So Who's Kicking?

The Hawkeyes will have plenty to kick about this season — and some good men to do their kicking for them. Sports Editor Mike Ebbing's analysis of Iowa's 1968 prospects continue on Page 4.

Newton's Future In Hands of Jury After 8-Week Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A jury with a black foreman deliberated Thursday the fate of Black Panther party leader Huey P. Newton, charged with murdering one white policeman and wounding another.

Bobby Seale, who helped Newton form the Black Panther militant group two years ago, told about two dozen of his black-bereted, black-jacketed followers outside the court. "If Huey Newton is convicted, the sky's the limit."

Inside, Superior Court Judge Monroe Friedman told the jury to return a verdict "regardless of what the consequences of that verdict may be."

The judge told the jury of seven women and five men it could find the 26-year-old Newton guilty of first-degree murder, second-degree murder or voluntary manslaughter, or it could acquit him.

Experienced court observers predicted a lengthy deliberation.

An hour after the grimfaced jurors received the case, word came that they had elected as foreman David B. Harper, a Bank of America loan officer and the only black on the jury.

Defense counsel Charles Garry happily exclaimed, "I feel he is the strongest person on the jury."

Newton has been on trial eight weeks on charges of killing policeman John Frey, 25, and wounding policeman Herbert Heanes in an Oct. 28 street shooting in which he himself was wounded in the abdomen.

His Black Panthers, who advocate the arming of blacks in self defense, have made a nationwide publicity campaign to "Free Huey."

Asked what he meant about the sky being the limit, Seale said, "It means that black people aren't going to go for them living over Huey P. Newton, and that's all there is to it."

Seale himself is free on bail on charges of having a sawed-off shotgun and a pistol with an altered serial number.

Evidence at the trial brought out that the shooting took place after officer Frey stopped Newton's car in a black neighborhood at 5 a.m.

A passing bus driver, Henry Grier, testified that he saw Newton pull a pistol and start shooting.

Microscopic pictures established that Frey was shot three times with his own service revolver and that Heanes also was wounded with it.

No Newton gun has been found, and Frey's gun also is missing.

Off-Duty Cops Attack N.Y.C. Black Panthers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Police Department said Thursday that off-duty policemen were among a group of 200 white men who beat Black Panthers and white sympathizers in a court house corridor Wednesday. The department issued the 29,800-man force a watch-your-step warning.

There were no immediate arrests or disciplinary charges filed against the unidentified off-duty officers, but Mayor John V. Lindsay hinted some action against them is probable.

Department investigators said they found that some off-duty officers — the number wasn't specified — were among 200 white men who blackjacked, punched and kicked a dozen members of the political organization and white sympathizers in the Brooklyn Criminal Court building Wednesday.

The fracas was the latest flareup of smoldering animosities between the Black Panthers and some policemen since the ambush wounding of two patrolmen Aug. 2 in Brooklyn.

Biafran Mercy Flights Still Stuck on Ground

LAGOS (AP) — Plans for a daylight mercy airlift to starving civilians in secessionist Biafra verged on collapse Thursday amid controversy over where Red Cross planes could land supplies.

Federal troops reported they had raised the Nigerian flag over Aba, the largest of three towns held by the Ibo rebels. Biafra acknowledged federal forces had broken through Aba's defenses.

Diplomatic sources here said no Red Cross planes took off as had been sched-

President Told Chances For Fortas Are Fading

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was told by the congressional leadership Thursday that chances for Senate confirmation of his nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice are fading.

However, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said, "No, I don't think so," when asked by newsmen if Johnson might withdraw the nomination.

Mansfield agreed with Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that it is doubtful the necessary two-thirds majority can be obtained to crush a threatened filibuster.

"I'd say the opposition has hardened and may well have increased," Mansfield said. He added he had so advised Johnson at a White House meeting of Democratic leaders with the President.

With members of Congress anxious to adjourn as soon as possible before the November elections, Mansfield said time is working against Senate approval of Fortas' nomination and the outlook is "not encouraging."

Mansfield said also that whether the Senate takes up the nuclear non-proliferation treaty this year "remains in question."

The treaty was signed on behalf of this country in June but must be ratified by the Senate. It would pledge nuclear nations signing it not to provide nuclear weapons to non-nuclear nations.

Mansfield said opposition to approval has increased as a result of the Communist-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

On the Fortas nomination, George Christian, White House press secretary, said the President had submitted it with the expectation that it would be confirmed. Christian said he knew of nothing that has changed the President's mind about that expectation.

The nomination was submitted to the Senate on June 26, after Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote Johnson that he would like to retire at the President's pleasure.

Court Asked to Drop 'Dec. 5' Indictments

Motions to drop charges against eight persons indicted by a grand jury following the Dec. 5 antiwar demonstration at the University were made at a two-hour hearing in District Court here Wednesday.

Judge Harold D. Victor took the motions under advisement after the hearing. The defense filed a brief and Victor gave the prosecution until Sept. 13 to file a responding brief.

Seven of the motions for dismissal concerned conspiracy indictments. The defendants are: Albert G. Marian, North Liberty; Bruce Clark, Des Moines Dennis

R. Ankrum, Iowa City; Jean Gammon, Piscataway, N.J.; Steve Morris, Iowa City; Paul Kleinberger, Silver Spring, Md.; and Ross Peterson, Des Moines. All are students or former students.

The other motion for dismissal concerned an indictment against Frederick McTaggart, Iowa City, on a charge of resisting an officer. A ninth defendant, Lory Rice, Iowa City, entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney to the same charge earlier. None of the defendants, most of whom have either left Iowa City or are away for the summer, appeared at the hearing.

According to the defendant's attorneys, the motions for dismissal were made because evidence is insufficient to sustain the charges.

Assistant County Atty. John Hayek argued that minutes of testimony attached to the indictments presented enough evidence to "connect" the defendants to the charges. Details and particulars of the evidence would come out in the trial, Hayek contended.

Michael J. Kennedy, attorney for four of the defendants, contended that the indictments and the Iowa law on which the indictments are based violate the 1st, 8th, and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

Kennedy, an attorney for the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee of New York City, said the Iowa conspiracy law is vague and "over-broad." He said the law has a "chilling effect" on "1st Amendment activities," such as antiwar demonstrations.

Iowa City Man Killed When Auto Hits Train

A 62-year-old Iowa City man was killed when his car hit the front of a railroad engine at the Highway 6 by-pass east of South Linn Street at about 8 p.m. Thursday. He was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Identification of the man was pending notification of his family late Thursday night.

Police investigating the accident were at a loss to explain why the car hit the train. The engine's lights were reported to have been on, and examination of tread marks at the scene of the accident indicated that the man had not been speeding.

The investigation is continuing.

Pentagon Still Sold On Missile 'Shield'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford announced Thursday firm plans to go ahead with building an antimissile shield and to maintain "significant" forces in Europe to face up to the sharpening Soviet threat.

In a relatively hard-line speech, the defense chief took note of the Russian-led invasion of Czechoslovakia and declared: "The developments of these last few days confirm the fact that, when and if we negotiate, safety and success demand that we negotiate from strength."

Speaking at a National Press Club luncheon, he said he is making the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system exempt from budget cuts recently ordered by Congress. The system carries a $5 billion price tag.

For the most part Vietnam took a back seat in Clifford's comments but he said, in answer to questions, he thinks the long expected third enemy offensive may now be under way.

But Clifford said the battlefield commanders are equipped to cope with the new offensive. "Militarily," he said, "we are in substantially better position today than we were a year ago."

As for the Paris peace negotiations Clifford said: "If we stay with it, and work with it, and continue to have the type of military results we are having in Vietnam, I believe we will begin to get progress in Paris."

Clifford declined to confirm reports that the Soviet Union has developed multiple warheads for its nuclear missiles but said the United States is forging such a weapon because "a position of substantial strength is essential and is the best position from which we can negotiate agreement that may make the threat of nuclear war increasingly remote."

Clifford praised the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a major factor in maintaining the peace in Europe.

"The events of the past couple of weeks, I submit, have clearly demonstrated that a significant American military presence in Western Europe is still needed," he said.

Steps had been taken to cut down on the U.S. forces in Europe before the Soviet move into Czechoslovakia reversed this.

In response to questions, Clifford defended the performance of intelligence experts who analyzed Soviet movements before the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Clifford said that on the day of the Soviet invasion, President Johnson received intelligence information which said the Soviets had set into motion certain operations that indicated a push into Czechoslovakia. But he said the Soviets had been practicing similar exercises along the Czech border in previous days so that the United States could not be sure this was the real thing.

Clifford, taking note of congressional criticism about the M16 rifle, defended the Army for making what he called "an appropriate exception" to the rule of having companies submit price bids before contracts are awarded.

A Senate investigating subcommittee report Wednesday assailed the Army for awarding M16 production contracts last April without competitive bidding. Clifford maintained that the Army action was necessary to help boost production of the lightweight rifle — thousands of which are being supplied to the South Vietnamese — to an eventual 50,000 to 60,000 per month.

Clifford said South Vietnamese soldiers feel at a disadvantage to enemy troops equipped with the Soviet-made AK47 when they do not have the American M16.

Once the South Vietnamese soldier gets his hands on the M16 "then, by God, he's on top of the heap," Clifford said.

"That's going to help us end the war more quickly."

As he has before, Clifford said U.S. raids in the North Vietnamese panhandle area are doing "an excellent job of attrition" on enemy southbound movements.

The defense secretary contended that the South Vietnamese forces — being modernized and built up to take over a bigger share of the war — "are progressing better now than at any time" since the United States has been in South Vietnam.

High Court Denies Appeal by Seydel On Technicality

A petition for reconsideration on an appeal of a two-year prison sentence and a $1,000 fine for Donald (Mike) Seydel, convicted of possession of marijuana, was denied by the Iowa Supreme Court Thursday.

Seydel, a former University student who had been free on a $1,000 bond pending appeal of his Jan. 17 conviction in District Court here up until last week, is now in the Iowa State Men's Reformatory at Anamosa.

Seydel's appeals to the state Supreme Court and the District Court were denied earlier.

State Supreme Court Justice C. Edwin Moore told The Daily Iowan Thursday that Seydel's appeal and petition were denied because of a mistake made by his lawyer, Edward Norton of Chicago.

According to Iowa law, appeals must be serviced to the county attorney and a return showing that the appeal has been serviced must be filed with the clerk of the court within 6 days after the sentencing.

Because of Norton's failure to service the appeal to the county attorney within the allotted time, Seydel's appeal and his following petition of consideration were denied, Moore explained.

Moore said that because Seydel's appeal did not comply with Iowa's laws of appeal, the court was without jurisdiction to hear the case.

Norton told the DI Wednesday night that he would submit a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Jones County (Anamosa) in the event that the petition for reconsideration was denied.

Norton's contention is that two youths, who refused to testify at Seydel's trial, are now willing to testify and should be allowed to in a new trial.

If a petition for writ of habeas corpus is also denied, Norton said that an appeal to the United States Supreme Court would be considered.

Prague Leaders Trying To Get Back to Normal

PRAGUE (AP) — Government leaders met Thursday to discuss measures needed to bring Czechoslovakia back to as normal conditions as possible under the Soviet bloc occupation.

No details were disclosed, but the session coincided with reports that Soviet leaders were meeting in Moscow. These accounts said the Moscow meeting could prove significant to Czechoslovakia's future course.

Despite the Soviet crackdown on Czechoslovakia's liberalized policy of free speech and an uncensored press, signs persisted that the public and some leaders still are defying the occupation forces.

Prace, the trade union newspaper, reported residents in the industrial region of Ostrava are calling a special election to replace Drahomir Kolder, accused of collaborating with the Russians, in the National Assembly. Kolder is a former member of the Communist party Presidency.

The Russians have demanded that road signs and house numbers, removed to confuse the occupying forces, be restored in Prague and elsewhere. This presumably is to make easier raids on homes suspected of harboring "counterrevolutionaries."

The Prague mayor's office, without mentioning the occupation, appealed to the people to replace the signs and house numbers to make the work of ambulance drivers and delivery men easier — as he put it.

Soviet soldiers and tanks still occupied key army installations in Prague. Soviet patrols in the city seem to have been reduced and Czechoslovak police were seen strolling in the streets.

Tito Calls on Soviets To Withdraw Troops

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito called Thursday for quick withdrawal of Soviet Bloc troops from Czechoslovakia.

Speaking at a luncheon for President Mokhtar Ould Dadah of Mauritania at his Adriatic summer residence of Brioni, Tito said Yugoslavia "cannot acquiesce to the present situation in the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic and to the direct interference in internal affairs."

"We believe that the fraternal peoples of Czechoslovakia should alone be in charge and that they themselves could have solved their problems," Tito said.

British Unionists Soundly Reject Austerity Policy

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — British trade unions, by an overwhelming vote, served notice on Prime Minister Harold Wilson Thursday that they want no part of his austerity policy of curbing wages and prices.

The 7 to 1 vote at the 100th annual convention of the Trades Union Congress (TUC) was against the heart of the Labor government's entire program for economic recovery. It raised the specter of widespread strife on the industrial front and dire trouble for Wilson on the political level.

And it came just 25 days before the start of the Labor party's own annual convention in this east coast resort.

A concerted attack on Wilson and his policies is almost certain then, led by left-wing Laborite legislators as well as by some of the 134 TUC-committed lawmakers.

Thursday, speaker after speaker delivered scathing attacks on the government's economic policy, calling it an infringement on union rights and freedom. Not one speaker defended the government.

Humphrey Says He Can End War First

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey said Thursday night that he has "as good a chance and maybe a good deal better" one to settle the Vietnamese war as does Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon.

"In the meantime," Humphrey told reporters upon arrival here from Washington, "I am hopeful that the present administration will be able to end the war."

THE GRASS IS GREENER — A tree may grow in Brooklyn, as the story goes, but marijuana grows in Iowa City — and nobody seems to mind. There are quite a few patches of the illegal weed which is so loved by some and so hated and feared by others around town. 'Flower power' sheriff?

Iowa City's Peace and Freedom party, a goulash group of student radicals, new left advocates and self-styled intellectuals, will hold a nominating convention tonight in the Civic Center.

The Peace and Freedom people, who have been organizing all summer and whose ranks include representatives from nearly every anti-establishment group around town, plan to nominate several candidates. One of the candidates they nominate will be an aspirant for Johnson County Sheriff.

The sheriff now is Maynard Schneider, who is running unopposed at present. No candidate in a democracy should run unopposed. Some element of his constituency, some member of his community will not approve of an office holder. The Peace and Freedom candidate will probably have no chance to defeat Schneider, but at least there will be an alternative.

The prospect of a Peace and Freedom candidate winning the office of sheriff is really humorous. Imagine sheriff's deputies intervening in a campus demonstration next year. The Peace and Freedom candidate would probably be one of the participants in the protest and his deputies would probably be keeping city police and other law officers away from the demonstrators.

With a Peace and Freedom candidate as sheriff, Johnson County could become a utopia of peace and freedom. Hostile attitudes against dissent and student goals for betterment would be replaced with approval and sympathy.

The Peace and Freedom stand on issues is radical, and many persons who "think left" won't be able to accept the stand and the pledge of the party. However, Peace and Freedom is offering an alternative to the two party politics of the country. California's Peace and Freedom party has gained wide acceptance and a large following.

Obviously, Iowa is no California. But Iowa City is not as traditionally conservative as the rest of Iowa either. So if you are interested in a new look at the world and new solutions, Peace and Freedom will begin its nominating session tonight at 7:30.

Fraternity parties are such fun (?)

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is a sample of a syndicated college humor column called "Dumper's Dialog," which we are printing to test reader reaction to the feature.

By LYLE GREENFIELD

Despite rumors to the contrary, college fraternities across the nation appear to be slurring up substantial numbers of pledges, thus keeping very much alive the strength and spirit (?) of the Greek system. Once the new pledges start feeding themselves into the great button-down machine, the spontaneous liberalization of their outlook is almost tear-jerking.

No small number of the boys have returned to the dormitory these past week-end nights verbalizing highbrowed acclamation of the "out of sight" parties. Most typical were the excited words of young Sobieski Smith, who begged an audience with me at 2:30 a.m. Sunday after a delightful party at fabulous Frat-Poop Bar. I obliged.

"Sit down, Lyle," he started. "You are not going to believe this; we had a party tonight that was so far out of sight that even I don't believe it."

"Would you like to talk about it, Sobieski?" I saw no harm in staying up another hour.

"I never had such a damn good time," he said, sprawling out on my bed. "I must have blown lunch three times. Everybody was out of their minds. Some of the brothers got high stuff for us, but I had two pitchers anyway."

"If only I could have been there," I said.

"Lyle, you would have gone wild, just wild. We took over the Frat-Poop right after dinner and we only left 'cause we were thrown out. Gawd, did we wreck that place good. You know Chugger Charlie, don't you?" I nodded. Well, someone put their pin in his beer. I laughed. He had the dry heaves for an hour and a half."

"You wouldn't believe. Everyone just went out of their minds. At least three broads passed out — it was the funniest thing I've seen. Some broad was rollin' around on the floor with the dry heaves. We were all clappin' and cheerin' but she couldn't hear a damn thing. I laughed. Funny?"

"Boy, just to see something like that," I said.

"But was it tremendous! I hardly ever stopped dancing. It got so hot and sweaty I thought it was going to rain perspiration. Then when Toady . . . you remember Toady — he's the house load who takes all the gas — well, when he tried to use the band's microphone to sing they wouldn't let him so he started wreckin' their equipment. It was hilarious — I've never seen anyone so drunk."

"I'll bet he was something to see," I said.

"That's not the half of it," said Sobieski. "He really started to go crazy and ran like hell right through a glass door. Snail drove him to the infirmary. Toady was just too cool, though. I hope I can get him for my 'Big'."

"Was your date pleasant?" I asked him.

"Oh, she was a fish. I don't even know her name. One of the brothers fixed me up. She didn't say two words all night and what a rotten dancer!"

"Finally went over with some girl friends after I got sick, so I just moved in on Tink's broad after he passed out. She was a sophomore so I told her I was a junior. Man, she ate that right up."

"You certainly were a mover, Sobieski," I said.

"Tomorrow I'm supposed to be over at the house from 8 a.m. for a clean-up, a pledge meeting, a raid, a kidnap, a line-up and a clean-up again. Oh well, no one gets grades during pledging anyway, I guess."

Columnists wanted

The Daily Iowan editorial page needs contributors and columnists for the 1968-69 academic year. We are interested principally in the following:

• A weekly humor column of 300 to 400 words, similar in nature but not identical to the efforts of Art Buchwald of the Washington Post or Donald Kaul of the Des Moines Register. Such a column should be limited strictly to local and statewide topics, and should be politically nonpartisan.

• A weekly or biweekly column of political analysis — not personal opinion — of 300 to 500 words in length, by someone with enough experience and background to know what he's talking about. Such a column could deal with international relations, for instance, the Soviet takeover of Czechoslovakia; or with national, state or local politics. Please, no self-styled Drew Pearsons, Marxist theorists or apostles of William F. Buckley, Jr.; we want sane, reasonable and knowledgeable analysis.

We also are willing to consider other kinds or regular and occasional contributions. Interested readers should send resumes and, eventually, at least two sample contributions, to Roy Petty, c/o The Daily Iowan, 201 Communications Center.

Barber Shop Opens in the Union — Students Get Clipped — and Charge It

FIRST CUSTOMER — Business wasn't too good when the new barber shop in the Union opened earlier this week — probably because few students are in town and fewer still knew that the Union was open or that the barber shop was there. So Ron Huff, manager of the shop, practiced his art on Ken Cooley, the second barber in what will eventually be a five-barber shop. Huff, of 1211 Pine St., used to be located in the barber shop destroyed in the Strand Theatre blaze last year. Cooley is from Wilton Junction.

The sound of bouncing ping pong balls has been replaced by buzzing razors and clipping scissors as a barber shop opened Thursday in the old table tennis room of the Union. The five-chair shop, which will also include a ladies beauty shop, is located in the southwest corner of the ground floor of the Union.

The shop, which is operated by Ron Huff, a local barber whose shop was burned in a fire in February which destroyed the Strand Theatre, will be in full operation by October. There are currently two barbers on duty.

The beauty shop is scheduled to open Sept. 16 and will be managed by Jan Shaffer of West Bend.

The barber shop will be open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and closed on Wednesdays. The rates are the same as other Iowa City shops.

Almost $14,000 went into the remodeling and furnishing of the new shop, according to James Burke, head of the Union accounting office. Huff was awarded management of the shop after submitting a high bid. The Union receives a commission on Huff's profits.

Besides its location, one advantage of the shop, Burke said, is that students may charge their haircuts to their university bills.

Many other large university unions have similar barber shops, Burke said, and the Union shop was added to provide more service to the students.

Detroit's Racial Climate Seen Still Cloudy, Continued Mild

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's overall racial climate was depicted Thursday as improved since last summer's riots, with both the black and white communities closer together.

The description was included in a private survey conducted for New Detroit, Inc., a group organized to coordinate efforts to ease racial tensions in the city.

The survey added, however, that while the feeling of improvement is prevalent, "there are still vast differences in attitudes and understandings between the races."

Conducted by Market Strategy, Inc., the survey involved 1,200 blacks and whites — 400 each in the inner city, outer city and suburbs. It was conducted between June 15 and July 15.

While reporting that a predominant number of blacks and whites feel there has been a positive change for the better, the report said that "fear of possible violence is a concern shared by both blacks and whites."

Of all those interviewed, the report continued, less than 10 per cent see another riot as necessary to further black goals.

"However," the report added, "this attitude is far more apparent among black youths under 25 years of age of whom almost one in four feel more rioting is necessary."

The study shows further that about 40 per cent of all interviewed have strong feelings that if more progress than has been evident so far is not made soon, there may be more violence.

"Partly because of this fear, and partly because of a feeling of confusion as to what an individual can do to help there continues to exist a wide gap between the two communities and between concern about the problems and involvement in solving them."

"Blacks are not convinced that the white middle class really want to get involved. The survey shows that while the majority of whites talk about the problem among themselves, they do not act beyond this stage," the report stated.

Dirksen Says He Was Told Of Life Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois disclosed Thursday that he was notified by official sources three times in recent months that attempts on his life were planned.

He was given special protection on each occasion, Dirksen said.

He declined to tell newsmen how the plans were discovered or who was said to have been involved.

Dirksen, the Senate minority leader, said that "I was supposed to have been assassinated in my office" late last month.

He said the information came from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which assigned agents to him during a trip he made to Illinois the same week the tumultuous Democratic National Convention was under way in Chicago.

Dirksen discussed the reported plans on his life at a news conference while defending measures used by the Chicago police to put down disorder during the Democratic convention.

He said he personally witnessed antiwar demonstrators trying to storm the Conrad Hilton headquarters hotel and said police reaction was proportionate to the provocation.

Dirksen recalled statements by Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago that plots to assassinate principal figures at the convention had been uncovered. Dirksen then reported his own experiences.

Levy Conviction Upheld by Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army review board has upheld the conviction of Army Capt. Howard B. Levy on charges of disobeying orders to train special forces medics and of speaking to soldiers against U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Levy, now confined at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., under a three-year sentence at hard labor, may carry his case to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals and subsequently to Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor.

McCarthy Kills Iowa Drive; Backers at Work in 11 States

NEW YORK (AP) — Die-hard backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for president maneuvered Thursday to give his supporters in at least 12 states a chance to vote for him in November.

In two of the states, Indiana and Iowa, their efforts appeared doomed to failure by the Minnesota Democrat's refusal to let his name appear on the ballot.

McCarthy, who unsuccessfully sought the Democratic presidential nomination, sent a notarized affidavit of withdrawal to Iowa's Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst.

McCarthy and Mrs. Corretta Kings, widow of slain civil rights leader the Rev. Martin Luther King, were nominated as candidates for president and vice president by the Iowa Co-

Democratic Convention Bills Pile Up; Taxpayers Get Many

CHICAGO (AP) — Producing and policing the 1968 Democratic National Convention will add up to a lot of money — much of it from taxpayers.

John Meek, coordinator of the convention, said Thursday the cost to the party has not been calculated.

James C. Worthy, chairman of the nonpartisan committee which negotiated the agreement to hold the sessions in Chicago, said his group gave $750,000 in cash to the Democratic National Convention Committee.

In addition, he said, his group provided services which amounted to the equivalent of the convention hall and a considerable number of hotel rooms occupied in advance by the staff preparing for the big show.

Worthy recalled that the Republicans received a little more than half as much — $400,000 — when they selected Chicago for their 1960 convention.

The International Amphitheatre, where the Democrats met last week, charged the party $1 a day for 18 days for use of the hall. Merton Thayer, manager of the huge building, said rental at going rates would have come to well over $100,000.

In addition, he said, the amphitheatre completed a $2 million improvement program before the convention. It included additional air conditioning, a resurfacing of part of the amphitheatre's area and expansion of parking space.

Brig. Gen. Harold Patton, assistant adjutant of the Illinois National Guard, said a unit of guardsmen cost the taxpayers $75,000 a day. A total of 5,500 troops were on duty for a week. That ran the cost to $529,200.

Pierce J. Fleming, deputy police superintendent, said damage to police equipment would exceed $12,000. That included damage to 73 police cars and 38 helmets.

A police department spokesman said there has been no decision thus far on overtime compensation for policemen. A majority of the force of 10,000 policemen was on duty 12 hours a day convention week.

Quinn said there has been no decision yet on overtime for firemen. He said 4,850 firemen were on duty two extra days.

About 7,000 federal troops were on standby duty for a week at the Glenview Naval Air Station and O'Hare International Airport. They had been airlifted from Ft. Hood in Texas, Ft. Carson in Colorado and Ft. Riley in Kansas.

The Pentagon in Washington had no immediate report on the cost of bringing in the regulars.

About 1,000 Secret Service and other federal agents also joined the protective force in Chicago. In Washington, the Secret Service declined to discuss costs, and the Justice Department said no cost figures were available.

The Chicago Park District reported it was engaged in compiling figures on damage and cleanup operations at two parks where antiwar demonstrators camped out. They clashed with police at Lincoln Park and with police and Guardsmen at

New York City as a running mate.

Aides of Minnesota State Atty. Gen. Douglas Head said a preliminary search of state law indicated there was no legal escape clause McCarthy or Lindsay could invoke in Minnesota.

A group of McCarthy supporters, called "Californians for an Alternative in November," kicked off in a campaign to place on the ballot a set of electors pledged to vote for him in the electoral college.

In Florida, McCarthy backers organized as the New party sought 18,500 petition signatures to put his name on the ballot under their banner.

The New party already had won a place on the ballot in Arizona and was expected to name McCarthy as its presidential choice soon.

2 Broadcasters Give Daley Time

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley accepted Thursday an offer of one hour of prime time from two broadcasting companies to balance what the mayor termed "one-sided accounts of the network coverage" during the week of the Democratic National Convention.

Daley announced he has accepted the offer from Metromedia, which has television and radio stations across the country, and from the WGN Continental Broadcasting Co., based in Chicago and unaffiliated with any network.

Daley also disclosed that the American Broadcasting Co. joined the National Broadcasting Co. in a compromise offer to Daley's request for prime time on the three networks. The Columbia Broadcasting Company rejected Daley's request, citing a half hour interview with the mayor during the convention.

An aide to Daley, who read from a prepared statement, said ABC invited Daley to appear on a panel show. The proposal was rejected, the aide said, as was NBC's similar offer because the "format does not meet the purpose of providing a balanced presentation."

Fired Staffer Can't Sue Dean For Salary, High Court Rules

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Supreme Court held in a split decision Thursday that the dean of the University of Iowa College of Business Administration cannot be sued for salary allegedly promised — but not paid — to a research assistant who had been dismissed.

A majority of the justices held that the dean, as an employee of a state institution and therefore representing the state, cannot be subject to civil action for alleged violation of contract.

But a three-man minority of the court, led by Justice Francis H. Becker, argued that Iowans should be able to sue the state on matters of contract.

The court cited past decisions and precedents to hold that the state cannot be sued without its consent. The tradition, derived from English common law, had its beginnings in the early concept of the divine right of kings.

The tradition was limited in 1967 by the Iowa Tort Claims Act, which allows individuals to sue the state for personal injury. The minority contended that the state's immunity from liability would not entirely be lost if in-

Agnew Pays Call on Pigs

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Republican vice presidential nominee Spiro T. Agnew climaxed his first trip to Iowa Thursday with a close-up look at corn and hogs.

Agnew paid a brief visit to the 400-acre Vernon Dice farm five miles from Cedar Rapids, and he marveled at a large field of corn and Dice's hogs.

Accompanied by his wife and 20-year-old daughter, the Maryland governor dashed gingerly through some mud to inspect the hogs.

"What kind of pigs are these?" someone asked.

"I thought maybe some of them came from Chicago," quipped Agnew.

Agnew then left by chartered jet to Washington, D.C., where he addressed the American Political Science Association. He had spent the night in Cedar Rapids after opening the Linn County Republican headquarters.

Stump and New Bride Living in Coralville

Ronald M. Stump, whose conviction of second degree murder in the 1961 slaying of a Des Moines man was overturned by the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals, has married a Des Moines girl and is now living in Coralville.

The Rev. Frederick L. Jones of Des Moines, associate executive secretary of the Iowa Baptist convention, confirmed Thursday that Stump had married his daughter, Linda, 21, on Aug. 24. Neither Jones nor Stump would confirm reports that Stump planned on attending the University this fall. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University in 1961.

Reached by telephone in his new Coralville home, Stump told a Daily Iowan reporter that he would have absolutely no comment for the press.

W. A. Cox, director of admissions for the University, declined to say whether or not Stump had applied for admission.

Stump was sentenced to 75 years imprisonment in 1961 when he was convicted of the shooting of Michael Daly, Des Moines, the fiancé of a former girl friend of Stump.

Stump, 28, was released from the state penitentiary on July 31 under $25,000 bond when the Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that he was denied due process of law and equal protection under the law. The court ruled that he be retried within a year or set free.

The state attorney general's office stated that it plans to appeal that ruling to the United States Supreme Court.

Jones, in declining to discuss his new son-in-law said, "I think this story has been beat to death. They are making a fresh start and we ought to leave them alone."

Nixon Starts to Woo 'Forgotten American'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, campaigning in his native California, said Thursday night the average, working American has become the "forgotten American" as national interest has focused on the poor and the unemployed.

"But though he remains silent," Nixon said, "this is an angry American with legitimate grievances against his government."

For the second consecutive day he received a thunderous, colorful welcome. It was not as large as the turnout for him in Chicago Wednesday, but it was big and enthusiastic.

He stood in an open convertible, riding through San Francisco's financial district and then into the Chinese quarter.

A police traffic control officer, Capt. Kenneth Carstensen, estimated the turnout at more than 300,000. It looked smaller. But San Francisco said it was bigger than the crowds that turned out for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy when he campaigned here in June.

Nixon made a brief speech in Chinatown in which he predicted victory in November. He read a message in a Chinese fortune cookie which said, "Their hackneyed, half-truth hombre is out."

Israelis Nab Arab 'Squad'

TEL AVIV (AP) — A squad of Arab commandos believed responsible for a series of bomb attacks on Jerusalem and Tel Aviv has been rounded up by police, a spokesman said early Friday.

A news conference called by Israeli national police was told 14 suspects were rounded up over the past 36 hours by security forces.

A massive police swoop followed three bomb blasts at Tel Aviv central bus station Wednesday which killed one Israeli and wounded 59. This attack came two weeks after three grenades blew up in west Jerusalem, injuring nine Israelis.

Riots by revenge-seeking Jews followed each incident.

Some Striking Teachers Go Back; New Walkouts Feared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of school children across the country got another extra day of vacation Thursday as teachers' strikes continued to delay the opening of the fall term.

In Michigan, where school was scheduled to open earlier this week, 12 school districts serving almost 68,000 children were closed Thursday. Agreement in one district was reached early Thursday and classes were scheduled to open today. Teachers in 35 other Michigan districts reported for work while contract negotiations continued.

Teachers in East Haven, Conn., did not report Thursday, for the second straight day, and were not expected to show up today. The dispute involves more than 200 teachers in 14 public schools serving 6,000 students.

In nearby Darien, Conn., however, some 330 teachers in 10 public schools reported Thursday after a compromise salary figure was recommended at an arbitration session. About 5,200 students were affected by the walkout Wednesday.

More than 75 per cent of the teachers in Cumberland, R.I., boycotted classes again Thursday, claiming they were not striking, but were attending an "informational meeting."

As on Wednesday, another 60 teachers reported for work, but students' 13 public schools were dismissed early because normal schedules could not be maintained. Later, an injunction was issued in Superior Court directing the teachers to report for work Friday.

There were threatened strikes in two of the nation's largest school systems — Philadelphia and New York.

The Philadelphia Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, and the Board of Education continued negotiating Thursday and teachers were scheduled to vote Thursday afternoon on whether to strike today — the opening day of the fall term.

The federation represents most of the 12,500 teachers who instruct the city's 290,000 pupils.

The head of the United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, in New York City, has said he will recommend that the union's 46,000 teachers strike Monday when school is due to open. Albert Shanker said he would recommend the walkout unless a local governing board in Brooklyn reinstates 10 teachers dismissed last spring.

Student boycotts also closed some classrooms Thursday.

About 600 students in Paterson, N.J., boycotted classes at two elementary schools to dramatize a demand for greater community control of schools. And parents of about 20 elementary school children in Olean, N.Y., kept their youngsters out of class for a second day to protest a school board refusal to provide bus service.

Burts Face Damage Suit

A law suit totaling over half a million dollars was filed here against Gregory Ward Burt and his father Wednesday.

Gregory Burt was charged with manslaughter and driving an auto while intoxicated after a May 23 accident here in which his auto struck and killed two University students. His case is currently pending trial in Johnson County District Court.

The suit, filed in District Court, is on behalf of the estate of James R. Vanek, Vanek, 25, and Mary Sue Miller, 20, were killed by Burt's car as they were walking along North Dubuque Street.

Burt's father, Barry Burt, is named as owner of the auto driven by his son.

The suit asks for $502,362 for alleged damages.

Enemy Troops Seek to Lure Allied Defenders from Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops tried to lure allied forces out from their defense of Saigon Thursday, perhaps in prelude to a large-scale enemy drive against the capital.

U.S. intelligence sources said the earliest the enemy could mount an attack against the capital was mid-September, provided it scored successes over allied forces in the outlying areas.

The U.S. Command announced that American combat casualties soared last week to the highest level in the past three months. It said 408 American troops were killed and 2,513 were wounded in the second week of fighting that followed a two-month lull in the ground war.

Enemy forces tried unsuccessfully to throw the allied defense of Saigon off balance when they shattered the ground war lull Aug. 18 with heavy offensive along the Cambodian border northwest of the capital. Intelligence officers say the enemy hoped to force the allies into pulling troops out of the Saigon defense ring.

More than 2,000 American and South Vietnamese Infantrymen launched a drive into the Boi Loi Woods, 30 miles northwest of Saigon, Thursday, in search of an enemy force believed bent on upsetting the allies' defenses.

First reports said there was no contact with the enemy force, made up of elements of two regiments from the Viet Cong's 5th Division. The enemy could use the woods as a springboard for attacks on allied installations and towns along the defensive line leading to Saigon. These include the 25th Infantry

Priests Demand End to Celibacy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church must permit priests to marry for the practical reason that it cannot recruit enough men who are willing to remain celibate, spokesmen for a group of priests said Thursday.

The priests, attending a meeting of the National Association on Pastoral Renewal, also maintained that the Vatican's opposition to birth control raises human and practical problems that cannot be solved by Papal decree.

"In this case, it is dissent, not assent, that is loyal to the church," said the Rev. Daniel Maguire, theologian at Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

The association was formed to work for optional celibacy in the church. A number of former priests who left the church to marry were attending the meeting.

It'll be no bed of roses. No question about that. Her work will mean long hours, ordinary pay, enough frustration for three people — and an occasional heartbreak.

She'll be teaching kids how to play. How to swim. How to take a bus. She'll be teaching adults the skills they'll need to hold jobs.

Melendez Should Strengthen Hawkeyes' Kicking Fortunes

TOEING UP — Sharpening up a bit on his kicking is sophomore Marcos Melendez. Melendez should be a familiar figure on kickoff, field goals and extra-point tries this fall. The versatile Puerto Rican can also play fullback and linebacker.

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a series of articles discussing Iowa football Coach Ray Nagel's evaluation of this year's Hawkeyes.

By MIKE EBBING

Despite the loss of Iowa's great placekicker Bob Anderson, Coach Ray Nagel claims the Hawks' kicking game should be improved.

Anderson had done most of the Hawkeyes' kickoffs, field goal and point-after attempts for the last three years. Last year, he connected on four of seven field goal attempts and 13 of 13 extra-point tries to rank third in scoring with 25 points — behind only Si McKinnie (56) and Al Bream (32).

The thrust of Nagel's optimism about the kicking game rests with the foot of sophomore Marcos Melendez, 6-2, 205.

"Melendez has more leg strength than Andy (Anderson) did," said Nagel, "and he should be able to convert some field goals from further out."

Nagel said that Anderson was extremely accurate in his field goal attempts from in close and on his point-after tries, but that he didn't quite have enough strength to convert the long field goals.

There's one man at least that is convinced of Melendez' strength. He's Iowa's new sports information director, George Wine.

This summer, the young Puerto Rican was helping Wine move into his house when a freak accident occurred. Marcos was carrying an extra heavy box to the basement and stepped through the staircase. After a little first aid to both Melendez and the staircase, however, the work continued.

Junior Al Schuette, 6-2, 178, may also get called on to do some field goal kicking.

Nagel said that punting would be a big question mark this fall. Veteran quarterback Ed Podolak shared punting duties last year with former Hawkeye Dean Schuessler. The versatile senior from Atlantic booted for a 31.6 yard average last season.

"I would prefer that Ed not do our punting," said Nagel, "He's already doing enough for us now and could get injured if he was our steady punter."

Sophomore speedster Kerry Reardon will likely be the Hawks' No. 1 punter. Reardon, a reserve wingback, did some punting on last year's freshman team and Nagel was pleased with the job he did in the spring football game.

Like so many phases of the Iowa team this year, success could rest with the progress of a number of sophomores.

Okker Tops Gonzales In Tennis Semifinals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Tom Okker, The Netherlands' 24-year-old nemesis of the pros, speeded Pancho Gonzales' farewell to big time tennis with an exhausting, three-hour victory Thursday and joined Arthur Ashe, U.S. Davis Cup ace, in the semifinals of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

"I will play another year — but probably no more best-of-five set matches for me," the 40-year-old Gonzales said after losing a thriller to young Okker on West Side Tennis Club's fast court 14-16, 6-3, 10-8, 6-3. "They're too tough."

This would rule out future U.S. and Wimbledon opens.

Young Ashe, Army lieutenant stationed at West Point, electrified American and amateur hopes with an 8-10, 6-3, 9-7, 6-4 triumph over Cliff Drysdale, the South African with the two-fisted back-hand, who previously upset top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia.

Ashe's semifinal opponent will be the winner of the unfinished match between his Davis Cup teammate, Clark Graebner, and John Newcombe, the rookie Australian pro who won both the Wimbledon and U.S. titles a year ago.

Okker must await a decision in the delayed quarter-final match today between third-seeded Ken Rosewall, the little Australian stylist who is now the tournament favorite, and hot-headed Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.

Ralston, who got his second straight reprieve through postponement on account of darkness, rallied earlier Thursday for a 2-6, 6-2, 5-7, 13-11, 6-3 victory over towering Nicola Pietrangeli of Yugoslavia.

The fourth round match had been halted the previous day with the score 8-8 in the fourth set. In the third round, Ralston had been similarly on the ropes — two games from disaster — against little Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico and he came back refreshed the next day after a postponement to pull out the match.

AFL Begins Season

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pros start playing for keeps in the American Football League this weekend with Paul Brown's new and younger Cincinnati Bengals taking on the veteran Chargers at San Diego tonight in the opener.

This will be televised nationally by NBC starting at 8:30 p.m., EDT.

Two other AFL openers are on the hefty weekend program which also includes 10 exhibition games.

On Sunday, Boston and Buffalo, two rebuilding teams in the AFL's Eastern Division, meet at Buffalo at 2 p.m., EDT. On Monday night, two of the league's powers, Kansas City's Western runners-up and Houston's defending Eastern champions, clash at Houston Monday at 9 p.m. EDT.

The other four AFL teams will be in action in final exhibitions Saturday night.

Denver, the West's cellar team last season, faces Oakland's league champions at Portland, Ore.

The New York Jets, still worried over quarterback Joe Namath's aching left knee, face the rugged Detroit Lions of the National Football League in the first game of a doubleheader at Cleveland.

It will be followed by the all NFL match between the champion Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Browns.

The NFL opens its regular season a week later with Atlanta playing at Minnesota Saturday night, Sept. 14. There will be six games on Sunday, Sept. 15, and another Monday night between Los Angeles and the Cardinals at St. Louis.

In the exhibitions this weekend, there are two interleague games, one AFL contest and seven between NFL teams.

The AFL, which was walloped 13-3 in exhibitions with the NFL last season, now holds an 11-10 edge over the senior league. The AFL needs only one victory in the two games to finish on top.

The Lions are favored over the Jets but the contest between the NFL's Atlanta Falcons and the AFL's Dolphins at Miami Saturday night rates as a toss-up.

Three NFL exhibitions will be held tonight. Minnesota meets New Orleans at Shreveport, La., St. Louis plays at Chicago and San Francisco takes on the Rams at Los Angeles.

Mauch to Pilot Expos

MONTREAL — Gene Mauch, fired three months ago by the Philadelphia Phillies, was hired Thursday as manager of the Montreal Expos, the new National League baseball team.

Mauch's appointment and the disclosure of the nickname for Canada's first major league ball club were announced by John McHale, the team president, at a press conference.

"Gene has the youth and the dash and he best fits the mold to handle a new club," said McHale. "He is a great handler of young players."

Mauch, 43 years old, agreed to a one-year contract for an undisclosed amount of money.

A native of Saline, Kan., Mauch managed the Phillies for 8 1/2 years starting in 1960. He guided the team from eighth-place finishes in 1960 and 1961 to seventh in 1962, fourth in 1963, a tie for second in 1964, sixth in 1965, fourth in 1966 and fifth in 1967. He was succeeded by Bob Skinner.

Mauch played in Montreal as an infielder with the Royals of the International League in 1943 and later for Brooklyn, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis in the National League and for the Boston Red Sox of the AL. He retired as a player in 1959.
