Suharto: Withdraw All Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Suharto of Indonesia, saying "we cannot afford just to wait for the sake of peace and stability in Southeast Asia" called Tuesday night for the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Cambodia.

In remarks prepared for a toast to President Nixon at a White House state banquet, the 48-year-old Indonesian leader declared "all efforts should be taken to prevent the war from widening and to ensure the preservation of Cambodia's right to sovereignty and neutrality."

In Asia, he said, "instead of the peace we had hoped for, the threat of a new war is spreading."

Suharto noted that as a nonaligned state which pursues an independent and active foreign policy, Indonesia took the initiative to convene a conference of foreign ministers of Asian countries. He said the conference which ended some ten days ago had taken a clear and appropriate stand on the Cambodia issue.

"The nations of Asia have started to take it upon themselves to meet the challenges that Asia faces today," he said.

But Suharto said the problems are universal and could not be solved piecemeal but only by international action.

President Nixon already had assured Suharto that the United States will participate in any conference of Asian nations and interested world powers convened to work out a nonmilitary solution to conflict in Indochina.

U.S. sources said the assurance was given during a 90-minute meeting between the two presidents and a concurrent White House conference of officials headed by Indonesia's Foreign Minister Adam Malik and Deputy Undersecretary of State Elliot Richards.

At a state luncheon given by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the Indonesian leader declared "all countries share a common responsibility to safeguard peace without one state being the protector of another."

Stocks Dip Again In Busy Trading

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell 10.20 points to 631.16, the lowest in eight years. The average has not been as low since Nov. 19, 1962, when it closed at 626.21.

New York Stock Exchange volume of 17.03 million shares came close to the 17.5 million shares traded on March 25, the highest this year. The Big Board tape ran one minute late at the close.

Declining issues led advances by about a 3-1 margin.

After falling 4 points in early trading, the Dow Jones average spurred ahead more than 3 in a midsession rally. The modest gain was erased later in the day, when the average started a zigzag but definite downward pattern. Analysts said the market's action illustrated its current confusion. Technical forces and occasional constructive news appeared to be in a tug-of-war, with over-all investor pessimism, they said.

The pessimism comes from fears of inflation, rising unemployment and lower corporate profits as well as concern over developments in Southeast Asia and Cambodia, analysts said.

Declines led advances by 1,027 to 388, with 217 stocks remaining unchanged. There were 943 new lows and 2 new highs for the year.

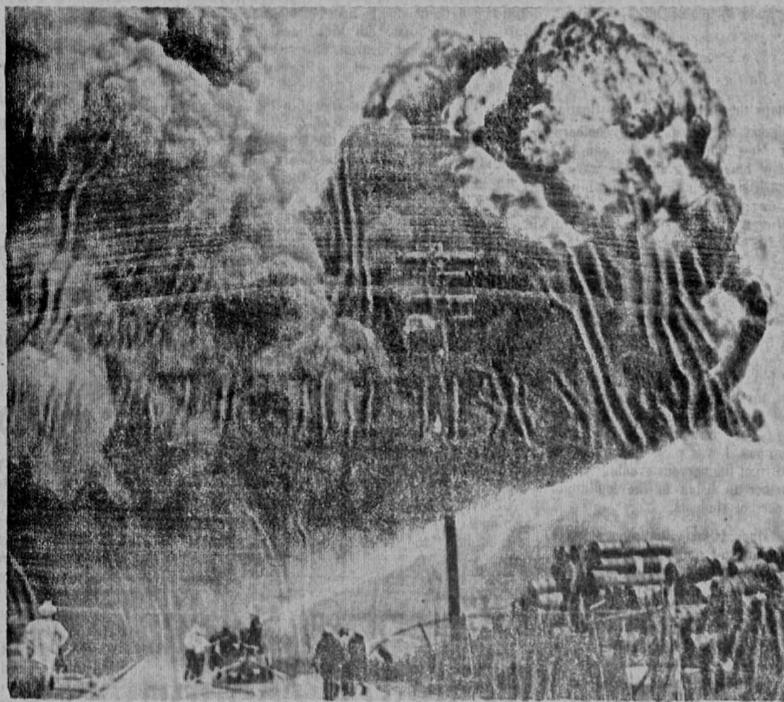

The Dow average has lost over 340 points during the past 17 months. Monday's 20 point loss was the average's biggest since President Kennedy's assassination. On that day, Nov. 22, 1963, the average plunged 21.16.

Over 36 per cent has been knocked off the Dow average since it hit a closing peak of 985.21 on Dec. 3, 1968. It lost 1.59 per cent during Tuesday's session. During the 33-month disaster period from 1929 to 1932 the average was cut back about 85 per cent.

The big question now facing investors is how low can prices go?

Some market analysts claim there has been a loss of confidence in the economy and in the Nixon administration's ability to resolve the war in Indochina. In an apparent effort to restore faith, the White House announced President Nixon would meet with 60 to 100 financial and business leaders Wednesday night to discuss the economy and the reasons for the U.S. move into Cambodia.

The session follows a meeting last week in Washington between the President and Bernard Lasker, chairman of the New York Exchange.

Project Gets Funds Immediately— Urban Renewal Plan OK'd

By CAROL BIRD

The Iowa City downtown urban renewal plan (R14) with a history of more than seven years of controversy and legal set-backs, was put on the long road home Tuesday as the federal government announced approval and funding for the project.

Announcing the approval at a press conference, U.S. Congressman Fred Schwengel (R-Davenport) said the $9.5 million project would be "funded immediately" by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The R-14 project a 13-block area bounded by Washington Street on the north, Court Street on the south, the Iowa River on the west and Linn Street on the east, is in the west central portion of the city's central business district.

Estimating the completion of the project in six years, City Manager Frank Smiley said final property appraisals and acquisition would be the next step for the city.

Smiley said he did not expect any buildings to be removed before next year. He said all property owners in the area would be given "adequate notice" before final action of any kind would be taken.

According to Smiley, little of the property in the R-14 area would be purchased by the city. He said the owners of property not purchased would have to meet city housing code requirements including fire regulations and other safety standards.

Smiley said the code had not been strictly enforced because the future of urban renewal specifically regarding federal funds, was uncertain.

He said the city would be shorting the property in the R-14 area and inspecting and property owners not complying with city standards would be asked to sell their property to the city or to improve it.

Smiley said most property owners did not realize how "serious" this inspection would be for them.

Schwengel announced that approximately $400,000 of the $9.5 million grant would be spent relocating the businesses and residents moving out of the R-14 area.

This "relocation" aspect of urban renewal has been one of the bones of contention by those arguing against the downtown urban renewal.

Federal law requires the city to offer residents at least three possible housing choices which they can afford and as similar to their present living conditions as possible.

Many persons testifying at public hearings and other City Council meetings concerning the R-14 project said they felt the city had not looked into long-range relocation plans before considering urban renewal.

Businesses in the R-14 area do not have to be relocated if they meet or can be improved to meet standards set by urban renewal authorities.

Businesses which do sell their property to the city have the first chance at buying the property back after the project is completed, according to Smiley.

Urban Renewal project R-18, located southeast of R-14, is planned partially as a relocation area for many of the automotive-type businesses in the R-14 area, according to Smiley.

R-14, now under final planning by the city, covers an area bounded on the north by Court Street, on the south by the Rock Island Railroad, on the west by a line between Linn and Dubuque Streets and on the east by Gilbert Street.

Planned for the new R-14 area is a parking ramp in the present College Street parking lot. The ramp will hold 450 to 750 cars, according to Smiley.

House Committee OKs $18 Billion Debt Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's request for an $18 billion increase in borrowing authority was approved Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, raising the public debt limit to $395 billion.

The legislation is expected to go to the House next week. Unless Congress completes action by July 1, the ceiling will revert to the permanent $365 billion figure, lower than the present actual debt.

Democrats Voice Support For Dismissed Editor-Elect

A group of non-University related citizens has voiced its opinion on the firing of Leona Durham, The Daily Iowan editor-elect, by the Board of Student Publications, Inc. (SPI).

The Johnson County Chapter of the Iowa Democratic Conference released a statement Tuesday questioning the board's reasoning for dismissing Miss Durham.

The statement, released by Edgar Czarnecki, 230 Windsor Dr., chapter chairman, read: "We must raise the question whether it was not the board which first breached trust by the act of suspending its editor-elect."

In addition the statement said, that "lack of technical competence has not, so far, been substantiated publicly." The group's statement contended that since Miss Durham was never given the chance to publish an issue of The Daily Iowan, the board's charge of incompetence was "difficult to believe."

The democratic group also charged in their statement that politics cannot be ruled out as a factor in Miss Durham's dismissal.

"Coming as it did at a time of great student political unrest on the campus, a decision to suspend normal processes of succession on the student paper can only be interpreted as a political act unless there is a preponderance of evidence to the contrary. So far there is not," the statement said.

Nixon Unveils Arms Deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has notified Congress that it is supplying small arms to Cambodia under a $7.9 million program which includes both Communist-made and American weapons.

State Department officials, disclosing this today, said Chairman J.W. Fulbright, (D-Ark.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has asked that the report sent to the Capitol last Friday be declassified and his request is under consideration.

State Department press officer Carl Barch confirmed at a news conference that the report had gone to the Hill and said it consists of three documents and is classified as secret. Asked why it should be secret, Barch said such documents normally are.

Barch declined to announce the amount of the Cambodian program, but informed officials said that it totaled $7.9 million as the ceiling for U.S. arms supplies to Cambodia until the end of the present fiscal year June 30.

The decision made by the President to provide aid to the government or Premier Lon Nol, these informants said, allows for the giving of U.S.-made weapons, the supplying of weapons captured from Communist forces, the selling of U.S. weapons and the transfer to Cambodia of weapons supplied to a third country such as South Vietnam.

The White House also said today the United States will conclude its operation in Cambodia on June 30 and all U.S. personnel will be out of the country by then — but not before.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler labeled as inaccurate a published story that all ground troops would be pulled out perhaps a week before the June 30 deadline.

In response to a question, the press secretary said there is no intention to reintroduce Americans into Cambodia after June 30. He repeated however, that the United States has reserved an option to assist the South Vietnamese forces with air operations, as a matter of security for U. S. forces in South Vietnam.

Ziegler said the pullout when it is completed, will have removed all those that President Nixon promised to withdraw when he announced his decision to send American forces into Communist sanctuaries beyond the Cambodian border.

Senate Braces For '609' Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 82 to 11 Tuesday to put into conciliatory language an amendment to cut off funds for future U.S. military operations in Cambodia. But action on the basic issue seems far off.

Instead, administration supporters launched the first in a series of moves to dilute or bar enforcement of the pending Cooper-Church amendment.

Sen. Robert J. Dole (R-Kan.) introduced a rider to make the proposed amendment inoperative while U.S. citizens or nationals are held as prisoners of war in Cambodia by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

Dole said this would add real meaning to the amendment by Sens. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) and Frank Church (D-Idaho) to bar funds after June 30 for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia. It also would restrict U.S. aid and use of air power in Cambodia.

Dole said of his proposal "I wouldn't think we would vote on this week." Asked if opponents of the Cooper-Church amendment are stalling, he replied "We are not trying to rush it."

However, Dole later withdrew his proposal. But he indicated to newsmen the opponents of the Cooper-Church rider will be offering several other changes.

All but a handful of hard-line opponents of any Senate curb on presidential war-making powers voted for the conciliatory language, offered by Church and Cooper in hopes of opening the way toward an accommodation.

But the White House says the revised amendment still is unacceptable, and the vote was considered meaningless by both sides.

Cooper-Church forces claim they already have a majority of votes. However, in order to put their amendment into pending military sales legislation, they will have to beat off a variety of watering down proposals — and then force a vote which some administration backers have threatened to delay until June 30 — the date President Nixon pledged U.S. troops would leave Cambodia.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he doesn't know when the basic amendment will be voted on. And Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said there may be two or three days on each alternative amendment.

Witnesses for SPI Testify Before Fact-Finding Panel

By CHERYL ARVIDSON

Members of Student Publications, Inc. (SPI), testified Tuesday that they feared The Daily Iowan would have ceased publication altogether, founded in an atmosphere of mutual distrust, or incited — through mismanagement — an already inflamed campus if Leona Durham had taken over as editor.

Miss Durham, G. Wichita, was first hired by a 5-to-1 vote of the SPI board, then delayed from assuming the editorship and finally fired on May 14.

A three-member fact-finding commission Tuesday began hearings to determine whether the decision to fire the editor-select was "unreasonable and prejudiced or in good faith and reasonable."

Following a day of testimony, SPI Board had not concluded its case, and the key witness — Lane Davis, professor of political science and chairman of the SPI board — was scheduled to testify this morning. The hearing reconvenes at 8:30 this morning in room 212, College of Law.

Most of the Tuesday session explored the various factors which figured in the position taken by the board in relation to Miss Durham's editorship.

SPI members David Schoenbaum, associate professor of history, Jerry Patten A4, Perry, and William Zima, assistant professor of journalism, related a series of events which they said, indicated a "lack of good faith" between Miss Durham and the board.

Schoenbaum said Miss Durham's political activism was a "plus factor" in her selection as editor but her staff's technical competence was questioned.

Schoenbaum, who has a journalism background, said he thought she would be able to obtain the needed competence after a "bumpy transition." In addition, the history professor said the SPI Board knew Miss Durham didn't get along with the DI publisher, John Zug, but was still prepared to back her as editor.

The apparent turning point in Board thoughts, Schoenbaum said, was the onslaught of campus demonstrations and isolated instances of violence following the announcement of U. S. troop involvement in Cambodia and the shooting deaths of four Kent State University students.

Patten, Schoenbaum and Robert Engel assistant to University Pres. Willard Boyd, told commission members of the disorder and fear of violence which had permeated the campus during the week preceding May 10. It was on May 10 that the Board voted to retain editor Lowell Forte until order on campus was restored.

Three overriding factors in the reversal, Schoenbaum said, were a phone conversation between Miss Durham and Davis, a statement she made accusing the Board of an "open act of political censorship" and a statement at a campus rally which was taken as a threat by SPI Board and as a soothing influence by others.

The phone call to Davis occurred following Board action to delay Miss Durham's takeover. She allegedly demanded a definite time limit on the postponement and threatened legal action if it was not retained as editor.

The "political censorship" statement came in a statement from Miss Durham published in the DI after she was not allowed to take control at the scheduled time. The rally statement came when students were talking about "militant" action against the paper because of the unusual situation.

The editor-select told protesters to "wait until Thursday" (the day the SPI Board was to meet discuss her case) before taking any violent action. Some observers said Miss Durham's statement calmed the crowd, but the board interpreted it as a go-ahead for disruption on following days.

Schoenbaum said "on the grounds of experience and continuity," Miss Durham's appointment was delayed, and "in the best interest of The Daily Iowan," she was fired.

He said Miss Durham had displayed "an irreparable breach of confidence between the employer and the employee."

Patten, who cast the single dissenting vote when Miss Durham was hired, said he thought she was far less qualified for the job than the other chief contender, for the editorship, Mark Rohner, A3, Dubuque, currently managing editor of the DI. Patten cited examples of actions Miss Durham took which, he claimed, "ruined" the rapport of the paper with key news sources, subverted the power of the publisher and imposed attempted censorship on advertising.

All witnesses agreed Tuesday that a staff changeover under normal circumstances would have been difficult for Miss Durham, but because of campus unrest, the change was impossible.

Both SPI Board and Miss Durham are represented by attorneys and the hearing is expected to continue into Thursday.

SPI Board's lawyer, Joseph Johnston of Iowa City, said he expected to call only one more witness — Davis. And Dan Johnston of Des Moines, Miss Durham's attorney, has scheduled four or five witnesses.

The three commission members — John McCormally of Burlington, editor-publisher of the Burlington Hawkeye, Mrs. Louise Noun of Des Moines, and Ron Carlson, professor of law — will hear final arguments and set a date for filing of briefs.

Letters to the Editor

Continued: SPI Board vs. Durham

To the Editor:

In the editorial statement of May 23, 1970, which was meant "to some extent, allay part of the misunderstanding" in the Durham case, we, the undersigned after reading it find ourselves even more confused.

We have no argument with "professional journalism" nor the need for a continuing student publication, but we feel it unfair to say that "Miss Durham and her supporters have been free, from the beginning of the present controversy to join us in bringing out a newspaper for the student body," since Miss Durham and her supporters were kept from doing just that by SPI Board's decision.

The rhetoric about a free press clouds the issue when a person, and we don't believe for a moment all the obfuscating statements issuing from certain members of the Board, has been maligned because of supposed "revolutionary" views.

We also cannot see how the six persons, many of whom are our friends, who were to be members of Miss Durham's staff could have accepted her appointment and then had second thoughts about working for her "without compromising their professional ethics." It was our understanding that Miss Durham intended to make The Daily Iowan more relevant to the University community and if this violated their professional ethics they should have said so and not accepted positions on her staff.

We respect their wish to no longer be "harrassed" and their unceasing labor "toward the ideals of a free press — at the University and everywhere." But it is this kind of liberal rationalization that led to the end of a free press in Nazi Germany and other totalitarian countries.

To the Editor:

Good God. How long will the present DI staff attempt to hide its ethical compromises behind a Gardol shield of undefined professionalism?

Only temporarily, I hope. Amoral automations already staff too many newspapers in America. Such rascals should be turned out, and Leona Durham's rascality should be given a chance.

The lady has faults, I'm sure. But nervously sweeping them under the moth-eaten rug of professionalism doesn't seem to be one of them.

Eric F. Oatman, G.
Rt. 1, Oxford

To the Editor:

Stop the presses! The Daily Iowan has unselfishly fulfilled its obligation to instruct and inform the University community. The result is that we are now relieved of our "misconceptions" in the matter of the SPI Board vs. Durham.

The issue, it seems, is professionalism. No one, not even Lane Davis, Lowell Forte, Rev. Dr. Forell, Martha Mitchell or Maynard Schneider, cares about Miss Durham's political opinions.

True, the Des Moines Sunday Register reports that editor-in-perpetuity Forte was dismayed when he saw Miss Durham demonstrating in the streets with a mob of Bolsheviks. But his concern was that this activity proved her incapable of unbiased journalism. Bravo!

Now that this threat has been aborted we await the day when the DI will challenge the Chicago Tribune for the title of World's Greatest Newspaper.

The DI has made its point crystal clear. It's all right, for example, if you were arrested while loitering beneath the plywood portico of Old Capitol. However, if you have an opinion about your arrest you are guilty of bias and must go back to Russia.

Perhaps the SPI Board's investigating commission will prescribe psychotherapy for Miss Durham. If she can free herself of bias and assume the warmth and sensitivity of a tadpole this misled youth may yet win back her press pass and erase-o-mark. Then Miss Durham will be fit to ascend to the editor's stool.

Patrick Irelan, G

To the Editor:

I have, before coming to Iowa, participated in the ghetto experience and, against my wishes, as a conscientious objector in Vietnam. It was refreshing to take part in the non-violent protest on this campus. I was pleased not only to help obstruct the nervous evening traffic, but further to listen to the legitimate grievances of students.

These students know that aggression in Cambodia means nothing less than that they will have to go into the jungles of Southeast Asia. There, like the rest, they will have to risk disease and death, and all for no good reason. The alternatives to this fate are the C.O., the jail and the escape to Canada. Anyone who does not protest against these choices is not alive.

However, the window-smashing approach is obviously self-defeating. It demands repressive action on the part of the community of Iowa. I was pleased to see some signs that students plan to go upstream to their homes and communities with the message of enlightenment, namely, plenty of reason before force. This is a hopeful sign, though perhaps a futile one also. It may not bring the quick and easy answer, but it can bring the enduring answer. If it does not bring the enduring answer, then nothing will.

The plea for violence, on the other hand, will only restore tribal jealousy and hatred. If the violent people keep on, I for one don't want to be around for the bloody consequence. At best, Czechoslovakia is their future world. I understand that Giap killed over 40,000 people in North Vietnam in a clumsy effort to institute collective farming. So the Pentagon is not the only advocate of violence. Count me out of these worlds. I look for the non-violent protesters for answers. I think they can do it.

NATO Hears Nixon Vow To Withdraw U.S. Troops

ROME (AP) — President Nixon declared Tuesday that the U.S. thrust into Cambodia is necessary "in order that both Vietnamization and withdrawal of U.S. forces may proceed."

"We still prefer to end this war by negotiation," Nixon said in a letter read by Secretary of State William P. Rogers at the opening session of the North Atlantic Council.

"However, I am convinced we will not have serious discussions, so long as the enemy believes that he can ignore our warnings and reject our flexible proposals for a settlement. We are not increasing our demands."

Nixon's letter, addressed to Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) pledged anew to pull 150,000 American troops out of Vietnam by the spring of 1971, even if the enemy continues to block a negotiated peace.

Nixon declared that the American operation in Cambodia was safeguarding the withdrawal program.

Of American operations in Cambodia, Nixon said most of the main objectives have been achieved.

"Our principal target is not personnel, but the enemy's logistic infrastructure," he said. "In the operations to date, the quantities of weapons and materials captured exceed expectations and are far larger than those seized in comparable operations in South Vietnam in past years."

Nixon said the amount of arms captured was big enough to equip 30 battalions of 300-500 men each.

Foreign ministers listened to Rogers in silence. Some said privately they were mystified by Nixon's expression of appreciation "for the understanding and support" which NATO countries have shown toward U.S. actions.

Leading allied governments including Britain, France and West Germany have either criticized the U.S. intervention or withheld backing.

The only support of Nixon's letter and Rogers' remarks came from Dutch Foreign Minister Josef Luns during council discussions.

Luns said there had not been normal consultation among NATO allies before the U.S. action in Cambodia. But he added that the trust has strengthened American credibility.

In a survey of the international scene, Rogers warned that war dangers and instability are mounting in the Mideast. He attributed this to deepening Soviet military involvement in the area and the escalating Arab-Israeli conflict.

Rogers said the deteriorating situation has compelled the United States to undertake a major review of all aspects of Mideastern crisis.

This appraisal includes reconsideration of Israel's request for more Phantom and Skyhawk planes.

The Americans withheld last March a decision to supply more planes to Israel, hoping to introduce an element of big power restraint into the situation. Moscow's only response was to beef up air power in the region.

'Hard Hats' Voice Support for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of construction workers' leaders told President Nixon today they will continue their massive demonstration of support for his Southeast Asian policy.

They presented Nixon with a construction workers hard hat, lettered "Commander in Chief," and said it was a symbol of their support to America's fighting men and "to bring the war to a proper conclusion."

In response, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, Nixon expressed his appreciation for the rallies held recently by construction workers in New York City and in other parts of the country.

There was no discussion, Ziegler said, of an outbreak of violence on Wall Street in one of the rallies several weeks ago when the workers beat a number of students.

"Of course the President doesn't condone in any way violence in any segment of the society," Ziegler said when asked if Nixon had expressed approval of that incident.

Peter J. Brennan, president of the New York Building and Construction Trades Council, presented the white hard hat to Nixon.

Nixon, who met with the construction workers' leaders for almost 40 minutes, told them of a communication he received this morning from Gen. Creighton Abrams to the effect that South Vietnamese forces in the sanctuary areas of Cambodia "handled themselves magnificently and proved themselves capable of handling the operation in South Vietnam."

The 23 union leaders had requested the meeting with the President.

UI Senate Tables Research Motion

By BILL ISRAEL

The University Faculty Senate Tuesday afternoon tabled a motion asking that the University withhold its endorsement of proposals for grants from outside agencies, including the federal government, which would fund research "designed to serve military purposes."

The proposal was one of three submitted by the Senate's Committee on University Relations with the Federal Government designed to limit University research "to the pursuit of knowledge (for) the benefit of mankind."

The tabling motion came after Robert A. Corrigan, associate professor of American Civilization, said he felt the proposal would take away "a great deal of money coming into the University to deal with social problems."

It marked the third straight day the Americans have run into increased enemy attacks in Cambodia's Fishhook border region north of Saigon.

"We're getting a lot of resistance in there," said a U.S. officer. "The enemy isn't standing and fighting, but he's getting more aggressive. Of course he knows where we are and it seems he's out to harass us."

The action began before dawn with an assault against troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division dug in two miles north of Mimot, a rubber plantation town about seven miles inside the border.

Six Americans were killed and 25 wounded in the attack which lasted an hour until American helicopter gunships and artillery drove back the attackers. The only known enemy casualty was one killed.

Later reports from the field said three companies of the 25th Division clashed with the enemy at points five miles southwest, five miles northwest and about eight miles west of Mimot, which lies 83 miles northwest of Saigon.

Artillery, fighter-bombers and rocket-firing helicopters pounded the enemy positions. In each case the enemy withdrew in dark with unknown losses, reports said. U.S. casualties were described as light.

U.S. Troops Meet Heavy Resistance—S. Viets Maul Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen battled enemy forces at four points around the Cambodian town of Mimot Tuesday, and South Vietnamese mauled a Viet Cong battalion 40 miles westward.

It marked the third straight day the Americans have run into increased enemy attacks in Cambodia's Fishhook border region north of Saigon.

"We're getting a lot of resistance in there," said a U.S. officer. "The enemy isn't standing and fighting, but he's getting more aggressive. Of course he knows where we are and it seems he's out to harass us."

The action began before dawn with an assault against troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division dug in two miles north of Mimot, a rubber plantation town about seven miles inside the border.

Six Americans were killed and 25 wounded in the attack which lasted an hour until American helicopter gunships and artillery drove back the attackers. The only known enemy casualty was one killed.

Later reports from the field said three companies of the 25th Division clashed with the enemy at points five miles southwest, five miles northwest and about eight miles west of Mimot, which lies 83 miles northwest of Saigon.

Artillery, fighter-bombers and rocket-firing helicopters pounded the enemy positions. In each case the enemy withdrew in dark with unknown losses, reports said. U.S. casualties were described as light.

In the action 40 miles west of Mimot, South Vietnamese backed up by fighter-bombers, reported killing 98 Viet Cong in a battalion south of the Chup rubber plantation, biggest in Indochina. Government losses were placed at three killed and 17 wounded.

The Chup plantation was seized last Saturday by a South Vietnamese task force.

Allied troops turned up still more enemy stockpiles of weapons, ammunition, vehicles, medical supplies and food.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported finding more than 100,000 feet of plastic explosive at one cache six miles inside Cambodia and about 50 miles northeast of Mimot.

At another nearby site, about 40 tons of rice was found stored in five tents and was destroyed by air strikes, reports said.

So far in the Cambodian offensive, the allies claim to have captured or destroyed 15,484 weapons, more than 1,000 tons of ammunition-including nearly 14,000 rounds of rockets and mortars — and more than 5,000 tons of rice and other foodstuffs.

The offensive has claimed the lives of 216 Americans, and 807 have been wounded. Revised figures show 504 South Vietnamese troops killed and 2,173 wounded. The allies claim to have killed 9,236 enemy troops and captured 1,225.

The offensive is being conducted along a 600-mile stretch of border with South Vietnam, from north of Saigon to the Gulf of Siam.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced the windup of a 16,000-man operation in southern Cambodia. Spokesmen said 710 North Vietnamese and Viet eight-day westward sweep from Cong had been killed in the Mekong Delta while 44 government troops were killed and 144 wounded.

Spokesmen said the government forces had returned to South Vietnam to rest and replace supplies.

In South Vietnam, seven U.S. paratroopers were killed and seven wounded in an apparent ambush on the Binh Dinh coastal plain. Thirteen of the enemy were killed.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up their heavy attacks in the northernmost provinces of South Vietnam to counter a new North Vietnamese buildup. The enemy shelled 41 allied positions overnight, wounding 24 Americans. The attacks also killed three Vietnamese and wounded four, according to incomplete reports.

No Hearing On Injunction

Iowa City requested and received a postponement of the hearing scheduled for today to determine whether a temporary injunction obtained to prevent disruption of Governor's Day activities May 9 should be made permanent.

The new hearing date is July 9.

According to City Atty. Jay H. Honohan, the postponement was sought in order to have time to notify all the persons named in the injunction of the hearing. He said some of those named have not yet filed replies.

Four University organizations and 22 individuals were enjoined from disrupting or exciting disruption of University events — specifically Governor's Day — and the occupation or obstruction of any building or harassment of any person in Iowa City.

The temporary injunction would have expired today unless the hearing resulted in making it permanent. With the hearing continued, the injunction remains in effect.

Rock Island Halts Service

Iowa City Sunday will lose its passenger train service indefinitely along with six other Iowa towns because the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) granted a request by the Rock Island Railroad to terminate passenger service to Iowa.

Claiming to have lost more than $1 million last year in two passenger train routes between Chicago and Council Bluffs, Rock Island officials said it was not "financially feasible" to continue service in Iowa.

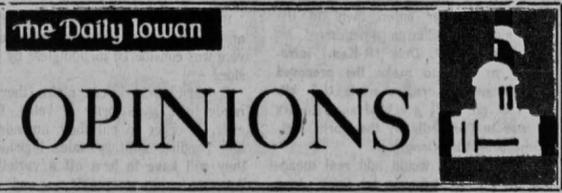

In granting the railroad's request, the ICC called for an investigation into the value of trains as a public service and possible future continuation of service. The commission last week passed a measure to allow discontinuation of the Rock Island service before any investigation.

Ex-HEW Panetta Hired by Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Leon E. Panetta, who said President Nixon fired him for pushing school desegregation too vigorously, was hired today as an aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Panetta, 31, stepped down in February as head of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), charging that the Nixon administration had deliberately encouraged defiance of the Supreme Court's order to end dual school systems immediately.

Lindsay, a Republican who frequently criticizes Nixon's policies, said Panetta will coordinate the city's Albany and Washington offices.

The exact science of body counts

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — One of the things that constantly impresses people in Washington is the accuracy of the body in Indochina. No part of the war has been handled with as much scientific accuracy as enemy body counting, and we know to the last Commie aggressor how many Viet Cong have been killed each day.

The Office of Enemy Body Counts is located at the Pentagon and has a staff of 23, 678 people. The director of OEBC is a civilian named Hammersmith Moody, who could safely be called the "father of enemy body counting."

"When the war first started," Moody said, "body counting was a hit or miss proposition. Our boys would go into an area, shoot up the place, burn down the village and then phone in a figure of enemy killed to Saigon. This figure was arrived at by questioning each GI who was in on the operation and asking him, 'How many gooks did you get?'"

"Now, almost every outfit in Vietnam had soldiers from Texas in it, and no matter what the other GIs said, the Texans would insist they got more. So everyone kept escalating the figures and pretty soon there was some question as to how accurate the count was. To further complicate matters, the South Vietnamese troops found out the easiest way to please the American high command in Saigon was to hand in high enemy body counts.

"The more enemy the ARVN commander could report dead, the more equipment, medals and promotions he could get for himself and his outfit, and pretty soon South Vietnamese officers were flooding Saigon with exaggerated body count statistics."

"There doesn't seem anything wrong with that," I said. "After all, no one got hurt."

"True," Moody said. "The complication arose, though, when these figures were reported to the Pentagon and released to the public. At the rate we were reporting enemy deaths, we would have run out of anyone to kill in the first 16 months of the war. How could we justify our staying in Vietnam after we had reported that everyone in North Vietnam was already dead?"

"It isn't easy," I admitted. "So I was asked to develop a new body count system which would make it possible to prove that we are beating the Communists, at the same time guaranteeing there were enough left to make us keep our commitment."

"How did you do it?"

"We took all the counts submitted by various units and divided by six."

"But even this figure was too high to announce every day, so we set up what could be called an enemy body count bank. Now when things are going bad and the press and public are getting restless, we release figures from the bank which will prove how well we're doing in Vietnam."

"Are you doing the same thing in Cambodia?" I asked.

"The emphasis in Cambodia has been on supplies rather than bodies, but we're still getting very high reports from the field. If we can report 10 enemy dead for every ton of rice seized, we'll be very satisfied."

"Don't you have a recognition problem in Cambodia? How do you know when you see a Cambodian or North Vietnamese body that it belonged to the enemy?"

Moody replied, "Through dental charts."

Israeli Troops Search Again For Arab Guerrillas on Border

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israeli troops marched into Lebanon Tuesday for the second straight day in a search for Arab guerrillas who have attacked Israeli settlements along the border.

But the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv refused to give details and declined to say whether Israeli troops were still in Lebanon or had pulled back into Israel.

Premier Rashid Karami of Lebanon told Parliament in Beirut that his Cabinet would decide Wednesday whether to ask for troops from Morocco and Tunisia to help defend Lebanon against Israeli attacks.

Proposals would be presented to Parliament for its approval on Thursday, he said.

Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel told Parliament in Jerusalem that Soviet involvement in Egypt had reached "an advanced and dangerous stage."

Israel has been trying without success to get more U.S. warplanes.

Twenty SAM3 missile bases have been set up in Egypt since last December, she said.

Maj. Gen. Mordechai Gur, Israel's northern area commander, told newsmen that the patrolling activity would continue along the entire length of the border with Lebanon at his discretion.

The current operation began Friday, he said. This was the day guerrillas attacked an Israeli school bus killing 12 persons, including eight children.

Two Israeli patrols were operating in Lebanese territory Tuesday. One was on the heights of Mt. Avvim, opposite the settlement of Malkiyya and overlooking several Israeli villages.

Newsman could see soldiers on the summit of the hill.

The second patrol was operating near Aitroun, opposite the Israeli town of Avvim, near where guerrillas attacked the school bus.

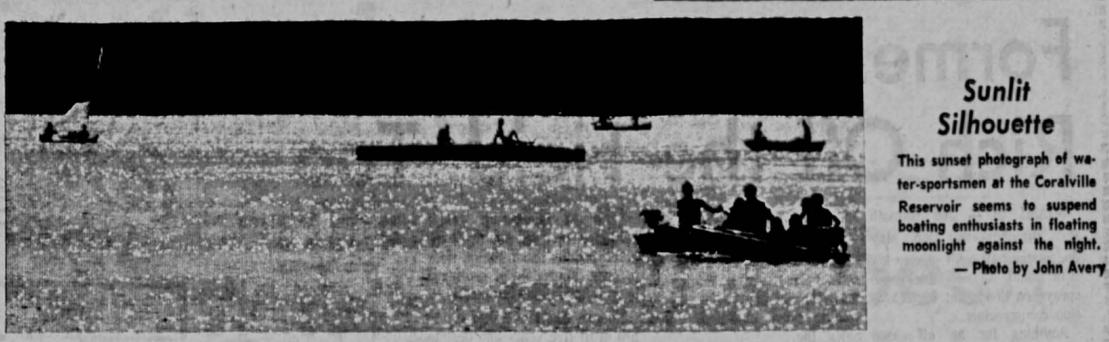

Gur said the patrols were small and no tanks were involved.

But correspondents in the area said they saw four tanks move into Lebanon Tuesday accompanied by two units of between 10 and 15 soldiers.

The Israelis Monday sent four tanks into Lebanon along with 28 soldiers in the first announced police action since the school bus ambush.

In the air way, Israeli planes were in action of the Suez Canal zone, hitting at Egyptian military targets for 35 minutes, said the Israeli spokesman.

Cairo radio quoted a military spokesman who claimed the raiding jets were driven off by anti-aircraft fire and there were no casualties or damage.

Former Hawk Noonan Gets Rich Off the Field, Too

MIAMI (AP) — Joe Namath sells hamburgers, Don May sells his hair with greasy kid stuff and Fran Tarkenton sprays on deodorant for television commercials. Anything for an off-season buck, these pro athletes.

Miami Dolphins wide receiver Karl Noonan has a new one. He sells yachts. As a matter of fact, the former Iowa star is vice president of Salem Yacht Sales, Inc.

"It's an interesting field," said Noonan, "but you don't exactly peddle these things door to door. Your field of prospects is rather defined financially."

Noonan was overlooked in the pro draft five years ago despite a record-setting career with the Hawkeyes. Miami signed the handsome speedster as a free agent and he now ranks as the expansion team's top all-time scorer with 96 points.

Noonan is one who thinks the artificial turf being installed in Miami's Orange Bowl will cut down on injuries. "That's what killed us last season," he said of a weak 3-10-1 campaign that finished Wilson. "We had injuries to a carload of key players."

Meanwhile, the money keeps coming in for Karl Noonan. He's a yacht pusher par excellence and also sells real estate. Now if he can only sell Don Shula, who claims that most of the Dolphin positions are wide open going into preseason work.

Shula replaced the fired George Wilson, giving up a successful reign as boss of the Baltimore Colts. The deal was later ruled an illegal procedure by Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who awarded Baltimore the Dolphins' No. 1 draft pick for next season.

Noonan is one who thinks the artificial turf being installed in Miami's Orange Bowl will cut down on injuries. "That's what killed us last season," he said of a weak 3-10-1 campaign that finished Wilson. "We had injuries to a carload of key players."

Net Lessons Sign-Up Starts Today

The University of Iowa Division of Recreational Service will begin registration for individual tennis instruction today.

Anyone wishing to register may do so in the Recreational Services Office, Room 111 Field House, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

There are four excellent instructors available for participants to choose from. The fee will vary from $2.50 to $4.00 per half hour lesson depending upon the skill and experience of the instructor.

The recreation staff will be available to help recommend instructors for anyone registering who has no preference or knowledge of any of the instructors.

Participants may sign up for any number of lessons they desire. Most lessons will be held between the hours of 8:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Limited evening instructions will be available.

Instructors on the Recreation Staff include Jim Esser, Nancy Nagle, Craig Sandvig and Richard Strauss.

Group lessons in both tennis and golf will begin June 15 with registration the week of June 8.

Anyone wishing further information may contact Harry Ostlander at 353-3494.

KNICKS SIGN JACKSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Jackson, 6-foot-8 forward who missed all of last season with a back injury, signed his 1970-71 contract Tuesday with the champion New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association.

UI Baseballers Set 22 School Records

Iowa finished a disappointing ninth in the Big Ten baseball race, but Coach Duane Banks is eagerly looking toward the future.

The Hawkeyes, who lost their last five games and seven of their last eight, were 6-11 in league play and 24-22 overall in a year that saw 22 records tumble.

The 24 wins set a school mark as the 1970 Hawkeyes scored (260) and allowed (207) more runs than any other Iowa team in history.

"Sure I'm disappointed," said Banks, "but I think the future is very promising. This was a very young team. We relied heavily on underclassmen."

All-American second baseman Gary Breshears (.350), center-

Heckroth also had fine seasons. Teklinski was the workhorse of the staff by pitching 68½ innings in 11 appearances for a 2.37 earned-run average. In 10 starts, he completed seven games and struck out 58.

Tschopp, who was 3-2 and had a 1.98 earned-run mark in league play, proved effective late in the season and finished with a 3.24 ERA in 58½ innings.

Cox went 35 for 83 in the last 29 games and hit a lofty .392 in Big 10 action. He led Iowa in homers (5) and set a school mark with Breshears for hits (49) in a season.

Breshears had a record 43 runs and 79 total bases and was tops in triples (6) and runs-batted-in (32). He tied Cox and sophomore Dave Blazin (.246) in doubles with nine.

Krull established Iowa marks for most at-bats (166) and bettered the stolen base standard for the second year in a row with 22 thefts in 28 tries.

Defensively, the Hawkeyes booted 82 chances for a .943 fielding average. Iowa completed 36 double plays, 13 in league games. In Big 10 play, Banks' squad had 13 errors and a .954 percentage.

Breshears, who had an errorless record of 148 chances, mishandled only four of 200 plays (.980) to pace Iowa in the field. The Raytown, Mo., product was in on 29 double plays.

Rutherford's Calm
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Johnny Rutherford, one of the front row starters in the Indianapolis 500-mile race, believes omens are at work to put him in victory lane Saturday.

"They say that the 500 is won from the pole position every seven years," Rutherford said Tuesday. "Well, numbers are working for me, too. This is my seventh start at Indy. This is my seventh wedding anniversary, and I have won four races from the seventh starting position."

"Seven years ago, in 1963, I set fast time in qualifying for the Daytona 500, my first big stock car race. And 11 years ago this spring I raced for the first time in a professional event."

Rutherford became somewhat of a darling with the speedy crowd when he came out of nowhere to post a four-lap speed of 170.213 m.p.h. That put him in the middle of the front row between Unser and three-time winner A. J. Foyt Jr.

fielder Dave Krull (.265), third baseman Bob Perkins (.267) and pitcher Alan Schuette (4-5) are the key Iowa losses.

Banks, who guided Iowa to a 14-13 mark after taking over for Dick Schultz April 17, was extremely pleased with the play of his underclassmen.

Flood Rests Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood rested his $3 million anti-trust suit against baseball Tuesday and turned the field over to the defense after a Federal Court judge refused to dismiss the case.

Judge Irving Ben Cooper ordered the case to continue "until all the evidence has been adduced," as he turned down a motion by baseball's lawyer, Mark Hughes, to dismiss all of the counts.

Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn is expected to be the first to testify Wednesday morning when the case resumes. It is expected to last at least another week.

Flood, the former St. Louis Cardinal center fielder who refused to accept a trade to Philadelphia, charges baseball has violated federal and state anti-trust laws, common law and that the reserve system constitutes "peonage and involuntary servitude" depriving him of the freedom of labor.
