The black manifesto

Editor's Note — On April 27, 1969, James Forman shocked America by appearing before the congregation of an all-white church in Detroit and read the manifesto appearing below in which he demanded $500 million from religious organizations for past injustices to black people in this country. Due to much public interest in the contents of Forman's statement The Daily Iowan is today printing the first of a multi-part series in which the Manifesto will be run in full.

Part I
 We the black people assembled in Detroit, Michigan for the National Black Economic Development Conference are fully aware that we have been forced to come together because racist white America has exploited our resources, our minds, our bodies, our labor. For centuries we have been forced to live as colonized people inside the United States, victimized by the most vicious, racist system in the world. We have helped to build the most industrial country in the world.

We are therefore demanding of the white Christian churches and Jewish synagogues which are part and parcel of the system of capitalism, that they begin to pay reparations to black people in this country. We are demanding $500,000,000 from the Christian white churches and the Jewish synagogues. This total comes to 15 dollars per nigger.

This is a low estimate for we maintain there are probably more than 30,000,000 black people in this country. $15 a nigger is not a large sum of money and we know that the churches and synagogues have a tremendous wealth and its membership, white America, has profited and still exploits black people. We are also not unaware that the exploitation of colored peoples around the world is aided and abetted by the white Christian churches and synagogues.

This demand for $500,000,000 is not an idle resolution or empty words. Fifteen dollars for every black brother and sister in the United States is only a beginning of the reparations due us as people who have been exploited and degraded, brutalized, killed and persecuted. Underneath all of this exploitation, the racism of this country has produced a psychological effect upon us that we are beginning to shake off. We are no longer afraid to demand our full rights as a people in this decadent society.

We are demanding $500,000,000 to be spent in the following way:

- We call for the establishment of a Southern land bank to help our brothers and sisters who have to leave their land because of racist pressure for people who want to establish cooperative farms, but who have no funds. We have seen too many farmers evicted from their homes because they have dared to defy the white racism of this country. We need money for land. We must fight for massive sums of money for this Southern Land Bank. We call for $200,000,000 to implement this program.
- We call for the establishment of four major publishing and printing industries in the United States to be funded with ten million dollars each. These publishing houses are to be located in Detroit, Atlanta, Los Angeles, and New York. They will help to generate capital for further cooperative investments in the black community, provide jobs and an alternative to the white-dominated and controlled printing field.
- We call for the establishment of four of the most advanced scientific and futuristic audio-visual networks to be located in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Washington, D.C. These TV networks will provide an alternative to the racist propaganda that fills the current television networks. Each of these TV networks will be funded by ten million dollars each.
- We call for a research skills center which will provide research on the problems of black people. This center must be funded with no less than 30 million dollars.
- We call for the establishment of a training center for the teaching of skills in community organization, photography, movie making, television making and repair, radio building and repair and all other skills needed in communication. This training center shall be funded with no less than ten million dollars.
- We recognize the role of the National Welfare Rights Organization and we intend to work with them. We call for ten million dollars to assist in the organization of welfare workers in this country so that they may demand more money from the government and better administration of the welfare system of this country.
- We call for $20,000,000 to establish a National Black Labor Strike and Defense Fund. This is necessary for the protection of black workers and their families who are fighting racist working conditions in this country.

• We call for the establishment of the International Black Appeal (IBA). This International Black Appeal will be funded with no less than $200,000,000. The IBA is charged with producing more capital for the establishment of cooperative businesses in the United States and in Africa, our Motherland. The International Black Appeal is one of the most important demands that we are making for we know that it can generate and raise funds throughout the United States and help our African brothers. The IBA is charged with three functions and shall be headed by James Forman:

- (a) Raising money for the program of the National Black Economic Development Conference.
- (b) The development of cooperatives in African countries and support of African Liberation movements.
- (c) Establishment of a Black Anti-Defamation League which will protect our African image.
- We call for the establishment of a Black University to be funded with $130,000,000 to be located in the South. Negotiations are presently under way with a Southern University.
- We demand that IFCO allocate all unused funds in the planning budget to implement the demands of this conference.
- In order to win our demands we are aware that we will have to have massive support, therefore:
- We call upon all black people throughout the United States to consider themselves as members of the National Black Economic Development Conference and to act in unity to help force the racist white Christian churches and Jewish synagogues to implement these demands.
- We call upon all the concerned black people across the country to contact black workers, black women, black students and black unemployed, community groups, welfare organizations, teacher organizations, church leaders and organizations explaining how these demands are vital to the black community of the U.S. Pressure by whatever means necessary should be applied to the white power structure of the racist white Christian churches and Jewish synagogues. All black people should act boldly in confronting our white oppressors and demanding this modest reparation of 15 dollars per black man.
- Delegates and members of the National Black Economic Development Conference are urged to call press conferences in the cities and to attempt to get as many black organizations as possible to support the demands of the conference. The quick use of the press in the local areas will heighten the tension and these demands must be attempted to be won in a short period of time, although we are prepared for protracted and long range struggle.
- We call for the total disruption of selected church sponsored agencies operating anywhere in the U.S. and the world. Black workers, black women, black students and the black unemployed are encouraged to seize the offices, telephones, and printing apparatus of all church sponsored agencies, and to hold these in trusteeship until our demands are met.
- We call upon all delegates and members of the National Black Economic Development Conference to stage sit-in demonstrations at selected black and white churches. This is not to be interpreted as a continuation of the sit-in movement of the early sixties but we know that active confrontation inside white churches is possible and will strengthen the possibility of meeting our demands. Such confrontation can take the form of reading the Black Manifesto instead of a sermon or passing it out to church members. The principle of self-defense should be applied if attacked.
- On May 4, 1969, or a date thereafter, depending upon local conditions, we call upon black people to commence the disruption of the racist churches and synagogues throughout the United States.
- We call upon IFCO to serve as a central staff to coordinate the mandate of the conference and to reproduce and distribute en masse literature, leaflets, news items, press releases and other material.
- We call upon all delegates to find within the white community those forces which will work under the leadership of blacks to implement these demands by whatever means necessary. By taking such actions, white Americans will demonstrate concretely that they are willing to fight the white skin privilege and the white supremacy and racism which has forced us as black people to make these demands.

The struggle

By BERT MARIAN
 Despite the official approval of the AFL-CIO and its support, despite the recent attempts of the Teamsters Union to organize the Grape Pickers, despite the formation of a legally constituted Union bargaining agent for grape workers, despite the grape picker's strike and international grape boycott, grapes still appear on the shelves of all major food stores in the Iowa City area.

Leafleters stood silently outside Eagle's food store last week while inside, California grapes were on sale to the Iowa City public. These grapes carefully removed from their boxes arrived via truck — driven by union personnel.

The issue in the grape strike and boycott is the right of a person to organize, to protect himself against unfair labor practices, to gain fairer contracts regarding wages and pesticide control. Yet, here in Iowa City, the unions stand silent — having received gains for themselves over the years, they now avoid joining with their brothers who are asking the same rights for themselves.

The boycott is working, however, despite Union silence and the tacit support of those people who buy grapes. U.S. Department of Agriculture figures report a drop in prices for grapes, the shipping of only 60 per cent as many grapes as last year from the recently struck Coachella area — the same area where Star Wholesale Co. receives its grapes. Other areas are more effectively closed down. Grape growers admit to at least a $2 million dollar loss last year. But they can afford to hold out — they are millionaires and under tremendous pressure from Farm Bureau and other agribusinesses to stop the union.

For the farm worker, the trump card against such pressure is the boycott. According to growers in the Delano-Coachella-Indio area of California, the boycott has brought about the recent bargaining talks with ten of them. Other grape growers, such as Martin Zanovich, John Giumarra and Mike Bozick, state emphatically that the union must be destroyed as it is an "outrage to decency in what we loosely call a civilized era."

According to Juanita Brown, the United Farm Worker's Organizing Committee's (UFWOC) coordinator for the international boycott of table grapes, "The boycott is our best non-violent weapon to convince these feudal minded barons to sit down and negotiate."

Interestingly enough the Nixon administration refuses to certify the strike since it claims that Ronald Reagan's administration has authority in this matter. Such certification is necessary to stop strike breakers from crossing over from Mexico. Reagan's investigating teams have, however, never talked with the grape pickers, relying instead on information supplied by the growers.

Further the military has increased its purchase of table grapes over the past year — coinciding not with the increase in troops which took place in 1965-1966, but with the beginning of the grape boycott in 1967. Last year the military bought more than one half million dollars worth of grapes for export to Vietnam.

All of us have a moral obligation to help. The opposition to UFWOC is really based on disapproval of the attempt of Mexican and Filipino Americans and migrant workers to organize for a better life. Only ten of the growers are negotiating — and they admit that the boycott has brought them to the bargaining table. Please continue to help — BOYCOTT GRAPES! Speak to the Managers of the stores in which you shop! Despite what they say, the managers do have the power to remove grapes from the stores. If grapes remain, please do not buy them!

All in the name of peace

By ART BUCHWALD
 WASHINGTON — The only one I know who isn't excited about the upcoming moonshot is an American Indian friend of mine whom I'll call Joe.

Joe showed me a picture the other day of the plaque which the astronauts are going to leave on the moon which said, "We came in peace..."

"That," said Joe, "is what they said to us about 400 years ago. We've been taking it on the chin ever since."

"Things are different now, Joe. The space program is specifically designed for peaceful exploration."

"That's because they're certain no one is on the moon. I wonder what would happen if they knew there were tribes of moon people?"

Joe continued: "If the treatment of the American Indian can be used as an example, this is what would happen: 'The first astronauts would land and express feelings of warmth and friendship for the moon people. They probably would bring gifts with them to give to the moon people, and the moon people would give them gifts in exchange. The astronauts would ask permission to set up a base on the moon for scientific study, and since there were only three of them, the moon people would agree. They would allot them several acres near the Sea of Tranquility.'

"With this base of operations, more and more people would start coming to the moon — first scientists, then tourists, then businessmen looking for ore and oil. The earth people would need more land and would start pushing out from the Sea of Tranquility with housing and moon farms. 'The moon people would protest that they had only agreed to a small settlement on the Sea of Tranquility and that the earth people were encroaching on their land.

"The earth people would call for troops to protect them from the hostile moon people, and the air cavalry would be sent up to the moon to protect the settlers."

"The moon people would decide to push out the settlers, but due to lack of fighting equipment, they would be thrown back. Finally, a peace treaty would be signed with the moon people, promising them all the land beyond the Sea of Fertility, in exchange for letting the earth people settle on the Sea of Tranquility."

"But in 20 years, the earth people would discover that there was water under the Sea of Fertility; so despite the treaty, they would force the moon people out of the Sea of Fertility. In exchange, the earth people would give them all the lands facing the earth on the Sea of Crises, for their sons and their sons and their sons for time immemorial."

"Then in a few years they would discover gold under the Sea of Crises, and they'd send in the cavalry to move the moon people who were left after the fighting was over to the Ocean of Storms. This would be given to them in perpetuity for as long as the moon revolved around the sun."

"But then they'd discover natural gas in the Ocean of Storms, and they'd make all the moon people pack up and move to the other side of the moon so the earth people wouldn't have to look at their poverty."

"If what you say is true, Joe, we are indeed fortunate that there is no life on the moon," I said. "But I can't understand why you're so uptight about it."

"There's been some talk about taking over our reservation for a resort area, and the last rumor was that they're going to make it up to us by giving us the same amount of land on the moon."

Disinterested posture

By DICK GREGORY
 In issuing a joint statement on the new school desegregation policy, HEW Secretary, Robert Finch and Attorney General John Mitchell stated that the Nixon administration is not interested in "striking a pose" with regard to civil rights. Since the 1960 television debates with the late John F. Kennedy, Nixon has had rather pronounced posing problems and, like it or not, his recent civil rights decisions have not escaped the watchful lens of a concerned black community.

"Promise them anything but give them apathy" seems to be the Nixon slogan for civil rights enforcement. What began as a hopeful sign of Nixon's recognition of his responsibility to the minorities of this nation has now deteriorated into a shallow charade of words rather than deeds.

GREGORY

In presenting package legislation to expand the 1965 Voting Rights Act, Attorney General Mitchell told a House judiciary subcommittee, "We have come to the firm conclusion that voting rights is no longer a regional issue."

Months earlier, Secretary Finch had made headlines even in black newspapers by announcing a cutoff of federal funds in certain Southern school districts refusing to comply or negotiate concerning desegregation programs.

And even the joint statement of the new Nixon desegregation policy recognizes the non-regional reality of massive, nationwide racial discrimination. It said: "Racial discrimination is prevalent in our industrial metropolitan areas. In terms of national impact, the educational situation in the North, the Midwest and the West require immediate and massive attention."

These were heartening words to me personally, since I had written to President Nixon back in March urging him to recognize that discrimination in housing, education and voting is not a Southern problem and to act firmly upon that recognition.

But where my own words might coincide with those of the Nixon administration with regard to the problem, we do not speak the same language in prescribing the cure.

With regard to voting rights, the Nixon formula correctly authorizes the Attorney General to dispatch voting examiners and observers anywhere in the nation. Whereas earlier legislation was aimed at seven Southern states, the new proposal redefines Southern voting problems as "South of the Canadian border." But the proposed Nixon legislation covered its forward step by a giant step backward.

The present law requires states to get the approval of the Attorney General before changing any local voting laws and procedures. The Nixon proposal would leave it to the Attorney General to uncover any significant changes and take action to stop them if in violation of civil rights. That's like lifting the ban on murder and then sending the Attorney General and his staff around to see if there are any potential murderers on the loose.

The real answer lies in the area of completion rather than compromise. What applies to seven Southern states should apply to the United States, and urban polling places should be flooded with federal authorities until corruption stops. The Nixon stand on school desegregation moves beyond compromise to absolute insult. It finds desegregation guidelines meaningless, the use of pressure offensive, and respect for the Constitution, namely the authority of the Supreme Court, outdated.

The Nixon policy says it intends to hold Southern school districts to the September, 1969, deadline for desegregation except for those with "bona fide educational and administrative problems." That certainly leaves the door wide open for another fifteen year delay in implementing the 1954 Supreme Court decision. Of course there will be educational problems in school districts where inferior educational conditions for blacks have been official policy.

Of course there will be administrative difficulties in handling deep white resentment and hostility. The real question is whether or not bigotry has ever been "bona fide." It's like saying lynching will be outlawed when the economic and administrative problems of dispensing with the excess rope supply have been ironed out.

President Nixon has struck a pose indeed. Though not his professed intention, he is posing as the symbolic leader of a conservative, right wing majority in this nation. He has gone beyond paying a campaign debt to the South and has chosen sides, even, in the words of Roy Wilkins, "breaking the law" in his choice. No doubt his choice was fortified by the election returns in Los Angeles, Minnesota and New York City.

The choice is ill-advised. Call it human nature, or whatever you will, even the most blatant bigot does not want his President to be a bigot. That nostalgic dream of freedom and democracy which lingers somewhere in the heart of every American seeks to ascribe purity at least to the office of the President.

President Johnson recognized this and changed his former ways with regard to domestic matters. His problem was Vietnam and it cost him his job.

Nor will black America tolerate the Nixon posture. It is one thing to harrass Black Panthers, to put down campus militants, and to insist that minority Americans behave themselves. It is quite another thing to deny another generation of black children their right to quality education.

President Nixon might escape massive judgment from the black community when he attacks some of the brothers, but he will not survive an obvious attack launched against the brothers' kids.

Education, the government and you

Possible Increase in GI Educational Benefits

A bill raising veterans' educational allowances about 27 per cent was approved unanimously by the House Veterans' Affairs Committee on July 10. The bill, HR 11959, also increases the subsistence allowances paid to disabled veterans taking educational and vocational training.

Under the legislation, the monthly "GI bill" allowance paid a single veteran attending college full time would be raised from the present $30 to $160. The monthly allowance to veterans with one dependent would go from $155 to $197; for two dependents, from $175 to $222. The allowance for each additional dependent would be raised from the current $10 to $13.

Proportionate increases would be provided for veterans taking three-quarters-time, half-time or cooperative education courses.

Changes in Draft Law Unlikely for Next Year

A survey of Senate and House sources has indicated that there is little chance Congress will act this year on President Nixon's proposals for Selective Service reform. The Washington Post reported July 6.

The Post quoted a staff member of the Senate Armed Services Committee as saying "There will be no action on the lottery this year. Hearings, maybe, once the Administration sends up a really detailed description of its lottery plan, which it hasn't done, but no action."

The ABM issue and other military matters are occupying committee time in both houses, the newspaper reported, to the extent that action undoubtedly will be deferred until next year for consideration of the current draft law which expires in 1971.

The newspaper also reported, "Several sources said the Nixon Administration is not really pushing very hard right now on the lottery."

Education Committee Shelves Student Unrest Bill

The House Education and Labor Committee has abandoned a month-long attempt to draft legislation dealing with student unrest on the nation's college and university campuses.

By a vote of 18-17, the committee on July 1, sent back to its Special Subcommittee on Education a bill to require colleges, as a condition of receiving federal aid, to certify that they had adopted or were preparing standards of student and faculty conduct and appropriate disciplinary procedures.

This action, in effect, killed the bill since the subcommittee which conducted lengthy hearings on campus disorders, had been unable to agree on any bill before the issue was referred to the parent committee early in June. Voting to recommit the bill to the subcommittee were 17 Democrats and one Republican, Rep. Ogden Reid (N.Y.). Voting against recommitment were three Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Before recommitting the bill, the committee voted 19-16 for an amendment by Rep. William A. Steiger (R-Wis.) to strike from the bill Title I, which required colleges to file the certifications. Steiger said this requirement would create "a Federal presence on the campus much different than any heretofore."

Before the vote, Rep. William J. Scherle (R-Iowa) warned that if the bill were weakened, "on every vehicle I'll be there (on the House floor) with amendments, and I guarantee they'll pass."

Scherle already has sponsored two House-approved amendments denying interest subsidies for academic facilities and for college housing loans to any college not in full compliance with the anti-riot provision of the 1968 Higher Education act.

Job Offers to B.A.s Up, Study Shows

College recruiting at the bachelors degree level for the school year rose to an all-time high in 1968-69, according to Helen M. Barnes, coordinator of Placement Services for the University.

The total number of offers to B.A.s and B.S.s reported in this year's survey increased 11 per cent over last year and 9 per cent over 1966-67, the former peak year.

Offers at the masters and doctoral levels continued to decline, however. Masters degree holders had 35 per cent fewer offers than they did in 1967-68 and 41 per cent fewer than two years ago. The volume of doctoral job offers fell 31 per cent from last year and were 43 per cent under 1966-67.

high salaries necessary to recruit persons with graduate degrees. She said that employers recruited competent bachelors at lower salaries whenever possible.

Accounting majors with bachelors degrees received the largest increases in beginning salary offers. They had a monthly average starting salary of $761 — a gain of 10.4 per cent over 1967-68 and 19.5 per cent since 1966-67.

Dollarwise, chemical engineering, at $849, received the highest average monthly starting salary.

The average for all technical majors with a bachelors degree rose 6.8 per cent to $819, while the average for non-technical students, helped by the sizable accounting increase, advanced 8.2 per cent to $711.

Most graduates with higher degrees received dollar increases that approximated those on the bachelors level even though the average number of job offers from employers declined in the past two years.

These facts were among the findings of a nationwide salary survey conducted quarterly by the College Placement Council. The University was one of 135 colleges and universities that participated in the survey.

The information was based on actual offers that were made to male students at the bachelors, masters and doctorate degree levels.

Miss Barnes said that job offers dropped because employers wanted to avoid paying the Reservoir officials have opened flood gates partially, and the water is dashed out of the reservoir with such force that spectators Martha Cain, G. Newport, N.H., and John Thein, G. Water that doesn't get absorbed by spectators' bathing suits soon finds itself 5 miles downstream along the Iowa River, at the Mayflower's front door. Local Strike On Concrete Continuing Teamsters of Local 238 remained on strike against the three Iowa City ready mix plants Monday since union and company officials failed to agree on terms for a new contract.

Union pickets Monday were at Iowa City Ready Mix, Inc., Central Ready Mixed Concrete Co. and Johnson County Ready Mix. About 40 men from Local 238 are on strike.

Picket lines were established at the three plants last Thursday. The Teamsters and the companies have been negotiating over a new contract since April 30.

Union and company officials said Monday that they had no comment on the strike.

Drivers are asking for a $4 an hour wage, which is an increase of 90 cents an hour over the old contract.

George L. Horner, University architect, said Friday that if the strike lasted longer than a week or 10 days, some University building construction would be delayed. He said that construction of the new Music Auditorium, construction of the Recreation Building and remodeling of the Field House would be affected the most by a tie-up in concrete deliveries.

UI Professor Urges Look At Swedish Sex Education

"There is a popular attitude among the Swedes that the teaching of sex is effective. If that is so, then perhaps we might learn something from them that could be used in our schools," says Robert Belding, professor of comparative education.

Belding, a former "accompanying professor" for American students at the University of Oslo, in Oslo, said in a recent interview that Sweden is a sex education innovator.

"Although the American educational system, in general, has admittedly served as the basis for Sweden's system since World War II, their approach to sex education is more open and perhaps more honest than ours," Belding said.

"It is too early to evaluate the results of the Swedish treatment of sex in their schools," he said.

The amount of premarital sex relations, the cases of venereal disease and the number of illegitimate babies and the divorce rate have risen in Sweden.

"But," Belding said, "it is difficult to compare the successes and failures of their program at this point with those of our 'birds and bees' approach."

In Sweden, sex education is compulsory for all school age children. With a centralized ministry of education — the Central Board — there is more standardization and direction of curriculum than in the United States, Belding said. The Swedish government produces a single coordinated set of textbooks, unlike the U.S. competitive textbook publishing.

The Board has stratified the teaching of sex according to age and grade, says Belding.

Formal sex education is introduced in the first grade to 7-year-olds. Handbooks for 7- to 9-year-olds tell the children about their parents' roles as father and mother, where babies come from and physical differences between the sexes.

For 10- to 13-year-olds — the intermediate grade children — teachers discuss the male and female reproductive organs, menstruation, pregnancy and childbirth, and what happens emotionally and physically during puberty.

Between the ages of 14 and 18, students study in greater detail the sexual organs and reproduction. They discuss nonsexual aspects of social behavior, venereal disease, deviant sexual behavior, impotence and frigidity.

Swedish sex education does not stop at age 18.

"Swedes are world famous for their popular adult education. In fact, the Russians and others have learned much from Sweden in this area," said Belding.

The government sponsors textbooks, lectures, pamphlets and conferences that deal with parental instruction in the home. It is emphasized, for example, that the father and mother in their relations are an example for the child.

Belding said teacher-parental communication on sex instruction is good. The Central Board advises teachers to communicate with the parents about what the children have been told. This communication is done in conferences between the parents and teachers.

Belding said Sweden's honest, although imperfect, approach to sex education deserves close study.

He said, "We tend to be impatient in solving our own educational problems, so we should not forget that the Swedish program is in a tender stage and, in many ways, has not been proven to be either effective or ineffective."

Russia Tries To Beat U.S. To the Moon

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — Dr. Werner Von Braun said Monday it is "a reasonable guess" that Russia's Luna 15 is racing to beat the Apollo 11 astronauts in collecting samples of the moon's surface.

The unmanned Soviet craft is in a "slow trajectory," Von Braun told a news conference, which indicates the aim might be a landing mission to scoop up moon dust and rocks and return them to earth before the Apollo manned landing scheduled for July 20.

But Dr. George E. Mueller, the space agency's associate administrator for manned space flight, said he considers the chances the Russian effort would succeed as "relatively low" compared to the Apollo mission.

Thieu Seeks Vote To End Viet War

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu appealed to the Viet Cong leadership Monday to take another look at his proposal to settle the war in South Vietnam through elections.

In a statement issued after a sharply negative response by the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government, Thieu asked enemy leaders to reconsider their stand and to give a final reply in the Paris peace talks.

Police Beat

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Iowa City Police Beat often yields innuendoes and human interest stories that, unfortunately, do not make the pages of The Daily Iowan. Police Reporter Bob Vinton, who works closely with the local law enforcement officers, encounters such stories daily in his work. It is Vinton's intention to share some of them with DI readers, in his Police Beat Column, which will be run every Tuesday from now on.

By BOB VINTON

A series of thefts involving boats have been reported in the county recently, according to Sheriff Maynard E. Schneider.

Two of the thefts were reported at the 218 Marina, North Liberty.

The boat's owner, Bruce Bedell, 1010 W. Benton St., told Police Beat that he was informed that sometimes stolen boats are repainted, given a new license number and resold.

The other theft at the Marina involved boat accessories belonging to Harry Gaskill, Cedar Rapids. The sheriff's report stated that the accessories, a 10-horsepower motor with a generator, a gas tank and a battery, were taken June 28 from a pontoon boat moored at the Marina.

A boat belonging to Willis M. Bywater, 2501 Potomac, was stolen from the Iowa River bank near his cottage, according to the sheriff's report. The boat had been chained and locked to a tree about 1/2-mile upstream from the Butler bridge, on old Highway 218. It was reported taken sometime between July 2 and 4.

Someone played a nasty trick on Gary F. Seamans, 1100 Arthur Ct., over the July 4 weekend. Seamans reported to police that someone took all the lug nuts off the rear wheel of his car and removed all but one of the lug nuts from the other rear wheel.

When Seamans backed out of his driveway, one of the rear wheels fell off. One can imagine the consequences if this incident had happened at 60 miles an hour.

A 3/4-inch steel ball was shot through the front plate glass windows of two Iowa City businesses sometime Wednesday evening, according to police.

Police said a steel ball was shot through the window of Aero Rental, 810 Maiden Lane, and traveled 40 feet before bouncing off a door. They said it caused damages of $200.

A large steel ball was also shot through the window of the Pizza Palace, 302 E. Bloomington St., according to police. They said the ball traveled 24 feet and then bounced off the walls. Damages were reported to be $150.

Both incidents were reported to police on Thursday morning.

A man has been charged with failure to yield the right of way by city police after a car-truck accident Thursday evening at the intersection of Dubuque and Benton Streets.

Robert J. Slotterback, 909 Walnut St., was charged after the car he was driving pulled into the path of an oncoming truck at about 7:50 p.m. The truck was driven by Howard E. Douglas, 630 Walnut St.

Police said Slotterback was westbound on Benton Street at the time of the accident. He had stopped for the stop sign at the corner of Benton and Dubuque Streets before pulling into the path of Douglas, who was northbound on Dubuque Street.

Police estimated damage to Douglas' truck to be about $350. The damage was to the right front portion.

Slotterback's car had damages estimated to be about $250. The damage was to the left front portion.

No one was injured in the accident.

The tailpipes were taken from an Iowa City man's Volkswagen sometime the evening of July 7 while it was parked in his driveway, according to police. Thompson, who lives at 2219 E. Court St., reported the theft the following morning.

Holiday on eyes

This summer, when you go off on a holiday, why not give your eyes a holiday too? It's hard to have fun when you have to go around squinting all the time because of bright sunlight and glare.

Instead, come to Morgan Optical and get yourself a pair of prescription sunglasses. At our prices they're not a luxury you can't afford; they're a necessity you can't afford to be without.

We charge the same for prescription sunglasses as we do for our regular glasses... which is a third to half less than the cost of comparable glasses at most other optical companies. And we guarantee that they will be prescription-perfect. You can take them back to your own eye doctor for verification.

Wouldn't it be worth $12.95* or so to slip on a pair of restful tinted glasses... and enjoy the outdoors this summer?

January Projected Deadline for University's New Rec Building

By JIM HARRIS
The new Recreation Building should be ready for full use by next January, George Horner, University architect, reported last week.

The projected date for completion of the structure had been early fall but, due to the great amount of rain Iowa City has been hit with, that deadline has been forgotten and late January is now a more realistic date for the building's completion.

Horner predicted that the construction cost of the Recreation Building would be about $2 million.

The building has been criticized by student, faculty, and leaders of staff organizations because, in their opinions, the building is destined to become an athletic facility although it is being completely financed through student funds.

Students will pay a $3.50 fee per semester for the next 40 years to pay for the Recreation Building, administration officials said.

Before resigning as intramural director last January, James Otto Berg stated that men's intramurals would be unable to use the building because the floor plans were designed for sports events and not for recreation.

Bob Flora, assistant director of athletics, explained recently that the new building would complement the Field House by providing space for both athletics and recreation.

"The new building is designed to take some of the athletic programs out of the Field House," Flora said, "thus allowing more recreation area in the Field House."

He said that lockers for the football, baseball and track teams would be moved out of the Field House and into the Recreation Building. This transfer would free more lockers for recreational use in the Field House.

The Recreational Building will have two levels. The top level will be used for athletics and recreation and the lower level will consist mainly of lockers for athletics.

The top floor will measure 190 x 330 feet and will be encircled by a six-lane, 1/8-mile track.

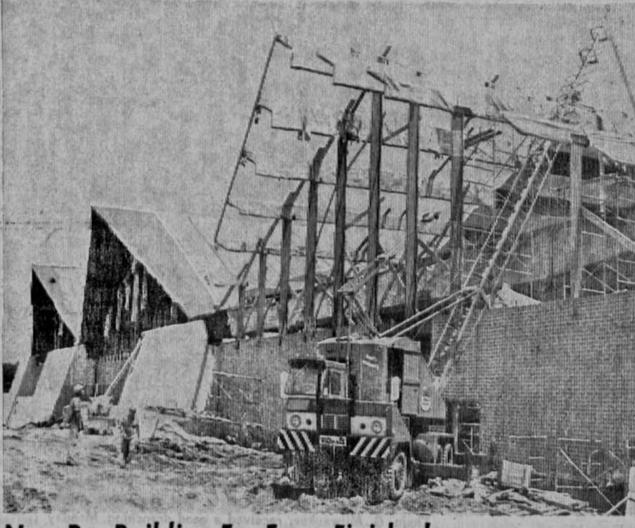

The track will be covered by synthetic turf 3/8 of an inch thick. The 3/8-inch thickness will be ideal for trackmen with spiked shoes, Flora said.

The track will be separated from the infield by netting, which will run along the inside of the entire track.

No definite plans have been drawn up yet for recreational activities, Flora said.

The track will have a radius of 60 feet compared to the 55 feet radius of the track in the Field House. The increased radius will be more conducive for intercollegiate track competition, Flora said.

A regulated constant temperature of 65-70 degrees will be much more comfortable for athletics and recreation than the present temperature

New Rec Building Far From Finished—

The University's new Recreation Building, pictured above in its construction stages, should be ready for use by next January. The projected date for completion had been this fall but poor weather during the summer and spring has hampered work on the building. The structure has been a center of controversy since its planning stages because many University organizations believe that, although student fees will pay for the building, it will become an athletic facility.

set-up in the Field House, which varies from hot to cold, Flora said.

There will be 150 men's and 120 women's lockers for recreational use in the new building. There will be, however, no permanent storage of equipment in the Recreation Building, Flora said.

"I think the students are getting a good building for their money," Flora said. "Coupled with the Field House renovation, there will be a lot more opportunities for recreation."

Namath's Solution In Court: Philbin

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. — Defensive end Gerry Philbin, the New York Jets' other restaurant owner, said Monday he thought the issues involved in the Joe Namath case could only be resolved through legal proceedings.

"I tend to think the whole thing will end up in a court procedure," Philbin said. "That would seem to be the only way to settle it. I've talked to some lawyers about what you could do in a similar situation. It's the only logical step."

"If I thought I was innocent, like Namath obviously does, I would pursue that course."

Philbin, however, is not under fire. He has an interest in the Gold Post, a quiet suburban restaurant in West Amityville, N.Y., frequented by couples who have left the children at home with a babysitter.

Namath, however, is under fire. He has an interest in Bachelors III, a swinging midtown restaurant on the East Side of New York City, frequented dominantly by singles looking for action and, according to pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle, by gamblers.

Rozelle, therefore, ordered Namath to sell his interest in Bachelors III. Namath refused and announced his retirement while maintaining he was not guilty of any wrongdoing.

Now the suspicion has arisen that he may seek his day in court.

"That, says Philbin, is what he might be forced to do in a similar situation."

"My restaurant's in a different area, but I still associate with people," Philbin pointed out. "Namath is supposed to be guilty by association. That's a decision that can only be upheld in court. I can see where it can happen to me and I would have to pursue that course."

The theory being advanced at the Jets' camp is that Namath, who Sunday called Coach Weeb Ewbank and indicated he might report Tuesday night or Wednesday, will eventually show up and renounce his retirement.

As he still will be one of the proprietors of Bachelors III, Rozelle supposedly will have no recourse but to suspend him. Namath then will take his case to court, charging in an anti-trust suit that he is being deprived of an opportunity to make a living.

Rozelle to Meet Jets On Namath Situation

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. — Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle has accepted an invitation to discuss the Joe Namath situation with Namath's New York Jets teammates, player spokesman Johnny Sample said Monday night following a team meeting.

Sample, the Jets' defensive captain, said the players have requested that Rozelle visit the club's training camp and speak to them, and that the commissioner has told Coach Weeb Ewbank he will come later in the week.

advertising contributed for the public good

"Weeb talked to the commissioner today or yesterday," Sample said, "and he told Weeb he was going to come out here to talk to the team."

"At least, that's our understanding."

"We don't want him (Rozelle) to send no secretary or no FBI man. We want him."

Sample, a veteran defensive back, spoke to newsmen following a 20-minute meeting of the Jets' Super Bowl veterans in a meeting room below the locker room at the club's training base.

No rookies were invited to the session and Ewbank, who was invited, did not appear.

"Weeb said he's going to wait until the commissioner comes," Sample said.

Namath announced last month he was quitting football rather than sell his interest in a New York nightclub, as ordered by Rozelle, or face suspension because unsavory characters were frequenting the place.

Armbruster Swim Honors to C.R. And Rock Island

Cedar Rapids Boys and Rock Island Girls walked off with team honors in swimming this past weekend in the seventh annual Dave Armbruster Swim Meet held at the City Park pool.

Cedar Rapids, which also captured first place in the diving competition, amassed 253 points in the boys' division to far outdistance runner-up Iowa City with 181 1/2.

Rock Island girls had an easy time of it by almost doubling the total of second place Iowa City in the girls' division, 280-149 1/2.

The top three teams in diving were Cedar Rapids with 49, Cedar Falls with 26 and Vinton with 18.

The meet is sanctioned by the Iowa AAU and co-sponsored by the Swim Club Parents Association and the Iowa City Recreation Commission.

Ann Full and Dan Citek paced the individual efforts for the Iowa Cityans. Each won two events and placed third in another.

Citek won the 11-12 boys' 100-yard freestyle and the 100-yard backstroke. He finished third in the 50-yard freestyle.

Miss Full won the 13-14 girls' 400-yard freestyle and the 200-yard individual medley. She also grabbed third place in the 100-yard freestyle.

Cathy White of Iowa City set a state record in winning the girls' 50-meter breaststroke in the time of :41.6.

Ann Redig won the 50-meter freestyle for 11-12 girls and finished second in both the 100-yard freestyle and the 50-yard breaststroke.

Bill Buxton took first place in the 11-12 50-yard breaststroke. Bruce Rollins won the senior men's 100-meter freestyle and Terry Riley finished best in the boys' 13-14 200-yard breaststroke for other Iowa City first places.

The 200-yard freestyle relay team for boys 11-12 composed of Roger Richardson, Larry Riley, Bill Gay and Bill Buxton won their event.

The 11-12 boys' 200-yard medley relay team of Terry Allen, Richardson, Buxton and Gay also finished first in that event.

The Iowa City Senior Girls team of Debbie Stamp, Leslie Davidson, Marcie Mauseth and Miss Full won the 800-meter freestyle relay.

Mikan Quits ABA Position

NEW YORK — George Mikan announced his resignation Monday as commissioner of the American Basketball Association (ABA).

Mikan advised the league's board of directors of his decision at the start of the league's two-day meeting. His decision was based on the fact that the league's headquarters are being moved from Minneapolis to New York.

Mikan said he believes the ABA should have New York headquarters "but my home is in Minneapolis. My family is there, and I have other business interests there that demand my presence.

"Rather than attempt to serve the league as a commuting commissioner, I have decided to step down."

Mikan was an All-America basketball player at DePaul and later starred for the Minneapolis Lakers of the rival National Basketball Association.

ABA president James C. Gardner of Rocky Mount, N.C., announced that Thurlio E. McCrady, assistant commissioner, will head the league's New York office under the new title of executive director. Lee L. Meade, public relations director, also is making the move to New York.

McCrady formerly was a coach and athletic director at Hastings, Neb., College and South Dakota State. He was director of athletics at Kansas State for six years.

McCrady served also as an assistant to Commissioner Joe Foss in the American Football League from its inception in 1959 until its merger with the National Football League.

Meade joined the ABA in 1967 after serving as sports editor of the Denver Post.

Seaver Outdueled By Cubs' Hands, 1-0

CHICAGO — Billy Williams' run-scoring single in the sixth inning Monday broke Tom Seaver's scoreless spell and sent the first-place Chicago Cubs to a 1-0 victory over the New York Mets before 37,473 at Wrigley Field.

The victory increased the Cubs' lead over the Mets to 5 1/2 games in the National League's East Division.

Seaver, who hurled a one-hit shutout against Chicago in New York last Wednesday night, ran his streak of scoreless innings against the Cubs to 18 before they finally struck.

With one out in the sixth, Don Kessinger dropped a bunt single in front of the plate and took second on a hit-and-run as Glenn Beckert bounced out.

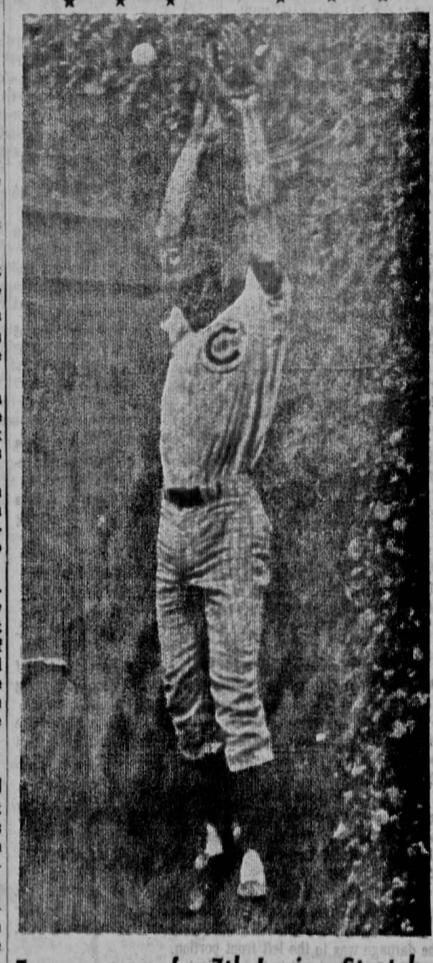

Williams, the hottest hitter in the Cub lineup with 11 hits in 19 previous at bats, then drilled a single into left center to score Kessinger.

Billy Hands, 11-7, who recorded Chicago's only victory in the New York series last week, got out of a couple of jams in the early innings and received credit for the win. He was relieved by Phil Regan with two out and one on in the ninth.

McLain Left Arm Ailing
DETROIT — Detroit pitching star Denny McLain is being treated for a circulation problem in his left arm, the Tigers reported Monday.

McLain, 13-5, remained in Detroit when the rest of the team left Monday for a four-game series at Washington.

The Tigers said McLain was being treated as an outpatient at Ford Hospital for what was described as a superficial phlebitis inflammation of the left arm. He is a right-hander.

Everyone up for 7th Inning Stretch

Chicago Cub leftfielder Billy Williams stretches for a drive off the bat of the New York Mets catcher J. C. Martin in the seventh inning of Monday's game at Wrigley Field. The ball bounced off the wall for a double but the first-place Cubs went on to win the contest, 1-0. — AP Wirephoto

Children to Protest 'No Pets' Regulation

In an effort to save their pets from eviction, children of University married students from the barracks are planning to parade at 11 a.m. today outside the University housing office located in Gilmore Hall.

The children plan to parade with their dogs, cats, goldfish, hamsters and turtles.

The parade will be called "A demonstration of love or a public pet show of affection," according to Steve and Barbara Haisman, University graduate students, who organized the parade.

The Haismans — residents of Templin Park and the owners of Becky Beagle — received word from housing officials three weeks ago that someone had reported their pet and that they would have to find her a new home.

The Haismans are asking that the University modify the "no pet" clause in housing leases so that married students can decide for themselves whether they wish to have pets.

They feel could more easily be inserted.

This proposed version includes:

- Small and medium-size breeds of dogs, cats, and caged and tanked household pets be allowed in barracks parks, if owners follow the pet guidelines.
- Dogs and cats should be confined, as city ordinances provide, within the apartments, within the yard, on a leash or under verbal control, out of reach of small children. These pets should be under veterinary care, having all required and recommended vaccinations by April each year.
- They suggested also that pets have health and identification tags so residents' pets could be sorted from strays.
- Owners should walk their pets outside the park, and clean up pets' excrement inside the park.

Complaint procedure would be as follows:

- The problem of an offensive pet should be resolved by a personal direct request directed to the owner. If the offended resident prefers an official complaint, he should inform the park's pet mediator, who would inform the owner that the pet must be removed.
- If a specific offense is repeated, the offended resident should inform the park's pet mediator, who would inform the owner that the pet must be removed.
- If necessary, the pet mediator could call the city animal shelter.

The Haismans said, however, that these were only suggestions and that each barracks park should set up its own guidelines for pet regulations.

The Haismans' original suggested modifications in the clause asked that "Small, well-mannered household pets be allowed in Templin Park. If a resident's pet bothers a neighbor or a workman, a one warning will be given. If a pet is still a nuisance, the lessee agrees to remove the pet or move within thirty days."

However, after a meeting with housing officials and University Vice Provost Philip Hubbard last Tuesday, the Haismans decided their modification of the clause would be difficult for the University to insert into housing leases.

Last week they set up a more detailed modification which

Boyd to Decide on Monies for Field House

By KAREN GOOD
Recent investigations into Field House renovation expenditures have resulted in a decision by University President Willard Boyd to personally authorize any further use of student monies for the project, George Chambers University assistant Vice Provost said Friday.

Before Boyd's decision last week, all expenditure decisions were made by Bob Flora, assistant director of athletics and the University business office.

Chambers said the decision was made because Boyd felt it would be an "administratively sound move."

Boyd made the decision after reviewing a report by Chambers which itemized the use of student money for the renovation.

Chambers' report, done with University Business Office Assistant Manager Mike Finnegan, showed that former administrative reports on the expenditures had been misleading.

Former reports had stated that only $332,000 of the designated $700,000 in student monies had been spent on the renovation. However, Chambers found that only $86,047, the contingency fund for the project, had not been spent.

Chambers explained that the contingency fund was a safety measure to insure that the University had funds for any last minute project expenditures.

Chambers added that before any expenditures were approved by Boyd, the Recreation Advisory Committee (RAC) would see and comment on the plans.

The RAC members have complained that they have not been

Frank Booth consulted on recreation plans. Chambers' report was done after a discussion during a RAC meeting in June. Chambers is administrative liaison to the committee. At the meeting, two student members of RAC, Frank Booth, G. Columbus, Ohio, and Jim Thompson, G. Coralville, said they had checked with business office officials and had learned that the $332,000 figure was incorrect.

They said they would like to see an itemized listing of the project's expenditures of student monies.

They also said they had seen blue prints of renovation plans for the Field House and did not feel all the $700,000 was being used for recreational expenditures.

Although Chambers' report, which was distributed to all RAC members last week and is itemized below, shows that the $332,000 figure was incorrect, he noted on the report that, in his opinion, the expenditures are being spent correctly in line with the "original intent of the project."

The Board of Regents, when allocating the $700,000 at their meeting on May 8, did not say that the money had to be spent solely for recreational purposes.

However, Booth said Friday the administration and the regents were wrong in allocating student monies for purposes which did not help satisfy student recreational needs.

He said several expenditures in the Chambers' report would benefit only athletics.

He cited as examples the portable bleachers which are used during basketball games; the wiring which will be used for varsity basketball floor lighting and the replacement of bleachers in the north and south balconies of the Field House.

The bleacher replacement did not appear in Chambers' report, but Chambers said Friday that the bleachers were part of a project begun after he finished his report. He said that he thought the cost of tearing out the old bleachers was being paid by the Athletic Department.

Booth said he thought replacing the bleachers with student monies was "ridiculous" in view of the fact that students still have to pay to see basketball games and any entertainment groups which perform there.

He also said the plan seemed ridiculous in view of current administrative plans for future Field House renovation.

The current Field House renovation is phase I of a five-phase plan which, according to administrative reports, is to provide more recreational facilities for students.

The four other phases of the program include: completion of a $2.1 million Recreation Building currently being constructed northwest of the Field House; construction of a recreational swimming pool for which plans have not yet been completed; construction of a Sports Arena currently in the planning stages and a second Field House renovation to be started following the completion of the other projects.

During the second Field House renovation, present plans are to construct a second floor 25 feet above the current Field House ground floor. The second floor would provide space for additional recreational facilities.

If the second floor is built, Booth said that the balcony seats would have to be torn out again.

The Chambers' report said that in a Jan. 3 analysis of the five-phase plan to the Board of Regents, University Pres. Howard R. Bowen stated that the building fee was not exclusively for recreation.

In a memorandum distributed last week to RAC members after seeing Chambers' report, Booth said that Bowen's report "was like reading from the Bible. You can find any quotation in the Bible to support your viewpoint."

Booth said his grievances were not with Chambers whom he said was one of the few administrators who was trying to clear up the present situation.

However, Booth noted that in the Jan. 3 report, Bowen stated that "the premise underlying the present program (the five-phase program) was that funds available should be used primarily for projects which expand and improve recreational facilities for students."

Booth, who has been a year-long critic of using student fees to finance the Recreation Building, still commenting on Chambers' report, said that although the $5.3 million structure "technically expands and improves recreational facilities for students, we all know that building is Athletic's Building."

The Recreation Building is being paid for with a student fee of $3.50 per student per semester. However, Chambers told the RAC in May that the building, upon completion of the Sports Arena, would become an athletic facility.

Booth said he "wrongly assumed that money over the $5.3 million spent on Athletics would be totally spent on recreation since the program's stated objective was to improve recreation."

It is still not known exactly how much student monies will be used to finance the Field House renovation according to Finnegan. The principal on the renovation is $700,000 and there will be interest on the bonds which will both be paid by student fees.

However, Finnegan said Thursday that the bonds for the renovation had not been let. He did say however that probably when the bonds were let it would be for a period for 40 years.

Presently the University is collecting $1.50 per semester from each student for the project.

At an interest rate of 5.5 percent — the interest rate on the bonds for the Recreation Building — Finnegan said the project's total cost would be $1.7 million.

Booth noted in his report that the only recreational benefits he could see coming from nearly $6.5 million in student fees being spent were 10 handball, 66 basketball, 9 badminton and 3 volleyball courts now being constructed in the Field House.

Booth criticized Chambers' report for not breaking down in detail the $332,000 in expenditures. He said he was confused about what the expenditures in that part of the report meant.

Who runs Blue Cross and Blue Shield? You do.

Every time our boards of directors meet to make important decisions, your voice is heard loud and clear.

Some of our directors represent hospitals. Others are physician representatives. But many represent you, the public, and they are quick to let us know when something we are thinking about might not be in your best interests.

Looking out for you is exactly what our directors don't get paid for. No salary, no compensation, no dividends. These dedicated men are happy to do it for nothing. We're happy because that gives us just that much more money to spend on benefits.

And that makes our nearly a million members happy.

Why don't you think about joining our big, happy family?

Local Family Doctor Dies

Dr. Harry R. Jenkinsen, 78, a local general practitioner for the past 50 years, died suddenly in his downtown office Sunday.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church, 150 N. Dubuque. Rev. Eugene N. Hancock will officiate. Burial will be in Memory Gardens. Friends may call beginning today at the Beckman-Buthers Funeral Home, 207 E. College.

Dr. Jenkinsen was born near Algona on a farm on December 13, 1890. He graduated from Algona High School in 1910 and entered the College of Medicine at the University in the fall of that same year. He received his M.D. degree in 1916 and became the first intern at University Hospital.

John Blake thought safety belts were a drag.

Dress Talk Gets Dirksen A 'Bad' Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's wife doesn't pay $600 for party dresses. Or, if she does, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen wishes he hadn't brought the matter up.

The chastened Senate Republican leader from Illinois ruefully told newsmen Monday that he has been "catching hell" because of a remark he made while advocating an increase in the vice president's salary from $43,000 to $62,500.

Dirksen told a news conference last week that Agnew is "hurting financially" on his current salary. He said, as an example, that Mrs. Agnew could wear fancy dresses to official parties only about three times then has to buy a new one for $500 or $600.

"I don't know why I ever said that," Dirksen said sadly. "I have been catching hell for it. My mail is full of letters from women who say they don't pay $600 for a dress. I have written some of them saying that one reason is that they are not the wife of the vice president."

"Judy, Mrs. Agnew, has sort of denied she pays $600 for a dress. I wish I hadn't said it." Dirksen said he hopes to get action soon on the bill which would increase the pay of the vice president and House Speaker John McCormack (D-Mass.).

A provision of the measure would also increase the pay of Dirksen and other official party leaders in Congress from the $42,500, received now by all members of Congress, to $55,000 annually.

Mercury Is Salvaged From Sunken Boat

MISSOURI VALLEY (AP) — Three of the long sought containers of mercury which made up part of the sunken river boat Bertrand were uncovered by treasure hunters Monday.

A National Park Service employee tapped one of the iron cylinders and said the substance it contained was without a doubt mercury.
