The object of all the excitement in the above picture was a barrel suspended on a wire. Teams of competing area firemen attempted to move the barrel, with the use of fire hoses, to the opposition's end of the wire. ## Laird Threatens New Draft Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird warned Friday that the government may have to draft young men whose deferments have expired if Congress fails to extend the authority to draft others.

"I do not believe we can delay much longer than September," Laird told a news conference. "I think we can ride it out until September."

Laird made it clear he would be reluctant to induct young men from the draft manpower pool, but indicated that a longer wait would adversely effect the readiness of Army divisions and the U.S. position around the world.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr has declined to use his authority to call men who have lost deferments to fill the Pentagon's 16,000-man call for July and August.

A Senate-House conference committee is now locked in a dispute over a Senate amendment to draft extension which calls for the total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam nine months after enactment of the bill.

Although key draft authority in the law died June 30, the government has residual authority to induct young men from among thousands who were deferred from military service for college education or other reasons while the law was in effect, and whose deferments have expired.

Laird said, "I would recommend that we delay as long as we possibly can" in dipping into this manpower pool.

The Selective Service System has announced it will hold a new lottery on Aug. 5 looking toward next year's draft.

If the Senate and the House finally agree on a draft extension bill in the first two weeks of September, Laird said, another 21 days would still be needed before young men could be brought in in the normal course.

"That means we could not draft anybody until October," the Defense chief said.

Apollo 15 Ready

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts rehearsed lunar science and navigation tasks for several hours Sunday, then relaxed in crew quarters, where they received a telephoned "Godspeed" from President Nixon for their moon journey starting today. The President phoned from Camp David, Md., about 6 p.m. EDT and wished the three explorers well on what has been termed one of history's greatest scientific expeditions. He said he'd see them at the White House after the mission.

The astronauts then dined on steak and retired shortly before 8 p.m. The countdown was ticking on schedule toward a 9:34 a.m. EDT blastoff of the Saturn 5 rocket.

Sudan Killings Go On

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — A firing squad executed Sunday an army major convicted of being a key figure in last week's unsuccessful coup against Maj. Gen. Jaafar el Numairi, the Middle East news agency reported.

Maj. Farouk Osman Hamadallah, who was to be prime minister in the rebel government, was shot just before sundown. He was the eighth man to be executed since Numairi regained power, crushing the 74-hour coup.

Col. Babikir el Noor, the plot's alleged leader, was on trial as Hamadallah met his death. Numairi branded Noor a traitor in a news conference earlier Sunday.

The two men were turned over to Sudan by Libya's military regime after being taken off a British jetliner forced down by Libyan jets in Benghazi.

Noor and Hamadallah were intercepted in Libya while on their way to Khartoum from Britain to take control of the rebel government. But in the meantime forces loyal to Numairi had ousted the rebels in a counter-coup.

The uprising began on Monday and Numairi was jailed by the rebels, identified by the restored regime as Communists. By Thursday, Numairi was back in power and since then his regime has executed seven rebel leaders.

Numairi had high praise for Libya's support of him and also that of Egypt, which he said had offered to permit Sudan to withdraw some of its troops from the Suez Canal to help in the counter-coup to bring Numairi back to power.

Numairi said he had proof that Iraqis supported the coup against him but declined to speculate on other foreign support, saying he had heard Britain, the United States, Red China and the Soviet Union were among those responsible and that the allegations were under investigation.

He said casualties in the coup and counter coup included 119 wounded, including some civilians; 38 dead, including 7 civilians, and an unknown number arrested. About 400 officers and men of the armed forces are among those understood to be awaiting trial.

Numairi said Britain had asked Sudan to take a sympathetic view of Noor and Hamadallah but he added that his request was rejected because "they were traitors and Sudanese citizens."

Although Numairi said he could not say how many persons had been arrested, his minister of state Mohammed Idriss, told newsmen Saturday more than 1,000 are in jail.

Man Held After Pentacrest Rape

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Heywood L. Morgan, 18, of Long Beach, Calif., was being held here Friday on a charge of raping a 15-year-old Iowa City girl.

The charge against Morgan was filed by Iowa City police Thursday and he was held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Police said the alleged rape occurred last Sunday night in an apartment building here. They said Morgan had met the girl that afternoon on the University of Iowa campus.

In another case, Jackie L. Dutton, 26, of Boone, was fined $125 Friday on charges of assault and battery and intoxication.

Police said Dutton was charged with beating a 16-year-old girl in the Pentacrest area on the University of Iowa campus.

They said Dutton ran, after the beating, and four other youths caught him and held him while police were called.

Heart-Lung Transplanted

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard, pioneer heart-graft surgeon, transplanted both lungs and a heart Sunday into a 49-year-old man and said the patient was doing "as well as can be expected."

The wife of the donor, who died from head injuries suffered in a fight, said she had not been asked for permission for her husband's body to be used and would not have granted it.

The heart-lung recipient, Adrian Herbert, 49, a Cape Town dental technician, was bedridden for two years with an incurable lung condition that weakened his heart.

The donor, Jackson Gunya, about 28, died Saturday night in Grootte Schuur Hospital where the transplant was performed.

Herbert was reported to be "colored," South Africa's official term for those of mixed race, and Gunya black.

Gunya's wife, Rosaline, told newsmen no one informed her that her husband was to be used as a donor when she visited him in the hospital before he died and "I would never have given permission for such a thing if I had known." She added she was hurt and unhappy.

A hospital spokesman said authorities could not locate Gunya's relatives before the operation. "This was a police case and the permission of the attorney general, the government pathologist and the district surgeon were obtained before the donor's organs were transplanted," he said. South African law permits such procedure if the deceased person's relatives cannot be traced.

The operation was Barnard's first combined heart-lung transplant and the world's fourth. The three previous ones, all unsuccessful, were performed in the United States.

The six-hour operation began about 4 a.m. — 9 p.m. CDT Saturday.

Demo Connally May Back Dick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, a Democrat, indicated Sunday he may campaign for President Nixon in the 1972 presidential election.

"It depends on who the Democrats run," Connally said. "It depends on what happens."

Connally appeared on CBS radio-television's "Face the Nation."

The former Texas governor, since being appointed to the Cabinet, has been designated Nixon's top economic spokesman.

Connally said he would support the Nixon administration "as long as I'm here in the field in which I'm engaged."

Johnson: Viet Vets Not 'Hard Killers'

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Donald Johnson, the administrator of Veterans Affairs, Sunday lashed out at what he called "character assassination" of Vietnam veterans.

Johnson said it is untrue that returning Vietnam veterans are "hardened killers" who should be confined in special camps until they are "properly purged of their killer instincts."

And he said American servicemen in Vietnam do not turn to drugs to escape boredom.

He said the two views of American servicemen "seem to be gaining currency in America today" and said the views are hurting returning veterans when they look for jobs and in their attempts to become responsible citizens.

Johnson, a native of West Branch, and a former national commander of the American Legion, spoke during the 53rd annual convention of the Iowa Department of American Legion which was meeting in Des Moines.

He said both attitudes "concern us because they are hurting our returned and returning Vietnam veterans. For this reason neither can be allowed to continue unchallenged and unchanged."

He charged that those who hold such attitudes "are not disturbed by the fact that even if the figure of 50,000 Vietnam veteran drug addicts is accurate, it represents less than one per cent of the more than 5,000,000 Vietnam veterans who have returned to civilian life.

And he said the "killer" charge against Vietnam veterans is "a mass indictment completely contrary to such facts as the unprecedented, unnumbered acts of humanitarianism by our American servicemen in Vietnam, from building churches and schools to adopting orphaned children and even whole families."

Johnson told the Iowa legionnaires to tell "the fearful, the uninformed and the misled in our society — in no uncertain terms — that they can keep their killer-antidote suggestions to themselves."

"Better still, among themselves. For such suggestions, and their authors, deserve each other," he said.

Also speaking to the legionnaires were Gov. Robert Ray and Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa)

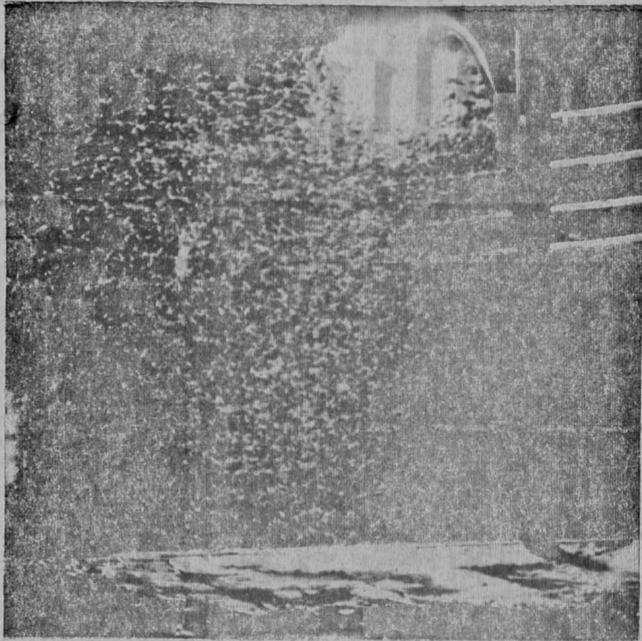

"You and I know that no organization has supported and defended the American way of life with greater dedication than the American Legion," Miller said.

"That support has been without regard to political partisanship. It has been vigilant. And it has been premised on patriotism in the finest sense of the word — love for country and our fellow citizens," he said.

Ray, who was the first to speak Sunday morning, said "The moment somebody mentions the word 'patriotism,' some people immediately assume he is talking about some kind of mystical experience. But he is not. He is talking about something very immediate and real.

"He is telling us he is proud of the country he lives in and proud of what it stands for. And that is all he means. He is not challenging your opinion of this country," he said.

He said "Your organization developed recognizing that patriotism must be a practical thing. Without patriotism, we would be a country without a purpose and a people without a passion."

Ackley Discusses Inflation Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top economic adviser to former President Lyndon B. Johnson says Congress should establish a high-level wage and price review board independent of the White House.

Dr. Gardner Ackley, who served as chairman of Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, said the board should be able to require prior notice of wage and price increases and have power to suspend them for a limited period.

Ackley told reporters during a chat at a sidewalk cafe in downtown Washington that it is "damn unfortunate" the whole issue of establishing such anti-inflationary machinery has become entangled in partisan politics.

He said a wage-price policy "to the maximum extent possible . . . should cease to be considered a partisan issue, but rather come to be regarded a regular and permanent aspect of the U.S. stabilization system."

The proposed board "should not be part of the office of the President, but an independent, above-politics type of board . . . people with independent stature," he said.

Ackley said President Nixon "has flirted with wage-price intervention," but has stopped short of a full-scale incomes policy.

"Income policy" is an economic slogan meaning direct government intervention, short of controls, to moderate wage and price increases.

"A well-developed incomes policy should be in place and working before the U.S. economy returns to the zone of full employment," Ackley said.

His proposal is outlined in a paper written for Atlantic Institute, a private organization promoting cooperation among Atlantic nations and Japan. The paper deals with world inflation.

Ackley said in the paper that the board should also have powers to investigate wage and price increases, subpoena witnesses, and make recommendations to the public. But it could not pass finally on wage and price increases.

The President should continue to have standby authority for control of wages and prices, he said.

A wage-price review board has also been suggested by Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, but Ackley's proposal goes further than Burns'.

Girls' School Battle Scene In Gaza Strip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli troops killed five Arab guerrillas in a blazing gun battle Sunday in the corridors of a girls' preparatory school in the occupied Gaza Strip, the Israeli military command announced.

Security forces, acting on a tip that the guerrillas were hiding in the school, surrounded the building shortly before dawn, a spokesman said. He added that the Arabs refused to surrender and the troops, firing automatic weapons and hurling grenades, broke in and killed them in a short, sharp encounter.

No Israeli casualties were reported. It was not immediately clear whether any girls were in the school.

There were a series of moves on the diplomatic front. In the sharpest act, Syria closed its border with Jordan, Damascus radio reported, thus barring Jordanian access to Mediterranean ports in Syria and Lebanon. Iraq took the same action against Jordan a week ago.

Jordan's interior minister said his government would not retaliate. "Syrians are welcome to come to Jordan any time they wish, as our border with Syria will remain open," he said.

Nixon Appointment for Dunlap

Leslie W. Dunlap, dean of library administration at The University of Iowa, has been named by President Richard M. Nixon to the new National Commission on Libraries and Information Science.

Dean Dunlap, whose five-year term on the commission was confirmed by the U.S. Senate last week, is one of only five professional librarians on the 15-member body and is the only active university librarian. The commission's chairman is L. Quincy Mumford, librarian of Congress.

Formation of the commission, by act of Congress and presidential approval, stems from a study begun during the Johnson Administration. The study committee recommended establishment of a permanent commission to make surveys and give advice to various governments and agencies on library policies, which it said is essential for achievement of national goals.

The commission is expected to make surveys and analyses of services by public, school, research and special libraries across the country, among other duties.

Dunlap expects the commission's first meeting to be in Washington, D.C., in the fall for hiring its executive director, arranging for a staff, and establishing an office.

Dunlap came to the U of I as director of libraries in 1958. He has a bachelor's degree from the University of Oregon and master's, librarian and doctoral degrees from Columbia University.

He has served on the staffs of the New York City Public, University of Wisconsin, and University of British Columbia Libraries. He was associate director of the University of Illinois Library, and was assistant chief of the general reference and manuscripts divisions of the Library of Congress.

Regional Organization Set For Iowa's VA Hospitals

DES MOINES, Iowa — Iowa's three Veterans Administration hospitals will be linked in a new regional organization to improve health care for veterans, Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs, said Friday.

Johnson, an Iowan, told a news conference VA administrators believe that "molding the contributions of each hospital will result in a total ability to treat and to cure that will exceed the combined abilities of the three institutions today."

The new regional organization embracing the VA hospitals at Iowa City, Des Moines and Knoxville will be effective Aug. 1, he said.

Johnson, in Iowa to address the Iowa Department of the American Legion Sunday, also told newsmen the new drug center at the Iowa City VA hospital is one of 27 that will be opened this year over the nation, bringing the total of such centers in the nation to 32 and representing nearly a six-fold increase in facilities for treating veterans with drug problems.

Johnson said the regional set-up for Iowa's VA hospitals will be the seventh such district in the nation.

"Although the Iowa district is not the first to be created within VA's 166-hospital system, it is considered something of a prototype," Johnson said. "The Iowa pattern will be followed closely in setting up other districts and the Iowa experience will be watched with interest as the district starts to function and gain know-how and maturity."

He said the new organization will be headed by a board of directors consisting of the directors and chiefs of staff of the three hospitals.

Johnson said an Iowa veteran admitted to one of the hospitals will have available to him, as needed, the facilities and services of all three hospitals.

If he needs specialized services that can be better provided at one of the other hospitals, or by a member of another hospital's staff, "he will receive that care," Johnson said.

The veteran can be moved to one of the other hospitals or a specialist can be brought to attend him where he is, depending on what is best for the patient, he added.

"Eventually, diagnosis and treatment of patients will be assisted by new systems of communications among the hospitals, such as closed circuit television and long distance computer facilities," Johnson said. "The possibility of establishing daily surface transportation schedules for patient and staff transfers and the use of air ambulances will be explored."

Johnson said the new organization will enhance the relationship between the University of Iowa medical school and the VA because cooperative arrangements and working agreements now existing will be expanded to the whole system.

"This will provide valuable new training and research opportunities to both the university and VA, and will also create new opportunities for advanced and specialized treatment of patients," he said.

With present acute shortage of medical personnel and high cost of the more sophisticated health care equipment, "there is no possibility of providing all hospitals with all staff and all equipment for treating all physical and mental illnesses and conditions," Johnson said. "Nor is there any practical or economic defense for trying to."

He said VA officials feel organizational advances such as the regional plan may have "significant effect on the total health of our nation by pointing to new ways to use scarce resources and by accruing and disseminating medical knowledge for all to share."

Was Cosmonaut Alive?

NEW YORK — Business Week magazine said Thursday it has learned that one of the three Russian cosmonauts who died in the Soyuz 11 mission "reportedly was alive, but unconscious, when rescue teams reached him."

The magazine did not identify which of the three cosmonauts it referred to. It credited its information to "high Russian scientific sources."

Business week said unofficial Soviet reports still blame the death of the cosmonauts on a sudden loss of cabin pressure. But the magazine said reports circulating in Moscow said all three men were "in extremely bad physical shape when ordered to return to earth after nearly 24 days in space."

U.S. space officials were said by Business Week to believe that the poor condition of the Russian cosmonauts "must have been a major, if not a determining factor, in their inability to perform re-entry operations properly, including hatch closing."

In Denver, meanwhile, Werner von Braun, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the Soviet Union had advised NASA there was no evidence that the accident which killed the cosmonauts threatened the safety of the Apollo 15 moon mission.

"The Soviet Space Administration advised us to go ahead as planned," von Braun said. Von Braun, addressing the National Retail Hardware Association convention, said all the Soviets have revealed so far is that a leaking seal permitted the air to escape from the re-entry craft.

As have other scientists, von Braun said "it's possible" human error might have contributed to the accident. The loss of oxygen caused anoxia, which he said could have aroused a false sense of well-being and security among the cosmonauts.

What originally was a minor leak, readily corrected if discovered in time, could be overlooked, or even aggravated by a man under partial anoxia, he said. Proper space-to-ground monitoring to prevent such a mishap is routine in the U.S. space program, he said.

Johnson said the regional set-up for Iowa's VA hospitals will be the seventh such district in the nation.

Ray Hopes Patrol Pay Will Not Be Reduced

DES MOINES, Iowa — Gov. Robert Ray said Friday he hopes it won't be necessary to reduce the pay of some Iowa Highway Patrol members by ending their daily allowance for meals.

He said he hadn't had a chance to talk with State Safety Commissioner Michael Sellers, who ordered last week that the $3.75 allowances per day be ended effective Aug. 1 for patrol personnel who spend half or more of their day in the office.

Ray told a news conference that wiping out the allowance would in effect mean a pay cut for some members of the patrol. He indicated the cut might be held up until the 1972 legislature can act on new pay levels for the patrol.

The governor said the Highway Patrol is doing "an outstanding job" and he doesn't want to "jeopardize the morale" of patrolmen. He said Iowans correctly feel that "the Iowa Highway Patrol is the best in the nation."

Sellers' directive ending the per diem meal allowance was one of three policy directives he has issued recently affecting the patrol.

The others would restrict use of state cars assigned to some patrolmen and repeal rules and regulations governing promotions within the patrol.

The Iowa Legislature Council early this week asked Sellers to explain the directives and said it would discuss at its meeting Monday whether to make the directives the subject of a full hearing before a legislative committee.

In a letter to the council members Thursday, Sellers said his decision on per diem allowances would conform to Iowa law, which says the daily allowance is to go to patrolmen for meals "while away from the office" to which they are assigned.

He said the directive would affect only 13 of the patrol's 410 authorized members.

You can't live on love forever.

Okay, you're young. You've got all the love in the world and you're doing your best to live on it. Retirement? That's for when you're old, right? It's for when you're old if you can afford it.

The kind of retirement you're after isn't the typical rocking-away-on-the-front-porch variety. You probably picture yourself taking extended vacations, pursuing hobbies, or buying that forty acres and living off the land. Pipe dreams? Not if you prepare now.

There's an easy, painless way to make your retirement dreams a reality. Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. That way, an amount you specify will be set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's an easy way to save.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Now is the time to start saving. Money's a nice thing to have while you're living on love forever.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. They may be delivered until maturity. And always remember, Bonds are a smart way to save.

There was a seed in my cake...

1. THAT'S RIGHT DOCTOR, OUR SON HAROLD COOKED SOME MARIJUANA INTO A MARBLE CAKE AND WE ATE SOME BY ACCIDENT.

2. THE FIRST SYMPTOM WAS: I BEGAN FEELING A STRANGE TENDERNESS FOR MY WIFE MARTHA — THE KIND OF TENDERNESS I HAVEN'T FELT FOR YEARS. SHE SEEMED ALL SOFT AND GIRLISH AGAIN.

3. THEN MAE, OUR COLORED COOK FOR TWENTY YEARS WALKED INTO THE ROOM AND I BEGAN HAVING DELUSIONS THAT SHE WAS A THINKING 'PERSON' ALMOST LIKE ONE OF US. I THOUGHT OF HOW THE CHILDREN LOVED HER AND I FELT SUCH TENDERNESS FOR HER, I ALMOST RAISED HER PAY TO THE MINIMUM WAGE.

4. I WANTED TO SEE AND APPOLOGIZE TO OUR DAUGHTER ELIZABETH. WE HAD TO SEND HER OFF TO BOARDING SCHOOL BECAUSE SHE WAS SEEING THIS LOWERCLASS, LONGHAIRCED BOY WHO SINGS WITH A ROCK BAND. I STARTED THINKING OF OTHER PEOPLES' HAPPINESS AS IMPORTANT AS MY OWN.

5. THEN I NOTICED THAT THE COLORS IN THE LIVINGROOM WERE SO RICH AND BEAUTIFUL, I DIDN'T NEED TO TURN ON THE T.V.. I FELT THIS STRANGE COZINESS, THIS ODD CONTENTMENT.

America Cold Sober

By GRANT MULFORD

It is all too easy to fall into the inviting trap of talking about America today in terms of 'the system' and conveniently forgetting that a system is nothing but the sum of its parts. A system functions only to the extent that each part adapts itself to the entire mechanism and keeps itself well oiled to insure relatively frictionless operation. A working system is necessarily in an equilibrium: if something is out of balance in one part of the system then there has to be a factor operating somewhere else in the system as a counterweight. For example, though an old car might sound terrible and leave a blue fog in its wake and burn a quart of oil a day, the fact that the car is moving under its own power reveals the counterweight: that the owner dutifully spends sixty cents a day putting cans of oil into the engine.

Although to say it in a university community invites howls of psychedelic rage and puts the writer in danger of being speared from all sides with number 4 lead pencils, there is much evidence that drugs are fast becoming one of the principal lubricants of the American 'system'. Drugs are acting as powerful and heavy counterweights in all sectors of American society and without them the American 'system' could not be near the mad behemoth that it is, blundering along producing war and consumer junk, with death and foul air and water as by-products.

Counterweights against what? some stoned Solomon might query. The American 'system', like the oil-burning car, is operating with some serious defects: the principal ones being the fast pace, the high-pressure hassles, and the boredom and indifference to the quality of craftsmanship endemic to those working on assembly-lines or for huge, impersonal corporations. The lack of commitment and pride in work among those who work for the 'system' is evidenced readily in the outrageous wage increases — twenty and thirty per cent — being demanded by workers who couldn't care less how long their product lasts.

For a long time, monetary rewards have sufficed to keep people "putting their time in" but as people become more disillusioned with the things which their wages can buy and more indifferent about what it is they are doing to earn those wages, the counterbalance which keeps the whole system rolling becomes more necessary than ever and also more apparent. Americans, for example, gobbled 13.5 billion tranquilizers and peppils in the past year or 65 for every man, woman and child. Drug use of all sorts has been increasing at high rates and, luckily for the 'system', is being accepted and heartily advocated by those who otherwise might pose the biggest challenge to the 'system': the young. The fact is that drugs are an adaptation to an unpleasant environment: they allow those who take them to indefinitely postpone a painful assessment of their lives and surroundings; they prevent those who take them from taking well-reasoned and decisive actions which would not augur well for the 'system'.

Imagine what might happen in America if suddenly all the high-pressure executives and salesmen found themselves with no booze to come home to after a grueling day topped off with two hours of rush-hour traffic battling; if every assembly-line worker had to go to work each day "cold sober" and remain that way every evening; if every housewife had to contend with her obstreperous children without the aid of a single tranquilizer; if every "hyperactive" child went to school with his mind undrugged and going full-blast; if every student and budding artist were forced to stare the cold world in the eye without the cushioning assistance of a single psychedelic; if every American soldier in Vietnam contemplated his mission there, and the 'system' which sent him, in the harsh light of reality unsoftened by even a beer. If all this happened you can bet that things would start popping — the very least of which would be the nearest yardstick as it beat some discipline into the backside of those obstreperous children.

The rest of America might take a lesson from the Black Muslims and Black Panthers. These people, for one reason or another, woke up from their drug-stupors in the ghettos one day and realized that things did not necessarily have to be as they were. They got righteously angry and disavowed drugs and started working to better their lot — and scared a lot of whites in the process. Some of them even went back down to the South and started little farming communities. The 'system' only works when you work with it or lie back in drugged indolence and let it wash over you. The 'system' as we know it today will give a shriek and vanish, like a goblin at dawn, when confronted by sober thought and a moral choice.

Dropping Apples

By Jerry North

On Friday last, I went to court. Iowa City Police Court. In the past few years I have not, to the best of my ability to remember such things, raped, murdered, molested or stolen from anybody. But, lo and behold, The City had two warrants for my arrest. I had a bond on the warrants and now I was going to get the hearing guaranteed me by my constitution and my citizenship. Justice is just great. Each warrant was for $32.00. Each had been issued for failure to pay 7 parking tickets ($7.00). Each ticket doubled when I failed to pay it within twenty-four hours of receiving it on my car. I admitted responsibility for all 14 tickets. After all, getting married, selling a car and moving to New York within one week's time is no excuse for failing to drop a dollar into a box every time your car gets attacked by one of those bulky creatures the City tries to call "maids".

So, on a total of 14 tickets ($14.00), the City wanted $64.00 and they got it, too, damn it. That might be "excessive punishment", but I won't know about that until after my second year of Law School.

Back at court, the girl before me didn't show, thereby forfeiting her bond, almost $100, and she only earns about $150 a month. It was my turn. The pretty young lady who supervises ticket collection testified on the procedure for collection. The prosecution rested its case.

The defense smiled. "Your honor", I said, "I am guilty of $28.00 in tickets", and proceeded to relate a tale of getting married, preparing for a wedding, and selling my car, all within the one week in which I got all of these tickets. "And I would have paid them, if only I had been notified by mail as I expected to be (The City sends out a 10 day letter informing you of your tickets and advising you that a warrant will be issued for your arrest if you don't pay up)." Continuing, hot on the trail of my defense and my money, I said, "I am guilty of the tickets but not of the charges contained in the two warrants for my arrest. Namely that I failed to answer a summons. I didn't receive a summons."

Then, to make the whole thing intelligible to the judge, I explained that I had moved away from my Iowa address to New York City. And from one apartment to another in the city. "I am therefore not guilty," I concluded. The judge didn't move a muscle. "You are charged with failure to answer a summons not with failure to answer a letter. Guilty." (I still don't see the difference.) I was then informed that I could appeal the decision to District Court within twenty days. Bond would be set at one hundred dollars. I didn't even bother. I just hate throwing good money, another bond, after bad, the one they had already confiscated. At least I made them do something for the $8.00 times 2 (warrants) they charged me for court cost. Which is better than the time I was caught with a girl in McBride State Park after closing hours, we were just talking, honest, and had to appear before the Solon JP.

He said he'd hit me with the minimum ($10 for me, $10 for her and $4 a piece in court costs: $28) if I pleaded guilty. I asked what would happen if I pleaded innocent.

He said, "I'll find you guilty."

The following was sent to me by a friend who works for Florida's Department of Air and Water Pollution Control. What she sent was a Xerox copy of a printed (not typed) document which is making the rounds of the State office buildings. That this document was printed shows how much trouble someone went to make a racist statement about the N.A.A.C.P.

IMPORTANT NOTE FROM THE PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF TENANTS:

Petitions for exemption for any of the reasons listed below must be submitted (on forms provided by the University Housing Office, located on N. Capitol Street at the back of Burge Hall) at least 30 days prior to the beginning of the semester for which the exemption is requested.

- Exemptions may be asked for:
1. Actual local residence with parental, legal guardian, grandparent, adult sister or brother, or adult aunt or uncle.
  2. Medical necessity certified in writing by a licensed physician, subject to the approval of the University.
  3. Mandatory religious obligations impossible of performance in the residence halls which the student attests in writing that he (or she) regularly observes and which a clergyman of the student's religious faith certifies in writing are mandatory.
  4. Actual local residence in a place of bona fide employment certified in writing by the employer as a necessary condition of employment and in exchange for which the student receives at least one-half of the rent normally charged.
  5. Actual local residence in a social fraternity or sorority chapter house or other residence living unit operated and maintained by a recognized student organization exclusively for its members, which residential living unit has been approved by the University.

You may not know that the reason you are being forced to live in the dormitories is that the University needs your money to pay off the debts it incurred in building the dormitories. Dormitory rooms here are $150 - $200 per year higher than at ISU or UNI. Three people in a dormitory room at the University of Iowa pay as much for that single room as they would pay for a two-bedroom apartment off campus.

To add insult to injury, the dormitory office sometimes refuses to provide the forms necessary to apply for an exemption. This is illegal and if it happens to you, contact the Protective Association of Tenants (PAT).

Our phone number is 353-3013, and our office is located in the Union on the hallway leading to the activities center.

Editor's Note: The above is the text of a leaflet distributed at Freshman Orientation by members of PAT, a University recognized organization. Its distribution has caused some controversy. I don't know why. Judge for yourself.

 Eldridge Cleaver calls it "Babylon", Stokely Carmichael calls it "Down South" and the Black Panthers call it "Amerika". There are reasons that these names are applied to this country, but the reasons tend to be forgotten by liberal persons of good will who live in a predominately white university community. To forget those reasons, to ignore them, to refuse to believe that they exist contributes as much to the racist climate of this nation as do the authors of this application. If you take a good look at the application you'll probably reach the same conclusion that I did. Cleaver and Carmichael and the Panthers are right.

MARIJUANA CIGARETTES TO BE SOLD ON WEST COAST

San Francisco (LNS) — Sometime in July, the first shipment of standardized, pre-rolled marijuana cigarettes should be available on the West Coast market, according to an underground group of Bay Area importers and dealers known as the Felix the Cat Consortium.

18-joint GrassMasters brand packages are to be initially priced at $7.50; ($7.00 in Santa Fe) with lower rates forthcoming upon the commencement of operations at the Consortium's two new automated subterranean factories. Eventually, Consortium spokesmen stated, it is hoped that a fleet of trucks will be employed for rapid product distribution.

With reported reserves of $125,000 for legal purposes, the Felix investigators plan to take bust cases to the Supreme Court. If the outcome of these proceedings is as the planners hope, they said, "We'll all be in the clear."

THE TEACHINGS OF CHAIRMAN MAO AID DISCOVERY OF CURE FOR MULES

Peking (LNS) — A research group of the Chinese People's Liberation Army has used the teachings of Chairman Mao to help discover a cure for hemolytic disease among new-born mules. The disease, which causes dissolution of red blood corpuscles, was thought by Western authorities to be incurable.

Using Chairman Mao's teachings on grasping the principal contradiction, the group decided that "hemolysis was the principal contradiction and that the most effective solution was a blood transfusion."

American Team To Pan-Am Games Despite 'Cramping'

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Young athletes will be crammed 14-to-1 in rooms this week for the opening of the Pan America Games and U.S. Olympic leaders fear "quite a bit of grumbling." The games are certain to be dubbed the "sardine Olympics."

The 380-member United States team left yesterday from its Miami Beach processing point to the Pan-Am Games site at Cali, Colombia. "Our athletes will be told not to make derogatory comments to the press," said silver-haired Clifford H. Buck, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

We try to make them realize that they are ambassadors for the United States of America."

Officials of the Pan-American Sports Organization, PASO, aren't going to be eager to jump on Cali or the nation of Colombia hosts for what is billed the "Western Hemisphere Olympics."

Truth is that few others wanted the games. "Not many cities expressed interest in absorbing the financial and physical obligation," said Buck, a retired sporting goods executive. "Cali made the best offer."

Cali is a tropical city of 700,000 located 89 miles off the Pacific coast. Among the sports plants being used in the Pan-Am Games is the local bullring, but Colombia's third largest city went to considerable expense to even passably accommodate 19 sports and athletes from 30 nations.

"It hurts morale to be jammed into double decker bunk beds in overcrowded rooms at the athletes' village," said Buck. "But we will live with it."

PASO normally awards the quadrennial athletic show by zones, the idea being to send it to the northern zone Canada-U.S.A., Central American Zone and South American Zone in alternating periods.

Chile has been awarded the 1975 Pan Am Games, which are usually regarded as a master tournament for the Olympic Games. The '72 Olympics are scheduled at Munich, Germany, and Sapporo, Japan. In 1976, they go to Montreal and Denver.

"But, since Chile has elected itself a Marxist president, I hear they're not even sending a team to Cali," said Buck. "If that's the case, the 1975 site may be up in the air again. I don't know."

The Pan-Am Games is included in an over-all, four-year budget of $10 million set by the United States Committee. Athletes are clothed and transported just as lavishly as they will be for Munich and Sapporo.

The United States tried the Pan-Am Games at Chicago and it wasn't exactly a hot item with the ticket-buying public. So, it's on to Cali and the "Sardine Olympics."

Dan Peck Wins Summer Tennis Tournament

Dan Peck defeated Merral Brown 7-5 and 6-1 to capture the University of Iowa summer tennis tournament. Peck and Brown were both unseeded but had little trouble advancing to the finals.

Brown defeated Robert Mitchell, Bob Boynton, Tom Grimes, and then Duane Miller before losing the championship match to Peck. Dan Peck defeated John Swartz, Glen Newton, Ted Ackroyd, and William Larkin to advance to the finals.

Saints Sign Manning To Multi-year Contract

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — The New Orleans Saints of the National Football League signed Mississippi quarterback Archie Manning, their No. 1 draft choice, to a multi-year contract Friday.

Terms were not revealed, but estimates were that it called for $400,000 over a four or five-year period.
