Arrest 3 In IPAC Bus Protest

Three more persons were arrested Tuesday after allegedly blocking passage of a Des Moines-bound bus carrying potential GIs.

Charged with disorderly conduct were Don Spencer, associate professor of mechanical engineering; Richard Smith, A4; and Connie Vogel, N4. Johnson County authorities said Tuesday night that all three had been released on bond.

The arrests mark the third time in two months that members or supporters of the Iowa Peace Action Committee (IPAC) have been charged for their early-morning protests and the fourth time that such protests have occurred.

About 75 demonstrators, some wearing "Stop the Killing" armbands, distributed coffee, doughnuts and leaflets to men boarding the bus for their pre-induction physicals Tuesday.

Two IPAC members arrested in connection with a similar demonstration April 6, Ray Rohrbaugh, G, and Alan Garfield, A4, will be tried at 1 p.m. Friday in Iowa City Police Court.

Supporters of the two plan to attend the trial and to hold a silent vigil while the trial is in progress. After the trial, IPAC has announced an open debate on the war.

At 1:30 p.m. Friday various groups will converge on College Hill Park to discuss "The War, the Draft and Nonviolent Resistance."

Some speakers, including James McCue, associate professor of religion; Tim Gardner of the American Friends Service Committee; and William Connor, professor of internal medicine, have been invited. IPAC spokespersons said they hope a communal rap session will follow. Question sessions will follow each speaker.

Proposed Urban Renewal Board Hit

An ordinance creating a five-member urban renewal board for Iowa City received its first reading at Tuesday's City Council meeting after a discussion in which three of the five council members voiced opposition to the proposal.

Mayor Loren Hickerson, who suggested the board's formation, told the council,

"I believe that delegating specific responsibilities to such a board is essential to expedite the urban renewal program and to improve its administration."

Council member Patrick J. White said he thought the formation of the board represented a reversal of the city council policy of direct supervision of the Urban Renewal Project.

Lee Butherus, another council member, agreed with White. He said, "I would be neglecting some of the obligation that I placed upon myself at the time of my election if I turned the urban renewal decisions over to a board."

The third council member in opposition to the proposal, Robert "Doc" Connell, said that the board could become an additional pressure group brought to bear upon the City Council in renewal questions. He continued, "If some faction of the community doesn't like what we are doing, they can always vote us out in the fall."

In support of the board, council member Tim Brandt pointed out, "If the City Council doesn't agree with the operation of the board, it is free to disband the organization and put the entire program back into the hands of the council."

The mayor gave three reasons for delegating the responsibility to an urban renewal board. First, he said, urban renewal program supervision deserves a level of priority the council cannot provide. Regardless of council willingness to devote additional time to urban renewal matters, the time required promises to be greater than the council can reasonably give, Hickerson said.

Second, the program deserves an administrative supervision free from possible interest pressures, he said. By its very nature as a political body, the council is not and cannot be free of such pressures, according to the mayor.

Third, Hickerson concluded, the program deserves a supervision with continuous and unilateral focus on the urban renewal plan, its long-range objectives, the special problems and complexities it entails.

According to the proposed ordinance, the board has a number of administrative powers.

The board is to be responsible for receiving, investigating, assembling data and holding hearings on complaints or suggestions concerning urban renewal matters.

The board will act in an advisory capacity to the council in financial matters.

The board is to be responsible for checking out various forms of assistance from state, federal or local sources.

Examination and review of all urban renewal plans proposing acquisition or rehabilitation of property is another function of the board.

One of its major functions will be to negotiate and authorize the purchase of any property in the urban renewal plan and to resell the land to renewal developers. The proposal stipulates that the board can only purchase property if the owner is willing to sell. The board does not have the power to initiate condemnation proceedings. The power of condemnation remains vested in the council under the new ordinance.

In addition to the purchase of property, the board is also responsible for relocating the people displaced by urban renewal including the responsibility of making financial compensation for such displacement according to a predetermined schedule set up by the council.

The five-member board is to be appointed by the mayor. In order to stagger the terms of the members, two of the first appointments are for one year,

High Court Takes Savage Swipe At Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a sweeping smash at segregated schools, the Supreme Court approved unanimously Tuesday massive busing and limited racial balancing as proper ways of assuring black children an integrated education.

Speaking through Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the court said school officials must use all available tools, including gerrymandered districts and sometimes even free transportation, "to correct, by a balancing of individual and collective interests, of the condition that offends the Constitution."

If the school boards do not act, Burger said, federal judges should exercise their powers "to fashion a remedy that will assure a unitary school system." Broadly, the Tuesday ruling ran counter to announced Nixon administration positions in opposition to massive busing and in support of the neighborhood-school concept.

Dismissing arguments against busing, the court said transportation has been an integral and normal part of the public education system for years, with 18 million, or 39 per cent, of the nation's public school children transported by bus in 1969-1970.

"Desegregation plans cannot be limited to the walk-in school," Burger said in a ruling that approved an extensive bus plan and the use of racial ratios as a guideline in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

Similarly, he said, federal judges erred when they did not order school officials on Mobile County, Ala., to consider using buses and to adopt new attendance zones to bring Negro children from the predominantly black eastern sector of the metropolitan area to schools in the mostly white western zone.

Undercutting the neighborhood-school concept, and by implication striking at the Nixon administration which endorsed it, Burger said neighborhood school zoning is unconstitutional if it does not accomplish desegregation.

"All things being equal, with no history of discrimination, it might well be desirable to assign pupils to schools nearest their homes," he said.

"But all things are not equal in the system that has been deliberately constructed and maintained to enforce racial segregation."

The Nixon administration has taken a position against forced integration through housing and busing, saying massive busing of small school children is undesirable.

There was no specific and immediate White House reaction to the court's decision except word from press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler that the ruling will be considered fully after there is time to read it.

Amendment Intended to Curb Discrimination Fails House

An attempt to amend the bill reorganizing the Iowa Liquor Control Commission in such a way as to prevent the granting of licenses to fraternal organizations with discriminatory clauses failed Monday by a 38-3 vote of the Iowa Senate.

The amendment written by Sen. Arthur Small (D-Iowa City), was introduced by Sen. John Tapscott (D-Des Moines).

Small told the Daily Iowan he wrote the amendment because, "as a state official, I don't think we should set up mechanisms whereby we are participating in a discriminatory action."

The amendment would have prohibited the granting of liquor licenses to organizations which discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, sex, national origin or religion.

Opposition to the amendment was led by Tom Riley (R-Cedar Rapids) who is reported to have said that if anyone wanted to accuse him of being a bigot the accuser should step outside into the cloakroom.

Small said of the amendment's failure, "They can come up with all sorts of arguments against it, but if it passed all they would have to do is stop discriminating — it's that simple."

Small said he was moved to write the amendment after studying the recommendation made by the Iowa City Human Relations Commission to the City Council that they cease granting beer permits and liquor licenses to clubs which restrict membership on the basis of race, color, sex, creed, national origin or religion.

"This is the only thing I could find which would respond to the problem," Small noted.

Locally, the Elks, Moose, Eagles and Knights of Columbus would have been affected by the amendment.

One of the seven Democrats supporting the amendment was Sen. Minnette Doderer (D-Iowa City).

Ex-GIs Gain Entrance To Arlington Cemetery

By ALEX JOHNSON
Daily Iowan Reporter

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Chanting "One, two, three, four, we don't want your f*cking war," 400 Vietnam veterans against the War (VVAW) walked three miles to Arlington National Cemetery Tuesday afternoon to place wreaths on graves in memory of all men who have died in U.S. wars and specifically in the Indochina War.

An estimated 1,000 ex-GIs massed at the main gate of the huge cemetery Monday but found the gate locked and attended by police. After a religious ceremony, and brief confrontation at the locked gate, at which the veterans broke a toy M-16 rifle against the gate, veterans marched, arms locked and four abreast, through the capital city, chanting with raised fists and victory signs.

They agreed later to return to Arlington Tuesday to begin a 48-hour vigil at the gate and a storming of the cemetery if the gates remained locked against their entry. Tuesday the gates were open.

Veterans and a POW mother were stopped 20 feet inside the gate by two dozen District of Columbia police headed by the Washington Superintendent of Parks. Al Hubbard, a VVAW coordinator, argued with the superintendent amidst a bevy of microphones and television cameras.

Hubbard asked three questions: "Are we numerically illegal for cemetery entrance? Are there written restrictions against our entry? Why were we barred from the cemetery yesterday (Monday)?"

The superintendent could successfully argue none of the points and, after 20 minutes, admitted the group.

Veterans and the POW mothers entered Arlington single file, fists brandished, quiet. A spot under a blossoming cherry tree was selected at random about 200 yards into the park. The POW mothers and the VVAW representatives placed the wreath. Veterans knelt silently for 10 minutes and then filed from the cemetery to walk back to the Mall.

There was little discussion, no chanting and some crying by Vietnam veterans on the return walk.

Apparently the government and District of Columbia powers have decided to yield to VVAW demands as insurance against confrontation and resultant adverse public opinion.

Monday, veterans climbed atop statues and fountains at the Capitol building with little police resistance during rallies on the front steps of Congress. Guerrilla theater, too, has been accepted as inevitable and has fielded little resistance from legal authorities.

One state delegation, 70 strong, rumors a Pentagon takeover late in the week. Plans were indefinite as of Tuesday evening.

Veterans Enliven Withdrawal Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee began examination Tuesday of a series of proposals aimed at hastening troop withdrawal from Southeast Asia in a hearing enlivened by the presence of cheering Vietnam veterans.

The veterans wearing a ragtag collection of upside-down campaign ribbons, beards, jungle hats and camouflage jackets, sat quietly through testimony during which Sen. George S. McGovern accused American forces in Indochina of war crimes.

But, watched by half a dozen Capitol policemen, they whistled, clapped and shouted when the South Dakota Democrat and presidential aspirant concluded.

The veterans were among more than 1,000 Veterans Against the War in Washington for week-long peace demonstrations.

Beaming broadly at their cheers, Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) asked them only to be reasonably quiet.

They applauded testimony by Sen. Mark Hatfield (R-Ore.) and Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) but by the time the three-hour hearing ended most had drifted away and several were dozing.

The hearing was the first in a series on seven legislative proposals aimed at hastening U.S. troop withdrawal or ending U.S. commitment in Indochina by a fixed date.

Hatfield and McGovern are co-sponsors of a proposal that would end funding for U.S. forces in Indochina by Dec. 31. A similar resolution was defeated in the Senate last year.

Hatfield, McGovern and Hartke, fresh from a visit with the Communist peace delegation in Paris, sharply criticized President Nixon for making full U.S. withdrawal contingent on release of American POWs.

They said the United States should announce a deadline for its own withdrawal first. Hartke said the Communist delegates in Paris assured him talks could then begin immediately on release of prisoners.

Author McGinniss Says All TV Is Political

By NORM LYZENGA
Daily Iowan Reporter

"The Selling of the President 1968" came into existence while author Joe McGinniss was riding back to New York in the back seat of a Volkswagen after a week-end with Howard Cosell.

The driver of the car was the director of the advertising agency that had landed the 1968 campaign of Hubert Humphrey. McGinniss told an audience of 200 people Tuesday night at the Union Ballroom that when he heard that the first question he asked was, "What is the Humphrey account?"

When he found out he thought it was a great idea for a book, but the agency, a veteran of the 1964 campaign for Lyndon Johnson refused to let him write it. So McGinniss went to the Nixon headquarters where the admen were new to politics, asked the same question and got permission to do a story selling a presidential candidate through the medium of television advertising.

McGinniss said the resulting book was not exactly what the Nixon staff envisioned but even if the process comes out looking bad the people who did it made out all right. One of them now runs a school to prepare office seekers for using TV in their campaigns.

McGinniss went on to explore some ideas about the political use of TV and started by saying that political TV goes beyond the paid commercials or controlled politics. All TV is political, he said, because it portrays a certain narrow sense of values even in its entertainment format.

This view is the middle class view which Nixon and Agnew have defended. Any other view, if it is represented in the media, is presented as being something that does not fit into political view of the nation's networks.

Nixon had the money to use a strictly controlled exposure to the public during the campaign he said, and did not have to depend on spot news coverage. In other words, Nixon output was exactly what the Nixon staff wanted to put out to the public — no more, no less.

On the other hand McGinniss pointed out that a good staff should be able to come up with any questions that could be asked in a news conference such as "Meet the Press."

Can anything be done to limit this electronic image building, this portraying what the people want to see? McGinniss' answer was "no." Whatever limitations are put on the showmen, the ad men will find a new way to present an image, McGinniss said.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This brief was submitted on behalf of the defendants in connection with the disciplinary charges which resulted from actions taken when the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) attempted to recruit on this campus.

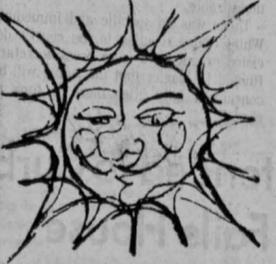

The strictly legal issues involved in the present case have been already set forth in the motions submitted by defendants at the hearing on Feb. 4 and 5, 1971. A significant portion of the hearing was taken up with discussion of the reasons for the demonstration. The hearing officer, presumably believing that these questions are irrelevant, makes no mention of them in his findings.

The motivations and goals of the demonstrators varied greatly, but virtually all share a common belief that the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) is a threat to the freedom that should be the birthright of all Americans. In his closing statement, defendant Roland Schembari discussed the activities of the DIA. In a detailed, well-documented presentation, Mr. Schembari showed that the DIA is engaged in domestic as well as foreign espionage. He explained that the DIA is only one part of a large government intelligence network that engages in domestic surveillance, sometimes with secret budgets and in violation of law. This group included the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and many other civilian and military agencies.

Defendants have been convicted by the hearing officer on the grounds that on one day in December, 1970, demonstrators interfered with the rights of the DIA recruiter and several students by denying them access to the placement office. No mention was made of the literally millions of Americans whose rights are violated every day by illegal government spying on their private affairs.

But why did the demonstrators have to block the placement office in order to make their point? Why didn't they go through established channels? Because there are no established channels — because attempts to establish lines of communication between students and controversial recruiters have been blocked or ignored by the university.

A member of the Faculty Senate testified at the hearing. In 1968 the Faculty Senate passed a resolution calling for the establishment of procedures by which students could meet with recruiters, listen to what they had to say, and ask questions about the organizations they represented.

No action was taken and no decision was announced. It was only after several months and with some difficulty that it was learned that the resolution had been vetoed, without explanation, by the president of the university. This resolution has come up again this year, but it appears that no action will be taken. Without channels for communication, the demonstrators were left with no choice.

This problem is not limited to the question of recruitment or even to this university:

"Student demonstrations in the United States have generally been preceded by efforts to effect change through negotiation. Top heavy college bureaucracies react with notorious lack of speed, however, and students are all too frequently ignored in the hope that their complaints will evaporate. . .

"Universities have a vested interest in avoiding the wrath of conservative alumni and, where the institution is public, the legislators. Administrators, moreover, are not greatly affected by failure to make needed reforms. Inertia avoids efforts, satisfies alumni, and promotes an illusion of security. It can lead to criticism from students and faculty, but these individuals are precisely those with the least authority and are, therefore, the most easily ignored." — Lucas, "Comment," 45 Denver L. J. 622, 624-25 (1969).

Radicals are made, not born. And student radicals are made at least in part by university administrations which tell them to work within the "system" and then ignores them when they attempt to do so. The only way to stop demonstrations is to face up to the underlying

The joys of capitalism

Companies around the country are reporting that the "sluggish economy" is making it difficult or impossible for them to hire out-of-school students on vacation, or kids who just need the work. "Many summer jobs traditionally filled by high school and college students will be taken by adults who are unemployed," reports the Mass. State Employment office.

In New York alone, there are 100,000 kids looking for work, and less than 5,500 jobs for them to fill.

problems that cause them. They will never be stopped by university hearings intended only to punish and repress individual students.

Civil disobedience has been part of the American tradition since the Boston Tea Party. Those who participated in the DIA demonstration were attempting to make America realize that the nightmare of 1968 is becoming the reality of today. The closing statement presented by defendant Richard Phillips, a Vietnam veteran, illustrates the motivation and goals of many students:

"Your Honor, Ladies and Gentlemen: Exactly five months and one day ago, I completed four years of active duty with the United States Navy. During this time I spent some thirteen months on the rivers of South Vietnam, including the Perfume River and the city of Hue during the 1968 Tet offensive.

"Throughout this period I saw friends, acquaintances, and countless numbers whose identities were unknown to me, maimed and killed. I saw their bodies stacked like cords of wood along the river banks.

"Your Honor, Ladies and Gentlemen, I place this question to you: WHY DID THEY DIE? The advocates of the war in this country contend that they did it to stop the spread of 'Communist aggression' and ultimately preserve freedom and democracy in these United States. Whether or not I agree with this is irrelevant. The point is that this is the rationalization that keeps us in Southeast Asia.

"Following through with this theory, one of the freedoms we are allegedly preserving is the freedom of speech. I returned to the United States, eager to exercise this right with my new found knowledge and tragic taste of life . . . and then I discovered the Defense Intelligence Agency, and was shocked. The DIA, through their domestic policy of spying and compiling dossiers on people involved in anti-war groups, civil rights groups, and ecology groups is . . . restricting freedom of speech by inhibiting those who would otherwise speak out but are afraid of having a file with the Federal Government. In addition, the military in this country was set up with civilian controls. At the time of Dec. 9 demonstration, the President, Secretary of Defense, and Secretary of the Army disavowed any knowledge of the domestic activities of the DIA. Maybe our demonstration helped bring this to light, since the government is now looking into the activities of the DIA. If this is so, then perhaps the 50,000 Americans and countless Vietnamese did not die in vain. If this is so, then what we did was truly a patriotic act."

Power of the few

"This is a tremendously broad power. It would give the President virtually dictatorial powers." — Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns, in congressional testimony on a bill to grant the President standby authority to control wages and prices for another two years.

If people have learned anything about our "federal" governing system during this wartime, it must be that few countries in the world today have so much power concentrated in the hands of so few, specifically those persons that are the heads of U.S. administrations.

For example, in the area of foreign affairs, the last five U.S. presidents have waged an open war on the peoples of Asia — without formal congressional approval, without a plebiscite, without any presentation of facts and alternatives to the public whatsoever. In what other country could a few men accomplish that?

Besides Indochina, U.S. administrations' influence in the internal affairs of Panama, Guatemala, Dominican Republic, and Cuba, to name a few conspicuous examples, has been strong.

More recently construction workers have felt the heavy hand of an administration, with talk of wage freezes, guideline and informal pressure; and young people, students and legislators have recognized the repression of administration-controlled government agencies like the FBI.

Nor can it be hoped that the present state of affairs can be changed by voting Nixon off his throne. Does not every president have the same free rein while in office, punctuated only by a two-ring circus called a free election every four years? Does it really make a difference which king is elected? Not now.

In fact all capitalist presidents must deal with the worldwide liberation movement in the same harsh way as Nixon does — if international capitalism is to survive as a worldwide exploiter and if the U.S. capitalist economy is to remain healthy.

But when the peoples of the third world have won their fight for freedom from international capitalism, the American people as a whole will be forced to realize that international cooperation is a necessary replacement.

And then we may also realize that totalitarianism is as close at our own White House.

Letters: bikes, Christianity

To the Editor:

I think it is about time that we Christians acknowledge our responsibilities as one of the outspoken voices of personal selfishness, economic interests, and of religious irrelevance. Too often we have become indistinguishable from the civil forces which kill and plunder, and practice irrational morality. We have become identifiable as fashioners of a comfortable Christianity suited to our faults, and so have lost touch with the Spirit of Jesus.

The history of Christianity in the last few centuries has been written in a frightening contradiction. When the white man came to America one of the first things he did was 'Christianize' the Indian while he himself, exploited that Indian, taking his lands and threatening him with partial extinction. One of the saddest stories of history is the disappearance of the American Indian. Although attempts were made by missionaries to defend the Indian from the white man, these attempts largely failed. I am saying that in spite of good intentions Christianity was too bound to the government to prevent the policies of that government.

The story of the black man is similar. After 'Christianizing' the slaves were instructed not to rebel because they would be rewarded in the next world. I do not advocate violence but I wish to indicate the foul use Christianity has been put to. Today, among black convicts, not Christianity, but Islam is the fastest growing religion. Our actions have caused Christianity to lose credibility with the black convict, AND ALSO MANY BROTHERS AND SISTERS.

What these two examples indicate is that Christianity has a history of being identified with discrimination, and with nationalism.

Today, Mr. Nixon is able to carry on this war of a Christian nation, precisely to the degree that we American Christians have watered down the teachings of Christ. Egal Ahmad speaking last week shed some light on the assumptions Mr. Nixon is making about this Christian nation:

1. People are against the war because it is too costly.
2. People are against the war because there are too many U.S. casualties.
3. People are disappointed with our lack of success in defeating a fourth rate power.
4. Because this is a T.V. war we must see the people we are killing. People don't like that.

So, in response, Mr. Nixon has created an illusion of success, and has tried to remove the war news from the public eye. He believes that he has set our conscience at ease. Nowhere has he assumed of Christian America that we are opposed to killing! That this could be the seat of our opposition to the war! At no time that I know of has this Christian man related his vast power to his responsibilities to Christ. And he has assumed that we would not. He is confident that though we hear the Words of Jesus preached in Church, we will not make a connection between Jesus' command to love, and our conduct as a 'warring' nation. In short, he is confident that the Words of Christ can be kept irrelevant; that the civil government can stand as priest-mediator and as in the past, misinterpret, and ask that we misinterpret, the Words of Christ. And there are people such as Army chaplain Adikes who say that certainly the words of Christ are the highest morality, but that we live in the "real" world. In other words we shouldn't strive for the highest morality, for in the "real" and plastic world the words of Christ are subject to the articles of war.

Bike day

To the Editor:

Economical and healthful alternatives to the automobile: some simple computation shows that riding a bike and busing is cheaper than driving a car. Biking and busing would cost about $190 per year (bike costs $100 for 10 years; bus costs $182 for four trips per day for 182 days). A cheap car costs roughly $325 per year ($400 for car cost, depreciation, and repairs; $146 for parking; $46 for minimum insurance; $35 for gas.) Implications of this are less working hours and a stronger heart.

It is time for people of conscience to dismantle the myth of nationalism and vindicate the message of Christ. It is time that we dismantle our self-seeking adaptations of Christianity, and face our responsibility to our oppressed brothers.

Please Christians! Lets join together . . .

ANGELA SPEAKS

Editor's note: Below are excerpts from the first interview Angela Davis has been allowed to give since her arrest and imprisonment on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy following the incident at San Raphael. The interview was given to Muhammed Speaks, the questions asked are those submitted by the people of Harlem who desired to hear in Angela's own words how she was doing and how she felt about her situation.

We have reprinted (from the Orange Ridge Reporter) only several of the questions and answers — over the next few days we will publish the rest.

MS: Why are you a communist?

Angela: Before anything else I am a black woman. I dedicated my life to the struggle for the liberation of black people — my enslaved, imprisoned people.

I am a communist because I am convinced that the reason we have been forcefully compelled to eke out an existence at the very lowest level of American society has to do with the nature of capitalism. If we are going to rise out of our oppression, our poverty, if we are going to cease being the targets of the racist-minded mentality of racist policemen, we will have to destroy the American capitalist system. We will have to obliterate a system in which a few wealthy capitalists are guaranteed the privilege of becoming richer and richer, whereas the people who are forced to work for the rich, and especially black people, never take any significant step forward.

I am a communist because I believe that black people, with whose labor and blood this country was built, have a right to a great deal of wealth that has been hoarded in the hands of the Hughes, the Rockefellers, the Kennedys, the DuPonts, all the super-powerful white capitalists of America.

Further I am a communist because I believe black men should not be coerced into fighting a racist, imperialistic war in Southeast Asia, where the U.S. government is violently denying a non-white people the right to control their own lives, just as they violently suppressed us for hundreds of years.

My decision to join the Che-Lumumba Club, a militant, all-black collective of the Communist Party, flowed directly from my belief that the only path of liberation for black people is in the one which leads towards the complete and total overthrow of the capitalist class and all its various instruments of suppression.

The Che-Lumumba Club is concerned with the task of organizing black people around their immediate needs but at the same time of creating an army of freedom fighters which will overthrow our enemies. We realize that in order to accomplish this latter goal we must work in harmony with the progressive forces of white America who have seen the nature of the beast.

MS: There has been much talk that you are being used by the communists. Is it in any way possible that this is so?

Angela: Any vicious propaganda to the effect that I am being used by the communists can only have been initiated by the enemies of our struggle.

There have been rumors that because the Communist Party has come to my defense, this means that they are exploiting me and further indicates that perhaps the party had something to do with my capture.

Anyone who believes such flagrant lies has been terribly deceived by the Nixon-Reagan clique, for they are the ones who devise such underhanded methods of questioning our struggle.

I am a black woman communist. The corrupt government of this country could not accept such a combination. This is why they use the events at San Rafael to launch an effort to murder me. As a member of the Communist Party, it was incumbent on the party to come to my defense.

Furthermore, through me the government is attempting to further attack and terrorize black people, as they have done in the case of George Jackson, Huey Newton, Bobby Seale, Eric's Huggins, and I could go on and on. Therefore black people have to begin to talk about rising up not only in defense of political prisoners but in their own defense.

MS: Have you ever had any doubt since you became a communist about their ability to help black people?

Angela: The Communist Party recognizes that black people not only constitute the most oppressed collection of people in the United States but also that we are the product of the most militant tradition of resistance within the confines of this country. Therefore we as black people are natural leaders of a revolution which must ultimately overthrow the American ruling class, thus freeing the masses of the American people. Black people must free themselves.

We realize in our struggle that racism in this country is all pervasive. This we learned in the experiences we encountered during the civil rights era in which many well-meaning whites unconsciously perpetrated racism by taking the patronizing posture that they must "help us" black people, which meant to assist in the futile task of integrating ourselves into a dying culture.

The Communist Party acknowledges the need for white people to accept the leadership of blacks, especially white workers. If they are to free themselves of their chains, they must realize that first and foremost they must struggle against all manifestations of racism.

Confusion After Lon Nol Resignation— Cambodian Crisis Grows

SAIGON (AP) — Cambodia wrestled with a government crisis Tuesday while the government's forces battled to hold the nation's only highway to the sea and U.S. B52 bombers hammered enemy troops threatening another important highway to the north.

The focus of the Indochina war switched to Cambodia while action in South Vietnam and Laos hit a momentary lull.

Cambodia's political crisis developed with the resignation of Premier Lon Nol and his Cabinet. Gen. Lon Nol, 57, cited poor health in his letter of resignation to Cheng Heng, the chief of state. Lon Nol, who had served also as minister of defense in his government of National Salvation, suffered a stroke in February, leaving him partially paralyzed.

He returned to the capital of Phnom Penh last month from Honolulu, where he had undergone treatment at a U.S. hospital.

He has headed the Cambodian government since March 18, 1970, when Prince Norodom Sihanouk was removed from office.

On the battle front, the results of fighting for the control on Highway 4, Phnom Penh's sole link to a deepwater port, still were not known, more than a day after Cambodian Liberation Front (CLF) forces launched an attack against a weary Cambodian garrison at Pich Nil Pass.

Latest reports indicated that the Cambodian government troops still held the pass, 63 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, the capital, and the heights above it that control the vital highway link to the port of Kompong Som.

U.S. B52 bombers, flying more than 50 missions throughout Indochina in the past two days, attacked CLF positions north of Highway 7 that runs across part of Cambodia north of Phnom Penh from the South Vietnamese border.

There were scattered reports of ground action Tuesday in South Vietnam and Laos.

The U.S. and Thieu-Ky regime operation in the A Shau Valley bordering Laos moved into its second week, but there still were no reports of significant contact with the National Liberation Front (NLF).

In another development, United Press International said the remains of a woman found last weekend southwest of Phnom Penh are presumed to be those of Kate Webb, 28, the news agency's correspondent in Cambodia. She disappeared nearly two weeks ago in an ambush on Highway 4.

Webb, born in New Zealand but an Australian citizen, is the ninth foreign correspondent known to have been killed in Cambodia since the war was expanded from Vietnam across the border.

UI Student Found Hurt In Dormitory

A University of Iowa student, Dana Diller, A2, was found Tuesday afternoon by dormitory personnel in a Quad lavatory suffering from chest wounds.

Campus Security was called and escorted Diller to Student Health and University Hospital.

At press time Diller was listed in good condition at University Psychopathic Hospital.

According to Campus Security personnel, there is no indication that the wounds were not self-inflicted.

Bach Society Concert—

When Paul Steinitz brings the London Bach Society to the University of Iowa campus on April 26 for the final concert of the 1970-71 Concert Series the event is somewhat of a return engagement. Steinitz spent four weeks at the university teaching and directing the Summer Chorus.

This year he returns with the London Bach Society, a choir specializing in Bach and modern composers which he founded in 1947 and still conducts, for an 8 p.m. concert in the Main Lounge of the Union. The Steinitz Bach players, a 20-member orchestra, will appear with the Society in the concert.

Tickets for the concert are available to faculty, staff and students at the Union Box Office. Reserved-seat tickets are $3 to the public and 50 cents to students.

Heckroth Wins on Extra Inning 3-Hitter— Hawks Edge ISU After 4-1 Loss

By JAY EWOLDT
Sports Editor
Iowa State baseball mentor
Cap Timm had his strategy backfire as Iowa won the second game in a walk, 2-1 in nine innings to gain a split with its cross state rival.

Cyclone southpaw Mike Gillespie handcuffed Iowa on three hits in the first game, 4-1, before an opening day home crowd of 1,423 at the Iowa Diamond Tuesday.

After tying the second game 1-1 in the sixth inning, Iowa threatened in the ninth when Ray Smith sent a liner to the centerfield wall and raced to third base standing up.

ISU hoped to play the percentages and play for a double play possibility by intentionally walking Jeff Elgin and Jim Cox without throwing a pitch, a move that is illegal in Big 10 ball.

It appeared the strategy might pay off when reliever Dave Erusha got Gary Keopple to strike out. But Erusha walked Iowa catcher Jim Sundberg, hitless in six trips for the day, to force in the winning run.

Iowa pitcher Bill Heckroth, who lost a one-hitter to Michigan State last weekend, hurled a brilliant three-hitter and struck out 11 to post his second victory against one defeat. Erusha, now 0-1, suffered the loss for ISU.

The split left the Hawks below .500 for the year with an 9-10 record. Iowa State is now 6-6.

Iowa State opened up the scoring in the second game when catcher-first baseman

Larry Corrigan led off with a booming double off the wall in right-centerfield. Steve Mohr singled, and Corrigan beat Elgin's throw to the plate for a 1-0 lead.

After three scoreless innings, Iowa rallied in the sixth to tie the score on an unearned run.

Dave Blazin led off the sixth with a single and Sundberg walked. Tom Hurn fouled out, but Fred Mims collected one of his four hits of the day, and Blazin crossed the plate on a throwing error.

ISU threatened in the seventh, the last regulation inning, when Larry Dietrich walked, stole second and went to third on a ground out. But Heckroth got Mike Ellens to ground out and end the inning.

In Iowa's half of the seventh, Smith started things off by beating out an infield single. Elgin attempted to advance Smith with a bunt, but Smith was forced at second and Jim Cox took a called third strike to send the game into extra innings.

Heckroth set down the Cyclones in order in the top of the eighth as he fanned Ed Tadelman, Erusha and Jerry Lindin.

Blazin connected on his third single in three trips to lead off the Iowa eighth. Sundberg struck out and Ellens made a spectacular catch to rob Hurn of a hit. Mims singled to right field, but Larry Schutzius grounded into a force out to end the threat.

In the ninth, Heckroth struck out two of the four batters he faced to put down the Cyclones and set the stage for Iowa's win in the bottom of the ninth.

The Cyclones scored one run in the fourth inning and added three unearned runs in the seventh to clip the Hawks in a pitching duel in the opener, 4-1.

The Cyclones scored the go-ahead run in the fourth on a single by Jerry Lindin, a wide pitch by Mark Tschopp and a single by Corrigan.

The Cyclones cushioned their lead in the seventh when two walks, a pair of Iowa errors and a single brought in three unearned runs to clinch the victory.

The Hawks scored their lone run in the last inning when Cox walked and scored on a double by Blazin.

Tschopp (2-2) who suffered control problems late in the game, received the loss despite a fine three-hit performance in his six inning stint.

View of Things to Come—

Iowa pitcher Mark Tschopp stretches to fire a pitch to an Iowa State batter Tuesday in the Hawkeyes' season opening doubleheader. In the background the Iowa scoreboard tells only part of the story as it shows the Cyclones leading 1-0. ISU went on to win the first game, 4-1, with Tschopp the losing pitcher. Iowa won the second game, 2-1, in nine innings.

Baseball JV's Win 2 From Iowa Wesleyan

Iowa's Junior Varsity baseball team ran its season record to 5-1 by sweeping a double-header from the Iowa Wesleyan varsity at Mt. Pleasant Tuesday, 5-4, and 15-2.

Mike Kielkopf and Rick Green were Iowa's big hitters in the opening contest with each going two for three at the plate. Green drove in two runs and Kielkopf added another RBI. Winning pitcher Dave Woodrirk helped his own cause by getting two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Woodrirk was not quite as strong on the mound as he allowed eight hits and two runs in the first two innings. He gave Iowa Wesleyan only two hits the rest of the way to earn the victory.

In the second game, John

Hartnett allowed only four hits and struck out 12 to grab his second victory of the year.

Hartnett got good support from Ed Feyen and Mark Donaldson at the plate. Feyen drove in four runs with three hits and sparked the Hawks to a six-run second inning with two RBI's. Donaldson was two for four for the game and batted in two runs.

McCuskey III

Iowa wrestling coach Dave McCuskey was admitted to University Hospitals at mid-morning Tuesday after he complained of chest pains while at work in the Field House.

He is in the coronary care unit for observation and his condition is reported as stable.

ISU's Stapleton Accepts AD Post at Florida State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Iowa State Athletic Director Clay Stapleton, 49, Tuesday was hired to take the same post at Florida State University.

Stapleton will be paid $26,000 a year, replaces Vaughn Mancha in the post.

Mancha stepped aside Feb. 17 as chief of the Seminoles following an 11-year stint, to take a teaching job at FSU.

Stapleton, a native of Kentucky, has worked in Iowa State's athletic department since joining the staff as head football coach in 1958. He was appointed athletic director at the Big Eight school eight years later.

Stapleton said in Ames, Iowa, that "trying to decide between the two institutions was a very difficult thing for me. I know Iowa State and I know the people. I have loved being here. I am a little saddened by leaving Iowa State."

In announcing Stapleton's appointment, Florida State President Stanley Marshall said, "the search for a new athletic director has taken longer than I thought and has been more exhaustive than I expected."

He said Stapleton's record at Iowa State "is one of the great success stories in intercollegiate athletics in the country."

In Ames, Stapleton said, "I foresee nothing but good years ahead for Florida State's athletic program."

Stapleton is expected to report to Tallahassee within a few days and begin work immediately. Prior to becoming head coach at Iowa State, Stapleton served as assistant at Wofford, Wyo. and Oregon State.

He played guard during his undergraduate years at the University of Tennessee. He graduated in 1948.

For the brawls that emptied both benches, Des Moines coach Terry Slater and Port Huron coach Ted Garvin were fined $200 each for allowing the players to leave the benches during an altercation.

Strangers—Bucks, Bullets Open NBA Final Playoffs

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Baltimore Bucks and the Milwaukee Bucks clash Wednesday night in the opening game of the National Basketball Association championship finals.

The game, which starts at 8 p.m. CST, will be nationally televised by ABC.

Baltimore squeezed past the New York Knicks, 93-91, Monday night to gain the title berth against the Bucks, who downed the Los Angeles Lakers, four games at once, in the Western Conference finals New York was the defending champion.

"Baltimore took New York through seven games last year before getting beat," said Larry Costello, Milwaukee coach.

"This year they turned it around. That shows what we are up against."

The Bucks won four of the five times they met Baltimore during the regular season, including a 151-99 pasting of the Bucks at the Arena. Costello, though, feels that record won't help Milwaukee at all during the playoffs.

"They did it to us, too, on their own court," Costello said, referring to a 127-99 Baltimore victory.

Costello admitted his team has an edge at center where Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor, the league's top scorer and most valuable player, will square away against Baltimore's Wes Unseld.

"We can't stop him one-on-one as Nate Thurmond of San Francisco or Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles might," Costello said. "Lew definitely has an offensive edge. But Unseld is board-conscious and that's his job. He's as tough as anybody in the league in pulling down rebounds."

In Ames, Stapleton said, "I foresee nothing but good years ahead for Florida State's athletic program."

Stapleton is expected to report to Tallahassee within a few

2 Tie for NBA Rookie

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — What does Geoff Petrie do for an encore?

"Next year I'd like to play better defense," says the Portland Trail Blazers' backcourt star, who was named Tuesday co-rookie of the year with Boston's Dave Cowens in the National Basketball Association.

"Not that I think I was weak on defense," Petrie said. "It was my first year and I learned a lot. I'll be a stronger, better all-round player next year."

"It was a thrill to be selected on the all-star team as a rookie," the former Princeton star said, "but I felt I was more of a spectator than a player. Next year I'd like to go back as a player."

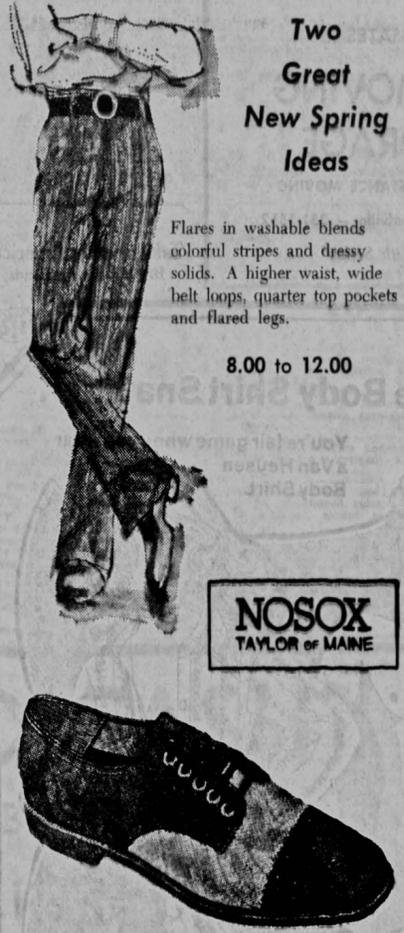

Petrie, who is from Springfield, Pa., has another goal-an NBA championship.

"We had winning teams at Princeton, but I never played on a championship team. If I have any goal, it is to be part of a championship in Portland."

Petrie scored 40 or more points six times, including 46 against Seattle, as the Blazers won 29 games. He said he thinks "it is conceivable we could have a much better team next year and not win as many games."

"This year we're playing to form a team, to form some kind of unity," he said. "Now we'll be trying to get a spot in the playoffs, which will help our play even more."

You can afford it while you're still young enough to enjoy it.

Having the want is one thing. Having the wherewithal is another. The trouble with being young is that all too often you have the one without the other.

But the 1971 MG Midget is something else again. Here is a true sports car for under $2500* — the lowest price you can pay for the real thing.

In this case the real thing includes a race-winning 1275 c.c. engine. Racing-type rack-and-pinion steering (2.33 turns lock to lock) for cool, crisp driving. Heavy-duty suspension for superb road-hugging. Disc brakes up front for straight-line, non-fade stops. Twin reclining bucket seats. And full sports car instrumentation with an electric tach.

Which only goes to show that, even though MG has been engineering sports cars for over 40 years, there's no generation gap. For the name of your nearest Austin-MG dealer and information about overseas delivery, dial (800) 631-1971 except in New Jersey where the number is (800) 962-2803. Calls are toll-free, of course.

GOP Elders,
Youth Panel
Eye 'Image'

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — A top Republican official told GOP governors Tuesday it would be a mistake to change party positions on Vietnam, law and order and the super-sonic transport to woo newly enfranchised 18-year-old voters. Ann Armstrong, cochairwoman of the Republican National Committee in charge of women's and youth activities, cited the Nixon administration record and said "time is the greatest asset our President and our party have" in winning over the millions of new voters in 1972.

Asked by a 21-year-old college student during a panel discussion how the GOP hopes to overcome what she said was its poor image with many youths because of Vietnam, the SST and law and order, Armstrong said, "It is not incumbent on us to change our views to make a bloc appeal."

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California defended the Nixon administration on the three issues and debated with two student panel members.

Both students said they feel the discussion by the five-member youth panel had been ended prematurely to avoid embarrassment.

Tremendous strength, power, reliability, dependable good taste. That's what Taurus is known for. Schlitz Malt Liquor, too. Venus, the ruling planet, makes Taurus sociable, fond of fun, and able to inspire friendship in others. Maybe you and the Bull should get together. Maybe you'd hit it off. But maybe not. It depends on your sign. Because Taurus has a powerful mean streak. There's a helluva fire in the Bull. So check your stars. They'll tell you straight if you're the kind of person who can meet Schlitz Malt Liquor head-on. Nobody makes malt liquor like Schlitz. Nobody.

--New Pressure for Labor?--

Saigon Relocates Tribe

By D. Gareth Porter and R. Moreau

DARLAC, Vietnam (LNS) — The Saigon government is forcibly relocating more than 45,000 Montagnards in the Central Highlands to large concentration centers in Darlac Province. The campaign known as "Gathering the People" is an attempt to eliminate all Montagnard hamlets rated C and D (contested and Viet Cong controlled hamlets) by relocating them near lines of communication. U.S. Land Reform officials and the U.S. War Victims Directorate oppose the campaign, stating that it threatens the economic self-sufficiency of the Montagnards and is contrary to the interests of the people in general. But Ambassador William Colby, Chief of Civil Operations and Revolutionary Development Support (CORDS) supports the move on the grounds that it will deny the population and resources of the Montagnards to the Viet Cong. "Gathering the People" continues with the logistical and relief assistance of the U.S. The relocation campaign was begun last summer by Ngo Dzu, the Commanding General of Region 11. U.S. officials in Saigon and in the provinces say that when Szu ordered the move, he ignored established regulations requiring the submission of detailed plans both for the movement and for the economic and social welfare of the relocated population.

In Darlac Province (part of Region 11) this lack of planning resulted in heavy losses of livestock, rice and other valuable possessions in the process of moving to the relocation sites. Most of the peasants' animals and nearly all of their hardwood furniture had to be left behind. But the most urgent problem of the Montagnard relocation centers in Darlac is the shortage of land. Montagnards find themselves competing with Vietnamese as well as with each other for the limited supply of accessible land. Vietnamese farmers are moving in to cultivate much of the land near the relocation sites. At the same time land-poor Vietnamese peasants are encroaching on the territory the Montagnards were forced to abandon.

At Buon Khe B, with nearly 7,000 people the largest resettlement site in Darlac Province, population pressure and advancing Vietnamese farmers, leave the Montagnards only a fraction of the land required to sustain themselves.

At Buon Nie Ea Sah a local resident said that people have an average of one-half to one hectare (2.47 acres) per family and that most families are not getting enough to eat.

The land squeeze is forcing relocated Montagnards to choose between cultivating parcels of land too small to support them, trying to walk long distances to find more land, or looking for employment elsewhere. Both U.S. and Montagnard observers think it is only a matter of time before the Montagnards are forced to work for Vietnamese farmers.

Mayan Slide Show

The Mayan ruins, people and jungle along the east coast of the Yucatan peninsula will be the subjects of a three-projector slide show by Virginia A. Myers Friday at 8 p.m. at the Museum of Art.

The public is invited to the program, and no tickets are required.

Myers, an assistant professor of printmaking in the School of Art, made the slides during a two-week stay last summer at the Rancho Tancah, a coconut plantation near the Mayan cities presented in her slide show. She has vacationed in the area for several summers.

Titled "From Tancah to Tulum with John L. Stephens," Myers' lecture will compare the area as it is today with the observations made by Stephens, a 19th century American explorer. She will show slides of engravings and lithographs made for Stephens by Frederick Catherwood, an artist who accompanied the explorer on trips to Yucatan between 1839 and 1842.

Pollution: Lots of Talk, but Few Bills Passed

Alfred Hawkes, executive director of the Rhode Island Audubon Society, agreed that "we need a little more determination on the part of enforcement officials to get things done faster."

Business interests, however, often say enough already has been done legislatively, although as conservationists celebrate the first anniversary of Earth Day this week there seems to be no letup in their campaign.

Gov. William L. Guy, who proposed the law, cited hearing loss by farmers. "Engine manufacturers have hoodwinked the public that a high noise level is equated with power," Guy said.

The ban-the-bottle fight is continuing in other states. Michigan may place a 10-cent deposit on all beer and pop containers and outlaw nonreturnables. Wisconsin is considering a five-cent deposit on bottles and cans.

The Connecticut Business and Industry Association is lobbying against the "class action" law suit bill, fearing it would force industries to spend a lot of money in legal fees and place businesses at the whim of "environmental kooks."

Colorado's legislature has approved only six of the 150 bills on environment and House Speaker John Fuhr of Aurora explained, "Everyone here is searching hard for just how far we can go on any one bill."

DES MOINES (P) — A bill its sponsors said would allow counties with some of the state's more dilapidated jails to escape remodeling them or building new ones passed the House 76-14 Tuesday.

The measure, approved last month by the Senate, would permit county boards of supervisors to establish or lease detention facilities "in lieu of or in addition to" the county jail.

When the bill passed the Senate last month it would clearly have required counties to maintain jails in addition to this new type of detention facility.

But the House amended it, Rep. Norman Jesse (D-Des Moines), explained, because many county jails are in poor shape and the money is lacking to remodel them or build new ones.

Besides, he said, many people serving terms in county jails do not need maximum security and can serve their time under less stringent surveillance.

In other House action, a bill which sets uniform fines and would make it unnecessary for persons charged with minor traffic violations to go to court was passed Tuesday and sent to the Senate.

The measure ran into stiff opposition but finally won approval 59-33.

The bill provides that the arresting officer may see that the motorist signs the summons and mails it along with the fine from the uniform schedule and $2 court costs.

Otherwise, the motorist could appear at the court with his summons and pay the fine and court costs there at any time before a scheduled court date.

Bill Allows Board to Ban Chemicals

DES MOINES (P) — The Chemical Technology Review Board could prohibit use of agricultural chemicals under a bill passed 36-8 in the Senate Tuesday.

Under the bill, the board would have to hold a public hearing before adopting any permanent rules.

Present Iowa law doesn't spell out clearly whether the board can prohibit use of chemicals, although it now can regulate them. The board recently adopted rules forbidding sale and use of certain chemicals, but the rules were disallowed because of the uncertainty in the law.

Sen. Charles Laverly (R-Indianola), the bill's sponsor, said two companies — which he declined to name — have filed suits in that case.

Sens. James Potgeter (R-Steamboat Rock) and John Mowry (R-Marshalltown) sponsored the amendment to require public hearings before adoption of permanent rules. Potgeter said without the strictness the board would be too much power.
