Humphrey to Fight Wage-Price Freeze

MINNEAPOLIS - Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today began a new round of labor-management talks here after a 10-hour meeting with AFL-CIO union leaders.

"They think they're going to show their muscle by a wage-price freeze," Humphrey said. "We think the president is doing a better job." Humphrey added that he was "surprised that the unions were so co-operative." He also said that he had no plans for a nationalized system of control.

Colonel Sentenced to Three Years

LARGO - A former Florida National Guard officer was sentenced today to three years in prison and fined $3,000 for embezzlement, making a $25,000 bribe to another officer, and cheating on income tax returns.

The defendant, James B. Wood, 35, was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Edward W. Hedges Jr. The court found that Wood had been embezzling funds from his unit's coffers and had accepted a bribe.

Search for Suspected Slayer

DALLAS, Tex. — Three police officers on a search Thursday for a suspect in a Dallas triple murder were shot to death today.

Five officers were killed today, three of them killed, one wounded and a fifth officer injured in a gun battle.

One of the slain was a magazine writer, he has to put in print the word that's out there," Humphrey said.

Up against the survey

Yesterday, the Daily Iowan posed, as its lead article of the Daily Iowan. The survey went well and found that some students thought the paper was too conservative, some thought it was not enough, some thought it was not radical. The poll also indicated that the Daily Iowan had improved in the eyes of some students. It is not, however, the first time that the Daily Iowan has been polled.

The Daily Iowan sent out a survey to determine the extent of its readership and the effectiveness of its reporting. The survey included questions about the Daily Iowan's coverage of local news, state news, national news, and world news. The survey also asked about the Daily Iowan's coverage of student life, campus events, and community events.

The survey results indicated that the Daily Iowan is read by a wide range of students, including those who are interested in local news, state news, national news, and world news. The survey also found that the Daily Iowan is read by a wide range of students, including those who are interested in student life, campus events, and community events.

New Law to Mesh With Federal Laws—
Drug Bill Sent to Ray for Approval

A bill that would make it a federal crime to sell more than 100 grams of illegal drugs was approved by the House yesterday, and is expected to be sent to Governor Arthur R. Ray today for his signature.

The bill, called the "Drug Enforcement and Control Act," would strengthen federal drug laws and make it easier to prosecute drug traffickers.

The bill was the result of a Senate-House conference committee, which worked for months to reconcile differences between the two versions of the bill.

The final version of the bill was approved by the House by a vote of 23-19, with 11 Democrats voting against it.

Governor Ray is expected to sign the bill into law today, after which it will become effective.

Redeker: Tenure Abolition Detrimental to Universities

Professor Frankovich, speaking at the Union Ballroom on Tuesday, said the bill would be a "disaster" for universities.

Professor Frankovich said that the law would make it more difficult for universities to retain top talent, and would lead to a "brain drain" of academic professionals.

The professor also criticized the bill for being too vague, and for not clearly defining what constitutes an "exceptional faculty member."
Egypt: No Separate Peace—
Fighting Again in Amman

The Associated Press

The government of Iraq, under a separate peace agreement with the Palestinians, is pulling its armed forces out of Amman. According to the agreement, the Iraqis are scheduled to withdraw their forces from the city by the end of the month.

Senator: Military Evaded Questions

WASHINGTON, D.C. —

The Senate Armed Services Committee, in its investigation of the Iraq War, will hear testimony from the military about its role in the recent fighting in Amman.

Due to the Sensitivity of the Situation

A member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who requested to remain anonymous, said that the senators are interested in hearing from military officials about the recent fighting in Amman and how it relates to the broader situation in the Middle East.

Army Chief of Staff to Testify

General David Petraeus, the army chief of staff, has been called to testify before the committee about the current situation in Iraq and the role of the military in the recent fighting.

Senator Says He Has Been Misled

Senator John McCain of Arizona, the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has accused top military officials of misleading Congress about the situation in Iraq.

Military Officials Deny

Military officials have denied any attempt to mislead Congress and have said that they are committed to telling the truth about the situation in Iraq.

Senator Plans to Vote Against the Withdrawal

Senator McCain has said that he plans to vote against the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Iraq and has called for a comprehensive strategy to address the situation.

Recent Reports

Recent reports suggest that the situation in Iraq remains volatile and that the military is facing significant challenges.

Military Officials Urge Patience

Military officials have urged patience and have said that it will take time to assess the situation and develop a strategy to address it.
