

Council Requests Review of Salaries Of City Employees

The City Council Tuesday directed City Manager Frank Smiley and City Clerk Glen Eckard to prepare a report comparing actual salaries of all city employees in recent years.

The action came in a morning budget meeting as a result of a petition by the Iowa City Firefighters Association, presented Monday, requesting higher salaries for firemen.

Mayor Loren Hickerson asked that the report contain a listing of actual salaries paid during 1960, 1965 and 1968 to a representative section of all departments under city administration.

Hickerson said that he wanted to see the result of salary adjustments made by past councils, but that he is "more concerned with what the present pattern is."

Councilman Robert (Doc) Connell asked that the report include a breakdown of the number of hours men in each department are required to work, with an additional breakdown of wages paid per hour.

Councilman L. C. Butherus added that he would like the report to give a comparison of the cost of living in Iowa City with that of other Iowa cities of the same size.

Butherus also asked that a portion of the study show the increase of cost of living in 1968 as compared to last year.

Hickerson said that the council would be ready to look at the entire salary picture only after this report had been made and after the council had met with members of the city administration.

The council will have a personnel meeting this morning to discuss the salary issue. The meeting will be an executive session closed to the public and press.

Officials consulted will be City Atty. Jay Honohan, Police Judge Marion Neeley and City Manager Frank Smiley.

The next regular budget meeting will be Friday morning.

City, Coralville Getting Together On Street Project

The City Council approved resolutions Tuesday night to begin a joint street improvement project with Coralville this year.

Coralville had already approved its part of the project in June.

Councilmen adopted resolutions to prepare plans, a contract, and a notice to bidders on the project.

A public hearing will be held July 16 to air views on construction plans.

The Council also approved a $4,000 allocation to analyze water plant facilities for possible future expansion. The resolution was presented by City Manager Frank Smiley.

Smiley also announced a special council meeting for July 12 in which councilmen will receive and consider a feasibility study prepared on the proposed city parking ramp.

In other action, the council accepted a recommendation to give free swimming privileges to about 40 youths in the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Councilmen are still considering a proposal by the High School Swimming Team to use the Recreation Center Pool for regular afternoon practices.

B52s Pound DMZ Targets In Heaviest Assault of War

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of U.S. B52 bombers, in the most massive saturation raids of the war, dumped more than 2,000 tons of explosives on the southern fringe of North Vietnam in a 36-hour period ending Tuesday, the U.S. Command announced.

Prime targets in the raids around the demilitarized zone between the Vietnams were reportedly long-range artillery, bunkers and storage areas.

One principal aim was reportedly to knock out artillery with a range of 16 miles, which has been harassing the nerve center for allied combat operations along the zone at Dong Ha and other forward bases.

Another aim apparently, was to hamper the infiltration and supply routes of North Vietnamese into South Vietnam. Marines reported, for example, that two new enemy regiments had been identified as operating around Khe Sanh, the old combat base in the northwest.

Paper Reports Collision of Subs

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A Soviet submarine and a U.S. nuclear attack sub collided under water several months ago with severe damage to the American vessel, the Norfolk Ledger-Star reported Tuesday.

The Navy has not announced such a mishap, but the paper, in a story by its military writer, Jack Kestner, quoted a "usually reliable source" that it did occur.

The American sub, not identified, spent two months at Rota, Spain, repairing the damage, Kestner quoted his source as saying. There was no word on damage to the Soviet sub.

In Washington, the Navy said: "As in the past, the Navy will not comment on classified operations of its deployed nuclear submarines."

Kestner said "the report lends credence to speculation that the missing nuclear attack submarine Scorpion might have tangled with one or more Russian subs on a classified mission assigned during her ill-fated transit from the Mediterranean to Norfolk."

Berkeley Shuns Rebels' Request For Street Rally

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An eight-hour meeting of the Berkeley City Council broke up at 5 p.m. Tuesday with hundreds of young dissidents hurling taunts, curses and abuses.

Enraged that the council had refused to grant their demand that a block of Telegraph Avenue near the University of California be sealed off for a July 4 rally, the audience of more than a thousand stormed out yelling curses and insults.

Shouts of "No, no, no," "Figs," "dogs," and "We'll kill you," were mingled with obscenities.

The council had listened to the dissidents plead their cause and hear verbal abuse on police for more than six hours.

It wound up the confused marathon session by passing a substitute resolution, 5 to 4, to offer the nearby Sather Gate parking lot for the rally.

When the audience realized that the substitute motion had passed it rose in an angry mood and stormed out.

Peter Camejo, a young Socialist Workers Party activist who is one of the spark-plugs of the dissidents, said bitterly: "It is clear they would rather provoke a confrontation between us and the police than close off a block for a day."

Camejo, who has been prominent in the demonstrations that have troubled the city since Friday night, blamed Mayor Wallace Johnson for "being the handmaiden of the business community" in denying Telegraph Avenue to the proposed rally.

Johnson denied charges that police had started the disturbances Friday night by moving in when Telegraph was already clear. He refused to lift unconditionally the curfew which was clamped on Berkeley the past two nights.

During the long meeting, Johnson repeatedly cautioned some of the angry councilmen to "cool it." Johnson was jostled and spat upon Sunday night as he walked among the activists.

The disorders have resulted in augmenting Berkeley's 200-man police force with hundreds of other officers on a standby basis.

Although more than 100 arrests have been made, only a handful have been students.

Gun Control Law For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto signed the city's new gun law Tuesday with plans for "Operation Gun Registration."

The new law, which goes into effect Aug. 16, requires owners of all types of firearms to register with the police.

Owners will be required to pay a $2 registration fee for each gun or a flat fee of $15 for an authentic collection of antique or historical weapons.

In all, 75 of the high-flying, eight-engine bombers launched 15 strike missions, 11 of them just north of the zone where the enemy's big guns are mainly located, reports said. The other four hit the northern half of the demilitarized zone, a bee hive of enemy activity, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. sources said the storage areas were in caves and bunkers, where North Vietnamese troops headed south pick up supplies. Some of the 500 to 700-pound bombs carried by the B52s have delayed fuses. These bombs are designed to penetrate the caves before exploding.

Intelligence sources reported that despite 3,656 missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle in June, the enemy is pouring more supplies and troops into South Vietnam than ever before.

Congress Gives LBJ More Spending Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed Tuesday a compromise $9-billion supplemental appropriations bill, with $6 billion of it for the Vietnamese war.

The measure now goes to President Johnson for his signature. House approval was by voice vote.

The Senate passed it shortly afterwards, 64 to 1. Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) was the only dissenter and did not explain his opposition.

The over-all measure provides $6.3 billion in new funds and $2.7 billion in funds frozen last year.

House leaders said the final version of bill, drawn up by representatives of the House and Senate appropriations committees, is $50 million below the original House-passed measure, $77 million less than the Senate version and $74.6 million below President Johnson's request.

The measure includes some $6 billion for Vietnam, $1.35 billion for Medicaid and other public assistance programs, nearly $1 billion for pay increases, $370 million for Medicare, $100 million for the defense effort in South Korea and $47.5 million for veterans benefits.

Russians Free Plane, Vietnam-Bound Troops

TOKYO (AP) — The Russians Wednesday released a chartered airliner that was forced down after straying into Soviet air space with 214 Vietnam-bound U.S. troops aboard. The freed plane was on its way to Yokota, 30 miles west of Tokyo late Wednesday night.

The Russians acted quickly to free the plane after the United States apologized for the intrusion. Soviet fighter planes forced the plane down Monday on a Soviet-held island in the Kuriles.

A U.S. military spokesman in Tokyo, confirming the departure of the troop-laden plane, said it would arrive in Yokota during the night.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said in Washington shortly after noon Tuesday that Moscow had given instructions to release the plane.

Christian said word that the Soviet action came from the U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Llewellyn E. Thompson.

He said he had no information as to when the plane would be released or where it would go from the Kuriles, but he added:

"We have reason to believe the matter is going to be resolved shortly."

The matter will be resolved, he said, once the plane has actually left Soviet territory.

A Pentagon spokesman indicated that once the airliner's pilot gets back on the radio he will be instructed to proceed to fly to Yokota, Japan.

This was the plane's original refueling destination on its flight to Cam Ranh Bay, South Vietnam.

However, the Pentagon spokesman left open the possibility that the troops might be transferred to another plane at Yokota for the final leg of their trip.

Christian told newsmen that the United States had delivered to the Soviet Embassy Monday night a note expressing regret that the plane had violated Russian air space because of a navigational error.

At the State Department, press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the plane had entered Soviet air space near Japan inadvertently, but he was unable to explain why.

The alacrity with which the Soviets responded apparently surprised some U.S. officials who feared the incident might develop into another long drawn-out exchange, with China and North Vietnam looking over the Kremlin's shoulder.

The DC3 jet, flying from McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash., was under military charter from Seaboard World Airlines. It was making its maiden flight but Douglas Aircraft, which built the $10-million plane, said it contained no secret equipment.

Hughes, ABC Meet with FCC Over Stock Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of American Broadcasting Co. and Hughes Tool Co. met with all six members of the Federal Communications Commission Tuesday to discuss Hughes' offer to buy two million shares of ABC common stock.

FCC Chairman Rosel T. Hyde said both sides had asked to see the commissioners and explained, "We gave them an opportunity to give any statements they might have, at the conclusion of which we thanked them and told them that we would give the matter further consideration."

Hughes Tool Co. of Houston, Tex., wholly owned by Howard Hughes, offered Monday to pay $74.25 per share, or a total of $148.5 million, for the ABC stock.

Leonard H. Goldenson, ABC president, said his board of directors would oppose the offer because it "is substantially below the intrinsic per share asset value of ABC and overlooks future growth prospects of the company."

He said that ABC lawyers would fight the Hughes offer in court.

ABC owns and operates five television stations plus additional radio stations. Hughes owns KIAS-TV, a television station in Las Vegas, Nev., where he also owns five hotels and gambling casinos.

The FCC multiple ownership rule permits no individual or group to own a substantial interest in more than five very high frequency television stations.

TOKYO — North Vietnam announced it is releasing three U.S. pilots for "humanitarian" reasons. Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency, monitored in Tokyo, said, "Proceeding from the humanitarian and lenient policy of the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, the general political department of the Vietnam People's army has decided to release three U.S. pilots captured in North Vietnam." It did not give the names of the pilots or say when they would be freed.

Ray Extradition To U.S. Ordered

LONDON (AP) — A British judge approved Tuesday the U.S. government's request for extradition of James Earl Ray to stand trial for the killing of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. Ray's lawyers announced they will appeal the decision to Britain's High Court.

A 40-year-old fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary, Ray nodded unemotionally on learning he had lost his fight to convince Chief Magistrate Frank Milton that he should not be returned to the United States.

Then guards escorted him back to his maximum security cell at Wandsworth Prison to await the appeal, which must be filed within 15 days.

Milton said "there can be no doubt" that there is a prima-facie case against Ray in the murder of the American civil rights leader, felled by a rifle bullet at the Lorraine Motel Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

The prime evidence submitted in the dingy Bow Street Magistrate's Court was testimony of an FBI fingerprint expert, George Jacob Bonebrake, at a hearing last week that Ray's prints were found on a rifle, telescopic sight and binoculars that Memphis authorities consider were used by the killer.

Convicted on a murder charge in a Tennessee court could mean a sentence to death by electrocution.

Peering through half-spectacles over lawbooks piled on his judicial bench, Milton ruled on several major points.

He discussed and then dismissed a contention of Ray's court-appointed British attorney, Roger Frisby, that the slaying was a political crime, a crime for which a person cannot be returned under the U.S.-British extradition treaty.

"To hold so would be to extend the meaning of this case too far," the magistrate said, though he agreed that King, who headed the politically active Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was a controversial figure.

The U.S. government had denied through its British lawyer, David Calcutt, that the killing was a political crime.

"There is not a shred of evidence to show that the murder took place to further the ends of a larger enterprise," Calcutt said. "There was no conspiracy. No other man or other body was involved."

"There may have been undertones that this might be so, but the evidence before this court points to a lone assassin for private purpose."

In denying there was a conspiracy, Calcutt was walking a legal tightrope. Though the extradition case was based on a Tennessee murder warrant, Ray also faces in the United States a federal charge of conspiracy to deny King his civil rights.

The extradition order was issued on two grounds — that Ray was "a fugitive criminal accused of murder" and "a fugitive convicted of robbery." He was starting the eighth year of a 20-year sentence for armed robbery when he escaped from the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City in April 1967.

British charges on which Ray was arrested at London Airport June 8 are due to come up in court next Tuesday. These are possession of an unlicensed gun and a forged Canadian passport made out in the name of Ramon George Sneyd. In view of the proceedings in the American case, these may be dropped.

Milton said he was satisfied that lawyers representing the United States had made out a case against Ray as the civil rights leader's assassin, and against him as a fugitive from the Missouri prison.

He also said the evidence, mostly from fingerprints, had convinced him "that James Earl Ray is the same person now before me."

Ray's lawyers had never offered any serious challenge to these points, preferring not to give away anything for Ray's defense in the United States. But they did contend he had committed "a political offense."

Congress Grants Money for Oldsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department granted $2 million Tuesday for a program which will provide employment for older persons who are either jobless or retired on low incomes.

The National Council of Senior Citizens and the National Council on the Aging received the money to promote employment of 800 elderly persons in 20 urban areas.

Under the plan, those qualified will be offered jobs in schools, libraries, hospitals, nursing homes, public health agencies, social welfare agencies, public recreation centers and other community agencies.

State Department Sends 'Mercy Plane' to Havana

86 Hijacked, Stranded Travelers Return from Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A "mercy" plane chartered by the U.S. State Department Tuesday returned 86 travelers from Cuba where they were stranded when a hijacked American jetliner was ordered to leave them behind.

The Northwest Orient Airlines 727 jet landed at Miami earlier in the day with only the seven-member crew aboard.

Capt. Richard Simonson, the pilot, said his Minneapolis-Miami flight with 87 passengers was detoured to Havana Monday evening by a Latin-looking man in his 30s, who barged into the cockpit with a gun and ordered: "Go to Cuba: Go to Havana!"

When the other 86 travelers stepped from the ferry plane in Miami, one man shouted, "They treated us good, but it was all propaganda."

Simonson said the Cuban Ministry of Aviation ordered him to leave Havana without his passengers. A ministry official claimed a takeoff on Havana's 10,000-foot runway would not be safe with the passenger load.

Simonson said he argued with the officials, who boarded the flight in Chicago, was in the front row of the first-class section when she asked him to fasten his seat belt.

"He grabbed my wrist and put a gun on me," said Miss Burt.

The FBI in Miami also was investigating in previous hijackings, the suspects have been charged with piracy and kidnapping but none has been returned to the U.S. for trial.

Hijack-Weary Airlines Issue Havana Landing Instructions

NEW YORK (AP) — The aviation industry, in despair over the seeming impossibility of preventing airplane hijackings, disclosed Tuesday it is briefing pilots on landing instructions at Havana airport.

Most airlines admitted that their pilots had training in approach and procedure at the Cuban capital, and Trans World Airlines even said its radios could be switched to Havana frequencies.

In the wake of two hijackings within 48 hours of each other, the airlines reviewed existing precautions. They concluded that, because of safety aspects involved, it was next to impossible to keep a hijacker from taking over a plane.

The Air Transport Association, the airline trade organization, again denounced the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) ruling that cockpit doors must be kept closed and locked.

Though the airlines comply with the regulation, one veteran airline representative pointed out: "It would keep the pilot free from menace, but there is little he could do if passengers were threatened or if the hijacker indicated he would put a bullet through a window and depressurize the plane."

The FAA noted that laws prohibit carrying guns aboard aircraft without prior authority and that aircraft piracy is punishable by not less than 20 years imprisonment, up to the death penalty if a jury recommends it.

The penalty has not stopped seven hijackings to Cuba in 1968 alone, and even an FAA spokesman, Frank Puglisi, viewed the locked cockpit rule disparagingly:

Puglisi said the FAA may have to "step up" a "sky marshal" program that has been in effect since 1962.

The "sky marshals" are FAA inspectors who serve on a volunteer basis as deputy U.S. marshals traveling incognito. They are trained in judo, karate and the use of firearms.

Yet, Puglisi said, even if they are aboard of hijacked plane, "They might not be able to do anything."

Cigarette ad ban unrealistic

Three of the five members of the Federal Trade Commission urged Congress Monday to ban all cigarette advertisements from radio and television stations.

This action is both unrealistic and unnecessary.

Most persons who smoke or consider smoking do so knowing the possible consequences of their actions. Smoking commercials may be advantageous to someone who is considering changing brands, but the elimination of cigarette commercials would probably not reduce the number of persons who do smoke.

After an outbreak of studies concerning the probability of cancer from cigarette smoking, radio, television, newspapers and magazines began carrying many commercials that stated the disadvantages of smoking.

The advertisements are very effective. Anyone who has been ready to light a cigarette and heard a terrible recording of violent coughing accompanied with a warning will admit that he has thought a while before lighting that cigarette.

The warning that comes on each package of cigarettes also is a good "stop and think" technique. The FTC proposes further warning on each cigarette package. The proposed warning would read, "Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

This proposed warning is much more frightening and much stronger than the current, "Caution; Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The warning on the packages of cigarettes will reach every smoker. The ban on advertising on radio and television may not reach all the smokers.

But more important than the scope of the warning is the fact that cigarette producers are businesses, operating for profit and concerned with sales.

Advertising is essential to nearly all businesses. To ban advertising for cigarettes could be only the first step in a series of advertising bans. Alcohol can also prove hazardous to health but it is still advertised. Several chemicals, if taken internally, are also hazardous to health. Dangerous products for home use have caution warnings on their containers, but those products still advertise.

The country is concerned with the health of its population. But if a person decides the risk of smoking is worth it, that is the individual's own concern. And if a business that operates for a profit is denied access to the radio and television media, that is stretching the concern of the country for its population a little too far.

Jerry Sies' day in court

Jerry Sies will have his day in court this afternoon — and so will the new and untested Iowa public records law.

District Court Judge William R. Eads will hear arguments in the case of Iowa City vs. Jerry Sies at 2:30 today. The case concerns an attempt by Sies to examine the city's housing inspection records, which City Atty. Jay Honohan is trying to stop by means of a court injunction.

Arguments both for and against opening public records have their valid points. But one point that should be made is this: public records aren't really public if it takes a lengthy court battle to beat down an injunction against opening the records up. Honohan might lose this case, but it wouldn't prevent him from filing suit for injunctions every time a private citizen wanted to look at some record or other. And Honohan might do just that, since he doesn't seem to like the public records law (and he does have a point).

Judge Eads will have a difficult and important decision to make, one that will involve a lot of legal knowledge as well as a good deal of wisdom about what is best for the community. We don't presume to have either that knowledge or wisdom, but we do know this:

Public records that are really open to the public seem to be a good idea, except in those special cases where it might be injurious to the public good. That's about what the law says now, but the extent and meaning of the law as applied to real situations should be made more clear and specific.

And Jerry Sies' war with the city goes on. It is indeed too bad that there aren't more people like him, more "troublemakers" who make the effort to challenge and attack governments and even university administrations, trying to find out what their rights really are.

Democracy, Woodrow Wilson once said, was like a living tissue. I'd say it is indeed that, and much like a muscle: the more you exercise it, the stronger and healthier it becomes. I hope Jerry Sies keeps the pressure up.

McCarthy booster scores convention

To the Editor:

Is the Democratic Party democratic? The Iowa Democratic Convention this weekend answered "yes" by refusing to endorse state candidates, thus giving primary voters full power to choose the Party's nominees. However, in Presidential choices, the Convention gave an emphatic "no!"

Both Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Vice President Hubert Humphrey spoke at the Convention.

McCarthy was greeted at the airport by five or six times as many people as later came to see Humphrey. At the Convention, perhaps 90 per cent of the 3,000 people in the balcony were McCarthy supporters. His speech was interrupted over 20 times by loud applause. As he left, he was given a sign-waving, cheering, hand-clapping, standing ovation for at least ten minutes, accompanied by the widespread chant, "We want peace; we want peace!"

This enthusiasm certainly did not come from the delegates, but from the audience in the balcony. The delegates actually seemed annoyed by this excitement and many glared up at those who cheered McCarthy. Others had an uncomfortable look about them, as if they would have preferred doing party work in back rooms, rather than in the open.

Humphrey, in his new role as the Richard Nixon of the liberals, was far more to their tastes. He spoke of the major realities, categorizing them as "Reality No. 1," "Reality No. 2," etc., without — somehow — speaking about the nightmarish but real reality of Vietnam. He intoned: "Let no candidate say anything or do anything that would jeopardize the peace talks." In other words, "I don't want to talk about the skeleton in my closet, and don't you dare ask about it; that wouldn't be polite."

He did have one suggestion: we can all PRAY for success. Most of the audience was justifiably furious. This was not the "politics of inspiration" or "the politics of joy," but the (old) politics of bilge.

The United States already has two parties for the politicians and, this fall, will have one for "the people" (led by a corn pone fascist). Perhaps it is now time to propose a new party for the informed citizen. If the wishes of millions of Democrats, Independents and Republicans cannot make McCarthy the Democratic nominee, then those who wish to form and lead such a party should say "McCarthy is the man."

Is McCarthy guilty of (gasp) opportunism?

To the Editor:

In a letter printed in the June 22 edition of the Des Moines Register, Jerome Sternstein, a University professor, accuses syndicated columnist Joseph Kraft of character assassination. Kraft had made the statement that Sen. Eugene McCarthy himself had seemed to suggest making a deal with Lyndon Johnson. Sternstein said this was "based on neither fact nor substance." However, on CBS's "Face the Nation" television show immediately after the New Hampshire primary, McCarthy stated that he would be willing to run on the Johnson ticket as a candidate for Vice President. Are we to believe naively that Johnson would choose McCarthy for his "moral courage" or could we suppose that something else might be involved?

After McCarthy's above statement, and one later in Oregon saying that he favored Humphrey, why are McCarthy supporters so horrified at the prospect of former Kennedy supporters remaining uncommitted or supporting Humphrey?

Despite repeated personal attacks on Robert Kennedy, the constant challenging of only Kennedy to a debate, and the infrequent mentioning of Humphrey in his campaign speeches, McCarthy was able to state after the Oregon primary, "Humphrey was always my principal opponent."

While accusing Kennedy forces of distorting his voting record, McCarthy and his forces were running full page ads in California saying that Kennedy was responsible for intervening in the Dominican Republic. Unfortunately, at the time of this intervention, Kennedy held no position in government.

McCarthy was always quick to mention Robert Kennedy's part in the decision to send more military advisors to Vietnam, an act to which Kennedy would readily admit; but McCarthy seldom mentions his own part in the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which allowed Johnson to send 500,000 men to Vietnam.

And now the supreme irony — In Indiana, when asked why he seldom campaigned in black neighborhoods, McCarthy answered that he did not feel he should devote special attention to special interest groups. Now, after Kennedy assassination No. 2, McCarthy has joined the scramble to inherit the black minority vote. Could this be (gasp!) OPPORTUNISM?

Chlorine Fumes Force Hundreds To Flee AF Base

POPE AFB, N.C. (AP) — Chlorine fumes forced an estimated 1,700 persons to flee their homes and jobs for a few hours Tuesday.

A wind-making machine used to train army parachutists helped blow the fumes from the area.

A cylinder containing 2,000 pounds of chlorine fell from a hoist at the filtration plant of Pope Air Force Base near the Ft. Bragg reservation. Some of the deadly gas escaped when the fall broke a line through which chlorine is fed into the water supply for Ft. Bragg and Pope AFB.

W. H. McKeithan, chief of the Ft. Bragg sanitation branch, put on a gas mask and shut off the cylinder escape valve.

Four persons who breathed the fumes were hospitalized, none in serious condition. Twenty-one others reported to the hospital for examination.

A wind-making machine was brought from the jumpmaster school at Ft. Bragg's 82nd Airborne Division and blew the gas out of the filtration building toward a deserted wooded area.

The evacuation was orderly. Within 30 minutes after the all-clear sign was given, life was back to normal in the area.

The base is near Fayetteville, N.C.

French Foreign Policy Expected to Cool Off

PARIS (AP) — France is expected to pursue a more conservative foreign policy now that leftists officially blamed for stirring up domestic turmoil have had their wings clipped at the polls, informed sources said Tuesday.

Foreseeable changes, the sources said, are warmed relations with the United States and a cooler atmosphere between Paris and the two principal Communist capitals — Moscow and Peking.

The sources stressed, however, that the shift would be one of emphasis, and that the fundamental policy objectives of President Charles de Gaulle's regime — strengthened by a landslide victory in the National Assembly election concluded Sunday — remain largely the same.

Behind the partial Gaullist reassessment was the near-revolt of May and June and the government's judgment that it was exploited by the French Communist party, described during the just-completed election campaign as a "totalitarian enterprise."

The cooling of French relations with the Communist power centers abroad was aggravated by some comments from Moscow on the Gaullist "Red scare" campaign tactics and the frank hostility to the Gaullist regime expressed by Peking.

At the same time, U.S. understanding of French problems during the crisis — including public support for the franc — advanced a trend toward a French-American rapprochement.

While diplomatic sources do not expect De Gaulle to rush back to the integrated military command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, they do expect a more energetic effort to seek a way of getting along with the United States.

'Philadelphia, Here I Come' — Tonight

If you're seeing double or hearing echoes, don't panic, unless you're not watching "Philadelphia, Here I Come," the third of the Summer Repertory Theatre's four productions, which opens tonight at 8 p.m. at the University Theatre.

The double vision and echoes result from the casting of two actors in the same character role of Gar O'Donnell, one playing the public Gar that everyone sees and hears and the other playing the private Gar that only G a r himself and the audience sees and hears.

"Philadelphia" is a humorous, poignant story of a 25-year-old young Irishman on the eve of his immigration to the United

'McNamara's Wall' Putting Damper on Red Infiltrators

DONG HA, Vietnam (AP) — No one would recognize "McNamara's Wall" — so far has it strayed from original design — but where it is in place it's a "meat grinder" for infiltrating North Vietnamese troops, as one officer phrased it.

As originally planned, the wall, designed to check infiltration, was to include an elaborate wire fence stretching from the South China Sea coast 11 miles inland to the Marine base at Con Thien. This would have been on a line about a mile south of the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam.

Barring a high echelon change of thinking, the fence will not be built, senior military sources said Tuesday. One main reason is the possibility of high casualties from enemy artillery while U.S. troops strung the wire so close to the zone.

The fence was to have been strung with "German tape," a razor sharp band of steel, a quarter of an inch wide that defies wirecutters and slashes the hand at the touch.

About 2,000 yards of the tape fence actually were installed between the sea and the frontier base of Gio Linh, but it was ineffective, the sources said. The enemy could walk around it or through it at several places.

Gaps had been left in the fence so Vietnamese farmers could walk north of the fence to work their fields.

The entire project for halting the North Vietnamese troop infiltrations had some strong military opponents when it was ordered in the spring of 1967 by Robert S. McNamara, then defense secretary.

However, what exists of the project, with some modifications, pleases many senior officers on this northern front.

The elaborate ground radar and sensor system originally planned is said to be in place. But there are new touches.

Marine engineers are bulldozing an area 200 yards wide in one sector south of the wall to make it easier to shoot infiltrators. Abandoned hamlets once fortified and used by the enemy are being flattened.

Prefabricated concrete bunkers and living quarters, complete with firing turrets, are being put in frontal positions before such bases as Con Thien. Overlapping artillery firing patterns have been perfected to cover the area.

Enemy units still are able to penetrate the defenses and move into "Leatherneck Square" formed by Con Thien and Gio Linh on the north and Dong Ha and Cam Lo on the south.

But once the enemy is inside the square, a senior infantry officer said, "he's in a meat grinder."

Miller's attorneys, Cahill, Love, lace and Paula, of Iowa City, filed an application for temporary and permanent injunctions against the school board on June 20 on the contention that the bids for windows for two Iowa City schools were illegally received and thus there were no bids.

Don Borchart, attorney for the board, argued in his brief that the school board accepted the lowest responsible bid, which was from Iowa Rusco Window Co. of Cedar Rapids.

Under Iowa law, a municipality has to "take the lowest responsible bid or the contract is void."

The bids were received on April 26 and awarded on May 22. Eads heard the arguments on the case on June 27.

The architect's specifications for the two schools, Horace Mann and Henry Sabin, called for either steel or aluminum windows with the option open to the board.

In the combined bids, Iowa Rusco's bid for steel windows was $34,745, which was $35 lower than Miller's bid for aluminum windows.

Flute, Clarinet Recitals To Be Held This Week

David Wright, G. Due West, S.C., and David Melle, G. will give recitals this week in North Hall.

Wright will give a clarinet recital at 8 tonight. He will play selections by Marcello, Spohr, Mozart, Frank and Chavez.

Melle's flute concert will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday when he will perform works by Bach, Griffes and Prokofiev.

House Unit Turns Down F111B Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee approved Tuesday the Defense Department's procurement authorization bill but refused to restore funds for the Navy version of the controversial F111 fighter-bomber.

The committee cut $748 million from the Pentagon's $22 billion procurement request for the fiscal year, which began Monday.

The Senate had inserted language in its version of the authorization bill that prohibited the department from spending any money in the new fiscal year on the F111B.

The department was asking $425 million for eight production versions of the F111B and 60 Phoenix missiles.

The House committee also refused to provide the $183.6 million requested for four Fast Deployment Logistic ships, "floating warehouses," to be loaded with military equipment and ready to go to any trouble spot, and $221 million for a still-undesignated destroyer.

Clark Says No Offense Worth Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark urged Tuesday that the death penalty be abolished — even for the assassination of a President.

"In the long run," he told a Senate judiciary subcommittee, "abolition of the death penalty strengthens law enforcement. You can't lead people by fear."

Clark gave this reply after Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), author of a bill to abolish capital punishment for federal crimes, said some people had told him that with crime on the increase, it was a crazy time to introduce the legislation.

Clark, supporting the bill, said, "There is no justification for the death penalty. It cheapens life. Its injustices and inhumanity raise basic questions about our institutions and purpose as a people."

Clark said he thought "the death penalty should be abolished completely in federal law."

He said he had no doubt it should be eliminated from the law that makes assassination of the president a federal crime.

UI, 10 Colleges Set Computer Links

The University and 10 area colleges will announce plans for a $1,159,808 "experimental computer network" designed to spur computer use in research and teaching today.

Participating in the project are Coe College and the Area 10 Community College in Cedar Rapids, Marycrest and St. Ambrose Colleges in Davenport, Clarke and Loras Colleges in Dubuque, Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa Wesleyan College in Mount Pleasant, Central College in Pella, and Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill.

Gerard Weeg, project director and director of the University Computer Center, said the network will involve 10 "remote terminals" each connected by telephone line to a central computer at the University.

Using the terminals, the 10 participating schools will have the same access to the University computer as local users, Weeg said. The network is to be in operation Oct. 1.

To help finance the network, the National Science Foundation has approved a $581,700 grant. The remaining cost will be met by the University and the colleges.

The federal grant supporting the program is the largest of 11 such grants which have been awarded throughout the country by NSF, and is the first such award in the Midwest.

Studies will be made at the end of the first and second years to evaluate the educational impact of the network on the schools, and the network may be continued after the two year period.

if it is considered successful, the schools will be connected in an IBM 360/65 — a computer of advanced design capable of handling many programs simultaneously. Currently, some 1,000 programs per day are processed with the 360/65 at the University. The projects may each require from one second to one hour or more of computer time.

During 1967 and 1968, more than 1,750 individual research and instructional projects involving more than 82 academic departments have been carried out at the Computer Center. Major users of the Center include the Department of Physics and Astronomy and the Iowa Testing Program.

The Center, which operates 24-hours-a-day seven-days-a-week, has a full-time staff of 40 and about an equal number of student employees.

Mrs. Patrick Runs Again

An incumbent Community Board of Education member who was not endorsed by the Bipartisan School Board Nominating Committee for re-election, Tuesday announced that she will seek a third board term.

The incumbent, Mrs. Roberta Patrick, 515 Oakland Ave., said she had been encouraged by a large number of friends and supporters who urged her to seek re-election.

Mrs. Patrick said that although she had not been endorsed by the nominating committee, she was in complete agreement with the committee's purpose.

She said, however, that she thought future committees should see that all members attend meetings, know far enough in advance what is to be done and have sufficient time in which to talk with nominees.

Fred Biermann, Ex-Congressman, Succumbs at 84

DECORAH — Fred Biermann, of Decorah, former Iowa congressman, died Monday in Lutheran Hospital at La Crosse, Wis.

Mr. Biermann, 84, was a representative in Congress for three consecutive terms beginning in 1932. He also served as U.S. marshal for Iowa's Northern District from 1939-1953.

Authorities said he has willed his eyes to the Lions Eye Bank in Iowa City and his body to the University of Iowa medical school.

Forell to Appear On TV Thursday

The Rev. George Forell, head of the Johnson County Democrats for Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy organization, will be interviewed on WMT-TV at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Forell will discuss the American system of selecting presidential candidates. The program will also include an interview with McCarthy that was taped after he addressed the Iowa Democratic Convention Saturday in Des Moines.

Forell is professor and director of the School of Religion.

Small Crowd for Humphrey

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey outlined his program to revitalize American cities, campaigned through sparse crowds sprinkled with hecklers and was asked antagonistic questions at a civil luncheon here Tuesday.

Through it all, he radiated confidence about his chances to be elected President next November.

But Democratic leaders who guided the vice president around the city said privately they were concerned about the lack of public enthusiasm for the front-running Democratic presidential hopeful.

In late afternoon Humphrey spoke to a gathering of local political leaders, but even as he talked, the room was slowly emptying.

Humphrey's main appearance was at a crowded civic luncheon where he appealed for a national commitment "to pay whatever is the cost not just of stopping the blight and saving, but of perfecting our cities."

He glibed at a suggestion that he debate Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, noting that he had spoken along with the senator at four recent state Democratic conventions and that "I really have too much affection for him" to defeat him in a debate.

DID YOU KNOW?

The last United States Census (1960) reported that the total family income of almost HALF (49.1%) of the families in Iowa is less than $5,000 a year. Worse yet, while some counties claim no poor people in their area, 36.5% or THREE QUARTERS of the families reported make less than $4,000 a year. Further ONE QUARTER or 25% of the income of urban and rural families in Iowa falls under $3,000. (Remember that, inadequate as it is, the poverty level set by the government for a family of four is roughly $3,200.)

Drysdale's Shutout Record Could Stand, Gibson Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's so great a thing that possibly no one is ever going to break it."

Bob Gibson spoke of Don Drysdale's shutout pitching record after the game in which the St. Louis Cardinals ace right-hander missed a shot at one of the Dodger hurler's marks.

Drama in the confrontation between Gibson and Drysdale ended quickly before the capacity crowd of 54,107 at Dodger Stadium Monday night.

With two out in the first inning, Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller singled to put Dodgers on first and third. Pitching to Ron Fairly, Gibson uncorked a wild one and Gabrielson scored.

Thus Gibson's streak ended at five straight shutouts games and 48 2-3 innings, short of Drysdale's six and 58 2-3 set earlier this year.

"Big D had erased records set in 1940 by Doc White of the Chicago White Sox, who had thrown five straight shutouts, and the 56 straight scoreless innings tossed by Walter "Big Train" Johnson of the Washington Senators in 1913.

Drysdale didn't have it against the Cardinals. The Dodger pitcher gave up single tallies in the second and sixth and three in the seventh before being relieved.

The Cardinals went on to the 5-1 victory.

Gibson didn't appear unhappy that his bid to surpass Drysdale's records had failed, explaining "a wild fast ball and it was my fault. I have no excuses."

Gibson had thrown only two other wild pitches during the entire 1968 season.

Owens Gets New Job
BOSTON (AP) — Jesse Owens, winner of four gold medals in track at the 1936 Olympics, has been added to the American League's public relations staff, the league announced Tuesday.

League President Joseph E. Cronin said Owens would do public relations and promotion work.

Ashe, Graebner Face Pros In Semifinals at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — American amateurs Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner advanced into the semifinals of Wimbledon's history-making open lawn tennis championship Tuesday and put up the best show for Uncle Sam since 1959.

Ashe and Graebner, the amateur heroes of a world championship matching every big name in tennis, face a couple of professionals in the semifinals.

Ashe will meet the top pro in the world, Australia's Rod Laver, and Graebner will play another Australian pro, Tony Roche.

Weather permitting, Wimbledon officials scheduled the men's semifinals and women's quarterfinals for today, the women's semifinals for Thursday, the men's final for Friday and the women's final for Saturday.

ersfield, Calif. The Aussie finally won 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

And Roche, the 15th seed from Australia who knocked out second-seeded Ken Rosewall Monday defeated 10th-seeded Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. Buchholz was handicapped by a groin injury.

The women, meanwhile, reached the quarter-finals in a formal fashion. Seven of the eight seeds reached the round of eight, the lone exception being England's Virginia Wade, beaten earlier.

Mrs. Billie Jean King, the pro from Long Beach, Calif., seeking her third straight Wimbledon title beat Mrs. Fay Moore of Australia, 6-2, 6-4.

She was joined in the quarterfinals by Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.; Australian Mrs. Margaret Smith Court, Judy Tegart and Mrs. Lesley Turner Bowrey; Brazil's Maria Bueno; and pros Mrs. Ann Jones of England and Francoise Durr of France.

Miss Richey beat Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., 7-5, 7-5; Mrs. Court downed Edda Buding of Germany, 6-2, 6-3; Miss Tegert topped Mrs. Shirley Bloomer Braser of England, 6-2, 6-2; Mrs. Bowrey downed Mrs. Joyce Williams of Britain, 6-3, 6-1; Miss Bueno ousted pro Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3; Miss Durr beat Patti Hogan of LaJolla, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, and Mrs. Jones trounced Helen Gourlay of Australia, 6-3, 6-1.

holder of the world record, fell on the last hurdle and finished seventh in the trials, his first defeat of the season.

Lindgren, a member of the 1964 Olympic team, suffered from an Achilles tendon ailment and dropped out of a trial 10,000-meter race with a mile remaining.

Fourteen others such as miler and half-miler Jim Ryun, who missed the trials because of illness or injury, were also invited to the Tahoe session.

193 Top Tracksters Picked For Olympic Training Camp
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bulky squad of 193 track and field athletes has been invited to participate in high altitude training and tests at South Lake Tahoe, Calif., starting later this month.

Iowa's Mike Mondane was among the outstanding tracksters selected for the training. Mondane's specialty is the 400-meter run.

Final tryouts for the men's squad will be held Sept. 9-17 at the 7,000-foot altitude similar to that of Mexico City, scene of the Olympics in October.

Up to 10 athletes per event were named Monday by the U. S. Olympic committee's track and field group. Official reason for such large fields was to insure sufficient athletes to conduct trials in the same manner of the actual competition in Mexico.

Some observers saw the size as a direct result of the threat of boycott by Negro athletes whose spokesman, Harry Edwards, said in San Francisco that final decisions had been made. He would not divulge the plans except he did say the boycott might not come until the athletes reached Mexico City.

Hurdler Earl McCullough and distance runner Gerry Lindgren, who each failed in the trials, were invited. McCullough, co-

NASH TIES WORLD MARK—ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — South Africa's Paul Nash tied the listed world record of 10 seconds for the 100-meter dash Tuesday night in winning the event at an international track and field meet.

What else? Very probably, he said, they will not march in the opening parade of athletes of all participating nations, and perhaps not in the closing parade, either.

The newsmen said there was no chance that Lee Evans, Tommie Smith, John Carlos, Bob Beaman or Jim Hines — to name five black stars — would pass up the Olympics, although they have been outspoken in favor of some type of boycott action.

But they decided there are other ways to demonstrate their disgust with their situation.

Pressed for specifics, he said they have decided not to appear on the victors' stand, where the first three in each event receive their gold, silver or bronze medals.

Two home runs were the key as Universal Climate Control of Iowa City won its fourth straight game Tuesday night by defeating Marengo, 2-1.

Lead-off homers by Lance Brown in the second inning and Dan Blood in the sixth inning were the only runs scored by the Coolers in their eighth victory of the year against two defeats.

The home run by Brown was his third of the year which is tops in the Hawkeye College League. Blood's homer was his second of the season, second best in the league.

Bruce Reid pitched a two-hitter in going the distance. He struck out seven batters and extended his record to 3-0 for the season.

The victory gave the Iowa City team a three-game lead in the league over second place Midwest Janitors of Cedar Rapids.

Next game for the Coolers will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Iowa Field against Mays City Janes.

Senate Group Refuses Action in Track Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate attempt to impose peace in the track war between the Amateur Athletic Union and the nation's colleges has fizzled, and the feud might be sizzling again as soon as the Olympics are over.

A Senate Judiciary Committee spokesman said Tuesday the panel had no plans to act on a pending measure to create a new super group to oversee track meets and halt the feud before Congress goes home a month from now.

The truce between the AAU and the rival U.S. Track and Field Federation (USTFF), backed by the colleges, will expire Nov. 1, four days after the Olympics end in Mexico City.

The USTFF already has announced it hopes to sponsor eight major indoor track meets this winter in defiance of the AAU, which has threatened in the past to strip the eligibility of college athletes who take part in meets it does not approve.

The USTFF has asked for a Justice Department antitrust investigation of the AAU. After 2 1/2 months, the request is still under consideration.

The Senate Commerce Committee, which tried for three years to bring peace to the long and bitter battle between the USTFF and AAU, ducked out the back way last month and dumped the war on the doorstep of the Judiciary Committee.

The Commerce Committee reacted from threats to write into law a proposed compromise settlement that the colleges spurned in April because it left the bulk of the power to the AAU. Instead, the Commerce Committee went on record urging the approval of another measure pending in the Judiciary Committee.

That measure, sponsored by Sen. James B. Pearson (R-Kan.) would charter a new super board to run the nation's amateur track meets. The Commerce Committee vote was viewed as a victory for the colleges because the super board would elevate the USTFF as an equal of the AAU, with both represented on the new panel.

But the victory is virtually meaningless, because the Judiciary Committee isn't going to touch the hot controversy this year.

Ellis, Patterson Ready For Heavyweight Bout
NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Ellis' defense of his World Boxing Association heavyweight championship against former champion Floyd Patterson in Stockholm appears all set for Sept. 14, Bob Arum said Tuesday.

Ellis, 28, of Louisville, Ky., won an eight-man elimination tourney to gain WBA recognition as world heavyweight champion. Patterson, 33, held the world title twice.

Really extraordinary. It has the primitive force of 'King Kong'. The audience is rushed along with the hero, who keeps going as fast as possible to avoid being castrated or lobotomized. You'd better see it quickly...it has the ingenious kind of plotting that people love to talk about.

A very entertaining movie. —Pauline Keel, The New Yorker
