

91st Congress Convenes Today

McCormack Re-Elected Speaker; Kennedy Bid Hangs in Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack swept aside a challenge for his post Thursday and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's bid to be Senate whip hung in the balance as the 91st Congress prepared to convene today.

Thus leadership contests over-shadowed opening day formalities with Democratic majorities in both House and Senate planning to mark time pending the inauguration Jan. 20 of President-elect Nixon's Republican administration.

McCormack, 77, easily defeated Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, 46, at a Democratic caucus Thursday by a 178 to 58 vote. He is scheduled to be re-elected by the full House after it meets today.

Democrats control the House 243 to 192, the Senate, 57 to 43.

The House also again runs into the problem of Rep.-elect Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), who faces a new GOP challenge to the seat from which he was barred two years ago but to which he was re-elected last fall.

The House Republicans, at a caucus Thursday, decided that a still undesignated member of their party will offer a motion Friday to seat Powell but to fine him $40,000, strip him of seniority and censure him for misuse of funds.

House Republicans re-elected Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan as their leader and chose Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois as chairman of the House Republican Conference, replacing Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.), named by Nixon as secretary of defense.

Senate Democrats and Republicans meet today. Both party leaders, Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, are unopposed.

But Kennedy, 36-year-old political heir of his two slain brothers, hopes to unseat Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) as the party's assistant leader, or whip. Long is one of the pillars of the party's Southern establishment.

Preliminary reports indicated Long was drawing some of the support from outside the South he needs to keep the post.

On the Republican side, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, with backing from party moderates, and Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a conservative, are competing for the assistant leader's post formerly held by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, who was defeated for re-nomination.

Although President Johnson will send Congress his final State of the Union, budget and economic messages before his term ends Jan. 20, the key to the new session will be the program and budget changes recommended by Nixon when he takes over.

The Senate has one major piece of business left over from last year, but early action seems unlikely.

This is the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which Johnson favors but on which Nixon has counseled delay. Further hearings may be held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A Bad Memory For the French Put up for Sale

PARIS (AP) — The French government has come up with a proposition for dampness lovers, sunshine haters and people who just feel terribly insecure — a nice little apartment buried deep in the Maginot Line.

The line is a 300-mile long series of mostly underground fortifications along the German border that was supposed to keep out Hitler's armies in 1940. It didn't. Since then, Maginot has become synonymous in France with folly.

The order went out Thursday to the Government Property Office to begin a publicity campaign to get the Maginot Line sold. Because it's going to go in small lots — who would want all of it? — old soldiers and foreigners will get a chance at buying their own piece out of the sun.

A local Property Office spokesman, whose job sometimes consists of talking up the benefits of buying a slightly-used prison or railway station, insisted that life in the Maginot might have its advantages.

"Something nice for the summer, maybe," he said. "Cool, you know, and a little bit different. In fact, there are actually nice views across the Rhine from some bunkers."

Prices have not been set, but the government already has sold some bunkers and pill boxes just in front of the line itself for figures ranging from $125 to $1,000.

At these rates, it is not expected that France will be able to recuperate anything near the $600 million she is believed to poured into the line's concrete and steel construction from 1930 to 1938.

But the army will be rid of the cost of maintaining the fortifications. The United States, which had men in the line until 1966, apparently contributed something to its upkeep until President Charles de Gaulle decided he could do without active participation in the Atlantic Alliance.

Late Wednesday night, however, MacLachlan burst into a gathering of relatives and the wife who left him two weeks ago and opened fire with a semi-automatic .22 caliber rifle. Three persons in that house were slain and four were wounded.

MacLachlan then went next door to the house of a neighbor, Mrs. James Pepper Sr., to try to steal an automobile. Mrs. Pepper put up a fight and was shot and critically wounded. MacLachlan shot and killed Mrs. Pepper's son, James Jr., 10, before escaping in near-blizzard conditions.

McCormack Does It Again

Rep. John McCormack poses Thursday with a gavel after being renominated by House Democrats for a fourth full term as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The 77-year-old Massachusetts congressman won his vote of confidence by defeating Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona by a secret vote of 178 to 58. The vote was made unanimous on a motion by Udall. Since the Democrats control the house, McCormack's actual election to the post is only a formality. — AP Wirephoto

Nixon in Good Health To Enter White House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President-elect Nixon was examined by his doctor Thursday and pronounced "in full good health to assume the challenges" he will face in the White House.

Then feeling "just fine," the president-elect told an audience of physicians that government must not be permitted to overwhelm private enterprise and initiative in the field of medical care.

Dr. John C. Lungren, Nixon's long-time friend and personal physician, conducted the 90-minute physical checkup at his office in nearby Long Beach.

Lungren said all aspects of the examination were "within normal limits." This included laboratory studies, X-rays and an electrocardiogram.

Nixon talked of medical care before about 20 doctors and administrators at the Memorial Hospital of Long Beach, and warned that a great battle is about to be waged over the future of privately financed medical enterprises.

"Sometimes government overlooks the personal part of the equation and forgets that as a yardstick for public facilities we have private institutions," Nixon said. "The real test over the next decade will be if this kind of private institution can survive and whether the individual doctor-patient relationship will survive."

"The forces are becoming very strong for a bigger and bigger government role," Nixon said.

"The push is on for some kind of a system of free medical care, for lack of a better term, and for a compulsory health insurance system," he continued.

The president-elect said many Americans will "go for it, thinking it is free."

"They look at the hospital bills and they wonder why it can't cost less," he said. "And then their knee jerk reaction is to want to know why the services can't be more readily available, why the government doesn't do something."

Nixon said he does not want to see government overwhelm and suppress private efforts in medical and hospital care.

2 Newly-Elected County Officials Join 7 Others in Taking of Oath

New and old county officials took their oaths of office Thursday.

In Johnson County, two newly elected officials — a member of the County Board of Supervisors and the clerk of court — joined seven re-elected and reappointed persons in the routine swearings-in.

The new member of the Board of Supervisors is Democrat Ralph Prybill of rural Iowa City.

Jerry Langenburg was sworn in as clerk of court. He succeeds Neilson Miller who had been clerk for more than 30 years.

Sheriff Maynard Schneider, County Atty. Robert Jansen and Auditor Dolores Rogers are the re-elected county officials.

Robert Osmundson, a local attorney, was re-appointed to a five-year term on the Conservation Board.

Joseph and Dorothy Miltner, the managers of the County Home, and Howard Stimmel, court house custodian, were also sworn in.

Ed L. Kessler, board of supervisors chairman in 1963, 1965 and 1967, was elected chairman for 1969.

Mass Slayer Kills Himself, Ending Rampage of Gunfire

WESTERVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Ralph MacLachlan, a meat cutter who killed his estranged wife and three other persons in a rampage of gunfire, shot himself to death Thursday morning at the height of a gunbattle with police officers.

MacLachlan, 37, had been known in this quiet, picturesque central New York village as a sober family man whose green thumb turned the yard of his attractive home into a summer showplace of floral beauty.

Late Wednesday night, however, MacLachlan burst into a gathering of relatives and the wife who left him two weeks ago and opened fire with a semi-automatic .22 caliber rifle. Three persons in that house were slain and four were wounded.

MacLachlan then went next door to the house of a neighbor, Mrs. James Pepper Sr., to try to steal an automobile. Mrs. Pepper put up a fight and was shot and critically wounded. MacLachlan shot and killed Mrs. Pepper's son, James Jr., 10, before escaping in near-blizzard conditions.

MacLachlan was a man who drew little attention as a resident of this community of some 500 — so small it has no regular police force.

His wife, Anita, had left him two weeks ago and went to Syracuse, more than 100 miles to the southwest, to stay with relatives. What caused their separation wasn't immediately known.

Mrs. MacLachlan died of three gunshot wounds as she tried to flee her husband's wrath. Her body was found in the snow outside the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Turke, her parents.

MacLachlan also shot and killed his wife's sister, Mrs. Jane Turke Ringrose, 35, of Tupper Lake, and Mrs. Ringrose's daughter, Barbara, 12, in the Turke house.

MacLachlan's two sons, Steven, 2, and James, 9 months, hid in a bedroom closet of the Turke home. They alone escaped harm.

Perry Turke, 68, Mrs. Turke, 61, Cynthia Anne Ringrose, 10, and her father, Robert Ringrose, 35, were wounded by the fusillade of .22 caliber fire.

MacLachlan, who once underwent psychiatric care by a private practitioner, put a bullet through his own head as he crouched behind a stolen jeep in the hamlet of Remsen, about 10 miles from the scene of the carnage.

Fighting Erupts In Middle East

Big 4 Diplomats Confer on Plans For Cooling Israeli-Arab Tensions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes hammered Arab positions and ground forces exchanged fire Thursday as Big Four representatives held separate meetings aimed at cooling Middle East tensions.

While scattered clashes continued, Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin conferred in Paris with President Charles de Gaulle and said the two governments had found "many points of agreement" on the crisis.

In London, Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Smirnovsky and British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart conferred for half an hour on the Middle East.

In Washington, U.S. and Soviet representatives continued discussions aimed at finding areas of likely agreement between Arab and Israeli sides which would help U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring carry out his Middle East peace mission.

An Israeli army spokesman said his country's planes crossed over the Jordan River and struck at positions near Beit Yosef 10 miles south of the Sea of Galilee to knock out guns which had fired on an army patrol.

Jordan claimed that anti-aircraft fire turned back six Israeli Mirage jets after they attacked the Ziglab Dam in the northern Jordan Valley with napalm, rockets and machine-gun fire.

A Jordanian army spokesman said Israeli tanks fired on plantations in the Menshia sector. He said a house near the dam and some plantations were damaged but that there were no casualties in either the ground or air actions.

An Israeli spokesman accused Egyptians of firing on Israeli troops on the occupied east bank of the canal south of Lake Tinsah. The Israelis returned fire but there were no casualties reported in the 30-minute exchange.

The Israelis also said they drove back saboteurs who crossed the Jordan River Massada Wednesday night and seized an assault rifle and a bag of anti-personnel mines.

The Egyptian command announced in Cairo that Egyptian and Israeli forces exchanged fire in the Suez area after the Israelis opened up with machine-guns on Egyptian positions to cover an Israeli reconnaissance operation along the east bank of the canal.

In Beirut, Premier Abdullah Yafi told a news conference that Lebanon is strengthening its entire defense system as a result of the Israeli commando raid on Beirut International Airport last Saturday in which 13 Lebanese commercial aircraft were destroyed.

Yafi said the Lebanese army is concentrating especially on fortifying its frontier positions.

Yafi said his government has not requested foreign military help but that it might accept Arab aid if Israel attacks again.

Blood Shortage Remains Serious In Many Areas

NEW YORK (AP) — Three times now, doctors in a Los Angeles suburb have been forced to postpone an open heart operation on a 22-month-old Vietnamese girl. The reason: the acute shortage of blood.

Other doctors and hospitals throughout the country continued struggling Thursday with an inadequate blood supply, unusually low even for this time of year.

The situation was critical in Massachusetts, Connecticut and the Washington, D.C., area.

At the Children's Hospital of Orange County, just south of Los Angeles, Dr. John M. Somerndike said a shortage of blood resulting from the flu epidemic forced the postponement of the open heart operation. No new date was set for the operation.

"Surgery must be delayed," he said, "until a sufficient fresh blood supply for heart-lung machines is available."

The blood situation in California was not reported as critical, however, despite low supplies.

But in Boston, a Red Cross spokesman said Massachusetts hospitals and blood-banks were expected to run out of whole blood supplies by this morning.

The 174 hospitals in Massachusetts normally use 900 to 1,000 pints of blood a day. At noon Thursday, only 150 pints were on hand.

National Red Cross officials said the blood shortage, always serious at this holiday time, was worse than usual because of increased illness, and the consequent decline in donations resulting from the flu epidemic and countless flu-like and respiratory infections.

Dr. Allan S. Chrisman, deputy medical director of the Red Cross national blood program, said in Washington that elective surgery in many parts of the country was being postponed until the situation eases. Meanwhile, he said, officials were shipping blood from one point to another in the effort to cope with the shortage.

Chrisman said, however, that he did not know of any emergency situation that had not been handled.

The seasonal lag in blood donations usually ends by Jan. 15, Chrisman said. "We hope it will pick up shortly."

Coed Found Dead After Abduction; Stabbed 7 Times

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The pretty coed daughter of an actress and a novelist was stabbed at least half a dozen times before her body was found in the Hollywood Hills, authorities said Thursday.

Few clues have been found in connection with the killing of the girl, 17-year-old Marina Elizabeth Habe, authorities said.

Sheriff's Lt. Norman Hamilton said an autopsy showed multiple stab wounds in the upper body, but he did not indicate whether the girl was dead before the wounds were inflicted.

The daughter of writer Hans Habe of Zurich, Switzerland, and actress Eloise Hardt, was found Wednesday in a ravine in the hills a few miles from where she lived with her mother. The parents are divorced.

Deputies said the girl "was definitely murdered," and believe she was kidnaped early Monday morning outside her home after returning from a date.

Deputies said they could not tell whether the girl was slain in the hills or dumped there after death.

The area is one of brushy slopes and wooded canyons, stabbed with homes of the wealthy. Singer Robert Goulet and former presidential news secretary Pierre Salinger live nearby.

Allied Sweeps Seize Enemy Stores, Add to Supplies Captured Last Year

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops sweeping north and south of Saigon seized more munitions dumps Thursday, adding to the huge store of enemy weapons captured in 1968.

The U.S. Command said enough weapons to equip more than six North Vietnamese divisions were seized last year.

The allied sweeps are designed to penetrate enemy sanctuaries and upset the military plans of the Communist command.

Senior U.S. officers say the seizure of weapon and rice caches has been one of the most significant factors in the failure of the enemy to mount any massive, sustained offensive since last May.

The biggest find in the past 24 hours was an enemy supply dump uncovered by South Vietnam's 21st Division in the U Minh Forest, a Viet Cong stronghold 150 miles south of Saigon.

The others were uncovered by U.S. soldiers and sailors along the Vam Co Don River, which runs northward from Saigon to the Cambodian border. It is a major enemy supply route.

Total seizures were 131 cases of machine gun ammunition made in East Germany, 170 cases of hand grenades, 75 rocket grenades and 375 rocket and mortar shells.

Along the Van Co Don River, where the U.S. Navy has been conducting its search under the name of Operation Giant Slingshot, much of the enemy military supplies was sealed in 55 gallon fuel drums, evidently to replenish troops moving down the river toward Saigon.

In its year-end report, the U.S. command also said vast stores of food, mainly rice, the staple of the enemy soldier's diet, had been captured in 1968.

The U.S. Command reported enemy stores seized included 52,278 individual weapons, meaning rifles, assault rifles, pistols and submachine guns, and 9,929 crew-served weapons. These include anti-aircraft and antitank guns, flame throwers and other devices requiring two or more men to service, load and fire.

The U.S. Command estimates a North Vietnamese division at full strength, which few are, at 12,100 men. About 75 per cent of these troops carry individual weapons and the rest man crew-served weapons, averaging 2.5 men per weapon, U.S. officials say.

Thus it would require about 77,000 men, or just under 6 1/2 full-strength divisions, to man the total of 62,207 weapons of all types captured by the allied forces.

Schwengel Offers Plan for Sharing Taxes with States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) announced Thursday he has introduced a revenue sharing bill in Congress that would return 5 per cent of federal income tax collections to the states.

"Revenue sharing can replace many of the categorical grant programs in operation today," Schwengel said. "It would serve as a deterrent to the adoption of new grant programs."

"It would help build an atmosphere and framework to bring into better union the diverse forces in our society as we attempt to meet the pressing domestic problems."

Under Schwengel's plan, 90 per cent of the annual rebate to states would be allotted on the basis of a formula reflecting tax collections and per capita income of the states.

The balance of the money would be distributed among the poorest one-third of the states in the form of supplementary grants.

Schwengel said the more than 400 federal grant programs make it difficult for state and local governments to adapt to the problems of individual states and communities.

"Revenue sharing would allow local government to more effectively meet its problems and would certainly lower the overall cost to the taxpayer," he said.

GOP Move Seen To Seat Powell And Punish Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move will be made Friday to seat Rep.-elect Adam Clayton Powell, but to fine him $40,000, strip him of seniority and censure him.

The move was disclosed after the House Republican conference Thursday. The conference itself took no party position on the issue.

House Democrats have taken no party position, either.

The House voted two years ago not to allow Powell, a black Democrat from New York's Harlem, to take the seat to which he had been elected.

Earlier, a special House committee had reported Powell owed the government thousands of dollars because, it said, he had put his wife on the payroll without requiring her to do regular congressional work, had misused air travel credit cards issued to the committee he headed and committed other irregularities.

The committee recommended the triple punishment. The House, however, decided against seating Powell at all, with Republicans voting heavily for this course of action.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) said last month he will try to block the seating of Powell.

Williams, Niccum Transfer Sought

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines police chief and the Polk County sheriff will ask for a court order today to move two accused slayers from the Des Moines city jail to a state institution.

Police Chief Wendell Nichols said he and Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth agreed Thursday to seek the court order "because we don't want to confine them here because neither of us have the facilities."

The two — Michael Charles Niccum, 23, charged with murder in the brutal beating death of 17-year-old Linda Booth, Nov. 30, and Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, charged with murder in the death of 10-year-old Pamela Powers who was abducted from the Des Moines YMCA Christmas Eve — have been held in the city jail since their arraignments.

The court will determine where the two men are to be confined awaiting trial if an order to move them is granted, Nichols said.

Both men have pleaded innocent to open murder charges in Des Moines Municipal Court. Niccum's preliminary hearing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Jan. 1 and Williams' for 1:30 p.m. Jan. 10.

Restrain lobbyists

A freshman legislator from Johnson County, Edward Mezvinsky, is sponsoring a bill that, if passed, will be a major factor in ending the "wine and dine" circuit for legislative lobbyists.

Mezvinsky's bill is an attempt to let the citizens of Iowa know about some of the "extracurricular" activity that influences legislation for the state. Lobbyists would be required to list their personal expenses every 30 days, register with the Secretary of State and declare for whom they work, how much they are paid and the specific legislation they will work for.

The bill, only the first step in a series of necessary changes in the legislature, is gaining nonpartisan support and should greatly affect lobbying activity during the coming session.

Mezvinsky claims that professional lobbyists spend great amounts of money on individual legislators to gain a sympathetic ear for their pet projects. Lobbyists, he says, do have their place in the legislative system, but they should not be allowed to operate without restraints on tactics and spending.

Mezvinsky's bill is especially important for University students. This year, the Student Senate decided to organize a legislative action group to work with legislators and give a student's view on pending legislation. This group is to begin work during the coming legislative session.

Obviously, student activity funds are not great enough to allow immense amounts of money to be spent on legislators to gain an "in" for legislation. Mezvinsky thinks that with the present operations of the legislature, a student voice would not and could not be effective.

If the people of Iowa are more aware of the pressure tactics employed by professional lobbyists, Iowa will be more apt to gain good legislation.

And important groups, like University students, who lack the organization or the funds to "wine and dine" would be able to have fair influence in the state legislature.

Buchwald picks 'Best of 1968'

By ART BUCHWALD
WASHINGTON — It is our pleasure to once again print the "best news stories of the year." These are not necessarily headline stories which you may have read, but rather news items that were buried in the back pages of your paper which you probably missed.

WAILING WALL, Cal., Mar. 16 — Students at Wailing Wall State College marched on the administration yesterday afternoon, yelling for the resignation of Chancellor Winthrop Coldwater, and closing down of the school. After breaking windows and scuffling with the police, the students demanded to see Coldwater. When the chancellor appeared he grabbed the microphone and said, "You should be ashamed of yourselves. I have a good mind to cancel the spring prom."

The shocked students couldn't believe their ears. They publicly apologized to the chancellor for their behavior and immediately returned to their classes.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 27 — Charles McPherson was arrested for wearing nothing but a Viet Cong flag on Michigan Ave. last night. At a preliminary hearing before a magistrate, McPherson said that he had assaulted the arresting officer for no reason, and he wished to compliment the Chicago police force on the way they handled his arrest. He also wanted to cite the officer's superiors for their kind treatment and concern when he was booked at the station house. "Something like this," said McPherson, shaking hands with the police, "could only happen in Chicago."

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 1 — Pentagon officials testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee said today that they had all the money they needed for defense purposes and would probably need no more funds for the next fiscal year. A general with the Joint Chiefs of Staff told the senators, "We've got all the appropriations we can handle now, and it would be foolish to spend more money on new weapons which probably won't work anyway."

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12 — A Boeing 707 on its way from New York to Miami reported that a dark bearded man forced his way into the cockpit of the plane. "I suppose you want to go to Cuba?" the captain said.

"Heck no," the man replied, "they oversold the plane and they said I could sit up here with you guys."

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28 — William Washington, the first Negro admitted to the Atlanta Athletic Club, resigned today. Asked if his resignation had anything to do with prejudice against him, Washington said, "No! I resigned because they were letting women in the club's dining room at lunch time."

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 12 — Sam Shatzberg announced today that in spite of the new motion picture code he was planning to go ahead with his new film, "The Girl Next Door."

"My story is about a boy who falls in love with the girl next door, and both their families approve. So they get married in a church and have children. I don't give a damn if they give me the seal or not. This is a picture that has to be made."

PARIS, France, Dec. 29 — President Charles de Gaulle at his annual press conference told reporters that France had made many mistakes in the past year and most of them were his fault. He said if he had to do it all over, he would have listened to the United States.

"France," he said, "deserves better leadership. Our problems are too complicated to be resolved by one man."

Kentucky's SDSers 'keep fit for revolution'

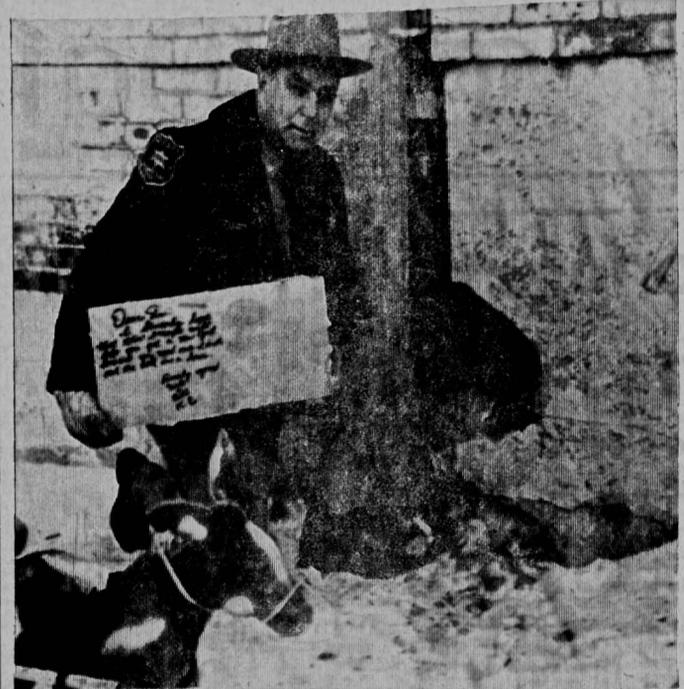

By College Press Service
LEXINGTON, Ky. — Although they're trying to rationalize it by saying they're "keeping fit for the revolution," the members of the University of Kentucky's SDS chapter are in line for the dubious distinction of being the only SDSers in the country to overemphasize athletics.

In the annual UK Turkey Run — a mile-and-a-half cross-country jog usually dominated and trained extensively for by the Greek organizations — SDS carried off all the honors, winning two turkeys in the process.

One SDS member, a former high school track star, finished far ahead of the field over 10 entrants, winning one bird, while other SDS members (including one who tied for second) finished well to give SDS the team trophy and another turkey.

They later shared the turkeys at a large feast.

Asked about the demise of the Greeks in this year's race, one SDS member said, "It just goes to show you that beer is bad for you."

A Christmas Gift for the County

Pottawattamie County Sheriff Roy Michael kneels beside a hole in the wall of the county's aging jail, holding a note scribbled on a piece of cardboard which was left by four men who escaped late Wednesday night. The note read: "Dear sir: I sincerely hope this escape will help you get a new jail because you need one. I knot (knocked) out the wall in an hour." Three of the four escapes were caught in Omaha a few hours later. Law enforcement officials have long contended that the old jail must be replaced.

Gunman Forces Greek Jet With 102 Aboard on to Cairo

ATHENS — Firing a warning shot through a cockpit window, a Greek gunman hijacked an Olympic Airways DC6 Thursday and forced it to fly to Cairo. Later, the 97 passengers aboard were returned to Athens.

The Greek was taken into custody in Cairo and the five-man crew and the airliner were scheduled to fly to Athens as soon as the plane could be refueled and the cockpit window repaired.

The airline, owned by Aristotle Onassis, flew a special plane to pick up the passengers, including seven Americans.

Passengers told how the plane was seized after it took off from the island of Crete in the Mediterranean to Athens.

"I saw the man get up from the first row of the plane and rush to the captain's cabin," said George Xilouris, 9. "When the stewardess went to open the door, the man stuck a pistol in her stomach and pushed her aside."

Elizabeth Petersen of Seattle, Wash., apparently did not see this because she said: "I haven't got the foggiest idea how it happened. All we know was that suddenly we were flying over the Nile Delta instead of Crete."

Only a few passengers reported hearing the pistol shot fired by the gunman.

George Danelakis, 20, a public power employe, said the stewardess "plainly told us that she had orders from the captain to say nothing, but to keep calm."

"We saw our flight getting too long and we understood that something was going wrong," he added. "The next thing we knew, the plane's door opened and Egyptian police told us, 'Welcome to Cairo.'"

He said he had not heard the shot, but did see the man rushing up to the pilot's cabin a few minutes after the plane's take-off from Iraklion airport.

The arrested hijacker was identified by the Greek government as George Flamourides, 30, a Cretan, and said he had a long prison record.

The government statement said he fired the shot when the pilot radioed Athens airport that the plane had been hijacked.

Egyptian authorities said Flamourides told them he hijacked the plane to escape from Greece, where he claimed he had been "hounded and persecuted" because of his opposition to the military regime.

Cairo airport officials said the first word they had of the hijacking was when the plane entered Egyptian air space and the pilot asked permission to land, saying a passenger was threatening him.

Blaiberg Celebrates 1st 'Birthday' Of His New Heart, His New Life

CAPE TOWN — Dr. Philip Blaiberg celebrated the first anniversary of his heart transplant operation Thursday night with a dinner party featuring a cake with a single candle.

The cake, with the legend "to Phil from Chris," came from Dr. Christian Barnard, the surgeon who performed the transplant on the 59-year-old retired dentist last Jan. 2. Blaiberg is the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient.

Blaiberg invited Barnard and other close friends to dinner at his home. Barnard was unable to attend because he is on a vacation at Kynsha, about 300 miles northeast of Cape Town.

Blaiberg celebrated the start of his second year of a new life quietly swimming and sunbathing at a Cape Town beach with his wife Eileen and daughter Jill, 21.

"I am a lucky man," he said. "I feel as fit as a horse and am deeply thankful for being able to live an extra year."

Looking back, Blaiberg said the past year had been momentous. "I just cannot keep up with everything that keeps happening to me," he said. "It has been a year of extremes. At one moment I was at death's door when I had the jaundice attack" — referring to a liver and lung crisis that almost took his life last July.

"Now I am enjoying such good health — better than I have felt in 13 years since I had my first heart attack."

"One's memory is short. All that anxiety, all that discomfort — all that is forgotten now."

Messages of congratulation poured into the Blaibergs' suburban Wynberg apartment all day and the telephone started ringing at 6 a.m.

The first caller apologized for phoning so early, but Blaiberg told him "not to worry, I was up at 5 a.m. after working until 3 a.m. on an article."

When Blaiberg returned from his swim, he received a special telephone call from New York, a long-distance news conference arranged by his publishers, who plan to run a second edition of his new book, "Looking at My Heart."

Blaiberg told New York reporters he will visit the United States in March or April and would have gone sooner but for cold weather and the Hong Kong flu epidemic there.

"All I'd need now is to get pneumonia," he joked. Asked by a New York reporter what he looked forward to in the United States, Blaiberg replied: "Like a school boy, I'd like to see the Empire State Building."

His publishers announced that Blaiberg had established a trust fund for Dorothy and Muriel Haupt, widow and mother of Clive Haupt, donor of the heart.

Haupt died of a brain hemorrhage. The Hauptes are Colored (mulatto).

Hong Kong Flu Epidemic in Iowa Expected to Reach Peak Shortly

DES MOINES — The Hong Kong flu epidemic in Iowa should reach its peak about the middle of this month, according to a state health official.

Dr. Arnold Reeve, chief of the State Health Department's preventive medical service, said Thursday the disease has been verified in most parts of the state.

"We have no yardstick to measure the number of people involved," Reeve said. "Absenteeism reports from schools and industries next week will be the best means to measure the disease's effect on Iowans."

One death has been reported that may be attributed to the flu epidemic, according to the Dubuque County medical examiner, Dr. Donald McFarland.

Merlin Delaney, 41, of Dyersville, died Wednesday night from what McFarland described as complications from Hong Kong flu.

Federal Taxes From Iowans Rise in 1968

DES MOINES — Federal tax collections in Iowa rose nearly $200 million in the 1968 fiscal year, the Internal Revenue Service said in a report Thursday.

Total tax collections in the state for the fiscal period ended July 1 reached $1,304,909,000, compared to $1,118,597,000 in 1967, the IRS said.

This represents a growth in Iowa collection of nearly $500 million during the past five years, the report said.

Corporation income tax collections were down from $225 million in 1967 to $207 million in 1968, but large increases were reported for individual income tax and estate tax collections.

Individual income taxes accounted for the largest share of the taxes collected in 1968 and 1967. They amounted to $1.03 billion in 1968, as compared to $840 million in 1967 and $615 million five years ago, the IRS said.

A total of $724 million in taxes was withheld from paychecks during 1968, an increase of $192 million over the previous year, and $344 million over a five-year period.

The IRS figures show that taxes not withheld and self-employment taxes totaled $302 million, an increase of only $1.2 million over 1967, but $176 million more than was withheld five years ago.

Tax collections for railroad retirement were down $620,000 to nearly $1.8 million in 1968, compared to $2.4 million in 1967. The total collected in 1963 was only $337,000.

Unemployment insurance collections have declined over the past five years, according to the IRS report. From total collections of $7.4 million in 1963, they fell to $4.6 million in 1967 and then rose slightly to $4.8 million in 1968.

Estate tax and gift tax collections have more than doubled during the five-year period. Estate taxes collected during fiscal 1968 amounted to $32.5 million, compared to $23.1 million in 1967 and $15.4 million in 1963.

Fulton In, Hughes Out As Governor

DES MOINES — Lt. Gov. Robert Fulton became Gov. Robert Fulton and Gov. Harold Hughes reverted to "citizen" status Thursday.

Fulton, a Democrat, was sworn in by Iowa Supreme Court Chief Justice Theodore Garfield as governor to serve out the remaining 14 days of the term of fellow Democrat Hughes.

Hughes resigned two weeks short of the end of his third term as governor so that he could be sworn in Friday in Washington as U.S. senator.

Garfield also swore in Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst, State Auditor Lloyd Smith, State Treasurer Maurice Baringer, Secretary of Agriculture L. B. Liddy and Atty. Gen. Richard Turner, all Republicans.

The swearing in ceremony took place before a crowd of the office holders' families, legislators, state employes, political party leaders and other well wishers in the governor's office.

Fulton will serve until Jan. 16, when Republican Gov.-elect Robert Ray will be inaugurated.

Teachers Ask Salaries Comparable to Industry

DES MOINES — Starting salaries for teachers should be comparable to those paid by business and industry, the Iowa State Education Association said Thursday.

Beginning salaries for certified school personnel "should be at least equal to that offered by other professions, business and industry for positions requiring similar responsibilities and educational background," the association said.

A survey shows that beginning salaries for college graduates entering business and industry at the close of the 1968-69 college year indicates that liberal arts graduates will receive $7,888 and business administration graduates will earn $8,016, according to Kenneth Wells, executive secretary of the association.

Foyt, Unser Dominate Racing Season

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — But Indianapolis 500 winner A. J. Foyt Jr. held onto his lead as the top United States Auto Club career money winner during the 1968 racing season.

A. J. FOYT

Foyt's 1968 winnings were $114,450, boosting his career total to $1,123,278. And that figure doesn't include income from driving contracts, tire and accessory contracts and appearance money.

Unser won $281,124 on the USAC championship circuit as the club's top money winner of 1968. Unser had five first, five second and one third-place finishes to become the championship circuit's champion.

Musial Tops Candidate List For Induction to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial, the former St. Louis Cardinal hitting star, is among five newly eligible candidates in baseball's 1968 Hall of Fame election now being conducted by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Musial, who retired after the 1963 season, is eligible under the ground rules that require a player to have been active within the last 20 years but inactive for at least five.

Writers, who have been members of the association for at least 10 years vote in the election. Ballots must be returned to Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer, by Jan. 20. Lang will announce the results Jan. 21.

Super Bowl Pilots View Game Films

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Super Bowl coaches of the Baltimore Colts and New York Jets think alike about those game films of the rival team he wants to study for the Jan. 12 meeting in Miami.

Coach Don Shula of the Colts will watch the Jets beat the Oakland Raiders 27-23 for the American Football League championship and New York losing 43-32 to the same team.

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets will see the Colts win the National Football League Championship 34-0 over Cleveland and lose 30-20 to the Browns in a regular season game.

Shula and Ewbank agreed to give the other coach his choice of four game films. Shula also picked the 34-15 triumph by New York over San Diego and a 27-14 victory over Cincinnati.

Ewbank's other two picks were Baltimore's 28-24 second conquest of Los Angeles and a 16-3 victory over Green Bay.

Stars of Bowl Games May Be Back Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlie Pittman, Cotton Speyrer and Chuck Dicus, some of the stars of Bowl Day 1969, are good reasons why Penn State, Texas and Arkansas could be back for Bowl Day 1970.

Ohio State's Rex Kern belongs in the same company after his New Year's Day performance. But the Buckeyes won't be going bowlward next year for one good reason. They can't under Big 10 Conference rules.

Kern, Speyrer and Dicus are sophomores and Pittman is a junior. All help point up an interesting aspect of Wednesday's big four college football bowl games — the teams with the most juniors and sophomores on the starting teams won.

Ohio State, with 7 juniors and 11 sophomores among the starting 22, defeated Southern California, which had 14 underclassmen.

Penn State, with 16, edged Kansas which had 8; Texas, with 15, whipped Tennessee, with 15; and Arkansas, with 15, stopped Georgia, which had 10.

Kern probably was the most outstanding youngster in the games, overshadowing a senior — Southern California's O.J. Simpson.

The Trojan All-America ran 80 yards for a touchdown and gained 171 yards over-all on 28 carries, but Kern quarterbacked Ohio State to the 27-16 victory bringing the Buckeyes from a 10-0 deficit with his passing, running, and all-around direction.

The big star of Penn State's 15-14 victory over Kansas was a senior Bob Campbell, but Pittman, a junior, gained 61 yards on 14 carries and scored the Lions' first touchdown.

Texas, 36-13 winner over Tennessee, got its two biggest plays from sophomore Speyrer and junior Jim Street, with Street throwing and Speyrer catching, they combined for two touchdowns covering 78 and 79 yards.

Arkansas also used 15 underclassmen, nine juniors and six sophomores. The big man in the attack was Dicus, who was named the outstanding player in the Razorbacks' 16-2 victory over Georgia after catching 12 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown.

Grant Says Vikings Will Be Up for Playoff with Dallas

MIAMI (AP) — Coach Bud Grant said Thursday he'd be surprised if his Minnesota Vikings don't play well Sunday against Dallas in the National Football League's Runners-up Playoff in the Orange Bowl.

The 41-year-old Grant rejected a popular conception that the players were flat for this annual game between the second place teams of the Eastern and Western Conferences of the NFL.

"I know we're not going to be flat, and I'm sure Tom Landry (Cowboys' coach) isn't going to let Dallas forget this is a football game," Grant said. "There is far too much pride among the players to let themselves down."

Grant, in his second year as Viking coach, directed his squad to the Central Division title, but lost the Western Conference Championship game to Baltimore, 24-14, at Baltimore two weeks ago. Dallas captured the Capitol division, then was upset by Cleveland in the showdown for the Eastern crown.

Grant explained why he thought Minnesota would play its best Sunday, even though the game might mean no more than money for the player pension fund.

Former Champion Baer Gets Award in Boxing

NEW YORK (AP) — Maxie Baer, the handsome California playboy-fighter who won the heavyweight crown in his first shot and lost it in his first defense, has been elected to boxing's Hall of Fame.

Baer, who died at the age of 40 in 1959, was the choice among the modern fighters announced Thursday.

Also selected by special committee were the late Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the former light heavyweight champion for the old-timers and Jacob Hyer, a claimant of the American heavyweight title in 1816, for the pioneer group.

There were 302 ballots from writers and sportscasters around the world in the modern class. Eligible were fighters who had been active during the previous 35 years and who had been in retirement for at least two years.

Baer, a strapping 6-3, 220-pounder, with a terrific punch, a zest for living and a distaste for training, gained his shot at the title by knocking out Max Schemeling in the 10th round in 1933.

LODGE KEEPS POSITION

NEW YORK (AP) — Hillel Lodge of Pala, Calif., has been elected to serve a fourth year as chairman of the men's track and field committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, it was announced Thursday by Jesse Pardue, AAU president.

The Daily Iowan SPORTS BRIEFS

HONOLULU (AP) — Three Southern California Trojans, battered but presumably unbowed, arrived from the Rose Bowl Thursday to augment the South forces for the 23rd Hula Bowl football game Saturday in Honolulu Stadium on what may be soggy turf.

Quarterback Steve Sogge of Southern California was a last minute addition to the South squad, which lost its scheduled signal caller when Bob Warrmack of Oklahoma was hurt in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Southern Cal's celebrated O. J. Simpson and end Bob Klein also flew in, about the same time as a tropical rainstorm that threatened to ruin an expected running duel between Simpson and Purdue's Leroy Keyes, of the North team.

The game will be televised live to the mainland via the Lani Bird satellite.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Dan Reeves of the Los Angeles Rams may be willing to bring George Allen back as head coach of the National Football League club.

That was the speculation Thursday, a week after Reeves unexpectedly fired Allen on Dec. 26.

Sports Editor Bud Furillo of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner wrote that he had learned Reeves was willing to take Allen back. The Times said it had learned from a "professional football source" that Allen may be rehired.

Reeves was not available and a Rams spokesman said the club had no comment on the reports.
