Teachers Voting On Tentative Pact In N.Y.C. Strike Racial-Tinged Dispute May Be Settled Today

NEW YORK — A tentative settlement was announced Tuesday in a teachers' strike that delayed the opening of New York City public schools for two days for nearly 1.1 million pupils.

Officials were hopeful the fall term could get under way today.

Key issue in the school tieup was the job security demand of Union Pres. Albert Shanker and his 55,000 member United Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO).

Terms of the settlement of the racial-tinged dispute were to be submitted to a rank and file union vote within hours.

During the day, only 228 of the city's 900 public schools were open, with about 41,500 pupils in attendance. Summer vacation for most of the students was prolonged for a second day.

Only 4,300 teachers reported to classrooms.

Racial aspects of the current strike were evidenced in Harlem and the black-Puerto Rican district of Ocean Hill-Brownsville in Brooklyn. Schools in both areas had remained open in defiance of the UFT strike, although attendance was light.

The firing of 10 white teachers in the locally controlled Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district led to the UFT strike which began Monday, the scheduled opening day of the new term.

The Ocean Hill-Brownsville district is a pilot project in an experiment aimed at eventual decentralization of New York's 900-school complex into 33 locally governed districts. Brownsville is one of the city's worst slum areas.

Last week, the local board of Ocean Hill-Brownsville ousted 10 white teachers who it accused of sabotaging decentralization. The Board of Education ordered the 10 returned to their schools, and the UFT struck with a demand that they be taken back without reprisals.

The union contended the Ocean Hill-Brownsville incident was an example of the job security erosion that could result from city-wide decentralization of schools.

Enemy, Allies Battle For Control of City

SAIGON — Enemy troops stabbed two columns into Tay Ninh City and heavy fighting broke out early today inside the provincial capital of 200,000 people on a major invasion route to Saigon.

American jets raked the mixed force of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars just outside the city, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, and allied troops moved to halt the new thrust.

All major installations inside Tay Ninh appeared to be in allied hands early today but a senior American officer on the scene said the enemy spearhead had penetrated farther than an assault into the city on Aug. 20.

Tay Ninh City is capital of the province northwest of Saigon which lies hard by Cambodia and the sanctuaries from which the Communist command launched the February Tet offensive and followup assaults.

The size of the enemy thrust could not be immediately determined, but one officer estimated there were 300 to 400 men in the two columns which struck during the night.

Officers in the city reported that in addition to the columns inside the city, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces were holding several villages to the south and to the east.

A large enemy force maneuvering west of Tay Ninh apparently was attempting to cut off any move to reinforce the city's defenders over roads leading from a U.S. 25th Division base west of the city.

During the night, enemy troops shelled Special Forces camps, U.S. fire bases and government outposts.

Captured enemy documents have said the seizure of Tay Ninh city would be a prelude and stepping-stone for the third major assault on Saigon this year, U.S. military sources have reported.

There were no exact reports on how much of the city had fallen but key points such as the provincial headquarters and the U.S. advisers' compound were under Allied control.

In the August attack, the Viet Cong drove a pie-shaped wedge into the heart of Tay Ninh but did not or could not exploit the opening and withdrew after some 30 hours of fighting.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said government troops were being poured into the battle today.

Elsewhere, U.S. infantrymen reported killing 48 enemy soldiers after guerrilla dropped into the middle of a guerrilla battalion just outside the capital.

The area 17 1/2 miles south of Saigon has been the scene of repeated stiff fighting between large enemy units and the U.S. 9th Infantry Division attempting to stop enemy infiltration toward the capital.

U.S. Command sources estimated that four to five Viet Cong and North Vietnamese battalions have been partially or wholly destroyed as fighting units in battles over the past weeks.

Meanwhile, Saigon police turned up fresh evidence that a major enemy force already is inside the capital.

Acting on a tip, police arrested four men, one identified as a North Vietnamese soldier. They also seized two pistols, ammunition and a Viet Cong flag. Hundreds of such caches and cells are said to be in the city.

B2 bombers flew seven saturation strikes late Tuesday and early today north and northwest of Saigon where elements of two divisions are in position possibly preparing for the new assault.

The battle south of Saigon began when helicopter gun ships reported seeing 10 enemy soldiers on the ground. A helicopter assault into the area was organized quickly.

The choppers set down at 10 a.m. and advancing American infantrymen ran into stiff enemy resistance. The fighting continued through the afternoon and at last light still more troops were helicoptered in as reinforcements.

The entire area was hit heavily with U.S. air and artillery which probably accounted for a large share of the enemy casualties.

Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots carried out heavy raids in North Vietnam's panhandle Tuesday. Pilots reported numerous secondary explosions, indicating ammunition or petroleum stocks had been blown up.

FORECAST

Fair and warmer through Thursday. Highs today upper 70s.

LBJ Rejects Call For Bombing Halt

NEW ORLEANS — President Johnson rejected calls for a complete halt to bombing in North Vietnam Tuesday and pledged there would be no surrender "on the installment plan, as some have suggested."

The President also lashed out at growing isolationism in his keynote address to the American Legion's national convention. His address drew frequent heavy applause and a standing ovation.

Johnson said U.S. troops were sent to Vietnam originally to prevent aggression, protect our friends, remain true to our obligations and win a peace. "We believed that to be very much in America's national interest then, and we believe it to be in America's interest now," he declared.

The President pounded the podium for emphasis frequently, one time declaring the United States would not go along with those who suggest we could withdraw troops from below the Demilitarized Zone and turn that part of South Vietnam over to the North Vietnamese.

"This," Johnson declared, "I assure you we shall not do." And he added that there would be no surrender "on the installment plan, as some have suggested."

The President said none of his military commanders advised such a move. And he suggested that those who advocate stopping the bombing would not make such recommendations "if they were there on the DMZ and could see there what our men face every day and every night."

The chief executive discussed some of the hard facts he confronts and listed three choices on what could be done. He quickly discounted the first two choices — invading North Vietnam and retreating.

The third choice has been accepted, he said, and he described it this way:

"We can bring our air power to bear in the panhandle against the artillery fired on our men, and against the enemy troops and supplies coming through."

He said that this policy is exacting a substantial price from the enemy and limiting his capacity to bring weight against U.S. and allied forces in the panhandle.

Our casualties would skyrocket if the bombing were stopped, the President said. He brought the Legionnaires to their feet when he declared, "So, I appeal to you to support peace by maintaining strength — by refusing to sacrifice principle, by standing as firm at home as our men stand abroad."

Johnson Warns Soviets Against Use of Force

WASHINGTON — President Johnson warned the Soviet Union Tuesday night that the United States never will tolerate the use of force or the threat of force in areas of common responsibility, such as Berlin.

"It is never too late to choose the path of reason," the President said. "Every man of sanity will hope the Soviets act now before some new turn of events throws the world back to the grim confrontations of Stalin's time."

He said the Soviets still can return to the road leading to peace and security and still can change what it has done in Czechoslovakia by acting with the prudence and confidence characterizing the conduct of a great nation.

Sewer Pact Revealed

University officials made public its sewer agreement with Coralville Tuesday and told city officials that a final copy of the agreement had been sent to Coralville's attorney for final ratification.

The sewer agreement was reached only after Iowa City and Coralville reached agreement on annexation of land north of Coralville's present boundary and west of Iowa City's.

The annexation agreement includes Iowa City's promise not to start annexation proceedings on the long-disputed land for 10 years.

The sewer agreement sets Nov. 1, 1969, as the latest possible date for Coralville's Oakdale sewer line to go into operation.

The agreement also specifies that if Coralville does not get its new sewer plant into operation by November, 1969, Coralville will be responsible for paying for the expansion of present sewer facilities at Oakdale — University property.

Johnson also said, in an address to the national B'nai B'rith convention, that the Middle East must begin talking the substance of peace through many channels which are open.

In Eastern Europe, the Middle East and in Southeast Asia, Johnson said, what America seeks is "a world where neighbors are at each other's side, and not at each other's throat."

"We seek no dominion, except that of the free, independent human spirit," the President declared.

He drew applause 28 times, some of it resounding and accompanied by cheers, whistles and the clanking of silverware on glasses.

2 Oakland Cops Fired, Arrested After Shooting

OAKLAND, Calif. — Two white policemen were discharged and jailed Tuesday, a few hours after two dozen bullets from a cruising police car crashed into headquarters of the Black Panther party and an adjacent restaurant.

Both places, in a black neighborhood, were empty because it was the middle of the night. But there were people in apartments above.

Police Chief Charles Gain said the two officers were on duty and had been drinking.

They were arrested and jailed on charges of assault with firearms on an inhabited dwelling or occupied building. It is a felony offense, punishable in case of convictions by one to five years in prison.

Gain identified the officers as Richard V. Williams, 28, and Robert W. Farrell, 26. Both joined the force in 1965.

Later, City Manager Jerome Keithley would say only that both policemen had been discharged "on the basis of the police report" of the shooting.

The black militants, bullet-riddled headquarters is in West Oakland — the same area where one white policeman was slain, a second wounded and Black Panther organizer Huey Newton was arrested Oct. 28 on a murder charge.

Sunday night, after a 35-day trial, a jury rejected the prosecution's murder charge and convicted the 26-year-old Newton of voluntary manslaughter.

At 1:30 a.m. Tuesday, a burst of shots awakened Margarita Ramos at her home near the Black Panther headquarters.

Then a second volley brought her leaping from bed. She said she got to the window in time to see two officers firing from their patrol car.

Her brother-in-law raced to the window and took down the patrol car's number. He notified police.

Atlanta Sanitation Men Balk at Order to Work

ATLANTA — Striking garbage workers were ordered back to work by a state court Tuesday after a dramatic move of support by civil rights leaders and a union official who were arrested for blocking a garbage truck.

"Restraining orders don't collect trash," said Morton Shapiro, negotiator for American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union.

He commented at a news conference after Superior Court Judge Luther Alverston granted a city request for an order restraining workers "from failing to report for duty," or preventing other employees from doing so.

"I intend to be on the picket line Wednesday morning," said Shapiro, freed from jail on $100 bond after taking part in an early morning demonstration.

Shapiro went to jail briefly with the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, president of Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). Abernathy is successor to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., who was assassinated last April 4 during a similar garbage strike he was supporting at Memphis, Tenn.

King's brother, the Rev. A. D. King, also was arrested.

Several other SCLC officials were arrested with Shapiro and Abernathy when they joined a group of striking black garbage workers in a sit-down to block a truck at the Hill street sanitation station. They were charged with blocking a driveway.

Eighty persons were arrested during the protest activities of the strike, which began on Sept. 3.

Workers are demanding $2.50 an hour minimum pay. The minimum now ranges from $1.66 to $2.05 an hour, with 5 years tops from $2.05 to $2.53. Most of the nearly 1,000 workers are blacks, and most are on strike. A city offer of 13 per cent raise next Jan. 1 has been rejected.

Abernathy, emerging from jail after signing his $25 bond, said SCLC and other supporters would intensify their campaign of demonstrations.

Czech Leaders Urge Refugees to Return

PRAGUE — Czechoslovakia's Communist party and government leaders appealed Tuesday to their self-exiled countrymen in the West to return home despite the Soviet occupation. In a proclamation, they sought also to dispel misgivings over rumored arrests under the Russians overseas.

President Ludvik Svoboda, party leader Alexander Dubcek and other officials issued the proclamation after Premier Oldrich Cernik returned from Moscow with a promise of Soviet gas deliveries. He signed an economic protocol, but there was no sign he got the big loan the nation needs.

Among Czechoslovaks who have asked for political asylum in Austria, Switzerland and other West European countries during the last three weeks were many intellectuals.

The message said, "Staying abroad multiplies distrust, foreign propaganda and makes impossible first-hand information on the state of affairs at home. It increases helplessness and confusion. Your place is here. The republic needs your abilities, your knowledge and experience, your creative work."

The message adds, "No one can be taken into custody except in cases foreseen by law and following the decision of the court of the prosecution."

The proclamation, as reported by the news agency CTK, said the leaders promised "to continue on the road on which we embarked in January. We shall continue to strengthen Socialist order and to expand its democratic humanist character."

Cernik returned to Prague with his deputy premier, Frantisek Hamouz and his foreign trade minister, Vaclav Vales. CTK news agency announced the agreements were signed with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin but gave no details.

Communist sources in Moscow said the two documents were the main object of the economic talks in the Kremlin. Thus it was not clear whether Cernik discussed with Kosygin the request for a large loan to revitalize the economy.

Before the invasion of 600,000 Soviet, Polish, East German, Hungarian and Bulgarian troops Aug. 20-21 curbed their growing independence, Prague leaders had looked to the West for a $400-million loan after failing to get one from Moscow.

A communique released by Tass news agency in Moscow said Cernik and Kosygin discussed delivery of Soviet gas, oil, iron and other goods and Czechoslovak delivery of steel pipe for gas pipe lines, large trucks, knit goods, shoes and other goods.

Later Cernik met with Leonid I. Brezhnev, Soviet Communist party chief, President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Kosygin for talks "in a friendly, comradely atmosphere."

Tass said the two sides "again confirmed readiness for the widest cooperation on the basis of Socialist solidarity, mutual respect and equality . . . in the interests of further strengthening of the Socialist community and enhancing the effectiveness of the Warsaw treaty."

The communique said both sides also agreed that the main thing now is to "bring consistently into life the practical steps" outlined at the Soviet-Czechoslovak leaders meeting in Moscow Aug. 23-26. This agreement said the Soviet bloc troops would withdraw when the situation "normalizes."

Before leaving for Moscow, Vales told the newspaper, Rude Pravo, that economic cooperation with the Soviet Union is vital to Czechoslovakia. He added that this was "not dictated by sentiment only but by reason."

Vales said disrupted transport and production delays during the first phase of the occupation caused losses in Czechoslovak exports to the West that "can no longer be recovered."

Losses in Czechoslovak-Soviet trade could be offset during the next few months, he added, explaining that goods exchanged between the two countries flowed normally except for a few days.

The Soviet Union's chief diplomatic trouble shooter, Vasily Kuznetsov was believed to be still in Czechoslovakia. Unusual importance had been attached to his meeting Monday with Slovak Communist party chief Gustav Husak because CTK had described their talks as "cordial and friendly."

But CTK later corrected its story to say the talks were "comradely and frank." This label, meaning they disagreed, has been used to describe meetings between Czechoslovak and Soviet officials since the Warsaw Pact troops marched in.

Husak's speeches have been reprinted in Soviet newspapers, leading to speculation that he has the Kremlin's approval.

Among other things, Husak has called for closing of the border to Czechoslovaks. He said freedom of travel should be preserved but that a temporary halt was necessary because of the extraordinary situation here.

The Czechoslovak government has been issuing exit permits and anyone possessing one as well as a visa to a Western country is still being permitted to leave.

But there were signs that this would soon change. Soviet troops near the border with Austria were said to be turning back foreigners who had been cleared by Czechoslovak border guards.

Diplomatic sources said they expected the National Assembly to enact a law closing the border to Czechoslovaks effective Sept. 15.

Grassroots organization

Often times, a veritable grassroots fire of sentiment dies without really causing any change in situations. But add a little organized pressure to that fire of sentiment, and you really have a moving force.

Take for example, the city school teachers. Members of the Iowa City Educators' Association (ICEA), who constitute most of the cities' teachers, became rather dissatisfied with the local school board during salary negotiations last spring. The city teachers wanted more money; the school board members didn't want to give them more money.

Tempers flared, name-calling developed, and, eventually, the teachers got a compromise salary settlement — not nearly what they were asking but more than they had when the controversy started.

Well, during the next salary negotiations, the ICEA will have a little more say in the board decisions. A slate of three candidates endorsed by the ICEA for election to the board were, in fact, elected and actually ran away with the election. The ICEA candidates won by 700 votes in the race for a two-year term and 800 votes in two three-year term paces. The ICEA had never endorsed candidates before. And the candidates they chose to endorse are all University employees. Two of the three are professors. These men can't help but be sympathetic to the problems of the teachers.

Not only did the teacher-organized pressure get their men elected, it also managed to get out the vote. The 3,211 citizens who voted were the most since 1965.

In general elections, only about 7,000 Iowa Citizens vote. If the teacher organization is any indication of what some pressure can do to voting figures and voting results, the student vote could really wreak havoc in Iowa City.

A conservative estimate of the number of students who would be eligible to vote in Iowa City is 4,000. The Iowa City vote is rarely a block vote. If an issue or a set of candidates could rally student support and get out the student vote, students would have a good chance of having say in city government. Whatever the election, the student will no longer be "the forgotten man."

Yeah,

"The Beatles" by Hunter Davies. (New York: McGraw-Hill Book Co.; 1968) $6.95. Available at Iowa Book & Supply Co.

There never was a singing group like them. And there will never be others able to attain the same success. For the Beatles began it all — singlehandedly they changed the ebb and flow of popular music from Elvis Presley-like peevishness to sophisticated music. And in the process, they changed the taste of English youth, American teenyboppers and indeed, the rest of the world.

For their time and trouble, they are all millionaires; John, George, Paul and Ringo, still in their 20s. They have been made semi-royalty by the Queen of England for their part in helping restore the balance of payments toward England.

Hunter Davies, the author of three previous books, including "Here We Go Round The Mulberry Bush," has done a magnificent job with this book. It reveals the four as people — not just, as their critics used to claim — four mop-headed pseudo-singers.

Davies traveled with them for 18 months, gathering material for the book. It is fascinating reading and separates the wheat from the chaff regarding the Beatles.

Davies follows them from their early childhood, to the beginnings, when John Lennon, fascinated with music, particularly that of English star Lonnie Donegan and Elvis Presley, began playing the banjo, with guitar fingerings. When he discovered that arrangement wouldn't work, except for simple songs, he got a guitar and that was the beginning. John began a group called the Quarrymen, and they were terrible. Members came and went, each convinced that the Quarrymen certainly wouldn't make it, even in 1950s standards in England.

Eventually George and Paul joined the group. They were all semi-delinquent, dissatisfied with school and the poverty of Liverpool. Ironically, the member of the group that everyone considered the best — Stu Sutcliffe, died early in the group's history. Ringo Starr, nee Richard Starkey, was a drummer with a group called Rory Storm and the Hurricanes. He replaced Pete Best, who must obviously be sorry that he never made the heights of popularity with the Beat Beatles.

Why were they successful? No one really knows. At first, it was their foot-stomping and cavorting, carried over from their days of playing in Hamburg, Germany. Then it was the fact that one member of the group enhanced the others, and followers could choose one member for adoration, and yet follow the rest, rather than the hit-or-miss chances of a single performer.

Then it was the originality of the group — particularly "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts' Club Band," which really changed popular music again.

As Davies tells it, the box score is now this:

- Songs written by John Lennon and Paul McCartney have been re-recorded by more than 1,000 different singers and groups. There have been 119 different recordings of "Yesterday," 89 of "Michelle," 57 of "A Hard Day's Night," 52 of "Can't Buy Me Love," 46 "I Want To Hold Your Hand," 43 and 42, respectively of "All My Loving" and "And I Love Her."
- Every, repeat, every, Beatle single record and every album has sold over one million copies, throughout the world. The single, "I Want to Hold Your Hand," has sold over 5 million copies.
- A total of 25 million Beatle records have now been sold.
- Since 1963, Beatle records and performances throughout the world have been worth 70 million pounds of sterling.

Davies' book is well worth the price — for Beatle fans and non-fans alike. It goes a long way toward explaining the phenomenon of these four Englishmen. It covers their beginnings, their touring, (Ringo tells the only enjoyment during the touring was pot smoking in hotels), their meeting with Elvis Presley (The Beatles and Elvis had nothing to say to each other, it was discovered, so the five of them played Monopoly, with real money) and their lives now (Ringo is a family man, George hunts for spiritual satisfaction with eastern music and religions, Paul haunts the pubs of London, when he can, and John is morose, often not speaking for a day or two or three at a time).

"The Beatles" is fascinating. Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Secret weapon?

(Reprinted from the Saigon Post, June 28, 1968)

"SAIGON — A number of defectors, mostly from Hanoi, who surrendered to government troops in Gia Dinh recently, blasted miniskirts as 'diminishing Vietnamese girls' dignity and personality.'

"However, defector Ly regarded the miniskirt as the symbol of revolution of the Vietnamese woman's dress. He praised Saigon fashion as 'colorful, gay and fascinating.'

"Defector Tuan frowned on jeans. 'Girls wearing tight jeans are too daring and not serious,' he said.

"Meanwhile, Hanoi girls have only one 'fashion': shirt and black pajama trousers."

Rockefeller Picks Goodell For RFK Seat N.Y. Republican 9 Years in House

ALBANY, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller reached into the Republican ranks Tuesday and appointed 42-year-old Charles E. Goodell, Western New York congressman, to the Senate seat vacated by the death of Robert F. Kennedy, a Democrat.

Rockefeller ended weeks of speculation on his choice when he went before a news conference at the State Capitol and said:

"I have today appointed Rep. Charles E. Goodell of Jamestown as United States senator from New York, succeeding the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy."

The senator-designate expects to be sworn in Thursday in Washington.

Goodell, a nine-year member of the House, has played a key role in developing legislation aimed at improving conditions in the cities. He has taken positions on issues in the House that have earned him the labels of both conservative and liberal.

At the GOP national convention last month, he pressed unsuccessfully for the nomination of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay as a vice-presidential candidate. Goodell also is largely responsible for inserting many of Rockefeller's ideas on urban problems and their solutions into the party platform.

Appearing with Rockefeller, and Republican Jacob K. Javits, New York's senior senator, Goodell described Kennedy as "a man of unique talents who can never be replaced."

Goodell promised to strive to solve the problems of urban blight, mass transportation, housing, special education for the poor, air pollution and water contamination.

Under questioning by newsmen, he expressed support for U.S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, whose appointment by President Johnson to be U.S. chief justice has met with strong Senate opposition.

On the Vietnamese war, Goodell renewed his contention that the U.S. should not be engaged in a land war "10,000 miles away."

He said, in reply to a question, he thought any suspension of American bombing of North Vietnam should be qualified.

Ray Can't Make Campus Meeting; Cast to Come Off

Robert Ray, Republican candidate for governor, will not be in Iowa City today as was originally planned.

Ray's Des Moines office announced that Ray would have a cast removed from his leg either Tuesday or today and would remain in Des Moines to rest.

Ray has had his leg in a cast since he was injured in an airplane accident last spring.

Ray and the Democratic candidate for governor, Paul Franzburg, were to speak to the Iowa Association of College Administrators at the Union this afternoon. Franzburg will still speak to the group.

BEETLE BAILEY

HHH Hits Nixon, Lures McCarthy

LOS ANGELES — Hubert H. Humphrey made his sharpest assault on Richard M. Nixon, the man, Tuesday and his strongest appeal for the support of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

The Vice President acknowledged that McCarthy has serious problems about the support of my candidacy."

But Humphrey insisted that McCarthy as well as other dissident Democrats have to choose among Nixon, former Alabama Gov. George Wallace and himself.

And Humphrey said he couldn't believe "my friend" McCarthy would want Wallace to decide the election or to have Nixon as president.

Humphrey told a breakfast meeting of a group called Businessmen for Humphrey that a central issue of the campaign was which of the two major party candidates "can you trust?"

Humphrey said that the decisions of the next president would affect "the lives of children yet unborn."

Thus, he said, the voters should carefully study the record of both men — himself and Nixon — as an indication "of what you can expect, particularly under times of stress, and whoever is president will live under continuous stress."

Humphrey, obviously referring to Nixon but without naming him, asked, "How will he react under strain?"

"Will the new coating wear off and the old substance come through or will that thin veneer of the most recent political cosmetic treatment remain?"

Humphrey told the businessmen they would have to ask themselves that question, but he added:

"I don't come to you as the new Humphrey, I am just Hubert Humphrey, the one you have known for a long time."

Humphrey, in an interview on television station KNBC, again proposed that the candidates make a joint statement to make clear to Hanoi that it would gain no more with a new President than in negotiations now.

Humphrey also expressed belief that if it can be shown that a bombing halt would produce more substantive talks in the Paris negotiations, the U.S. bombing would be stopped.

Humphrey also acknowledged some risks in what he called "the politics of confrontation" — question and answer sessions with audiences.

It was during such a session in Denver on Monday that Humphrey said he would have been able to run on a Vietnam plank proposed by doves at the Democratic National Convention, but which was voted down after one of the convention's key battles.

Humphrey explained that he had announced earlier that he would support whomever the Democratic party nominated — including war critic McCarthy.

He noted that the minority plank called for an unconditional cessation of the bombing, but at the same time spoke of protecting the American troops.

Thus, Humphrey went on, "it sort of painted over some of the real problems we have."

"I thought the majority plank . . . was the better of the two."

And, he added, it would have been more difficult for him to run on the minority plank and had he been forced to he would have had to make elaborations of his own.

As for McCarthy's support, Humphrey said, "I will just rely on what I consider his basic decency and good will."

Nixon Vows More Home Rule For 'Forgotten' Suburbanites

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Richard M. Nixon promised Tuesday more home rule for suburbanites — "a large part of what I call the forgotten American."

Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, again talked about the Americans he says don't attract attention because they don't demonstrate.

Before his speech in a suburban area of New York state, the former vice president planned dinner with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York at the governor's Tarrytown estate.

Today, Nixon, Rockefeller, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay will appear together to announce their plan for carrying the state for the GOP.

Javits and Lindsay, both backed Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, and all three now support Nixon.

In the speech prepared for delivery in White Plains, Nixon said suburbanites "demonstrate by setting an example of citizenship."

"Theirs is a quiet demonstration and it doesn't make the headlines," Nixon said. "But it is this quiet demonstration of faith in the American system that moves America forward."

Nixon cited Rockefeller as an example of an involved suburbanite.

"For 20 years he served as a volunteer on the Westchester Board of Health," Nixon said. "Then it occurred to him that he could do even more to help solve the problems of health and welfare in this state by going on to higher office, and we're all better off because he did."

Nixon said suburbanites "don't need federal projects suddenly imposed upon them."

"For the past four years we've seen a strong push for federal rule," he said, "but in the next four years we're going to see a stronger push for more home rule."

Before leaving New York City for his dinner and speech, Nixon met with a business advisory committee helping him and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, the vice presidential candidate.

In a closed session in a hotel across from Central Park, the businessmen offered advice on inflation, business conditions, and the general health of the economy.

Afterwards, Nixon walked the two blocks to his apartment.

Chandler Out As No. 2 Man With Wallace Kentuckian Hints At 'Rights' Fight

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — George Wallace, still looking for a running mate, steps up the pace of his presidential campaign Wednesday with the start of a nine-day barnstorming trip through 14 states.

An atmosphere of mystery will surround the withdrawal — or dismissal — of former Kentucky Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler as a potential vice presidential candidate on the American Independent party ticket.

Until Monday, it seemed all but certain that the former Alabama governor had decided on Chandler for the No. 2 place on the ballot, and a news conference was scheduled for Tuesday in Washington to make the formal announcement.

The news conference was canceled abruptly late Monday, and Chandler, at his home in Versailles, Ky., hinted at some disagreement over civil rights. He told newsmen, "I wouldn't change my record if I could."

The one-time baseball commissioner declined to elaborate but his wife, Mildred, spoke of "certain things in his progressive past that he's proud of."

In his second term as governor, Chandler mobilized National Guard troops to protect black children trying to attend previously all-white schools. He also opened state parks to blacks and appointed the first black to the Kentucky Board of Education.

A source close to Wallace said Tuesday that the Alabama himself decided against Chandler as a running mate and that the decision was not based on any dispute over racial policies.

"As far as I know," he said, "civil rights wasn't even discussed."

The source said three members of Wallace's staff flew to Chandler's home Monday to notify him of the decision.

Wallace, who spent most of last week vacationing at Miami Beach, Fla. — and picked up a cold — resumes his campaigning with a speech Wednesday morning at the 50th annual convention of the American Legion in New Orleans.

Johnson Pleased With New Portrait For White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portrait of President Johnson for the White House has been completed and approved — and the President is very pleased with it, the White House announced today.

This picture is different from that other portrait, one which the painter, Peter Hurd, said Johnson called "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

The White House rejected that one early in 1967.

The new portrait was painted by Madam Elizabeth Shoumatoff of Locust Valley, Long Island, N.Y., and shows Johnson seated with the Capitol dome in the distant background.

"The President is very pleased with the portrait," said the announcement.

Stanley Sees GOP As Only Viet Hope

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Sen. David Stanley of Muscatine called for new leadership in Washington and Donald Kelly of Des Moines called for a new auditor in Des Moines Tuesday.

incumbent Republican State Auditor Lloyd Smith.

Kelly accused Smith of showing "a lack of objectivity" in making audits of state agencies and getting rid of qualified accountants while "padding his payroll."

The staff of the auditor's office has increased by 60 per cent during Smith's two years in office, Kelly said, but Smith has gotten rid of the five certified public accountants he inherited from his Democratic predecessor, Lorne Worthington.

Stanley said only a Republican administration and Congress can get the U.S. out of the war in Vietnam.

"The Johnson-Humphrey administration is handcuffed by the mistakes it has already made," Stanley said.

"And the other faction in their party, including (Gov.) Harold Hughes, hurts the chances for peace by offering dangerous concessions, like a one-sided bombing halt and bringing Communists into the South Vietnamese government," he said.

With that, Stanley made a flying trip to Washington for a conference with the Republican Senate Policy Committee. After meetings with Sens. Everett Dirksen and Charles Percy of Illinois, Jack Miller and Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa and George Murphy of California, he returned to Iowa late Tuesday.

Hughes and Stanley clashed earlier this week during their first face-to-face confrontation of the campaign over Hughes' advocacy of the bombing halt.

Stanley contends such a move would endanger American troops in the field while Hughes, predicting the halt on a pullback of troops from exposed areas, feels it would be beneficial to peace negotiations in Paris.

Democratic officials announced Tuesday that a caravan of Democratic candidates, led by Hughes, would make stops in 65 Iowa communities between next Monday and Oct. 5.

"The main purpose of the caravan is to give the people of Iowa an opportunity to meet and visit with the Democratic candidates in order that they can become better acquainted with them and their stands on the vital issues facing our state and nation," said Democratic State Chairman Clark Rasmussen of West Des Moines.

Typhoon Bess Bogs Down Viet Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon Bess, which struck South Vietnam in the middle of last week, has converted the countryside into a sea of mud and drastically curtailed ground fighting. But the Viet Cong's "underground war" goes on unaffected.

An explosion rattled Saigon windows Tuesday when U.S. Army bomb disposal experts detonated a package of plastic explosives found planted in a downtown alley. The experts decided it would be safer to explode the charge than move it.

In Da Nang, police ordered the arrest of a city councilor on charges of cooperating with the Viet Cong. The official newspaper, Vietnam Press, said Nguyen Hieu, chairman of the local tailors union, helped a Viet Cong woman cadre smuggle weapons into Da Nang prior to enemy attacks on the city in late August.

Mud left by 10 inches of rain from Typhoon Bess halted a string of skirmishes across the country. As a result of this, a government spokesman reported a sharp drop in enemy casualties Tuesday.

He said only 1,664 enemy troops were killed last week compared to 5,329 and 4,476 in the two previous weeks.

According to the latest figures, 850 enemy were slain by South Vietnamese soldiers and 714 by American and other allied troops.

Reported government casualties were also lower — 325 killed, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing. American casualties will not be reported until Thursday.

In addition, the South Vietnamese government reported that 115 civilians were killed and 471 were wounded during August by "indiscriminate" enemy shelling of 31 provincial capitals.

The Foreign Ministry filed a protest with the International Control Commission claiming there were 79 such attacks last month in which the enemy used "mortars, rockets and recoilless rifles to hit civilian areas and kill innocent people."

Slain GI's Widow Faces Deportation

KENNETT, Mo. (AP) — Ora Floyd lost her son to an enemy machine gun bullet in Vietnam. Now she fears she may lose his widow to U.S. immigration laws.

"She married my son," Mrs. Floyd said Tuesday. "He fought and died for his country. He volunteered to go to Vietnam a second time because he thought it was his duty. If I lose her, I'll lose all that I've got left of him."

Mrs. Floyd's daughter-in-law is 20-year-old Minoying Eiko Floyd, who came to this country on a student visa from Japan in 1964, graduated from Kennett High School with honors — a valedictorian.

After Floyd returned from his first tour in Vietnam, he and Eiko, pronounced "A.Ko," were married March 25, 1967.

Then, last March 16, Bogard, a sergeant with the 101st Air Cavalry Division, was killed in action.

Eiko had not renewed her student visa after her marriage — "I didn't think I had to," she said. But immigration officials say under the law she is an alien with an expired visa, and subject to immigration quotas.

Eiko's father was a citizen of China before that nation was taken over by the Communists. He moved to Japan, but never became a citizen of that country. Although Eiko was born in Kobe, Japan, immigration officials say she is a citizen of Taiwan — Nationalist China on Formosa.

Eiko, now taking a computer automation course at a business school in Memphis, Tenn., said she has been told she can remain in this country until her course is completed next year.

"That's all we could tell her. We don't know what the outcome will be," said Raymond Bunker, head of the Immigration Service office in Memphis, which is investigating her case. "But we will take a sympathetic view. There will be no drastic action."

Eiko said softly, "Maybe con-

Fortas Asked Back On the Firing Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas was invited Tuesday to return before the Senate Judiciary Committee for further questioning on his nomination to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Fortas, whose promotion was recommended to the Senate by President Johnson on June 26, was advised that some committee members desire him to return for additional testimony.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), who moved to reopen the hearings, asked that Fortas be recalled for questioning about three films and other materials involved in obscenity cases ruled on by the Supreme Court.

The committee, which held two closed sessions Tuesday, is to meet again in the morning. At that time it hopes to have a reply from Fortas.

The committee's invitation was telegraphed to Fortas by Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.). The justice is vacationing in Connecticut, and there was no immediate word from his office as to whether he would return for another session with the committee.

Fortas testified before the committee for four days in July, and then declined an invitation at that time to return for further questioning about court rulings in obscenity cases.

2 Policemen Who Harried Boy 'Guilty'

MIAMI (AP) — Two white policemen who dangled a 17-year-old black boy by his heels from a bridge over the Miami River have been convicted of violating the youth's civil rights.

Jerry Edwards, 27, and John Creekmore, 23, face a maximum one year in prison and $1,000 fine for the misdemeanor.

Both pleaded no contest to the charge. They resigned from the city's police force after they were suspended pending an investigation by the department's internal security division.

Edwards and Creekmore were accused of picking up Robert Owens Jr. without a warrant last Feb. 1 as Owens and three other young blacks left a Miami poolroom.

Federal officials charged the policemen took Owens to an Interstate-95 overpass above the Miami River, stripped him of his shorts, and dangled him over the side in an effort to make him admit he was a Black Muslim.

"I think he ought to come back and answer these things," Thurmond said.

He referred not only to the obscenity decisions but also to reports that Fortas, after going on the court, has helped in drafting legislation and also aided in writing Johnson's 1966 State of the Union message.

Regardless of whether Fortas agrees to return, other witnesses — such as Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and former White House aide Richard Goodwin — may be called.

This is expected to be decided at today's meeting when McClellan's motion to reopen the hearings may be voted on.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) who opposes the nomination, said that what the committee does today is likely to depend on Fortas' reply.

"I think he ought to come back and answer these things," Thurmond said.

He referred not only to the obscenity decisions but also to reports that Fortas, after going on the court, has helped in drafting legislation and also aided in writing Johnson's 1966 State of the Union message.

Rusk Hints Apology Alone Won't Ransom Pueblo, Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated Tuesday that North Korea is demanding not only an apology but a promise that U.S. ships will stay out of the Sea of Japan as the price for release of the USS Pueblo and its crew.

"It is not just a question of an apology," Rusk told newsmen. "It is my understanding they have asked for a good many things including commitments about further action that would involve the high seas in the Sea of Japan."

Rusk made the disclosure at about the same time the State Department, in a carefully considered statement, declared the seizure of the Navy intelligence ship seven months ago was an illegal act which does not call for an apology.

There have been repeated reports that the United States planned to apologize and the statement was in response to these.

The State Department spokesman, press officer Robert J. McCloskey, said that if negotiations to obtain the release of the crew of 82 and the ship are to prove successful "we have an obligation to keep the negotiations private."

However, Rusk shed a little more information on the negotiations, which have apparently been stalemated since last January.

State Department officials related his remarks to North Korea's repeated and insistent demands for three actions by the United States. They are: an admission that the Pueblo was guilty of violating North Korea's territorial waters; an apology; and a promise that there would be no violations in the future. Rusk spoke to newsmen emerging from a three-hour briefing of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on world problems.

He told them there is no independent evidence whatsoever that the Pueblo violated its sailing orders on Jan. 23. Those orders were to remain outside of the 12-mile limit.

North Korea has claimed the Pueblo was within seven miles of the nearest land, the port of Wonsan, when it was seized by armed North Korean patrol craft.

Widely scattered reports and broadcasts from North Korea itself had built up expectations over the weekend that the Pueblo might be released in connection with the 20th anniversary of North Korea's existence as a Communist state.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, who also testified on Capitol Hill behind closed doors, told newsmen he had nothing to indicate that the Pueblo release is imminent.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee on defense, which heard Clifford, said he thought the Pueblo crewmen would be released — they should have been a long time ago.

"But the exact date is not known to the committee or to the Department of Defense, in my opinion," he told newsmen. Former Rep. Victor Wickersham of Oklahoma, who returned home recently after a trip to the Far East on behalf of the Pueblo, reported that the North Koreans want a personal apology from President Johnson.

Other North Korean demands, according to Wickersham, were said to include that the United States withdraw its troops from South Korea and that the South Korean government sign the 1953 armistice agreement.

Wickersham was reported to have met North Korean diplomats during a recent visit to Cambodia. State Department officials would not comment on the details of the negotiations.

Mondane Attempts to Keep Hawk Olympic Hopes Alive

OLYMPIC BOUND TRACKSTER? — Former Hawkeye star Mike Mondane, after being tutored for four years by Iowa track Coach Francis X. Cretzmeier, will go out on his own Thursday as he makes his bid for the Olympic track team. Cretzmeier expects to join Mondane in South Lake Tahoe Thursday.

Honors and awards are nothing new to former Iowa track star Mike Mondane, but his biggest thrill may be in the near future.

Mondane, who set a Big 10 record in the 440-yard run with 46.4 seconds, won six gold medals in Big 10 competition. He also ran in the 600 and 660-yard races.

With these laurels now behind him, however, he is now trying to make the U.S. Olympic track team in the 400-meter run.

Final tryouts for the squad will be this weekend at South Lake Tahoe. The preliminaries will be Thursday, with the semi-finals Friday and the finals Saturday.

The Olympic coaches will select four out of 11 outstanding athletes to represent the U.S. in the event.

Iowa track Coach Francis X. Cretzmeier talked with Mondane recently and Cretzmeier said, "It sounds as if he's been doing really good."

Cretzmeier will be in Lake Tahoe Thursday to watch Mondane make his bid for an Olympic berth.

Mondane earned his way into the final Olympic trials in competition at Los Angeles earlier this summer.

He represents one of the Hawks' two remaining chances to place an athlete from Iowa on the Olympic team. The other hopeful is heavyweight wrestler Dale Stearns, who is currently trying out in the final tryout in Alamosa, Colo.

Two Hawkeye gymnasts, Neil Schmitt and Bob Dickson, failed to qualify for the final gymnastics camp in Los Angeles.

Groza Gets Waivers, May End Grid Career

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lou Groza, the king of conventional kickers whose talented toe made him the all-time scoring leader in the National Football League, was waived Tuesday by the Cleveland Browns in what may signal his farewell to professional football after a 21-year career.

In announcing their decision to ask for waivers on Groza as NFL teams cut down to the mandatory 40-player limit, the Browns said they planned to use the 44-year-old as a kicking coach. He could, however, be restored to the roster at some future time.

Groza, who began his career in the old All-American Conference in 1946, came into the NFL along with the Browns in 1950. He has scored 1,608 points in his career, including a record 1,349 in the NFL on one touchdown, 641 extra points and 234 field goals.

In 1967, Groza made good on all 43 of his conversion attempts and 11 of 23 field goals for 76 points.

Also waived was the No. 5 pass receiver in NFL history, Tommy McDonald of the Atlanta Falcons. McDonald, a 34-year-old, 175-pound flanker who also played with Philadelphia, Dallas and Los Angeles, has caught 488 passes for 8,297 yards in his 11-year career.

Groza and McDonald join several other name players trimmed from NFL rosters Monday, including receiver Paul Flatley and quarterback Bob Berry of Minnesota and defensive back Ross Fichtner of New Orleans.

Among other moves Tuesday: Baltimore — Cut defensive tackle Andy Stynchula.

Atlanta — Waived quarterback Ron VanderKelen.

Streaking Yanks Beat Sox Twice

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Smith's homer in the opener and Joe Verbanic's five-hitter in the nightcap swept the red-hot New York Yankees by the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and 5-0 Tuesday in a two-night doubleheader.

The two victories gave the fifth place Yankees five in a row and 24 in their last 34 games, a streak which brought them from seventh place to challenge for third.

Smith, a midgame replacement for injured Bobby Cox, won the first game with his first homer of the season, a blast into the left field seats off Wilbur Wood with two out in the last of the ninth.

Tommie Davis had tied the game for the White Sox in the eighth with his eighth homer, off Al Downing. Downing had singled in the first New York run in the second.

The Yankees, climbing five games above .500 for their second record since they won the 1964 pennant, wasted little time setting up Verbanic's sixth victory in 11 decisions as they jumped on Gary Peters, 4-12, for three runs in the first inning of the nightcap.

Horace Clarke singled, Tom Tresh doubled and Bill Robinson walked to load the bases. Roy White walked, forcing in one run and Andy Kosco singled two more across. Kosco singled in another run in the second.

Tired, Restless Ashe Loses Doubles Match

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — They finally got a weary and bedraggled Arthur Ashe, Jr., off the center court at West Side Tennis Club at 2:33 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

In the last 24 hours — just 27 minutes under — the skinny black star had played a total of 162 games, winning the U.S. Open singles championship, fighting his way into the doubles final in a three-day match and then, his pipe-stem legs like rubber, losing in the last round of the men's doubles.

The men's doubles crown went to America's two young Davis Cup specialists, Stan Smith and Bobby Lutz of Pasadena, Calif., who whipped Ashe and his partner, pro Andres Gimeno of Spain, 11-9, 6-1, 7-5.

Smith and Lutz thus added the U.S. Open to their U.S. Amateur conquest at Brookline, Mass., two weeks before and further buoyed American hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup from Australia in December.

It seems almost certain that the two University of Southern California students — they both are 21 — will play the doubles role against the Aussies at Adelaide, starting the day after Christmas.

"We certainly have a lot going for us," commented the U.S.

captain, Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md.

The American college boys, in winning the Open waded through a field that included the best doubles teams in the world, among them Rod Laver and Roy Emerson, Ken Rosewall and Fred Stolle, Tony Roche and John Newcombe.

As he, the top singles ace of the American team, started his tennis marathon at 3 p.m. Monday, beating Holland's Tom Okker in the men's singles final 14-12, 5-7, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 a total of 65 games.

Then, after a brief rest, he took the court again to try to complete a semifinals doubles match that had been halted Sunday by darkness with the score tied 4-4 in the fourth set.

Sixteen games were played and still there was no decision. Again darkness intervened with the score 12-12 in the fourth with Clark Graebner of New York and Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, the other U.S. Davis Cup pair, leading Ashe and Gimeno, two sets to one, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Starting at 10:30 a.m. EDT Tuesday, Ashe and Gimeno rallied to pull out the match 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 20-18, 15-13. The match had lasted three days and there were 42 more games added to Ashe's phenomenal string.

Sox Ask Continuance Of Milwaukee Games

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of the Chicago White Sox said Tuesday they have asked Joe Cronin, president of the American League, for permission to continue their policy of playing one baseball game with each American League club in Milwaukee.

This will consist of 11 games in 1969 because of expansion of the league to include the new Kansas City Royals and the Seattle Pilots.

The White Sox general manager, Ed Short, said that to avoid speculation of a permanent move of the White Sox to Milwaukee and to assure Milwaukee fans of the continuity of the 11-game schedule, permission has been requested to play 11 games in Milwaukee in 1969, 1970 and 1971.

In nine 1968 games in Milwaukee, the Sox drew 265,432 fans.

Williams' runs batted in outpulsed also enabled him to take over the National League lead with 94.

Ernie Banks also homered for the Cubs in the seventh, his 31st. The Mets scored their only run in the opening inning on a walk, a single by winning pitcher Bill Hands, 16-9.

MCCOY AIDS GIANTS — ATLANTA (AP) — Willie McCovey's 33rd homer, a three-run blast in the third inning, powered the San Francisco Giants to a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night.

Taylor Ends Career As Pro Grid Player

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jimmy Taylor, whose brute strength as a ball carrier made him a living legend of pro football, turned in his uniform Tuesday for a front office job with the New Orleans Saints.

"It'll take a while to get used to not playing," Taylor said at a news conference called to announce his retirement after 10 seasons in the National Football League.

"Taylor's contributions to the first-year Saints will never be forgotten," said team owner John W. Mecom Jr., who signed the Green Bay great to a rich contract after he had played out his option with the Packers. "His magnificent efforts with a young, untested team of veterans and rookies were matched only by the leadership and balance he gave the Saints when it was needed the most."

A smiling Taylor, accompanied by his wife, Dixie, easily fielded questions posed by newsmen at the news conference. He said he'd had retirement under consideration for several weeks.

Mrs. Taylor, however, had to fight back the tears several times. Asked if she wasn't relieved that she wouldn't have to worry each Sunday in the fall about injuries to her husband, she replied, "I'd rather not say."

Taylor will be 33 on Sept. 20, six days after the Saints open their regular season against the Cleveland Browns. Although he had only 390 yards rushing last year, he was the leading rusher for the first-year Saints.

It was at Green Bay, under Vince Lombardi, that Taylor wrote his name in the record books. In 1962, he was The Associated Press' Player of the Year and won the Jim Thorpe Trophy.

He scored 19 touchdowns in 1962. No other NFL back has ever scored that many times from scrimmage in a single season. No other man put together five straight 1,000-yard plus years rushing as Taylor did from 1960-1964, in title games, no man has gained as many yards rushing, or as much rushing-pass catching yardage combined as Taylor.

Mecom said Taylor will function in the area of public relations in the Saints' front office.
