More Students May Be Charged In DIA Incident

Two more University of Iowa students may be charged with violating university rules in connection with a December sit-in at the Placement Office by students protesting recruitment by the Defense Intelligence Agency.

Howard Sokol, assistant to the provost, told the Daily Iowan Wednesday that "no more than two students" may be charged with violating the Regents' Rules of Uniform Conduct for allegedly obstructing the entrance to the office.

University hearing officer Theodore Garfield last week recommended punishments ranging from probation to immediate suspension for 11 persons charged earlier in connection with the same incident.

Sokol said the additional students were not charged earlier because "we didn't get the names until recently and there wasn't any finding from Judge Garfield until recently."

Names of the students involved may be released early next week if the administration decides to charge them, according to Sokol. He said the hearing may not take place for about three weeks because of a 10-day advance notice for the defendants required by university regulations.

Four Enter Innocent Pleas In ROTC Protest

Innocent pleas were given by four persons charged in connection with the March 4 demonstration against ROTC. The pleas were entered in Police Court Tuesday evening.

Trials for Connie R. Kindle, N3, Gary A. Nelson, A3, and Elaine Johnson of Iowa City have been set for March 26. Kindle and Nelson have been charged with assault and battery and Johnson has been charged with obstructing an officer.

Another defendant, John Johnson, B4, has been scheduled to appear for a preliminary hearing Friday. Johnson is charged with "resisting execution of process."

The charges were filed by Campus Security last week.

'Left Wing Takeover' Squelched In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Military officers with ties to Socialists planned an outright takeover of the government last week but were prevented and are now being purged from the armed forces, a highly reliable source reported Wednesday.

He said the group wanted to seize the government on Friday, the day top military commanders forced the ouster of Premier Suleyman Demirel's government but allowed for civilian rule to continue provided it was "strong and respected." The military contended that Turkey was faced with anarchy because of student disorders.

President Cevdet Sunay now is trying to form such a government.

The informant said that more forced retirements and perhaps even arrests could be expected in the armed forces. He added that the purge by the top commanders might take in as many as 300 officers in the lower echelons.

Four generals, an admiral and eight colonels have been forcibly retired already from key posts in armed forces command headquarters.

The informant said the purge of radical officers, who had connections with civilians of extreme Socialist views, is backed by the majority of the officer corps.

He added the mood of the commanders, and the officers corps is tense and restless. All armed forces units remain on alert.

Any hesitation on the part of civilian politicians to form a new reformist government which would effectively clamp down on disorders would force the commanders to seize power.

Sunay started two days of consultations Wednesday with political leaders in an effort to form a "national coalition government."

After the consultations end Thursday, Sunay is expected to name a prominent independent as premier to put together the coalition.

Police early Wednesday captured the self-proclaimed commander of the "Turkish Peoples Liberation Army," responsible for the kidnaping of four U.S. airmen earlier this month.

Small Crowd for Candidate Talks

By LEONA DURHAM
Daily Iowan Editor

Squabbling and bickering among themselves like a group of old political hacks, candidates for student body president and vice president met Wednesday night in the Carnival Room of Burge Hall to discuss their platforms.

The "rally," attended by about 50 students was called a "success" by at least one candidate, Pat O'Bryan, Apathetic Student Party. "I would like to thank all the students who didn't bother to attend today's political rally," O'Bryan said. "It shows our movement has strength." O'Bryan said his presence at the rally should not reflect on his party and, declaring a victory, he left before the debate began.

Topics covered by the candidates ranged from daycare to the Peoples Peace Treaty.

All the candidates agreed that one of the primary objectives of the president should be to inform the student body and to find out what the student body is thinking. Plans for this differed. Three-fourths of the Collective present, Dave Helland, Mark Larson and Dave Miller, thought this could best be accomplished by the election of the four of them. Larson said that they would be able to spread themselves out over the campus in a way one president could not.

Steve Miller, on the other hand, suggested that an "opinion bureau" be established to sound out students. "I personally don't intend to say what students want," he said.

The question of academic reform was debated at some length by the candidates. Dave Miller pointed out to the audience that seven alternatives to the grading system will be on the ballot today and he proposed a committee-like association to deal with the problem.

A member of the audience who identified himself only as J.A.B. asked each of the candidates where they stood on the Peoples Peace Treaty. Mike Vance said that his running mate, Ted Politis, who failed to arrive at the meeting until adjournment time, voted against the treaty when it came before senate. But he added that this did not have anything to do with the Vietnam War, but rather was due to the possibility that it would be illegal under the Logan Act.

One member of the audience snickered at that point and noted that it is illegal in the state of Iowa for two people to kiss under water.

Couto said he favored the treaty. "I endorse the treaty as a political stance," he said. He said that it is one way for students to get their feelings across.

The Collective was brief, saying only, "We're for it."

Most of the candidates expressed some interest in the idea of daycare. Lowell Brandt proposed a "student task force" to work on the idea. The Collective strongly endorsed the concept.

Vance expressed the opinion that the important task facing the president was that of giving senators something to do. "You have to have people who are going to do things," he said, and added that senators had to have direction from the president.

The last, and potentially most interesting question of the evening was from Larson to Vance and dealt with allegations that Politis — Vance's still absent running mate — had been involved in a slum housing rental deal.

Randy Stephenson responded to the question by saying that he and Politis had been hired to fix the places up and rent them. He said that they did not want to rent the rooms to students but rather had hoped to rent them to workers.

Stephenson claimed the situation "wasn't our fault" and said they (he and Politis) didn't set policy.

Politis arrived in the middle of Stephenson's explanation but did not address himself to the question.

Instead Yepsen interrupted Stephenson, saying, "This whole night has been a farce," and accused the candidates of quibbling. He added that he supported Politis.

The evening closed with Yepsen saying to the Collective "I compliment you guys on a new idea. But what the hell, most students could give a shit."

Miller-Olson Ticket May Have Overspent; Baker Files Charges

Financial statements issued Wednesday indicate that at least one presidential candidate has overspent the campaign spending limits imposed by Student Senate, and preliminary protest has been lodged as a result.

Steve Miller, A3, and his running mate Dean Olson, A3, exceeded senate's $75 maximum by $4.80, according to figures released by elections board chairman Steve Quiner, A4.

Steve Baker, A3, campaign manager for the Couto-Brandt ticket filed the charges against Miller-Olson Wednesday.

The Ted Politis-Michael Vance ticket spent a total of $74.87; the Collective (Mark Larson, Dave Helland, Dave Miller and Louis Katz) spent $70; Doug Couto-Lowell Brandt spent $74.18; and Dave Albrecht-Roger Finnegan spent $2.05, according to information they filed with Quiner.

Of the 16 senatorial candidates who filed statements, the most common expense report was "0.00" with none of the candidates overspending senate's $35 limit.

Before McMurray bowed out, Magee also had given him a copy of a new petition to the U.S. District Court in San Francisco to take over the entire case.

The federal court previously had rejected a similar petition, but this one covered both himself and Davis. This raised a question whether it was new business.

Population Commission Urges Strict Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commission on Population Growth and the America Future recommended Wednesday that the nation develop an explicit policy on population control.

The recommendation for adoption of a national population-control position is contained in the commission's interim report to President Nixon summing up its first year of work.

"Despite the pervasive impact of population growth on every fa-magee said, "I object. Any further proceedings by this judge at this time would be a violation of my rights."

"I will refuse to act any further in this matter," the judge ruled, adjourning court indefinitely.

McMurray, 26, was assigned from sparsely populated Inyo County in southeastern California after all Marin County judges had disqualified themselves because of friendship for Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, killed in the August break. Two black convicts and an accomplice also were killed. Magee himself was wounded seriously.

The California Judicial Council now will have to find a new judge to start all over.

Attorney Moore said he intended to file motions within 72 hours with the State District Court of Appeals and possibly the State Supreme Court and federal courts to try to get bail for Davis.

Moore insisted there was "no split at all" between the defendants, although Magee had stalled her bail hearing and at Tuesday's session had shouted sarcastically to her, "You're a real friend!"

Magee is under indictment charged with actually killing Judge Haley and also jointly under indictment with Davis, who is accused of masterminding the escape plot and furnishing the four guns that were used.

Magee's handwritten petition to Judge McMurray gave no actual "cause" for disqualification, but the judge's acceptance of it "for cause" left the prisoner with a peremptory challenge of any new judge, one of his court-appointed lawyers pointed out.

There was no immediate explanation of what "cause" was involved. The lawyer, Robert Carrow, said: "Mr. Magee is perhaps one of the most qualified nonlicensed attorneys practicing in San Quentin."

Before McMurray bowed out, Magee also had given him a copy of a new petition to the U.S. District Court in San Francisco to take over the entire case.

cet of American life, the United States has never developed a deliberate policy on the subject," the commission report says.

"There is need today for the nation to consider population growth explicitly and to formulate policy for the future," the report states.

The commission, headed by John D. Rockefeller III, notes that at times a low birth rate is a problem and at other times population explosions cause concern.

"The tension between population and the economy, population and the environment, population and government services, is with us at all times in different forms and degrees," the commission says. "Whether we wish to alter it or to live with it, we cannot afford to ignore it."

The commission, which has another year to run, plans to offer specific recommendations on just what the policy should be in its final report.

But the panel says the nation probably will grow to 300 million population regardless of any policy that may be established, with the real question whether it would level off there.

"Whether we add that fourth hundred million may be determined by what Americans do about family size and population in the next couple of decades," the report says.

While staggering figures could be projected for the future, the report says, they can fluctuate broadly through only small changes in family size.

If families in the United States average only two children and immigration continues at the current level, population would still reach 266 million by the end of the century, the report says. If the average family has three children, it would reach 321 million. "One hundred years from now, the two-child family would result in a population of 340 million persons," the commission finds. "The three-child average would produce nearly a billion."

SST Skin Cancer Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three scientists said today that supersonic jetliners could increase skin cancer. Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) charged that the White House gagged a fourth.

The three experts agreed at a news conference called by Proxmire that scientific evidence supports the possibility that SST's could increase U.S. skin cancer cases by 10,000 a year, although there is no proof.

Proxmire charged that Dr. Gio Gori of the National Cancer Institute — who said the increase would range from 23,000 to 103,000 skin cancer cases in the United States alone — was prevented by White House intervention from appearing at the news conference.

Calley Jurors Deliberate

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A shirt-sleeved court-martial jury went through its initial day of debate Wednesday over Lt. William Calley Jr.'s involvement in the My Lai massacre of three years ago.

Thieu Forces Routed

SAIGON (AP) — American pilots reported some Thieu regime forces were retreating in Laos on Wednesday and insurgent gunners rained artillery, mortar and rocket fire on Landing Zone Brown, an important base 14 miles from the Vietnamese frontier. Pilots said the base was doomed.

In South Vietnam, the major support base of Khe Sanh was shelled for the third night in a row.

Saigon's military headquarters insisted the pullbacks in Laos were tactical, but the pilots said fighting was severe in some areas. They noted that Thieu's troops have abandoned two of their four fire bases south of Highway 9, the main Laos invasion route, and fallen back 15 miles in the past few days.

Public Job Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee approved 15 to 2 Wednesday a $1.75 billion public service jobs bill strongly opposed by the Nixon administration.

Sponsors estimate the measure could make available immediately about 150,000 jobs for state, city and local government units. It has the backing of many mayors and governors.

Nixon OKs Social Security Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed into law Wednesday a bill boosting Social Security benefits by 10 per cent across the board, but he called on Congress to vote the money now to pay for it.

Nixon said the rise in benefits is urgently needed.

Urge Reform Of Insurance By the States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will tell Congress Thursday that the nation's automobile insurance system is not working but that the responsibility for changing it lies with the states.

In a statement for the Senate Commerce Committee, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe will ask Congress to pass a resolution urging states to update their insurance laws and recommending they adopt the so-called "no-fault" system.

Under the system accident victims are compensated regardless of who was at fault. The recommendations are the result of a $1.6-million study by the department that took nearly three years.

The proposed resolution notes that at present many seriously injured people get nothing or only a fraction of their losses while others end up with far more than they should.

He asked that the states be urged to act with the understanding that if they don't, Congress will.

If your idea of enjoying yourself is sermonette, you won't appreciate the May Flower.

You won't be glad when classes are over and it's time to relax. You won't relish the thought of getting back to your apartment to unwind, study, sack out, or relax in any of the facilities available to you.

Then again, if sermonette isn't exactly your bag, you'll swing free and easy in any of our two student apartment suites with adjoining baths and kitchenettes. You'll enjoy separate study areas, air conditioning, wall to wall carpeting and furnishings that are easy on the eyes, and body.

Try these . . . heated indoor swimming pool, men's and women's sauna baths, exercise dens, lounges and TV rooms . . .

If your idea of fun and the right way to live is the same as ours, then you won't be turning to sermonette, you'll be turning to the May Flower apartments.

Applications are now being accepted for summer and fall occupancy.

Wicks, Carr Top All-America Unit— Brown to AP's 3rd Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidney Wicks, 6-foot-8 jumping jack of UCLA's defending national champions, and Austin Carr, Notre Dame's 6-3 shooting whiz, top the 1971 All-American college basketball team selected Wednesday by The Associated Press.

Also named to the all-senior squad were 7-2 Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville, 7-0 Jim McDaniels of Western Kentucky and Dean Meminger, 6-1 floor general who led Marquette to 39 straight victories.

Three more seniors, a junior and a sophomore were chosen for the second team on the basis of votes from 479 sports writers and broadcasters.

John Roche of South Carolina, Dave Robisch of Kansas and Curtis Rowe of UCLA are the seniors. Paul Westphal of Southern California is the junior and Johnny Neumann of Mississippi is the sophomore.

Indiana's George McGinnis, another star sophomore, was named to the third team along with four seniors — Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech, Howard Porter of Villanova, Fred Brown of Iowa and Cliff Meely of Colorado.

Jim Clemons of Ohio State,

Ken Durrett of LaSalle, Corky Calhoun of Pennsylvania, Stan Love of Oregon, Jimmy England of Tennessee, Tom Payne of Kentucky, Charlie Davis of Wake Forest, Jeff Halliburton of Drake, Dennis Wuycik of North Carolina and Charlie Yelverton of Fordham were high up on the list of honorable mentions. Gilmore, whose college career was ended in last Saturday's 74-72 defeat by Western Kentucky, signed a reported multimillion contract with the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association on Tuesday.

Wicks, Carr, McDaniels and Meminger all will be in action in the second round of the NCAA tourney Thursday night.

Wicks goes against Brigham Young in the West regional at Salt Lake City. Carr against Drake in the Midwest regional at Wichita, Kan.; McDaniels against Kentucky in the Mideast regional at Athens, Ga., and Meminger against Ohio State, also in the Mideast at Athens.

Algona, Alta Win in State

DES MOINES (AP) — Seventh-ranked Algona soared to a 10-point lead in the first four minutes Wednesday afternoon and stunned Class AA favorite Des Moines North 55-48 in the 49th annual Iowa High School Athletic Association state basketball tournament. The Alta Cyclones, who finished second in the Sioux Valley Conference, upended Boyden-Hull, 79-63 in the afternoon round of the Class A tournament.

Second-ranked North missed its first five shots from the field and by the time Dave Houston hit a field goal for the Polar Bears Algona led 11-1. Algona moved to a 15-4 lead with 3:26 to play in the quarter and was up 21-9 at the end of the quarter.

No Algona scorer finished in double figures behind Espe, but the other four starters showed good balance with Gary Walker and Nielsen getting nine points each, Roeber eight and Bruce Johnson seven.

Cold shooting was, in the final analysis, the point which hurt North the most. For the four quarters the Polar Bears shot 22 of 14, 4 of 15, six of 13 and four of 15 for a cool game percentage of 28 per cent. Algona, meanwhile, finished with a 40 per cent mark from the field in the first quarter to jump to the big lead.

Dallas Smith and Evans each had 14 points for North which went to the sidelines with a 20-3 record. Algona 22-1 also held a 46-44 rebounding edge.

Alta employed a swift, fast break and a tough rebounding game to race to a 79-63 opening Class A victory Wednesday afternoon in the 49th Annual Iowa High School Athletic Association State Basketball Tournament.

After a nip and tuck first 12 minutes, Alta took a 21-20 lead with 3:31 to play in the first half and never trailed. The Cyclones led 32-28 at halftime.

Brothers Tom and Jim Husmann totaled 34 points for Alta, 21-3. Tom had 22. Jim added 12, including six for eight from the field. Jim did not start the game and collected all his points in the second half as Alta pulled away.

Boyden-Hull closed to 37-35 midway in the third quarter but Alta ran off six points to spring to a 43-35 lead. Thereafter the lead never was reduced to less than six points.

Boyden-Hull closed to 57-51 with 5:11 to play before the Cyclones ran off six straight points.

A seven point Alta burst made the lead 70-55 with 2:14 to play.

Steve Moser chipped in with 18 points and Dave Rohlf added 12 for Alta.

Jay DeZeeuw led Boyden-Hull with 25 points and Jerry Reuvers added 13.

The Comets bowed out with a 16-8 record.

Injury, Eligibility Problems, Slowed Hawkeye Frosh

By MIKE GILL
DI Sports Writer

What was forecast as a banner year for Iowa's freshman basketball team never developed as the young Hawks finished 8-4.

While Coach Dick Kuchen's club easily defeated the junior college and junior varsity teams they faced, they went 0-4 against freshman teams.

These four losses were to strong freshman teams, however. Wisconsin, who edged the Hawkeyes 81-75, had a 12-1 record and won their last 10 games. Creighton was 12-0 when they beat Iowa 102-86 and both Iowa State and Drake, the other victors over the frosh, were top notch teams.

"Sure the freshman season was disappointing," said varsity Coach Dick Schultz, "but they had problems with Harold Sullinger's eligibility, Neil Fegebank's injury and a tough schedule."

Sullinger, who has regained his eligibility, missed the final seven games. Fegebank was hampered by a stress fracture, which caused him to miss two contests.

With the two prep All-Americans sidelined, Jim Collins developed into the team leader. The 6-8 center set four freshman records — most field goals in a season (83), most free throws in a season (62), most points in a season (228) and most points in a single game (33 against Creighton).

The former all-stater from Ft. Dodge averaged 19 points and 11.3 rebounds a game, while shooting 50 per cent from the field and just under 75 per cent from the foul line.

Coach Kuchen was pleased with the progress of guards Reggie Vaughan and Tom Hurn. Vaughan hit at a 13.6 clip while Hurn, who is on a basketball tender, was close behind with 13.4.

Sullinger in his limited season averaged 22.4 points per game and 17.6 rebounds. Fegebank was the team's second leading scorer with a 17.4 mark. The 6-7 Paullina native also pulled down 12 rebounds a game.

DICK SCHULTZ
Problems Hurt Frosh

Forward Ted Raedeke had a 7.7 average and posted the best field goal percentage mark with 54.5.

Coach Schultz labeled this year's varsity campaign as an "interim season" so it is safe to say that he'll be looking to this year's freshmen for added help next year. With Kevin Kunnert the only Hawkeye assured of a starting berth next year, the freshmen front line of Sullinger, Collins and Fegebank can expect to see a good deal of action.

'The Committee System . . . Is a Mess'— Faculty Power: Bureaucracy and Elitism?

By RUARD VANDERPLOEG
In his book-cluttered office five flights up in Phillips Hall, Prof. Charles E. Marberry sat reclining behind his paperstacked desk, in shirt sleeves, smoking a charred and split corn pipe. Accused by the radical New University Conference (NUC) of being the "champion elitist" of faculty committees, he spoke in his smooth southern Illinois drawl about his role as a member of the university power elite.

lighted to be off," he said. He is currently a member of five faculty groups. In addition to Faculty Senate and Faculty Council, the senate's executive branch, he serves on the Senate Committee on Budgetary Review, the Funded Retirement and Insurance Committee and the Senate Committee on Committees.

Asked if being on so many faculty committees takes time away from his teaching responsibilities, he replied, "It takes time away from my family, not from classes. Teaching is an open-ended job. Today I may spend four hours with students and the rest of the day on committee work. This only means I'll have to be here on Saturday too." Marberry has been teaching since 1950. He came to Iowa in 1959 from the University of Delaware, and has been a full professor since 1964. His specialty is financial markets and investments. His teaching load is six semester hours this spring, down from nine hours in the fall, due, he says, to his heavy load of graduate students.

lection is made by a voting system in which members of the Committee on Committees rate the candidates according to preference. The person with the best numerical rating is then asked if he is willing to serve, and if he agrees his name is submitted to the Faculty Senate for approval. Appointments are usually for three years.

POWER CONCENTRATION
To NUC, Marberry exemplifies the professor burdened with time-consuming committee work that might keep him from his teaching responsibilities. In addition, he typifies a concentration of power in the hands of relatively few tenured and conservative professors, many of whom teach in the professional schools of the University of Iowa, according to Carol Ehrlich, a NUC researcher.

NO AVERAGE LOAD
Whether this is above or below the average for University of Iowa professors is difficult to determine. Associate Provost George Chambers claims an average figure is meaningless. Teaching loads may vary from three to 15 hours, depending on the faculty member's graduate student load and who pays his salary.

The three Ph. D. candidates and four master's degree students Marberry advises take up a lot of his time, Marberry says. He claims he has spent up to 40 hours in a week with one graduate student who was trying to define his thesis topic. "But that's what teaching is for," he said. "I can't understand faculty members who don't want to work with students. I enjoy working with them."

He has been recommended several times by his students for teaching awards given by the University.

ed to serve. When I've done my share I want to get off. Now I'm trying to avoid all committees."

"There is less concentration of power today than in the past," Brody said, "because there has been a conscious effort to distribute it." Two years ago his group adopted a policy of not allowing a faculty member to serve on more than one faculty committee. In addition, the committee has tried to maintain an equal distribution of committee positions among tenured and non-tenured professors, and among university departments and colleges, he asserted.

But their efforts may be undermined by the president, who has the power to appoint his own faculty study groups, Brody said.

'CO-OPTING' POWER

Howard Ehrlich, associate professor of sociology, called this administration maneuver a "power co-optive mechanism."

"The way it works," he said, "is that when you are faced with a committee you don't trust you appoint an ad hoc committee to take over their function."

As a special group appointed by the university president, the group would have an overriding power and command special respect, Ehrlich said.

Brody admitted that the membership of his committee "will in a large part determine the kinds of people who get onto other faculty groups."

"The people whose names are most likely to come up are the ones who are best known," he said. "There is still not a high enough representation of assistant professors."

Brody said he thought the faculty should work toward more equal distribution of positions among the younger faculty members.

"The senior people tell the younger ones to pay attention to their professional duties and not get involved in a lot of other activities," he said. "But I can't imagine anyone with more stake in the future of things around here than a young man."

Brody said he thinks many are willing to serve on committees. "But you find a certain group that is over-represented because they are willing to speak out," he said. "The way to get on committees is to show a willingness to do the work."

Asked about the effect of filling committees with "experts" Howard Ehrlich said, "to have a democratic committee system you can't make professional knowledge a prerequisite. The professional school faculties are traditionally the most conservative, so if you stack the committees in their favor you get a conservative response."

"In the university setting you are dealing with educated people," he said. "You could probably find a number of people to serve with some expertise in a specialized area."

Committee memberships "are not power positions," Marberry claims. "There is no reduction in teaching load, no monetary reward. At the time of salary reviews no attention is given to the faculty member's work on committees."

Marberry said he was puzzled by a column in the Daily Iowan editorial page that singled him out as a member of the power elite, but he refused to comment on it.

"I'm not an establishment figure," he said.

He said that when a proposal was before the Faculty Council to establish two new committees he was the only member to vote against it.

"The committee system at this university is in a terrible mess," he said. "They don't know what they're supposed to do or who they are supposed to report to."

His opinion was supported by Julie Wlach, student coordinator of the Joint Study Group on Committees and Governance, which is currently examining the committee structure of the university. A survey the group made last May showed that the one thing most committee chairmen wanted was a "specified charge."

Committees have proliferated because "the typical answer to faculty problems is to put a committee on it," Wlach said. However, after examining all university-wide committees the study group found at least three that could not establish a reason for their existence.

Soviets, Peking: Verbal War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, breaking a long silence in its ideological warfare with Communist China, accused Peking on Wednesday of playing a "dangerous game" by trying to improve relations with the United States.

In an almost simultaneous attack, Peking charged that Moscow was stepping up the arms race to "oppress the broad masses at home and maintain their colonial rule abroad."

The sharply worded attacks ended nearly two years of relative verbal peace and confirmed the belief that the signs of better relations between the two Communist powers are strictly superficial.

Using a new review of the Chinese foreign policy as a forum, the Kremlin maintained that the Chinese have "reached an understanding" with Washington to stay out of the Vietnam war as long as American ground forces stay out of North Vietnam.

It accused Peking of obstructing Soviet aid to North Vietnam and helping to create favorable conditions for the United States to widen the war in Southeast Asia.

Peking's attack described the Kremlin leaders as "the worst enemies of the people — wolves in sheep's clothing," and was sharply critical of the Soviet-bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. The criticism was contained in editorials published in three newspapers in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Paris commune, the insurrection of 1871. Text of the 15,000-word article was broadcast by Peking and monitored in Tokyo.

It called on world Communists and the "revolutionary people" to keep on criticizing Soviet revisionism or the leadership through to the end, and declared this struggle is a protracted one and is by no means over.
