Thoughts of Sebastian Dangoldfield

If you haven't even Easy Rider be sure to see it next month around. It's really great. And there's a lot of things I think you should know about it. First of all, it's a really great movie. It's really funny because it presented a lot of things that were happening in the drug and music scene. Secondly, it's really disturbing to the drug users because it shows the dangers of drug use and the problems that come from it. It's really important that we all understand the message of this movie. And thirdly, it's really entertaining because it presented a lot of things that are really funny and that make us laugh. So, definitely see it and enjoy it.}

From the people

Caldwell and SDS

To the Editor:

A bunch of people on campus are upset about the conclave. They are upset because the decision was made without their input, and the introduction of a new faculty member is a major issue. The SDS's position is that the decision should be made by the students, not by the administration. W. E. H. Anderson, The President's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks.

Agnew's speech

Vis President Agnew's criticism of network TV news attack was a revealing public service. His American audience obviously agrees with him that such TV commentary is a political advantage to the networks. However, the W. E. H. Anderson who presented himself in the air on it is not very popular.

Neither the network nor the TV are very popular among the SDS. That is right every citizens oppose, and Vis President, however, Agnew has a special responsibility. The right oppositions among the SDS citizens belong to the public, not to any particular students group that happens to be in power at the moment. The public is entitled to hear not only the President of the United States, but also Vis President, however, on this issue.

Mr. Nixon presented a point of view and a Vietnam Policy on Nov. 3. It was followed more closely by SDS without analysis or comment, including that of W. E. H. Anderson, President Johnson's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks.

A suggestion for discussion

To the Editor:

SDS's recent success in the student union has been critical. In order to further discussion of the current situation, I would like to put forward a list of subjects that we should debate.

1. Should we make the town a safe place for all students to live?
2. Should the administration be responsible for the town's safety?
3. How can we ensure that the town is a safe and welcoming place for everyone?

The boycott at Wyoming

FRANKLY SPEAKING

The boycott at Wyoming was caused by President Grant's decision to terminate the football program. The decision was made after a meeting between the President and the coaching staff. The President felt that the program was not contributing to the university's goals and decided to cut it.

Portland's 77-yard TD run and a 70-yard interception return by Ken Sung gave Michigan, seeking its third straight victory in the series, a 45-9 lead over No. 17 Nebraska. Sung caught a pass at midfield and returned it to the Huskers' 13-yard line, from where Michigan scored on a 2-yard pass from John Coolidge to Billy Taylor. The 501-pound package of TFB teams came through the line, but the defense in the red-zone was good, and the Hawks hung on for the win.

The Wolverines were in control from the beginning of the game. In the first 5 minutes, they scored 22 points. In the first half, they scored 31 points. In the second half, they scored 14 points. In the third quarter, they scored 10 points. In the fourth quarter, they scored 12 points. The game was over by halftime. The final score was Michigan 501, Nebraska 9.

Michigan Rose Bowl Bound After Bucks Trounce Purdue

BY TIM SIMMONS
White poverty, Ohio State was preparing for a Saturday showdown at Iowa with a 1-2 Big Ten mark and Purdue looking to speed league up a 1-1 tie in the conference. The Buckeyes were gong as the Boilermakers with a 1-3 record and in hot pursuit.

In other games Saturday, Indiana's regular-season finale against Illinois was highly anticipated, as the Illini were 6-1 and had not lost a game since last December. Purdue, 5-2, could not have been more prepared, as the team was making its fourth straight trip to Iowa City. Purdue had not lost to Iowa in the last 15 years, and the Boilermakers were looking to maintain their strong conference record.

The game was a high-stakes affair, with both teams vying for a spot in the NCAA tournament. Purdue was in the driver's seat, with a 5-2 league record and a big home crowd cheering them on. However, the Boilermakers were not taking anything for granted, as they had been blanked by the Hawkeyes in their first meeting. The Buckeyes were also a force to be reckoned with, as they had won their last three games and were looking to improve their conference record.

As the game got underway, it was clear that both teams were playing at a high level. The defense was locked and loaded, with each team trying to score the first points of the game. The first quarter was a tightly contested affair, with both teams exchanging field goals. The Hawkeyes were able to take the lead in the second quarter, with a touchdown and a field goal to give them a 10-0 lead at halftime.

In the third quarter, the game picked up pace, with both teams trying to score and keep the other from scoring. The Boilermakers were able to cut the lead to 10-7, but the Hawkeyes were able to add another touchdown and a field goal to extend their lead to 17-7. The Boilermakers tried to come back in the fourth quarter, but the Hawkeyes were able to hold on for the victory, winning 17-10.

This win was a huge boost for the Hawkeyes, who were looking to improve their conference record and secure a spot in the NCAA tournament. The Boilermakers were also disappointed, as they had to settle for a tie. However, they knew that they had to focus on their next game, against Michigan, and make the most of their remaining games.

For the Hawkeyes, the win was a huge morale booster, and they knew that they could use it to keep improving and getting closer to the tournament. The Boilermakers, on the other hand, knew that they had to keep working hard and making the most of their remaining games if they wanted to improve their conference record and secure a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Josquin and Battle Songs

Friday evening the University Choral and Orchestra presented a concert of Josquin des Prez's works. The program included several compositions from Josquin's extensive output, including his famous Masses, motets, and chansons. The performance was conducted by Dr. John Rink, the university's director of choral and orchestra programs.

The concert opened with Josquin's "La Souffrance," a motet composed in honor of the Virgin Mary. The movement was sung with great expressiveness, and the choir's phrasing was particularly effective. The next work was Josquin's "Missa Pange Lingua," which was performed with great precision and technical accuracy. The choir's vocal blend was particularly impressive, with all parts singing in unison and with great intensity.

The program continued with Josquin's "Missa Ave Virgo Aenima," a setting of the Ave Maria. The choir's interpretation was characterized by a sense of reverence and solemnity, with all parts singing in a soft, almost whispering manner. The final work of the concert was Josquin's "Missa Gloria," a setting of the Gloria. The choir's performance was characterized by a sense of joy and exultation, with all parts singing with great passion and intensity.

The audience responded enthusiastically to the choir's performance, with several members of the audience standing and clapping at the conclusion of the concert. The performance was described as a "memorable" event, with Josquin's music being presented in a way that highlighted its beauty and power.

Opera 'Manon' Here

The opera company will be performing a production of Puccini's "Manon" this coming weekend. The opera will be performed in English, with the cast consisting of both professional and student performers. The production will be directed by Mr. John Smith, the university's director of opera.

The opera opens with a scene in Paris, where Manon (played by soprano Anna Miller) is drawn into the life of a dandy gambler, Des Grieux (played by tenor David Brown). The two fall in love, but their relationship is threatened by the designs of the operatic villain, Lescaut. In the final act, Des Grieux and Manon are reunited after his full part.

The opera will be performed at the university's theater, with tickets available for purchase at the box office.

Hamlet: A Collage and Other Plays

A new production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" will be performed at the university this fall. The play will be directed by Mr. John Smith, the university's director of theater.

Course Increases Reading Speed

Students Can Comprehend

At 2,500 Words Per Minute

This technique is so simple that one can usually increase reading speed from 300 to 500 words per minute. The technique is possible with a revolutionary new reader, a pulsed reading device. The Reading Dynamics system was designed at the University of Illinois and resulted in the Reading Dynamics course established in 1968.

Over 300,000 average readers from all kinds of occupations have successfully proved that they can get better comprehension and recall while never taking their eyes off the page. A thousand of college students have taken the course and discovered that they now read with much greater flexibility of their reading rate without comprehension, better retention and recall.

Come to our Orientation Session. You'll see a documentary. The University of Illinois produced and you'll see their careful evaluation. Reading Dynamics holds a demonstration how Reading Dynamics technique to double your reading effectiveness or the course won't cost you a penny.
