

The treaty comes into force upon ratification by 40 non-nuclear states plus the three atomic power sponsors.

Johnson plans to send the pact to the Senate promptly in hopes of winning U.S. ratification by the end of July.

Among the nonsigners, West Germany cited what a government spokesman called "massive Soviet political pressure" against Bonn. Chief government spokesman Guenter Diehl held out no hope for early West German signature, but he recalled that Bonn voluntarily renounced in 1954 the production and acquisition of nuclear and other mass-destructive devices.

The treaty, under which the nuclear powers pledge not to supply atomic weapons to non-nuclear states and the non-nuclear countries pledge not to acquire them, was billed by Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson as the most important disarmament accord since the dawn of the nuclear age.

The previous landmark was the 1963 nuclear test-ban treaty in which more than 100 countries joined to bar nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

The missile reduction proposal is more of a two-power affair since only the United States and the Soviet Union now own big stockpiles of long-range atomic rockets.

Have-not nations that promise to stay that way under the non-proliferation treaty have pressed the Big two to do some disarming too.

France and China are not expected to sign. Both are developing their own atomic arsenals.

To those countries that fear a nuclear threat from non-treaty states, Johnson repeated the earlier U.S. pledge of readiness to move quickly in defense of treaty states threatened by nuclear aggression. The Soviet Union and Britain joined this country in such a pledge June 17.

Senate leaders disagreed on whether funds for starting the Sentinel antiballistic missile system should now be withheld in view of the approaching U.S.-Soviet talks.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes the $227-million authorization will be cut from the budget. But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the money should be provided as planned.

Whether the U.S.-Soviet talks would lead to still another treaty is not clear, but Johnson noted in his brief address that he had proposed missile-curb discussions to former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in January 1964 in response to a letter from Khrushchev the previous month.

Washington began prodding the Soviets again on the issue a year and a half ago amid the developing race in expensive antimissile defense systems. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko finally announced last Thursday that the Kremlin is ready for such talks.

Kosygin set forth a multipoint disarmament proposal at the Moscow ceremony. White House officials described Kosygin's list as a rundown of disarmament items, most of which have been discussed at length in past years, which the Soviets propose for consideration by the 17-nation disarmament conference due to reconvene in Geneva in mid-July.

Kosygin called for a halt in production of atomic weapons, a cutback in nuclear stockpiles, and made other familiar proposals. But on missiles, he advocated — as Johnson does — discussions on limiting and reducing the "means of delivery of strategic weapons."

The Soviet leader coupled his disarmament plea with an attack on the United States. He said the need for the Soviet proposal to do away with foreign weapons manufacture and the reduction of nuclear stockpiles.

Kosygin also proposed discussions on the "limitation and subsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons," meaning missiles.

This coincided with an announcement by President Johnson at the Washington version of the treaty-signing ceremony that the United States and Soviet Union would start missile talks "in the nearest future."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, distributed a similar statement: "An understanding has been reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States to open early talks on a comprehensive limitation and restriction both of systems of delivering offensive strategic nuclear weapons and anti-ballistic missile defense systems."

News of the forthcoming negotiations had been revealed last Thursday.

Kosygin's new proposal ran side by side with a blast at the United States in the Soviet government memorandum. It said greater controls were more urgent than ever, partly because of "the aggressive war waged by the U.S.A. in Vietnam."

As background for the Soviet position, there was a report from Communist sources in Moscow that China has developed its first intercontinental ballistic missile. Another report from the Seismological Institute at Uppsala, Sweden, noted a strong "underground explosion" in the Soviet Union near the Caspian Sea on Monday. There was no confirmation here.

Of some 50 to 60 arrested Sunday night, Police Chief William Beall said only four were university students.

"I thought I could walk among a group of constituents of varying views and outlooks, as I have done for the past two nights," Mayor Wallace Johnson said after manhandlers forced him to flee to a police station Sunday night.

"But instead I ran into about 200 of those most interested in provoking incidents."

The demonstrations — marked by window-smashing, fire-bombing, scores of arrests and some use of police tear gas — began last Friday night. Political activists demanded the right to hold street-blocking rallies on Telegraph Avenue near the University of California campus.

White House aides made these further points about the U.S.-Soviet missile cutback talks:

• No time or place has been set, nor is there a decision yet on the composition of the delegations of the two sides.

• However, the agreement with the Russians is that the discussions will be bilateral, or between the two powers rather than in a multination conference.

Underground Test Ban Cited

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called Monday for negotiations toward nuclear disarmament, an old Russian proposal, then underscored this with a statement of readiness to ban underground tests, last trial area for the explosion of atomic arms.

Speaking at the signing ceremony of the U.S.-Soviet backed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, Kosygin disclosed that Moscow has issued a nine-point memorandum urging international talks to end nuclear weapons manufacture and the reduction of nuclear stockpiles.

Kosygin also proposed discussions on the "limitation and subsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons," meaning missiles.

This coincided with an announcement by President Johnson at the Washington version of the treaty-signing ceremony that the United States and Soviet Union would start missile talks "in the nearest future."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, distributed a similar statement: "An understanding has been reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States to open early talks on a comprehensive limitation and restriction both of systems of delivering offensive strategic nuclear weapons and anti-ballistic missile defense systems."

China Spurns U.N. Request, Nuclear Talks

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — China has spurned an invitation from Secretary-General U Thant to attend a U.N.-sponsored nuclear conference in Geneva, a U.N. spokesman disclosed Monday.

The turnaround came as the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain signed the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons — a treaty which was denounced by Peking and from which France has remained aloof. The nuclear powers are the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China.

Thant cabled an invitation last week to Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai in Peking to attend the conference of non-nuclear countries scheduled Aug. 29-Sept. 28 in Geneva, Switzerland.

Under the rules set up by the non-nuclear countries the nuclear powers were given the right to participate in discussions but not the right to vote.

It was the first time that Peking had been invited to a U.N.-sponsored conference of any kind. The U.N. spokesman said that the Peking Telegraph Office replied with a service message declining even to accept delivery.

"The People's Republic of China has no relations whatsoever with the United Nations," the service message said. "We therefore refuse to accept the June 25 telegram of U Thant."

The invitation was sent by regular commercial channels, and the reply was received in the same way.

There was no comment on the Peking reaction from Thant, who was visiting in Eastern Europe. But he had been advised of the receipt on Saturday of the Peking message.

Sea Wall Breaks, Boy Disappears

DAVENPORT (AP) — A sea wall along the Mississippi River collapsed Monday, throwing into the swift current a 6-year-old boy who was missing and presumed drowned.

Authorities were dragging the river for Larry Hols, son of Mr. Lorna Hols of Des Moines.

Also thrown into the river were the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Keeney of Davenport. Both escaped serious injury. Larry's 7-year-old brother, Jerry, did not go into the stream but was examined at a hospital.

White Group Supports ISU Black Grievances

AMES — Eighty-six crosses representing the number of American-born black students at Iowa State University were placed in front of the university administration building Monday in support of demands made by the Black Student Organization.

An unofficial organization known as the White Support Group planted the crosses after the school's Athletic Council granted only two of eight demands made by the BSO.

The council agreed that black athletes be referred to as black students or Afro-Americans rather than "Negroes" and that a black counselor be hired to work with black athletes.

The Rev. Mark Rutledge, ISU campus minister, said that planting the crosses "reflects our feeling that essentially the university has not recognized that there is a racial problem."

Dr. Richard Gustafson, another member of the unofficial White Support Group, said the organization is trying to contact black coaches to ask them to apply at Iowa State. One of the student demands was that a black coach be hired for each major sport.

Rutledge said six members of the White Support Group met with university president Robert Parks Friday and asked for his intervention in what the group called "a rapidly deteriorating racial situation" on the campus.

"His essential response was that he has done all he can do," Rutledge said.

The black students had asked that a black coach be hired for each major sport at Iowa State, and demanded that baseball coach Cap Timm be fired for alleged discrimination against black athletes.

These and other demands were turned down by the council, which said an exhaustive investigation cleared them of any racial discrimination.

Billy Casper Tops Golf's Money List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. — Billy Casper continues to lead his nearest rival among pro golfers by more than $38,000 with a bankroll of $130,185, according to PGA figures released Monday.

Tom Weiskopf was second with $91,736 while Lee Trevino, winner of the recent U. S. Open championships, was third at $88,503, followed by George Archer, $87,559; Miller Barber, $70,086; Jack Nicklaus, $69,428; and George Knudson at $62,727.

Rounding out the top 10 were Bobby Lunn, $61,302; Don January, $60,249; and Arnold Palmer with $56,383.

Hitting only .242 with 11 homers and 29 runs batted in through Sunday games, Mantle was selected for the All-Star team in 1952. He did not play that year and later missed games in 1963 and '65.

day as injured Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was passed by for the first time since 1955.

Manager Dick Williams of the Boston Red Sox, who will pilot the AL in the All-Star classic July 9 in Houston, went pretty much along with the players' voting in completing the 25-player squad.

Named reserves with Mantle were first baseman Boog Powell and second baseman Dave Johnson of Baltimore, third baseman Don Wert of Detroit, shortstop Bert Campaneris and outfielder Riek Monday of Oakland, catchers Joe Azcue of Cleveland, Duane Josephson of Chicago, and outfielders Ken Harrelson of Boston and Tony Oliva of Minnesota.

Mantle, a 36-year-old veteran who ranks fourth among baseball's all-time great sluggers with 529 homers, finished fourth in the first base voting but was rewarded with an All-Star berth on the basis of his outstanding career.

Chosen earlier as pitchers were Denny McLain of Detroit, Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant of Cleveland, Jose Santiago of Boston, Mel Stottlemyer of New York, Tommy John of Chicago and John "Blue Moon" Odom of Oakland.

had been chosen for the All-Star squad since 1955. He missed the 1967 game because of a broken hand and has been sidelined most of this year with a fractured arm.

Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota was voted the starting berth at first base. Powell, hitting .267 with 12 homers and 49 RBIs, was runner-up, followed by Cleveland's Tony Horton and Mantle.

Johnson, batting .263, was second to Rod Carew of the Twins in the second base balloting. Wert, hitting just .224, was selected by Williams although he was third behind Brooks Robinson of the Orioles and Max Alvis of Cleveland.

Campaneris, .249, was third among shortstops, trailing Jim Fregosi of California and Luis Aparicio of the White Sox. Azcue, .250, was runner-up to starting catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit, while Josephson, .246, was fourth behind Elston Howard of Boston.

Oliva was fourth among outfield vote-getters, followed by Harrelson and Monday. Oliva is hitting .290 with 12 homers and 40 RBIs. Harrelson leads the league with a .313 average while cracking 16 homers and driving in 54 runs, while Monday is rolling with a .304 average, three homers and 21 RBIs.

The starting outfield will be Triple Crown winner Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox, home run leader Frank Howard of Washington and Detroit slugger Willie Horton. All are regular left fielders and Williams is expected to change the line-up after three innings against the National League All-Stars in Houston.

Mondane Joins Select Group For Final Olympic Tryouts

After several weeks of tryouts and meets, Iowa track star Mike Mondane has officially won a berth at the U.S. Olympic tryout camp at Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Mondane will join an elite group of the most talented tracksters in the nation at the camp beginning Sept. 9.

In order to qualify for the tryouts, Mondane had to finish at least second in either the championship or consolation round at the U.S. Olympic trials at Los Angeles last weekend. Mondane finished second in the consolation round of the 400-meter run. His time was 46.3 seconds, just one-tenth of a second behind winner Henry Smothers of Arkansas A.M. and N.

"Mike did a good job again," said Iowa track Coach Francis Cretzmeier Monday. "He has run consistently well in all of the meets this summer."

Cretzmeier has been traveling with Mondane and another Hawkeye Larry Wiczorek for the past few weeks.

Wiczorek failed to place among the top six in the 5,000 meter run.

"Larry really didn't run too well," said Cretzmeier. "He has had his ups and downs the last couple of weeks."

Although Wiczorek didn't qualify for the tryout camp last weekend, he still has a chance to be selected for the team. A few of the tracksters who did not fare so well in the trials, may still be selected to attend the camp by a special committee.

Wiczorek should have an opportunity to make a favorable impression on the committee this week. He will leave today from New York to compete with a U.S. track team in Norway and Sweden.

OLYMPIC BOUND? — Iowa track star Mike Mondane demonstrates the stride that has advanced him to the U.S. Olympic tryout camp in September at Lake Tahoe, Calif. Mondane placed second in the consolation round of the 400-meter run Sunday at the Olympic trials in Los Angeles.

Ashe, Graebner Pull Upsets In Wimbledon Tennis Open

WIMBLEDON, England — Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner, American Davis Cup amateurs, knocked off defending champion John Newcombe and Fred Stolle in singles as Ken Rosewall and Roy Emerson also tumbled in a sensational day at Wimbledon Monday.

Ashe, of Richmond, Va., and seeded 13th, aced Newcombe, the fourth seeded pro from Australia, for the final point in winning his way to the quarter-finals of Wimbledon's first open tennis championship, 6-4, 6-4, 6-6, 1-6, 6-3.

Next game for the Iowa City team will be tonight against Marengo at 6:30 on the Iowa Field.

Graebner, unseeded New Yorker, used a booming service to rout pro Fred Stolle of Australia, a three-time Wimbledon finalist and 11th seed, 6-1, 7-5, 7-5.

Tony Roche, the Australian pro seeded 15th, trounced Rosewall, the Australian pro seeded second behind Rod Laver, 9-7, 6-3, 6-3. Tom Okker, the 12th seeded Dutch amateur, downed fifth-seeded Roy Emerson, the Australian pro and a two-time Wimbledon champion, 6-3, 9-11, 7-5, 7-5.

Eagles, Lions to Play Game At Stadium in Mexico City

NEW YORK — A game between the Philadelphia Eagles and Detroit Lions at the 105,000-seat Aztec Stadium in Mexico City and 23 interleague contests are the high spots of a 68-game preseason schedule announced Monday by the National Football League and the American Football League.

All 10 AFL teams, including the new entry from Cincinnati, will play NFL teams in the exhibition season and all NFL teams, except the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants will face AFL opponents. A proposed game between the Giants and New York Jets fell through due to the unavailability of Shea Stadium.

In the 23 interleague games, an experimental conversion rule will be in effect. Instead of the regular conversion kick, the team will run or pass for one point from the two-yard line after each touchdown. Results of the experiment will be studied with a view toward possible consideration as a rule change.

The game in Mexico is the first in a foreign country between NFL teams since the Bears played the Giants in Toronto, Canada, in 1960.

For the first time, an AFL team, the Jets, will appear on the Cleveland doubleheader, Saturday, Sept. 7. The Jets will play Detroit in the first game and Green Bay will take on Cleveland in the second game.

Kaline, Freehan Pace Tigers

DETROIT — Al Kaline, back from more than five weeks on the injury list and playing first base for the first time in his career, singled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning and Bill Freehan hit two homers as the Detroit Tigers beat California 5-1 Monday night.

Kaline, a star outfielder, suffered a broken right arm when he was hit by a pitch in a game at Oakland May 25. He was reactivated from the disabled list Monday and told an hour before game time that he would be playing first base.

Mickey Stanley opened the Tigers' sixth with a triple off George Brunet and Kaline followed with a single to left.

Dick Tracewski homered in the eighth and after Kaline walked, Minnie Rojas relieved Brunet and Freehan smacked his second homer of the game and 11th of the season.

For Tracewski, it was his second home run, fifth of his career and the first time he has hit more than one in a season.

Both teams scored on home runs in the fourth inning. Bobby Knoop gave the Angels a 1-0 lead with his first homer but Freehan matched it for the Tigers.

Mickey Lolich, 6-4, scattered five hits and struck out 14 as the American League-leading Tigers won for the sixth time in seven games.

CLEVELAND — Lou Johnson, Cleveland's recent acquisition rapped two bases-empty homers and Sam McDowell struck out 11 Twins in Cleveland's 4-1 victory over Minnesota Monday night.

The losers included Vicky Rogers of Rye, N. Y., Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis, Julie Heldman of New York and Cecelia Martinez of San Francisco.

In the 23 interleague games, an experimental conversion rule will be in effect. Instead of the regular conversion kick, the team will run or pass for one point from the two-yard line after each touchdown. Results of the experiment will be studied with a view toward possible consideration as a rule change.

The game in Mexico is the first in a foreign country between NFL teams since the Bears played the Giants in Toronto, Canada, in 1960.

For the first time, an AFL team, the Jets, will appear on the Cleveland doubleheader, Saturday, Sept. 7. The Jets will play Detroit in the first game and Green Bay will take on Cleveland in the second game.

Johnston-Weir 'East' Battle Brightens Dull Local Primary

Eight persons from Johnson County — along with about 400 others who filed their papers in Des Moines before the midnight deadline Sunday — will seek their parties' nomination for state offices in the September primary. A primary fight is being waged for only one nomination, however.

One Democrat and one Republican, both unopposed in the primary, are running for state senator from Johnson County's 17th District. They are: D. C. Nolan, Republican, and State Rep. Minnette Doderer, Democrat.

2 Badly Wounded During Gunfight

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A policeman shot in a gunfight with an alleged terrorist clung to life Monday despite a bullet lodged in a chamber of his heart. The alleged terrorist, Thomas A. Tarant III, 22, of Mobile, Ala., was also severely wounded.

Surgeons delayed any operation on Patrolman J. M. Hatcher, 31, in hope that his physical condition would improve before surgery was attempted. He remained in critical condition.

Hatcher was wounded Sunday morning in a savage gunfight at the end of a 15-block chase. Four slugs from a 9 millimeter German submachine gun hit him in the chest.

U.S. Troop Plane Forced To Land on Soviet Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — A troop-carrying U.S. airplane bound for Vietnam was forced to land on a Soviet island late Sunday, Moscow gave no assurances Monday of an early release for the aircraft and the 229 aboard.

The Seaboard-World Airlines charter plane was taking 212 soldiers and sailors to Vietnam when it was intercepted by Soviet MIG fighter planes and forced to land on Iturup Island in the Pacific Kurile chain.

The Pentagon said the DC-8 plane apparently strayed off course en route from Seattle, Wash., to Yokota, Japan, and flew into Soviet air space. It had a scheduled refueling stop at Yokota.

Washington at once pressed for release of the plane and the men, acting through the U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, and with the Soviet ambassador here, Anatole Dobrynin.

But at a mid-afternoon news briefing a State Department spokesman said Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin told Thompson only that the case is under investigation and gave no assurances the aircraft would be freed soon.

Robert J. McCloskey added, "We continue to be in touch with the Soviet government and hope that the plane and its crew will be returned."

Beyond saying that the plane was undamaged and its occupants uninjured, McCloskey offered no details on the incident.

While officials here doubt that Moscow would risk a major incident by keeping the plane and its occupants, they recognize that it offers a touchy issue for the Kremlin since the transport was bearing troops to fight against a Soviet ally in Vietnam.

Any quick release would be likely to bring strong condemnation from Red China and perhaps other Communist countries.

Injured Coed Still Serious

A University coed remained in serious condition at University Hospitals Monday night as the result of a car accident Friday evening.

Sue Guenther, G. Waterloo, suffered internal injuries, facial fractures and lacerations when the car in which she was riding struck the rear of an auto transport truck that was backing out of a drive onto Highway 6 in Coralville about 11:20 p.m.

Another passenger, Sue Sarset, 23, Westhampton Village, was also listed in serious condition with head injuries. Driver of the car, Lewis C. Wallbridge, 24, 205 Myrtle St., suffered internal injuries and was listed in fair condition.

John Broz, L.2, Des Moines, also a passenger, was released Sunday morning after being held for observation.

Coralville police said that charges of improper backing out of a drive were filed against the truck driver, Edgar F. Ballou, 31, Beloit, Wis. Ballou was not injured.

Police said investigation of the accident was continuing.

New Evidence Points Up Hazard — FTC Urges Ban on Cigaret Ad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was urged Monday to prohibit cigarette advertising on television and radio — and was told simultaneously that cigarette smoking can shorten life by up to eight years on the average.

The double-barreled blast came in separate reports to Congress by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS).

The FTC asked for an advertising ban, while the PHS reported there's new evidence to back its repeated contentions that cigarette smoking imperils health and can be death-dealing.

Three of the five members of the FTC, in the agency's annual report to Congress on cigarette advertising, recommended the television and radio ban on such advertising.

And the whole commission backed a new and tougher warning statement on cigarette packages and said this also should be required in all advertisements.

The proposed warning would read, "Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases." The warning now required says only, "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The PHS in a 176-page report prepared by the agency's National Clearinghouse for Information on Smoking and Health, said evidence accumulated during the past year shows that life expectancy among heavy smokers can be reduced by more than eight years, on the average, as a result of smoking. It said light smokers risk a decreased life expectancy of about four years.

In a foreword to the report, Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the Health Service declared that in the last 12 months "evidence attesting to the harmful effect of smoking on health has continued to mount."

The agency's report, entitled "The Health Consequences of Smoking," was designed to update a report made by the service a year ago, as well as the original Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health made in 1964. That original report touched off a major war by a number of government and private agencies against cigarette smoking.

The 1964 report blasted cigarette smoking as the alleged major cause of lung cancer in men, and it said such smoking is a contributory cause of other killer diseases.

The FTC as a whole recommended also that a statement setting forth the tar and nicotine content of each cigarette should be required to appear on the cigarette package and in all cigarette advertising.

The American Tobacco Institute, the usual spokesman for the industry, withheld comment pending examination of the reports. It has asserted repeatedly that there is no clear and definite proof that smoking causes cancer or other disease.

Spokesmen for the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. said they would have no comment until they had time to study the recommendations.

Robert Pauley, president of the Mutual Broadcasting System radio network, said, "Every advertiser should have the right to advertise. It should be up to the individual medium . . . I don't think it's something that should be legislated."

Medical Student Studies in Britain

Philip H. Vander Stoep, M.A. Le Mars, has received a fellowship for study at the University of Sheffield, Sheffield, England.

Vander Stoep and his wife, Kay, left June 20 for England, where he will study in the infectious diseases division at the University of Sheffield. The couple will also visit other medical schools in England to study the English system of medical education and medical care.

500 Corneal Transplants Done Here Since 1955 — UI Doctors Give an Eye for an Eye

By NED NEVELS

Twenty-four Iowans go about their daily business with one ear cocked toward the telephone waiting for a call that will mean restored or vastly improved eyesight through a corneal transplant.

Those Iowans are patients of the University Hospital Lions Club Eye Bank who need a transplant of the cornea, the outer, clear layer of the eye. Over 20,000 Iowans have willed their eyes to be given after death to the Eye Bank for such transplants, according to Miss Ruth Fisher, public relations assistant for the bank.

whereabouts on a day-to-day basis, Miss Fisher said.

Loss of moisture from eye tissue forces surgeons to remove the cornea from a donor within four hours after death. The transplant itself must be performed within 36 hours, Miss Fisher said.

The operation itself, she said, is relatively uncomplicated but delicate, requiring the careful placement and suturing of the new cornea after removal of the defective one. Unlike heart or kidney transplants, Miss Fisher said, corneal transplants do not require massive equipment or great cost.

A skilled surgeon can perform the operation in 90 minutes and many hospitals in Iowa need only a surgeon who carries his own equipment to be able to do such work, Miss Fisher said.

Almost all of the doctors in Iowa performing corneal transplants were once resident physicians with the University eye clinic, she said.

While some cases can wait the three to six months that usually elapses before eyes become available, Miss Fisher said, many cases require emergency treatment to save the patient's sight.

Following the loss of a patient's sight in an emergency case because of the non-availability of eyes in 1962, Dr. A. E. Bralley, head of the University's Department of Ophthalmology, and a friend set up a network of ham radio operators linking eye banks throughout the nation to provide a "clearing-house" for eyes on an emergency basis. At either of the two daily sessions when the network has all of its stations on the air, a member can request eyes for an emergency case.

"I don't think we've ever missed getting an eye for an emergency," Bralley said.

The University Eye Bank began in 1955 under the sponsorship of the Lions Clubs of Iowa and since then has performed nearly 500 transplants, Miss Fisher said. About 80 per cent of these operations, she said, resulted in restored or nearly restored vision.

Central America Faces Common Market Crisis

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A meeting of the five Central American presidents in San Salvador Friday will deal with the crisis facing their regional common market.

President Johnson will join the meeting Saturday, the White House announced.

The immediate cause of the dispute threatening the seven-year-old Central American common market is a higher tax agreed on for most imports from outside the area to protect domestic production.

Nicaraguan guards delayed or turned back hundreds of trucks last week bearing products from Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras and Costa Rica, insisting on the imposition of the protective levies.

Ministers of the five nations met in Costa Rica June 1 and approved a 30 per cent increase in customs levies on most imports. About 100 products were exempt, including medicines.

Nicaragua's Congress approved the protocol in 48 hours. The other four fellow chief executives, while endorsing the plan, have found growing congressional opposition to the tax.

The new tax would mean higher prices for consumers in the common market and there are widespread complaints in all five countries that the consumer already is burdened by high prices.

Curiosity Kills The Rat, Shorts Out UI Circuits

A frying rat was responsible for a power failure on the University's west campus Monday morning.

The rat crawled into a ventilation duct in the base of a switch near the Speech Pathology Center, according to Paul J. Dvorak, foreman of the Physical Plant. When the rat stood on his hind legs he completed a circuit between two wires and shorted out the switch, killing the rat and causing a power failure at the Speech Pathology Center, men's dormitories, Hydraulics Laboratory, Pharmacy Building, Medical Research Center and the Hospital School.

Power was off in these buildings from 10 until 11:30 a.m., Dvorak said.

Victorious on Generalities, Gaullists Now Seek Reforms

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's regime, which won a smashing election victory on a platform of generalities, is under pressure now to come up with specific reforms for the troubled French monetary system, schools and industries.

"Failure will lead us straight to chaos," the conservative Paris newspaper Le Figaro said Monday.

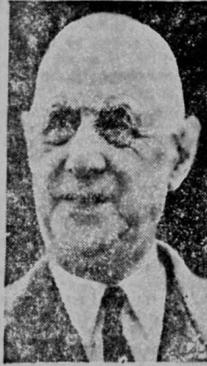

Premier Georges Pompidou offered no firm solutions in a talk with newsmen but said the country, torn by weeks of strikes and student unrest, wants a return to unity.

As for government ranks in the new National Assembly, he said: "I believe we will have unanimous adhesion and I hope it will stay that way for five years."

Pompidou had met at the Orsay Palace on the Seine with jubilant government legislators, assured in the second round voting Sunday of 355 seats in the 487-seat National Assembly.

Making up the roll in this biggest election landslide in France since the victory of a nationalist coalition in 1919 were 299 orthodox Gaullists, 53 Independent Republicans and 3 pro-De Gaulle independents. Some of eight other independent rightists may pledge their support to the government when the new assembly convenes July 11.

The opposition could muster only 122 seats. These were 33 Communists, a loss of 40 seats; 57 members of the Fed-

France Waits For Reaction Of Students

PARIS (AP) — The youth in a University of Texas sweatshirt said: "Even the Communists must have voted for the Gaullists."

Standing outside the new medical school near St. Germain des Pres, he was handing out crudely copied leaflets.

The leaflets called for a meeting of students later Monday at a branch of the Sorbonne in suburban Nanterre. That is where Daniel Cohn-Bendit, the most widely known among promoters of the May disorders that so obviously annoyed French voters, was a student.

At the medical school, still occupied by students, there was worry and discouragement at the landslide victory of President Charles de Gaulle's followers in the National Assembly election completed Sunday.

"There'll be unpleasant things happening tonight," predicted the student in the Texas sweatshirt, a small, wiry youth of about 20.

He is not really from Texas, he acknowledged readily.

"But my mother is," he added, "and I've been to New York."

Further questions about his name and background were not welcome. Students fear police reprisals if they are identified.

Asked what he meant about "unpleasant things," he said the police might come to take over the medical school. Others demurred, forecasting there would be no action right away.

Whenever a police bus passed — fairly often in the student quarter — there were murmurs of apprehension, and a few jeers.

The students took in the tables and shut the big doors. On the boulevard, there was no sign of the police but a few fights broke out between students and pro-De Gaulle motorists.

Journalism Alum Receives Citation For Achievement

Jeffrey Hlubek Clinton, a 1968 graduate of the University School of Journalism, has received a citation of achievement from Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity for men.

The citation is one of 57 that were presented to outstanding graduates in 57 journalism schools. The recipients were selected by a committee composed of students, faculty and professional members of the fraternity.

Recipients were selected on the basis of character, scholarship and competence in journalism work.

Bathing Caps For Long Hairs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Those boys who like their hair long, like a girl, will have to wear bathing caps, like a girl, if they want to swim in the pools at Philadelphia recreation centers.

And if they don't like a bathing cap they'll have to get a haircut — or swim elsewhere.

George Karalius, a Recreation Department supervisor in charge of municipal pools, said Monday a city health regulation requires all girls to wear caps — no matter what the length of their hair, and some of them, admittedly, wear it shorter than many boys.

The reason: long hair has a tendency to shed, more frequently, and this clogs a pool's filtration system.

COLD THE BEST COP—

GERMISTON, South Africa (AP) — Police Commandant J. B. Weisse says "cold is definitely the best policeman." A single sub-zero night reported on a normal of eight burglaries, Weisse said.

Even these requirements would constitute an unprecedented congressional oversight of the actions of the Federal Reserve Board. Although it was created by Congress and is appointed by the President, the board steadily has maintained its autonomy in managing the nation's monetary affairs, principally through purchase and sale of government securities and setting bank reserve requirements.

Its objectives are to restrain inflation with tighter money policies and avert slumps by easing the money supply.

Chairman William Proxmire (D-Wis.) says the committee's report, based on a series of hearings on the Fed's performance, "breaks sharply with Congress' traditional 'Hands off the Fed.' It tells the Fed to adopt a constant and moderate monetary policy and instructs them to tell us whenever they depart from it."

He says the agency "has a record of deepening almost every recession or depression we have

Howard Hughes Next Target: 2 Million ABC Stock Shares

NEW YORK (AP) — Financier Howard Hughes, through his Hughes Tool Co., offered Monday to buy 2 million common shares of American Broadcasting Cos., Inc., for $74.25 a share — a total of $148.5 million in cash.

If stockholders respond with 2 million shares, Hughes Tool, of Houston, Tex., would acquire a substantial but not majority interest in ABC.

ABC, the third biggest television and radio network, has 4,727,000 shares outstanding.

Trading in ABC shares was delayed in opening on the New York Stock Exchange until late afternoon pending announcement of the Hughes Tool offer. The issue closed at $6.50 a share, up $1.12 for the day, on volume of 40,400 shares.

ABC made no immediate comment on the offer but a spokesman said a statement was being prepared.

The Hughes Tool announcement said that if more than 2 million shares are tendered it may elect to purchase any or all shares above that amount.

Plane Back From Cuba; Pilot Jailed

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Fourteen kidnaped airline passengers returned to U.S. soil from Havana Monday, leaving behind a gun-wielding hijacker and the plane's pilot who was jailed for defecting from Cuba in 1960.

Passengers identified the hijacker as a well-dressed, polite black man who was listed on the flight manifest as E. H. Carter.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents declined immediately to identify the hijacker officially.

After spending two days in Cuban hotels, the Americans were flown to Key West, their original destination, aboard the same DC3 that was diverted to Havana at gunpoint Saturday.

The plane's pilot, George Prellez, 37, a naturalized American citizen, originally from Cuba, with a wife and five children in Miami, was held in a Cuban cell for trial, according to a U.S. State Department announcement in Washington.

The State Department also said Prellez's wife could have her passport validated for a trip to Cuba if she asked. "There is no question that it will be granted," said press officer Robert J. McCloskey.

In Miami, Henry Taylor, State Department coordinator for Cuban affairs, said, "The wife wanted to go down but we told her no, it was impossible."

The offer will be in force until 3 p.m. July 15 unless extended. Hughes, who hasn't been seen in public in years, is the sole owner of Hughes Tool, a major manufacturer of oil well drilling equipment and helicopters.

Since 1967 he has become the major owner of hotels and gambling facilities in Las Vegas, Nev. His acquisitions there include four hotels and an entertainment facility, all with casinos.

The announcement of the stock offer said Hughes Tool now owns television station KLAS-TV in Las Vegas and that acquisition of ABC common stock "may mean one broadcast interest beyond the limit specified in the present rules of the Federal Communications Commission."

It added that Hughes Tool "is proceeding immediately to seek a temporary waiver from the commission to afford it sufficient time to achieve full compliance."

Ship Strike Reported To Be Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediator Theodore W. Kheel announced an agreement Monday ending the 3-day shipping strike that has idled 128 American-flag ships.

Kheel said "the strike shall end immediately."

Kheel, permanent shipping industry arbitrator, made his announcement after meeting with officials of the National Maritime Union and management representatives for over two hours.

The strike by the 55,000-member NMU, which represents unlicensed seamen, began at 12:01 a.m. Saturday on the East, West and Gulf coasts.

Kheel told reporters that management representatives had agreed to union demands for a 5 per cent base wage increase and 15 days additional vacation yearly. The present vacation time is 60 days a year.

He said the contract improvements would be effective retroactively to last June 16.

"Additional issues in the controversy" will be presented to him for arbitration, Kheel said, promising to hold hearings on them "at a very early date."

Edward Silver, attorney for the Maritime Service Committee and the Tanker Service Committee, together representing 73 shipping firms, said the only open issue was the union's request for an increase in the hourly overtime rate, applicable after 40 hours per week.

However, William Perry, a representative of the NMU, said the AFL-CIO union seamen would present other issues to Kheel "in due time."

Congressional Unit Proposes Tighter Reins on the 'Fed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-Economic Committee proposed Monday that Congress instruct the Federal Reserve System to keep the money supply growing at an annual rate of from 2 to 6 per cent.

The committee says this range should not be made mandatory on the Federal Reserve, an independent agency within the government, but that whenever any quarter's growth is greater or smaller than this range, the "Fed" should be required to report promptly on the reasons.

The reports should be made to the committee or some other appropriate agency of Congress, the committee report continues.

It adds that, as a regular procedure, Federal Reserve authorities should each year "set forth publicly as specifically as possible their notion of what kind of monetary policy the expected state of the economy calls for."

Even these requirements would constitute an unprecedented congressional oversight of the actions of the Federal Reserve Board. Although it was created by Congress and is appointed by the President, the board steadily has maintained its autonomy in managing the nation's monetary affairs, principally through purchase and sale of government securities and setting bank reserve requirements.

Its objectives are to restrain inflation with tighter money policies and avert slumps by easing the money supply.

Chairman William Proxmire (D-Wis.) says the committee's report, based on a series of hearings on the Fed's performance, "breaks sharply with Congress' traditional 'Hands off the Fed.' It tells the Fed to adopt a constant and moderate monetary policy and instructs them to tell us whenever they depart from it."

He says the agency "has a record of deepening almost every recession or depression we have suffered in the last 30 years by reducing the money supply. . . It has often excessively increased the money supply to fan the flames of inflation when the economy has been booming."

Firemen Subdue Barracks Blaze

A faulty air conditioner in a University barracks duplex caused a fire Monday morning which firemen fought for 1 1/2 hours.

Donald E. Jones, 44, Iowa City, who occupied the barracks at 212 Riverside Park with his wife and 1 1/2-year-old son, said that they were alerted to the fire when their son began crying.

Firemen said the fire went from the air conditioner to the attic, causing extensive damage.

The tickets for the concert are free to the public and may be obtained at the Union box office.

UI Film-Makers Star in Magazine Article

An article about experimental film-making at the University is featured in the August edition of Cavalier magazine. Written by Tom Fensch, G, Mansfield, Ohio, and entitled "Iowa — the birthplace of Jean Seberg — becomes a haven for avant-garde film-makers," the article describes a "renaissance" in experimental film-making at the University.

Fensch writes: "The fact that Iowa recognized film from its beginnings is not generally known. PhDs from Iowa in film and related subjects now number 19, more than twice the number from any other film school."

The article has a page and a half of pictures — most of them blow-ups of frames from student movies. Fensch said that the process of selection and lab work for these pictures was the most time-consuming and costly part of the project, but it was compensated for by the $350 payment for the article.

Fensch has sold over three dozen articles in the past year while working toward his doctorate in English. He received a masters degree in journalism from the University in 1967.

The Cavalier article was written in three hours, he said, although the art work took longer.

He has also finished a book about pool hustlers. Featured in his book are anecdotes about Ronnie "Fast Eddie" Allen and Joe "The Butcher" Balsis.

Fensch recently sold an article to Topper magazine entitled "My Brief Career as a Fire-eater" which recounted his adventures on the stage of Kennedy's Lounge with "Sinful" Terry Syne, a fire-eating strip teaser. The experience inspired Fensch's present writing project — a book about burlesque dancers, which, according to Fensch, are "another dying breed of gypsies, like the hustlers."

eration of the Democratic and Socialist left, a loss of 61; the centrist Party of Progress and Modern Democracy 29, a loss of 10; and three independent leftists.

The exact way in which De Gaulle will use his majority has been the subject of much speculation, in the press as well as on the street.

Especially crucial in coming months will be the French economy. France faces a situation which could lead to devaluation of the franc and probably soaring inflation beginning in September after the return from traditional August vacation period.

The opposition could muster only 122 seats. These were 33 Communists, a loss of 40 seats; 57 members of the Fed-
