Protestors Greet Agnew, He Blasts TV News Reports

By CAROL BIRD

DES MOINES — President Nixon on Thursday said that the television networks were making “a mistake” by continuing to show antiwar demonstrations, adding that he had asked the networks to “be more liberal.”

In an address on national television Thursday night from the White House, Nixon defended his Vietnam policy and defended the decision to send American combat troops to South Vietnam.

He also said that television networks were not giving adequate coverage to the United States Army and the American armed forces.

The president’s remarks were widely criticized by television networks, which said they were “biased” and “one-sided.”

The Associated Press, in a story on Friday, said that the television networks were “biased” and “one-sided”.

Today, as it always will be, there will be the threat of the powerful engines of the space program. It is the dream journey designed to scale the second great divide in human history, space itself.

Today, as it always will be, there will be the steady march forward, capital, a march which could best be described as a journey in quest of peace.

Poetess Kathleen Fraser to Read on Monday

EDITOR'S NOTE: The poet Kathleen Fraser will read from her work at 7:30 Monday evening in the hall of the W. A. Biuson Rd., and 4th Street Auditorium. Fraser, who has in her native California, New York City, and several other cities, has been described as the "Queen of the Poetry Scene," and is generally regarded as one of the most inspired of contemporary poets. Her work frequently touches on the themes of love, struggle, and the search for meaning.

JANE BLACK

"It is the old story that those who read poetry on the teaching level of 19th Century literature have no idea what poetry is all about. But on Monday night, Something wonderful will happen when Kathleen Fraser hits the stage. Her work will be read and carefully analyzed by a group of dedicated students, and the atmosphere will be electric. This is an event not to be missed."

Seeing 'You Know I Can't Hear You'

One of the stories in a new collection by the poet Kathleen Fraser is "You Know I Can't Hear You." The story is about a woman who is struggling to communicate with her husband. The husband, who has a hearing impairment, is unable to hear her. The woman is frustrated and angry, but she is determined to find a way to connect with her husband.

"I wanted to explore the idea of communication in a relationship and the importance of being able to express oneself," Fraser said. "You Know I Can't Hear You" is a story about the challenges of communication and the importance of understanding and empathy.

Indira Gandhi Gets Vote of Confidence

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, backed by a show of support within her divided Congress Party, won a vote of confidence in Parliament Thursday.

All indications pointed to a still bitter battle. If all the implications of the vote of India's two giant political parties are correct, the Prime Minister has a problem of confidence. From the overwhelming victory in the last elections, Wednesday's vote may become still sharper. The Prime Minister had defeated a motion of no confidence brought by her rival, Madan Lal Khurana.

In an interview with The Daily News, the Prime Minister revealed that she had drawn up the motion of no confidence after a series of talks with her party's leaders. She said that she had done this because she felt that her party was not united.

"I am drawing up the motion of no confidence," she said. "I feel that my party is not united and that I cannot continue in the Prime Minister's post without the support of my party."

She added: "I am convinced that the vote of confidence will be thrown out and that I will have to resign."

The Prime Minister's statement was disturbing as it suggested that she might have to resign if she fails in the vote of confidence. This would be a serious setback for her, as she has already faced a number of problems in recent days.

The vote of confidence was scheduled for Thursday, and the Prime Minister has been preparing for it. She has been trying to build up the support of her party by appeals to the people, and she has also been working with other political parties to form a coalition government.

The outcome of the vote will be crucial for the future of Indira Gandhi's government. If she succeeds, she will be able to continue in power and revitalize her party. If she fails, she may have to resign and form a new government.

The vote of confidence will be held on Thursday, and the Prime Minister is expected to make an announcement about her plans after the vote. It is likely that she will be focusing on building support for her party and working to form a coalition government.

Fund Request Cites Danger Of Measles

DES MOINES — The state legislature is being asked to make an emergency legislative appropriation of about $2.2 million for a statewide inoculation against a German measles epidemic. The entire bill, estimated to range from $1.5 million to $2 million, will come from the state's budget surplus.

"Public health officials point out that unless some rather radical steps are taken around the state, the reaction to the virus will be severe," state Rep. Michael T. Blouin (D-Dubuque), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said at a meeting of the legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee. "If the state is not able to contain this epidemic, the expected case and hospital admission rate could be anywhere from 10 to 20 percent of the cases where a person is affected."

The bill, drafted by the Department of Social Services, is designed to prevent a German measles epidemic by providing a statewide inoculation against the disease. The dollars are to be spent on the following areas:

1. To acquire 100,000 doses of an attenuated measles vaccine, which is expected to clear the market in early December.
2. To cover transportation and administration costs.
3. To cover any unforeseen costs that may arise.

"This bill is the just fulfillment of our responsibility to the people of the state," said Blouin. "We are taking a step to ensure the health and safety of our citizens."
