Possibility of War Against Egyptians Warned by Dayan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned Monday that Israel might mount an offensive against Egypt if the year-long battles across the Suez Canal cease-fire become too costly.

He said Israeli forces were coping so far with Egyptian shellings and commando raids along the canal, "but if the Arabs continue with this war, it is doubtful whether it will remain within the defensive framework."

"Even an army that does not want to take action may be forced to take the offensive under such conditions," he told a convention of B'Nai B'rith in Tel Aviv.

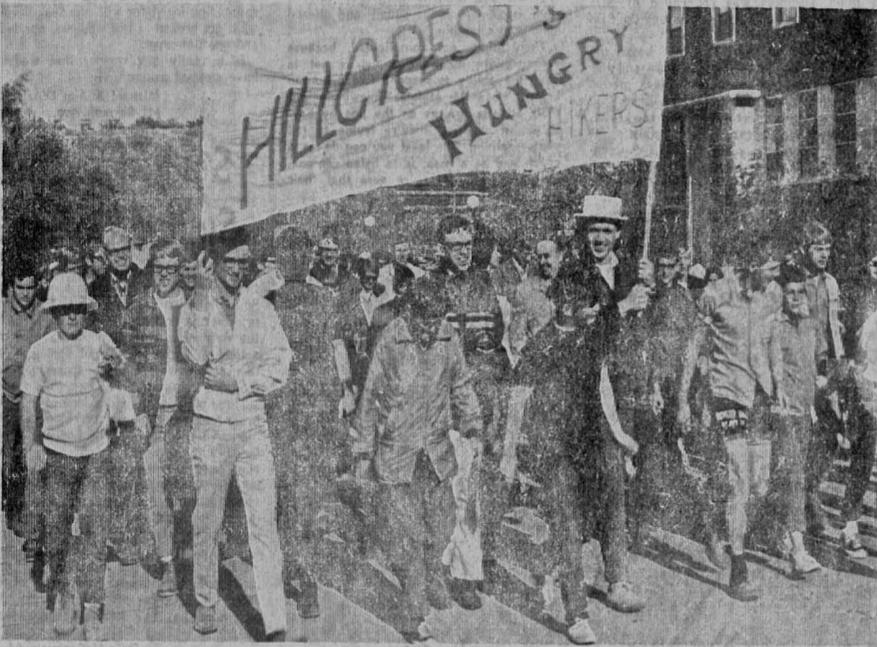

On another of Israel's troubled frontiers, Israeli and Jordanian artillery fought two duels Monday across the Jordan River cease-fire line north of the Dead Sea.

Dayan said Israel's problem was not its offensive capacity, but "to hold on and to entrench along the present cease-fire lines. We have to ask ourselves whether we can hold on under such pressures and daily losses, even if it takes years."

Dayan did not specify what form any Israeli offensive might take. Israel already has carried out two retaliatory commando assaults on Egyptian bridges and power stations in the Upper Nile Valley.

Reports of United Nations observers from the canal have blamed the Egyptians for starting more than half of the firefights that have broken the canal cease-fire almost daily since March 8. Israel has reported 29 of its soldiers killed and 58 wounded.

Egyptian riflemen fired six shots across the canal into the canopy of a clearly marked U.N. truck on Sunday near Quantara, a report received Monday at U.N. headquarters in New York said. No injuries were reported.

'Hike for Hunger' Raises $10,000

A 'Hike for Hunger' in Iowa City Sunday brought out approximately 1,500 rugged marchers, including this contingent from Hillcrest dormitory, who started a 27-mile trek at the Union at 8:30 a.m. Coordinator of the project, Steve Andrie, A.J. Cedar Rapids, said the group raised nearly $10,000. The money will go to the Iowa Migrant Action Program, a World University Service Scholarship program in Burundi, and the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation. Some 350 persons completed the entire route.

2-Day Conference Begins—

Moral Responsibilities Discussed by Scientist

By JERRY PINKHAM

"A better world for fewer children — that's my program, for America and for the world." This was the plea, not the program, of George Wald, professor of biology at Harvard University, as he spoke to a capacity audience of 600 in the Union Ballroom Monday night.

Wald was the first of several scientists to speak on the topic "The Scientist and Moral Responsibility" as part of a two-day conference here sponsored by the Graduate College and the departments of biochemistry, zoology, and physics and astronomy.

Wald said, "If you ask yourself questions in terms of what is best for children, you'll always come out with the right answer. Are ABMs (antiballistic missiles) good for children? You tell me. Are bigger nuclear stockpiles good for children? Are supersonic transports good for children? Are they're scared to death of them; they're not part of a child's world."

Wald said that the two greatest dangers facing humanity today are nuclear war and the population explosion. He called for birth control information and devices to be spread as quickly as possible throughout the world.

On abortion he said, "We should see to it that all over the world there are cheap, safe, and convenient methods of legalized abortion. Nowhere in the world should a woman have an unwanted child. And that needs to be done for the most humanitarian reasons."

Wald said it was not cold, inhuman logic behind his plea, but "just the opposite of that. It is precisely when one has the highest conception of the dignity and sanctity of human life and the necessity to care for children."

Wald was asked if he knew a way to get out of Vietnam, and he said that he did — "on ships."

Wald said that the Nixon administration's go-ahead decision on the ABM issue was based not on scientific or military values, but on economic factors. "Billion dollar contracts speak louder in Washington than all the combined efforts of the generals and the scientists," he said.

He speculated that President Kennedy long ago saw the danger of the great military-industrial complex. Wald speculated that Kennedy may have given the space program the priority he did because he knew that the military-electronic industry knew no product other than a war, and that space exploration could be a peaceful compromise.

Seminarians Put Faith on the Line, Seize a Building

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some students for the Protestant ministry were enlisted in the ranks of campus rebels Monday, occupying the administration building of Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

About 75 seminarians, mostly white, acted in support of black militant James Forman's manifesto demanding payment by religious groups of $500 million in reparations to American blacks. A spokesman called the demonstration interracial.

Union has about 650 students, among them 14 blacks, at the seminary on Broadway and 120 Street, across from Columbia University.

Nearby, City College of New York was operating under a new president, Joseph J. Copeland, who said "police will stay on the campus as long as they are needed."

Copeland succeeded Pres. Buell G. Gallagher, who resigned in the aftermath of three weeks of turmoil, that included arson. During the day, a small fire bomb was extinguished in an empty CCNY classroom before causing any damage.

CCNY demonstrators have demanded greater inclusion of black and Puerto Rican students in the 20,000-member student body, which now includes 4,500 members of minority races.

As uprisings continued on a number of other college campuses, Robert H. Finch, U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare, warned of a backlash against student rebels that could cost them "the things dearest to their hearts."

He cited state bond issues for education and the vote for 18-year-olds, and added: "There's a great danger Congress might overreact in the field of institutional aid."

Building Program For Regents KO'd

DES MOINES (AP) — A $174 million 10-year building program for Iowa's three state universities was knocked out cold Monday by the House Appropriations Committee.

The plan was submitted by the State Board of Regents at the request of the legislature.

In a bill yet to be signed by Gov. Robert D. Ray, the legislature gave the regents long term bonding power, subject to legislative and gubernatorial approval of 10-year and annual building plans.

When the Appropriations Committee rejected the 10-year plan, it decided not even to consider a biennial building proposal for which the regents estimated it would need to issue $16 million in funds.

"Why can't they take it a little easy?" asked Rep. Maurice Van Nostrand (R-Avoca).

In the 10-year plan, the regents listed an estimated $83.6 million in capital spending for the University of Iowa, $63 million for Iowa State University and $27.5 million for the University of Northern Iowa.

Those sums were broken down into specific allocations for various building projects.

But Van Nostrand complained that the legislators didn't know anything about the "cotton-pickin' buildings." He warned that if the legislature gave its blessings to the 10-year plan, the regents would be able to hold it over lawmakers' heads in the future.

"The way the plan is presented, it seems so meaningless," said Rep. Joan Lipsky (R-Cedar Rapids).

Rep. Andrew Varley (R-Start) said that, if the plan seemed meaningless, it was probably because the legislature had asked for a meaningless plan.

Rep. John Camp (R-Bryant) suggested the regents cut the estimates to make them more palatable to lawmakers.

Under the 10-year plan, the University of Northern Iowa would acquire a $2.4 million education building, $4 million library addition, $2.8 million classroom building, and a $3.6 million physical education center addition.

The University of Iowa would get a $5.5 million education building, $4 million health sciences library, $4 million social science building and a $4.5 million university laboratory school.

Mitchell Says He Gave Fortas Secrets to Warren

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed Monday that he gave Chief Justice Earl Warren secret government information on the affairs of Justice Abe Fortas.

That was the only solid development in a day abounding with rumors — and counter-rumors — that Fortas plans to resign in face of vague reports of new disclosures and clamor that he bare all of his out-of-court financial activity.

The justice himself maintained the silence that he adopted soon after his latest trouble erupted.

He issued a statement immediately after Life magazine said that he accepted a $20,000 payment from a charitable foundation set up by the family of financier Louis Wolfson, now in jail on securities law violations. The article said the fee was returned but not until 11 months after its receipt.

In his statement, Fortas acknowledged that a fee was proffered and returned but he did not say what sum was involved or how long the money was kept. He did deny any impropriety, said he never had used his influence as a judge in Wolfson's behalf and noted he disqualified himself when matters affecting Wolfson were before the court.

Mitchell told of his meeting with Warren in response to inquiries about a Newsweek Magazine story that the attorney general went to Warren on behalf of President Nixon and exerted pressure for Fortas' resignation.

"As a courtesy to the chief justice, I felt it incumbent upon me to inform him of certain information known by me which might be of aid to him," Mitchell said.

Nixon to Address Nation On 'Prospects of Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans a report to the nation Wednesday night "on the prospects of peace in Vietnam."

He is not expected to announce any major breakthrough in the Paris talks or any U.S. troop withdrawals.

It will be the President's first major speech on Vietnam since he took office. No time has yet been announced for the half-hour report which will be available for live television and radio broadcast.

Along with the White House announcement of the speech came word that Nixon conferred at length Monday with the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton Abrams, who flew to Washington for a fast-paced two-day round of consultations.

Nixon spent two hours Monday morning in talks with Abrams, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's special adviser on national security affairs.

Afterward, Nixon continued the discussion at a White House luncheon to which he invited members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

Abrams arrived in Washington Sunday and began talks with some top officials there.

It was Nixon's first session as President with Abrams.

According to presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, Abrams reviewed for Nixon the military situation in Vietnam. The review included, Ziegler said, enemy military activities, possibilities of new enemy offensive action, the state of training of the Vietnamese army — elements that relate to the level of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Club 'Violators' Aired by Council; No Decision Yet

The City Council discussed Monday what action should be taken on alleged violations of state liquor laws by five local private clubs, including the faculty Triangle Club in the Union.

The discussion came after the regular informal council meeting was adjourned.

City Atty. Jay Honohan told the council that public hearings on the status of the clubs would be held at 7:30 p.m., May 27. At that time, the council will decide on action to be taken against the clubs.

Charged with serving liquor to non-members without a commercial license in a city-wide crackdown on May 2 were: the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, 22½ E. College St.; American Legion Post 17, American Legion Road; the Eagles Lodge, Highway 1; the Loyal Order of the Moose, 114½ S. Clinton St.; and the Triangle Club.

Other charges were filed in connection with gambling, which state agents allegedly discovered at the VFW hall as they were checking for violations of the liquor law.

Honohan recommended that the council suspend the clubs' licenses for 30 days and then require them to purchase commercial licenses. It is unclear what action might subsequently be taken should a club refuse to obtain the commercial permit.

All five clubs are still doing business, but each has had to post $5,000 bond. The bond would be forfeited if licenses were revoked, but returned if they were only suspended.

Ramp Debt May Cause Trouble— Parking Plan Endangered

By DAVE COLLOGAN

A proposal calling for a peripheral parking lot-shuttle bus system will be forwarded to Pres. Howard R. Bowen by the Parking and Security Committee despite serious reservations on the part of one committee member.

Ray B. Mossman, business manager and treasurer of the University, said last week that "in my opinion, the committee is putting the president in rather an impossible position," by recommending the proposal as it now stands.

The problem revolves around repayment of money borrowed to finance the new General Hospital parking ramp. When the ramp was originally planned, it was thought that the structure could be bonded.

After construction was started, however, it was felt that bonds could not legally be sold on the structure. Court action was then started to settle the issue.

At that point, University officials appeared before the State Board of Regents and asked for approval to use funds which were then available in the Dental Building fund. This approval was given and $1,162,000 was borrowed to finance the ramp.

Mossman said that the money was borrowed with the understanding that it would be paid back out of parking revenues by the time the money was needed for work on the new Dental Building.

In the proposal which it is sending to Bowen, the parking committee is recommending that the "minimum amount possible be paid back next year."

This "minimum amount" is listed as $101,000 in the report. The committee proposed this to insure that there would be adequate funds available to maintain the parking system next year.

The committee also recommended that the University investigate the possibility of financing any future parking ramps with money other than parking revenue. At present, any improvements in the parking system are financed through parking revenues.

Mossman said the bonding question would be heard by the Iowa Supreme Court this June. If the ruling were favorable, there would be no problem with repayment since bonds could then be sold on the remaining debt, he said.

However, Mossman maintained that, if the court rules against issuing bonds and plans for the Dental Building go ahead as scheduled, there may be a problem of repaying the money by the time it is needed for construction.

At the present time, the parking fund has made one payment of $269,000 which reduced the debt to $893,000. The parking fund will pay back $223,000 before June 30, the end of the current fiscal year. This payment will reduce the amount owed to $670,000. The minimum payment of $101,000 recommended for next year would further reduce the amount owed to $569,000.

Present plans call for construction to begin on the new Dental Building this fall. Mossman said that it was not necessary for all of the money owed by the parking fund to be repaid by this fall but only by the time it is needed. Construction of the building is to take three years.

Mossman agreed that the committee should send the proposal to Bowen as it now stands, but he said he would inform the president of the possible difficulties involved.

The parking proposal had been approved by the committee at its meeting two weeks ago and last week's meeting was taken up primarily with ironing out some last minute wrinkles in the proposal prior to its forwarding to Bowen.

Happy 115th Birthday

Vote on Aid For Athletes Not Finished

The polling of the members of the Board in Control of Athletics is not yet complete on the matter of granting work-scholarships to the 16 black athletes dropped from the football squad.

"About two or three" board members, according to Sam Fahr, board chairman and professor of law, have not been contacted yet.

The proposed work-scholarship program would give the 16 blacks financial aid equal in amount to an athletic grant-in-aid. The work-scholarship would be worth approximately $2700, if next year's tuition increase goes through.

Institute to Hold Sundance For Indefinite Period of Time

By KAREN GOYD
David Grant Sundance, a University graduate student in English, has been admitted to the State Mental Health Institute at Mt. Pleasant for an indefinite period of time.

Sundance, originally from St. Louis, who now lives in Iowa City, was sent to the institute eight days ago for a 72-hour testing period.

He appeared at a sanity hearing here on May 4 after information was filed with Clerk of District Court Jerry Langenberg.

Under state law, a public institution to which a person is committed must decide during the three-day testing period whether the patient is in need of further psychiatric care. If the institution decides that further care is necessary, the patient is committed for an indefinite period, with the institute's doctors determining when he is ready for release.

Langenberg told The Daily Iowan at that time that the information was filed by Sundance's mother, Mrs. David M. Grant of St. Louis.

However, in a telephone interview Saturday, Sundance's father, David M. Grant of St. Louis, told the DI that the hearing had been held before Mrs. Grant was asked to sign the information.

He said Mrs. Grant had been asked to file the information on the "insistent demands" of Sheriff Maynard Schneider.

Sundance was serving the third day of a 30-day jail sentence for disorderly conduct at the time of his hearing.

Sundance and his wife, Barbara Schmulwitz Sundance, 44, Iowa City, pleaded guilty earlier that week to charges stemming from a "gate-crashing" incident in January and were sentenced to either 30 days in jail or $100 fines. They chose the jail terms.

Grant said that he had asked if it would be possible to pay his son's fine and let him return to St. Louis to be placed in a private institution.

However, Grant said that such a decision was up to the discretion of the judge — in this case Police Court Judge Marion Neely.

Schneider said Monday night that he had told Sundance's father that he would sign the information if Sundance's mother did not sign it. As a result, Schneider said, both he and Mrs. Grant signed the information — a legal complaint.

"I told Mr. Grant that it wasn't humane to hold him (Sundance) here," Schneider said.

Schneider said Sundance was in no condition to stay in the county jail, but did not elaborate. He said his office's usual procedure with prisoners deemed needing psychiatric care was to send them to Mt. Pleasant.

City Accepts $435,500 Bid For New Concrete Reservoirs

The City Council Monday awarded contracts on two new underground water reservoirs which will more than triple the city's present water storage capacity.

Preload Co., Inc., of Garden City, N.Y., was awarded the contract on the construction of two concrete, 2-million-gallon capacity tanks at a special council meeting. Preload's $435,500 bid was approximately $100,000 below the anticipated cost for the reservoirs.

Successful bidder on two new pumping stations to serve the new tanks was M. F. Goerd Construction Co. of Dubuque with a low bid of $231,811.

Although a bid $10,000 lower than Preload's came in on steel ground-level reservoirs, City Manager Frank Smiley recommended that the council accept the bid on concrete tanks. Smiley pointed out that, since concrete tanks require no painting or rust treatment, maintenance costs would be less than for steel tanks.

Councilman Robert Lind explained that he had told Sundance's father that he would sign the information if Sundance's mother did not sign it. As a result, Schneider said, both he and Mrs. Grant signed the information — a legal complaint.

Construction is expected to begin this summer on the tanks, which would be located on 200-by-200-foot landscaped areas off Sycamore Street south of Highway 6 Bypass and near the west-side fire station on Melrose Avenue. The pumping stations will be built adjacent to the new tanks.

A Round of Golf with Lee Trevino

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following article is reprinted from the July 30, 1968, edition of The Daily Iowan. Lee Trevino will again be in the field of professional golfers that will tee off June 23 in the second Amana V.I.P. golf tournament at Finkbine. The tournament is open to the public at $5 a person and ticket requests may be filed with the Department of Athletics' Ticket Office.

By MIKE EBBING
When a field of 28 professional golfers get together and you're a spectator, an immediate problem develops — should you tour 18 holes with one pro or should you try to see as many in the field as possible? Well, I chose the former alternative and followed Lee Trevino around the University's Finkbine Golf Course.

The event was the Amana V.I.P. Open and Lee joined other golf greats such as PGA winner Julius Boros and Masters champ Bob Goaly. Amana Refrigeration, Inc., rented Finkbine for the one-day tournament.

Trevino gained widespread golf fame June 16 when he won the U.S. Open with a 275 — which tied for lowest score ever shot in the Open, set last year by Jack Nicklaus. Also, he set an all-time record with his four sub-par rounds on the ever-demanding Oak Hill Country Club in Rochester, N.Y. The Open victory netted Lee $30,000.

Perhaps the reason I chose to stick with Trevino and ignore the rest of the star-studded field was that I wanted to find out what he was really like. His personality has often been summed up as friendly, likeable and ever-talkative. And just as sure as his reputation, Trevino lived up to his reputation.

I arrived at Finkbine about 10 a.m. and found that Trevino was first up on the tee. A gallery of about 50 of "Lee's Fleas" — a name which has been affectionately attached to his followers — left the No. 1 tee.

One of the first things that caught my eye was Trevino's golf bag. It was a monstrous thing with five red Dr. Pepper signs and the green word "Faithless" written across the front.

"It looks like a Christmas tree, doesn't it?" Lee said to one member of the gallery.

Trevino said he had a contract with both Dr. Pepper and Faithless — a company that manufactures golf balls.

"Each one of those Dr. Pepper signs is worth $40,000," said Trevino, "and that Faithless sign is worth about $100,000."

The 28-year-old Mexican-American never stopped talking and joking with the gallery.

After Lee's drive on the first hole, someone suggested that he measure his ball for distance. Amana was awarding prizes for the longest drive.

"I don't think I'll ever win any prizes for driving," laughed Lee. "Dewitt Weaver (often believed to be one of the longest hitters on the PGA tour) can hit a 5-iron farther than I can drive."

"But I always say: 'It's not how you drive; it's how you arrive.' I make all my money with my putter."

By the way, Lee had still not yet hit his second shot.

"I'll have to tell you more about this putter after I hit," said Lee. His shot landed on the green about 25 feet from the pin.

"I just bought this putter a couple of days ago from a lady at an airport," said Lee. "I saw it in her golf bag and decided I wanted that putter. It's a goose-necked brass head putter — the kind that they very rarely make anymore because brass is too expensive."

"Anyway, I offered the lady $20 for the putter and I think she thought I was nuts, but she agreed and I took the putter."

As Lee neared the first green, he mentioned the time he played a par 3 golf course with nothing more than a Dr. Pepper bottle and a golf ball.

Finally, Lee was quiet — but only for a while — as he lined up his putt.

A few seconds later, he quipped, "I've got to figure out how to get this birdie without cheating."

He had left himself about a 25-foot uphill putt and he spent considerable time lining up the putt. Instead of viewing his putt from directly behind the ball, he makes a complete circle around the green, observing every bump and groove of the green.

"My eyesight is not really that good," said Lee, "so that's why I make a circle around the green."

The technique seemed to work, however, as Lee confidently sunk his putt for a birdie.

Lee is always moving around when he's playing golf. In fact, on the second hole, his partner dug up some turf on his drive.

Lee said, "I'll get it" and he beat the caddy to the turf and replaced it himself. "I used to do this for a living."

Trevino made his debut on the pro tour in the 1967 U.S. Open. He finished fifth and won $4,000. Before that, Lee was a $30-a-week assistant pro.

After winning the Open this year, a sports writer asked Lee what he was going to do with all his money.

His answer was a typical Lee Trevino remark: "I'm gonna buy the Alamo and give it back to Mexico."

Lee was in great position for another birdie on the par 5 second hole — about 15 feet away.

As Lee walked onto the green, he said, "Never fear, Trevino's here."

A short time later, he nonchalantly tapped in his second straight birdie.

On the third hole, he was left with about a 25-foot birdie putt. He just barely missed it, lipping the cup. "Throw that ball out," said Lee after stroking the putt, "it's crooked."

I want to make one thing clear before I go any further — Trevino not only jokes with the gallery, but he also tries to answer any questions they may have on how to improve their golf game.

Here's a tip I picked up from Lee on the fourth fairway:

"When you tee up the ball, place it so you will hit it squarely on the name. This way you get better compression on the ball. A lot of golfers will just set the ball on the tee and they often hit it on the seam. This causes the ball to be egg-shaped and you lose quite a bit of distance."

Trevino also mentioned some of the funny situations he has had with the press.

"One time a sports writer came into the shower after a tournament and said to me, 'I've got about 15 inches to fill. Just talk to me.'"

"I said to him, 'Do you know shorthand?' I guess I talked for about a minute and he had enough for his story."

On the par 5 sixth hole, Lee was about 40 feet off the green in two shots. He yelled over to his partner, "I can get down in two."

Then he turned to the gallery and said, "I can get down in two out of a car with the windows rolled up and the doors locked. You see I'd just be in a convertible with the top down."

Trevino sank his birdie putt on the sixth hole — his fourth birdie in six holes.

"I made more birdies in the last six holes here than I made all last week," laughed Lee.

Trevino played in the Minnesota Golf Classic last weekend and had rounds of 72 and 74. He failed to make the cutoff for the third round.

"I enjoyed the short vacation," said Lee. "I went fishing in Indianapolis and caught one pretty good-sized northern. The critter even bit me." Lee held up his forearm demonstrating his bandage.

Word soon got around Finkbine about Trevino's hot golf game and about his friendly personality. There was a ring of more "Fleas" waiting around the sixth green when Lee came over the hill.

Later in the day, I counted about 175 to 200 "Fleas" gathered around Lee and not around him, because everyone crowded as near him as possible to hear some of his hilarious anecdotes. I saw the gallery following Julius Boros. It was a considerable number of people, but not near as big as Lee's.

Lee mentioned the time he was golfing with Sam Snead in San Antonio.

"The population down there is about 75 per cent Mexican," said Lee. "Sam hit a ball over near the crowd and he yelled 'Fore.' No one moved. I turned to Sam and said, 'They don't understand you. You've got to yell Quatro.'"

"On the next hole Sam hit to the right and yelled 'Quatro! Quatro! Quatro!' They scattered alright."

Lee said he thought that a lot of the golfers on the tour take the game too seriously.

"They can't understand how come I have so much fun. The others are always grumpy and complaining, but I have fun. I wake up in the morning — and feel myself to see if I have polo — and then I go out and play golf and have a blast."

It really amazed me how Trevino could talk so much to everyone, watch over his small son Rick and still manage to play a blazing round of golf — and I mean blazing.

Trevino toured Finkbine with a seven-under 64 — a round which included eight birdies. In fact, Lee broke the competitive course record of 65 set by Jim Jamieson, Steve Spray and John Bowman. Spray, a native of Indiana, has since turned professional. He finished in a five-way tie for second Monday with a 68.

Trevino was still talking about what a good deal he got on his putter after he finished his round.

I asked him, "I heard that lady's husband is out on the course today looking for you. He says he'll give you $50 for the putter."

"Who's the guy? Tell him I'll take him up on it," said Lee as he walked away.

That's the Way It Happened

U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino, who tied for third in last week's Texas Open, relaxes a bit from last year's Amana V.I.P. Open to chat with the gallery. Trevino amazed local golf enthusiasts last year with his pleasing personality and torrid golf. He broke the competitive course record after firing a seven-under par 64.

Hawks Battle Drake Today In Preparation for Minnesota

By TOM STARR
Iowa's baseball team will try to earn victories number 17 and 18 this afternoon in a doubleheader against Drake at Des Moines.

Coach Dick Schultz will start pitcher Jim Koering in the first game with Bill Hager getting the call in the nightcap. Jan Arthur (2-3) and Rick Mathews (1-3) are scheduled to be the starting hurlers for the Bulldogs.

BIG 10 STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct	GB
Minnesota	11	1	.917
Michigan	5	3	.625	4
IOWA	6	6	.500	5
Michigan State	4	4	.500	5
Illinois	3	5	.375	6
Wisconsin	3	5	.375	6
Ohio State	5	5	.500	5
Purdue	4	6	.400	6
Indiana	4	6	.400	6
Northwestern	1	9	.100	9

The Drake team, coached by "Spike" Potts, is 7-9 on the year. The Hawkeyes stand 16-19.

Iowa moved up to a third-place tie in the Big 10 standings over the weekend. (Minnesota is first with an 11-1 record; Michigan is next at 5-3; and the Hawks are now 6-6 and in a 5-way tie for third).

After splitting a doubleheader with Illinois on Friday, the Hawkeyes swept a twinbill from Purdue, 9-5 and 4-2, on Saturday.

Mike Wymore knocked in the winning runs in both ends of Saturday's doubleheader.

In the first contest, the Hawks scored one run in the first inning and four in the second to take a 5-1 lead. However, Purdue scored three runs in the third and one in the top of the fourth to tie the score.

Iowa went back to work in the bottom of the fourth and scored two runs with a double by Wymore and a single by Bob Rushe driving in the tallies.

The Hawks scored two more runs in the fifth to put the game out of reach.

In the first inning of the second contest, the first three Hawkeye batters, Dave Krull, "Stoney" Jackson and Gary Breshers collected hits. Jackson's double drove in Krull and a single by Rushe drove in Breshers thus giving the Hawks two runs.

The game was scoreless from that point until the Boilermakers garnered two runs in the top of the fifth to tie the score.

The Hawkeyes came back to score a run in the fifth and one in the sixth and blanked Purdue the rest of the way to take the victory.

Bucs Edge Giants, 4-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Al Oliver rapped a run-scoring single with two out in the ninth inning Monday night, boosting Pittsburgh to a 4-3 victory over San Francisco.

Manny Sanguillen started the Pirates going in the ninth with a one-out double, but he was thrown out at the plate when he tried to score on Richie Hebner's fourth hit, a single to right.

Wymore's single and a fielder's choice knocked in the final Iowa runs.

Jackson collected four hits in eight at-bats as he pushed his conference batting average to a torrid .444. Breshers is the second leading Hawkeye in the Big 10 with a .382 average.

Bruce Reid, credited with the victory in the second game Saturday, raised his Big 10 record to 2-1 to lead Hawkeye pitchers in conference victories. (His overall record is 5-3.) Reid's earned run average is also tops at 1.84.

Koering's 55 strikeouts leads that Iowa category. He is second in the ERA department with a 2.82.

Mike Klein (1-1) was the winning Hawkeye pitcher in the initial contest Saturday.

The losses dropped Purdue's Big 10 record to 4-6.

Iowa returns to conference action this weekend with a three game stint against Minnesota, the second ranked team in the nation. Only the first two games — both single nine-inning games Friday and Saturday — will count in the Big 10 standings.

Trackmen Lose to Gophers Despite 3 Presley Victories

Despite three victories by Bruce Presley, the Iowa track team fell to Minnesota in a dual meet here Saturday, 98-75.

Presley leaped 21-7 to win the long jump and came back with victories in the 120 high and 440 hurdles.

The Hawkeyes managed victories in only 8 of 18 events.

Rich Sundberg won the triple jump with a leap of 43-4, with Presley taking a second in the same event. Rich Gershenson returned to action after suffering a knee injury earlier in the season to win the pole vault with a height of 14-0. Dave Eastland took the mile run with a 4:16.6 effort. Carl Frazier swept the 440 with a :48.3 clocking. The mile relay team of Al Bream, Steve Dertinger, Mark Meyer and Frazier, easily won that event with a time of 3:18.5.

In what was expected to be a showdown battle in the 3000-yard steeplechase, Minnesota's Don Timm beat Iowa's Rollie Kitt who finished nine seconds behind the winning time of 9:20.3.

One track record was equaled in Saturday's meet. Minnesota's Tim Heikkila went 6-9 in the high jump to equal the mark set by Michigan's Clarence Martin in 1967.

The Hawkeyes finished over Purdue. Minnesota is now 2-1.

The Iowa track team now turns its attention to the Big 10 championship meet this weekend at Lafayette, Ind.

Commenting on his team's performance Saturday, Coach Francis Cretzmeier indicated he would be counting on individual performers in Saturday's Big 10 meet. Cretzmeier singled out Presley in the hurdles, Frazier in the 440 and Kitt in the steeplechase as having possibly a good chance of placing.

"We just haven't got any sprinters and that just wipes us out," Cretzmeier said.

Cretzmeier noted that Meyer returned to action after suffering an injury earlier in the season. Meyer ran the third leg on the winning mile relay team.

Ruggers End Best Season With Victory over Badgers

The Iowa rugby club finished its most successful season ever Saturday with a 6-3 victory over Wisconsin. The victory completed Iowa's sweep of the Big 3 of Midwest rugby, having previously beaten Chicago and Palmer College. Iowa finished at 9-2 with the only losses coming in tournaments.

Gary Warnock got Iowa's first score when he boomed a 60-yard kick, followed it up and carried into the end zone for a 8-0 margin.

Wisconsin came back in the second half with a penalty kick from under the posts. The Badgers then seemed to have picked up momentum but several good kicks by Rick Doty kept Iowa out of trouble.

Iowa's final score came when Tom Altmeier picked up Ken

Art Patrons Surprised By Size of Museum

Surprise at the spaciousness of the new Museum of Art was the impression most often expressed by Patrons of Art of the University and their wives when they saw the building's galleries Sunday.

At a luncheon in the Union preceding the Museum tour, some 350 persons heard Pres. Howard R. Bowen express the University's appreciation to the many donors to the fund which made the Museum possible.

In describing highlights worthy of special attention during the patron's visit to the Museum, Ulfert Wilke, director of the Museum, announced that the George Hickey mobile sculpture on the outdoor sculpture court will be a permanent installation as a partial gift from the artist, an alumnus.

Asked his impressions of the Museum during a tour of the building, Philip Adler of Davenport said he had been surprised by the way the Museum has developed as an appealing showcase for the Elliott Collection.

"It has blossomed as a beautiful setting for paintings," he added, then continued, "Once you're inside, the building has a surprising warmth for a place so spacious. The big sculpture court, which I thought seemed somewhat cold during construction of the building, has come to life and makes a striking setting for some of the University's major paintings. It also has fine acoustics for music."

The patrons heard a short concert in the sculpture court by the Iowa String Quartet.

Seven Films This Week

Well let us all be thankful, suppose, for small miracles. After what seems like an endless run of bad films the Iowa theater has booked a package of seven films for the coming week, one each day and some of them not bad at all. It may be a token gesture but that is probably the only thing we can expect from the Iowa City theaters.

At one film each day it will, of course, be impossible to review the package at the Iowa theater. I have, however, seen five of the features already and know something of the other two. So let this column stand as a brief run-down, more informational than critical.

• The program starts this Thursday with "Nothing but a Man." This is one of the two films I haven't seen, but it is one I've heard nothing but praise about. It is a story of a black couple in the south, shot on location with a strong documentary feeling, and characterized by the sincerity of its presentation and the fine performances of its cast.

• Friday's film is Joseph Losey's "Accident," with a script by Harold Pinter. This study of sexual rivalries among the teachers and students of a British university shows Losey's typical directional polish and Pinter's brilliant performance as the labor union head. See it if only for him.

• What we have then is clearly a mixed bag of films. You pay your money and you take your chance.

—Allan Rostoker

• Tuesday's film is Don Owen's fine film "Nobody Waved Goodbye." This Canadian feature about a boy and his girl in a time of adolescent rebellion, is characterized by a sense of real authenticity and intensity. Owen's direction is strongly improvisatory and the performances of Peter Kastner and Julie Biggs are models of accuracy and restraint. For my money the best of the week.

• Wednesday the program ends with "I'm All Right Jack," a British satire on industry-labor relations. The film is often funny, too often genteel in the worst traditions of British humor. The film's chief virtue is Peter Sellers' brilliant performance as the labor union head. See it if only for him.

• There are one or two fine scenes (most notably a dinner with all the principles in attendance) and a good deal of film and acid humor. Despite all this I dislike the film very much. The pace is sluggish, Losey's direction indulgent in its building up of mood and character. Pinter's script never comes to grips with the material and allows itself instead some stupid self-heavy caricature and "meaningful" violence. The performances of Dirk Bogarde and Stanley Baker are particularly memorable and that of Jacqueline Sasard as the woman they both desire memorably vacuous. "Accident" is very polished and quite phony.

• Saturday, "Morgan" makes another appearance in Iowa City, boasting David Warner's brilliant performance and a great deal of solid humor and pathos. The film's political dimension is never really worked into the texture of the film and Karel Reisz's direction is too hysterical and strained even for this manic a scenario. "Morgan" is a film of genuine energy and occasional inspiration.

• Sunday's feature, "Elvira Madigan," is strictly for the pretty picture lovers. Yes, the color is beautiful and the loca-

Parkinson to Be Featured With Band

Featured soloist with the University Symphony Band when the group presents its annual concert Wednesday will be William Parkinson, A4, LeMars. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Union Main Lounge. Free tickets are available at the University Box Office. Frank Piersol will conduct the concert, with Thomas Davis as assistant conductor.

Parkinson will play the oboe and English horn in Warren Benson's "Recuerdo," a three-movement suite written in 1968. The first and third movements are scored for solo oboe, while the second movement features the English horn. Of particular interest is the fact that the accompaniment for the first movement is for brass instruments; the second, for percussion, and the third, for the woodwinds. Parkinson is student of James Lakin, assistant professor of music.

Other works on the program will include "Concertino for Three Brass" by Floyd Werle, featuring John Beer on trumpet, John Hill on trombone and Ray Kruger, A4, Lone Tree, on tuba. Beer and Hill are both associate professors of music.

The Band will also play an arrangement of J. S. Bach's "Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor"; "March, Opus 98" by Prokofieff; "Designs, Images and Textures" by Leslie Bassett, and Hindemith's "Symphony in B flat for Concert Band."

Symphony Orchestra Closes Season With Concert of Highest Quality

Guest pianist Rudolph Firkusny joined the University Symphony Orchestra Friday evening for its final concert of the season, but the real star of the performance was the orchestra itself, not Firkusny.

Under the direction of James Dixon the 100-member ensemble gave its best performance this reviewer has had the pleasure to attend here in the last three years.

The evening started off with a brilliant reading of Hector Berlioz' "Cosaire Overture," a warhorse of the repertoire that did not seem battleworn Friday night, but led the musical forces marshalled behind Dixon charging into the ghosts of Gyorgy Ligeti's "Atmospheres."

"Atmospheres" main claim to fame is its inclusion in the soundtrack of the biggest cinema put-on of all time, "2001."

The plot of the piece is simple to describe: it begins softly, gets louder, and returns to the soft level at which it began. Along the way various vapors of sound are wafted before the audience, ranging from the sustained opening sound ("steady state") to a startling effect created by blowing unmodulated air through the horns (an effect that can easily be confused with the sound of dragging a chair across the floor).

In "Atmospheres" this listener was reminded of the electronic music crowd's cliché "If you want a clarinet sound, go hire a clarinetist," and wondered if Ligeti might not have dashed off this piece while his Moog Synthesizer was on the blink.

In describing the sound of "Atmospheres," one does not recall the strands of string sound or the peticello squeals or the scraping of piano strings, but the silences of the piece.

Seidman has an audience been as quiet as Friday's audience was, straining to catch each new tonal color as it emerged from the swell of sound.

Even at the end, instead of the usual arrogant applause of people who insist on starting the clapping before the final sound has died away, the audience was content to sit in silence for a few moments after the piece had ended — a practice that should be encouraged.

The orchestra excelled in Bela Bartok's suite from his ballet "The Miraculous Mandarin," the most complicated piece produced here all year.

Dixon led the group through a fantastic maze of changing rhythms and meters (quintuplets in 2/2 followed by quarter notes in 7/4), tempos (as many as seven different tempos in as many measures, or radically different tempos at various points in the measure), and realignment of forces (sometimes ten string sections instead of the usual five).

Notable in the suite was the performance of clarinetist David Heide, who displayed technical prowess.

It was as though he was performing the Beethoven Fourth Concerto using the composer's own cadenza in G for the God-only-knows-how-manyth time in another of those towns the airplane stops at, and where the audience won't care (or know) if he starts out the first movement a bit fast.

Things did improve for the second movement, a slow, dramatic one for piano and strings, and when the concerto was over, Firkusny returned to play Bedrich Smetana's Czech dance "The Bear" as an encore.

At last it was over, and some members of the audience gave the performers a standing ovation.

In April 1941 New York Times music critic Olin Downes visited Iowa City and hailed the University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by the colorful Philip Greeley Clapp, as "the best college orchestra we have heard anywhere in the country." If Downes could have heard Friday's concert, he would have confirmed his judgment.

The Blues
 FREE CONCERT BY OLD-TIME BLUESMEN
 On this Saturday night, May 17, the School of Letters and the Afro-American Studies Program will present a free concert by two of the original country blues singers, Yank Rachell and Shirley Griffith, both of whom learned their music in the South and now live in Indianapolis. Although now in their 60's they are still in full command of their considerable vocal and instrumental powers.

Rachell is probably the best mandolinist in the blues and is also known as one of the better country guitarists. He's been recording for some forty years, most recently on his own Delmark album. His greatest fame came as an accompanist for two blues legends, Sleepy John Estes and the first Sonny Boy Williamson.

Griffith has two albums on Prestige Bluesville and is one of the very finest country blues artists to record in recent years. An especially fine guitarist, he is a master of both the Mississippi blues of Tommy Johnson and the early city style of Leroy Carr and Scrapper Blackwell.

The two men will be featured on both acoustic and amplified instruments. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday in the court of the Art Museum and, again, admission is free. This should be a truly excellent event, providing a rare chance to hear the real old-time country blues at its best. Anyone who digs the blues, folk, or just good, honest music will want to be there.

Office of Education Awards 'Blatant' UI $7,800 in Fellowships

The University has been awarded $7,800 in fellowships for the 1969-1970 academic year under the National Defense Education Act, the United States Office of Education announced Monday.

The fellowships will provide funds for the study of foreign languages and related subjects. Two grants have been awarded to the University.

Students participating in the program will receive intensive training in foreign languages and such related studies as geography, history, and anthropology. More than 70 languages will be taught.

Now in its tenth year, the program was established in response to a need for specialists in foreign countries and languages. Since 1959, 14,642 fellowships have been provided.

Schools receiving fellowship funds will select qualified students who are preparing for careers in college teaching or for public service positions in government or nonprofit agencies. Students may be awarded both summer fellowships and grants for the academic year.

Each recipient receives about $4,500 for a year's study. This covers tuition, fees, maintenance, dependency allowances, and travel. The summer stipend is $900.

NIXON FINANCES REVEALED

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon has arranged to sell his New York apartment and purchase part of an estate at San Clemente, Calif., and his net worth now is $596,000, the White House announced Monday.

The White House announced Monday the property transactions and the status of the presidential finances.

Schwengel Says He'll 'Definitely' Run in '70

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) says he "definitely" will be a candidate for re-election in Iowa's 1st District, which serves Iowa City, next year.

Schwengel's Washington office said Monday he hasn't made any public announcement. But he made his intentions known in a letter to the Iowa City Press-Scout.

He'll Run for Re-election

State Sen. David Stanley (R-Muscatine), often mentioned as a possible candidate for Congress in the 1st District, said he hadn't seen the letter and "if he has decided to run again, that's his decision."

Stanley said, "I haven't made any plans beyond this General Assembly. I won't even start thinking about future plans until this session is over."

Page's Criticism Costs Him a Job

DES MOINES (AP)—A Senate page who expressed a low opinion of Iowa legislators has been forced to resign, informed state house sources reported Monday.

Peter Frantz, 18, of Des Moines, reportedly submitted his resignation to Carroll Lane, secretary of the Senate, during a closed door meeting between the two Monday.

Frantz was summoned to Lane's office after the Senate secretary saw a published interview in the Des Moines Register in which Frantz was quoted as saying that "three-fourths of the Iowa legislators aren't worth a damn."

Frantz was one of four persons asked to express an opinion on the legislative pay raise approved last Friday by the Iowa Senate.

The Iowa Legislature gave us nonprofit status... and a social conscience!

The two go hand in hand. The money we save by operating non-profitably made it possible for us to take care of people who had trouble getting and keeping commercial coverage.

And a lot of Iowans are grateful for that.

Time was when only persons in good health could get coverage.

Once, persons who left a group couldn't keep coverage on their own.

And there was a day when people were afraid to use their coverage for fear it would be canceled.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield changed all that. Our social conscience rescued many of those people through non-group membership, open enrollments regardless of age or health, no cancellation for use of benefits or age reasons, continued protection after leaving a group.

All of these good things happened because we were permitted to not make money.

TO THE GRADUATING COLLEGE SENIOR

Ever think you'd be good at selling life insurance? Mutual funds? Investment counseling? Or did you ever wish you could sell all three?

We're one of the few who is now in all three. And I'm ready to offer the right man an executive sales opportunity. Selling broad-spectrum financial planning to individuals and businesses. Representing a first-rate $3-billion company. With a training salary up to $1,000.00 a month plus opportunities for additional income. And prospects high in the five-figure range.

If this sounds like your thing, write Box 304, Daily Iowan. We'd like to hear from you.

Convict Makes 2nd Escape From General Hospital Ward

A convict from the maximum security prison at Ft. Madison escaped from a ward at General Hospital Monday for the second time within two months, but was apprehended by Iowa City police about 40 minutes later.

Jimmy Lee Lednum, 33, who is presently serving a 42-year term at the Iowa State Penitentiary for robbery with aggravation, auto theft and habitual offense, walked away from hospital personnel wearing prison blues, leg irons, handcuffs and a restraining belt. He had been brought to the hospital for a medical examination.

Iowa City police, hospital security guards, Johnson County Sheriff's deputies and the Iowa Highway Patrol searched the hospital and surrounding grounds for Lednum until he was finally discovered hiding in a room that houses air conditioning units on the roof of the 5th floor.

Lednum was the object of a four-hour search on March 18 when he escaped from General Hospital and was later found by police running across a plowed field near Butler Bridge, which is located on old Highway 218, north of Interstate 80. At that time, police fired several warning shots before Lednum stopped running and was arrested.

He is being held in Johnson County Jail until Ft. Madison prison officials take him back to the penitentiary.

ASSESSMENT BID BEATEN—DES MOINES — Rural elements in the Iowa Senate Monday successfully fought off a bid to retain equal assessment of all property for tax purposes.

Detroit Cop's Trial to Begin

MASON, Mich. (AP) — Selection of a 12-member jury begins today in the "Algiers Motel trial" of a former Detroit policeman. He is accused of murder in the slaying of one of three black youths during the height of Detroit's 1967 riot.

The defendant, Ronald J. August, 31, who is white, is charged with first-degree murder in the killing of 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, who died from a shotgun blast at close range the night of July 26, 1967.

A key question to be decided by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer before the trial gets underway is whether to admit into evidence certain statements which August reportedly made to superior officers before he was arrested.

Jury selection will be made in the state capital of Lansing, with the actual trial to take place at Mason, the Ingham county seat about 10 miles south of Lansing. Mason, a town of 4,500, was selected for the trial after defense attorneys argued that tensions were too high in Detroit to hold the trial there.

Two other suspended police officers, both white, and black private guard, and August, still face trial on a federal grand jury indictment charging conspiracy to violate the civil rights of several persons in the motel during the raid.

Pollard's body was found by investigators in the Algiers Motel annex along with two other black teenagers, Fred Temple, 18, and Carl Cooper, 17.

Police reports indicated at first that the three were killed in a gun battle between snipers and policemen assisted by National Guardsmen.

Subsequent investigation, however, showed that the victims apparently had been shot at close range.

Property Owners Irrate over Plans For Apartments

Property owners in the 14 square blocks bounded by Summit, Lucas, Governor and Dodge streets will present the Planning and Zoning Commission with a petition this afternoon, asking that the area be re-zoned to prohibit the building of more apartment houses.

The petition bears 163 signatures, representing some 80 percent of the property owners in the area.

The petition asks that zoning of the area be altered to allow only one-family houses and duplexes to be constructed. It states that noise, congestion, damage to one-family dwellings and declining property values provide the basis for residents' request to change the zoning.

The area presently has several apartment houses.

In other business, the commission is scheduled to work on the clarification of the location of two-family lots in the Oakwoods addition.

The commission will also discuss the re-zoning of the northwest lot on the corner of Clinton and Court streets, and will present plans for the Far Horizons Subdivision.

Workings of Legislatures Set For Scrutiny by Scholars Here

The workings of legislatures in the United States and Europe will be the topics of papers presented by 12 scholars at the Shambaugh Research Conference on Comparative Legislative Behavior May 26 to 30 here.

Summaries of the papers will be given in the Union Michigan Room, followed by discussion by other scholars. The conference, financed by the Shambaugh Memorial Fund and a National Science Foundation grant, follows the Shambaugh Conference on Judicial Research, held at the University in 1967.

Heinz Eulau of Stanford University will open the conference at 1 p.m. May 26 with a paper on "Legislative Systems in Comparative Perspective," and will be followed by Gerhard Loewenberg of Mt. Holyoke College discussing "Priorities for Comparative Legislative Research."

Peter Gerlich of the Institute for Advanced Studies in Vienna will discuss "Roles and Functions of Legislators and Legislatures: Comparative Notes from a Study of an Austrian Provincial Diet, the City Council of Vienna" at 9:30 a.m. May 27.

Eulau will speak on "A Partial Anatomy of Decisional Structures in Small Legislative Bodies," and John Brand of the University of Strathclyde in Scotland will discuss "Councilors, Activists and Electors: Democratic Relationships in the Scottish Cities" at 1:30 p.m.

John G. Grumm of the University of Kansas will give a paper on "A Test for the Existence of Feedback in Legislative Systems" at 9:30 a.m. May 28.

In another session, running from 8:11:30 a.m., papers will be heard from Mattei Dogan of Centre d'Etudes Sociologiques in Paris on "The Parliamentary Career in Paris"; and from Mogens Pedersen of Institut for Statskundskab in Aarhus, Denmark, on "Lawyers in Politics."

the Deviant Case of the Danish Folketing.

Henry Valen of the Institutt for Statsvitenskap in Oslo, Norway, will discuss "Continuity of Political Leadership in the Norwegian Storting," at 9:30 a.m. May 29 and papers will be heard from Pertti Pesonen of the University of Tampere in Finland and the University of Iowa on "Political Parties and the Finnish Eduskunta: Voters' Perspectives, Party Nominations and Legislative Voting"; and from Hans Daalder of the University of Leyden in the Netherlands on "Legislative Behavior in the Netherlands" at 1:30 p.m.

Prof. John C. Wahlke, chairman of the Department of Political Science and one of the conference coordinators, will speak on "New Directions in Legislative Behavior Research," at 10 a.m. May 30 to conclude the gathering.

The other coordinator is Samuel C. Patterson, professor of political science.

Evers Leads Black Assault On Politics in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights leader Charles Evers leads the first major black assault on municipal political power in Mississippi today since Reconstruction days.

An estimated 175 black candidates for posts in some 45 municipalities are on primary and general election ballots across the state, with blacks seeking the mayor's job in a dozen cities in addition to the all-black town of Mound Bayou.

Evers, state field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been a leader in efforts to register blacks as voters and to persuade blacks to seek office. He is a candidate for mayor of the southwest Mississippi town of Fayette.

"I want to be mayor of Fayette," Evers said. "I want to prove black men can work with white men, that we can run the kind of community all the citizens need."

He said some blacks were supporting his opponent, veteran Mayor R. G. Allen, and he declined to predict victory, although the town has 448 black voters and only 275 white voters.

However, he said, he felt blacks would make strong showings in a number of municipalities.

Black candidates also are announced in Jackson, Marks, Moorhead, Sunflower, Woodville, Laurel, Lexington, Tchula, Kosciusko, Canton and Priors Point.

Apollo to Make Color TV Flight

NEW YORK (AP) — The world is scheduled to see the first live color television from space next week when Apollo 10 flies to the moon.

Up to three hours of live television, which is more than any previous flight, will be transmitted during the eight-day voyage of the spaceship after blastoff at 11:49 p.m. (Iowa time) Sunday.

All but one of the 11 transmissions planned from the Apollo will be in color. They will be 10 to 20 minutes each, with one scheduled for 40 minutes.

Viewers should be able to see the lunar module separate from the Apollo for the first time to descend to within 50,000 feet of the moon's surface. The module will not carry a television camera.

Jim Kitchell, executive producer of space coverage for NBC, describes this as "the television flight" of the Apollo series.

Reception, even on black and white sets, is expected to be greatly improved by use of a new 7 1/2-pound color camera manufactured by the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

THINGS and THINGS and THINGS
PART 2

Up 'til now, the hardest thing to get used to about Contact Lenses was the price.

Now instead of $150 or more, you can get prescription-perfect contact lenses for $75 at Morgan Optical, with no extra charges.

That $75 price includes as many return visits as may be necessary to ensure wearing comfort. And no sacrifice in quality has been made to achieve this low price; Morgan's Mini-Con brand contact lenses are made to the most exacting tolerances, with quality checks at every step.

Success with contact lenses depends to a high degree upon the desire of the wearer. It'll take you a certain length of time to get used to wearing contacts. We can't change that.

But we've made it a lot easier to get used to paying for them.
