Hilliard Freed After Nixon Threat

SAN FRANCISCO — David Hilliard, Black Panther chief of staff, was freed Tuesday of a charge of threatening President Nixon's life after the government refused to disclose contents of wiretapped conversations. Judge William Gray, ruling that wiretapping was illegal, said the government had the option of divulging the transcripts or dismissing the indictment. U.S. Atty. James Browning said, "I am not authorized to disclose the contents of the transcripts offered to the judge in camera in private. The government will not comply with the order."

Froines Arrested in D.C. Demonstration

WASHINGTON — John Froines, sought on a warrant charging him with conspiring with antiwar leader Rennie Davis to disrupt traffic in the nation's capital, was arrested by FBI agents today at the edge of a crowd demonstrating outside the Justice Department. Froines had addressed the crowd, urging it to stay and be arrested. Warrants for the arrest of Davis and Froines were issued Monday evening. The charges against the two, co-defendants in the 1969-70 Chicago Seven conspiracy trial, charged them with conspiring to interfere with the constitutional rights of citizens by disrupting traffic and to interfere with federal workers attempting to do their jobs.

Sea Chase Nets Five Tons of Marijuana

SAN FRANCISCO — A 20-minute sea chase outside the Golden Gate resulted in seizure of a 60-foot yacht and five tons of marijuana, largest single haul in U.S. history, the Bureau of Customs reported Tuesday. Two persons were arrested aboard the "Mercy Wiggins" and six others in coordinated seizures of a yacht in San Francisco Bay and a bus-type camper at the St. Francis Marina, agents said. A Coast Guard cutter halted the "Mercy Wiggins" late Monday about 10 miles off the Golden Gate Bridge. Customs agents boarding from the cutter seized the yacht and its cargo.

Jewish, Black Students Battle in N.Y.

NEW YORK — About 1,000 black and Jewish students at Brooklyn College fought for two hours Tuesday with fists, chairs, rocks, bottles and belt buckles. Police said the militant Jewish Defense League leader Meir Kahane was behind the battling. Two persons were hospitalized — a 19-year-old Jewish student knocked unconscious with a chair, and a college security guard. Several others were treated for minor injuries. Kahane currently is free on $100 bond in a disorderly conduct case involving a demonstration at the Soviet mission to the United Nations last year. He also is awaiting a third trial — after two hung juries — on charges growing out of a JDL raid on the Rockefeller Center offices of the Soviet news agency Tass.

Budget Chief Notes Fiscal Slip

WASHINGTON — Budget chief George P. Shultz said Tuesday the 1971 budget has slipped farther off balance and will show a deficit of over $19 billion by the fiscal yearend on June 30. Shultz doused cold water on speculation of tax reduction or a spending speedup on public works to hasten the business recovery.

U.S. Asian Expert Sees China Threat

WASHINGTON — The State Department's top Asia man said Tuesday Red China's support of insurgencies and "wars of liberation" remains a threat to U.S. interests despite hopes for improved relations. Peking's support of insurgency in Thailand is "one of the most direct physical threats," Marshal Green, assistant secretary of state for Asian affairs, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Student Senate Debates Use of Funds by Politis

A question of use of funds dominated debate at the Student Senate meeting Tuesday night. The debate concerned the right of Student Body Pres. Ted Politis, A3, to allocate $500 to the Veterans Against the War for the Peacefest May 1 without senate approval. The money was allocated out of the president's contingency fund, Politis said. A student body president does not need the senate's approval to allocate money from this fund. However, the senate discovered that the president's contingency fund did not have enough money to cover the promised $500. According to Politis, the problem was a confusion between this fund and unallocated funds. To remedy the problem the senate passed a bill allocating the $500 to the Veterans Against the War from the unallocated funds. The bill included the clause "the senate cannot condone the manner in which these funds were previously allocated." In other business, Politis proposed the adoption of a student registration list to be composed of pictures and listings of all incoming freshmen. According to his plan, the list would be sold to the incoming freshmen. Politis also proposed that the senate consider the possibility of a Student Economic Union, a discount store for students. A bill proposing the establishing of a student-owned bookstore and the picketing of Iowa Book and Supply was tabled for further discussion next week, but Senate approved and passed a bill requiring the Senate Budgeting Committee to submit to the Student Auditor and Senate Advisor itemized budgets of all organizations as ratified by the Student Senate.

UI Human Rights Committee to Send Anti-Bias Notice to New Students

The University of Iowa Human Rights Committee Tuesday announced it is sending to incoming freshmen a statement that "Complaints of discrimination on the grounds of race, national origin, creed, life style or sexual activities are to be directed to the Human Rights Committee." The committee also announced it had adopted a formal complaint sheet that is available to any person who wishes to file charges of discrimination. At its afternoon meeting, the committee heard a complaint from a representative of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) who said he was denied access to university files containing the names of Vietnam veterans. He also stated ROTC evidently had access to such information because it was mailing circulars to the veterans. A member of the Registrar's office staff told the committee that university policy provides for release of such names to only faculty and staff and specifically prohibits giving names to student organizations. After considerable discussion on the use and misuse of information contained in students' records, the committee promised to continue discussion on the problem of access to files and come up with possible solutions later. One committee recommendation was that the party requesting a list of names give the Registrar a written statement of intended use. The committee also heard a complaint that certain students enrolled in Aerospace Science courses are being excluded from the ROTC Corps of Cadets. Col. John McCabe, professor of military science and head of the Aerospace Military Studies program, argued that the corp is separate from academic studies and that the students who had filed the complaint were enrolled for only academic credit and not for ROTC. The two ROTC sections were created

Anti-War Activities Continue—PPT Approved By Students

University of Iowa students approved by an eight-to-one margin Tuesday a treaty declaring peace between the peoples of the United States and Vietnam. By a vote of 862 to 156 in a special referendum, students voted to support the People's Peace Treaty (PPT), a document initially drafted in North Vietnam by North and South Vietnamese and American student representatives. The treaty calls for, among other things, an immediate cease fire in Indochina and a unilateral withdrawal of American troops. Student Senate had earlier refused to support the PPT, alleging that its wording was "vague." The anti-war struggle will continue on campus today — national "No Business as Usual" day — with a Memorial Convocation to commemorate the deaths of two students at Jackson State University last May 15 and four students at Kent State University last May 4, in the wake of mass protests of the U.S. invasion of Cambodia. Today's activities were to begin at 5 this morning with the Iowa Peace Committee's vigil at the Post Office, where a draft bus is to leave for the Des Moines induction center, and the start of an eight-day anti-draft march to Des Moines. "Bringing the war to the classroom" is scheduled for the remainder of the morning, leading up to the Memorial Convocation between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. on the Pentacrest. Speakers will discuss both Jackson and Kent State and U.S. involvement in Indochina. An open microphone is planned for all this afternoon and the activities will conclude with a rally-march at 7 p.m. The march is to begin on Clinton street and proceed past the County Jail to the National Guard Armory, where a wreath will be placed.

Anti-War Actions Set Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS From Independence Hall in Philadelphia and throughout many communities in the heartland of America, anti-war rallies, marches and speeches are planned Wednesday to protest the conflict in Indochina. What police are referring to as a possibly disruptive series of antiwar events is planned in the San Francisco Bay Area. "We know we won't be dealing with the dedicated pacifists who marched in the April 24 peace parade, but rather with avowed revolutionaries who are set on causing trouble, even to the extent of using dynamite and fire bombs in sporadic forays," said Chief Al Nelder. "We will not tolerate any nonsense and where violence occurs, arrests will be made."

Des Moines Destination In Draft Repeal March

A state-wide draft repeal campaign was to begin this morning when a contingent from Iowa City started an eight day-march to Des Moines. Individuals and representatives of various organizations are carrying petitions and letters to the offices of Sen. Jack Miller and Sen. Harold Hughes urging them to vote against extension of the draft. Members of the New Party will begin a three day fast Saturday in six cities to call attention to the draft extension bill now before the U.S. Senate and to urge Iowans to send telegrams and letters to Miller and Hughes. Additional marches are expected to start from several other cities, including Ames, Grinnell and Des Moines, to join the Iowa City group in Des Moines on May 13. The marchers will talk to as many groups as possible on their route along Highway 6 and plan to speak to both Miller and Hughes, either personally in Des Moines or by telephone to Washington, D.C. Those who are fasting will hold daily teach-ins and vigils in opposition to the draft and the Indochina war. Organizers of the campaign issued the following statement: "The departure May 5 coincides with a nation-wide moratorium day against the Indochina war, a day to stop our own personal business as usual. We want to say as emphatically as possible the draft is an unequitable and immoral system of involuntary servitude. It is tearing America apart at home as it provides unlimited manpower for undeclared wars of intervention abroad. It raises cheap labor for tasks which either deserve a just wage or should not be done at all. It is based on a system inherently discriminatory, providing loopholes and luck for some while it disrupts or destroys the lives of countless others. It is a totalitarian system which should no longer be tolerated in a free and democratic system."

Pickets Lifted At Area Sites After Shutdown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS From Daily lowan News Services Construction in at least five Iowa communities slowed down or came to a halt as the result of strikes by construction workers Tuesday, but a general strike of 12 unions that was to have shut down all construction in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City area did not take place. Work stoppages did take place at a number of construction sites in the Cedar Rapids area, notably the new Trans-America building and the new YMCA addition, but many of the construction unions continued on the job. Darrel Schumacher, president of Allied Construction Interests, said Tuesday there are no pickets at any of the job sites in Cedar Rapids or Iowa City. University of Iowa architect George L. Horner also said Tuesday that all pickets had been lifted from construction sites on the university campus. Monday's shutdown affected about 500 construction workers on the campus, he said. Horner was uncertain as to why the pickets decided to withdraw, but predicted that the shutdown would be remedied soon. "I'm sure things will be pretty well back to normal by Wednesday," he said Tuesday.

Parade Permit Granted For Draft Bus Protest

Spiking rumors that they would block the selective service bus and/or escort it to the city limits, the American Friends Service received a parade permit for an early morning march today from the Iowa City City Council Tuesday night. City Attorney Jay Honohan said he had heard rumors today the Friends would use the permit to block the weekly selective service bus in front of the post office and would use the permit to march in front of and behind the bus to the city limits. Honohan told the group such action would not be tolerated. The council also granted the MayDay Coalition permission to hold a parade later today from the Pentacrest to the National Guard Armory. Mayor Loren Hickerson inserted some comments about last weekend's "Peace-

D.C. Court Judge Asks Explanation Of Mass Arrests

WASHINGTON — Police broke up an antiwar rally outside the Justice Department Tuesday, arresting 2,200 people who failed to comply quickly with orders to leave. It brought the number of arrests to 9,700 in two days of demonstrations. Police information officer Paul Fuqua gave the figure as the last of the demonstrators were brought in buses and bench-fitted moving vans to headquarters four hours after the arrests began. They had been at the Justice Department building nearly two hours listening to speeches, when a police sound truck announced: "A police line has been established. Leave this area immediately or be subject to arrest." Some eight minutes later, the police lines advanced toward demonstrators, most of whom were sitting on 10th Street, on one side of the massive building. Leaders of the demonstration urged the crowd of 2,000 to be nonviolent. The arrests began a minute later. At one point reporters saw several policemen beat five demonstrators with clubs. A sergeant stopped them. Police buses arrived to carry off prisoners. A police information officer said those arrested at the Justice Department would be arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct and unlawful assembly and would not be freed on $10 collateral. The $10 collateral policy was adopted late Monday when the city's jails were glutted by 7,000 arrested in abortive attempts to stall the capital's traffic. Police said another 494 were arrested Tuesday in similar, but smaller, attempts. There was no way of determining how many had been arrested more than once. Some 1,500 of the 7,000 arrested in Monday's futile try at government disruption still were in city jails as the crowd of up to 5,000 marched through downtown streets to the Justice Department. Earlier in the day, during an abortive attempt by protesters to continue the attempt to play hob with workbound traffic, police arrested 685 more on varying charges. Meanwhile, Chief Judge Harold H. Green of the D.C. Superior Court issued a show-case order requiring officials to explain the mass arrests. The American Civil Liberties Union accused the government of producing phony arrest reports long after the demonstrators were set up at the Washington Redskins football practice field, a jail exercise yard and a sports arena. The ACLU said government lawyers filled out arrest forms Monday night, inserting the names of a few policemen at random. Normally the name of the arresting officer goes on such forms, so he can be called later to testify. The ACLU asserted also that police made indiscriminate arrests, sweeping up people who were not part of the demonstrations. With the antiwar protests which have been going on with little interruption since April 24 apparently winding down, the demonstration-weary capital faces a counter rally Saturday. Dr. Carl McIntire, fundamentalist radio preacher, is sponsoring a "U.S. March for Victory" which is to parade along Pennsylvania Avenue and rally on the Mall. He said Tuesday he expects the crowd to exceed that of the April 24 peace demonstration, which drew a throng estimated by police at more than 20,000.

The Black Panthers & the white left

Several months ago rumors of a split in the Black Panther Party began to circulate. Accusations, counter-accusations flew from coast to coast and to Algiers and back — names of Panthers we knew were kicked out of the party and called "Enemies of the People." Eldridge Cleaver in Algiers was charged with reactionary male chauvinism and with holding Kathleen Cleaver in captivity in Algiers. Having few details and given the gravity of the charges, most of us were left very confused. We looked for information but read in all accounts a bias either for — as we perceived the split — the Newton (Oakland) faction or for the Cleaver (Algiers) faction.

Sitting here at the Daily Iowan, we searched for information, articles that would best present the rift in the party. We knew that people were wondering, as we were, how and why the party which used to seem so tight, so together, was suddenly torn apart with hostilities and airing those hostilities publicly.

Finally, we have settled on the article we are reprinting below. This article, written by white radicals at "The Mole," an underground from Boston, came out before the split was so apparent. It is written not as the others we have seen have been written — not going through the many incidents now shaking the party, not siding with any particular group — it is written self-critically of the relationship between the Black Panther Party and the white left. It is this relationship we are responsible for and must change — whites are not needed now by the Panthers to take sides and hash out whether and where the party went wrong.

The article is in two parts, will be concluded tomorrow.

—Cheryl Miller

Last Thanksgiving, a few thousand people gathered in Washington D.C. to attend the Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention. The turnout was considerable, but little seemed to happen and people left with bitter and ambivalent feelings toward the Panthers and the convention. Those of us who went from the Mole were very disappointed and discouraged by the fact that it was unproductive. We talked for a long time about the need for an article on the convention, yet we really didn't know what to say or where to begin. We had some discussions in which we realized that any article about the Panthers had to include, as an integral part, some analysis of the relationship of the white left to the Panthers. And we talked, many of us began to raise questions about our past relationships to the Panthers and other Third World groups.

In writing this article we're trying to understand where we're at in our relationship to the Panthers. We understand to do this we have to begin by analyzing ourselves, for it was our response and glorification of the Panthers that led us to the present situation. We understand well that much of what we say will be disagreed with and we would like to begin an open dialogue on the relationship of the white left to various third world groups. In this article we hope that by presenting some kind of analysis of the past relationship between the Panthers and the white left, we can begin to work for politically meaningful and more realistic relationships with third world people.

PANTHERS, 1971

Over the past few months there has been a general lessening of enthusiasm toward the Panthers and we began to think about the reasons. Across the country various Panthers are being tried without much protest from us. A year ago much of our focus was around the pending trial of Bobby and Ericka; yet now that the trial has begun, there seems to be little interest in it. A year ago, most of us accepted word of the Party as the ultimate in revolutionary thought; yet now those words often seem rhetorical. A year ago we unquestionably accepted the unified force of the Party yet now the slightest evidence of tension in the Party leads us to its rejection. Last spring the New Haven Party sold 10,000 copies of the paper every week, yet now they can barely sell 1,000 a week.

Many of the reasons for the lessening in support of the Panthers can be found in the problems and changes that have occurred in our movement in the past year. A year ago a fair amount of the work we did centered around support for various third world struggles, whether it was the Lords, Los Siete, or the Panthers. This work often consisted of organizing demonstrations of whites against particularly racist institutions — prisons and courts. This was usually preceded with and followed by extensive leafletting.

RELATING TO BLACKS

We rarely tried to talk to people in our communities about racism even though the Panthers encouraged us to do so. Most people found it very easy and comfortable to do this kind of support work since they were often acting out of guilt. Guilt had played an important part of the politicalization of many of us, and we responded by creating a politics of guilt. We were so self-conscious of our backgrounds that we believed being white and middle class were crimes. Thus, we wanted to relate to third world groups, but since whites had been kicked out of SNCC in 1965, we were at a loss as to what to do.

In 1967, when the Panthers moved on the scene in Sacramento and then developed in Oakland, whites jumped at the opportunity to work with them. And when the Panthers extended an open invitation to whites to join them in the Peace and Freedom Party in Oakland in the 1968 elections, people flocked to them immediately and felt that they once again had a way to relate to the black movement. Political tendencies such as these pre-empted the importance of working in white communities, particularly white working class communities.

An example of the way guilt shaped our politics occurred in the fall of 1969 at Boston University. There had been work done around the GE strike and for the first time students were beginning to be concerned with workers' struggles. When on December 4, Fred Hampton was murdered, a group of Weatherpeople entered a discussion of the GE situation and called for a demonstration that weekend protesting the death of Hampton. They charged that to continue the discussion on GE was to completely ignore the death of Hampton. The people responded by organizing the demonstration, yet they never again returned to the GE strike with the same energy or political commitment.

An end to self-hatred came last year with the growing strength of the women's movement. Women began to understand that their own feelings of inadequacy had definite social roots and that they too were oppressed by the same thing that oppressed the third world. Guilt no longer was the motivating force. Anger and rage at the oppression of women replaced guilt and pushed women forward to define themselves politically in a way that left little room for guilt. Understanding of the women's movement and the realization that women were trying to liberate themselves from old roles provided a self-awareness for both men and women that we are all oppressed, and that it is possible to act out of this oppression.

This realization of our own oppression and the rejection of liberal guilt led us into conflict with the Panthers, for much of the way we had related to them previously was based on our guilt. In many cases the Panthers would attend white meetings asking for the group to respond in a particular way, and when the group responded differently, it was immediately charged with racism by the Panthers.

ANALYSIS GROWS

Another important realization that developed from the women's movement was the questioning of relationships in the movement and the kind of structures we were building. More people began to think about the importance of collectives and the need to break down the elitism and hierarchy of the movement. We asked ourselves many questions about forms; we questioned the viability of party structures, particularly democratic centralism.

Many times we questioned the ability of the Panthers to grow ideologically because of their exclusiveness and tightness. We understand the need for tightness as repression increases, but we had difficulty relating to the party as it grew more authoritarian. This may be a direct outgrowth of our class backgrounds, since for many of us becoming radical was a response to the authoritarianism we saw in our daily lives. Yet it made us question the Party, and the latest expulsion by Huey Newton of 11 of the New York 21 makes us uncomfortable. It is extremely difficult to speak about such things for we do not know all the facts, but our response indicates that many of us are ready to believe whatever rumors we hear about the Panthers.

This response is partially due to our expectations of what the Panthers should be, much of which was shaped by the media. Since we have all grown up in a society which depends upon media images, we relate best to groups which use the media to their advantage. The Panthers understood this well and made many of their appearances and actions relate to the media, particularly their appearance in Sacramento at the state capital. The media quickly seized upon the Panthers. They were visible, they were keenly arrogant, and they exercised the ultimate black crime — they picked up the gun against the white slave-master and proclaimed their right to do so. The media, in response, lavished attention and glamour upon them.

THE SUPERSTARS

The Panthers appealed to our romanticism of the revolution. We felt terrible and guilty about being white and didn't know how to relate to whites politically. We felt impotent and cynical about the possibility of creating a revolution among whites. We looked to Latin American and particularly Cuba for our model revolutionaries. We became our symbol of the true revolutionary. The Panthers answered our conception with their leather jackets, their berets, their guns and their rhetoric. Never once did we question whether this might not be applicable to 1970 America.

As a result, we saw the Panthers as the superstars of the revolution. Since we lived in the United States, a country that stressed overall impotence of the majority of the people, we often saw the Panthers as acting for us. We objectified them to be synonymous with the black movement and at times to be the revolution itself. Therefore, when they did difficulty or bungled, as at the convention in Washington, we could not see them making mistakes. We blamed them, criticized them as being totally responsible for the problems, instead of trying to make the best out of the situation. Idolization was a precarious foundation which, when shaken, caused us to swing to the opposite pole of rejection instead of coming to true grips with the situation and relating to it in an objective and revolutionary way.

Letters: more support for WITCH

To the Editor:
The recent WITCH action which hexed Epstein's bookstore (and various other "hip capitalist" sexist stores) was well justified, as far as I, a woman, am concerned. It's beyond my comprehension that storeowners, who sell books, magazines, posters, etc., (and that's a big "et cetera") which are completely concerned with nymphomaniac women, are not able to comprehend why they infuriate women. Is it a crime for a woman to want to be identified as an intelligent person instead of a good piece of ass?

I should think no spokesperson is needed from the WITCH organization to point out the utilization of the woman's body (NEVER her mind) in everything from toothpaste to comic strips in order to sell. But, alas, this is apparently not the case, and, consequently, organizations like WITCH are needed to call to our attention the hideous misuse of a woman's body in exchange for profit. Isn't this, in reality, legal prostitution?

Marlene Bell A2

To the Editor:
I would like to reply to the article in the Saturday issue of the Daily Iowan about the alleged WITCH hex on Epstein's bookstore. First I would like to commend the WITCHes for their action which has brought one of the many examples of sexism displayed by places in Iowa City out in the open. Epstein's sale of Evergreen and display of sexist posters points out the blatant sexism which exists in that business. I think everyone can see this, and it is time the women in this community stopped taking this garbage. As a woman I cannot feel comfortable purchasing books from a store with such a display. I also feel that teachers should stop and think before ordering required reading from a place where sexism thrives so strongly in the proprietors.

The fact that a female was used as their spokesman in the article proves nothing. The testimony of a woman does not dismiss the fact of their sexist ideas. Her comment that "the posters were intended to be humorous, and not a dig at Women's Liberation" only proves that they don't realize that women are smart enough to realize that the fact that so-called "humorous" posters are displayed and sold is a dig at the movement. I don't feel that the women in this community believe they are humorous either.

I don't believe that the question is not how to avoid a broken window but how to avoid sexism in ourselves. A "reasonable" agreement cannot be reached until our own ideas on a personal basis or until we can destroy the sexism which exists in our own lives.

Again I would like to thank the WITCHes for bringing this out in the open, and for giving women an opportunity to speak out on something which we all sense but do nothing about. Until the sexist ideas like those of Epstein's bookstore are realized by the people of this community, we cannot end the oppression which we as women face everyday.

To the Editor:
We have just completed our walk for hunger. Our legs and feet ache but we managed to give $60 to the Hunger Fund. We do not really know how many college students participated on Sunday, but we are sure there were many more students at Lake MacBride on Saturday. It seems that there are an awful lot of people who like to sit and listen to music and talk about world problems but who don't have the energy or the spirit to take any action. We wish to applaud all those who gave of their time and money to make the Hunger Hike a success without much help from the DI or the majority of those who prefer to just talk about change.

To the Editor:

I wish to object to the "MayDay" poster published by the Daily Iowan on April 30, 1971. The tri-color and star arrangement of the poster bears a distinct resemblance to the Viet Cong flag. The Viet Cong banner has a red upper half, a blue lower half and a yellow star superimposed in the center. This same arrangement and color scheme is presented by the Daily Iowan "MayDay" poster.

The first day of May has significance for a spectrum of reasons, and if my analysis captures what the Daily Iowan intended, then I submit that the newspaper has exceeded all propriety in choosing such a seemingly extreme point of view.

Since the average American citizen is not particularly familiar with the coloring and arrangement of the Viet Cong flag, since the Daily Iowan is supported in part by student funds, and again assuming my analysis to be correct, I maintain that the newspaper bears a greater responsibility than to act as a vehicle for such a seemingly pretentious and illusory document.

J. R. Harechmak

To the Editor:

In an effort to achieve some positive results out of what many perceived as a situation of total chaos, the Kent Students Medical Fund, Inc., was founded by Kent State students immediately following the disastrous occurrences on our campus on May 4th.

The purpose of the Fund is not to find fault with any of those involved in this tragedy, nor to explore in any way its political ramifications; our purpose is to attempt to unite all fronts in securing the funds necessary to alleviate the financial burden placed upon the families of those four students who were killed and the nine who were injured at Kent and the two who were killed and the twelve who were injured at Jackson State.

As we commenced the planning and organization of the Fund in the wake of our campus disaster, a similar and equally unbelievable situation developed at Jackson State in Mississippi. Since we were already so caught up in attempting to bring some order into the overwhelming confusion and sense of unreality at our school, it was with complete group empathy and thus consensus that we moved to correlate our efforts with those of Jackson State's. The Vice President of the already incorporated K.S.M.F. contacted and negotiated with Jackson State through Warner Buxton, the President of the student government association at Jackson. The reaction to those negotiations was highly favorable, resulting in a cementing of the bond between the two efforts, hoping thereby to strengthen each.

In order to most efficiently implement the altruistic motivations of the Kent Students Medical Fund, it was necessary for the organization to become a legal entity incorporated under the statutes of the state of Ohio and this task was completed on June 3, 1970. As stipulated in the Articles of Incorporation, a Board of Trustees, consisting of nine students who are elected to their posts annually, is aided by an advisory board of professional people, faculty members and administrators. With their expert consultation, all donations secured by the Fund will be distributed to the families of those students injured at the two universities. As amended into the Articles upon the inclusion of Jackson State, naturally, there is to be equal representation for the two institutions on both the Board of Trustees and the Board of Directors.

Just as many people expressed concern for the intensity of emotion generated by the Kent disaster, so we are concerned that a maximum coverage was given to the deaths that resulted, yet few people are even now aware of either the total number of students injured at both schools or the seriousness of those injuries. It is to this particular point that the Fund addresses itself. Of the total of 27 students injured, some are still hospitalized; some are to suffer lifelong disabilities. Quite aside from the emotional expense that this has cost the families involved (indeed, has cost us all), so such extensive injuries have caused a great monetary burden to be borne by the families. We hope, through our efforts and the help of compassionate people everywhere to at least ease the latter burden.

After MayDay

That this May Day should go by without some special thanks to some special people is unthinkable.

To get the ball rolling, a hearty hat-tip goes out to the Highway Patrol and the sheriff and his deputies who made things at the university management's rockfest run so smoothly and so fast. In their spare time these same men frisked people, confiscated refreshments, and blocked roads.

Those of you rockfesters lucky enough to get past the first roadblock in a car, certainly will want to join in congratulating the nice people who hit you up for $2 parking and another 50 cents for transportation to the management's rockfest. For those who walked those eight miles . . .

We also have the overwhelming majority of the bands to nod to. The men in the main in these groups showed themselves to be unequivocal male chauvinists; bad musicians; and, what with the tune-ups during speeches and all, obnoxious egomaniacs.

But all this must be secondary to the special thanks that the university management deserves. After all, had it not been for those managers, with of course some special help from the city council, the rockfest would not have been held at MacBride "campus" at all. And, as if that wasn't enough, the managers were putting on two other shows at the same time — one for the mothers in town and one for anybody who wanted to watch the theatrics of a power struggle for the manager-in-chieftship in case the rockfest blew up.

Moreover, without the managers, none of the other special thank you's would have been possible.

People's garden

The People's Garden does more than get people arrested. The People's Garden is a piece of earth on South Capitol looking up at the Johnson County Jail. It is also a plot owned by the university and is scheduled to be a parking lot one day, but right now some people have taken the initiative in opening that piece of earth to people who want to grow living things that make people healthy. Anyone can plant, work with that piece of ground that may someday be the inside of a cement coffin.

Unfortunately, Saturday when a group of about 15 people were making a legal march to the garden — complete with tools and rejoicing a return to the earth — one of the group was arrested for allegedly disobeying a policeman ordering them off the street. It cost $105 to get him back out in the sun.

Any excess produce the garden will produce is to go to the Wesley House Free Lunch program and to the Dum-Dum Daycare house.

More power to the People's Garden!

--Talks of Opening Suez Canal-- Rogers in Mideast

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers arrived Tuesday on the first of two key stops of his Mideast peace mission. He said he was prepared to talk about reopening the Suez Canal.

Flying in from Beirut, Rogers presented a personal letter of friendship from President Nixon to President Anwar Sadat and referred to Egypt's famed pyramids in saying:

"We will be discussing how we can build a new monument — a permanent monument which will not erode with the passage of time — a monument of peace for the people of the Middle East."

In Jerusalem, a top Israeli policymaker promised Rogers a warm welcome there Thursday and said Israel was willing to consider "a certain pullback" from the canal — but would require "absolute assurance" that no Egyptian or Soviet troops would cross into the vacated territory.

In his arrival statement, Rogers said he was prepared "to explore with Egypt and Israel in a concrete way the possibility of an interim agreement of opening the Suez Canal, which we hope would contribute to a final settlement."

Rogers said "very considerable difficulties remain ahead" in trying to work out a Mideast peace settlement.

Rogers is the first American secretary of state to visit Egypt in 18 years. His arrival marked perhaps the first time in American history that a secretary of state officially visited a country with which the United States has no diplomatic relations. The late President Gamal Abdel Nasser broke relations in June 1967, and Spain has represented American interests in Egypt since.

Nixon Expected to Urge Federal Aid for Lockheed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican legislative leaders said Tuesday President Nixon is expected to recommend shortly that the federal government guarantee $250 million in loans to the financially pressed Lockheed Aircraft Corp. if he faces strong congressional opposition is assured.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the GOP Senate leader from Pennsylvania, and Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, the House Republicans' assistant leader, passed this word to newsmen after the weekly intraparty breakfast at the White House.

Arends said there was no opposition to such a guarantee voiced at the Republicans' session. And Scott said the proposal "should pass the Congress and it ought to."

But the Senate majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mt.), told reporters Tuesday "I'm just against the government bailing out corporations. If private enterprise wants to do the job let them do it."

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) chairman of the Senate House Joint Economic Committee, already has announced he will fight any proposed guarantee.

Lockheed goes bankrupt. "The cost of not helping Lockheed would be substantially greater than helping," he said.

Later White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters he thinks a decision on the Lockheed matter will come this week.

Mansfield said he favors creation of a government corporation such as the old Reconstruction Finance Corporation to deal with such situations rather than handling them on a case-by-case basis.

Scott said this approach was discussed but "the feeling I get is that the legislation will be specific," dealing just with Lockheed.

The only possible alternative to federally guaranteed loans from private banks is for the Defense Department to take over the ailing firm and that would be more expensive, Scott said.

Demonstrators 'Quiet' At Kent State

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University closed a building housing ROTC offices when several hundred students sat down in front of it Tuesday, the final day of a memorial service for four students shot to death by National Guardsmen a year ago.

The 300 May Day Coalition participants blocked entrances to Rockwell Hall while helmeted campus security guards watched from inside the locked building.

Five blocks away, Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr., told 450 students in Memorial Gym:

"We will best serve the memory of those who died here if we can convince our fellow citizens of two truths about our country: violence is the enemy of constructive change and the only way to prevent violence is to keep the door to change open."

Brewster was the concluding speaker in the four-day memorial program.

A block from the gymnasium a small band of students maintained a candlelight vigil on the knoll where the shootings occurred during an antiwar demonstration.

The vigil was to end at midnight.

Coalition speakers, who violated campus rules by their presence, included Mark Lane, an attorney active in the civil rights movement; folk singer Barbara Dane; George Lakey, a member of the Friends of Peace Committee; and former Kent State student Tim Butz, a national committeeman for the Veterans Against the War.

Lane used a loudspeaker to talk at the fringe of an estimated 4,000 students who gathered outside Rockwell Hall. Most listened quietly to him, and turned occasionally to watch the students at Rockwell Hall.

Inside the building, security guards told employees they could go home if they wanted to. A rock shattered a small first-floor window.

Hawkeye Golfers Take Top 4 Spots— Iowa Wins Golf Tourney

Iowa golfers captured the first four individual spots as the Hawkeyes captured their second straight Iowa Invitational at the Finkbine Gold Course Tuesday.

Iowa totaled 596 strokes and easily outdistanced second place Iowa State with 624. A total of 20 teams competed in the 72-hole day-long meet. Drake was the only major Iowa school that didn't. The Bulldogs are at the Missouri Valley Tournament this week.

The Hawkeyes' Joe Heinz took medalist honors with a four-over-par 146. Chris Larsen was second at 149 and Jay Boros and Steve Vorheis tied for third two more strokes back.

Iowa State's Dick Vetter and Tom Echer of Upper Iowa were the top non-Hawkeye finishers. They tied for fifth with 152. It was the second straight victory in the tourney for Iowa. The Hawkeyes won last year's event, which was the first one of the annual event, with a 376 total for 18 holes. ISU's was the second place team a year ago also.

Heinz, who tied with four others for medalist honors at last year's invitational, carded a three-over-par 74 during the morning round. He came back with one of the day's best rounds by scoring a 72 in the afternoon.

"The morning rounds' scores were somewhat higher because of the rain, wind and wet fairways. Tom Echer, who finished fifth overall, had one of the biggest score spreads in the two rounds. He had an 80 in the morning, but came back with a 79 in the afternoon.

Fred Grawe of Wartburg, who was one of the four who tied for medalist honors last year, could only manage eighth this year.

AMES (AP) — The arbitrator called in to settle the Iowa-Iowa State football scheduling hassle will cost the two schools only $345.38, but the final bill for settlement could reach $6,000.

The big difference, according to reports released Monday, comes in the fees charged by the attorneys representing the two schools in the dispute settled in the favor of Iowa State.

Don Smith of Ames, representing the Athletic Council at Iowa State, has submitted a bill of $3,583.71.

Bill Tucker of Iowa City, who represented the University of Iowa's Board in Control of Athletics, has not submitted his final bill yet, but it is believed it will be about $2,000.

Patrick Fisher of Indianapolis, Ind., ruled April 27 that Iowa was obligated to play Iowa State in the four disputed games — from 1979 through 1982.

The two schools will also play in 1977 and 1978, but the arbitrator's decision covered only the four years where no contracts had been signed.

Under a ruling handed down by the State Board of Regents, the arbitrator was appointed and his decision with the approval of the Regents was to be binding. The athletic departments of the two schools were liable for any costs incurred. Regents chairman Stanley Redeker of Boone expressed surprise, along with satisfaction that a good deal of potential criticism was lifted from his shoulders.

"The final total by Fisher $200 plus expenses is probably a lot cheaper than if we had held a special meeting of the regents," said Redeker.

"As for the other attorney fees, I don't even care to know what they were," added Redeker. "The Board of Regents had nothing to do with hiring outside attorneys."

Smith's fee reportedly is much higher than Tucker's because Smith worked on the case since last fall when Iowa said it had signed contracts for only two games, and would play only those games.

Tucker was not called in until the regents chose to settle the problem with a professional arbitrator.

RAINED OUT
 Iowa's scheduled baseball doubleheader with Upper Iowa Tuesday was postponed because of rain and has been rescheduled for Monday, May 10.

Ruggers 3rd In Milwaukee Rugby Meet

The Iowa Rugby Club captured third place in the 16-team Mid America Cup Tournament last weekend at Milwaukee.

Iowa, playing some of its best rugby of the season, defeated the host team, the Milwaukee Rugby Club, and Indiana University before losing to the University of Wisconsin team. Iowa was awarded third place on the basis of total margin of victory in its first two games.

The Ruggers easily handled Milwaukee in their first game on Saturday by the score of 15-0. Doc Bolden, Charlie Dee and co-captain Ken Kekke did all of the Iowa scoring.

Bolden scored a touchdown on a 60-yard run in his first appearance with the Ruggers. Dee also scored a touchdown, which incidentally counts four points now instead of three. Kekke scored seven points on a pair of conversion kicks and a penalty kick.

In the second game Saturday, Iowa beat Indiana, 10-0. Jack Wood scored the only try of the game and Kekke added a pair of penalty kicks.

Eventual champ Wisconsin was more than Iowa could handle in the semifinals. They shutout Iowa 8-0.

Ouch; Late Entry Ousted, 22-11

Santana II eked out a narrow 22-11 victory over Late Entry Tuesday in intramural softball competition, and moved another step in the playoffs.

Late entry, which jumped off to a quick 6-1 lead in the first inning, was slowed by several injuries, most notably to star third baseman John "Porpoise" Richards, who was suffering from a severe hangover, and to Mike Slutsky, Gary Wade, Raul and Conger. Jay Ewaldt, Tim Simmons, John Camp, Tom Walsh, Dave Allick, Mike McGreevy and Lowell May, who were suffering from hangovers.

Late entry coach, John Cloyd, was not suffering from a hangover, but had a sore arm and did not play; defensive stalwart Fred Kosik also did not play because he was mad at another Late entry starter.

Santana II, with a 3-1 record, moves one step further in tournament play, while Late Entry, at 2-2, has gone into oblivion.

Iowa Baseball -- Very Noisy

By JOHN RICHARDS
 Sports Editor

It wasn't too long ago that you could go to an Iowa baseball game and have a picnic, or study or just take a peaceful little nap. But not this season.

Baseball season is no longer the quiet time of the year around the Iowa Diamond. The reason? The noise Hawkeye hitters have been making.

The biggest complaint about Iowa's baseball games the last few years — and about baseball in general — is that it is no longer exciting and that the pitchers have all the advantages. Regardless of that, Iowa batters have been making the ERA's of opposing pitchers climb this year.

One quick glance at the statistics is ample proof. As a team, the Hawkeyes are hitting .289. Four players are hitting around the .300 mark or better — including two over .400.

It would be difficult to compare Iowa's top two hitters, Fred Mims and Jim Cox, in fact, Hawkeye coach Duane Banks only said, "There's a good chance I might lose both hard to say how good they could be."

Banks added that he hoped they wouldn't leave, but would never try to stop an athlete that had a chance to make the majors.

All Mims and Cox have done is hit 16 homers between them and slugged for 51 RBI's and some 142 total bases. Mims is hitting .451 on the year with seven homers, 22 runs-batted-in and 62 total bases.

Cox has blasted nine home runs, driven in 29 men, totaled 80 bases and averaged .406 through 29 games. His homer in the first game against Northern Illinois Monday broke the Iowa record of seven by Jack Lundquist in 1953. Just for spite, Cox added another jack in the second game.

Jeff Elgin, who started the season slowly, has upped his average to .316. Dave Blazin is hitting .299 with 18 RBI's and Rav Smith is at .287. Reserve outfielder Gary Keoppe is hitting .320, but does not have enough plate appearances to be among the leaders.

"We're hitting the ball so hard and so often that it has become a habit," Banks commented. "I've said all along that this team could hit with anybody. That goes right down the line for anyone guys that I start. Everyone is confident of his ability to hit."

Banks is happy with his team and its offensive punch. But he is rather disappointed in the crowds that attend the Iowa games. Why not try one.

Infernos Tie Waterloo

The Iowa City Infernos Soccer Club battled to a 3-3 tie with the Waterloo Black Sox in an Upper Mississippi Soccer Alliance match Sunday.

Due to traveling difficulties, the Infernos were forced to play only 10 players until the second half when the rest of the team arrived.

After falling behind 2-0 in the first half, the Infernos stormed back to score three goals in the second and Waterloo added another for the 3-3 final score.

of them next year. A number of pro scouts have talked with me about them... The way they are going this year, it's Bob Schardt, a 6-2, 190-pound catcher from Pittsburgh's (Pa.) Penn Hills high school.

Dick Eisenlauer, a track star at East high school in Des Moines, has accepted a Big 10 tender with the University of Iowa, according to Coach Francis Cretzmeyer.

The fleet Eisenlauer captured the high school 100-yard dash at the Drake Relays last week in 5.8 seconds. He anchored East's winning half-mile relay team in the same meet.

He was the Class AA 440-yard champion at the high school indoor meet here several weeks ago.

"Dick is really a great prospect," says Cretzmeyer. "He reminds me of Roger Coleglazier, the Davenport native who is doing very well at Abilene Christian. We're delighted to have him pick Iowa."

Dress Codes Fail In U.S. Classroom

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

School officials have just about given up trying to enforce rigid dress codes in many of the nation's classrooms. An Associated Press survey showed schools have abandoned formal regulations — things like no slacks for girls, no beards, no mustaches, no long hair.

Instead, they've adopted general guidelines usually ordering that the youngsters be in accordance with health regulations — meaning shoes are a must — and that their attire not be disruptive — no see-through blouses.

"We've become fairly liberal, reasonably relaxed and we urge our students to use common sense," said George Halface, assistant superintendent of schools at Hunterdon Central Regional High School in Flemington, N.J.

"We believe parents are responsible for what students wear to school. If it's something terribly disruptive, we ask them to change."

dad decide what the kids should wear."

The Board of Education in Los Angeles liberalized its dress code Monday because, as member Robert Doctor explained, the school district "should not be forced into the role of bogyman to enforce the rules parents themselves cannot enforce."

Students now can grow mustaches, sideburns or beards of any length and wear clothing of any style as long as they don't interfere with school activities.

When it comes to boys, the biggest problem is hair and recent court decisions have cast doubt on the school's right to control hair length.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles Wyzanski Jr. ordered Alan Bennett, 18, reinstated at Westfield, Mass., after the youth was suspended for growing a mustache. The judge said it was unconstitutional to try to regulate the length of a student's hair — either on his head or his face.

Local District Judge: Hair Style Is a Right

CEDAR RAPIDS — A U.S. District judge ruled here Tuesday that a public high school student's free choice of hair style is a right protected by the federal constitution.

Judge Edward McManus made the ruling in the case of two Decorah High School students, Peter Torvik and Kai Kassa, who had asked the court to issue a permanent injunction restraining the school from keeping them from classes because of their long hair.

"Among the rights retained by the people . . . is the right to be free from state interference with those personal aspects of our daily lives which have no direct bearing on the ability of others to enjoy their liberty," McManus said in handing down his decision.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system in North Carolina adopted a general statement in 1967 prohibiting extreme styles and grooming which may be detrimental to the maintenance of discipline and morale.

A spokesman for the school district in Shawnee Mission, a Kansas City suburb, said, "As long as the style is not a distracting one, we feel our business is to educate, not legislate style."

Who decides what's distracting? Many officials concede they couldn't stop the fashion trends if they tried.

Charles Gilbert, principal of the Upper Arlington High School in Ohio, said, "We can't be style controllers. As for hot pants, he added, 'It's like the miniskirt. We know we're not going to stop it, so we've decided to make it the parents' responsibility, to let mom and

Bill to Stop Campus Vote Dies in Illinois Committee

SPRINGVILLE, Ill. — A bill which would have banned most college students from voting in their college communities by forcing them to register at their parents' address was killed in the Senate Elections Committee Tuesday by a vote of 9-4.

A similar bill was approved last week in the Republican dominated house. It is sponsored by Charles Clabaugh, a Republican of Champaign, the seat of the University of Illinois.

Clabaugh's bill must go before the same committee in the Senate which dealt the death blow to Merritt's proposal.

Though the wording of the bills is somewhat different, they attempt to do the same thing.

U.S. Bombers Hit North Viet Routes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B-52 bombers struck Tuesday at North Vietnamese infiltration routes that straddle the Laos border in the northern region of South Vietnam.

Three waves of heavy bombers pounded jungle trails and supply points in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. Other flights of B-52s dumped explosives across the border in Laos on the Ho Chi Min Trail. The bombing campaign was reportedly planned to halt attempts by the North Vietnamese to hurry supplies down the trail and into South Vietnam and Cambodia before the monsoon rains reach full force.

The storms in southern Laos are just starting and are expected to reach monsoon strength during the coming weeks. During the rainy season in southern and eastern Laos North Vietnamese efforts to move supplies is usually slowed.

As the B-52s struck, only minor battle action was reported over most of South Vietnam.

National Liberation Front (NLF) troops mounted a few small rocket and mortar attacks against U.S. and South Vietnamese military positions. Three of the shelling struck in the northern part of the country.

The most ground fighting was reported by South Korean forces, comprising the second largest foreign contingent on the allied side after the Americans.

Korean headquarters said South Korean troops killed 55 NLF soldiers Monday in scattered actions along a 200-mile coastal sector in the central part of the country.

POW Plan Rejected

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam backed away Tuesday from negotiations over prisoners of war and, in effect, rejected a U.S. proposal that prisoners from both sides be interned in a neutral country.

The North Vietnam delegation to the Paris peace talks had maintained that the release of prisoners can be dealt with only after the United States has set a deadline for withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam.

'Oh What a Lovely War!' A Jolly Anti-War Movie

"Oh What a Lovely War!" Since the picture is totally unique, I can't really classify it. It is: (1) a strong statement against war, (2) one of the best screen musicals since Rene Clair, and (3) first-rate entertainment.

There is almost no plot worth mentioning. The war of the title is World War I. The structure of the film being fantasy, the war is embodied in a seaside fair at Brighton. The Master of Ceremonies is Major-General Douglas Haig (John Mills), the officer who was actually responsible for the insane British tactics in the real war.

The film uses the framework of the allegorical fair to leap between the bright booths and games (like shooting galleries) to real battle situations (like trench combat). The device is highly effective throughout. This picture is a far cry from the "grim antiwar" statement we are used to by now. There is almost nothing really grim about the picture. Its overly jolly treatment of war is so patently absurd that the message is driven home very hard.

The picture is based on the original British stage play by Joan Littlewood, which had something of a vaudeville air about it. The film has undergone an amazing metamorphosis in the adaptation, for there is nothing stacy left in it.

Another extraordinary thing about this film is its cast. Attenborough seems to have commandeered all his actor friends from the theatre to play small parts. This doesn't turn out, as in some movies — like "The Greatest Story Ever Told" or "Is Paris Burning?" — to be a mere orgy of star-watching.

Instead there is a series of brilliantly played cameos by Britain's top acting talent. Laurence Olivier, Michael Redgrave, Susannah York, Dirk Bogarde, Venessa Redgrave, John Gielgud, Ralph Richardson, Maggie Smith, and a whole host of others turn up at various times and are all superb.

It's interesting that this indictment of the folly of war should come from Britain, which hasn't been at war for years. Much of the picture, particularly the eventual entry of the United States into WWI (to the tune of "Over There," naturally), hits hard at the incompetence of the British handling of the war.

Yet this picture has been made by a group of established actors who represent the traditional in English entertainment (at least five of the people involved in this picture are titled). And here lies the significance of the numerous cameos: that such a picture could be made with such distinguished and complete cooperation. I find it difficult to imagine such a picture being made in America: I can't quite see all the old Hollywood stars getting together and making an anti-war musical.

Perhaps the film is not perfect. I did notice about three scenes where the carefully sustained irony of the rest of the picture broke down. But aside from these trivial faults, I couldn't see anything wrong. Perhaps others would argue about the overall effectiveness of the picture. In my opinion, at any rate, it is a stunning film and not to be missed.

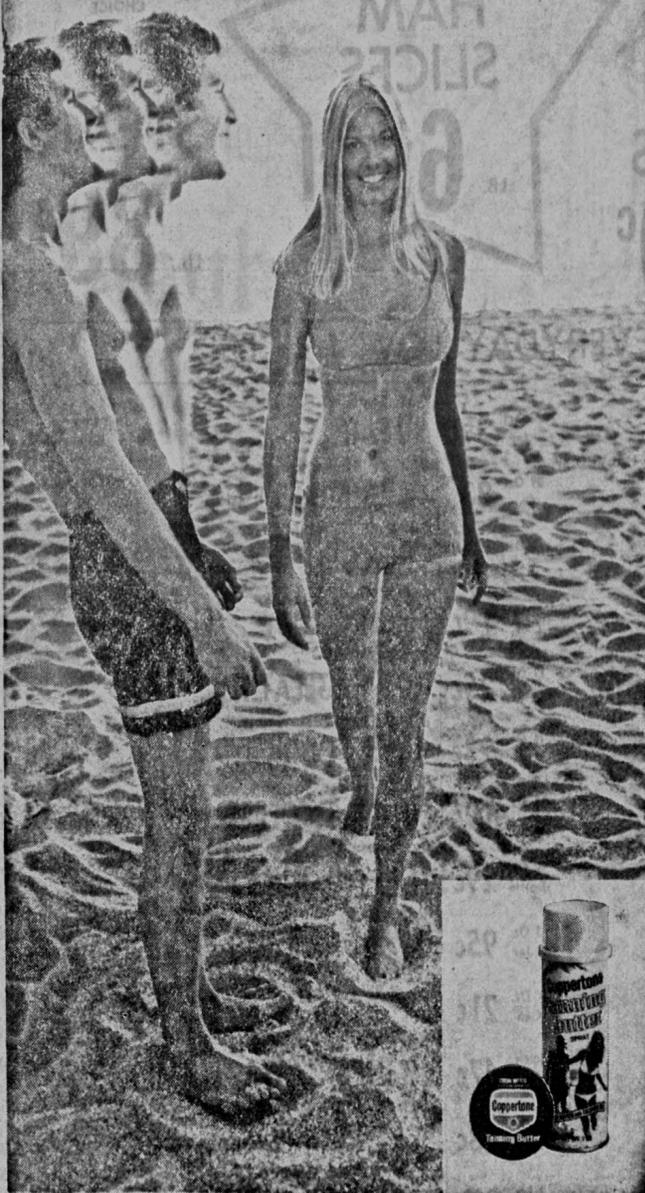

— Kristin Thompson

U.S. Gives Thieu Directions For Curbing Traffic in Heroin

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials have given President Nguyen Van Thieu a list of suggested actions to curb the growing traffic in heroin and other drugs in South Vietnam, informed sources said Tuesday.

The sources reported Thieu requested the list after top U.S. leaders here appealed to him for government help in dealing with the problem among American servicemen.

Drug use among U.S. soldiers is viewed by many American officials as a crisis that is worsening weekly.

Two U.S. congressmen, Rep. Robert H. Steele (R-Conn.) and Morgan Murphy (D-Ill.), said April 19 that their inquiry showed drug use of "epidemic proportions" and added that the U.S. military command indicated 10 to 15 per cent of all soldiers in Vietnam were using a high grade heroin.

Underlining the rising concern felt by U.S. officials over the narcotics situation was the arrival in Saigon Tuesday of John E. Ingersoll, director of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Ingersoll made no statement on arrival. But Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, closing out an eight-day visit to the war zone, told newsmen: "We're taking steps to get greater assistance from the Vietnamese government to deal with this drug problem."

Resor's statement was understood to refer to the list of proposals given to Thieu within the past week after a meeting involving Thieu, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam. The three met again to discuss the subject Monday, it was reported.

The sources, while not spelling out the suggested government actions in detail, said they were concerned primarily with reducing the flow of heroin and other narcotics into South Vietnam from neighboring countries.

"Basically it involves the distribution of the stuff, including a tightening of customs and other checks," one source said.

Phillip R. Lindner, a West Point Cadet won honorable mention in an essay contest Tuesday for his entry urging immediate steps toward complete world disarmament and prompt seating of Red China in the United Nations. Lindner, 20, of Dallas, Tex., is in his second year at the Academy. The contest was sponsored by the United Nations Association of New York City. — AP Wirephoto

Peace Cadet House OKs Progressive Income Tax

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa House settled upon a much more progressive income tax Tuesday as the major means of financing a proposed massive increase in state aid to schools.

Sitting as a Committee of the Whole, it adopted, 68-23, an amendment by Rep. George Knoke (R-Council Bluffs) to add new brackets to the present Iowa income tax with rates going as high as 14 per cent on incomes of $50,000 or more.

The action, one of the first major breakthroughs in prolonged efforts to write an acceptable state tax and school aid increase measure, brought expressions of hope from Republican leaders that the House could put the finishing touches on the bill by the week's end.

The House is in its second week of working as a Committee of the Whole trying to write the bill, which is aimed at boosting state school aid by some $80 million above present levels to relieve local property tax in the 1972-73 school year.

In another key vote earlier in the day, the House decided against heavy reliance on a local income tax to replace property taxes for schools.

It adopted, 59-34, a plan proposed by House Majority Leader Andrew Varley (R-Stuart) and Asst. Majority Leader Robert Kreamer (D-Des Moines) to permit a school district to adopt a local income tax only under certain restricted circumstances, and then only if the voters approved it in a referendum.

Varley said the Committee of the Whole would take up Wednesday the question of whether to increase the state sales tax in addition to the more progressive income tax.

Most House members were predicting that the sales tax boost would be voted down, now that the progressive income tax plan has been approved.

Knoke said Iowa Director of Revenue Donald Briggs has estimated the progressive income tax would produce new state revenue totaling slightly over $64 million in the 1971-72 fiscal year and about $72.3 million in 1972-73.
