Represents Discuss Limiting Universities' Enrollment

BY LORRELL FOYLE

CEDA FALLS — Plans to limit increases and the limiting of enrollment again were discussed by the State Board of Regents at its meeting this Friday, according to President Nellesman. The board met to discuss the bill, which was introduced by President Hance at its meeting last week. The bill was introduced in response to concerns about the rising costs of higher education. It proposes to cap enrollment growth and limit tuition increases at state universities. The board expressed support for the bill, with some reservations about the potential impact on student access and affordability. The bill, if passed, would require the Board of Regents to report annually on the enrollment and budget impacts of the cap. The next meeting of the board is scheduled for March 15.
No more fun and games

By FRANK MURRAY
The Associated Press

Extremists on the left and the right ...

It is easy to say. One man's 'reality' is just another man's 'fantasy'.

The events of the Farheather turned many people's dreams into nightmares. Extremists on the left and the right are using armed groups as their weapons of choice. These groups are often armed with heavy equipment such as machine guns and bombs. The extreme nature of their ideology makes it difficult to address their concerns peacefully.

Barack Obama's policies

Barack Obama's policies have been criticized for their emphasis on providing aid to the middle class. Critics argue that the policies benefit the wealthy at the expense of the poor. The Justice Department has been criticized for its handling of the bail system, with some groups arguing that it is too lenient.

Susan Rice's appointment

The appointment of Susan Rice as the new ambassador to the UN has been met with mixed reactions. Some have praised her experience and qualifications, while others have expressed concern about her views on issues such as Iran and Syria. The controversy over her appointment has raised questions about the role of the UN in international relations.

The Senate's response

The Senate's response to the events has been mixed. Some have praised the Senate's handling of the situation, while others have criticized it for its slow response. The Senate has called for a review of its procedures and policies, but some have argued that more needs to be done.

The impact on society

The impact of the events on society is still being felt. There have been concerns about the spread of radical ideologies, with some groups arguing that it is necessary to take action against threats to national security. The events have also raised questions about the role of technology in society, with some arguing that it is necessary to ensure that it is used for the benefit of all.

SO WHAT? Ort WANT TO KNOW MORE?

If you have any questions about these topics or any others, please feel free to ask. I am here to help.

[Your contact information here]
Fights Disease

San Francisco Hit by Strike

Education Talks Start Today

Pollution Expert Warns May Have to Limit Crops

Fights Disease

Nixon Plans Neutrality On Tonkin

San Francisco Plans to Neutrality On Tonkin

San Francisco – In response to growing anti-war sentiment, Mayor David Davie has announced plans to limit crop production in the city. Davie cited a recent report by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, which stated that overproduction of crops is leading to a food crisis.

The mayor's decision is based on the finding that the city has more food than it can consume, leading to waste and overproduction. Davie said, "We need to be more responsible in our food production and consumption."

The plan will involve reducing the amount of cropland and increasing food conservation efforts. Davie added, "We must act now to prevent a food crisis and ensure food security for all."
Nixon Asks Pension Law

WASHINGTON — President Nixon asked Congress Friday for a bill that would permit states to withdraw from federal pension programs devised to aid disabled workers.

"This is not a program for the long-range solution of a problem," Mr. Nixon said in his weekly radio and television address. "This is a program which is simply a device to handle the money as if it were not there and could not make a difference."

He said the administration was not necessarily endorsing the bill, which was introduced by Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Representative William S. Ford of Michigan.

Preparing to "etire from the scene," Mr. Kennedy said a provision in the bill that would permit states to withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program would not be in the bill's final form.

Mr. Kennedy, who was critical of the bill's supporters, said the proposal was "irresponsible and unpredictable."

While close of the plant-off-Work, the Wic's proposal was "irresponsible and unpredictable," Mr. Kennedy said. The plan was "irresponsible in that it would not permit the states to withdraw their funds at any time."

The bill was introduced to provide a "free and open" market for state and local governments, Mr. Kennedy said. The states could withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program.

The bill was introduced to allow states to withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program.

The bill was introduced to provide a "free and open" market for state and local governments, Mr. Kennedy said. The states could withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program.

The bill was introduced to allow states to withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program.

The bill was introduced to provide a "free and open" market for state and local governments, Mr. Kennedy said. The states could withdraw from the program if they had not been able to raise sufficient funds to cover the cost of the program.

Anxious for Summer? See and Order the Most Exciting Clothes for Spring and Summer Modeled... SUNDAY, MARCH 15 2 p.m. Wheel Room, IMU at the Spirit of the Times STYLE SHOW Sponsored by Young America Corporation and Union Board (FREE!) See you tomorrow... you may want to put your little green dress to get a head start on Summer!
Big 10 Runnerups Host Drake

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.

HUMPTY DUMPTY NURSERY SCHOOL 831.5030 . 4-S ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

WANT ADS

DAILY IOWAN

WANT Ads

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.

HUMPTY DUMPTY NURSERY SCHOOL 831.5030 . 4-S ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

WANT ADS

DAILY IOWAN

WANT Ads

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.

HUMPTY DUMPTY NURSERY SCHOOL 831.5030 . 4-S ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

WANT ADS

DAILY IOWAN

WANT Ads

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.

HUMPTY DUMPTY NURSERY SCHOOL 831.5030 . 4-S ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

WANT ADS

DAILY IOWAN

WANT Ads

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.

HUMPTY DUMPTY NURSERY SCHOOL 831.5030 . 4-S ELECTRIC TYPEWRITER

WANT ADS

DAILY IOWAN

WANT Ads

Jacksonville, Utah State Threaten Top Two Teams

The homecoming game this weekend, a second place finish in the Big Ten by the 10th-ranked Drake, was held in Des Moines on Saturday. The Bulldogs had two chances to score, but failed to convert either of them. Head coach Joe Cronin had the opportunity to score from the 3-point line, but missed twice.

Jacksonville and Utah State head to COLUMBIA, Ohio, to meet the top two teams in the conference. Jacksonville, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 27 points in the last two games. Utah State, with seconds-outside Alcindor and Merk, has scored 19 points in the last two games.

Kuhn Says Seattle Offer Taken Back

Seattle—at a group of news conferences at the team's scheduled last month to their efforts to promote the city's third major professional team, the Seattle Sonics, is the top contender in the race for a new NBA team. The Sonics, who have expressed interest in the city, are likely to present a serious challenge to the Seattle Mariners and the NHL's Seattle Kraken for the fans' support.
Sound of Fifth Dimension
Made by Vocal Innovations

By KRISTELLE PETERSEN

"At the time we got together, there were few dimensions and we decided we could make the MD dimension sound and that's why the Fifth Dimension exists," Lamont McLemore, bass singer and spokesman for the group, said.

He said through their music the group seeks a revival among neighbors. And, man, if they put their arms around their neighbors, he said, "we'd carry this brotherhood into the streets.

"We were to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concert, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were." It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because the students are "our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the streets, it makes us happy," he said.

McLemore said the group performs for college audiences because "they are our own age and they understand what we are doing. We give a concert and put their arms around their neighbors, and then if they can do it for just two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"We want to make people happy," McLemore said. ""I have been in concerts, scary, don't, scary, had people with tears in their eyes saying how happy they were. It's not for two weeks, two years, or two hours, how come they can't do it for two months, two years, or even 20 years?" he asked.

"I think sometimes people get a message and all of a sudden, it's like a revival and they carry this brotherhood into the street..."