rd: 'Jobs All Vets'

ROIT, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Anderson said today the Pentagon is launching a new program to create a job for every veteran.

Anderson told the Economic Club that the Defense Department needs help from all parts of the country in finding what he called worthwhile jobs for the two million men and women who will be leaving military services in the next few years.

Anderson said the weeks and months ahead will be calling on American business and labor leaders and local government and citizens in all walks of life to help solve this problem. The defense chief said in a prepared speech.

Anderson gave no details, saying the program would be announced soon. In Washington, his aides indicated a major thrust will be at encouraging service members to return to school.

Anderson's speech, devoted mostly to economic and related issues, touched only briefly on Vietnam war.

Israel Hits Lebanese Base

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli armored column supported by jets made a 14-hour attack into Lebanon on Tuesday in an effort to snuff out Arab guerrilla bases.

At the end of the dawn-to-dusk incursion, the Israeli military command said the operation had "proceeded according to plan."

The armored forces which spearheaded the drive across the border on the wooded western slopes of Mt. Harmon was preparing to leave, the spokesman said Tuesday night. The attack was the biggest-ever strike into Lebanese territory.

Israel began Tuesday night to pull back its tanks and troops under cover of a heavy artillery barrage and air raids. The Israeli military command said the operation had "proceeded according to plan."

U. N. Demands Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council in a unanimous vote Tuesday demanded "the immediate withdrawal of all Israeli armed forces from Lebanese territory."

All 15 council members raised their hands in favor of a Spanish resolution that took effect less than 24 hours after the council had met urgently by request of Lebanon and Israel and debated an Israeli attack in southern Lebanon.

Haynsworth, whose home is in Greenville, S.C., was the first of two Southern judges nominated by Nixon for the post, both of whom were denied Senate confirmation. The other was G. Harold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla. "Apparently if a judge is from South Carolina a higher standard of ethics is required than if a judge is from Minnesota," said Hollings.

No one rose to dispute him, but senators who fought Haynsworth's nomination contended that, unlike Blackmun, he failed to take steps to avoid an appearance of conflicts-of-interest.

Blackmun, a long-time friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has been a judge on the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals since 1959. He is a summa cum laude graduate of Harvard, and a former lawyer for the Mayo Clinic.

Blackmun took the news in typically low-key fashion.

"I'm just not up to making any verbal statement," said the 61-year-old jurist, as he leaned against a lobby wall in the building containing his office, dressed in a wool sweater on an overcast, chilly day.

He was the first Supreme Court nominee to be approved without a dissenting vote since 1962, when both Arthur J. Goldberg and Byron R. White were confirmed by voice vote.

In Rochester, Blackmun's secretary said he would be sworn in at the convenience of the court. A spokesman for the court said the time would be announced later.

Senate Confirms Blackmun

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, which rejected President Nixon's first two choices to fill a year-old vacancy on the Supreme Court, unanimously confirmed Tuesday his nomination of Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Rochester, Minn.

There was little debate before the 94-0 vote, but Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., and other Southern senators said that in the Senate was applying a different standard of judicial ethics than it did in rejecting Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

ISU Governor's Day Dropped

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An ROTC Governor's Day review scheduled Saturday at Iowa State University was canceled Tuesday in the wake of the arrest of 15 anti-war demonstrators in Ames earlier in the day.

Col. Robert Barnett, chairman of the Tri-Service Review Committee which was planning the activities, said the ceremonies were canceled because of possible violent confrontations between police, cadets and anti-war and anti-ROTC demonstrators.

A similar ceremony which had been scheduled last Saturday at the University of Iowa was also canceled after several days of demonstrations by students protesting the war and demanding an end to ROTC programs on the Iowa City campus.

Col. Barnett announced the decision

Final Decision Rests with Regents— Faculty Senate Votes Anti-ROTC

By RANDY EVANS

University Faculty Senate approved a resolution ending the status of ROTC as a University academic program by a vote of 37 to 18 Tuesday afternoon.

Nearly two hours of debates on the merits of ROTC and six other votes led up to the decisive vote as nearly 200 students packed the Calvin Hall Lecture Room where the meeting was held. The students had left a 3 p.m. Pentacrest Strike rally and had to be quieted by Faculty Senate Chairman Stow Persons several times during the course of the meeting as they greeted several faculty members' speeches with applause.

Two members of the Iowa Highway Patrol also hovered around two rear exits of the lecture room listening to the proceedings.

The senate's actions is in no way binding on the University, Provost Ray L.

Heffner said following the vote. He said the vote serves only as an indication of the senate's attitudes and the final decision rests in the hands of the Board of Regents.

After the meeting, Heffner added he had "no idea" what the Board of Regents would do when asked to decide the future of ROTC.

After the vote a committee of three Liberal Arts professors was named by Persons, to "negotiate with the President (University Pres. Willard Boyd) for prompt implementation" of the senate's action. Appointed were John Gerber, prof. of English, Donald Johnson prof. of political science, and Lloyd Knowler, prof. of statistics.

Persons said Boyd had previously requested such a move by the senate if they voted to terminate ROTC here.

The resolution approved calls for the University to "sign no further contracts with ROTC and that ROTC not be continued as a University sponsored activity." If implemented, the resolution would prohibit ROTC as both an academic and extra-curricular activity.

Bert Schoner, associate professor of business, and Burns Weston, professor of law, originally introduced the resolution as an addendum to the majority report of the senate's committee on University Relations with the Federal Government.

The majority report was introduced before the senate in the form of a motion, but the addendum report was later introduced and Persons said it would be acted upon before the majority report.

Under the terms of the majority report, ROTC courses would receive no credit, ROTC units would not carry the designation as an academic department or inter-disciplinary programs, and faculty status will not be granted to officers on active duty with ROTC units.

Following discussion on the two proposals, the senate moved to vote by show of hands. However, after two tie votes of 31-31, the senate decided to vote instead by roll call.

The roll call vote — 31-30 — was to replace the majority report by the addendum. Following the roll call, the final vote was taken by show of hands.

Col. Cyrus Shockey, head of the Department of Military Science (Army ROTC), had "no comment" following the vote.

When asked to speak before the senate, Shockey declared the senate had failed to coordinate their study with the Air Force and Army ROTC units. "I am not opposed to a better ROTC department," Shockey stated "In fact, for four years I have worked for this."

Criticizing the senate committee's failure to visit ROTC classes, he pointed out: "It seems to me that there was no other alternative than to visit our classes."

He asked the senators: "If the study in your hands doesn't portray the ROTC program, I don't see how you can make an intelligent decision."

After introducing the addendum, Schoner stated he felt the primary role of ROTC was the recruitment of army officers.

"I don't believe ROTC is an academic program," Schoner declared. "If it was an academic program, I don't see why it wouldn't have the benefits of other departments — i.e. majors."

Schoner suggested a criterion to be used when considering the merits of ROTC: "Is this (ROTC) life supportive or is this destructive?"

James McCue, associate professor of education, however, questioned the effectiveness of banning ROTC. While citing the "vigorous" student opposition, McCue also suggested that removing ROTC "wouldn't affect the war much."

For Robert Corrigan, associate professor of English, ROTC is an "academic, moral and social issue" of such importance that he urged elimination of ROTC.

"What we have seen is 2,700 to 3,000 students working together with one goal in mind — to rid this campus of ROTC," Corrigan said.

Citing the need for liberal officers in the armed forces, law professor Sam Fahr went on record as supporting the continuation of ROTC.

Fahr's thoughts were echoed by Bradley Sagen, associate professor of education, who added that a shift of the ROTC program from the nation's universities to technical institutions could result in a poorer quality of officers.

Frank Seiberling, director of the School of Art, also supported the continuation of ROTC, noting: "There is a great deal to be said for a college-trained officer."

George Forell, director of the School of Religion, told the senate he was supporting the resolution because he is "tired of the war in Vietnam." Forell, however, said he wasn't sure the removal of ROTC was going to be an effective move.

Two students spoke out at Tuesday's meeting representing both shades of opinion present. Shelley Blum, L2, Iowa City, charged that the end of ROTC would also mean the end of what he called "adventurism" by the military. Stating that the U.S. doesn't need a large army, Blum continued: "The only effect is to allow us to get into wars like Indochina."

Richard Tyner, A4, Shenandoah, said: "I am worried that we won't make an academic decision, but a political decision." Tyner, who is a senior army ROTC cadet, warned that he didn't want the senate to be "stamped" into action because of the events of the past two weeks.

TA's Support Strike; Vote to Censure Boyd

A meeting of 112 graduate teaching assistants in Shambaugh Auditorium Tuesday evening resulted in the approval of seven resolutions dealing with the current student strike, ROTC and the option sheet issued by University Pres. Willard Boyd Sunday.

The resolutions, as they were amended and passed are:

• "We, the assembled body of the University teaching assistants, resolves itself into being the official body of the University teaching assistants." (passed 61 to 29)

• "The official body of the University

Teaching assistants endorses the student strike and its goals." (passed, 72 to 21)

• "The official body of the University teaching assistants urges that the presence of ROTC on campus and the use of University facilities for ROTC functions be put to a vote of one entire student body." (passed, 67 to 9)

• "The official body of the University teaching assistants censures President Boyd for failing to recognize and attempting to sabotage the right to peaceful protest by offering an option sheet which attempts to bypass normal student-teacher relationships and which precludes the right to strike." (passed, 44 to 34)

• "The official body of the University teaching assistants urges all teaching assistants to consider grades as of May 3, the basis for determining final grades, whether or not the student has signed the options, unless the student desires otherwise." (passed, 77 to 9)

• "The official body of the University teaching assistants demands that no punitive actions be taken against those taking part in the strike." (passed, 71 to 7)

• "We, the official body of the University teaching assistants strongly recommended that the Graduate Student Senate set up a fund for TA's." (passed by voice vote — 20 TAs were present)

Speakers at U.I. Rally Urge Student Strikers to Stay

By KEITH GILLET

The Daily Iowan came under verbal criticism at an evening rally attended by 500 persons at the Pentacrest Tuesday.

The newspaper has been under attack from critics since the Student Board of Publication (SPI) voted Sunday to retain the present DI editor until the present campus turmoil ends. Editor select, Leona Durham, G, San Francisco, was to become The Daily Iowan editor Monday.

Various speakers urged militancy against the present staff, including return of delivered newspapers. Miss Durham made a brief appearance to suggest to the crowd that they wait until SPI board takes further action scheduled for Thursday.

The rally began with about 40 individuals holding a candlelit vigil on the steps of Old Capitol. Speakers urged that the strike continue, calling for the University to be turned into a strike community.

A "celebration of life" has been called on the Pentacrest for today to celebrate the Faculty Senate vote on ROTC. The Senate earlier voted to remove ROTC from campus.

One speaker said that there was little need for pickets now, that the campus is closed. He urged that students continue their political action.

Students were urged in an earlier rally Tuesday by the Strike Steering Committee (SSC) to choose one of the three options offered by Pres. Willard Boyd, but to remain on the campus.

Steve Ford, A1, Des Moines told a rally of about 700 persons that "It is an old tactic to divide and conquer," and urged students to remain on the campus in violation of Boyd's option plan.

Ford said that the SSC considered the strike a success so far.

"If we can keep a tight reign on the police, we can conduct a successful strike on this campus. The fact that classrooms are empty is a clear indication that the strike is a success. The small crowd here shows that the strike has been successful," he said.

Ford told the crowd that the University panicked students by presenting them with the option plan. Because of this, he said, some students left the campus.

Pointing to the crowd, Ford said the committee, "hoped this tactic in clearing the campus has not been successful."

Ford claimed that Pres. Boyd failed to answer sufficiently all questions concerning the options. He claimed that

Boyd's interview in Tuesday's Daily Iowan failed to clear up these questions:

• If a student signs for an option but doesn't leave the campus, what sanctions will the University take against the student?

• Can students change their minds if they sign the option sheet?

• Can dormitory residents receive a rebate for their remaining room and board?

• Will any University workers be laid off as a result of the early departure of a large number of students?

• What happens to students taking an option if they are on academic probation?

Ford told the crowd that the SSC is working to find housing for students who wish to remain on the campus after their 24 hours are up in the dormitories. He said that 13 tons of food have been donated to help feed students involved in the strike.

Bruce Clark, A2, Iowa City, told the crowd that the Faculty Senate had consented to having ten students sit in on the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday afternoon. Three students were to represent Student Senate, three members of the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) were to be present and the best were to come from the SSC.

Clark told the crowd that they should pick the list of students rather than have them determined by the administration. A list drafted by the SSC was presented to the crowd and following brief debate was approved by voice vote from a small part of the crowd present.

As the rally concluded, it was announced that a second rally would be held at 9 p.m. on the Pentacrest to discuss the Faculty Senate's ROTC vote.

Most of the students left the rally and headed for the Union apparently to turn in their option sheets. The corridor outside the Union Rim room was jammed with hundreds of students trying to hand in their sheet prior to the 5 p.m. deadline.

STRIKE! !EXITS!

To the Editor, from the people Deploring, applauding SPI Board action

To the Editor:
I find deplorable the actions of the Board of Student Publications, Inc. concerning its recent decision to retain the editorship of Lowell Forte instead of allowing the new editorial staff, headed by Leona Durham, to assume the duties of running The Daily Iowan.

This is not an indictment of Forte or other members of his staff who have decided to answer the unjust call of the SPI Board, but this is an indictment of the Board itself, for its decision appears to me, as it has to others, to be a form of political oppression and an attempt at censorship.

It is ludicrous for the Board to think that concerned students and faculty will accept its claim that "this is a poor time to make an editorial change," in the words of Professor George Forell, and that the politics of Miss Durham and her staff did not enter into its deliberations. The reasons given are absurd and are a gross disrespect for the intellect of the people of this community.

Moreover, I deplore the actions of the Board for the reason that in this day and time when the press is attacked from both sides of the left-right spectrum, and especially when those in the media cry the loudest when critically assailed, such tactics as the SPI Board's are approved and applauded by professors and student journalists.

The Board approved Miss Durham's candidacy for the editorship; they approved her staff selections. The Board made its decision, now it should have the courage to live up to it. The belief that the new staff would take actions to further inflame an already tense campus are unfounded. The SPI Board may find that its actions may do more to inflame the student body than anything Leona Durham or her staff could ever do in this troubled time. The true colors of such avowed liberals as Professors Forell, Lane Davis and others who make up the composition of the SPI Board has finally come to the fore. There is nothing like a crisis to expose the true character of a falsity.

Finally, as editorial page editor under the editorship of Mr. Forte, I find that I cannot in all good conscience assume my former position and I protest the actions of Forte and my former fellow staff members who have decided to join him in this unjust act.

It is unfortunate that several staff members, most of them journalism majors, decided to sign a statement pledging their loyalty to The Daily Iowan, rather than to any individual. It is unfortunate because as future journalists their loyalty should be pledged to an uncompromised search for truth, justice and a fairness applicable to all.

These things have been denied Leona Durham and her staff.

spid, occupation. Mr. Ehrlich has, in my opinion, placed himself in that precariously imbalanced crowd of cliché hurlers spreading from Mr. Agnew to our very own Mr. Sies.

The voices from both fringes are detrimental if not downright irrelevant at this time. The students' worst enemy is poor counsel; those who have read their Lenin, Mao, Che and Malcolm X should be critically aware that the most important factor in the early stages of a revolution is to identify your enemies so that you will be able to know who your real friends are.

We can all be damned thankful that there are several "cool" heads like Professor Lane Davis in this faculty.

ROTC: now, the future

Thirty-seven to eighteen was the Faculty Senate vote Tuesday on a resolution which in wording would virtually abolish ROTC from the University campus.

The resolution approved said: "Be it resolved by the Faculty Senate of the University of Iowa that the University of Iowa not sign any further contracts with ROTC and that ROTC not be continued as a University-sponsored activity."

However, the resolution is just that — a resolution. As University Provost Ray L. Heffner said immediately after the vote, "The status of ROTC will be determined by the Board of Regents. This resolution is not binding or final."

Heffner said that "there should be no misunderstanding on this point."

Unfortunately, a sizable portion of the students who had been present at the meeting had left before Heffner spoke because of the confusion surrounding the approval of the motion.

A "bit" of chronology to explain the confusion:

- The majority resolution as contained in "The Role of ROTC at the University of Iowa: A Report of the Faculty Senate Committee on University Relations with the Federal Government" was moved and seconded. This resolution provided for the initiation of action "leading to the revision or termination of the contracts between the University and the armed forces." It went on to abolish academic credit for ROTC courses, any status or designation of ROTC as an academic department or inter-disciplinary program, and faculty status to officers on active duty with ROTC units.
- Immediately after this was seconded a motion was made to approve the resolution that the Senate finally approved. It, too, was seconded, and according to parliamentary procedure this second motion became a "substitute motion" to be voted on. If passed, it was to become the original motion. If defeated, the original motion was to keep its status and would be voted on.
- The second resolution — the one finally approved — was an "addendum to the majority report" by Schoner and Weston.
- The Senate entered debate on the second — substituted or addendum — resolution thoroughly confused (along with everyone else attending the meeting) and thinking that they were actually debating the merits of ROTC in light of the ramifications of approving the resolution.
- After the debate, Faculty Senate Chairman Stow Persons said a private ballot would be used to determine the outcome. Immediately there came a motion for a roll-call vote. This was voted down. Then came an appeal of the chair's decision for a secret ballot. The consensus of the Senate was that a showing of hands had been the traditional technique and should be continued. Hand voting was approved 48-7.

- Two votes were taken — each time the same tally, 31-31.
- There was no choice now but to take a roll-call vote. This was moved and approved 45-11. The vote was taken and the resolution was approved 31-30. The roof of Calvin Hall practically collapsed under the cheers from the students attending the meeting. Then came a mass exit — students and some Senators — followed by Heffner's statement, followed by even more confusion.
- Persons announced that the vote did not constitute approval of the resolution but only approved changing its status from a "substitute motion" to an original motion.
- That did not make a whole lot of people happy. There was another motion — for a hand vote — and finally the 37-18 approval.
- What's to be done now? A committee of three Senators — John Gerber, Donald Johnson, Lloyd Knowler — will "negotiate" with University Pres. Willard Boyd "prompt implementation of the resolution."
- Prompt implementation will probably mean prompt consideration by the Board of Regents. And, since the Board meets this week, the soonest the question could be brought before them is June 11 or 12, when it meets at the University of Northern Iowa.

Action by the Board, of course, depends greatly on the way the question is brought before it, and the material presented. Even then, it is very likely that the Board will appoint a committee to study the situation first.

It is inevitable that the whole process will take time. Therefore, we must all be patient, but firm. For those opposed to ROTC, they must wage an intellectual war. The Board is composed of people who yield little, if any, to pressure. They will want facts and sound opinion — facts and opinion presented in a reasonable and unemotional way.

The University administration should meet with students — pro and con — and insure student input into criteria to be presented to the Board.

More importantly, however, students should organize and not only prepare their own statements for input into the Board but should make administrative moves to insure student representation at the meeting or meetings when the Board will make their decision.

Who's fascist now?

To the Editor:
Thursday evening at the Pentacrest a speaker told the crowd that if they were not going to break into Jessup Hall and take over that building, they should leave the Pentacrest, for they had no right to be there "doing nothing." He also told the crowd that the band would play no more. And it didn't.

These are the words of someone, not dedicated to the people, not dedicated to the withdrawal of troops from Vietnam and Cambodia, not dedicated to the abolishment of ROTC on campus, not dedicated to the idea of free and equal society.

These are the words of a person out to manipulate people, an egotistical being who is power hungry — a budding Hitler.

The crowd Thursday night was a group of individuals, each protesting his frustrations at a number of controversies among the most prominent: the war, abolishment of ROTC and the Kent State massacre. They were not, therefore, inactive. They were not sitting in their rooms apathetically, but were engaging in a demonstration, together, outside, of their feelings.

It angers me that one person can tell a group of people what action to take and can expect the group to follow that action — and be angered if it doesn't. Is that not how Nazi Germany started?

What angered me even more is that no one else went up to the microphone and called this speaker a fascist pig. No one told this person that he is demanding the same thing Nixon is demanding — that people act in a way contrary to their morals and beliefs. No one told him that we are fighting people like him — power hungry bastards.

And yet, he was among us; and perhaps leading us.

I am asking that we must, in order to help develop a society knowing no wars and no hate, be wary of these people who disguise themselves with our own sentiments and our anger.

And, that if we recognize them we must not be afraid to speak out against them. For, that is how Germanies start.

Tired of insane government

To the Editor:
I hear they had a vote last night; well, no one gave me a ballot; I shall assume then that George Wallace supporters can get together and vote "overwhelmingly" to make him President of the United States (he got a little over 10 per cent of the votes, too; for your little brain 2,500 — if they all voted for the strike, which I doubt — is hardly representative of 20,000, but then your math may be very poor).

I've been told that this strike is comparable to a union strike; however, unions tend to vote to see if they will strike — Sunday afternoon at one of the pro-strike meetings a student asked if we the students could vote like we did last year. We were told that was last year and the strike WAS the vote. If you don't have the students behind you and you refuse to admit it, you need to learn how to count; and if you think your strike is valid, you need to learn how to think.

We were also told they were going to close the U down so they could go home and "rap" with the people back home without worrying about school — so I suggest you suggest to them that they should have circled option one or two and left to "rap" with the people back home.

I rather believe the strikers are very serious, it is just that they are striking blind and they can not seem to see past the immediate campus area — you do not endeavor yourselves to the average public by closing a University. But then I'm not all that convinced that closing the University is not the major aim of a lot of them.

I am tired of insane government actions, but it is absolutely inexcusable for 2,500 supposedly intelligent students to think that closing a university is sane.

What we need now is a new war

To the Editor:
Domestic battles, both verbal and physical, concerning our current campaign in Southeast Asia have at last reached an unbearable point.

No matter where one turns his ear, there is someone waiting to chastise our endeavors. And the motives underlying this chastisement are as various as the political complexes from which they arise.

But if I may be allowed to simplify, I must offer that the contention settles down to this — the long hairs say we are not right in killing and the short hairs say we are not killing right.

These two views seem to represent very plainly opposite poles of thought. One might even be prompted to predict with alarm that this debate over the war could invert soon into a war over the debate.

It is with fear of this possibility that I now offer this mediatory explanation of the discontent surrounding the Vietnam struggle. In truth, there are no polar opinions on Vietnam.

The long hairs, the short hairs and those of us in between — we all share the same particularly American criticism of this war deep inside. It is impractical.

It is too far away to hold our daily interest, and it costs much more than it is worth, (although it is hard to place a monetary value on something as aesthetic as a war).

I am sure that no sane American would pretend to be against war itself, if he were placed under close examination. We all cherish our heritage of warfare and realize we must not grow lax in observing it.

What is more, we can remember only too well the economic horrors which have resulted from periods of peace in the past. But the fact remains that Vietnam is bad business.

Therefore, on behalf of my compatriots who have not realized it yet, I submit that we must find a different war. And, just in time, I have discovered the perfect alternative... Mexico.

An immediate transfer of all ground and support troops from Southeast Asia to Mexico could save billions of dollars in the long run and could offer some surprising domestic benefits.

Starting the war shouldn't be difficult. We could simply instigate some border dispute, as was the case in our first conflict with our neighbors to the south.

Or, if changing times require changing procedures, we could claim that the traffic of drugs into the U.S. from Mexico is a long-range plot designed to destroy the moral fiber of our country in hopes that we may eventually go to pot.

Troops and equipment could be trucked to Mexico from any military base in this country in less than four days and the only cost would be that of gasoline. The funds saved on troop transport could be spent for fighter planes and bombers, or even squadrons of tanks.

It is not impossible that there would be money left over that could be spent on critical domestic programs like the SST project or the war on crime "police force beef-up." The rise in economy would be matched only by the rise in military and civilian morale.

Instead of spending their R and R periods in filthy and dangerous brothels of Saigon and Bangkok, American G.I.'s could relax in the clean and cheerful brothels of Dallas or Kansas City.

One U.S. domestic problem would be immediately eliminated if we were to declare war on Mexico. The Mexicans American migrant workers could no longer distract us with demands for wage standards and adequate housing, because they would be considered prisoners of war. We wouldn't have to pay them a cent.

The list of advantages of a war with Mexico is endless, but just the few I have mentioned would justify the proposal.

However, I have not yet given the most important single motive. Unlike the war in Southeast Asia, a fight with Mexico would inevitably "bring us together" here at home.

To the Editor:
No wonder many people are antagonized by us. No wonder we elicit violent reaction against ourselves and our causes from the very people (voters) whose aid we need and must seek if anything is to be done to effect changes.

Here we stand at our rallies holding our signs, shouting our slogans, dropping our litter. Kleenex and gum wrappers slip from pockets or distracted hands; and cigarettes are ground out in the grass.

When I pick up and dispose of debris near me, I am either stared at or ignored by fellow students or complimented by adults. Both reactions imply a certain disassociation with the problem by both groups.

Why? Why did we even bother to hold "World Day"? Why did we pick up litter for one week? Why do we exhaustively research and study these problems? Why do we talk so much and act so little? Why are we conveniently dismissed by many as "idealists" and "bums"? Are we really so limited that we can concentrate on only one cause at a time? Why can't we each coordinate our concerns, and act on them daily? It is time for "idealists" to become "realists" by transforming ideals into positive action daily.

To the Editor:
Last week four students were shot at Kent State University. And now the media and Americans in general are filling the air with meaningless drivel about the guilt or innocence of the victims. One could picture a similar argument in the Germany of the '30s between a liberal and a conservative as to whether the Jews that were taken away the night before had really been disturbing the peace.

And just as in Germany, an argument that goes no further than a discussion of the incidental legal pretexis for persecution (and thus implicitly accepts the legitimacy of legal persecution) is monumentally irrelevant as well as morally obscene.

There comes a time when one must respond to official violence or become an accomplice to the acts of barbarism and fascism which this country disguises under the name of "order" for Americans and "freedom" for Vietnamese. In short, the individual must reaffirm his humanity.

Students are often criticized for their immaturity or "childishness." But where are their examples? I have rarely heard any faculty voice raised above a whisper. Students have not been able to turn to faculty members for an example of protest that is both rational and radical (in the sense of attacking the heart of the problem rather than its incidental legal aspects.)

Instead students have been shown how the intellect can be used to provide excuses for inaction. And in the process, many academicians abdicate their most important responsibility; the formulation of critical standards. This abdication leads to the philosophy of "business as usual," of "what can you expect, they're cops aren't they," of "war is hell; isn't it."

Living in a racist society provides a constant opportunity to exercise that attitude. Racism makes possible the "double-think," in which one condemns mentally what he condones in practice. As in Nazi Germany, racism provides an excellent breeding ground for fascism.

Mitchell owes the President one

By ART BUCHWALD
WASHINGTON — No one who has followed the events of the past two weeks can have anything but admiration for the political sagacity of Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

Mitchell's astuteness as a king-maker goes back to Miami Beach, Fla., where he engineered the nomination of Richard M. Nixon as the Republican candidate for President of the United States. But it did not end there. In one of the smoke-filled rooms that you always read about, Mitchell, puffing on his pipe, discussed some of the problems Mr. Nixon would have to face if he were elected to the Presidency.

"One of the things we can't overlook," Mitchell said, "is that the people might want to impeach you, Dick, at some time early in your term."

"I haven't even been elected yet, and you're already talking about my impeachment," Mr. Nixon protested.

"We have to prepare for every contingency," Mitchell said. "Suppose you decide to widen the war in Indochina?"

"But I've promised to end the war in Vietnam and bring our boys home."

"We know what you've promised,

Dick. But you may wish at some stage to go into Cambodia or Laos."

"Why that's ridiculous. Why would I do that?" Mr. Nixon asked.

"Perhaps to clean out the Communist sanctuaries once and for all."

"But if I did that," Mr. Nixon said, "they'd have to impeach me."

"Precisely what I said," Mitchell said. "I don't want to be impeached," Mr. Nixon cried. "Not after all the work I put in to get the nomination."

"You don't have to be, Dick. We have to make it impossible for them to take your job away."

"How do you do that?"

"We have to select a Vice President that the public will be so frightened of that they wouldn't dare impeach you."

"I never thought of that," Mr. Nixon admitted. "The best insurance a President could have would be to have someone standing in the wings that nobody could accept for the office. Who fits the description?"

The attorney general took out a list. "We have a few people here that might fill the role. Strom Thurmond, Gov. Kirk of Florida, Gov. Reagan of California, Carl McIntyre of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, J. Edgar Hoover, and that guy from Maryland... what's his name?"

"What do you mean what's-his-name?"

"I have it somewhere. Here it is. Spiro Agnew."

"You have to be kidding. Whoever heard of Spiro Agnew?"

"That's not the point. With television we can make him into a household name overnight. The question is, can he produce enough fear in the American electorate to keep it from impeaching you?"

"How do we know that?" Mr. Nixon asked.

"We don't know it," Mitchell replied. "But we've been talking to the guy, and he sounds like someone who can really ruffle people's feathers. It sends him out to fund-raising dinners for a year and give him enough exposure, and let him say what he wants, no one in this country would dare impeach you."

As everyone knows, Mr. Nixon bought the idea, and last week when all the impeachment talk concerning President Nixon started, Atty. Gen. Mitchell was the smuggest man in Washington. He called up the President and chuckled:

"That's another favor you owe me."

U.S. Troops Withdrawing; Could Hit Cambodia Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday withdrawal of American troops from Cambodia already has begun. And he added that if future operations are required in that country they will be carried out by the South Vietnamese.

Laird held out the possibility of some U.S. support for such future strikes against enemy bases in Cambodia — but only if this did not interfere with the program for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The secretary told the Senate Armed Services Committee that several thousand U.S. troops already have left Cambodia after completing their assigned missions. He said more were to come out this week and major operations against the one-time Communist sanctuaries will be completed by June 15.

The scheduled purpose of Laird's appearance was discussion of the Safeguard missile defense system and the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation talks, but nearly two-thirds of a three-hour session were devoted to questions and answers about Cambodia.

Although he said the June 30 deadline set by President Nixon for removal of all U.S. troops from Cambodia certainly will be adhered to, Laird opposed the Cooper-Church amendment, which would bar funds for U.S. troops in Cambodia after June 30. He argued this would interfere with the President's ability to protect U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Sen. Robert J. Dole (R-Kan.) meanwhile, introduced a proposed substitute for the Cooper-Church amendment that would bar U.S. ground combat forces from Laos, Cambodia or Thailand "without the prior consent of the Congress, except to the extent that the introduction of such troops is required, as determined by the President and reported promptly to the Congress, to protect the lives of American troops remaining within South Vietnam."

Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania announced he would seek to amend the Cooper-Church amendment by inserting language to permit continuation of the Cambodian operation "as may be required to protect the armed forces of the United States."

Scott said this amendment has the administration's support but added, "The administration would prefer no amendment at all."

The military sales authorization bill, which contains the Cooper-Church amendment, is due for Senate debate later in the week.

The secretary also said that, although the results of the Cambodian campaign "have exceeded our expectations this far," it will take two or three months to determine its final success or failure.

"The over-all strategic success of the program will be judged by where we are in August and where we are in September," he said.

Laird made these other assertions:

- "We were not involved in any way in the change in the government of Cambodia," that saw neutralist Prince Norodom Sihanouk's government overthrown.
- The Cambodian invasion was "debated and discussed at great length" in the National Security Council and "was presented by me and is supported by me and everyone on the National Security Council."
- While the central North Vietnamese command post COSVN has not been captured and might not be because of its mobility, "We expect to destroy most of the complex" it has used.

Black militants claimed there were reports that Oatman had been beaten by officers. Oatman has been charged with murder in the death of his 5-year-old niece.

Sheriff E.R. Atkins said two black cellmates had been charged with murder in the fatal beating of Oatman. Blacks have been protesting overcrowded jail conditions which they said allowed the beatings to take place.

After the peaceful protest march Monday, roving bands began smashing windows and creating disturbances in downtown stores. Fires, looting and sniper fire broke out later, and Maddox ordered National Guardsmen and state police into action at the request of Mayor Millard Beckum.

Before the situation was brought under control early Tuesday, six black men were dead of gunshot wounds, more than 60 persons injured, scores arrested and widespread property damage.

Maj. Gen. George J. Heard, Georgia's adjutant general, said Tuesday that Augusta police were responsible for four of the deaths.

"We didn't do any shooting," Heard said of his troops. Police Chief Broadus L. Bequest told a meeting of city officials and black leaders Tuesday that his officers had been told to apprehend any individuals looting or burning, but to avoid taking a life if possible.

He said his men were forced to return fire when snipers fired at them, but they aimed low and this was why many were wounded rather than killed.

Black leaders charged at the meeting that racism had existed in the city for a long time and that members of the white community have failed to respond to indications of impending trouble.

Maddox said he thinks the riot was part of "a Communist conspiracy." He said the Guardsmen have guns and ammunition and are under orders to control the situation. "Those sniping at our Guardsmen — we're not going to ask them to stop. If they continue that, they'd better be prepared to meet their Maker," he said.

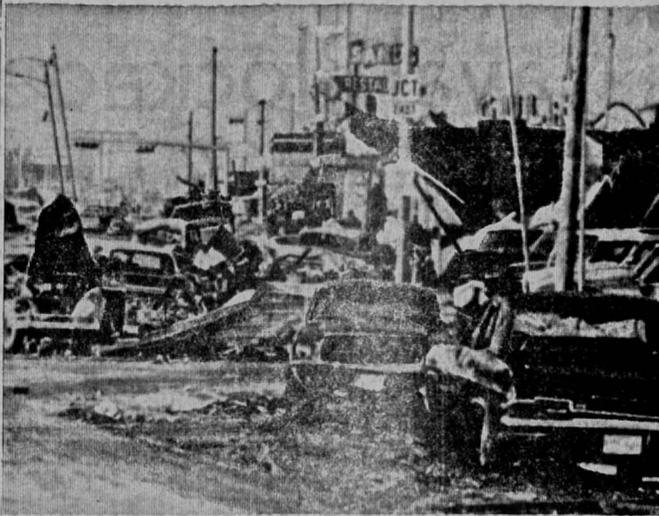

The Senate also passed a resolution "with respect to the campus unrest — May, 1970, University of Iowa."

The resolution states: "We recognize the right to disagree and respect the seriousness of personal convictions; however, we do not consider behavior which restricts each student's free choice of educational opportunities or academic freedom to be appropriate, desirable, or justified."

After much debate on the resolution, it was amended several times before passing, 21-7. Some senators claimed the resolution was in opposition to the strike; others criticized the "vagueness" of the resolution.

The 1970-71 Graduate Senate budget of $3,500 has been tentatively presented to the Collegiate Association, Steve Haisman, G. Iowa City, Senate treasurer, said. The Senate gets the bulk of its funds from the Association. Haisman said he thought the Association would approve the budget proposal.

The Senate also approved ex post facto an honorarium given by the Senate to the Women's Liberation Front (WLF) February conference. Senate Chairman John Casey, G. Reinbeck, had already given the money to WLF.

Texas Tornado

A jumble of wrecked cars, torn buildings and downed power lines lies in the wake of the tornado that swept through the heart of Lubbock, Texas, late Monday. Damage is now estimated at $100 million, and state officials said that the storm destroyed the homes of 4,800 persons, killed at least 20, and injured 350 to 500 persons. National Guardsmen and Highway Patrol units moved in quickly to patrol and direct traffic away from the city, but one policeman said that some looting took place before the winds had died. — AP Wirephoto

Race Riots Hit Augusta, Ga.

Maddox: Shoot if Necessary

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — National Guardsmen with live ammunition and orders to shoot if necessary stood by Tuesday to prevent a renewal of racial violence here that has claimed six lives.

Gov. Lester Maddox left Atlanta by plane Tuesday afternoon for an inspection of the riot-torn area as black and white leaders sought a permanent end to the unrest.

Violence erupted late Monday after a march by blacks through the downtown section.

Black unrest in the city began after a 16-year-old black prisoner, Charles Oatman, was beaten to death. Sheriff's officers said he was beaten by other prisoners.

The University Institute of Gerontology will co host a Midwest-Great Plains Regional Conference on Education for Long-Term Care Administration to be held at the University of Minnesota May 20-22.

Dr. Woodrow W. Morris, associate dean of the College of Medicine and director of the Institute of Gerontology, said Tuesday that although he was in sympathy with the measure, he would not support it. Democratic candidates State Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, (D-Iowa City) and William Albrecht University professor of economics, were both in favor of the amendment's passage, according to Gibson.

Over half of the University's student population had decided by the 7 p.m. deadline Tuesday to go home early rather than stay at the University through finals week.

A statement issued by the University Information Office said that 11,796 students had elected to take one of the three options offered by Univ. Pres. Willard Boyd to those who wished to leave early.

Boyd had offered students the options of: taking grades as of May 3 as final; taking a pass or withdrawal mark in their courses; taking an incomplete

Grad Senate Votes To Pay Fire Loss

Graduate Student Senate Tuesday night allocated $1,000 to reimburse graduate students who suffered losses in Saturday's early morning fire at Old Armory Temporary.

The allocation, which passed by unanimous voice vote, is valid only if no other reimbursements are made available from other sectors of the University. Requests for reimbursements must be made by June 1, and reimbursements may not total more than 100 per cent of the amount lost by a graduate student in the fire.

The Senate also passed a resolution "with respect to the campus unrest — May, 1970, University of Iowa."

War-Funding Bill Discussed

Between 400 and 500 persons attended a meeting at the Wesley House, Methodist student center, 120 N. Dubuque St., last night in support of Senate Amendment 609, an amendment to the Military Procurement Authorization Act for Southeast Asia.

Alan Spitzer, chairman of the department of history, explained the alternatives those present might elect to encourage additional support of the amendment.

Spitzer named four programs in addition to contributing money. They included: "Home Town Now," organizing students who will be leaving Iowa City soon; "Expeditionary Forces," canvassing nearby towns; Iowa City canvassing; and distributing informational materials in Iowa City.

Donald Gibson, G. Indianola, chairman of the Committee for 609, said he had contacted local Congressional candidates asking their feelings toward the amendment. David Stanley republican candidate for Iowa's First District Congressional seat said he was opposed to the amendment. Incumbent Fred Schwengel said that although he was in sympathy with the measure, he would not support it. Democratic candidates State Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, (D-Iowa City) and William Albrecht University professor of economics, were both in favor of the amendment's passage, according to Gibson.

Hoenk Slams Synod Views

The Rev. Paul R. Hoenk, pastor of St. Paul's University Lutheran Chapel, Tuesday afternoon called the decision of the eastern Iowa district board of directors of the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church "irresponsible" following the board's decision to review Hoenk's Iowa City campus ministry.

Hoenk made the allegation at a meeting on the front lawn of St. Paul's, where some 100 persons, mostly students, heard him say, "They (the board) had to pass the buck."

"That's the kind of irresponsibility I understand that you don't like to put up with and I don't either."

He maintained that he has been investigated four times within the last year by different segments of "the institution church to see whether what we were doing was cricket."

"I've had it," he said. "I'm emotionally drained. I wanted a showdown and you know what they gave me — a continued investigation for another month."

"The institution church needs an overhaul," he added. "You can help by letting them know that we're concerned."

Hoenk stated that he would hold a press conference concerning his investigation at 11 a.m. today on the front lawn of St. Paul's.

Ky Reports Naval Blockade

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese navy boats operated along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian coast Tuesday to intercept war supplies for Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

New actions also were reported north and south of Phnom Penh.

Nguyen Cao Ky, vice president of South Vietnam, flew to Neak Luong inside Cambodia on the Mekong River where he told newsmen that his country's naval forces "already have a blockade" along the Gulf of Siam from the Cambodia-Vietnam border to the port at Sihanoukville.

Asked if American ships were involved, the U.S. Command said its vessels were taking part from the border to the eastern side of Phu Quoc Island — about half the distance described by Ky.

The command added "this is not a blockade" and said the allied naval forces would intercept craft carrying enemy supplies.

"There is no intention to interfere with third country or Cambodian traffic or fishing in these waters," the command added. "The Cambodian government has been informed."

In another development, the U.S. Navy said a third aircraft carrier had been added to its 7th Fleet strike force in the Gulf of Tonkin to meet "operational commitments." It was the first increase in carrier strength on "Yankee Station" since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam 18 months ago.

Many — if not most — air strikes flown by the carrier-based planes are directed against Southeast Asian targets outside South Vietnam.

At his informal news conference, Ky also announced that the Cambodian army backed by South Vietnamese air strikes recaptured the provincial town of Takeo south of Phnom Penh from the Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese officials reported that government marines and infantrymen in Cambodia had accompanied a naval flotilla to Kampong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, then set out eastward along Highway 7.

If the forces continue along the highway, they will link up with American forces that already have cleared Highway 7 from Mimot to Snuol and now are pushing eastward.

The naval vessels picked up 3,000 ethnic Vietnamese refugees and returned to Phnom Penh to rejoin the flotilla that is scheduled to return to South Vietnam with those wishing to go to their homeland.

A dispatch from the Cambodian capital reported that Viet Cong opened fire Tuesday from the east bank of the Mekong River across from Kampong Cham as the South Vietnamese boats began loading the refugees.

An estimated 4,000-5,000 Vietnamese panicked as Cambodian army troops replied with heavy barrages of mortar fire. Old men, women and children plunged down muddy banks and spilled into the river, grasping for landing craft. But Vietnamese commanders remained cool and continued loading without firing from their gunboats.

A government spokesman in Saigon said about 7,000 Vietnamese refugees will be returned to their homeland by Wednesday night, including 4,000 from Phnom Penh and 3,000 from Kampong Cham. Their destination was given as Hong Ngu and Thanh Binh, western Mekong Delta towns in South Vietnam.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig, with U.S. 25th Division troops in Cambodia northwest of Saigon, reported that a mechanized infantry unit was hit hard early Tuesday after it set up in an enemy base camp area for the night.

The unit moved into the suspected regimental base camp Monday and found half-full rice bowls in the camp's mess area, indicating the camp's defenders had fled only a short time before.

Rosenzweig said the American unit set up its night defensive position and stretched strands of barbed wire about 200 yards outside the camp. Shortly before dawn, North Vietnamese forces launched a heavy ground and mortar attack.

When the Americans took cover from the mortar barrage, enemy sappers charged through the perimeter and got into the camp. The battle continued for about three hours before the North Vietnamese force withdrew.

American casualties were five killed and 44 wounded, one of the heaviest U.S. tolls in a single battle since the Cambodian operation began. Thirteen North Vietnamese troops were reported killed.

A division spokesman said later that many of the American wounded had suffered minor injuries and had been returned to duty.

The U.S. Command's evening communique Tuesday said 79 enemy troops were killed in Cambodia and South Vietnam, most of them by air and artillery attacks.

Seven Americans were killed and five wounded in scattered ground actions in the two countries, the command said, and one U.S. pilot was killed when his reconnaissance plane was shot down and destroyed in Quang Nam Province, South Vietnam.

Rosenzweig reported also that U.S. B 52s carried out about 10 air strikes Monday against a camp area suspected of being the supreme headquarters of the elusive Communist command. But when American troops entered the area Tuesday in steamy jungles about 10 miles inside Cambodia they found only tons of rice and other abandoned enemy equipment.

U.S. military sources expressed surprise at a statement by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in Washington that "several thousand" U.S. forces had already been withdrawn from Cambodia. The sources said their best estimate was that some 800 Americans have been permanently withdrawn from the operation.

Next Week: 8:30 to 4:30

Today a single girl needs more than just a closet full of clothes to call her own.

Like a closet full of eligible bachelors for starters.

But that's the rub.

If you're one of those women who doesn't want to get married, at least not right away, you know what we mean.

You want to live a little first. You want to kick up your heels, see a little of the world before you settle down.

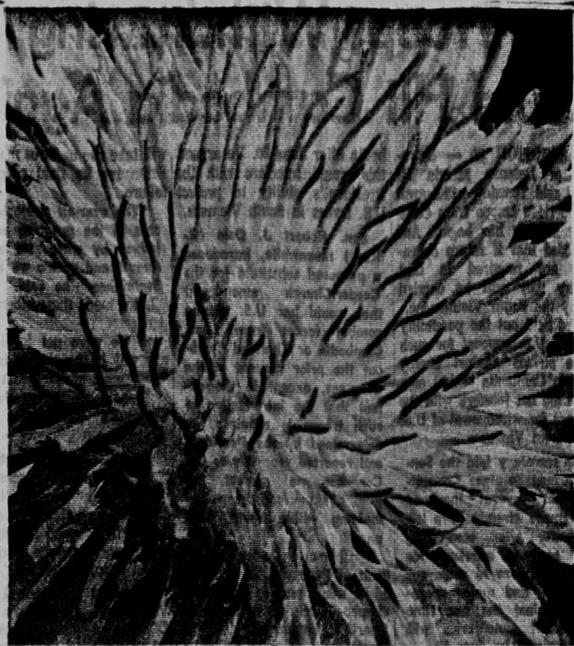

But, because you're you, you still want security.

That's where U.S. Savings Bonds come in. Bonds are a secure way to save. And you don't have to be making a fortune to save them. You can get started with just a few dollars a payday when you join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

And now Bonds pay 5% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year; thereafter 5.20% to maturity). That's the highest rate ever.

Who knows, the money you save might just come in handy when you fall in love and marry that guy who hasn't made his first million yet.

Local Gun Sales Increase In Wake of Disturbances

By KEITH GILLET

The recent demonstrations and disorders have apparently caused an increase in applications for concealed weapons permits at the Johnson County Sheriff's office.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office reported that 46 permits to carry a concealed weapon have been granted since Tuesday, May 5. In that period of time, usually less than two permits are issued, it was reported.

A spokesman said some of the permits have been granted to police officers and several others were issued to some guards at Oakdale.

"However, there is no question that this is an unusually high number," they said. According to Iowa law, the sale of a "concealed" weapon and the issuance of a permit for it must be filed at the sheriff's office within 24 hours of the sale.

State law also requires that such sales be reported to the county recorder within 24 hours of purchase.

A handgun is considered by the sheriff's office to be a concealed weapon. These guns generally range from .22 to .45 caliber.

According to a sheriff's spokesman, the permits are usually issued to sportsmen for hunting.

"The permits are issued for lawful activities only, they are not issued for the owner's protection. However, we cannot determine what an individual will do with the permits once they get them," the spokesman said.

The sheriff's office reported that the concealed weapons permits are issued only to Johnson County residents. Students who do not regularly reside in Johnson County cannot be issued the permits.

One Iowa City gun dealer declined comment on his gun sales. Two other firms reported some increase, but no large sale of hand guns.

One firm reported that it had sold some guns, but said that there was little increase in sales.

"We have had an increase in gun interest, but not in sales," said a spokesman. "There has been no increase in the sale of large caliber weapons."

"I would say that the majority of the interest has stemmed from the disturbances of the past week. People are looking mainly for hand guns," he said.

According to the salesman, "we had several students come in to look at guns that looked like they could have been demonstrators. They were looking at rifles and shotguns."

"Chug" Wilson, president of the John Wilson Sporting Goods store in Iowa City, called the reports of increased gun sales "hogwash."

Francis O'Neil, Johnson County recorder, reported that sale of concealed weapons had "increased only slightly" from this time last year.

In a four-week period from April 7 to May 7, 26 concealed weapons were reported sold, compared with 14 at this time last year.

"I'm sure that if we went back in the records several years, we could find several monthly periods where gun sales exceed this past period," according to O'Neil.

Cancellations

Alumni Weekend events scheduled for Friday and Saturday have been cancelled according to Joseph W. Meyer, executive director of the Alumni Association.

A number of alumni have recently cancelled their reservations for reunion dinners, he said, apparently anticipating that the student strike now in progress might create problems in carrying out the various reunion events.

Among these were dinners for the classes of 1920, 1940 and 1945 and a luncheon for all alumni. Tours, coffees and programs by some of the University's colleges were also scheduled.

The following School of Music events, which are listed in the calendar, have also been cancelled: Hawkeye Concert Band program scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday in North Music Hall, Charles Wendt cello recital scheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday in Macbride Auditorium and the Iowa Brass Quintet concert scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in Macbride Auditorium. In an earlier announcement the Symphony Orchestra concert, which was to be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the Union Main Lounge, was also cancelled.

U.S. Invasion Limit Has Some Flexibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 21.7-mile limit established for U.S. military operations in Cambodia has some flexibility, but how much is unclear from administration statements or discussions.

Indications are that orders permit commanders some latitude, perhaps a few miles, if circumstances require it.

But officials are emphatic in saying any major penetration into Cambodia beyond what is considered the general enemy base area would have to be approved by Washington.

In the present domestic political climate, administration sources consider it highly unlikely such approval would be granted.

Although the limitation was reportedly designed to keep U.S. ground forces in check, it covers river and air operations as well, officials say.

Included is U.S. air support of South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia, they said.

Administration authorities said they know of no instances where the limitation has been exceeded. This did not rule out the possibility that it may have happened and that word had not yet reached here.

A White House spokesman, asked Monday about reports that half a dozen U.S. advisers accompanied a South Vietnamese river flotilla all the way to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, told newsmen "there have been no U.S. personnel beyond" the approved limit.

Pentagon officials also said all U.S. personnel stopped within the limit, while South Vietnamese naval units proceeded up the Mekong River to Phnom Penh.

Associated Press newsmen reported last Saturday that four U.S.-made helicopter gunships hit enemy positions at the key Neak Luong ferry crossing 37 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Defense sources acknowledge there was some U.S. air activity around the ferry, which they describe as close to the outer limit prescribed for American operations.

One source calculated the ferry to be 22.8 miles from the South Vietnamese border.

Sihanouk Ouster Increases Red China's Asian Influence

TOKYO (AP) — In two months Red China has turned Prince Norodom Sihanouk's woes into its gain.

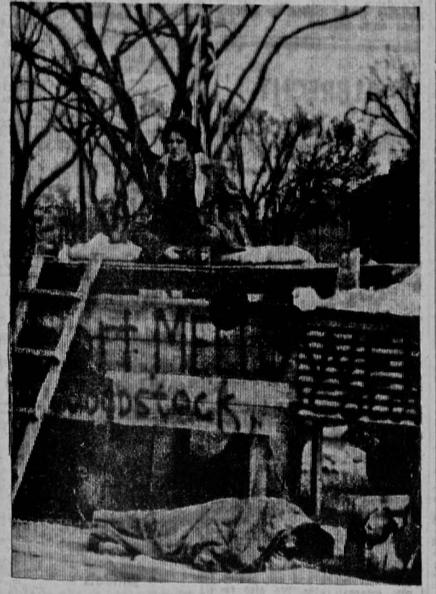

Peking now has a more commanding voice than ever before in the councils of Indochina's communism and is dreaming of wider opportunities in East Asia.

The circumstance which caused this was the Cambodian parliament's March 18 ouster of Sihanouk as chief of state. That event caught the garrulous ex-king en route to Moscow airport and his Soviet hosts apparently were unable to grasp the opportunity it offered.

Premier Chou En-lai, a shrewd diplomat, was at Peking airport to greet Sihanouk. What happened next bore the Chou stamp. With China's propaganda devices at his disposal, Sihanouk announced plans to return to Phnom Penh at the head of a liberation army. He called for support from the Communist bloc and created a government in exile.

By now, that exile government is recognized by an impressive array of nations including a number outside the Red bloc. The Soviet Union, however, has not quite reached the point of recognizing Sihanouk's new regime. China's premier, however, was quick to seize the advantage. Having prepared the ground by accusing the Americans of staging the Cambodian coup, Chou arranged a summit conference of Indochinese Communists, plus Sihanouk.

AFL-CIO Attacks War on Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO executive council, contending the Nixon administration's "blunderbuss" attack on inflation has backfired, gave the President a summation of their grievances when he called on them Tuesday.

The President met with the union leaders for the better part of an hour to explain his Cambodian position. The council earlier had adopted the statement on inflation and had given it to the President.

"We gave him a copy and asked him to read it," said AFL-CIO President George Meany, whose economic views differ greatly from those of the administration. "He said he would read it."

Meany released the statement at a news conference after Nixon left the labor organization's headquarters in downtown Washington.

"The administration's campaign against inflation has been a complete failure," the council statement said. Prices have gone up, unemployment has grown and the nation has crossed the threshold of recession.

The labor leaders urged the administration to impose controls on interest rates, to move to stimulate housing construction, to curtail business merg-

Moscow Lessens Opposition To Castroite Rebel Activity

WASHINGTON (AP) The Soviet Union appears to have dropped or lessened its long-standing opposition to efforts by Fidel Castro to export the Cuban revolution elsewhere in Latin America.

U.S. officials note that a renewed interest by Castro in supporting Latin American rebel groups has not been accompanied by any evidence of a negative reaction from the Soviet government.

"From what we have been able to determine, the Russians have done nothing to counteract what Castro's doing," said one official. "In fact relations between the two appear better than ever."

Previously, the Kremlin's policy had been to woo Latin America by offers of trade and by discouraging Castro from supporting guerrilla movements elsewhere in the hemisphere.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said in a recent article that Soviet trade expansion with Latin America enables nations of the region "to oppose economic pressure by impartial states."

The Soviet Union has been active also on the diplomatic front, establishing relations with five more Latin American nations over the past two years, leaving Paraguay as the lone South American hold-out.

According to U.S. intelligence information, Moscow's efforts to contain Castroite support for hemispheric revolution once took the form of a temporary suspension of its oil exports to Cuba, which is entirely dependent on the Soviet Union for the oil vital to its economy.

Castro appeared to lose interest in export of his revolution following the death of Che Guevara in October 1967 but signs of renewed support for rebel groups have been frequent in recent weeks. In a speech marking the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lenin, Castro said: "Our position on the revolutionary movement is that while there is imperialism, while there are fighters ready to fight imperialism, our people will give them help."

1,000 Protesters Stop Albany Mail

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 1,000 student antiwar demonstrators blocked the entrances to the federal building in Albany, N.Y., Tuesday, virtually cutting off mail service for about six hours in New York's capital city.

Elsewhere around the nation striking students at many universities returned to the classroom although protests — in a few cases violent — continued on a number of campuses against the Indochina war and the deaths of four Kent State students.

National Guardsmen were posted at the main entrance of the University of South Carolina where classes resumed after rampaging students vandalized part of the administration building and clashed with troopers and Guardsmen Monday night. The campus was under a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew until further notice. About 1,000 demonstrators of the 15,000-student campus were involved.

The student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., reported that 286 schools were on strike indefinitely.

But more schools reopened and others announced they would Wednesday. There are about 1,500 four-year colleges in the country.

Most of the protesting students in Albany were from the State University campus there. They marched on the federal building, which houses the main post office, and stood six deep at the entrances, keeping workers out. Only a few letter carriers managed to get in and out of the building, virtually halting all mail service in the city of 130,000 persons.

Except for two minor scuffles when employees attempted to enter the building, there was no violence. The demonstrators stood silently, their hands folded over their chests. Earlier, many of the students had demonstrated in front of the State Capitol and State Office Building.

At Michigan Tech University in Houghton, about 200 ROTC cadets joined 1,000 other students in building a one-acre park near the campus in what was termed a symbolic protest against the war and the Kent State deaths. "We'd rather have the ROTC cadets working with us instead of a few of us marching on ROTC headquarters to protest," said the student government president, Neil Kaiser.

Jerry Blackburn, a junior from Dearborn, said, "We wanted to impress on the public that there are young people who are against the war, but not burning down buildings."

The one-acre wooded area is adjacent to the Catholic chapel on the edge of the campus.

Police in Ypsilanti, Mich., reported that 83 youths were arrested Monday night and early Tuesday following disturbances at Eastern Michigan University. Students had barricaded campus streets and started bonfires, and windows of a bank and some in university buildings were broken. The mayor ordered a 10 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. curfew.

Fifteen demonstrators, most of them students at Iowa State University, and a professor there were arrested after they sat down in the street blocking a bus filled with draftees at an Ames bus depot. Several of the demonstrators had to be dragged away by police.

The police science building on a campus of Livingston College, N.J., a division of Rutgers University, was damaged extensively by a Molotov cocktail. No one was injured.

About 100 students at 1,000-student Virginia Polytechnic Institute ended a seven-hour occupation of the architecture school building but vowed to return if the university council, the school's policy making body, failed to endorse plans for a student strike. The sit-in ended after the protesters admitted several school officials to discuss grievances over strike plans.

Big 10 Athletic Schedule Jeopardized by Protesters

Conference Meets Up in Air

CHICAGO (AP) — The shut-down of riot-torn Ohio State could cost the undefeated Buckeyes the Big 10 baseball title. And the tense situation on other campuses Friday also worried the conference, which conducts league championships in outdoor track, golf and tennis this week.

Ohio State's baseball team, with an 8-0 record canceled doubleheaders at Michigan State and Michigan this weekend. Whether these games and six others remaining on the Buckeye schedule can be played now is conjectural.

A Big 10 spokesman said conference athletic directors assembled Tuesday at Bloomington, Ind., for the league's spring meeting to decide what will happen if Ohio State cannot play a full loop schedule.

The 18-game conference race, which ends the weekend of May 22, entered the weekend with Wisconsin in third place at 6-3 and defending champion Minnesota second with a 10-2 mark.

The athletic directors also may be confronted with problems involving the conference outdoor track and field meet at Indiana University, the league

Intrasquad Game Canceled

The student strike and campus unrest has led Iowa football coach Ray Nagel to call off the intrasquad game in the Stadium Saturday and end spring drills three days earlier than planned. Today the Hawks will go through a controlled scrimmage in the Stadium, and it will be their last workout of the spring.

Football Tickets On Sale

University students are reminded that to receive their priority for next season's football tickets, they must order their tickets some time between today and June 1. Student tickets will continue on sale on a non-priority basis after June 1, and will remain on sale until the first home game against Southern California Sept. 26. Cost of the ticket is $11, and includes the Southern Cal game, Wisconsin, Purdue, Indiana and Illinois games.

Mr. Cub Connects for No. 500

Banks Socks 500th In 4-3 Cub Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo's scratch single with the bases loaded in the 11th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday in a game in which Ernie Banks hit his 500th career home run and Rico Carty stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 30 games. Despite

'76 Olympics To Denver, Montreal

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Denver was picked as site of the 1976 Winter Olympic Games Tuesday shortly after the International Olympic Committee in a surprise move, gave the Summer Games to Montreal over the bids of favored Moscow and Los Angeles.

Thus both the Games for 1976 go to North America. The year marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of the United States. Denver was chosen over Canada's Vancouver, B.C.; Sion, Switzerland and Tampere, Finland.

Montreal won out on the second ballot in a vote by International Olympic Committee members. It's the first time Canada has had an Olympics.

The result came as a shock, especially to the Russians whose official news agency Tass, put out a premature bulletin some two hours before the final decision that Moscow had been awarded the Games.

Montreal, a sprawling city of 2½ million people of whom some 60 per cent are of French descent, is renowned as a sports capital in North America, home of the Expos major league baseball and the Canadians in the National Hockey League. Neither is a Summer Olympics sport.

Dr. Klotz Will Host Iowa Tennis Clinic

Donald Klotz, Director of Recreational Tennis at the University, will direct a tennis clinic for the public from 9 to 11 a.m. May 16 at the Stadium tennis Courts.

Klotz, former Iowa tennis coach, will exhibit displays of various types of tennis rackets, balls, shoes and other equipment courtesy of Wilson's Sporting Goods of Iowa City and Herky's Sporting goods of Coralville.

The clinic, sponsored by the Iowa Division of Recreational Services, is being organized and conducted with the assistance of university students enrolled in a group discussion course in the speech department.

METS TOP MONTREAL — NEW YORK (AP) — Art Shamsky hit a two-run homer and Dave Marshall ripped three doubles as the New York Mets routed the Montreal Expos 8-4 Tuesday.

Shamsky's third homer of the season in the fifth inning gave the Mets a 4-2 edge and Marshall capped a three-run New York sixth with his third double, driving in two runs.

Nagel Nabs 7 Iowans, 6 from Chicago Area

13 Sign Iowa Grid Tenders

Twelve high school and one junior college football standout have signed national letters of intent to enroll in the University according to Iowa coach Ray Nagel.

The recruits, seven from Iowa and six from the Chicago area, will be joined in a few days by additional recruits to be named by Nagel who have signed the national letter. Iowans who will become Hawkeyes are:

- Rob Fick of Oelwein, considered the No. 1 quarterback in the state. The 6-2, 185-pounder completed 55 per cent of his passes and had 1,200 yards total offense last season.
- Gary and Larry Hutchinson, twin brothers from West Harrison of Mondamin. Both are

'Chip' Oliver Trades Gridiron For Life in Hippie Commune

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — The scene was an old Victorian house on a Marin County hillside a few miles north of here.

In the basement, a girl washed clothes. In the kitchen, two young men baked bread for two health food restaurants.

In his drab room, Ralph "Chip" Oliver sat on his bed — three mattresses stacked on the floor — and tried to explain why he traded the violent but lucrative world of professional football for long hair, a beard and life in a 13-member hippie commune.

"There's no way I'll return to training camp," the 26-year-old, first-string Oakland Raiders linebacker vowed Tuesday in an interview.
