Victory Claimed By Nixon Camp

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager claimed Monday that more than 700 Republican National Convention delegates — more than enough to choose a presidential nominee — now are ready to vote for his candidate.

John N. Mitchell said that strength is firm and guarantees that Nixon will be embarked on a final delegate hunting mission, declaring in Washington that he is optimistic about his own chances of nomination.

In Miami Beach, Nixon supporters argued that a public opinion poll rating their man stronger than the Democratic presidential contenders should virtually guarantee him the nomination.

"That ought to do it," said Sen. John Tower of Texas.

That jubilant reaction to the Gallup Poll, and the decision to begin talking in terms of delegate counts, appeared to add up to a drive on the part of Nixon's forces to get a final bandwagon rolling even before the candidates arrive in Miami Beach.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's director of communications, read the Mitchell statement at a news conference and said the 700-vote claim did not include any delegates from states now committed to favorite son candidates — Ohio, Michigan, Maryland and Gov. Ronald Reagan's California.

Klein acknowledged that a few delegates have turned away from the Nixon camp, but he said that was only a handful of Republicans, most of them southerners wooed away by Reagan.

"The fact is that Nixon will win the nomination," Mitchell said. "There are in excess of 700 delegates ready to vote for his nomination."

The Gallup Poll, published prematurely in Miami, was widely viewed as a persuasive weapon for Nixon campaigners. And one Rockefeller booster, Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, remarked wryly that he'd just as soon not see the poll.

Rockefeller has banked heavily on public opinion surveys to back his argument that he can win the Nov. 4 election and Nixon cannot.

"That locks it up," said Charles K. McWhorter, a Nixon lieutenant, referring to the poll. "Rockefeller's whole drive to get the nomination has been based on the hope that the polls would show him a winner and Nixon a loser. This just about collapses his whole campaign."

The Gallup findings were published amid talk among early arriving Republicans that Rockefeller was making some headway in his campaign to overtake Nixon, and that Reagan also was amassing delegate support.

"I'm a Rockefeller man and I find that encouraging," said Chafee, vice chairman of the committee which set to work Monday to prepare a platform for the Republican National Convention.

But Chafee said he has no evidence to show any major falloff in Nixon delegate strength.

"I think Nixon still looks solid," said Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska. Hruska said he is optimistic, and thinks Nixon can win on the first convention ballot.

The Associated Press delegate count Monday showed Nixon with 545 supporters, Rockefeller with 202.

That represented a net loss of 3 delegates.

Educational TV In Iowa City Area Goes Step Ahead

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Educational Facility Board re-elected all its officers Monday and heard outlined a tentative time schedule for developing a Channel 12 transmitting facility near Iowa City.

Robert Ray, dean of extension services at the University of Iowa, was re-elected chairman of the board.

Other officers re-elected were Lester Menke of Almet, chairman of the State Board of Public Instruction, vice chairman, and State Supt. of Public Instruction Paul Johnston, Secretary.

It was announced that the Iowa Merit Employment Commission and Iowa Executive Council have approved the full time employment of Don D. Saveriad as director of engineering and Michael J. Labonia as director of programming for Iowa Educational Broadcasting Services.

IEPS Executive Director John A. Montgomery said the organization has an option to lease land at West Branch, near Iowa City, for the Channel 12 transmitting facility, and architects are working on building plans.

Montgomery said the board hopes to select a contractor by mid-October for construction, and to award contracts for equipment and transmission tower by Jan. 1. The facility is expected to be on the air no later than June 1, 1969, Montgomery said.

The board approved a formal application to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare for funds to establish the Channel 12 transmitter.

It also was reported the committee has spent $14,823 out of the $500,000 appropriated by the 1967 legislature to implement a state educational network, and the bulk of the remaining funds will go into the Channel 12 site.

The board approved Emery-Prall and Associates of Des Moines as the architects to work out schematics and preliminary budget estimates for a proposed state communications center in the Des Moines area.

Soviet, Czech Leaders Begin Facedown Talks

PRAGUE (AP) — The Soviet Union's leaders came to a tiny village in Czechoslovakia Monday and, dispensing with the usual bear hugs and kisses, confronted Prague's liberal chiefs in a rundown movie house in an attempt to stop this nation's reform drive.

Czechoslovak television showed the leaders greeting each other only with handshakes at Cierna, a town a mile from the Soviet frontier in eastern Slovakia. The community is so small that it does not appear on many Western maps.

The meeting was the first direct conference between the heads of the two parties since the Russians and their ideological allies called for a halt to Prague's liberalization at Warsaw in mid-July.

The talks continued late into the night, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported, without disclosing details. An official statement said only that "the two delegations exchanged views and standpoints." Most observers expected the meeting to pick up again Tuesday and go on through noon.

The Russians brought to the conference a Yugoslav report from Moscow, a "minimal program" for settling the dispute that includes the curbing of the free Czechoslovak press. This is a step the Prague leadership has asserted it will not take.

Quoting "well-informed circles" in the Soviet capital the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said the Soviets were also insisting on the ouster of "anti-Socialist elements" in Czechoslovakia, a demand which could mean the dismissal of many of the initiators of the reform.

They chose for their meeting place a faded yellow old movie theater with a green-painted tin roof in a town of 1,000 where the broad-gauge trains from the Soviet Union meet the European narrow gauge tracks. The train that brought in the Soviet leaders was parked at the station. Hundreds of uniformed police and plainclothesmen blocked off the theater and enforced rigid security. It was presumed the theater was chosen because it was easy to provide security around it.

U.S. Infantrymen, Northern Troops Reported in Clash

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen, backed by armor, made their first major contact Monday with a large North Vietnamese force threatening a key provincial capital, the U.S. Command reported Tuesday.

Similar enemy buildups were reported around several other provincial and district capitals and Saigon, apparently in preparation for a third major offensive of the year.

In the air, a U.S. Navy pilot reportedly downed a MIG17 over North Vietnam. Lt. Cmdr. Guy Cane, 38, of New York City, was credited with blasting the Korean War-vintage MIG from the sky during a U.S. bombing raid in North Vietnam's panhandle. The kill brought to 109 the number of enemy interceptors reported downed in aerial combat over North Vietnam. The MIGs have shot down 48 American fighter-bombers, according to U.S. reports. North Vietnamese sources put the figure much higher.

The U.S. Command reported armor-backed U.S. troops collided with a North Vietnamese company only nine miles south-southwest of Ban Me Thout, 150 miles north of Saigon.

The battle, which reportedly left 17 enemy dead, was the first major action in the area since intelligence reported several North Vietnamese battalions appeared to have moved into positions menacing the capital of Darlac Province.

Council Kicks Out the Props Of Ramp Plan

Further expenditures on the problem-plagued College Street parking ramp have been suspended in favor of improvement of street and lot parking until the future of urban renewal in the city is decided.

The decision was the result of a 4-1 vote of the Council, meeting in informal session Monday. Councilman Robert "Doc" Connell cast the dissenting vote, saying that he was for immediate construction of the ramp.

The council further went on record as saying that it would not appeal to a higher court the Iowa Supreme Court decision expected by late November that is holding up the urban renewal project.

The ruling is to decide if three council members are eligible to vote on the renewal issue.

The action approved a decision of City Manager Frank R. Smiley last week to halt work on the architectural plans for the ramp because of mounting costs.

Letters from the League of Women Voters and the Political Action League of Iowa City had also urged the stopping of designing.

Mayor Loren Hickerson, in supporting the council's decision, said that if the city proceeded with the ramp without the urban renewal program it "will invest more than we think we can afford." The ramp would add less than 100 spaces at a cost of over $1 million.

And if the city proceeds with urban renewal, Hickerson said, the ramp design would be far short of a "comprehensive downtown redevelopment program," and might jeopardize the city's urban renewal plan.

Councilman Robert Lind argued for the development of more surface parking and said that there is "a crying need" for three-hour parking meters in the downtown area.

Smiley told the council he would present a study next week showing cost and appraisals of possible parking lot sites. Smiley suggested that the council lease or rent sites and not purchase them until a firm decision is made on future parking solutions.

Smiley plans to suggest other solutions to the parking problem including limiting parking in the College Street lot to two or three hours instead of 10. This would force approximately 50 persons a day to park other places, such as the Recreation Center lot, Smiley said. He also said that he might suggest that the city begin marking cars so that they do not use meters over the maximum time.

The Council also formally awarded the contract for the 1968 Melrose Avenue Paving Project to the Irving F. Jensen Co. of Sioux City who submitted the low bid of $382,043.52.

The Council also let a contract for $19,

In 'Fight' on House Floor—Schwengel Loses Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) and John Dingell (D-Mich.) became involved in a heated verbal exchange on the House floor Monday evening as Schwengel discussed recent lobbying activities of the trucking industry.

Schwengel said later the 42-year-old Dingell threatened to hit him as they left the House floor.

Schwengel, 61, has been protesting the speed with which the House Public Works Committee approved a measure to permit trucks weighing as much as 138,000 pounds to operate on the Interstate System. The present federal weight limit is 73,200 pounds.

Only three other Schwengel members were present as Schwengel began a speech calling for House action on a Congressional reform bill.

Midway through the speech, Dingell strode into the chamber and began a rapid fire questioning of Schwengel.

As Schwengel attempted to answer, Dingell interjected:

"I'm waiting. Is the gentleman alleging that any member of this body is doing anything unethical?"

Schwengel replied he was not accusing anyone of anything.

Dingell kept up the rapid fire questioning as Schwengel said he did not accuse any House member of doing anything illegal or unethical.

He read from a letter he sent last week to the House Ethics Committee asking the panel to investigate lobbying activities of trucking interests. In the letter, he said he was not accusing any member of the House of unethical or illegal practices.

Dingell replied: "I'm aware that the member from Iowa is not too bright. Your behavior during this past few weeks has not been very complimentary on you or your district."

Dingell then made a point of order that a quorum was not present and asked for a call of the House. This, in effect, would have prevented Schwengel from continu-

948.80 to Metro Pavers, Inc., Iowa City, for the joint Iowa City-Coralville paving project of First Avenue. Coralville's half of the project was let to Metro last week.

Council Approves 'Leased Housing,' Slates City Vote

Iowa City voters will get a chance to voice approval or disapproval of a Council-backed low-rent housing proposal this November.

The City Council, meeting informally Monday afternoon, put its seal of approval on the Low Rent Housing Agency's "leased housing" program and slated a referendum on the plan to be included on the Nov. 5 ballot. Referendum on low-rent housing plans are required by law.

The "leased housing" program, which won the support of the housing agency after considering several plans, would utilize privately owned dwellings throughout the city and would be subsidized by federal government funds through the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Councilman Robert (Doc) Connell cast the lone dissenting vote. He said he was against the proposal because it was not limited to low-income persons who are elderly, or handicapped.

Connell said he thought that anyone in this locale in sound physical and mental health should be able to earn enough to provide decent housing.

The housing agency also recommended that a consultant be provided by the city to aid in implementation of the program.

City Manager Frank R. Smiley said that the job could be done by his present staff and that the city would not hire anyone permanently until it was assured the program would be accepted by the community.

The council also directed City Atty. Jay Honohan to prepare necessary papers to create a Housing Commission to work with HUD.

The commission would act as an advisory board to the City Council with final control being exercised by the council.

The Low Rent Housing Agency was formed by the council to study the need for low-rent housing in Iowa City. Once the need was determined, the agency was asked to look at all the possible alternatives and to select the one most likely to meet the needs here. The agency selected the "leased housing" program after conducting two workshops and a letter-writing campaign to obtain local opinions.

Grand Jury Says Burt Must Face Trial in Deaths

The Johnson County Grand Jury returned two indictments against Gregory Ward Burt, 21, of West Des Moines, Wednesday after meeting for the entire day.

The two indictments filed against Burt were one of manslaughter and one of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated (OMVI).

Burt will now stand trial on the two charges. A trial date has not been set.

Burt was charged in connection with the deaths of two University students on May 23. They were Mary Sue Miller, 20, Randolph, and James Vanek, 25, Denville, N.J. According to police, Burt's southbound car allegedly struck and killed the two students, who were walking south on North Dubuque Street. It was the night of his 21st birthday.

Burt was charged on May 24 with OMVI and released on a $500 bond. He was later charged with two counts of manslaughter and freed on an additional $5,000 bond.

A University coed was reported to have been riding with Burt at the time of the accident. Her name was never revealed.

The indictments sustain a previous ruling in Police Court that Burt should stand trial which he had challenged.

Burt had entered a petition to dismiss the charges on July 7 to District Court Judge Harold D. Vieter, who refused Burt's petition. The petition said Police Court Judge Marion Neely had exceeded his jurisdiction in the June 21 closed preliminary hearing by ruling an insufficient evidence.

The city needs a comptroller to straighten its finances out

A firm that recently completed an audit of the city's funds and financial operations made several suggestions for improvements to match Iowa City's physical growth with sound financial operations.

One of the suggestions was to invest idle funds to gain interest from those funds. The firm estimated that $20,000 could have been gained if $500,000 in cash balances would have been invested instead of held during the 1967 fiscal year.

Another more important and more controversial suggestion called for a full-time comptroller, experienced in financial operations of a municipality, to be hired to manage the city funds and city financial records.

The firm said that a comptroller would avoid a repetition of the lost interest situation that plagued the city. This comptroller would also be able to devote all his time to handling city financial problems.

Currently, the city clerk, Glen Eckard, handles all the city records, council minutes and correspondence, voter registration and other paper work, as well as being the city's financial director. Eckard only recently had his responsibilities lessened when the council appointed a deputy city clerk.

A full-time comptroller would cost the city from $12,000 to $15,000 each year — his salary. The budget for this fiscal year has been approved and allocated without funds for the comptroller.

Perhaps the omission of a comptroller was an oversight on the part of the city council and city manager. Although Eckard seems to be doing both the jobs well, the city officials should realize that a growing city needs efficient financial operations to grow in the most orderly manner. Eckard's job is getting bigger every year, and the city council and city manager should not need an outside firm to tell them that some change in organization is necessary.

The oversight of Eckard in leaving funds idle when they could have been earning interest seems relatively minor. But if similar oversights have been made every year, the city has lost far more than $20,000. Many city improvements that are being held back for lack of funds could have been paid for or at least begun with the money that may have been lost because of simple oversights.

The salary of a comptroller could be hard to pay if the funds are not allocated. But perhaps in one year of employment, the comptroller could save the city more money than he was paid. Iowa City needs a full-time manager for its funds. To wait another year will make the change over more difficult and may cost more than it is worth.

UI policies thrive in summer

Summer at the University offers the administration a unique opportunity to push through controversial policy changes without worrying about student reaction against those changes.

The latest policy change to be effected during the slow, relatively studentless summer session is the parking policy for reserved lots.

Before school let out in June, Student Body Pres. Carl Varner arranged a meeting with Pres. Howard R. Bowen to air student grievances at the proposed parking changes. Varner spoke for most students when he protested the extreme campus zone area which was set up to keep student cars off campus, the elimination of student parking from the parking ramp across from the Union and the metered reserved parking lots instead of sticker parking.

However, despite Varner's protests and students' verbal protests to the changes in policy, five parking lots have now been changed to accommodate meters, which are scheduled to go into effect in September. The latest lot to fall to the money grabbing meters was the parking lot behind the library. Crews drilled Monday and prepared for 100 meter posts to be installed. About 500 holes have been drilled for meter posts so far.

Obviously, the administration intends to go through with its ideas about metered reserved lots. However, maybe the administration would reconsider the idea to limit campus cars. The campus zone area as prescribed by the administration would extend more than 1 1/2 miles from the Pentacrest. This is just too far.

Students within the prescribed campus zone would not be able to bring a car to campus during the day, regardless of whether the students are seniors, juniors or 21 years old.

The administration seems to think that transportation to campus, regardless of the distance, is no problem. However, bus service in Iowa City is less than reliable and could cease at any time. The walk to campus is fine in good weather, but the walk during the winter is very cold and very long.

Perhaps there are too many student cars on campus, but a ban on the undergraduate cars and a realistic campus zone could solve the problem in an acceptable manner.

What happened to program notes at UI concerts?

How much longer must concert audiences here suffer the "Crime of A-notation" — the lack of program notes?

An unofficial count by this reviewer of programs for 77 of the concerts he has attended here this last year shows that only 20 events even offered notes of any type, and many of those were just translations of the words being sung.

The majority of the audience are laymen. To appreciate music more, we must understand more about it. The only opportunity most of us get to learn about it is from the printed notes that should be in concert programs.

Sunday afternoon, those laymen-students on Union Board sponsored a nice little chamber music concert. Their budget for the event was $5, but out of that sum they managed to provide four pages of commentary.

Tonight, the University's opera "Barber of Seville" opens. Its budget is more like $500 but the only notes in the program are a synopsis of the plot — and that is lifted verbatim (without credit being given) from notes written almost 70 years ago by the noted American music critic (and compiler of the first anthology of black music) Henry Krehbiel.

So much could have been done in the notes to make the production much more enjoyable for the audience.

For instance, there is a music lesson at one point in this opera when the beautiful Rosina is asked to sing something. Although Rossini himself wrote an aria that works nicely into the plot, sopranos have often substituted other pieces freely, inserting songs to show off their vocal prowess.

In this production, Costanza Cuccaro will substitute W. A. Mozart's aria "I would like to Explain . . ." (K. 418). Now, just the information that this substitution was being made could be of interest to the audience, but the inactive local note writers could have gone farther and urged the audience to listen closely to the words because of a tale behind the work:

Mozart wrote the aria for Aloisia Weber-Lange. He was in love with Aloisia, but was forbidden by his father to marry her. Instead he married her sister, Constanze, less than a year before composing the piece, which deals with hidden devotion.

Or, the notes could have mentioned that the opera is based on a novel by Beaumarchais, and that the author himself adapted it for stage, but because of its social satire (absent from the Rossini version) Louis XVI forbade its performance in Pre-Revolution France.

Even the fact that Rossini wrote the opera in only 13 days; or that due to the antics of partisans for a rival composer's setting of the story, its first performance (in 1816) was about like a Center for New Music happening, would add color to the work.

Well, we're almost at the end of the season. Let's hope things get better next year.

under the tea by Mike Lally

The United States appears to be destined by Providence to plague America with misery in the name of Liberty.

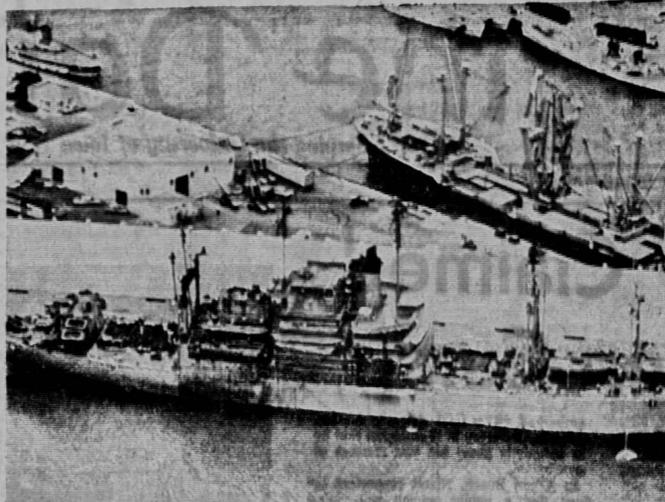

Simon Bolivar, one of Latin America's great liberators, said that in 1829, three years after the United States refused to take part in the first Pan-American Conference (perhaps because it was held in Latin America) and five years after the United States warned Bolivar not to attempt to liberate Cuba or Puerto Rico, which were still under the Spanish yoke.

Almost 140 years later we are still intervening in the affairs of South America to the extent that many developing countries have begun to regress, particularly under the influence of our anti-communist foreign policy of post WW II, which allows that any fascist is better than any communist, or communist by association, which means anyone sympathetic to Castro's Cuba.

But Latin America is not the only place where we intervene, either directly with our government, or through the American corporations that the government represents. When, in 1962, our ambassador threatened Ceylon with a suspension of aid if that country attempted to nationalize some of her own resources, the then lady prime minister, Mrs. Sirima R. D. Bandaranaike replied:

"The best form of foreign aid the United States can give to small countries is to abstain from interfering in their affairs." But the U.S. has not taken this advice as has been demonstrated since then by our interference in Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil, Vietnam, Laos, Thailand, The Congo, Nigeria, Biafra, and the list goes on endlessly.

And always we are guilty of interfering on behalf of the "haves," the oligarchies, the dictators, the fascists, the aristocracy, the rulers, never, except in our own propaganda, do we intervene on behalf of the people. And the rest of the world knows this. It is time we in this country learned it, and did something about it.

Gallup Poll Shows Nixon Leading Pack Vietnamese Plank Heats Up GOP Unit

gates for Nixon, a Rockefeller gain of 6 during the past week. It will take 667 to name the nominee.

The Gallup Poll showed Nixon leading Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey 40 per cent to 38 per cent, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota 41 per cent to 36 per cent. In each sampling, American Independent candidate George C. Wallace received 16 per cent, with the remainder undecided.

The poll showed Rockefeller even with Humphrey, one percentage point ahead of McCarthy.

Rockefeller, meanwhile, was off on a final delegate hunt in Washington, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Denver. He said he is "increasingly confident" of nomination.

The New York governor said the third party candidacy of Wallace is eroding Nixon's strength. Rockefeller has argued that Southern Republicans are turning away from Nixon, many of them to Reagan, because they do not think the former vice president could withstand Wallace's general election strength in the Deep South.

Amid the talk, it was perhaps a signal of Nixon's current delegate lead that GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss was said to be urging party leaders to forecast a suspenseful, contested convention.

One Republican said Bliss has been telling party spokesmen to stop forecasting first-ballot victory for Nixon for fear that public interest would turn away from the big GOP show which opens Aug. 5.

The main business on Monday's agenda was the opening session of the platform committee, a three-hour public hearing which produced no excitement.

Harold E. Stassen, the Republicans' time-after-time candidate for president, told the platform writers the GOP could win the election by courting the support of Democrats frustrated over Vietnam.

Handling of the war policy issue loomed as the major item of debate in the platform council.

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Republican platform writers were told Monday they could put a Republican in the White House by wooing the votes of millions of Democrats frustrated over Vietnam.

Debate in the 100-member platform committee began to focus, in the very first day of its hearings on the party's policy stance on war in Southeast Asia.

Some members urged that the GOP veer away from strict and traditional bipartisanship on foreign policy. Without raising false hopes in Hanoi, some suggested, the GOP should criticize the Johnson administration for military "mistakes" and decisions "that clearly deserve to be criticized."

Rep. Melvin Laird, chairman of the House Republican conference and the 1964 platform chairman, so testified. Other influential platform writers, including Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, agreed. Chafee is a strong supporter within the committee for the views of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But it was Harold E. Stassen, perennially rejected aspirant for the party's presidential nomination, who pinpointed the issue in his platform testimony. He submitted a peace plan and challenged Rockefeller and the front-running Republican, Richard M. Nixon, to appear personally before the committee and to "be specific" on their positions.

The Republicans are a minority, Stassen said, and they will go down to defeat in November if they "fuzz or obscure" the Vietnam issue.

But they can win the presidency by adding "a substantial additional vote" to their minority, he said, and added:

"That additional vote in ample numbers is ready to be moved on the issue of Vietnam. The people are entitled to move their country on this issue. There is unprecedented frustration, especially among the young, over this issue.

"There is uneasiness that neither party might give the people the opportunity to move it."

Stassen proposed immediate de-escalation of the American effort in Vietnam and acting simultaneously through the United Nations

Security Men Are Afloat At Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — More than 200 federal security agents for the Republican national convention are living aboard a U.S. Navy attack transport docked strategically close to Convention Hall but hidden behind a warehouse and U.S. Air Force Guards.

Authorities here won't even acknowledge that the ship is there, or discuss its function.

Five Air Force buses and a yellow school bus are parked on the pier beside a fleet of rental cars presumably to shuttle Secret Service men and other federal agents assigned to help protect the candidates.

Airmen in civilian clothes, armed only with walkie-talkies, have been stationed around the Albury Co. docks at the Miami Beach Cruiseport since the 492-foot U.S.S. Fremont arrived Saturday morning from its home port at Norfolk, Va.

The Fremont — an attack transport named for John Charles Fremont, 1856 Republican nominee for president — has a crew of 250 and accommodations for 304 agents.

Civilians, several of whom showed Secret Service identification to a newsman, strolled around the ship Monday. Newsmen are not permitted aboard.

Lem Johns, assistant director of the Secret Service at Washington, said in a telephone interview, "We'd just as soon nothing appeared on it. We hate to spotlight our activities."

Convention Hall is about midway between the Atlantic Ocean and Biscayne Bay on a strip of land less than a mile across. The ship is docked about a mile from the hall.

Humphrey Frees 'Unit' Delegates

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey said Monday that he is releasing all delegates bound to him in the Democratic National Convention by the unit rule, and urged his opponent, Sen. Eugene McCarthy, to do the same.

"I personally believe that each delegate to the convention should have the right to vote for the presidential nominee of his choice," Humphrey told a Town Hall luncheon meeting.

The unit rule, under sharp attack in some states by McCarthy backers, requires that all delegates in a given state delegation vote for the candidate favored by the majority of the delegation.

Humphrey sources figured the vice president would lose no more than 30 votes if the unit rule were dropped.

"To those who have been looking upon the unit rule as a one-edged sword which is of benefit only to me," said Humphrey, "I might note that all 72 votes of the Massachusetts delegation are bound to Sen. McCarthy by law on the first ballot, in an equivalent to the unit rule just as are all of the 35 delegates in Oregon, although he won only 44 per cent in that state primary."

Humphrey addressed the luncheon after a morning of campaigning in Watts.

Humphrey has said that he believes he has enough delegates supporting him to win the presidential nomination on the first ballot.

Earlier the vice president sang and danced to a little soul music in Watts, and won the endorsement of a young man many blacks regard as the "No. 1 soul brother" — singer James Brown.

"He's my man," Brown said after the vice president with a broad grin danced a middle-aged version of the boogaloo and joined Brown in a brief refrain of one of the singer's hits.

The reception for Humphrey in a vacant lot in Watts, where some 700 children had gathered to leave for a summer camp, was one of the warmest of his California trip.

Students Still Backing McCarthy, Rockefeller — 'Underdog' Supporters Won't Give Up

By RON GEORGEFF
Local political organizations of the chief Republican and Democratic underdogs in the race for the 1968 presidential nomination move into high gear this week to convince Iowa delegates to vote for their candidates.

The organizations, representing New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, the Republican, and Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), will employ various tactics to secure delegate support.

John Wunder, L2, Dysart, head of the Students for Rockefeller said Monday that 10 University students would go this weekend to the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla. The convention begins Monday.

The students, representing a national group called the New Majority for Rockefeller, will work on delegates to get them to vote for Rockefeller.

Wunder said some students from Grinnell College, Drake University and Upper Iowa College would also go to Miami Beach.

The New Majority for Rockefeller, comprised of persons aged 27 and younger, has rented a hotel to house its members during the convention.

Wunder said also that copies of petitions in support of Rockefeller's candidacy, recently circulated nationally, would be given this week to each Republican delegation in the country as an indication of Rockefeller's strength. Four hundred signatures were obtained at the University.

A June letter writing campaign to convince Iowa delegates of Rockefeller approval was also carried on by the group.

About 700 University Rockefeller fans who had signed a petition supporting the New York governor immediately after he announced his candidacy March 30 were asked to write letters to the Iowa delegates.

Wunder said the letters have been somewhat effective.

"I think Nixon will be lucky to get half the Iowa votes at the convention," he said.

The 10 students going to Miami Beach are Wunder; Connie Heneke, L2, Delmar; Dave Reid, G, Algona; Mike Mahaffey, A3, Grand Junction; Dave Judisch, A4, Readlyn; Kris Brittain, A4, Martelle; Marge Schwiebert, G, Des Moines; Donna Bruce, A4, Ankeny; Kate Cope, A4, Kamrar; and Cynthia Bronn, A4, Mt. Morris, Ill.

The Iowa for McCarthy group sponsored a workshop Saturday in Des Moines to plan a statewide campaign to bring some 24 uncommitted Iowa delegates onto their side.

Three Johnson County Mc-

Carthy supporters were among 85 persons from the rest of Iowa who attended the all-day workshop. The three local workers are organizing a house-to-house canvass of registered voters, which begins tonight.

Each person contacted in the canvass will be asked to sign a card designating support for both McCarthy and an open convention. The cards, to be circulated in each Iowa county, will be given to Gov. Harold Hughes and the 46-member Iowa delegation Aug. 26 at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

The goal of the intensive survey in Iowa is to convince Democratic leaders and delegates that McCarthy is the strongest candidate among the voters, according to the local workers.

Rights Unit Probe Of Industry Slated

DES MOINES — The Iowa Civil Rights Commission plans to launch its first study of private industry's hiring practices in Iowa this fall.

"This is, as far as we know, a pilot program," said Dr. Harry Harper Sr. of Fort Madison, chairman.

The Iowa Executive Council Monday authorized the commission to enter into a $16,500 contract with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission for the study.

Harper said the purpose is to see how many minority group members are being absorbed by big industries.

"Industries all have been very cooperative as far as the commission is concerned," Harper said. "We look for no difficulty in this case."

The study will begin as soon as a director is hired, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Kruidener of Des Moines, a commissioner. She anticipates a choice being made by September from "two or three" prospects being considered now.

The final report of the commission's first study of the employment patterns of state agencies is being prepared for the governor now, officials said.

It was done to follow through on Gov. Harold Hughes' 1967 executive order that agencies responsible to him carry out the state's fair employment practices law.

That study disclosed that one-third of the state's major agencies did not hire any minority group members.

Noncandidate Leads Attack On Administration City Plan

WASHINGTON — Two avowed seekers of the presidency and one unavowed longshot for the job faced the National Association of Counties Monday.

The noncandidate, Republican Major John V. Lindsay of New York, gave the 2,000 convention delegates what would have been a major policy address for an active candidate.

The avowed candidates, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, contented themselves with low-key appraisals of the problems of federal-local relationships.

McCarthy stirred the county-men with a general call for lump-sum federal grants to local governments, with "greater discretion and freedom" for the locals to decide how to use the money.

McCarthy said Washington should take on the burden of meeting the "incidental expenses" of federally assisted local programs, such as the cost of relocating families. And the federal government, he said, should "lay down money well in advance," so that local governments can plan six or eight years ahead.

Rockefeller, in essence amplifying on McCarthy's position, called for per capita aid to state and local governments — "just cash, with no strings attached," Rockefeller, too, called for "block grants for wide areas within state and local jurisdiction."

"If I'm elected president, I promise you a new day for local government," Rockefeller concluded.

Lindsay, widely considered a Republican darkhorse in the event of a Nixon — Rockefeller standoff, issued a carefully prepared speech. He said:

"White America is increasingly fearful of its black communities. . . And far too many political figures are finding personal gain by exploiting and enlarging this fear."

The 5th Column Is Within

SAIGON — A frustrated allied command still finds it hard to believe that the enemy has massed troops around Saigon and sent an estimated 1,000 terrorists into the capital virtually without a major fire fight.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese military brass knew what was going on but thousands of allied ground troops sweeping around the capital could not catch the enemy in strength or provoke a major jungle battle that might save the city from bitter street fighting.

Allied infantrymen also failed to trap the enemy when a number of major units moved to the northwest to menace the capital of Tay Ninh Province.

The massive movement of mortars, rockets and ammunition is continuing. The supplies are buried in caches sometimes right under the noses of allied troops around the immediate perimeter of Saigon.

The speed and coordination of the enemy movements has stirred frank admiration among some U.S. officers. They say it is mobile guerrilla warfare at its finest. But the brass finds it nerve racking and maddening.

One U.S. officer, a veteran of Vietnam fighting, gestured helplessly at a vast expanse of rice paddy, swamp, criss-crossing canals, villages and pineapple groves, where he had been searching for weeks for an enemy battalion just southwest of Saigon.

"There is a battalion out there spread out over five square miles," he said. "They have about 350 men and I'll bet no more than 10 are in any one spot. They're holed up in tunnels and underground rooms during the day and then hit the road at night. The population knows where they are but they won't say. Either they support the enemy or they are scared to death of reprisals."

Senior American officers believe there are 15,000 enemy troops within 48 hours march of Saigon. Dispersed, they are a nuisance, planting mines and booby traps.

U.S. commanders are waiting for the time when the scattered companies merge into battalions and regiments for the expected major offensive. This period, when the units join up and begin moving in for the big push is the best and last chance for allied troops to catch their foe in the open.

SEARCHING FOR THE ENEMY — U.S. soldiers trudge through a rice paddy during a sweep near Saigon searching for Viet Cong troops believed massed near the South Vietnamese capital. One senior U.S. commander said it would take five divisions to make the inner defenses of Saigon impregnable. Only two divisions are on the line.

Viet Cong infiltrating Saigon pose an even tougher problem than the battalions in the countryside.

Capt. William R. Dean, a U.S. adviser in Binh Chan district immediately south of Saigon, said enemy troops and agents move at night, but mix openly with the civilian population in the daytime. They possess both faked and authentic identification papers.

About 1,000 persons enter Saigon daily along the roads and canals leading into the capital. The police are supposed to search the hundreds of trucks and boats, but it is well-known that police often accept bribes from travelers who say they want to get to market early, and the searches and roadblocks are not accomplishing their purpose.

Arms and people are hidden at the bottom of sacks of rice and beneath baskets of vegetables on trucks.

U.S. strategists say the key to preventing enemy infiltration is control of the countryside at night. But some officers say it is impossible to patrol the waterways spilling into Saigon's back alleys because the troops would be constantly falling into canals, splashing noisily and running the risk of drowning in their heavy field gear.

The enemy, on the other hand, moves quietly. Viet Cong guerrillas recently buried a sizable weapons cache less than 100 yards from an American infantry company's night ambush position.

Tight-lipped peasants in the hamlets around Saigon are no help. American soldiers recently found an enemy mortar and explosives cached 150 yards from the house of a minor South Vietnamese official.

"You just can't tell me no one knew that this stuff was being buried last night or that guy in the house doesn't know what's going on in his own front yard," said a corporal.

"We just aren't going to get anywhere until we get some co-operation from the people. Man, if you can't get it in Saigon, where in hell are you going to get it in this country?"

Steelworkers Hope To Sidestep Strike

PITTSBURGH — A last-minute wage-benefits package of 78 cents was reportedly thrown on the steel labor bargaining table Monday, raising hopes that a nationwide steel strike could be averted.

Although neither the industry nor the United Steelworkers Union would confirm it, a union official said the offer would give the nation's 450,000 steelworkers an immediate increase of 20 cents an hour. Raises of 12 and 13 cents would follow in the second and third years.

Pensions would be increased from $5 to $6.50 a month for retirement after 30 years' service, meaning a man could collect $195 instead of $150. An extra holiday was thrown in to the offer, making a total of eight during a year.

All workers not presently covered by incentives — the top issue in many plants — would get 5 per cent of their base pay as a bonus, the source said.

The source said the package looked good to top union officials, but they were still fighting for more in the incentive category. They want 10 per cent instead of 5, he said.

Earlier, before purported details of the proposal began to leak out, many union officials were optimistic that the corner had been turned.

"It looks encouraging," said Joseph P. Molony, United Steelworkers international vice president. "Considerable progress has been made."

"Tomorrow or the day after we'll have an agreement without government intervention," he told 600 local union presidents who are still ready — if necessary — to strike at midnight Wednesday. Questioned by reporters after the five-minute, closed meeting, Molony said that he wanted only to add a single phrase — "I hope."

He wouldn't talk about how much was in the package. But many union officials said they couldn't believe it was less than a 6 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year contract — similar to gains won by can, aluminum, copper and auto workers.

Technicians and lawyers are still hard at work on specific language, and the facts and figures.

The union's 33-man Executive Board — which had broken up unexpectedly in the morning when USW Pres. I. W. Abel sent word he was meeting, unexpectedly with industry negotiators — was told to remain on stand-by around the clock.

The 600-man Basic Steel Industry Conference recessed after five minutes for another meeting today.

If the loose ends are connected by 2 p.m. today, it can ratify the contract, marking only the third time since 1937 that a settlement package was wrapped up before the strike deadline.

Because so much time is required to bank the big blast furnaces, some mills would have required to start cooling them off at midnight. It's a multimillion-dollar decision, since it takes days to get them back at full force once the shutdown begins.

Steelworkers now average $3.84 an hour, and they are seeking a wage-benefits package that would run between 80 and 90 cents an hour in a three-year pact.

Pope Kicks Off New Controversy — Artificial Birth Control Nixed

VATICAN CITY — In his long-awaited pronouncement Monday on birth control, Pope Paul VI rejected the pill and all other artificial contraceptive devices for the world's half-billion Roman Catholics.

He backed his injunction with an unprecedented appeal to leaders of civil governments everywhere to outlaw contraception, sterilization and abortion as means of limiting population.

But he encouraged men of science to keep up their research in the birth control field. He also asked priests to show understanding to married couples struggling with the problem and left the door open just a bit for future changes.

The Pope's stand was expressed in the second encyclical letter on the birth control problem issued in the Church's long history. It was addressed to Roman Catholics and to all men of good will.

The 7,000-word encyclical, titled in Latin "Humanae Vitae" — of human life — put the 70-year-old Pope firmly on the side of traditional Church teachings, which rule that only one way of birth control is moral — sexual abstinence, either completely or in the rhythm method. Even the latter, he hinted, should not be used as a regular practice.

Pope Paul ruled out all other methods, ranging from sterilization and abortion to the pill and intrauterine devices, as immoral and sinful.

The pope's conservative decision initiated considerable controversy.

On the eve of the announcement, the Association of Washington, D.C., Priests announced its refusal to obey the Pope's expected ruling because "it gives no room for either probable opinion regarding the practice of contraception or the right of conscience."

Almost immediately after the document was issued, it drew negative reaction from Anglican bishops at the Lambeth Conference in London, who called it a blow against better relations between Anglicans and Roman Catholics. Contraception has been allowed for Anglicans since 1930.

In Munich, Julius Cardinal Doerpiner, one of the Church's outstanding advocates of changing the rules, commented that priests faced "many not so easy tasks" in carrying out the orders set forth in the encyclical. Pope Paul commanded all priests and bishops to avoid any misunderstanding and henceforth make it unmistakably clear that contraception was wrong.

The Pope ignored the recommendations of a majority of his 75-member birth control commission two years ago that he allow contraception.

The encyclical left only a glimmer of possibility for any future changes — none of which appeared likely in the pontiff's lifetime.

He encouraged scientists — especially Catholic — to seek "a sufficiently secure basis for a regulation of birth, founded on the observance of natural rhythms."

He also asked all priests to be patient and understanding with married couples who practice birth control. Christ, he said, "was indeed intransigent with evil but merciful toward individuals."

The Roman Catholic stand on birth control had traditionally rested on Biblical reference to the sexual act. One passage condemns Onan, "who wasted his seed upon the ground" by interrupting intercourse and was subsequently killed by God.

The teaching, however, came under constant attack throughout the centuries.

It was not until the 1930 encyclical by Pius XI that the Vatican modified the Augustinian rule that sex must be solely for procreation and allowed use of the rhythm method.

The ban of other contraceptive devices was reinforced by statements by Pope Pius XII and Pope John XXIII.

CARTER'S LITTLE PILLS. Taken by millions for over 75 years in homes like yours

A Round of Golf with Lee Trevino

ANOTHER TREVINO TALE — Lee Trevino finds a way to pass the time as he waits for the foursome to finish on the 17th hole at Finkbine Golf Course Monday. Lee is telling some of his "Fleas" a humorous incident which happened to him while on the PGA tour.

By MIKE EBBING
When a field of 28 professional golfers get together and you're a spectator, an immediate problem develops — should you tour 18 holes with one pro or should you try to see as many in the field as possible? Well, I chose the former alternative and followed Lee Trevino around Finkbine Golf Course.

The event was the Amana V.I.P. Open and Lee joined other golf greats such as PGA member Julius Boros and Masters Champ Bob Goalby.

Trevino gained widespread golf fame June 16 when he won the U.S. Open with a 275 — which tied the lowest score ever shot in the Open, set last year by Jack Nicklaus. Also, he set an all-time record with his four sub-par rounds on the ever-demanding Oak Hill Country Club in Rochester, N. Y. The Open victory netted Lee $30,000.

Perhaps the reason I chose to stick with Trevino and ignore the rest of the star-studded field was that I wanted to find out what he was really like. His personality has often been summed up as friendly, likeable and ever-talkative. And just as sure as ever, Trevino lived up to his reputation.

I arrived at Finkbine about 10 a.m. and found that Trevino was first up on the tee. A gallery of about 50 of "Lee's Fleas" — a name which has been affectionately attached to his followers — left the No. 1 tee.

One of the first things that caught my eye was Trevino's golf bag. It was a monstrous thing with five red Dr. Pepper signs and the green word "Fautilus" written across the front.

"It looks like a Christmas tree, doesn't it?" Lee said to one member of the gallery.

Trevino said he had a contract with both Dr. Pepper and Fautilus — a company that manufactures golf balls.

"Each one of those Dr. Pepper signs is worth $40,000," said Trevino, "and that Fautilus sign is worth about $100,000."

The 28-year-old Mexican-American never stopped talking and joking with the gallery.

After Lee's drive on the first hole, someone suggested that he measure his ball for distance.

Amana was awarding prizes for the longest drive.

"I don't think I'll ever win any prizes for driving," laughed Lee. "Dean Weaver (often believed to be one of the longest hitters on the PGA tour) can hit a 5-iron farther than I can drive."

"But I always say: 'It's not how you drive, it's how you arrive.' I make all my money with my putter."

By the way, Lee had still not yet hit his second shot.

"I'll have to tell you more about this putter after I hit," said Lee. His shot landed on the green about 25 feet from the pin.

"I just bought this putter a couple of days ago from a lady at an airport," said Lee. "I saw it in her golf bag and decided I wanted that putter. It's a loose-necked brass head putter — the kind that they very rarely make anymore because brass is too expensive."

"Anyway, I offered the lady $20 for the putter and I think she thought I was nuts, but she agreed and I took the putter."

As Lee neared the first green, he mentioned the time he played a par 3 golf course with nothing more than a Dr. Pepper bottle and a golf ball.

Finally, Lee was quiet — but only for a while — as he lined up his putt.

A few seconds later, he quipped, "I've got to figure out how to get this birdie without cheating."

He had left himself about a 25-foot uphill putt and he spent considerable time lining up a putt. Instead of viewing his putt from directly behind the ball, he makes a complete circle around the green, observing every bump and groove of the green.

"My eyesight is not really that good," said Lee, "so that's why I make a circle around the green."

The technique seemed to work, however, as Lee confidently sunk his putt for a birdie.

Lee is always moving around when he's playing golf. In fact, on the second hole, his partner dug up some turf on his drive.

Lee said, "I'll get it" and he beat the caddy to the turf and replaced it himself. "I used to do this for a living."

Trevino made his debut on the pro tour in the 1967 U.S. Open. He finished fifth and won $6,000. Before that, Lee was a $30 a week assistant pro.

After winning the Open this year, a sports writer asked Lee what he was going to do with all his money.

His answer was a typical Lee Trevino remark: "I'm gonna buy the Alamo and give it back to Mexico."

Lee was in great position for another birdie on the par 5 second hole — about 15 feet away.

As Lee walked onto the green, he said, "Never fear, Trevino's here."

A short time later, he nonchalantly tapped in his second straight birdie.

On the third hole, he was left with about a 35-foot birdie putt. He just barely missed it, lipping the cup. "Throw that ball out," said Lee after stroking the putt, "it's crooked."

I want to make one thing clear before I go any further — Trevino not only jokes with the gallery, but he also tries to answer any questions they may have on how to improve their golf game.

Here's a tip I picked up from Lee on the fourth fairway:

"When you tee up the ball, place it so you will hit it squarely on the name. This way you get better compression on the ball. A lot of golfers will just set the ball on the tee and they often hit it on the seam. This causes the ball to be egg-shaped and you lose quite a bit of distance."

Trevino also mentioned some of the funny situations he has had with the press.

"One time a sports writer came into the shower after a tournament and said to me, 'I've got about 15 inches to fill. Just talk to me.'"

"I said to him, 'Do you know shorthand?' I guess I talked for about a minute and he had enough for his story."

On the par 5 sixth hole, Lee was about 40 feet off the green in two shots. He yelled over to his partner, "I can get down in two."

Then he turned to the gallery and said, "I can get down in two out of a car with the windows rolled up and the doors locked. You see I'd just be in a convertible and put the top down."

Trevino sank his birdie putt on the sixth hole — his fourth birdie in six holes.

"I made more birdies in the last six holes here than I made all last week," laughed Lee.

Trevino played in the Minnesota Golf Classic last weekend and had rounds of 72 and 74. He failed to make the cutoff for the third round.

"I enjoyed the short vacation," said Lee. "I went fishing in Indianapolis and caught one pretty good-sized northern. The critter even bit me." Lee held up his forearm demonstrating his bandage.

Word soon got around Finkbine about Trevino's hot golf game and about his friendly personality. There was a ring of more "Fleas" waiting around the sixth green when Lee came over the hill.

Later in the day, I counted about 175 to 200 "Fleas" gathered around Lee. I should say gathered on Lee and not around him, because everyone crowded as near him as possible to hear some of his hilarious anecdotes.

I saw the gallery following Julius Boros. It was a considerable number of people, but not near as big as Lee's.

Lee mentioned the time he was golfing with Sam Snead in San Antonio.

"The population down there is about 75 per cent Mexican," said Lee. "Sam hit a ball over near the crowd and he yelled 'Fore.' No one moved. I turned to Sam and said, 'They don't understand you. You've got to yell Quatro.'"

"On the next hole, Sam hit to the right and he yelled 'Quatro! Quatro! Quatro!' They scattered alright."

Lee said he thought that a lot of the golfers on the tour take the game too seriously.

"They can't understand how come I have so much fun. The others are always grumpy and complaining, but I have fun. I wake up in the morning — and feel myself to see if I have polio — and then I go out and play golf and have a blast."

It really amazed me how Trevino could talk so much to everyone, watch over his small son Rick and still manage to play a blazing round of golf — and I mean blazing.

Trevino toured Finkbine with a 7-under 64 — a round which included eight birdies. In fact, Lee broke the competitive course record of 65 set by Jim Jamieson, Steve Spray and John Bowman. Spray, a native of Indiana, has since turned professional. He finished in a five-way tie for second Monday with a 68.

I asked Lee after the 18th what his position was on the PGA feud.

"Right now, I guess I'm neutral," said Lee. "The whole thing is pretty confusing, but there's one thing I know — I'll go where the money is."

The feud arose when about 50 pros became upset with the way the PGA was handling some of the tournaments. Some of them even threatened to withdraw from the PGA and set up an independent association. A business meeting is planned for sometime next week to discuss the situation.

Trevino was still talking about what a good deal he got on his putter after he finished his round.

I asked him, "I heard that lady's husband is out on the course today looking for you. He says he'll give you $50 for the putter."

"Where's the guy? Tell him I'll take him up on it," said Lee as he walked away.

The complete results of the pros playing in yesterday's tournament were:

- 64 — Trevino
- 68 — Archer, Douglas, Fleckman, Spray, Dill
- 69 — Aaron, Maxwell, Jacobs

Bruce Reid, from La Habra, Calif., leading pitcher for the Universal Climate Control team in the Hawkeye College Baseball League (HCBL), signed a national letter of intent Monday night to attend the University.

Reid, a right-hand pitcher who attended Fullerton Junior College in Fullerton, Calif., accepted a grant-in-aid from Dick Schultz.

Schultz said Reid's scholarship was made available because one in another sport wasn't used. He failed to mention which sport the scholarship came from.

"He's a fine young man and I'm sure he will fit well into our baseball program. We needed a right-hander to fill in for Paul Starman who was signed by the Chicago Cubs in June," Schultz said Monday. Starman was a right-hand pitcher for the Hawkeyes last season.

Reid is the seventh baseball recruit. The others include: shortstop Ray Smith, catcher Dave Blazin and Chet Teklinski, all from Pennsylvania; pitcher Steve Miller from Des Moines; pitcher Mark Tschopp from Cedar Rapids; and infielder Jim Cox from Bloomington, Ill.

Red Sox Beat Orioles
BOSTON (AP) — Consecutive doubles by Jose Tartabull and Mike Andrews gave the Boston Red Sox a 10-inning 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Monday.

Boston right-hander Ray Culp, although slightly wilted, stopped the Orioles after Don Buford led off the game with his eighth homer, a shot into the right field stands. Culp gave up seven hits.

The Red Sox tied the count in their half of the first on a double by Tartabull, a throwing error and Carl Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly.

A single by Rico Petrocelli, a double by Elston Howard and Culp's perfectly executed bunt on a suicide squeeze put Boston in front in the fourth.

Culp, who struck out 12, appeared en route to an easy victory until he started the Baltimore eighth by hitting Frank Robinson with a pitch.

Robinson took third on a single by Boog Powell and scored as Ellie Hendricks, a strikeout victim his first three trips to the plate, grounded out to first baseman George Scott, who had trouble grabbing the ball.

Coolers Win Pair, Grab League Title

MARENGO — Universal Climate Control of Iowa City clinched the Hawkeye College Baseball League title here Sunday with a doubleheader victory over Marengo, 5-3 and 4-2.

Even if the Coolers (18-5) lose their last four games, they will still win the summer title.

Donn Haugen won his second straight game against no defeats in the first game. He went five innings and struck out five.

Earl Foster won his fourth game of the year against only one defeat in the second game. He went the distance and allowed only four hits.

The next game for the Coolers will be at 6:30 tonight on the Iowa Field against the second place Janitors.

After Lee's drive on the first hole, someone suggested that he measure his ball for distance.

One of the first things that caught my eye was Trevino's golf bag. It was a monstrous thing with five red Dr. Pepper signs and the green word "Fautilus" written across the front.

"It looks like a Christmas tree, doesn't it?" Lee said to one member of the gallery.

Trevino said he had a contract with both Dr. Pepper and Fautilus — a company that manufactures golf balls.

"Each one of those Dr. Pepper signs is worth $40,000," said Trevino, "and that Fautilus sign is worth about $100,000."

The 28-year-old Mexican-American never stopped talking and joking with the gallery.

BRUCE REID
Inspires Iowa's Hopes

Iowa baseball coach. Reid, who will enter school this fall as a junior, said he was first contacted by Schultz in a letter to Reid's baseball coach at Fullerton.

Reid, 6-0, 170-pounds, lettered in baseball two years in high school and in his sophomore year in college. At Fullerton, he had a 2-1 record and a 1.72 earned run average (ERA). He leads the HCBL with a 7-0 record and a 1.08 ERA.

"I'm looking forward to playing baseball for Iowa because I've always thought of the Big 10 conference as one of the best," Reid said Monday.

Schultz said Reid's scholarship was made available because one in another sport wasn't used. He failed to mention which sport the scholarship came from.

"He's a fine young man and I'm sure he will fit well into our baseball program. We needed a right-hander to fill in for Paul Starman who was signed by the Chicago Cubs in June," Schultz said Monday. Starman was a right-hand pitcher for the Hawkeyes last season.

Former Hobo King Passes Through Town— Where He Hangs His Hat Is Home

By BOB DILLON

"Big Town" has been uptown, downtown and out of town in the United States.

"Big Town" is the nickname of James Gorman, a one-time "king of the hoboes." He hitched a ride last week into Iowa City via an open boxcar and planned to leave the same way. Big Town is on his way to the 68th National Hobo Convention to be held Aug. 13 in Britt.

While in Iowa City, the 76-year-old hobo stopped by The Daily Iowan office and talked about topics ranging from the Federal Government to hippies.

"The government's been going to hell since Truman left Washington, and it's getting worse every year," Big Town said. "Truman had guts. He'd cuss the farmers and they'd love it."

Big Town's admiration for Truman paid off in 1948. According to the hobo, he put down $600 in bets with odds of 40 to 1 that Truman would defeat Thomas Dewey.

In this year's presidential race, Big Town avidly supports former Alabama Gov. George Wallace. "Now Wallace will get the job done. He'll revive the Ku Klux Klan and end all this damn shooting," Big Town predicts.

Speaking of President Johnson's administration, Big Town said Johnson was pouring money down the sewer with his welfare programs.

"Welfare's ruining this country. That's why the cost of living's going up," Big Town said.

He said that minority groups were not to be blamed for the color they were born, but he emphasized that everyone had a chance to go to school and to be educated today.

"All men have their own bootstraps and should use them to pull themselves out of their problems. The welfare bootstrap ain't no good," Big Town said as he mopped his sunburned forehead with a big, blue and white handkerchief.

Big Town travels light with a black satchel full of what he calls his essentials — soap, can opener and needles and thread. He also carries his hobo identification which includes a panhandler's "union card" extolling the virtues of the "ancient and honorable art of panhandling."

Big Town's heyday was in 1949 when he was voted "king of the hoboes." Cronies names such as the "Hardrock Kid," "Boxcar Betty" and the "Connecticut Kid" rolled off Big Town's tongue as he recalled the hobo conventions of the past.

Big Town said that when he reigned as king he had been invited to speak at conventions and colleges. "Yah, I even spoke to them Vassar broads. Believe me, they weren't nothing."

But the hobo heyday had ended for both Big Town and most of his cronies.

"Hell, there ain't 200 hoboes left in the entire United States. The age of the average hobo is 65. We're dying out. Even I got reservations with Satan, but he hasn't called me yet," he said.

Big Town claimed he had been a hobo since the age of 16 and had lived from railroad to railroad ever since. He said his life as a hobo was interrupted only once when he did a "three-year stint in World War I as a doughboy" in Europe.

EX-HOBO KING "BIG TOWN"
Uptown, Downtown, All Around

ever planned to settle down in one place, Big Town answered an emphatic, "Hell no."

"First thing you know there'd be income tax — that's Greek to me — never filed in my life," he said. "Then someone would ask me about marriage. I don't want to have some broad yacking at me and givin' me a case of ulcers."

Big Town likes to be the personification of many cliches. He's foot-loose and fancy-free, here today and gone tomorrow, the happy wanderer. Big Town is "anywhere I hang my hat is home."

"Home to me is the U.S.A. Anywhere I am is my home," he said, and so saying, Big Town picked up his black satchel and headed home.

Volcano Erupts In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Rocks hurled as far as 30 miles by an erupting volcano forced evacuation of two towns and threatened others in northwest Costa Rica Monday.

Several persons were reported injured and many houses damaged after the Arenal volcano began spewing forth what was described as enormous quantities of stones and lava about 8 a.m. (local).

Government spokesmen ordered evacuation of the villages of Arenal and Pueblo Nuevo which caught the early brunt of the volcano attack.

Tenants Get Protection In Michigan Black, White Find A Lot in Common

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan apartment dwellers soon will live under an umbrella of tenants' rights laws designed to protect them from landlords who among other things, refuse to repair or maintain rental properties.

Believed to be the strongest set of tenants' rights laws in the nation, the measures:

- Permit rental monies to be used to renovate properties that do not meet minimum health and safety standards.
- Require registration and inspection of all apartments.
- Stipulate conditions under which a tenant can be evicted.
- Prohibit racial or religious discrimination.

The laws go into effect this fall. They were passed by the legislature this spring and summer despite violent opposition from home owners' groups across the state.

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — In all her 19 years, Melanie Hope, a white South African student, had never known blacks socially.

Then suddenly two weeks ago, Melanie stepped off a bus in nearby Paramus, N.J., and saw her American Field Service family step forward. It was black.

Both the James Browns and Melanie admitted initial shock at their first meeting. But both maintained there was never a moment of regret. "There just wasn't time," said Melanie.

Under the American Field Service program, some 3,000 students from 61 foreign countries are brought here to study and to live with American families. More than a 1,000 American students go abroad for similar activities.

Before joining the Browns, Melanie had spent a year attending high school in Glendale, Calif. Then she had spent almost a month touring the United States in a bus along with other AFV students.

The first night in the Brown household, Melanie attended her first interracial religious service, a fireside meeting of the Bahai religion, a small sect to which the Browns have belonged for two years.

Brown, 60, a property supervisor at the Veterans Administration Hospital in the Bronx, said the Bahai religion believes in the "oneness of mankind."

"We have no inhibitions about race," he said, "we feel everyone is the same."

When asked if understanding would help in South Africa, Melanie replied diplomatically,

"Understanding will help anywhere."

South Africa, said Melanie, is vastly misunderstood in America.

"From what I've seen on television, they only show the bad and distorted things," she said.

"There is no country in the world that is all bad, or all good. There's a bit of gray."

Melanie, whose father is a jeweler in South Africa, became a familiar face on the neat, tree-lined street in the predominantly black neighborhood where she lived with the Browns. She shopped and attended parties with them.

As she prepared to return home Monday, to Pretoria, she told a reporter, "I shall miss the Browns. It's been a wonderful experience."

A spokesman for the American Field Service, which has 3,000 chapters around the country and is privately funded, said it wasn't unusual for a white student to be placed in a black home, or vice versa.

"We try not to match people of the same background," she said. "We don't put Italian with Italian. The big thing is that the student and family learn about one another."

Hoboes work to earn enough money to get by, according to Big Town. They peddle pencils and novelties, make repairs such as sharpening lawn mowers and "go round diving" — dishwashing.

Odd jobs, according to Big Town, are hard to find today. The scarcity of temporary employment has made it hard for an honest hobo not to become a "tramp, bum or wino."

A hobo is a special breed — he's not a tramp, bum or wino, Big Town said.

Referring to the latter, he said, "They'll head for the local Salvation Army and take a nose dive by quoting John 3:16 to get a meal. They're lost to both hell and salvation for a handout."

Big Town said that Iowa City was "marked" by hoboes as a fair town. He said that hoboes mark towns in nearby railroad yards for fellow hoboes who would stop off later. The marks usually denote the town's laws and jail conditions as well as available jobs.

"If the law's okay, the town's okay," Big Town said. But he added that it was awfully hard to get a good meal in Iowa City or any other Iowa community.

"It's cottage cheese and lettuce in Iowa. If Iowa didn't have cottage cheese, restaurants would fold their menus and close up," he said.

Big Town can give any interested bystander a picture-postcard history of his travels. One has only to mention a big city in the United States and Big Town will tell you about it.

Town whips out one of his 5,000 postcards and adds a detailed description of the railroad lines that serve — or once served — that particular city. Most of Big Town's postcard today are from the South because in the winter he heads for the warmer climate.

When asked if he saw any relationship to his way of carefree living and that of a hippie's way of life, Big Town said the hippies were lazy and forgot to wash.

"Soap's cheap and water's plentiful. If a guy doesn't keep clean, he's crazy."

Big Town, however, praised anyone — hobo to hippie — who could live off the land. "You've got to be a pretty good man to pull that off and survive."

Big Town said that this year's convention would be his last trip to Britt because transportation by rails was limited and because he was beginning to slow down. When asked if he

Picture Clouded In Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department described the U.S. foreign-trade picture as far from reassuring Monday when it reported an export-import deficit at $87.2 million for June.

Projected on an annual basis, the Commerce Department said, imports are running 20 per cent above 1967.

The seasonally adjusted June figures for exports and imports were reported as $2.759 billion and $2.846 billion, respectively.

A BOOM FOR A BOAR— BUDAPEST

—Automatically fired gas cannons are keeping wild boars out of Hungarian grain fields, the newspaper Magyar Hirpi reported. It said a harmless boom every 15 minutes persuades the porkers to keep their distance. Hungary has some 14,000 wild boars, most of them on game preserves.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., AUG. 3, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow... next week... next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead. Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do with your pay check stopped, but lying expenses still going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that ... Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year—at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments... at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and—best of all...

... The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost. You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan (#HP 18L-1067) ...

- PAYS Up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital.
- PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH—if you need a full time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital—up to 50 weeks.
- PAYS $1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.
- PAYS Up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.
- PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.
- PAYS Up to $5,000.00 when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
- PAYS your cash benefits that increase each year... to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK... at no extra cost to you
- NO age limit—no medical examination required

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week... EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

... Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week—for as long as you need the nurse—even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential...

... Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home... you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan... and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital... for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week—for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able

As a special consideration to you—if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force—you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only 25¢ for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time—direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

Make your decision carefully

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown in the enrollment form—just a few days from today

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive the Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man... even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below... even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish... even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I—INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself—or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse)—then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II—FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III—FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. This covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay. It will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital? The full amount you are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.)
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week? Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accident. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization? Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accident. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home? $100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits... at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits? Yes, $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight? Yes, Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes... when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies? Yes, Presidential pays $100.00 for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition? Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement. You can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments? You may use them in any way you wish—pay hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65? Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit. Members over 65 are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance? Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance? While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get? If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan and 100% of all its other benefits and features (excluding War of Premiums).
14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force? Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims? No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims? No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this policy? The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war; EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements for membership in one of the Presidential Plans? You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only? Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period? Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just your brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer? Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the money-back guarantee work? Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join? Fill out your brief enrollment form and mail it, with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.
